The Select Committee, appointed to take into Consideration the State of the Administration of Justice in the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, and to report the same, as it shall appear to them, to the House, with their Observations thereupon; and who were instructed to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be held and governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the native Inhabitants may be best promoted, observe, That the Select Committee, appointed in the last Session of Parliament, did examine into the State of the Judicature in Bengal, and reported to the House such material Facts as then appeared in Evidence before them: Your Committee, in Conformity to the Orders they have received, and the Powers vested in them by the House, have resumed, without Delay, their Inquiries to the present State and Condition of the same Object.

IN the earliest Stage of their Researches, Matter has appeared which, they apprehend, may require the immediate Consideration of Parliament; Your Committee have, therefore, deemed it advisable to make an early Report of that special Matter, without interrupting their Progress in the other Parts of the Inquiry, which they have in Charge from the House.

Five Parties were before the Committee appointed in the last Session; that is to say, the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies; the Governor General and Council of Bengal; the British Inhabitants resident at Calcutta; sundry Zemindars, and others, Natives of India; and lastly, the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature. The Three first appeared by various Petitions and Memorials, which were referred by the House to the Committee; the Fourth Party, the Zemindars, Farmers, and others, who by Petition had applied to the Council General of Bengal for Redress against the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, and which Petition was before the Committee; the last Party, namely, the Judges, were before the Committee by Sir Elijah Impey's Letters and other Documents, transmitted to His Majesty's Secretaries of State, and by them laid before the House, and were referred by the House to the said Committee.

In those Letters and Documents, the Judges have given Answers to the several Objections which, as they say, they learn by Report had been made to their Conduct, but which they complain had never been regularly communicated to them; and in these Letters, the Chief Justice, in his Turn, makes various recriminating Charges on the Governor General and Council, the Company's Servants, and others of the British Inhabitants, particularly in regard to the Manner of obtaining and conducting Petitions against them.

Of these Parties, Three only are invested with Parliamentary or other public Powers; the other Two Parties are formed, in general, of Persons more likely to be affected by the Abuses or Neglects of Authority, than to partake in them, or if they should, it is only in a Manner indirect and subordinate, and as they are influenced or supported by those in superior Stations; Your Committee therefore chose to direct their Attention to the Conduct of the principal Parties, as a necessary ecessary Preliminary to their Enquiry into the Means of regulating or relieving them all, according to the Exigence of their several Cases; and, in particular, to find out how far the Directors, the Governor General and Council of Bengal, and the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature, have seriously endeavoured the Redress of those Grievances they severally complained of, by the Exercise of the Powers legally vested in them; how far they co-operated in the Relief given, at their Request, by an Act of the Legislature; and what intermediate Arrangements they have made amongst themselves, concerning the Objects which they had submitted to the Determination of Parliament: Your Committee being fully persuaded, that the sole Hope of establishing good Order in India, must entirely depend upon the Conduct of the several executory Powers acting in prompt Obedience to the Direction of the Legislature, and in a zealous Concurrence with its Intentions.

On these Heads of Enquiry, Your Committee, on the 6th Day of December 1781, ordered the East India Company to lay before them, Extracts of the Letters from the Court of Directors to the Governor General and Council of Bengal, relative to the Release from Imprisonment of the Patna Magistrates, Mir Burcut Ulla and Gullum Mucdum, as also Behader Beg, imprisoned in Calcutta by Judgment of the Supreme Court of Judicature; also a Copy of their Orders, for an Indemnification of those Persons, and the Re-instatement of the Magistrates in their respective Stations at Patna, or other Provision made for them; and Your Committee afterwards examined Mr. Sullivan, Chairman of the Court of Directors of the East India Company, Mr. Wilks, Secretary to the Committee of Secrecy of the said Company, Mr. Francis, late a Member of the Supreme Council, Mr. Shakespeare, late Chief of Dacca, and Major Scott, in the Company's Service, private Secretary to Mr. Hastings, Governor General, and by him appointed an Agent to explain his Conduct in such Parts as should become a Subject of Discussion.

That, in pursuance of the Orders of the 6th of December, Your Committee received the next Day from the India House, a Copy of the Minutes of the Court of Directors, held on Wednesday, the 27th June 1781, as follows:

" The Chairman acquainting the Court, That in the present Stage of the Bill depending in the House of Commons, relative to the Supreme Court of Judicature in Bengal, for indemnifying and relieving certain Persons, and for other Purposes therein mentioned, it is necessary that the Company's Consent should be given, before filling up the Blanks in the said Bill, for the Payment of the Sums proposed to be allowed for indemnifying sundry Persons therein described; and that John Robinson, Edmund Burke, and William Boughton Rouse, Esquires, now desired to know the Court's Sentiments respecting the said Sums; and the Court having considered thereof, it was

" Resolved, That this Court doth consent and agree, if the proposed Bill should pass into a Law, that the Payments therein stipulated to be made, shall respectively be issued, according to their several Specifications in the said Bill, from the Company's Treasury in Bengal; and that Orders be in Consequence given in the next Advices to the Governor General and Council there.

" £ 5000 To Mir Burcut Ulla	} To each of them severally, or their Order, on Demand, in Three Months.
" 5000 To Gullum Mucdum
" 2000 To Behader Beg
" 5000 To the Children or Child (if any) of a certain Magistrate called the Cadi or Cauzi
" Saadi of Patna within Three Months after Arrival of the Act at Calcutta.
" A Pension or Annuity to the Widow of the said Cauzi Saadi, equal to the Salary of her late Husband, during the Term of her natural Life; also,
" 1000 To the said Widow if the said Cauzi Saadi shall have died without Issue; and,
" 1000 To his nearest Male Relation or Relations in the same Degree."

And also, a Copy of the 16th Paragraph of the Company's General Letter to Bengal, dated 29th August 1781, as follows:

" Two Acts of Parliament having been passed during the last Session, whereby the Company's exclusive Charter has been prolonged for Ten Years, and the Supreme Court of Judicature regulated; We transmit you Copies thereof for your Information and Guidance, and enjoin strict Attention and Obedience thereto."

And Your Committee did also, in pursuance of the said Orders on the 10th Day of December, receive from the Directors of the East India Company, a Paper, intituled, " Draught of Paragraphs, to be sent by the Court of Directors of the East India Company, to the Governor General and Council at Fort William in Bengal, by the next Dispatches." Which Paragraphs are as follow:

" When the late Act respecting the Administration of Justice in Bengal was agitated in the House of Commons, it was intended, amongst other Things, not only to release from Prison and indemnify the native Magistrates and others therein named, but also to make Provision for the future Subsistence of Mir Burcut Ulla and Gullum Mucdum, in their former Condition and Situation:

“ Situation ; and to declare them Mahomedan Counsellors to the Court and Council of Patna, with “ all the Privileges, Profits, and Emoluments thereto belonging ; and also, in Consideration of “ their Losses and long Imprisonment, to pay to each of them severally, or to their Order, out of “ the Company's Treasury, the Sum of Five thousand Pounds, Three Months after Demand :
 “ And also, to Behader Beg, who had acted under the Authority of the Council of Patna, and been “ imprisoned, the Sum of Two thousand Pounds, in Three Months after Demand, without Pre“ judice to any Claim or Remedy which he or his Father, or next Heir at Law, might have, in Law
 “ or Equity, to any Lands or Goods whatever. And in case of the Death of any of the before-
 “ mentioned Persons, before the Arrival of the Act of Parliament at Calcutta, or before the Money “ become payable, then the above Sums to be paid to the lawful Representatives of the Deceased :
 “ And likewise the Sum of Five thousand Pounds to the Child or Children of the Magistrate of “ Patna, called the Cadi or Cauzi Saadi, who died as he was under Conveyance to Prison (if any “ Child or Children he had) and to the Widow of the said Cauzi Saadi, during her natural Life,
 “ a Pension or Annuity equal to the Salary of her late Husband ; and if the said Cauzi Saadi should “ have died without Issue, then a Sum of One thousand Pounds to be also paid to his Widow, and “ One thousand Pounds also to his nearest Male Relation or Relations of the same Degree.

“ As the Company were equally desirous with the Promoters of the Bill, to contribute to the “ Relief of the unhappy Sufferers, to make the Compensations above mentioned, and thereby to “ manifest their Regard for the native Inhabitants of Bengal ; it was upon due Consideration judged “ advisable, and more honourable for the Company, to omit the compulsory Clauses in the Act ;
 “ and agreed, That Orders should be given by the Court of Directors, in their next Advices to “ the Governor General and Council, for the Money to be issued from their Treasury, and paid “ accordingly.

“ We therefore direct, that within Three Months, to be computed from the Day of the Receipt “ of these our Orders at Fort William, you issue from our Treasury, and cause to be paid to Mir “ Burcut Ulla, or to his Order, the Sum of Five thousand Pounds ; also to Gullum Mucdum, or “ to his Order, the Sum of Five thousand Pounds ; also to Behader Beg, the Sum of Two thou“ sand Pounds, without Prejudice to any Claim or Remedy which he or his Father, or next Heir
 “ at Law, may have, in Law or Equity, to any Lands or Goods whatsoever : And if any of the “ Parties shall not be living at the Time of the Arrival of this our Order at Calcutta, or shall die
 “ before the Money become payable, or is paid, the same shall be paid to his or their lawful Repre“ sentatives : Also, to the Child or Children (if any there be) of the late Cauzi Saadi of Patna, “ Five thousand Pounds. Also, that you pay, or cause to be paid, to the Widow of the said Cauzi “ Saadi, during her natural Life, a Pension or Annuity, equal to the Salary of her late Husband ;
 “ also to the said Widow of the said Cauzi, if he shall have died without Issue, the Sum of One “ thousand Pounds ; also in that case, to the nearest Male Relation or Relations of the said Cauzi “ Saadi, the Sum of One thousand Pounds. And it is our Pleasure, that the said Monies be issued “ from our Treasury, and that Payment thereof be made free of all Charge or Expence to the Re“ ceivers, and within the Time before limited.

“ We have already noticed, that it was intended by the Act to have reinstated Mir Burcut Ulla “ and Gullum Mucdum, and to have declared them Mahomedan Counsellors to the Council of “ Patna, with all the Privileges, Profits, and Emoluments thereto belonging ; it appearing that “ their Error or Misconduct (if any hath been) did not proceed from corrupt Motives ; and the “ Act having directed that they should be forthwith discharged from their Imprisonment, on Secu“ rity being given for the Damages recovered, which Security you are required to cause to be given “ on their Behalf, and that it shall be competent to appeal to His Majesty in Council against the “ Judgment : We hereby direct, that you take Care to pay due Obedience to the Directions given “ in the said Act ; and also, that Mir Burcut Ulla and Gullum Mucdum, be forthwith restored to “ their respective Offices, as Mahomedan Counsellors to the Council of Patna, with all the Pri“ vileges, Profits, and Emoluments thereto belonging.”

And it not appearing to Your Committee, upon what Minutes or Proceedings of the Court of Directors the said Paragraphs were founded, they ordered a Copy of the Minutes of the Court of Directors, of the 7th Day of December 1781, to be laid before them ; and in this Place Your Committee beg Leave to observe, that by the Date thereof, it appears the same was not made until the Day after the Orders made by Your Committee as before set forth ; and which Minutes are as follow :

“ At a Court of Directors, held on Friday the 7th December, 1781,

“ A Resolution having passed this Court, on the 27th June last, for paying certain Sums of Mo“ ney therein mentioned, in case such Part of a Bill as related to those Sums, and at that Time “ depending in Parliament, should pass into a Law ; and it being afterwards thought by the Gen“ tlemen who promoted the said Bill, to be more advisable to omit the same in the Act, that it might “ be understood in India, that the Payments were made from the mere Bounty of the Company, without any “ Compulsion ; and the same being omitted accordingly, in Confidence that the Company would “ order the said Payments to be made ; and the Chairman having reported to the Court, a Confer-
 SEL. COM. REP. I. B ence

“ence between him and some of the Gentlemen who promoted the said Bill, and assured the “Court, that in Consequence of that Conference, the Clauses, compulsory upon the Company for “Payment of the Sums therein specified, would be omitted—It is hereby resolved, that the fol“lowing Sums of Money be paid from the Company’s Treasury in Bengal, and that Orders be in “Consequence given in the next Advices to the Governor General and Council there; viz.

“ £ 5000 To Mir Bureut Ulla	} To each of them severally, or their Order, on Demand, in Three Months.
“ 5000 To Gullum Mucdum
“ 2000 To Behader Beg
“ 5000 To the Children or Child (if any) of a certain Magistrate called the Cadi or Cauzi “ Saadi of Patna, within Three Months after Arrival of the Act at Calcutta. “ A Pension or Annuity to the Widow of the said Cauzi Saadi, equal to the Salary “ of her late Husband, during the Term of her natural Life; also, “ 1000 To the said Widow, if the said Cauzi Saadi shall have died without Issue, and “ 1000 To his nearest Male Relation or Relations in the same Degree.”

“ At a Court of Directors, held on Wednesday the 12th December 1781,

“ The Chairman acquainted the Court, that in Consequence of some Paragraphs having been “ prepared for Bengal, containing Orders respecting the Indemnification of several Indian Magi“ strates, agreeably to a Resolution of Court of the 7th Instant, he had given Directions to stop
 “ the Tryal Packet in Ireland, in order to be able to send the said Orders by that Conveyance; and
 “ the said Paragraphs being now read, were approved by the Court.”

Then Lawrence Sullivan, Esq; Chairman of the East India Company, attending, according to Order, was called in, and asked, Who were the Gentlemen of the Committee, that met the Chairman of the East India House, upon the Subject of Indemnification to the Mahomedan Lawyers, now in Gaol at Calcutta? he said, If he was to trust to his own Memory, he thinks it was Mr. Robinson, Mr. Boughton Rouse, and General Smith; but he does conceive it to be treacherous in that Instance, because the Secretary had taken down the Name of Mr. Burke instead of General Smith. Being asked, From whom the Secretary took his Information? said, From himself, Chairman of the Court. Being asked, If the Minute of the Court of Directors, of the 27th Day of June 1781, does contain his Opinion of the Sense of that Conference? said, It does.—Then, Edmund Burke, Esq; a Member of Your Committee, was asked, Whether he was present at that Conference? to which he said, No, certainly he was not present at that Conference, or any Conference with the Chairman or Deputy Chairman of the Court of Directors.

Mr. Sullivan being again called in, then, in further Explanation, informed Your Committee as follows:

That he apprehends there must have been Two Conferences; the First, of the 27th of June, where, as well as he recollects, a Desire was expressed on the Part of General Smith, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Boughton Rouse, that if the several Sums of Money intended by Parliament to be paid to those several Persons, the India Company would give their Consent that the Blanks might be filled up with those Sums—That he did, as Chairman, state the same to the Court, and it had their Assent. He apprehends there was a Second Conference between the same People, when it was suggested, that it would be more to the Honour and Credit of the Company, if instead of Compulsion, they made it an Act of their own Bounty: That he, as Chairman, did promise, that the Court of Directors would give Orders for the Payment of those Sums, and the reinstating the several Persons in their former Honours; and at this Time understood that the Blanks were then filled up, and ready to pass into a Law, but were left out on his pledging himself that those Orders should be carried into Execution by the first Conveyance; and they are now ready to go by the first Conveyance, completely conforming to the Wishes of the Committee—That since the passing of the Act, and his pledging himself those Orders should go, there has not been a single Conveyance to India, except a small Vessel (the Tryal Sloop) intended purposely for Secret Dispatches; but a Letter arriving from Governor Hastings, stating the Probability of the Company having no Investments, it was a Matter of that Moment that the Company thought fit to write a short Letter by that Secret Dispatch, giving their Sentiments upon the Subject; when the Court took the Opportunity of sending in the same Letter, a short Order, with the Act of Parliament, with positive Directions to carry it into Execution: That those Directions went no further than as the Act stated, to deliver those Persons from Prison, (Appendix, No. 1.): That as this was no regular Dispatch, it did not at that Hour occur, to carry into Execution the Remainder of the Orders relative to those People.—But as it has happened the Tryal Sloop is put back to Ireland, an Express has been sent to detain her, that the Court of Directors may carry completely those Orders into Execution; which has accordingly been done, and now only waits the Approbation of the Lords of the Treasury, relative to the Issues of the Money for the Indemnification.—And being then asked, Whether he recollected when the Second Conference was held? he said, He should apprehend in July, as the First was in June.—Being further asked, What particular Circumstance leads him to believe it was in the Month of July? he said, To the best of his Memory.—Being asked, Whether he took any private Minute of the First Conference held in June? he said, He does not recollect that he did.—Being asked, Whether he took any Minute of the Second Conference in July? he said, He does not recollect that he did.—Being asked, Does your Memory serve you, not having taken a Minute of either Conference, to fix the First to have been in June, and the Second in July? he said, From the Minute of the Court of Directors, it appears that the First Conference was in June, and the other he cannot recollect.—Being further asked, Whether that Minute which helps to assist his Memory with respect to the First Conference, does assist it only with regard to Date, or to other Circumstances attending that Conference? he said, In no other than he can at present recollect, than that the Blanks had been since filled up, and after that were left out of the Act of Parliament, upon the Company's pledging themselves to make these Payments.—Being asked, What was the Date of the Dispatches sent by the Tryal Sloop, he said, The 29th of August, as appears by a Letter upon the Table.—Being asked, Whether, notwithstanding the Dispatch of the 29th of August was not considered as a regular Dispatch, so material a Direction as that which was proposed to be given in Favour of those unfortunate Persons, might not in point of Propriety, and ought not in point of Justice, to have been then transmitted? he said, He believes he has already answered this Question in his Narrative; that it was an Omission, but attended with no Consequence, because the same Vessel may still carry the compleat Dispatch, and no other has been sent from this Country to India since the Passing of the Act of Parliament.—Being further asked, Whether in the Two Conferences which were held in June and July, the Authority of the Treasury (Mr. Robinson, the Secretary of the Treasury, being personally present) was not considered to have been given for the Payment of those Sums of Money? he said, On the Part of the Company the Court of Directors could answer clearly; on the Part of the Treasury, Mr. Robinson was the Person; but at any Rate, the Forms prescribed by Parliament, direct, that the Court of Directors should lay before the Treasury all Orders that they may send out affecting the Revenues of that Country, and therefore, until they had the full Approbation of the Lords of the Treasury, the Court of Directors would not have felt themselves bound to have issued those Orders.—Being further asked, Whether the previous Signification of the Assent of the Treasury, by the Mouth of Mr. Robinson their Secretary, to the issuing those Orders, is not equivalent in point of Authority to any subsequent Approbation of the Treasury? he said, He does not know that Mr. Robinson came forward in any such Way, and if he had, the Court of Directors certainly should have expected, that he would have been very explicit upon that Subject, before they could have dispensed with the Forms prescribed by Parliament, but he does not recollect that any such Proposition was delivered by Mr. Robinson on the Part of the Treasury.—Being asked, Whether the Act with that Regulation had at that Time passed? he said, He presumes so, because he argues upon that Supposition.—Being asked, Whether at the Time the Second Conference described by him took Place, the Act containing the Regulations for the Administration of Justice in India, had passed the House of Commons? he said, As well as he can recollect, the Act had not passed the House of Commons, the Blanks had been filled up.—Being asked, Whether the Condition of the First Minute made upon the First Conference described by him, bound the Company to pay the Money to the suffering Mahomedan Lawyers, in case the Clauses ordering such Compensation, should not be inserted in the Act? he said, The First Conference was, as well as he can recollect, that the Company should assent to fill up the Blanks with the several Sums stipulated to the unfortunate People, upon Condition the Act passed.—Being asked, Whether the Substance of the Second Conference was not the Reverse, and that the Company was to be bound, in case those obligatory Clauses should be omitted?—He said, Yes.—And being asked, Whether there was a Minute of the Court of Directors made on the First Conference? he said, There was a Minute, and a Copy of it lies upon your Table.—Being asked, Whether there was any Minute of the Court, made in Consequence of the Second Conference? he said, No, there was not.—Being asked, Why there was a Minute made in a Case where the Company was not bound, and no Minute made in a Case where the Company was bound? he said, In the First Conference, he went from the Chair to meet the Gentlemen, as he recollects; from thence, he immediately went to the Court, which was sitting, and delivering the Substance, it became an instant Minute: In the next Conference there was no Court, as he recollects; he attended the Gentlemen, and in a Conversation he pledged himself that the Court of Directors would carry those Orders into Execution; that no regular Minute was made, it being generally understood, Mr. Woodhouse, Sir William James, and other Persons, had been conversed with upon the Subject.—Being asked, Whether, having pledged himself for the Court of Directors, he did propose a Minute for that Purpose the First Board Day? he said, He did not.—And being further asked, How many Board Days passed from the Time of his pledging himself for the Court of Directors, to the Time of his making a Minute upon that Subject? he said, He did not state it to the Board until after he had received the Orders of this Committee, and upon that Representation, it was in the Recollection of Gentlemen, and met with a ready Concurrence.—Being asked, For what Reason he declined to propose a Minute to that Effect to the Court of Directors, for whom he had pledged himself, until an Order came down from this Committee, to enquire what the East India Company had done in that Matter? He said, he has already stated, that an Omission was made, and that the Multiplicity of very important Matters that have occupied occupied his Time, was the Reason of the Omission, and therefore until the Business came regularly before the Court, it had escaped his Attention to it.—Being further asked, Whether the Omission he has stated, was not the Omission of sending the Orders out by the Tryal Sloop? he said, It is the same Omission, because, if he had recollected at the Time, the Completion of the Orders, he must in Consequence have brought forward the Representation to the Court of Directors.—Being asked, How the Business could regularly come before the Court of Directors, if he, who pledged himself for them, did not think proper to lay it before the Court? he said, In the Course of conducting the Company's Business, it is usual to take up every Thing relating to each Settlement, separate, and that is what he calls the regular bringing forward of Business; there had been none in this Season; as soon as there had, this Omission would have been corrected.—And being further asked, Whether he is sure that no Business relating to the Province of Bengal was before the Board during that Period? he said, He does not recollect any Instances, but very probably, in a Variety of Branches something might be brought forward.—Being asked, Whether he is sure that the Business was more regularly before the Board, upon the Principle of Regularity, which he has just now stated, than on any other Day within the Period of Omission? he said, He cannot say that it was.—Being asked, Might he not then have brought it to the Board out of Course? he said, He certainly might, and did bring it on out of Course, because he thought it his Duty not to wait an Hour in bringing forward a Business, where the Committee had made a Requisition.—Being asked, Whether he did not understand that the Committee at the Close of the last Session had made that Requisition? he said, He had already confessed, that he felt himself pledged for the Court of Directors, to carry it into Execution, which they have accordingly done.—Being asked, Whether a Requisition amounting to a Charge of near £.20,000 upon the Company's Revenue, was a Matter of less Importance than any One of those Things which have occupied the Court of Directors upon any Court Day since the Second Conference stated by him? he said, The Objects that have occupied his Attention in particular, and which have taken up his whole Time, are Objects of infinitely more Importance than the Sum stated.—Being asked, Whether he can charge his Memory, that no Sum of smaller Importance was ever an Object of the Board's Attention during that Interval? he said, It is impossible for him to give an Answer to that Question.—The Witness was then asked, Whether during that Period the Directors had in Consideration before them, any Thing relating to the Investments and Revenues of Bengal? he said, Not regularly, but they had an Attention to the Investments, in consequence of a Letter received from the Governor General, which they answered by the Tryal Sloop.—And being asked, Whether or no the Application and Disposal of £.20,000 ought not necessarily to have come before them in any Directions to the Governor General, relative to the Investments and Management of the Revenues in Bengal? he said, Undoubtedly it would, if that Circumstance had occurred at the Time.—Being asked, Whether the Abuses alledged to be in the Proceedings of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Bengal, was not an Object of a Petition of the East India Company to the House of Commons? he answered, Yes.—Being asked, Was not the particular Case of the Patna Magistrates, one of the Objects of Complaint transmitted by the Governor General and Council, upon which that Petition to the House of Commons was founded? he said, Yes.—Being asked, How he accounted for an Omission of Obedience to what he understood to be the Sense of a Committee of the House of Commons, sitting expressly upon a Complaint made by the Company itself, and its principal Servants? he said, He has already repeatedly stated, that if that Omission had not been made, he should not have been wanting in carrying into Execution the Orders of the Committee, as is now done.—Being asked, Whether he did not know the Patna Lawyers had suffered a long and grievous Imprisonment, and had been ruined in their Fortunes, by an Execution levied upon their whole Substance? he said, Yes.—Being asked, Whether he thought that the Sufferings of such Men, being under the Protection of the Company, and acting under their Authority, was not a Matter pressing upon the Court of Directors, both in Policy and Humanity, especially when Parliament had taken up the Company's Sentiments on that Occasion? he said, The Orders that went out by the Tryal Sloop released them from their Imprisonment; and the rest of their Orders respecting their Restoration and Indemnification are now compleated.—Being further asked, Whether there was any Means to provide for their Subsistence, after being discharged by the Act of Parliament, ordered by the Court of Directors? he said, If this Omission had not happened, the whole would have been done as it is now ordered.—Being asked, When did the Court of Directors order the Judicature Act to be transmitted to Bengal? he said, He believes it was the 29th of August last, by the Tryal Sloop.—Being asked, Where is the Tryal Sloop? he said, In Ireland.—And being asked, When the Tryal Sloop sailed from Great Britain? he said, He believes that Vessel did not come to England.—Being asked, What Time did the Tryal Sloop sail from Ireland for India with this Act of Parliament? he said, He does not really recollect, but he believes in all the Month of October.—And being asked, Why, as this was a Business respecting the Lives of Men, and the most pressing Exigencies of Government, in which a Military Force had superseded the Course of Justice, was not a Vessel that might have sailed earlier been dispatched by the Company? he said, He apprehends that no Vessel could have been brought forward so soon as the Tryal Sloop.—Being further asked, Whether no Vessel could be got sooner, to be dispatched for this Purpose, than one in Ireland, and that could not sail from the Passing of the Act to the End of October? he said, He apprehends no Vessel could go so soon, for she had been long ready and detained by contrary Winds.—Being asked, Whether the Tryal is now ready to sail with that Act? he said, The Tryal returned dismasted; she has been refitted, and they expect that she is nearly ready to return again.—And being asked, Whether in the Interval of the Time of the Second Conference stated by him to this Period, he has sent any Advices over Land to any Part of India? he said, He does not recollect that the Court of Directors have sent any.—And being asked, Whether the Secret Committee of the Court of Directors has sent any Advices over Land since the Conference before mentioned to this Period? he said, He cannot give an Answer to that Question.—Upon which the Witness was asked, Why he could not give an Answer? he said, Because in Time of War, the Court of Directors have thought proper to delegate those Powers to the Chairman and Deputy, in order that inviolable Secrecy may be observed, that in no Hour our Enemies may be enabled to intercept our Messengers, and seize our Advices.—Your Committee thought it necessary to read to Mr. Sullivan, the Powers of the Committee; upon which he gave the following Answer, That there has been One Dispatch.—The Witness was then asked, Why was not the Act of Parliament, and the Company's Orders for indemnifying, sent by that Dispatch? he said, The Court of Directors sent no Letter by that Dispatch, and it went without their Knowledge; and he did not think as one, that it was incumbent to send it by any Conveyance but that of Sea.—Being asked, If he is certain that there was a Second Conference with the Persons he has mentioned? he said, He is no otherwise certain that there must have been a Second Conference, than from the Minute of the 27th of June, which stated a conditional Agreement; and his Memory is positive, that he did meet General Smith, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Boughton Rouse, when assuredly he did pledge himself, that the Court of Directors would carry into Execution the Indemnification without any Condition.—And being asked, Whether there is any Minute on Record at the East India House, of a Paper without a Date, transmitted by the Court of Directors to this Committee, intituled “A Draft of Paragraphs of a Letter to be sent by that Court to India,” or how or from what Authority did the Court of Directors frame that Paragraph? he said, There is a Minute on Record dated the 7th Instant, upon which that Paragraph is grounded.

John Robinson, Esquire, a Member of the House, attending at the Request of the Committee, was asked, If he was present at a Conference with Mr. Sullivan, the Chairman of the East India Company, on the Subject of indemnifying the Patna Magistrates? said, He was; that he cannot recollect exactly the Time of the Conference, but it was some Time in June, whilst the Bill was depending in the House of Commons; the Gentlemen present were Mr. Smith, Mr. Boughton Rouse, Mr. Sullivan, and Mr. Purling.—And being asked, What was his Inducement to attend that Conference? he said, It was upon a Conversation and at the Request of several Members of the House of Commons; that Lord North concurred in it.—And being asked to relate the Circumstances of that Conference; he said, It was to represent to the Chairman of the Court of Directors, that it was thought a better and more prudent Way to accommodate the Indemnification, and some Recompence for the Sufferings of the Patna Magistrates, through the Court of Directors, than to have it inserted in the Bill then depending in the House; upon talking with the Chairman he adopted the Idea, he retired from the Conference, went into the Court of Directors then sitting, stated, as he informed them, the Conversation; and returned back again in a short Time, telling them that the Court of Directors had adopted the Measure, would make an Order for the Recompence to be paid, and would send out Orders accordingly.—And being further asked, Whether it did seem to him at that Time to be clearly understood, that the same were to be paid without being specified in the Bill, and that the Clause of Specification was to be expunged? He said, It certainly appeared so to him, and was the very Purpose for which they went to have the Conference.—And being further asked, whether he remembers being present at any other Conference on this Subject with the same Gentlemen? he said, He remembers no other Conference in the Presence of the same Gentlemen, on the Subject of Indemnity and Recompence to the Patna Magistrates; but General Smith and he went to the India House to have another Conference with the Chairs, on the Subject of reinstating the Patna Magistrates, but they were disappointed, for they were come to the West End of the Town.

Then Richard Smith, Esquire, a Member of Your Committee, said, That he concurred with Mr. Robinson in his Account of the Conference at the India House, in every particular.

And Charles William Boughton Rouse, Esquire, another Member of Your Committee, also said, That he concurred with Mr. Robinson in his Account of the Conference at the India House.

Richard Smith, Esquire, a Member of Your Committee, was then asked, Whether he was at a Second Conference at the East India House? to which he answered, No! and said, he did not hear of a Second Conference having been held, 'till mentioned by Mr. Sullivan.

Charles William Boughton Rouse, Esquire, another Member of Your Committee, was then asked, Whether he was at a Second Conference at the East India House? he said, He never remembers to have been present at more than One, in Company with General Smith, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Purling.

John Purling, Esquire, a Member of the House, being present, was then asked, Whether he was present at a Second Conference at the East India House? he said, He was but at One, in Company with General Smith, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Boughton Rouse, and that previous to the Passing of the Act; that the Proposal to Mr. Sullivan was, that as there was a Difference of Opinion, with respect to the Indemnification to the Patna Lawyers, about inserting the Sums in the Act of Parliament, it was proposed to Mr. Sullivan, that the Court should take upon themselves to make the Indemnification, without it's being inserted in the Bill then depending; Mr. Sullivan retired to consult the Court of Directors upon it; and upon his Return he informed them, that the Court of Directors had consented to make those Payments, if the Bill passed into a Law without their being inserted in the Act.

Then Mr. Samuel Wilks, from the India House, attending according to Order, was called in; and being examined, he said, That there is a Secret Committee of Directors established at the India House; he does not recollect their Names; they are the Two Chairs, with such other Directors as form the Committee of Treasury; besides that Committee, since the Troubles in Europe, there is a Committee of Secrecy appointed for political Purposes, consisting of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman. The first Appointment of that Nature since he has been in the Service of the East India Company, was when Sir George Wombwell was Chairman; it has been continued from Time to Time to the present Hour; that he knows when this Committee of Secrecy send any Dispatches to India, as he acts as Clerk to that Committee.—And being asked, Whether Dispatches have been sent by Land or Sea, by that Committee to India since the 16th of July last? he said, Dispatches have been sent by Land by that Committee since July the 16th.—And being asked, Whether he knows how many, and at what Periods? he said, Before he answers that Question, he begs Leave to represent to the Committee, that he has taken an Oath of Secrecy, that he will not communicate, discover, or make known to any Person whatsoever, directly or indirectly, any of the Proceedings of that Committee.—And being further asked, Whether he took that Oath on his first Admission as Clerk to that Committee? he said, He took that Oath at the House of Sir George Wombwell, when first admitted as Clerk to that Committee: That he conceives the Periods of Dispatch may in some Instances be of such Importance, as to render it a Breach of his Oath to communicate those Periods. And being asked, Whether he does not consider his Answer to the preceeding Question, That Dispatches have been sent since July last, to be a Breach of his Oath? he said, He does not consider that to be a Breach of his Oath, because the Question was general, and does not appear to him to involve in his Answer, a Discovery of the Proceedings of the Secret Committee.—And being asked, Can he, without specifying the Periods of Dispatches, inform the Committee how many Times Dispatches have been sent since the 16th of July? he said, He does not think himself at Liberty to reveal how many Times the Committee of Secrecy have sent Dispatches since the 16th of July, but he has no Objection to mentioning the Date of the First Dispatch since that Period.—And being asked, When that First Dispatch was sent? he said, The Letter was dated the First of August, and finally dispatched the Third of that Month.—And being asked, That as that was the First Dispatch after the Bengal Judicature Act had passed in Parliament, was that Act transmitted by that Dispatch? he said, That Five Copies of the Regulating Act, and Five Copies of the Bengal Judicature Act, were inclosed in that Dispatch; he did not get the Acts from the Printer till the Second; he received Six Copies of each, one he kept for Office Use, and sent the others in that Dispatch; he does not recollect whether the Orders for sending those Acts were given in Committee, or whether from the Chairman alone; if in the Committee, it could not be considered as any Part of their Proceedings, as a Committee of Secrecy; but to the best of his Recollection, it was from the Chairman.—And being asked, Whether the Transmission of the Judicature Act was accompanied with any Orders to the Governor General and Council respecting it? he said, The Committee of Secrecy are not empowered to issue any Orders to the Governor General and Council, except such as respect Political and Military Affairs.—And being further asked, Whether the Subject of the Two Acts described by him, did or did not fall within the Department of the Committee of Secrecy? he said, He humbly conceives it is a Question of Opinion, and if he is permitted to hazard an Opinion, the Committee of Secrecy, as such, had nothing to do with the Two Acts of Parliament; and inclosing them in their Dispatch, proceeded only from a Desire that they should reach India as soon as possible.—And being further asked, Whether any Orders from the Secret Committee or from the Court of Directors did accompany the Transmission of those Acts? the Witness said, That he had before said, that the Secret Committee is not competent to give Orders but upon Political and Military Subjects, and the Court of Directors had no Knowledge of that Dispatch, therefore it was impossible that the Court of Directors could give Orders on the Occasion.—And being further asked, If any Orders whatsoever did attend the Transmission of those Acts, by the Dispatch of the Third of August? he said, The Acts were mentioned in the Advices sent by that Dispatch, but that it is impossible for him to recollect the Terms in which they were mentioned, although the Committee of Secrecy could not consider any Orders on this Subject as falling within their Department; yet, so far as he recollects, the Close of one Paragraph in that Letter, enjoins strict Obedience thereto; he speaks from Memory, and does not pretend to be accurate in the Terms.—And being asked, By what Authority the Oath of Secrecy was administered to him; he said, The Persons who administered the Oath to him were the Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the East India Company.—And being further asked, When new Acts of Parliament relative to the Company's Affairs papers are transmitted to India, What is the usual Mode of transmitting or communicating them? he said, The Governor General and Council are advised in the General Letter from the Court of Directors.

Your Committee afterwards further examined Mr. Samuel Wilks; who being asked, Whether he transmitted the Five Copies of the Judicature Act from his own Desire to expedite the Transmission of the Bill to Bengal, or by whose Orders? he said, He does not positively recollect whether Orders were given in a Committee to transmit the Acts of Parliament lately passed, or whether by the Chairman alone; but he would not have transmitted those Acts on his own Authority, much less could he have inserted a Paragraph in a Letter, signed by the Chairman and Deputy Chairman, which mentioned those Acts of Parliament.—Being asked, Who gave the Orders to write the Paragraph in the Letter signed by the Chairman and Deputy Chairman? he said, He wrote that Letter by Order of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman; he does not recollect which of them gave the particular Instructions contained in every Paragraph, but to the best of his Recollection, it was the Chairman that said, “Send the Acts of Parliament;” writing the Paragraph was a Matter of Course after receiving the Instructions.—Being asked, Whether this was the First Copy of the Judicature Bill that was sent to India from the India House? he said, He does not know of any Copy having been sent prior to that Dispatch.—Being asked, Whether he sent the Judicature Act of Parliament to India by a Land or Sea Conveyance? he said, The Dispatch which included the Acts of Parliament, was a Sea Conveyance.—Being asked, What was the Name of the Vessel? he said, He humbly conceives it would be a Breach of his Oath to answer that Question.—Being asked, Whether it was by the Tryal Sloop? he said, It was by a different Conveyance.—Being asked, Whether it was before the Dispatches were sent to go by the Tryal Sloop, or after? he said, Before.—Being asked, At what Time did the Ship sail? he said, He believes he ought not to answer that Question, he humbly conceives it would be a Breach of his Oath to answer that Question.—Being asked, Why he thinks it a Breach of his Oath? he said, Because he cannot reveal the Circumstances of that Dispatch, as he conceives, without breaking his Oath.—Being asked, Whether the Vessel that took that Dispatch proceeded with it to the Tryal, or to India? he said, He has no Knowledge of the Vessel that took that Dispatch having proceeded to the Tryal; he humbly conceives that he cannot give a further Explanation to that Question.—And being asked, Whether he conceives any Detriment can arise to the Company or the State, from informing a Committee of the House of Commons of the Name of a Ship, or the Dispatch of a Vessel, which sailed Six Months since with Dispatches for India? he said, Circumstanced as he is, he does conceive, that without Instructions upon the Point in Question, he is not at Liberty to judge or to give an Opinion, whether Detriment might arise to the Company or to the State by such Disclosure.—And being asked, Whether he has applied for any Instructions on the Subject of Disclosure or Non-disclosure, or has had any Discourse upon the Subject with the Chairman or Deputy of the India Company? he said, Before he attended this Committee the First Time, he asked the Chairman whether he was at Liberty to mention the Dispatch of the Third of August, and he agreed in the Propriety of mentioning that Dispatch to the Committee.—Being asked, Whether he has applied for any Instructions upon this Subject since his First Attendance at this Committee, or has had any Conversation with the Chairman or Deputy on the Disclosure or Non-disclosure to this Committee? he said, He does not recollect that he has made any special Application upon that Subject; but it has been more than once an Object of Conversation between the Chairman and Deputy Chairman in his Hearing; and, from what he understands of the Circumstances of the Dispatch of the Third of August, he is at present restricted from communicating more than he has done respecting that Dispatch.—And being asked, By whom he was restricted? he said, Having received no Authority to communicate more than he has done relative to the Dispatch of the Third of August, he does humbly conceive, he should be guilty of a Breach of his Oath, if he did communicate more than he has done relative to that Dispatch.—It being represented to the Witnesses, That he had been asked, Whether in any Conversations he has had with the Chairman or Deputy, or in any Conversation at which he has been present, he has been restricted by any thing said in those Conversations, relative to any Evidence to be given to this Committee? the Witness in Explanation said, He understood himself to be restricted by the Authority of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the East India Company, from communicating to this Committee the Secrets of that Committee.—And being asked, Whether the Chairman or Deputy distinguished any particular Things as secret, and what? he said, The Circumstances attending the Dispatch of the Third of August was by them considered as secret.—Being asked, Whether there were any other Points in which he is restricted in his Communication to this Committee? he said, He does not recollect that there were.—And being asked, What Time the Dispatch with the Act was sent by the Tryal Sloop? he said, The Secretary of the Company has the Care of those Dispatches; he does not recollect the Day.—Being asked, Whether it is usual in the Committee of Secrecy to send an Authentication of Acts of Parliament to India? he said, He conceives it is not the Province of that Committee, but of the Court of Directors, notwithstanding the Committee sent Copies of the Act in the First Dispatch after the Act passed.—Being asked, Was any and what Conversation held between him and the Chairman, concerning his Examination before this Committee, previous to the Time of that Examination? he said, He waited upon the Chairman to know if he might mention the Dispatch of the 3d of August; he agreed it was proper, but the Circumstances attending that Dispatch could not be disclosed at present.—Being asked, Whether that is the only Conversation he has had with the Chairman and Deputy upon this Subject? he said, Certainly not; but in all Conversations upon this Subject, he believes, the Chairman and Deputy Chairman did not consider themselves warranted in authorizing him to disclose the Circumstances attending that Dispatch.—And being asked, If they said any thing to that Effect? he said, He cannot recollect the Terms, but he is positive as to the Restriction.—And it being represented to the Witness, that he had said that they permitted him to mention the Dispatch of the 3d of August, he was asked, Whether they drew any particular Line, how far they permitted him to inform the Committee? he said, He was authorized to inform the Committee of that Part of the Dispatch which mentioned the Acts of Parliament.—Being asked, Whether he conceives that by virtue of his Oath he is warranted to disclose particular Parts, and suppress others? he said, He conceives he is warranted to disclose what he is ordered to disclose by the Committee of Secrecy.—Being asked, If the Chairman and Deputy Chairman, or either of them, assigned any Reasons why they gave him Leave to mention the Date of the Dispatch, and not the Time of the Vessels sailing? he said, The Reasons which rendered it improper to mention the Circumstances attending that Dispatch, were perfectly known to him; he does not recollect the Terms used for restricting him from communicating the Circumstances attending that Dispatch, further than he has already mentioned; that he does not recollect he has been restricted in any other Point.—Being asked, Why he selected this Point in Exclusion of every other, as that upon which he apprehended he would be examined by this Committee? he said, He did not ask it in Exclusion of every other Point, because he also asked whether he was at Liberty to communicate the Circumstance of having sent to the King's Ministers those Papers, which he believes came by Mr. Shakespeare, and related to Sir Elijah Impey's Appointment.—And being asked, Why he made that Application relative to those Papers? he said, Because he was desirous of receiving Instructions on those Points which were peculiarly within his Knowledge, if he should be examined thereon by the Committee.—And being asked, Whether if he had been ordered not to give Information relative to these Papers, he should have thought those Orders were a sufficient Authority for him to withhold his Information from this Committee? he said, He believes he should have felt himself exceedingly embarrassed in communicating any thing that he conceives would infringe his Oath, and should have begged the Indulgence of the Committee; he should certainly have had no Objection to have said he had sent those Papers to the King's Ministers.—And being asked, If the Chairman of the East India Company knew of the Transmission of the Judicature Act, by the Dispatch of the 3d of August? he said, He certainly knew it.

Your Committee then examined Philip Francis, Esquire, late of the Council General of Bengal; who being asked, Whether in his Opinion it would add to the Reverence in the Company's Servants towards Acts of Parliament, if Acts specially made for their Regulation, and for the Adjustment of their Differences, be omitted to be sent out to Bengal for several Months after they had passed, and when Messengers are known to have gone upon other Affairs? he said, So great a Neglect of Duty may produce many bad Effects in Bengal, and can produce no good ones.—And being further asked, What is esteemed in Bengal the authentic Notification of an Act of Parliament, to which they are obliged to conform themselves? he said, The usual and regular Mode of communicating such Acts to the different Presidencies, was by the general Letters of the Court of Directors to the respective Presidents and Councils, and it is so still as he apprehends; but he does not know, that if the King's Judges, having Information of such Acts from Government here, were to give Notice thereof from the Bench, it would not be deemed a sufficient Promulgation.—That if such Acts were not transmitted, either to the Governor and Council, or to the Judges, he should very much Doubt, whether the Settlement at large would consider them as Laws duly promulgated for their Obedience.—And being asked, Whether a private unauthorized Transmission of Acts of Parliament, (the usual official Channels being neglected) would or would not give Opportunity for those who disliked the Provisions of them, to form Arrangements for defeating or eluding them? he said: Acts of Parliament not regularly transmitted to India, do not go regularly authenticated; they carry no internal Evidence of their being really Acts of the Legislature, and he should apprehend may be eluded and disobeyed without any Risk, at least a Pretence is given for doing both; that the Omission of sending that Act by the first Opportunity of Transmission to India, has evidently a Tendency to create an Opinion in the Settlement, that the Court of Directors are not much in earnest in supporting the Execution of that Act.

Your Committee next proceeded to consider the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, who is the Chief Justice of His Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature in Calcutta, to the Office of Superintendent or Judge of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut at Calcutta: And this Appointment being made by the Governor General and Council of Bengal (who are the Servants of the East India Company) and revokeable at their Pleasure, and His Majesty's Chief Justice having accepted this Appointment upon those Terms, Your Committee thought it their indispensable Duty to examine minutely into the Whole of this Transaction.

And Lawrence Sullivan Esquire, Chairman of the Court of Directors of the East India Company, being examined by Your Committee, said, That there has been Advices come from India, concerning an Agreement between the Governor General and the Chief Justice, by the Appointment of the the latter to an Office under the Company, since the Time of presenting the Company's Petition to the House of Commons, which Advices he supposes did arrive in October.—And being asked, Whether any Directions were given relative to the Subject Matter of them in the Dispatches which were transmitted by the Tryal Sloop, the 29th of August last? he said, That the Directors thought it a Subject of such Moment, as to require the best Opinions they could obtain with respect to that Appointment; that they referred it to their own Counsel Mr. Dunning; and he believes the Attorney and Solicitor General, in order to enable them to write fully and explicitly upon that important Subject.—And being further examined, he said, He received private Letters of an Intention to place Sir Elijah Impey in that Office, previous to that Time, but no public Advices; That he believes he has heard of the Execution of that Intention; that he cannot recollect that he did see Copies of the Minutes, in the Authenticity of which he might depend of the Consultation itself; that Mr. Shakespeare is a covenanted Servant of the Company; that he arrived in England in May or June last; that he attended the Court of Directors.—And being asked, Whether he did, as Chairman of the Court of Directors, make any Inquiries of him relative to the Situation of the great Contest between the Judicature and the political Government of that Country? he said, The Matter most impressed upon his Mind in Conversation with Mr. Shakespeare, was a Letter which he brought from the Governor General, relative to the expected Failure of the Investments; that it is possible, though not then present to his Recollection, that he might speak of more Subjects, but does not remember it made any Part of his Examination before the Court of Directors.—And being further examined, he said, They did not examine him to that Point, because their Knowledge at that Time was very imperfect of that Matter.—And being asked, Whether an imperfect, or no Knowledge was not a Reason for an Inquiry, if the Matter be of Importance? he said, That he does not apprehend the Matter was so far before them, as to press for any Inquiry upon the Subject.

Mr. Sullivan having stated in his Evidence to Your Committee, that the Court of Directors thought the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, to be a Subject of such Moment as to require the best Opinions they could obtain with respect to that Appointment, and that they had referred it to their own Counsel, Mr. Dunning, and he believed the Attorney and Solicitor General; and these Opinions having been received by the Company, and laid before Your Committee, the Chairman of Your Committee was directed to confer with the Chairman and Deputy of the East India Company.—The Minutes of which Conference, and the Proceedings of the Court of Directors, of the 15th and 18th January 1782; and also, a Copy of the 84th Paragraph of the Company's General Letter to Bengal, dated the 25th January 1782, on the Subject of the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, together with the Case laid before Counsel, and their Opinions thereupon, are inserted in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 2 and 3.

Then Mr. Samuel Wilks, from the East India House, was examined by Your Committee, who said, That he is Examiner of India Correspondence, and has served in that Station from the Year 1769—That he saw Papers, purporting to be Minutes of the Governor General and Council relative to the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to be Superintendant of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut before the 10th of July—That the Papers he saw were, to the best of his Memory and Recollection, indorsed as Minutes or Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Revenue Department, of the 29th of September and 24th of October 1780; and were not, to the best of his Recollection, officially authenticated, but that he had no Doubt of their Authenticity when he first saw them—That he has since compared them, and except a few trivial Differences he found them as entered on Consultation—That he received those Minutes from Lawrence Sullivan, Esquire, but did not receive them from him as Chairman of the India Company—That in consequence of the Receipt of those Minutes, he caused Copies to be made, One of which was sent to the Lord Chancellor, One to John Robinson, Esquire, and One to Sir Stanier Porten, for the Information of Lord North and the Earl of Hillsborough—That they were sent by the Instructions of Mr. Sullivan, but not as Chairman of the East India Company, or as official Papers—That he believes the Papers were brought over from India by Mr. Shakespeare—That he does not recollect that at the Time these Dispatches were brought over by Mr. Shakespeare, that there were any authentic Copies or other Advices on that Subject transmitted to the Court of Directors by the Governor General and Council—That he does not know whether the Directors or any of them, or the Chairman, examined Mr. Shakespeare upon the Subject of those Papers.—And being asked, Whether he thought the Chairman did examine Mr. Shakespeare on this Point? he said, He could not tell what to think about it.—And being further asked, Whether, when the Company's Servants bring Dispatches of Importance to the Company, it is not usual to examine them on the Subject Matter of those Dispatches, and particularly concerning the Authenticity of the Papers they bring? he said, The Court of Directors examined Mr. Shakespeare respecting a Paper which he brought over, but with respect to Dispatches in general, Messengers cannot authenticate them, because they receive them sealed, and very often must be totally ignorant of the Contents. With respect to the Papers in Question, the Witness said, That he knew of no Proceedings had thereon by the Court of Directors.—And being further examined, he said, He never heard from whom Mr. Shakespeare received the Dispatch relative to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut—That the usual Mode of receiving Dispatches from India to the Court of Directors, is this, If it is not a Court Day, the Officer or Messenger is sent to the Chairman or Deputy, but that he never knew the Chairman or Deputy open a Pacquet addressed to the Court of Directors, without calling other Directors to witness the Opening of them—That a Pacquet was received the 16th of December at Night (being Sunday) over Land; that he carried it to the Chairman, who dined out, the Deputy happened to dine at the same Place; that they did not think proper to open the Pacquet, but directed him to carry it back, and ordered the Secretary to summon a Court for the next Day—That it was impossible to observe this Rule with regard to the Pacquet brought by Mr. Shakespeare, unless it had been addressed to the Court of Directors, of which he had no Knowledge—That the Note transmitting these Papers to the King's Ministers, stated them as Copies of Papers which Mr. Sullivan had just received by a private Conveyance—That Mr. Shakespeare brought a Paper to the best of his Recollection, addressed to the Directors from Mr. Hastings, said to have been written by Mr. Shakespeare, at the Request of Mr. Hastings—That Mr. Shakespeare was desired to imprint the Substance of it in his Memory, in order to be able to give some Account of the Matter in case of any Accident to the Ship in the Voyage—That the Paper was not signed, but that a Letter to the same Purport has since been sent by the Governor General, to the Court of Directors—That Mr. Shakespeare was not examined to his Knowledge as to the other Paper—That he does not know why Mr. Shakespeare was not interrogated concerning the Authenticity of the Minutes in Question, and from whom he received them—That Proceedings were had by the Court of Directors upon the Paper brought over by Mr. Shakespeare, respecting the Probability of a Diminution taking place in the Bengal Investment; and that he does not know of any Reasons assigned why no Proceedings were had, or Deliberations held upon the Minutes received by the same Channel.

Your Committee being desirous to ascertain on what Day the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey was first laid before the Court of Directors, find, from the Secretary of the East India Company, that no Paper relative to the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, was laid before the Court of Directors, prior to the 24th of October 1781.

Your Committee then examined Extracts of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council in their Revenue Department, of the 29th of September and the 24th of October, 1780, which contain the Arguments of the several Members of the Board for and against the Appointment proposed by the Governor General; and also, the Extract of the Revenue Letter from Bengal, of the 25th November 1780, together with the Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 28th of March 1780, which contains the Plan for the Regulation of the Dewannee Adauluts; and also, Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 3d of November 1780, with the Governor General's Regulations for the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and Mr. Francis's Minute thereupon; all which are inserted in the Appendix N° 3. Upon this Question of Appointment, Your Committee find, that amongst the Council General, very opposite Opinions were entertained of the Propriety or Impropriety of such an Appointment; their Opinions are recorded at large in the Consultations; and in the Proceedings of the 18th of October 1780, the Council General resolve, by the casting Voice of the Governor General, "That the Chief Justice be requested to accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their Stead; and that on his Acceptance of it, he be appointed to it, and styled, The Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut."

And Your Committee find, that the Secretary having waited on the Chief Justice with the preceding Resolution, laid before the Board a Letter delivered to him by the Chief Justice in answer; which is as follows,

"To the Honourable the Governor General and Council, &c. &c.

"Honourable Sir and Sirs,

"Your Secretary, Mr. Baugh, has this Morning communicated to me your Resolution of the 18th Instant.

"I am sensible of the Honour conferred on me by the Trust you have reposed in me; accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such others as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their Stead, and will with great Readiness dedicate my vacant Time to the Service of the Public.

"I have the Honor to be, &c.

"Fort William,
"19th October 1780.

"(Signed) E. Impey."

In consequence of this Letter, Your Committee observe, that it was agreed, conformably to the Resolution of the Board, "That the Chief Justice be appointed Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut."

And

And it was ordered, " That Notice of the Chief Justice's Appointment be sent to the Superintendents of the several Dewannee Adawlut : " And it was agreed, that the Provincial Councils should be advised of this Appointment, by the following circular Letter,

" Gentlemen,

* The Chief Justice having accepted of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, We have appointed him to it, with the Title of Judge of that Court.

" Fort William,
" the 26th October, 1780.

" We are, &c."

In the Proceedings of the same Day, Your Committee find the following Recommendation,

" The Governor General recommends, that a Salary of 5000 Sicca Rupees, and 600 Sicca Rupees per Month for the Rent of an Office, may be allowed to the Chief Justice for this Appointment ; and that the Motion do lie for the Consideration of the Board, to be decided on at their next Meeting."

And the Council General agreed, that the Motion should lie accordingly.

Philip Francis, Esquire, late of the Council General of Bengal, being returned to England, Your Committee required his Attendance ; and being examined, he said, That he landed at Calcutta the 19th of October 1774, and came from thence the 3d of December 1780—That he was appointed by Parliament a Member of the Council General of Fort William ; that at the Time he left India, he was Second Member of that Government—That he was present in Council when Mr. Hastings made the Motion to request Sir Elijah Impey, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, to accept the Office of Superintendent or Judge of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut—That Sir Eyre Coote, one of the Council General, was not present ; and it was agreed, at Mr. Hastings's Desire, that the Opinions of the several Members should be taken in Circulation, that is, by sending the Question round for the Members to give their Opinion in Writing—That Mr. Hastings, Mr. Francis, Mr. Wheler, and Sir Eyre Coote, were the Members composing the Council General at that Time—That it is not his Opinion, that the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to that Office, would be a Means of conciliating the other Judges to the Authority claimed and exercised by the Governor General and Council—That the Governor General and Council, in his Opinion, are themselves the Court of Appeal from the Provincial Adawluts in the last Resort, and could not delegate their Authority to any Persons whatsoever—That the Provincial Courts of Adawlut were established by the preceding Government before the Act of Parliament of the 13th of George the Third took Place ; their Existence was known to Parliament at the Time the Act passed—That the Power of creating such Courts is not disputed or impaired by any Thing said or enacted in that Act—That he considers this as a negative Confirmation at least, of the Court so established—That he is also of Opinion, that when the Act gave the whole Power of ordering, managing, and governing that Country, to the Governor General and Council, they did virtually convey a Power of forming such Institutions as were indispensably necessary for the good Government thereof, that this is his Opinion, but at the same Time he must declare, that it had been much happier for that Country, if a more clear and decided Power had been given—That the Governor General and Sir Eyre Coote undoubtedly thought themselves possessed by the Act, of a clear unequivocal Power to appoint His Majesty's Chief Justice to superintend Appeals from the Provincial Courts ; their Opinions formed the Resolution of the Board, because, by Law, the Governor General and Council are bound, and concluded by the Opinions of the major Part of the Members present.—And being asked, Whether the Chief Justice acknowledged that Power to be vested in the Council General when he accepted an Office subordinate to their Authority ? he said, He accepted the Office by a formal Letter to the Board ; to which Letter he begged Leave to refer—And the Witness further said, That no Opinion was taken of the Company's Law Officer, of the Legality of the Proceeding, before the Governor General and Council offered this Appointment to the King's Chief Justice ; that it was usual in all important Acts where the Authority of the Supreme Court was affected, to consult the Company's Law Officer, and to take a written Opinion from him—That he does not know why the Governor General did not propose to take the Advocate General's Opinion ; that he did not on his Part propose it, because he had not a Doubt upon his Mind that the Appointment was illegal, and he thought he could prove it—That Sir John Day, the Advocate General, had repeatedly assured him, that the Appointment itself, and more especially the Proposition of annexing a Salary to it, were clearly illegal ; and that if he was called upon officially, he should declare his Opinion to that Effect—That the Puisne Judges made no public Objection to the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to the Office of Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut—That the Appointment is expressly said to be personal and exclusive to Sir Elijah Impey alone, that is, to one Man of that Court ; that the Office could not devolve to either of the other Judges by the Terms of the Institution, without a new Appointment—That he thinks the Chief Justice in his Office as Superintendent or Judge of the the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, is under the Controul of the Council General, and responsible to them for his Conduct in that Office; and that he allows himself to be so by the Terms of his Acceptance—That if the Board were dissatisfied with his Conduct, they could dismiss him.—And being asked, Whether he believes, that by the Appointment of the Chief Justice to the Superintendency of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, it would add to the Authority of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts? he said, That he could not speak positively to the future Effects which this Office might produce; but he is inclined to think, that it would rather weaken than strengthen the Authority of the Dewannee Adauluts; because it subjects not only all their Judgments to an Appeal, but all their Proceedings whatsoever to the Inspection and Revision of the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.—And being further asked, Whether he thought that the Appointment of the Chief Justice to this Office, would in any Measure interfere with his Duty as Chief Justice? he said, He had stated at large his Reasons for thinking it would, in the Minute which he drew up and recorded, when the Matter was under Consideration; and he begged Leave to refer the Committee to that Minute (See Appendix N<sup>o</sup> 4.) And the Witness further said, That on the Principles constantly maintained by the Judges of the Supreme Court, any Person thinking himself injured, either by the inferior Adauluts or Sudder Adaulut, might have his Remedy in that Court—That it would be in Effect an Appeal from Sir Elijah Impey, Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, to Sir Elijah Impey, Chief Justice, and the Two Puisne Judges of the Supreme Court; that he has stated a similar Case in the Minute before mentioned, with his Opinion upon it.—And being asked, If the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut did regularly continue it's Sittings and Proceedings after the Establishment of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Bengal? he said, That as well as he recollected, the Governor General and Council sat but Two or Three Times as a Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut; that some Doubts arose concerning their Right and Authority to sit as such; but that the Governor General and Council did from that Time continue to receive at the Revenue Board, Appeals from the Decrees of the Provincial Adauluts, and to reverse or confirm the same—That Appeals from the Provincial Courts of Adaulut have not been so numerous, but that the Governor and Council could have attended to the Decision of them in the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut; and that he has already stated in his Minute, That the Administration in Bengal wanted Vigour, not Time, to execute all its Duties—That he thinks, that after the Measure pursued by the Governor General and Council, to restrain the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court over the Zemindars, Collectors, Farmers, Ryotts, &c. he thinks the Native Inhabitants would necessarily conclude, that all the Points hitherto in Dispute between the Council General and the Supreme Court were given up to the Court; and that it was meant to throw the whole Power of the Government, in that Department, into the Hands of the Court—That the Natives at large could not distinguish between the Chief Justice and the Court; and that he conceives this would be the Impression of the Measure upon their Minds—That as far as his Conversation extended, he never knew an Act of Government give such general Dissatisfaction to the European Inhabitants, as this Appointment—That there had been some Disputes between the Provincial Adauluts and the Provincial Councils; but he did not recollect that they engaged much of the Council General's Time and Attention; and that he is of Opinion, that any Questions of that Kind might have been easily settled by their Authority—That those Courts were established by Authority of the President and Council, whose Powers had been conveyed to the Governor General and Council by Act of Parliament, as he had described it in his former Answer—That Mr. Hastings was President of that Council at the Time of the Institution of those Courts—That the Provincial Courts were appointed by the President and Council—That the Officers in those Provincial Councils, are nominated at present by the Governor General and Council—That the Power that appoints the Provincial Councils, and the Power that appoints also the Provincial Adauluts, and originally established both, is the best adapted, and the only Power that can settle Disputes between them—That the Chief Justice has not, to his Knowledge, in the late Controversies, complained, that he had so little Business in his Court, as left him full Time to attend to a Business which would require a laborious and almost unremitted Application; but, on the contrary, he always understood that he was overloaded with Business, and that he has stated it so in his Minute—That he never heard Mr. Hastings, during those unhappy Controversies, express an Opinion that the Conduct of the Chief Justice towards those Courts in particular, and the Members of them, was prudent, just, and moderate—That he has frequently expressed the highest Disgust and Dissatisfaction of the various Proceedings of the Supreme Court, where Actions have been brought in Consequence of Proceedings or Judgments in the Provincial Councils or Adauluts—That it appears farther, by the Letters from the Governor General and Council to the Court of Directors, written in February and March 1780, that they unanimously deemed it to be the constant Effort and Intention of the Judges of the Supreme Court, to lower and degrade the Government of the Country in the Eyes of the People, by every Means in their Power—That he believes the Committee will find this Opinion expressed in their Letter in Terms not less strong than those he then made Use of from Memory.—And the Witness being asked, What Reasons Mr. Hastings assigned for his Change of Opinion, in appointing a Person whose Conduct he had represented in that Light, in Regard to those Provincial Courts, and that Government to be the Controul of the Courts, and an acting Member under the Authority which he represented to be the Chief Justice's Intention to undermine? he said, That he assigned no Reasons to him, but those which appear on the Face of his Minute; and he further added, that he did not hear that Mr. Hastings assigned to any other Person,

Person, any Reasons for his Change of Opinion concerning the Conduct and Views of the Chief Justice—That he has heard the Chief Justice did represent the Proceedings of Mr. Hastings and the Council General, as being unjust and mischievous to the Interest of the Company, and prejudicial to the Ease and Welfare of the Natives; and he knows that he was not reserved in making Declarations to the same Effect from the Bench. And being asked, What Reasons the Chief Justice assigned for his Change of Opinion of the Governor General and Council, so as to induce him to accept of an Employment under them, and to be held during their Pleasure? he said, He had no Reason to think he had changed his Opinion of them, or of their Proceedings—That Mr. Hastings did not assign any Reasons, that he knew of, for not waiting the Determination of the Court of Directors, and of Parliament, upon the Points submitted to them upon their Representations and Petitions.—And being asked, What was the Cause of the Hazards that the Superiors of the Provincial Dewannee Courts were exposed to, in the Exercise of their Functions, and which caused their Remissness in those Functions? the Witness said, That he does not know that they were remiss; that the Hazards alluded to could only be apprehended from Actions that might be brought against them in the Supreme Court, and which it was said the Court rather inclined to encourage than not—That the Council General never did, to his Knowledge, give an Opinion, that the Power of bringing those Actions was a Thing mischievous to the Public; that he cannot speak positively who Mr. Hastings thought was the Cause of the Disregard that had been shewn to the Authority of the Provincial Courts.—And the Witness being asked, What Reasons Mr. Hastings assigned, why no Man would dare to contest their Right of acting, when their Proceedings were held under the Sanction and immediate Patronage of the First Member of the Supreme Court? he said, The Question was never debated at the Board; and no Reasons therefore were assigned on either Side, but those which appeared in the Minutes. And being further asked, Whether any Man might not dare to question the Authority of those Courts in the Supreme Court, although the Chief Justice presided in the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut Court, or whether the Supreme Court has formally abdicated that Power, since the Chief Justice has accepted his new Office? he said, The Supreme Court have not relinquished any Part of the Power they ever pretended to, and he supposes that they would be as ready as ever to receive Complaints against the Members of the Provincial Adauluts—That he speaks of the Court as such; but how far the Natives might be deterred from having Recourse to that Sort of Remedy, when they saw the Chief Justice at the Head of the Provincial Administration of Justice, can be only Matter of Conjecture—That from what he knows in general of those People, he thinks they would be deterred by this Appointment from seeking Justice in the Supreme Court; and for this plain Reason, they know that by the Appointment of the Chief Justice, he is to revise and correct the Judgments of the inferior Adauluts, and naturally will not go into another Court, where the same Judge presides, to look for Redress.—And the Witness further said, That he believes the Judges of the Supreme Court, or some of them, have often declared an Opinion, That if Men were deterred, by any Authority derived from the Company, from complaining of the Mal-administration of the Provincial Courts and Councils, the End of their Appointment would be defeated, and their Court be of little or no Use—That Mr. Hastings did not assign any Reason, nor is he able to assign any, why the giving a Place, to be held during Pleasure under the Governor General and Council, should be a Means of lessening the Distance between the Board and the Supreme Court, which is asserted in his Minute to have been more than the undefined Powers assumed to each, the Cause of the Want of that accommodating Temper which ought to influence their Intercourse with each other—That Mr. Hastings proposed to the Board the Appointment of a Salary of 5000 Sicca Rupees a Month, and 600 Sicca Rupees a Month for an House, amounting together to near £. 8000 a Year—That the Judges have frequently declared, That the Purpose of their Appointment was to be a Controul to Europeans acting under the Company's Appointment, and to prevent their Extortions and Oppressions—That he should not think that the lessening of the Distance between the Council Board and the Supreme Court, by giving to the chief Member of the latter a lucrative Employment, to be held during the Pleasure of the former, had a Tendency to answer the Purposes of the Institution of the Supreme Court—That it has evidently a Tendency totally to defeat those Purposes; for if you suppose all, or a Majority, of the Judges of the Supreme Court to hold lucrative Offices revocable at the Pleasure of the Governor General and Council, you cannot avoid concluding, that their general Conduct will be guided by the Inclinations of the Governor General and Council; that this in general might be true; but he does not mean to say, that it would be true in the specific Instance of the present Chief Justice and Judges—That a lucrative Office, revocable at Pleasure creates Dependence, and can create nothing else; he does not know by what Means it could increase the Authority of the Court; as far as such Authority may be affected by the Respect and Opinion of the People, it must necessarily be diminished, by the Idea of the Judges being dependent in any Shape on the Governor General and Council—That if the Natives understand the Object and Intention of the Institution of the Supreme Court, he thinks it must lessen their Confidence in that Court, to see One of the Judges of it employed in, and presiding over, those very Courts over which the Supreme Court assumed and exercised a Controul—That the Appointment of a Salary to the Office, had not taken place when he left Bengal, but does not believe it to be owing to the Chief Justice's Rejection of the Proposition—That he never heard that the Chief Justice had expressed his Disapprobation of that Proposition—He is convinced Mr. Hastings would not have moved it in Council without the previous Consent and Approbation of the Chief Justice—That he saw the Chief Justice after that Proposition had been made in Council, and that he did not express to him any Disapprobation of the Appointment or Salary. And the Witness being asked, What prevented that Salary from being annexed to the Appointment? he said, That Sir Eyre Coote was gone to the Coast, Mr. Wheeler and himself were avowedly against the Proposition; and of course, if the Question had been put, it would have been lost—That the Judges of the Supreme Court did not communicate to the Council General any Letters or Representations that they sent to His Majesty's Ministers. And being asked, What was the State of the Company's Treasury when this Appointment was made? he said, That he thinks it was the Beginning of September that Mr. Hastings opened the Treasury for a Loan at Interest, without Limitation; at that Time every Branch of Public Service was greatly in Arrear, particularly the Army—That at the End of November, if he recollects with Exactness, the Debt or Demand against the Treasury amounted to Ninety-one Lacks Ninety thousand One hundred and Eighty-three Current Rupees (Vide Appendix, N° 5.) and their Distress for Money at that Period was very great—That they had taken the Deposit of Thirty Lacks out of the new Fort, which, at a former Period, they had agreed to reserve against any great or unforeseen Emergency or Distress—That the different Schemes adopted for raising Money, had not succeeded in the Degree they expected—That he does not recollect to have heard of Sir Elijah Impey having offered his Services to attend the Dewannee Court in Quality of an Assessor, not claiming a Voice, but simply to give his Advice (Vide former Report, General Appendix, N° 32.)—That the Opinion of the Judges, including the Chief Justice, was not officially taken—That the Opinion of the Advocate General was not taken; that it was never proposed to take the Judges Opinion—That the Advocate General's Opinion was asked, and much relied upon, in the former Disputes between the Supreme Court and the Council—He does not know that the Provincial Courts of Adaulut have been so perverted in the Execution, as to be the great Engines of Oppression over the miserable Inhabitants of the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa—That he does not know that the Administration of Justice has ever been let to hire to Dewans or Banyans of those Gentlemen whose Duty it was to preside in that Court, or to any other Persons whatsoever—That he never heard it said but of One of the Provincial Adauluts, and of that he never saw Proof; that it never came officially before him—If a Complaint of such an Abuse, accompanied with proper Evidence, had ever been brought before the Governor General and Council, he is certain it would have been followed with the Ruin of the Parties in every Sense—That he does not know if there were any regular Profits annexed to the Administration of Justice, which was in the Power of the Members of the Provincial Councils, or others, to let out to Banyans or Dewans; nor has he ever heard, that the Forms and Terror of Justice have been held forth merely to give Colour and Force to Rapine and Extortion; it is possible wrong Things may have been done, but he never heard of any Proceedings of the Adaulut, which approach to that Sense and Extent—That during the Time that he was in Bengal, he does not know or believe that Oppressions by the Company's Servants have operated in so enormous a Degree, as very seldom to have left the Oppressed the Means to obtain Justice by civil Suits; the poorest Man in that Country, if he could reach Calcutta, or any Agent for him, might present his Petition to any Member of the Council, by whom he believes it would have been examined—That some of the lower Classes of People are oppressed, he does believe to be true, but he also believes it is not by Europeans. The Witness says, He speaks generally, for there may be Instances to the contrary, and some he has heard of; some appear upon the Records: The Case which was said to be of the grossest Nature, which made the greatest Noise, and which was most insisted on by the Judges, was that of Nadara Begum; she was said to have been divested of every Thing; she nevertheless found Means to apply to the Supreme Court, and found Redress there.—And the Witness being asked, By whom then he conceived those Oppressions are committed? said, That he begged Leave to observe, that his Residence was confined to Calcutta, he cannot therefore speak of Transactions in the Districts from his own direct Knowledge; the Information he has had inclines him to believe, that those low Classes of People of whom he spoke, are oppressed by other Natives, immediately in Authority over them—The Salt Contractors in particular did oppress the Molungues in a very barbarous Manner—He has heard too, that the lower Classes of the Weavers are oppressed in many Ways, by the Black People in the Provision of the Company's Investment: Complaints in both Instances were brought before our Government—That he knows the First to be true, and gives Credit to the Second—That he cannot give any positive Information, whether any Reform has been made in those Respects, because it is very difficult to know at Calcutta what the real State of Facts is, at any great Distance—The Molungues are no longer subject to Contractors, and therefore probably are better treated than they used to be; with respect to the Weavers, he can say nothing.—And being asked, Whether the Proceedings of the Supreme Court of Judicature, upon the Matters in Dispute, had not been represented by the Governor General and Council to the Natives and to the Court of Directors, as oppressive and injurious to the Natives of India? he said, That the Governor General and Council made various Representations to the Court of Directors to that Effect, but not to the Natives; the Provincial Councils were directed to inform the Zemindars and other Landholders, that as such they were not subject to the Jurisdiction of the Court, nor bound to submit to their Process—That many Individuals have presented Petitions and other Complaints, either directly or through the Medium of the Provincial Councils, stating their Proceedings as grievous to them, and there was also a Petition from the Zemindars of the Province of Bahar to the same Purpose.—And being asked, Whether the Measure of advising a Disobedience to the Process of a Court of Justice, was not a strong Measure, and which could not be justified, but upon the Opinion of the Board that a strong Necessity required it? he said, That Necessity undoubtedly did require the Measure; at the same Time, as he acted constantly upon a Conviction, that the Proceedings of the Supreme Court were illegal, he did deem it legal to resist them; this he did at his Peril, in the Terms of the King's Charter—That Mr. Hastings did entirely concur in the Necessity of the Board's Proceedings, and in the Illegality of the Court's Proceedings in the Cossijurah Cause, and there never was a Difference of Opinion between Mr. Hastings and him in that Business—That Mr. Barwell never dissented or disagreed with them in that Business—That the Board certainly considered the Proceedings of the Supreme Court, in the Patna Cause, as oppressive to the Natives, because the Majority of the Board, consisting of Mr. Hastings and Mr. Barwell, were from the First avowedly of Opinion, that the Will in favour of Nadara Begum was a Forgery. As to himself, it is proper he should say, that the first Impression he received of that Cause, was against the Cauzi and Muftes, and even against the Proceedings of the Provincial Council of Patna, because he knew a Fact, which he deemed irregular in the Proceedings, and which they did not thoroughly account for to his Satisfaction. By the Principles of their Institution, the Provincial Council, or the Member that sits at the Head of the Adaulut, should have tried the Facts themselves, and only refer to the Learned in the Mahomedan Law, if a Question of Law arose upon the Facts. Further Inquiry and more exact Information induced him to alter his first Opinion, and in the End, he was satisfied that the Will was a Forgery; but the Question never came, nor could come judicially before him, of course he never acted upon the First Opinion or upon the Second, except that he opposed the bailing of the Parties, at so great a Risque to the Company as £. 40,000; for he understood, that if any one of these Persons had escaped, the Company must have paid the Whole; as Trustee for the Company, he could not undertake that Risque in their Behalf; the Bail was nevertheless granted by the Majority of the Board—That the Cause was defended by the Company's Attorney, and at their Expence—That the Bailing and Defence, and the subsequent Conduct of the Board, must have the Effect to indicate to the Natives, that it was the Opinion of that Board, that the Conduct of the Supreme Court was in that Instance oppressive—That he believes the Imprisonment of the Cauzi and Muftes was a very unpopular Act.—And being asked, Whether if the Proceedings of the Provincial Council at Patna had been irregular, the Provincial Council or the Mahomedan Lawyers, were in the Opinion of the Board most to blame? he said, None of them thought that the Mahomedan Lawyers had been to blame in any Degree; with respect to the Provincial Council, he thinks it was not disputed that they were irregular.—And being further asked, Whether assessing small Damages upon the Members of the Provincial Council, and very large ones upon the Mahomedan Lawyers, was thought by the Natives a proper Proceeding of a Court, instituted for their Protection against British Subjects in Authority? he said, Not possessing the Language, he had but little direct Intercourse with the Natives; but from what he has heard, he believes it to be true, that the Mahomedans in general were highly dissatisfied with the Judgment of the Supreme Court against the Law Officers.—And being further asked, Whether the European Members of the Provincial Council of Patna were not indemnified, and the Mahomedan Law Officers suffered to lie in Prison? he said, There was no Way of releasing the Mahomedans, but by satisfying the Judgment, which none of them thought that the Board was authorized to do, considering the Greatness of the Sum—The Damages awarded against the Members of the Patna Council, he thinks, were paid down by the Company's Attorney on Account of the Parties, who were called upon to repay that Money, and he believes did so—That the Mahomedan Lawyers continued in Prison unquestionably for want of Ability to satisfy the Judgment—That they continued in Gaol when he left Calcutta.—And being asked, What is the Situation of Persons confined in Gaol at Calcutta for a considerable Length of Time, and the probable Effects of such Confinement upon their Health and Lives? he said, It is hardly possible for any human Creature to be placed in a more miserable or dangerous Situation; in the rainy Season it must be particular unhealthy; and he thinks, that for an European to be confined there a Month in that Season, would probably occasion his Death—That he knows of no Europeans confined there lately, except Mr. Naylor and Mr. Swainston—Mr. Naylor, the Company's Attorney, was committed for a Contempt, and to answer Interrogatories; he was at that Time in an indifferant State of Health; his Confinement he believes must have hastened if not occasioned his Death, which happened soon after his Enlargement—Mr. Swainston, a Company's Servant, was committed for a Contempt, and he thinks remained in Gaol about Three Weeks; he was as strong and healthy a young Man as any in the Company's Service; he paid the Witnesses a Visit the Day he came out of Prison, but he was so much altered and reduced by his Confinement, that he did not at first recollect who he was.—And being asked, What is the probable Effect in the Minds of the Natives, when they see a Court, instituted for their Protection, considered by the Government of the Country as an Instrument of their Oppression, will it give them a Reverence for that Court, and for the Authority by which it was instituted? he said, Certainly not; as far as he knows or can judge, the Natives in general did not think the Court a Protection for them.—And being further asked, When the Government of the Country undertakes the Protection of the Natives against that Court, as acting in their Opinion oppressively, and rewards the Person charged with the Oppression, with Offices of further Trust and Power over their Persons and Fortunes, and offers large pecuniary Emoluments which arise from their Labour and Industry, whilst the

Persons

Persons who are stated to have endured the Wrong remain in the Prison described by the Witnesses, unredressed for Years, what Impression will this have upon the Minds of the Natives in favour of English Government in that Country? he said, It cannot but make the deepest Impression in their Minds, to the Disadvantage of the English Government, and of the Character of the Nation.—And being further asked, Whether in any Event the Natives of India suffering oppressive Imprisonment by unjust or erroneous Law Proceedings, can have a speedy Redress in a Court of Appeals, and by the ordinary Forms of Justice in India? he said, An Appeal to England at the best, offers but a distant Remedy, and that attended with great Vexation and Expence; in the Case of Imprisonment until the Event of an Appeal to England shall be known in India, it can produce no Relief or adequate Redress, because the Party imprisoned will in all Probability die in the Interval, or at least lose his Health and Constitution.—And being further asked, Which will tend most to the strengthening of English Government, and the Ease of the Natives, a vigorous Execution of the Laws which exist, and an Enquiry into Corruptions and Peculations, or making new Laws without an effectual Execution of the old ones? he said, Making new Laws avails nothing, as long as you suffer those which actually exist to be violated or evaded—That he thinks the Non-execution of the old Laws in India will be an Encouragement to despise the new.—And being asked, Whether the Judges had sufficient Notice between the Time of the Governor General and Council's transmitting their Complaints to Europe, and his Departure from Bengal, to transmit a full Answer and Justification of their Proceedings, to Government in England? he said, They did not communicate to the Judges their Letters to the Court of Directors, nor did the Judges communicate whatever Letters they might have written to the King's Ministers, but the Grounds of the Differences between them were thoroughly understood on both Sides; the Interval between the Time of the Complaint and his Departure was about Nine or Ten Months—That the Judges never demanded from the Board, Copies of the specific Complaints transmitted against them.—And being asked, Whether the Judges or the Governor General and Council did transmit immediately to the Court of Directors, or the Secretary of State, an Account of the Arrangement they had made with regard to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut? he said, He knew nothing of what might have been done by the Judges; their first Letter to the Company after the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey took place, ought to have contained an Account of it, and he took it for granted it did so—That in his Opinion no Inconvenience could have arisen from suspending the Execution of that Arrangement until the Sense of the Company and of Parliament, to whom the State of the Jurisdiction had been submitted, should be known.—Then being asked, What Consequence he thought it would have on British Authority in that Country, if, pending Applications to Parliament for Direction and Indemnity, the Parties undertake the Arrangement on which they petition Parliament, by Compromises amongst themselves? he said, He thinks it must have some bad Effects, and can have no good ones; the People at large, as far as they can be supposed to enter into the Matter, must consider the Event, as alluded to in the Question, as a Compromise, not as the regular Settlement and Decision of a public Question—That from the Period of the Governor General and Council's Petition to Parliament to the Time of the Chief Justice's Appointment to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, there was no Concession on either Side, the Court continued to exert their Claims to Jurisdiction, and the Board to deny and resist those Claims—That he never heard of the Proposition for the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to that Office, till it was proposed in Council the 29th of September—That he does not recollect, that after the Appointment of the Chief Justice, there was any Act done by the Court involving the Question formerly in Dispute between the Board and the Supreme Court.—And being asked, Whether, supposing the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to have been in his Opinion legal, and tending to allay the Differences between the Council General and the Supreme Court, he would have thought himself obliged to reject or defer that Measure, on Account of the Application made by the Board on those Subjects to the Company and to Parliament? he said, He should have thought himself bound to wait the Decision of those Tribunals, to which he had appealed; that he should imagine if Attention had been given to the Subject in England, and no Time unnecessarily wasted, an Answer might have arrived in 12 or 14 Months.—And being further asked, Whether this Measure was considered at the Time as temporary, and to continue only until the Sense of Parliament was known? he said, He received it from the Governor General, as meant by him to be a permanent Establishment; and if he is not mistaken, it is so described in the Governor's Minute.—And being further asked, Whether it was a general Rule of the Board, when a Reference was made on any Subject to Europe, to wait for an Answer without taking any intermediate Step? he said, There could be no such general Rule to bind the Discretion of the Government at all Events; Circumstances might intervene which might make it indispensably necessary for the Government to act, notwithstanding any preceding Reference to the Court of Directors; but in general it was thought right to wait for Orders when a Reference was made.—And being asked, Whether the Consequences of the Dissentions between the Board and the Court were not of a Nature so pressing as to render an immediate Reconciliation highly expedient and very desirable? he said, By no Means at that Point of Time; the great Dispute which had produced overt Acts of Hostility between the Two Bodies, was in fact determined by the superior Force of the Government against the Court, and the Country in general was quiet; it was the Complaint of the Court and the Officers belonging to it, that they ceased to have any Business; and this was said to be a Grievance to those Gentlemen; a more direct, and perhaps a more satisfactory factory Answer to this Question may be taken from Mr. Hastings's Minute; he himself expressly says, "That the Contests with the Court are at present composed, but we cannot be certain that the Calm will last beyond the actual Vacation."—And being further asked, Whether he understood that it was the Opinion of Sir John Day, the Advocate General, that the Appointment of a Superintendant of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut was illegal in general, or whether that Opinion was confined to the Appointment of the Chief Justice? he said, The Advocate General's Opinion was stated to him only in Conversation; it arose immediately from the Fact, and was confined to it: But he concludes, that the Advocate General would have thought it equally illegal, if the Appointment had been given to any other of the Judges; he does not recollect that he said any thing with respect to the Legality of the Appointment to any other Person: That he has some Reason to think the Appointment of the Chief Justice was very offensive to the Puisne Judges—Says, he recollects a Clause in the Act of 13th Geo. III. directing the Manner of deciding when there is a Diversity of Opinions among the Members of the Board of the Council General.—And being asked, In what Manner that Clause is understood, and what is the Course of Practice on it at that Board? he said, It is understood by him, and has been more than once declared by him in their Consultations, that no Resolution of that Board is strictly legal, but that which is taken by the Votes of the Members in Council, or the Majority of them: The Committee will remember, that he did state to them, that it is nevertheless not unusual for Resolutions of the Board to be taken in Circulation; by which he means, that Questions are sometimes sent round in Writing, for the Opinions of the Members: It is a great Convenience in the Dispatch of Business, and is never practised but by common Consent, either directly given or supposed: That he thinks that this Practice has a Tendency, where a Difference of Opinion may subsist, to take away, or much impair, the deliberative Capacity of that Council; that he admits it is his Opinion that it is strictly illegal; in the Instance in Question, he should undoubtedly have insisted upon a Meeting of the Board, if he thought either that he could have advanced any Arguments in support of his Opinion more powerful than those which he delivered in Writing, or that any Arguments whatever from Mr. Wheler, or from him, would have affected the final Resolution of the Board; he was then and is now morally certain of the contrary: Sir Eyre Coote, who gave his Opinion last, had several Days to consider the Minutes and Arguments of the other Members.—And being asked, What is the Nature and Course of Business, that he thinks may make it necessary or very expedient, to act otherwise than as the Act directs? he said, The Detail of Business which comes before that Council is endless, and the Questions arising out of it infinite, all which must be determined by a Majority of Votes of the Governor General and other Members of the Council; it would not only be a most distressing Inconvenience to the Members, but in his Opinion physically impossible, to determine all these Questions immediately at the Board: At the Dispatch of the Ships particularly, when the Secretaries are employed in drawing up the General Letters, and other voluminous Papers for the Company, every Member of the Council has as much Business on his Hands as he can possibly do; and it is usual for a Recess of Ten Days or a Fortnight, in which Time there are no Meetings of the Council, yet numberless Questions arise in those Intervals, which must be instantly determined; he will venture to say, that no Men in Public Offices could labour more than they did, and the Climate so much against them—That he has no Idea a Rule could be formed to distinguish the Principles or Cases in which that Mode of Circulation may be prohibited, and those in which it may be permitted; that he thinks it should be left as it stands, and that it can produce no material Inconvenience, as long as the Right of each Member to insist on the Meeting of Council, if he pleases, is admitted—That there was a Board of Trade established at Calcutta, to take Charge of the Company's commercial Affairs, but they acted chiefly under the Instructions transmitted to them by the Court of Directors, through the Governor General and Council.

This Mode of giving Opinion by Circulation, which appears to have been adopted by the Governor General and Council in their Proceedings upon the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, induced your Committee to inquire of Mr. Francis, who was not in England when this Subject was before under the Enquiry of your Committee; accordingly Mr. Francis being asked, Whether at the Time the Resolution was taken by the Governor General and Council to resist the Process of the Supreme Court, it was the Result of a Debate at the Board with all its Members present, or whether their several Opinions were taken in Circulation? he said, That every Resolution of the Board, in that Business, as far as he can recollect, was taken in Council, all the Members, viz. the Governor General, Mr. Barwell, Mr. Wheler, and himself, were present; Sir Eyre Coote was at Lucknow, in the Province of Oude.—Being asked, Whether the Board was unanimous? he said, Always; their Unanimity declared to each other in this particular Point, was the Basis of their Proceeding.—And being asked, Whether any Debate or Difference of Opinion did afterwards arise at the Board, upon the Expediency or Legality of that Proceeding? he said, That every Step they took was duly and carefully canvassed at the Board; but he does not recollect that there was the smallest Difference of Opinion at any Time among them.—And being asked, Whether at the Time the Governor General and Council ordered their Attorney to withdraw their Appearance, in the Action commenced against them in the Supreme Court, at the Suit of Coffinaut Baboo, and to disclaim the Authority of the Court against the Corporate Acts of the Governor General and Council, Mr. Barwell did not dissent from that Resolution? he said, Mr. Barwell left Calcutta Ten Days or a Fortnight before their Declaration was made in open Court; whether Mr. Barwell was apprized of their Intention to make such a Declaration, or not, he cannot positively say, but he knows with Certainty, that Mr. Barwell never did object in Council to any of the Measures resolved on by the Governor General, Mr. Wheeler, and himself; the Chief Justice, in Reply to their Declaration, did declare publicly from the Bench, that Mr. Barwell had told him, in private, he was convinced of the Illegality of their resisting the Process of the Court; and that he should not authorize the Company's Attorney or Advocate to withdraw his Appearance, into which he had entered jointly with the other Members of the Council: The Chief Justice added, that he himself was left Trustee for Mr. Barwell and his Children, and of course he ought to have known of the Intention of withdrawing their Appearance, if such a Step was intended, either by Mr. Barwell himself, or his Trustee. This Declaration made a very great Noise in Calcutta, and was supposed to affect Mr. Barwell's Reputation so deeply, that he had heard that some of his particular Friends took Pains to deny the Truth of it.—The Chief Justice, on the same Occasion, made some Declarations respecting a private Negotiation between Mr. Hastings and himself, regarding the Cossijurah Business; of which the Witness said, he had never heard one Syllable before, but of which he conceived he ought to have been informed; since, though they differed in many other Points, they had agreed to unite, and that bonâ fide together, in this particular Business. He immediately went to Mr. Hastings at his Country House, and stated to him the Declarations of the Chief Justice, as they had been reported to him; telling him, that he considered the Facts, if they were Facts, as incompatible with the Spirit and Meaning of their Agreement to act together on that particular Occasion.—That Mr. Hastings gave him Explanations with respect to that Part of the Chief Justice's Discourse, which related to him; by which he was thoroughly satisfied he had not acted, nor meant to act unfairly towards Mr. Wheeler and himself, though he thought, and still thinks, that he acted imprudently in having any Conversation with the Chief Justice, without their Knowledge; he also made him such Excuses as occurred to him for the Conduct imputed by Sir Elijah Impey to Mr. Barwell.—That the Declaration of the Chief Justice from the Bench, was made about the Middle of March 1780, and his Appointment to the Sudder Adaulut, was recommended by Mr. Hastings about the End of September.—That he knows nothing of any Reconciliation between them.

And Mr. Francis being afterwards further examined, said, That he landed at Dover the 19th of October last.—And being asked, How soon he saw the Chairman of the East India Company after his Arrival in London? he said, That on Saturday the 20th of October, he gave Notice to the Court of Directors of his Arrival; he went to Mr. Sullivan, the Chairman's House the same Day, and on the Monday he went to the Deputy Chairman, but he saw neither of them. Hearing nothing from the India House, or any Person belonging to it, except that the Secretary acknowledged the Receipt of his Letter, he went again to the Chairman's House on the 12th of November, and left a Message for him in Writing, requesting to see him; in consequence of which he was so polite as to come to his House next Morning; after that he wrote to him, and upon his laying his Letter before the Court of Directors, he was informed by the Secretary, that the Directors had requested the Chairman and Deputy Chairman, to receive from him any Information he might have to offer on the State of the Company's Affairs, (Vide Appendix, No. 6.) Accordingly, he went to the East India House, by Appointment, on the 19th of November, and delivered those Gentlemen a Paper of the Heads of that Information which he meant to give them, and gave them Explanations as he went on: And the Witness begged to be permitted to lay a Copy of that Letter before the Committee (Vide Appendix, No. 7.)—And being asked, What Enquiry was made of him by the Court of Directors, concerning the State of the Controversy between the Governor General and Council and the Supreme Court of Judicature when he left Bengal? he said, He had never been introduced to the Court of Directors, nor called upon in any Shape by them.—When he saw the Chairman and Deputy, they asked him no Question whatever upon this Subject, nor, as well as he can recollect, upon any other.—That the Chairman and Deputy Chairman assigned no Reasons why no Questions were asked of him upon this, or upon any other Subject; nor can he conceive what their Reason could be, unless they were apprehensive his Answers might bring forward Information, which they did not wish to see brought forward; and the Witness added, But this is mere Conjecture.—And being further asked, Whether a Letter which appeared in the Public News-papers, dated Calcutta, 12th October 1780, signed Philp Francis, (Vide Appendix N° 8) is a just Copy of any Letter written by him to the Court of Directors? he said, It is his Letter.—And it being stated to the Witness, That as he had stated in his Letter to the Court of Directors, that they had suffered the Company's fundamental Principles of Policy to be overset, their Instructions and Orders, in various Instances, to be disobeyed with Impunity; that they had condemned the Governor General, and another Member of the Council, in the strongest Terms; and charging also the Directors with various other Neglects of Duty, Violations of Promise, and other Matter of a criminal and serious Nature; he was asked, Whether he knew or believed that the Court of Directors ever received that Letter? he said, The Chairman told him they had.—That the Chairman did not call upon him to support those Charges by Evidence, or to disclaim them as groundless and injurious to the Honour of the Court of Directors; but he, the Witness, told him, he was ready and able to make them good.—That the Chairman mentioned the Letter to him, as the true and only Cause that he was not received by the Court of Directors, with those public Marks of Civility and Approbation to which he was otherwise intitled.—That he did not tell him any Inquiry would be instituted into the Subject Matter of that Letter, but rather intimated to him, that the Court of Directors had no Intention to take any Notice of it whatever.—That he adheres to the Sense and Terms of that Letter in every particular, and believes he can establish the Truth of his Assertions by sufficient Evidence.—

That the Orders of the Company were not supported and enforced by the Court of Directors whilst he was in Bengal—That he thinks the Acts of Parliament relative to the Regulation of the East India Company in general, are not strictly regarded.—And being asked, What he held to be the principal Cause of it? he said, Men who have violated Orders, and who, as he thinks, have disregarded Acts of Parliament, have been censured, but not punished, and instead of being removed from their Stations, have been continued in them, by new Appointments—That the Conversation wherein the Chairman intimated to him that the Court of Directors did not intend to take any Notice of his Letter of the 12th of October 1780, passed at his House on the 13th of November last.—And being asked, Why, instead of the Proposition for a Salary to be annexed to the Appointment of the Chief Justice, as Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, being postponed, it was not then negatived? he said, The Governor General put no Question upon his own Proposition, it would have been irregular, and disrespectful to him for any other Member to have forced a Question upon it; it would have been also useless, because he, the Witness, was determined to leave Bengal immediately, and had made a public Declaration of his Intention to do so; of course, the Governor General being left with Mr. Wheler only, could have reversed the Resolution of the preceding Board, whenever he thought proper, by his casting Voice; if on the contrary he had been determined to remain in India, he should have taken an early Opportunity of moving for reversing the Appointment itself.—And being asked, Whether it would not have appeared a stronger Measure to the Court of Directors for the Governor General to reverse a Resolution not to agree to a Salary, and afterwards to carry the Appointment, when one Member of the Council had quitted his Seat, than to decide it by his casting Voice? he said, He could not tell how it would have appeared to the Court of Directors, because they had Instances before them of the same Nature, and full as strong, of which they did not take any serious or effectual Notice—That he remembers an Application made to the Judges soon after the Establishment of the Governor General and Council in Bengal, to ask how far they would allow Validity to the Proceedings of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, according to the Rules of its Institution before the Establishment of the Supreme Court of Judicature; and as well as he can recollect at so great a Distance of Time (being in July 1775) the Answer from the Judges was not deemed satisfactory by a Majority of the Board; their Answers to the Two First Questions seemed sufficiently direct; by the Third, which may be deemed the most material of the Three, they left them as much in Doubt as ever, as will appear by a Reference to their Letter (Vide Appendix N° 9.)—That he believes the legal Authority of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts had at that Time in many Instances been called in Question by the Supreme Court.—The Witness then informed Your Committee, That he had received a private Letter from Calcutta, dated 6th January 1781, by which he is informed, that the Salary and Allowances recommended for the Chief Justice as Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, of 5600 Sicca Rupees a Month, had been voted, and that an additional Allowance of 4,200 Sicca Rupees a Month, had also been voted for Office Charges.—And being asked, Whether he thinks the Correspondent who has sent him this Intelligence, is a Person well informed, and not likely to take up Reports from light Grounds? he said, He gives implicit Credit to the Letter; that it is from a Person on whose Veracity and Judgment he depends, is totally unconcerned in the Question, and he believes him well informed.

Then John Shakespeare, Esquire, late Chief of the Provincial Council at Dacca, being examined, said, That he served in India about 14 Years, in the Civil Service of the Company, and was from January 1778 to December 1780, Chief of the Provincial Council at Dacca—That he left India in December 1780—That he was at Calcutta, on his Way to Europe, at the Time Sir Elijah Impey was appointed Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut—that at the Time of the Appointment, he believes there was not an open Rupture between the Board and the Supreme Court—That there had certainly been such a Rupture before that Time—That he believes a personal Reconciliation had taken Place between the Chief Justice and the Governor General; it was generally understood so—that he knows of no Accommodation between the Board and the Supreme Court—that he cannot charge his Memory exactly with the Time it was understood the Accommodation between the Governor General and the Chief Justice had taken Place, as he was not then at Calcutta, but he fancies it must have been in June 1780—That the Accommodation did not appear by any public Act or Declaration of either Party; it was only generally reported, that they again visited, and were upon friendly Terms, which he believes they had not done for some Time. And being asked, Whether it was understood that this Accommodation extended to any Concession on either Side, of any Points which had been in Dispute between the Board and the Court? he said, That he never heard of any Concession on either Side—That he does not know of any Act of the Supreme Court subsequent to June 1780, by which it appeared that the Chief Justice had or had not conceded in any such Points—That he does not remember any Instance of Actions brought in the Supreme Court against the Members or Officers of the Provincial Courts and Adauluts, or against any Zemindars, Collectors, or Farmers, subsequent to June 1780, in the Province in which he presided; nor does he recollect to have heard of such Instances in any other of the Provinces. And being asked, Whether it was generally understood in the Districts, after June 1780, that the Authority of the Provincial Councils and other Servants of the Government, which had formerly been contested and denied by the Supreme Court, would be held in future more valid than it had been? he said, He believed that the Council cil at Dacca, and the Officers acting under that Council, conducted their Business with more Confidence, and less Apprehension after that Period? And being further asked, Whether the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey was considered as a Consequence of personal Reconciliation between Mr. Hastings and Sir Elijah Impey, and as an Act of private Favour from the former to the latter, or as a Measure intended to produce an Accommodation of their public Disputes? he said, If the Reconciliation had not taken Place, it is his Opinion that the Appointment would not have taken Place; but he believes Mr. Hastings to have been swayed principally in the Appointment, by the Motives expressed in his Minute on that Occasion, which he has seen; but he believes it was generally understood out of Doors, to be a Matter of Favour to Sir Elijah Impey—That he apprehends, that Appointment must tend to accommodate the public Disputes between the Board and Sir Elijah Impey, as Chief Justice of the Court; but he was a very short Time in India after the Appointment took Place—That he really does not know whether the Appointment was understood to have conciliated the other Judges, and should doubt much, in his own Opinion, if it would have such a Tendency—That he never heard of any similar Means of Conciliation being attempted with the other Judges—That he never heard of any personal Differences between the Members of the Board and the other Judges; and that he believes they continued visiting as usual—That he never heard that the Puisne Judges either acquiesced or objected to the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey. And being asked, Whether the Appointment of the Company's Law Officer, or of any of the principal Servants, to that Office, would have been effectual, or not, for the Discharge of the Duties of the Office accepted by the Chief Justice? he said, It certainly requires great Experience and a perfect Knowledge of the Country Languages; and he humbly conceives, that the Duties of this Office can be better discharged by a Number of Men, than by any Individual—That it is an Office of such Magnitude as to require the whole Time and Attention of the Person presiding in it.—And being further asked, Whether it was his Opinion, that a Knowledge and Practice in the Laws of England would particularly qualify for that Office? he said, He should apprehend that the Knowledge of the technical and practical Part of the Laws of England would be of little or no Use—That he does not believe the Appointment of the Chief Justice would add to or diminish the Authority of the Provincial Adauluts. And being asked, Whether the Appointment, in his Opinion, would interfere with the Duties of Chief Justice in the Supreme Court? he said, He had already stated, that he humbly apprehended the Office of Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut would require the whole Attention of the Person presiding over it—That he has heard the Chief Justice speak both the Persian and Moors Language with some Degree of Fluency—That he apprehends, by the Constitution of both Courts, both before and since the Appointment of the Chief Justice, no Person who thinks himself injured by the Decision of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, can have Recourse to the Supreme Court—That he does not believe any Claim of Jurisdiction by the Judges over the Members of that Court, was ever brought in Question, between the Supreme Court and the Members of the Board, sitting as Members of the Sudder Adaulut. And being asked, Whether he supposes the Appeals so numerous, that the Governor General and Council could not have attended to the Decision of them in the Court of Sudder Adaulut? he says, That he cannot speak as to the other Divisions of Bengal; but he does not apprehend there were Ten Appeals in any one Year, from the Division of Dacca where he presided, which is generally allowed to be the most litigious Province—That merely as a Court of Appeal, he should apprehend the Supreme Council might go through the Business; but, if there is to be an original Jurisdiction in the Sudder Adaulut, he conceives a separate Appointment necessary. And being asked, After the Measures pursued by the Governor General and Council, to restrain the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court over the Zemindars, and other Classes of Natives, What in his Opinion would be the Effect of this Appointment on the Minds of the native Inhabitants? he said, He rather supposes they would consider the Chief Justice's Acceptance of the Appointment under the Governor General and Council, which must be noticed to them by Precepts from the Governor General, rather as a Degradation of the Court—That this Appointment was a very unpopular Act, and generally disliked by the European Inhabitants of Calcutta—That the Council General was certainly better adapted to settle Disputes between the Provincial Councils and the Provincial Adauluts, than the Sudder Adaulut under its present Establishment, admitting they had sufficient Time to go through the Business. And being asked, If the Business of the Chief Justice in the Supreme Court seemed to him to admit of much Leisure for the additional Business of another Office? he said, He was possibly at Leisure during the Vacations, as the Business of the Court during the Vacations was transacted by the Puisne Judges—That he believes the Chief Justice did not assign any Reason for accepting an Employment under the Governor General and Council, against whom he had preferred Complaints; but simply acquiesced in the Request of the Board to take upon him that Office—That he supposes the Inducement of Sir Elijah Impey, to accept of that Office, was an Extension of Power and Influence—That he apprehends it is intended to give a Jurisdiction to the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, as well in the First Instance as in all Cases of Appeal; and believes the Jurisdiction extends to all Persons and Causes relative to the Natives. And being asked, Whether there was not a Complaint, that the Supreme Court had been unfavourable to the Zemindars and other Natives, Officers of Justice as well as others? he said, In general they were much dissatisfied with the Proceedings of the Supreme Court—That Sir Elijah Impey was certainly a considerable acting Person, and of Weight and Authority in that Court. And being asked, Whether he believes, from his Knowledge of the Country and Mode of transacting Business there, that this Proposition was previously known to the Chief Justice before it was moved at the Board? he said, It was publicly talked of several Days before it was moved at the Board; and he apprehends there must have been a previous Communication.

Communication. And being asked, Whether this Appointment would have the Effect of deterring or preventing any Man from contesting the Right of acting in the Country Courts, when their Proceedings should be held under the Sanction and Patronage of the Chief Justice? he said, He thought no Person would be apprehensive of acting in the Provincial Adauluts under such Sanction and Patronage; nor does he conceive any Native would in this Case dispute the Powers of the Provincial Adauluts. And being further asked, If he conceived, that because the Chief Justice has accepted the Office of Superintendent, that the Puisne Judges have given up any of their Claims of Jurisdiction? he said, He only speaks of the Effect that the Appointment would probably have, not of any formal Renunciation of their Claims—That he believes it was a Principle invariably maintained by the Supreme Court, that every Person acting under the Authority or the Appointment of the Governor General and Council, either Native or European, was thereby rendered amenable to the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court—That he never heard, that when the Chief Justice accepted this Appointment, any Exemption was admitted by the other Judges in Favour of him, or any other Officers of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut—That each Judge has constantly exercised the Power of receiving Affidavits to the Jurisdiction of the Court, and issuing Process thereupon. And being asked, Whether it is his Opinion, that either of the Judges might receive Complaints, and issue Process against any Officer of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, in the same Degree as they used to do or might have done, before the Appointment of the Chief Justice to act as Judge in that Court? he said, He does not see how they could refuse to act upon Application being made to them—That he does not know if this Appointment was approved of by the other Judges, or if it was agreeable to them—That he never heard of Sir Elijah Impey having ever offered his Services to attend the Dewannee Court, in Quality of Assessor, not claiming a Voice, but simply to give Advice—That he never heard of Mr. Hastings having, during the Disputes with the Court, expressed an Opinion respecting the Justice or Moderation of the Chief Justice's Conduct towards the Country Courts, or the Members of them.—And being asked, If the Conduct of the Chief Justice in those Respects appeared to him just or moderate, or whether it was generally esteemed so? he said, If they had, he should not have subscribed to the Petition which had been presented to the House of Commons.—And being further asked, Whether he has heard that the Chief Justice had represented the Proceedings of Mr. Hastings and the Council General as unjust or mischievous to the Interest of the Country, or prejudicial to the Ease and Welfare of the Natives? he said, He does not recollect any particular Instances; but he has always understood that each have preferred Complaints against the other.—And being asked, Whether from the Time of the Separation of the Provincial Councils from the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, he knows of any dangerous Competitions between those Two Authorities? he said, In Dacca none; but there have been violent Contentions between the Provincial Council at Patna, and the Superintendent of that Provincial Adaulut; mutual Accusations had been preferred; and when he left India, all Parties were attending at Calcutta, that their Disputes might be adjusted by the Governor General and Council—That the Contention was principally about the Extent of their Jurisdictions, and on Matters of Complaint by the Superintendent against some Members of the Council, for Mal-administration—That the Natives complained in many Instances, of the Officers of the Supreme Court, through the Dacca Board, to the Supreme Council, as will appear by the Records—That the Provincial Courts, particularly at Dacca, acted with more Confidence and less Apprehension after June 1780, from an Idea that the Powers of the Supreme Court would not be exercised against them whilst acting in their several Stations; that there was no public Declaration to that Effect, from the Supreme Court, that he knows of; he speaks of the Operation that the Reconciliation had upon his Mind.—And being asked, Who or what was the Cause of the Hazards that the Superior of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, or Councils, were alleged to be exposed to in the Exercise of their Functions? he said, They apprehended personal Actions in the Supreme Court, and he himself was threatened with one by Lawyers of that Court for doing his Duty as Superintendent of the Court of Dewannee Adaulut at Dacca.—And being further asked, Whether the Supreme Court countenanced those Actions? he said, It appears that they admitted them, and the Committee are already in Possession of Mr. Justice Hyde's Letter to Captain Cowe, respecting the Dacca Dispute, where Mr. Peat, the Attorney, shot the Brother of the Fouzdar—That Mr. Hastings attributed the Disregard that had been shewn to the Authority of the Provincial Courts, to the Interference of the Supreme Court and its Dependents—After the Reconciliation had taken place, there was no Measure taken with Regard to the Mahomedan Lawyers confined in the Gaol of Calcutta, that he knows of; nor does he know of any Thing done towards an Indemnity to Mr. Swainston, for the Imprisonment he had suffered.—And being asked, Whether it was supposed that Mr. Naylor's Death was occasioned or accelerated by his Imprisonment? he said, He visited Mr. Naylor when he was in Prison; he was then complaining, and had been ill some Time, of a Dysentery, but he does not think his Confinement either occasioned or accelerated his Death; though his Situation was certainly uncomfortable, if not unwholesome—That Mr. Naylor was confined in a Tent, pitched within the Fore Walls of the Prison Yard; that the Heat was intense, and the Place altogether very disagreeable; that his Wife died some Time before him, whilst he was in Prison, and he left One Child—That he never heard of any Compensation being made to the Orphan Child of Mr. Naylor, upon the Reconciliation between Sir Elijah Impey and the Governor General, for the Sufferings of the Father by Imprisonment by the Supreme Court; and that the Imprisonment of Mr. Naylor was deemed a hard Measure in that Country.

Major John Scott being examined, said That he served in India Fifteen Years—That he is now a Major in the Company's Service on the Bengal Establishment—For the last Two Years he was Aid du Camp to the Governor General, and officiated as one of his private Secretaries, except the last Three Months, when he commanded a Battalion of Sepoys in the Garrison of Chunargur—That he left Calcutta the 9th of January 1781, and Madras the 18th of February following; that he arrived at London the 18th of December—That the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to the Office of Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, had taken place before he left Calcutta, but whether the official Arrangements were compleated or not, he is not certain—That he believes Sir Elijah Impey had not then entered upon the Duties of his Office—That there was no Salary annexed to the Office before he left India, to his Knowledge; but he did hear in the Course of Conversation, that the Expences of the Office would be to the Company about 5000 Rupees a Month—That he heard of this Appointment as he was coming down from Chunargur and at Calcutta—That he did receive Letters from Bengal while he was at Madras; they did not inform him of any Salary being annexed to the Office—He had a very long Letter from Mr. Hastings, dated the 29th of January 1781, describing the political Situation of Bengal at that Time, and some internal Arrangements which had been formed at Calcutta, but no Mention was made of any Salary.—And being asked, Whether he knew of its being in Agitation to annex a Salary, when he left Calcutta? he said, That he did understand that 5000 Rupees a Month was to be the Expence of this new Establishment, but whether the Whole or any Part of this Sum was for Sir Elijah Impey himself, he could not tell—That the Governor General and Council could undoubtedly annex a Salary to the Office, without its coming to his Knowledge; but he begs Leave to say, that Mr. Hastings has appointed him his Agent in England for the Purpose of explaining any Part of his public Conduct, which should be an Object of Enquiry (Vide Appendix N° 10), and to enable him to do this, he has furnished him with Copies of the most material Proceedings in Bengal for the last Three Years; amongst the rest, he has Copies of the Proceedings of the Supreme Council, when Sir Elijah Impey's Appointment was proposed by the Governor General; and he does not find any Mention of a Salary—That he believes the Date of the last Proceedings of the Council General, of which he is furnished with Copies by the Governor General, is the 8th of January 1781, and that the Date of the last Proceedings, of which he is in Possession, relative to Sir Elijah Impey's Appointment, is the Day of October 1780—That he conceives the Motives of the Governor General in the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, were pure and disinterested; that he conceived the Interest of the East India Company had been very materially affected in Bengal, by the unfortunate Contention between the Council General and the Court of Judicature, and that Sir Elijah Impey's Appointment would put a Stop to it; he also thinks there was another Object in view, which was, the equal Distribution of Justice throughout the Provinces.—And being asked, Whether at the Time of the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, he knew the State of the Dispute between the Governor General and Council and the Supreme Court? he said, He believed the Chief Justice was uniform in his Declarations, that he would support the Authority of the Court to the utmost of his Power—That he does not recollect any Instances subsequent to the Affair of Cossijurah, in which the Process of the Court had been resisted by the Council General—That he is pretty clear, that no Claims of Jurisdiction which had been disputed, had been relinquished by the Supreme Court—That he apprehends the Consequences of the Dissention between the Council General and the Supreme Court, and the Peace of the Settlement, and the ordinary Course of Justice, to have required a Remedy at the Time of the Appointment.—And being asked, Whether he apprehended that they rendered an immediate Remedy desirable? he said, They certainly did; because the Company were at that Time engaged in a very expensive War with the Marattas; they had just received Intelligence of the Invasion of the Carnatic, the Defeat of a very considerable Detachment there, the Retreat of Sir Hector Monro to Madras, and were apprehensive of the Arrival of a French Armament from the Mauritius; it was necessary to send 600 Europeans, ill as they could spare them, from Bengal to the Coast, and a very considerable Supply of Treasure; under these Circumstances, he thinks, it was necessary to preserve our remaining Resources in Bengal, as compleat as possible; and he speaks with Confidence, that the Revenues of the Provinces would have been very materially affected, and the Minds of the Natives, as well as the Europeans, greatly agitated by a Continuance of those Dissentions—That he knew of the Governor General and Council having sent a Petition to Parliament, and having made Representations to the Court of Directors, upon the Subject of these Disputes—That in Times less critical he should suppose it would have been the Duty of Mr. Hastings to wait for a Determination from England, before he should take any Measures of his own upon the Subject, but not as they were then situated—That he conceives the Resistance made by the Council General to the Process of the Court, and the Orders given by the Council on the Affair of Cossijurah, to have, in some Measure, but by no Means completely, removed the ill Consequences of those Dissentions, by deciding the Question for a Time by the Supreme Power of the Council—That he thinks the Country could not have continued with Safety in its actual State, after the Affair of Cossijurah, until a Decision could be had from England, because the Officers of the Supreme Court paid no Respect either to the Religion or the Prejudices of the Natives in executing the Process of the Court, and that there would have been as many Processes as heretofore issued by the Court.—And being asked, Whether the Determination of the Council General to resist such Process, would not have prevented their ill Effects? he said, the Interference of the Council General, would prevent the Gaol of Calcutta from being filled with the Natives, but their Religion would be affected, and their Prejudices would be hurt, by the Mode in which those Processes cesses would be served—That he thinks the Knowledge the Country had of the Council General's Determination, to resist the Process of the Court in certain Cases, would not have prevented frequent Applications to the Supreme Court; in a Country so extensive as Bengal, there must be many Natives who would rather wish to apply to the Court from a View of impeding rather than forwarding Justice—He thinks, that the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey was not intended as permanent; he believes Mr. Hastings intended it as a temporary Measure, it being very uncertain when the Decision of Parliament would be received; that Appointment could by no Means, in his Opinion, preclude the Effect of any Determination from England, when it should arrive—That he thinks this Appointment put a complete Stop to the Dissentions between the Council General and the Supreme Court—He believes the Appointment was agreeable to the rest of the Judges; he cannot speak with Certainty; he never heard to the contrary, which he thinks he must have done, if it had been disagreeable—That he understands the Dissention between the Governor General and Council and the other Judges to be at an End—He does not know of any Advantage accruing to the other Judges from this Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey.—And being asked, In what Manner he conceived the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to have produced a Reconciliation with the other Judges? he said, He knew no Reason why it should have affected the other Judges; but he always considered Sir Elijah Impey as the most solicitous to carry the Powers of the Court to their utmost Extent—That he does not know of any Advantage lately granted by the Governor General and Council to the other Judges, but he heard before he left Calcutta, that the Governor General and Council and the Judges had framed some Laws, which were very much wanted, for the better Regulation of the Police of Calcutta; he believes Sir Robert Chambers is placed at the Head of the Office of Police, from whence some pecuniary Advantages might occur, but the Expence is to be defrayed by the Inhabitants—That he conceives the Opinion of the European Inhabitants of Bengal, on the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, to be, that it would promote an equal Distribution of Justice, that it would prevent Appeals to the Supreme Court, and that it would prove a very considerable Saving to the East India Company; he believes the Company's Servants did not approve this Appointment, because they thought it would materially affect their Authority, but by what he could understand, it was generally thought by the British Subjects at large, that it would be attended with very beneficial Effects to the Natives, and to the East India Company—That he conceives it would produce a Saving to the East India Company, by a very considerable Diminution of their Law Charges, and by preventing Appeals to the Supreme Court on Matters of Revenue, which, as he understood, were attended with a very considerable Deduction of the Revenues; he only speaks from what he has heard, being totally ignorant of Matters of Revenue and Law—That he does not know the general Amount of the Company's Law Charges; he has heard it asserted in Conversation, that the Expences of the Supreme Court, and the Loss of Revenues in consequence of Appeals made to that Court since its Institution, amounted to about a Million Sterling—That he conceives this Appointment would affect the equal Distribution of Justice in the Provinces by the Company's Servants, who preside at the different Country Courts, having their Decisions appealed to Sir Elijah Impey—That the same Appeals were undoubtedly made to Sir Elijah Impey by the Suits in the Supreme Court; but he imagines that Sir Elijah Impey in his Decisions was bound by the strict Letter of the English Law, which he does not understand he is by his present Appointment; and that it was the vexatious Forms of the Supreme Court, which the Natives complained of, and not of the Justice of Sir Elijah Impey or the Court in their Decisions—That the Members of the Provincial Adauluts feel themselves much more secure, to his Knowledge, in the Discharge of their Offices, in consequence of this Appointment; before the Appointment took place, they were afraid to act at all, apprehensive they should be obliged to answer from their private Fortunes for any Decisions which should be reversed by an Appeal to the Supreme Court—That he does not understand that Appeals regularly lay from the Provincial Adauluts to the Supreme Court; but after the celebrated Patna Cause, he conceives, that under one Mode or another, every Native of the Provinces was at the Pleasure of the Judges amenable to the Power of the Court—That he left Calcutta, to proceed to Chunargur the 23d of June 1780, and returned to Calcutta the 13th of December, 1780—That he was not in Calcutta at the Time the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey was made.—And being asked, From what Channels he collected the Information he had given relative to this Appointment, and the Effects of the Appointment? he said, From Conversation at Chunar, Benares, and on his Way to, and in, Calcutta—That the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey would effectually prevent the Interference of the Supreme Court in Matters of Revenue, which was the grand Article of Advantage to the Lawyers, and that they must either get into the Army, or return to England; and some of the Attornies of the Court had actually got into the Army before he left the Country.—And the Witness said, What Mr. Hastings told him, he speaks positively, “that he “was sensible the Appointment would be misrepresented, and that he should incur much Odium by “it at Home, but that he trusted to the Rectitude of his own Intentions and the beneficial Consequences which he was sure would result from it, for his Justification.”—That there were some Attornies of the Supreme Court, who came out originally Cadets, and quitted the Army for the Practice of the Court, and in the late Want of Officers, they have been received again into the Army, upon the Establishment, as Cadets—That he does not know that there ever was any Dissention between the Puisne Judges and the Governor General and Council, except that in the Collisurah Affair, they agreed with the Chief Justice.—And being asked, As he was come on the Part of Mr. Hastings, to explain every Part of his Conduct, what Means he has of explaining what happened, when he was not at Calcutta? he said, On his Return to Calcutta, he had Access to the Records, and was furnished with Copies of all the material Transactions which happened between the 23d of June and the 13th of December—That the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey had then taken place—That he does not know of the Powers and Constitution of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, as they are to be exercised by Sir Elijah Impey; he understands that it is a Court of Appeal from the Decisions of the Country Courts of Judicature in civil Causes, and no more—He does not know that Mr. Hastings had declared, that the Opinion now given by him was erroneous and ill-founded, nor does he know what Measures have been taken to prevent the clashing of Jurisdiction between the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut and the Supreme Court—That Mr. Hastings certainly thought himself in the Right in opposing Sir Elijah Impey, who was the most solicitous to carry the Powers of the Court to its utmost Extent.—And being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings thought Sir Elijah Impey had exceeded the legal Extent of the Powers of the Court, or endeavoured to stretch those legal Powers beyond the Extent of the Purposes for which they were given? he said, Mr. Hastings, he could say with Certainty, was of Opinion, that the British Parliament did not mean to subject Natives of India, circumstanced as the Rajah of Cossijurah was, to be amenable to the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court; and he was confirmed in that Opinion, by the Sentiments of the Advocate General—That he does not know that Mr. Hastings took the Advocate General's Opinion, or that of the other Judges, or any other Law Opinion, before he proposed this Appointment in Council—That the Chief Justice had nor, to his Knowledge, made any Declaration concerning his Change of Opinion of the Extent of the Powers of the Supreme Court, either before or since his Acceptance of the Appointment, nor the other Judges as he knows of—That he believes Mr. Hastings has not changed his Opinion concerning the mischievous Consequences of those Powers, and of their being contrary to the Spirit of the Act which appointed them; because he well recollects Mr. Hastings telling him, before he left Calcutta, that he hoped the British Parliament would take the State of the Supreme Court of Judicature into Consideration, and regulate their Powers—That he believes the Patna Cause was one of those where Mr. Hastings considered the Supreme Court having exceeded its Powers, and acted oppressively; and he never heard that there was a Second Opinion upon it in Bengal, except by the Gentlemen immediately concerned in the Supreme Court—That the Patna Magistrates were confined in the Gaol of Calcutta upon a Judgment, supposed to be excessive and beyond their Powers to pay.—And being asked, What was Mr. Hastings's Opinion upon this Transaction? he said, He does not remember hearing him give an Opinion, but the Case was so plain, that he must have thought as every body else did—That Sir Elijah Impey, never to his Knowledge, acknowledged that he was mistaken in that Business, or made or tendered any Satisfaction to the Parties who suffered under that Judgment; on the contrary, he takes it for granted he acted in that Manner, because he thought himself in the Right.—And being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings thought, that exclusive of the legal Merits of this Question, that Sir Elijah Impey conducted himself in this Case, and in other Cases in which Mr. Hastings opposed him (sometimes by defending the Parties at Law, and sometimes by opposing the Process of the Court by a Military Force) with Temper, Prudence, and Moderation? he said, That he believes Mr. Hastings thought, that the Conduct of the Court was very violent—That he understands, that by the Nature of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, the Chief Justice has some Superintendency by Appeal, or otherwise, over the Natives of the Country—That he does not know that Sir Elijah Impey has expressed a very slight Degree of Regard and Attention to the religious Rights, Manners, Customs, and Laws of the Natives; but the Officers acting under the Authority of the Court at Cossijurah, did undoubtedly proceed to Violences, which might have been attended with very serious Consequences.—And being asked, Whether it did not appear to the Minds of the British Subjects, or to the Natives in general, or to Mr. Hastings in particular, that a Contempt of those Laws and Usages had been frequently discernible in the Proceedings of the Supreme Court? he said, Yes, he can answer for the Natives and British Subjects; he was one of 648 who signed a Petition to Parliament to remedy the Grievances complained of, which were undoubtedly as the Question states—That Mr. Hastings never expressed a different Opinion to him—That he never heard it surmised, that Sir Elijah Impey dissented from the other Judges of the Court on those Matters which gave so much Offence; on the contrary, he believes, he was full as active as any of the other Judges.—And being further asked, Sir Elijah Impey's Opinions being untraced, and he still remaining Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, how did his Appointment to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut operate to put an End to the Disputes between the Government and that Court? he said, How it could operate he does not know; but it was looked upon, the Disputes were at an End—That he knows Sir Elijah Impey and the rest of the Judges personally, and that is all—That he never heard them talk upon this Subject in his Life—That from the Time the Order of the Governor General and Council was issued, not to obey the Process of the Supreme Court in the Cases therein described, no Cause that he knows of was agitated in the Court, which might give Rise to another Interposition of the same Nature.—And being asked, Whether a Salary was not proposed in Consultation at the Board, on the 24th of October 1780, for Sir Elijah Impey, by Mr. Hastings? he said, He believes he has no Copy of the Proceedings of that Day.—And being asked, As he was private Secretary to Mr. Hastings, how it comes that a Matter of such Consequence did not come to his Knowledge? he said, When the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey took Place, he was doing Duty at the Garrison at Chunar; he came to Calcutta the 13th of December, and left it the 9th of January following. And being further asked, As he was near a Month in Calcutta, and that Two Months after the Appointment had taken Place, how it came that Mr. Hastings did not mention to him a Matter of that Importance? he said, He conceived that Mr. Hastings supposed that he had a Copy of the Proceedings of the 24th of October; and that he alluded amongst other Things to the Salary, when he told him he supposed he should incur much Odium by the Measure—That he really did not know how it came, that Mr. Hastings (having charged him with his Defence against that Odium, as well as other Matters of Charge) made no Mention at all of the Salary, except a remote Allusion; but he believes most solemnly that Mr Hastings trusted to the Rectitude of his own Intentions, the Ease of the Natives, and the Saving to the Company, for his Justification. And being asked, Whether he gave him those Things in Charge to allege for him without mentioning the Salary, the Amount of it, or any other Particular relative to it? he said, He dare say Mr. Hastings thought that he had a Copy of that Consultation in which a Salary is proposed;—he had no particular Instructions respecting this Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey; but he begs Leave to read Part of a Paragraph of a Letter from Mr. Hastings to him, dated Fort William, 5th January 1781; and received by him that Day.

Matter

“ I rely on your Friendship for your general Attention to such Points as may in any Manner affect my Authority, or the Interest and Credit of my Administration.”

And being asked, Whether, as no particular Discourse passed on this Subject between Mr. Hastings and him, he was furnished with any written Documents before he left Calcutta, or afterwards, by Mr. Hastings, concerning this Salary? he said, He never was; but he is convinced that Mr. Hastings thought he had the Subject compleat before him—That he cannot conceive how this Paper alone escaped his Researches and Mr. Hastings's Communication; except that the Proceedings with respect to the Salary might have been entered at a Board of Inspection or Board of Revenue; and, in the Hurry of his coming away, he brought no Papers from either of those Offices—That he received some Papers from Mr. Hastings whilst he was at Madras, the 29th of January 1781—That undoubtedly those Twenty Days were sufficient for Mr. Hastings to furnish him with the Documents which had been omitted, and which might tend to explain a Conduct which he conceived was likely to subject him to Odium in England, if Mr. Hastings had supposed that he had not had the Subject compleat before him—That he has not had any verbal Communication, or Communication by Letter, with Mr. Hastings, nor written Document concerning the Proposition of that Salary; he never entertained a Doubt but that a Salary would be annexed to such an Office—That there never had been a Discontinuance of Friendship and Intimacy, or mutual Visits, between the Governor General and the Chief Justice—The only Time he ever supped at Sir Elijah Impey's, was with the Governor General and his Family in the Height of the Disputes in the Cossijurah Cause—That he does not know whether Sir Elijah Impey's private Opinion concerning his Appointment to the Office of Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut was taken by the Governor General, but he should imagine that he did communicate it to Sir Elijah Impey.—And being asked, If he thought a Business of such Importance, as a Salary to that Office, could be proposed by the Governor General without a previous Communication with the Chief Justice, or proposed at the Board, if he had expressed his Disapprobation of it? he said, Yes, he thought from Delicacy it might have been proposed without Communication; nor does he conceive, that if Sir Elijah Impey had expressed a pointed Disapprobation, that Mr. Hastings would have proposed it.—And being further asked, In what the Delicacy consists of the appointing a competent Salary for the Discharge of an honourable and very laborious Office, as it is stated to be in the Minute of Appointment? he said, He does not know; in his Opinion, he thinks it would have been an improper Conversation between the Governor General and the Chief Justice; nor does he believe that a Conversation concerning a Salary was ever held between the Governor General and Sir Elijah Impey—That he had heard it asserted in Conversation, that a Salary was either fixed or intended, but he had no Doubt one was intended—He thinks that it could not be a Matter of public Conversation at Calcutta, and Sir Elijah Impey not know it—That he thinks such a Minute, so essentially concerning the Chief Justice, could not be entered on the Consultation Books, without being afterwards communicated to Sir Elijah Impey; because it was asserted in one of the Minutes, that to accept of a Salary for the Office would be illegal; he did not hear that Sir Elijah Impey had declared any Opinion concerning the Legality or Illegality, Propriety or Impropriety, of it—That he does not know whether the Natives understood that he was to have a Salary or not, as he never conversed with any of them, but the British Subjects undoubtedly did—There was a Suit instituted in the Supreme Court on the Part of a Native, called Cossinaut Baboo.—And being asked, Whether the Chief Justice did not declare, That Cossinaut Baboo had not applied to the Supreme Court for Justice, until he had been denied it by the Governor General and Council in their Revenue Department? he said, He does not recollect; but he thinks it probable—That he does not know whether the Judges considered the Conduct of some of the Company's Servants in that Cause as corrupt and partial—That he heard that Cossinaut Baboo had withdrawn his Action from that Court—And being asked, Whether the Chief Justice did attribute his Desertion of the Suit to a Conviction of the Invalidity of his Claim, or to the Dread of the Powers of the Governor General and Council? he said, He does not know; but if he was to give an Opinion, he should think the latter.—And being further asked, What was done in the late Compromise, to secure Cossinaut Baboo that Justice which, in the Chief Justice's Opinion, had been denied to him by the Governor General and Council, and which it was his Opinion also, that none but the Supreme Court could give? he said, He cannot tell; but he understood that the Governor General and Council had decided to the Satisfaction of Cossinaut Baboo—That he never heard whether any Thing was done to support the Honour and Authority of the King's Commission, which in that Case was supposed to have been violated.—That he does not know that any Satisfaction was given to the Court that the same Power which, in the Chief Justice's Opinion, had refused Justice to Cossinaut Baboo, and obliged him to withdraw his Suit, had not also obliged him to appear contented with what the Governor General and Council had allotted him.—Says, He considers the Letter of the 5th of January 1781, which he received from Governor General Mr. Hastings, as his Appointment to be his Agent in England; and Mr. Hastings has notified it publicly in the General Letter to the Court of Directors.—That before he left Calcutta, on the 9th of January 1781, he had not any Information, that a Salary was voted by the Council General to the Chief Justice, as Superintendent of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut;—he does believe that a Salary has been fixed, from what he has heard, in Conversation at Calcutta, or was about to be fixed; but upon looking over his Copies of Proceedings, and not finding a Salary mentioned, he was led to believe that all the Arrangements, including the Salary, had not been finally concluded.—And being asked, If he had any Doubt upon his Mind that a Salary was fixed before his Departure from Calcutta? said, That he has a Doubt whether it was fixed or not when he left Calcutta, because it was not mentioned in the Copies of the Proceedings; but he has no Doubt it was intended.—And being asked, Whether he had any Doubts now of its having since taken place? he said, As a Difficulty had been stated in point of Law, he had, and has still, his Doubts; but as far as his Intelligence goes, he should imagine the Appointment and Salary had taken place;—he does not immediately recollect by whom that legal Difficulty was started, but he thinks it is in one of the Minutes of the Council.—That he imagines the Judges of the Supreme Court must have known of his Departure from Bengal, charged with Dispatches from the Governor General of a later Date than any which had been sent by the Company's Ships, because it was a Matter of public Notoriety mentioned in General Orders, and in the Calcutta Gazette.—That neither Sir Elijah Impey, nor any of the other Judges, did desire him to carry any written Dispatches, or to give any Explanation on their Behalf, on the Subject of the Compromise which had lately taken place in Bengal; Sir Elijah Impey arrived in Calcutta the Day before he came away; Two Danish East Indiamen sailed at the same Time with several English Passengers on Board.—That he does not know whether any Person is charged with Dispatches from them.—That Sir Elijah Impey's Arrival was from Moorshedabad at Calcutta; that the Post travels from Calcutta to Moorshedabad in Thirty Hours, and goes every Day.—That he was charged with Public Dispatches to the Court of Directors; they were dated between the First and the Ninth of January 1781.—That he considers Sir Elijah Impey's Appointment to be held during Pleasure.—He does not know of any other Motives than those he has assigned, which induced the Council General to appoint Sir Elijah Impey to superintend the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and he firmly believes there were none.—Nor does he know of any other Motives than those he has assigned, that induced Sir Elijah Impey to accept the Office.—That Mr. Hastings and Mr. Wheeler were the Persons that composed the Council General after the Departure of Mr. Francis to Europe; Sir Eyre Coote was gone to the Coast upon Duty.—He thinks he has heard that the Disputes between the Provincial Councils and the Superintendents of the Dewannee Adauluts, was one Reason assigned by Mr. Hastings for proposing the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey; that he cannot positively tell whether such Disputes did exist, but he should suppose they did.—He perfectly well recollects hearing that it was impossible that the Superintendents of the Provincial Courts of Adaulut should be able to perform their Offices without some new Regulations; and he recollects one of the Gentlemen who was Superintendent of a Provincial Court, saying, how difficult it was to perform the Duties of it; and the Appointment to his Knowledge was declined by one of the Company's Servants for that Reason.—And being asked, If such Disputes did exist betwixt the Members of the Provincial Councils and the Superintendents of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, being the Company's Servants, what Authority does he think most competent to decide effectually upon such Disputes? he said, The Authority of the Governor General and Council immediately, or the Persons to whom they delegate their Authority.—And being asked, If the future Welfare of every Servant of the Company does not depend upon his due Obedience to the Orders of the Council General? he said, It would, if the Government was firmly established, but he has seen no fixed Government in Bengal for Seven Years, either from Changes or Rumours of Changes.—That the Council General have a Power of recalling from his Station, and suspending from the Service, any Servant of the Company; which Power has been frequently exercised.—That the Chief Justice has not any Power over the Servants of the Company, except what is given him by Charter for the Administration of Justice in due Course of Law.—He is not sufficiently Master of the Subject to know what Obedience he can exact and enforce to his Decisions as Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.—He does not know to which Authority that of the Governor General and Council, or that of the Chief Justice, the Members of the Provincial Councils, and the Superintendents of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, will pay the most Respect, but in his own Case, he should certainly obey the Orders of the Governor General and Council.—As far as he can recollect, the general Opinion of the Officers of the Army, upon the Chief Justice's Proceedings against Lieutenant Colonel Achmuty and Lieutenant Bomford, for their Conduct at Cossijurah, in Obedience to the Orders of the Governor General and Council, was, that his Conduct was very violent.—And being asked, What Opinion did the Officers of the Army entertain of their own Situation, when, if they did not obey the Orders of that Power from which they received their Commissions, they were liable to be tried by a General Court Martial for Disobedience of Orders, and if they did obey those Orders, they acted against the King's Charter of Justice, Justice, and were prosecuted for a Contempt of the King's Authority by the Judges of the Supreme Court? he said, He believed they thought their Situations dangerous; but he thinks the Officers in general would have obeyed the Orders of the Governor General and Council at all Events—That he never heard there were any Consultations held by the Officers of the Army under those very particular Circumstances; but it was a Matter of general Conversation and Alarm, and he never heard a Difference of Opinion upon the Subject.

Your Committee then called again before them, Philip Francis, Esquire; who was asked, If he was acquainted with the Establishment of an Ordinance of Police that had taken place at Calcutta, at the Head of which Sir Robert Chambers was placed, and from which he might derive pecuniary Emoluments? he said, He was; and that a little Time before he left Calcutta, a Plan for the future Regulation of the Police of that Town, and other Purposes, had been transmitted, in the Form of an Ordinance, by the Governor General and Council, to the Supreme Court, in order to be registered there, and finally passed, as the Law directs—For the Execution of this Ordinance it was necessary that certain Commissioners should be appointed; and as the Object of it was connected with and materially affected the Interests of the Householders at Calcutta, it was thought right that the Commissioners should be taken from among the principal British Inhabitants—Sir Robert Chambers is an Inhabitant and Householder in Calcutta, having vested a considerable Part of his Fortune in the Purchase of Two principal Houses; it was therefore very natural and proper, that he should be requested to be One of the Commissioners: Having accepted of the Employment, his Rank of course placed him at the Head of the Commission: But he declares, that he never did hear, that he or any of the Commissioners were to be or could be benefited, in any Shape, by holding that Office; no Salary, or Allowances, or Fees whatsoever for the Commissioners, was ever mentioned or thought of to his Knowledge.—And being further asked, If he knows, from the latest Advices he has received, that any Office of Power or Emolument had been proposed for Sir Robert Chambers by the Governor General and Council? he said, He has no Knowledge of any such Thing, directly or indirectly.

The Evidence respecting the State of the Gaol at Calcutta, having been omitted to be inserted in the Judicature Report made in the last Session, Your Committee have thought it necessary to subjoin the same to this Report, in Appendix N<sup>o</sup> 11.

YOUR Committee being directed to report their Observations on the State of the Administration of Justice in Bengal, and instructed to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the Natives may be best promoted; have thought it expedient, as a Preliminary, to take into Consideration the Proceedings of the Court of Directors of the East India Company; particularly where those Proceedings related to the Object of their original Inquiry.

The Interposition of the General Court of that Company, in the Management of its Affairs, is only occasional. The Court of Directors is the sole, ordinary, and standing Authority which exists, for the Regulation and Controul of their Servants; a numerous Body of Men, possessed of high and extensive Powers, and exercising them at a very great Distance from the Source and Seat of Government.

Your Committee therefore considers the securing an uncorrupt and vigilant executive Administration, in this, the ruling and presiding Part, as a Fundamental in every Plan which proposes Reformation in the subordinate Oeconomy of the British Affairs in India. To render the Company's Servants attentive to their Duty, the Directors should be rendered observant of their own.

It would be highly agreeable to the Wishes of Your Committee, to discover, by their Inquiry, that mere Legislative Regulation might be as effectual for that Purpose as Criminal Proceeding. It was from a Preference to lenient Methods (a Preference founded rather in a Disposition towards such Methods, than from any Experience of their Efficacy) that a Bill of Regulation, attended with Indemnity, was adopted in the last Session. The Treatment which that Bill has met with, when passed into an Act of Parliament (if the Matter rested upon that Example alone) has more than sufficiently evinced, that to multiply Statutes without a strict Attention to their Execution, serves only to encrease the Audacity of Delinquents, and to harden them in their Defiance of an Authority, which supports itself only by a feeble Repetition of Orders, which had been habitually despised.

1st. Your Committee observe, that Lawrence Sullivan, Esquire, Chairman of the Court of Directors, having been principally concerned in a Petition from the said Court to this House, against several Proceedings of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Bengal, was in a particular Manner called upon to co-operate in the Redress of the Grievances therein complained of, and to forward the Execution Execution of the Act, concerning the Bengal Judicature, which had been made in consequence of the Allegations of that and of other Petitions to the like Effect.

2d. That one of the principal Articles of Grievance which appeared on the Examination into the Merits of those Petitions, related to the Sufferings of certain Native Magistrates of the City of Patna, and of a certain Suitor in the Provincial Court held in that City. And it appears to your Committee, that the Matter of Grievance was well established by Evidence. A Clause in the Judicature Bill of last Year, was inserted for a pecuniary Compensation to the Sufferers. This Clause was given up, on Mr. Sullivan's Engagement for himself and the Court of Directors, that the Sums contained in the Clause, should be paid by Order of that Court. That Engagement, Your Committee conceive to be in the Nature of an Agreement between Parties in a private Bill; without a due Observance of which, Business cannot be well conducted in Committees upon such Bills. Relief to Individuals among the Natives of India, may become a necessary Step towards general Redress, and general Satisfaction. Yet Circumstances may render it advisable, that the Company, entering into the Views of Parliament, should take such Relief upon itself, rather than that it should be made the Object of an Act of Parliament. In such Cases, the Directors ought religiously to keep their Faith. Mr. Sullivan himself has on his Examination declared, that he regarded it as his Duty, to take Care that the above Compensation should be made, considering it as the Sense of the House.

3d. That Mr. Sullivan did wilfully omit to enter the Purport of the said Agreement in the Minutes of the Court of Directors (according to his Promise and Engagement) or in any other authentic Manner, to communicate the same to the said Court, or to take any Step whatsoever towards fulfilling the said Agreement, or providing for the said Compensation, until the Seventh Day of December, after an Order had been sent from this Committee, to call for the Proceedings of the Directors upon that Subject. Then, and not till then, a Resolution of the Court was entered, conformably to the Agreement made so early as the Month of June last.

4th. That Mr. Sullivan did make, or cause to be made, an Entry in the Minutes of the Court of Directors, containing a false Account of the Substance of a Conference between him and certain Members of this House.

5th. That it was Mr. Sullivan's Duty to send by an Express Messenger (if none were ready to depart on other Affairs) the Act of the last Session, concerning the Judicature of Bengal. This Act, among other Matters important in Nature and urgent in Point of Time, contained a Clause for releasing the above suffering Persons, who even at the passing of the Act, had endured a cruel Confinement of Two Years and upwards, in the Common Gaol of Calcutta—For a Description of which Persons, and which Gaol, Your Committee refer to the Patna Appendix to their Report of last Session, and to the Examination of Mr. Francis in this Report.

6th. That Mr. Sullivan has confessed to Your Committee, that he did not send the said Act by a special or any other Messenger over Land. He has also confessed, that a Messenger had, since the passing the Act, been sent over Land; and Your Committee has Reason to be persuaded, that more than one Messenger since that Time had been dispatched by the same Route. Mr. Sullivan, on his Examination, has declared that he did not think it was incumbent on him to send it by any other than a Sea Conveyance. The Ship used for this Conveyance, did not sail until the latter End of October, and having met with a Disaster at Sea, was obliged to return to Ireland, from which she had originally sailed; and at the Time of Mr. Sullivan's Examination in December, actually lay in the Harbour of Corke.

It further appears in Evidence, that if Acts of Parliament are not transmitted to the Governor General and Council by the Court of Directors in a General Letter, and mentioned and described in the Body of the Letter, they are not considered in Bengal as truly authenticated, and cannot be promulgated by the Governor General and Council.

Your Committee were of Opinion, that many and very great Mischiefs might happen, if the authentic Transmission of Acts of Parliament relative to India was unnecessarily delayed; and thereby a private Communication should, for any Length of Time, precede that which is regular and official; for by their being long known before they could be considered as in Force, Scope would be afforded to the Artifices of those whom they were intended to restrain, to elude, or very much to weaken their Operation.

Observing that Mr. Sullivan, on a Plea of his Duty to conceal political Secrets, was unwilling to give Your Committee full Information on a Matter, which they conceived not to be of a Nature that could require Secrecy, ordered the Attendance of Mr. Wilks, an Officer of the East India Company, now acting as Clerk to a Committee of the Court of Directors, called The Committee of Secrecy, consisting of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman.

The Evidence of Mr. Wilks afforded little Information or Satisfaction to Your Committee.
He

He (as far as they can collect any Thing very distinct from his Answers) has said, that Five Copies of each of the East India Acts of the last Session, had been transmitted by him at the Desire of the Chairman and Deputy (not by the Court of Directors) with a Paragraph in a Letter to the Governor General and Council, directing their Obedience to these Acts of Parliament; which Direction he inserted of Course, on being ordered to send the Acts of Parliament. It was collected from his Answers, that the Dispatch was dated the First of August, and finally dispatched the Third of that Month; that it was sent by Sea, and before the Dispatch sent by the Tryal Sloop. But he refused to inform Your Committee of the Name of the Ship, or the Time of her sailing, or Place from whence she sailed; and the Question being at length reduced to the mere Time of sailing, he refused even to inform Your Committee of this Particular. And being asked, Whether the Vessel sailed to the Tryal Sloop? he only answered, That he had no Knowledge of her having sailed to the Tryal. Nothing material appeared, but that it was a private Transmission only; and not such as is commonly reputed in India to be authentic and obligatory.

Your Committee should not have observed upon this Evidence, having derived little Information from it, but on Account of an important Fact which it brought to their Knowledge, and which they think themselves obliged to report without Delay to the House:

That an Oath had been administered to him, Mr. Wilks, on his entering in Office, by Sir George Wombwell, then Chairman, to the following Purport: "That he will not communicate, discover, or make known to any Person whatsoever, directly or indirectly, any of the Proceedings of that Committee." [The Committee of Secrecy.]

He conceived that he could only be dispensed with the Obligation of that Oath by the Authority of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman who composed that Committee; and that he was specially by them restricted from communicating to this Committee, the Secrets of that Committee; and particularly the Circumstances of the Dispatch of the Third of August; but had Leave to mention the Date of the Dispatch, and the Time of dispatching it.

This Oath seemed not a little to embarrass Mr. Wilks, not only in this, but in every other Matter on which he was examined by Your Committee. It appeared the more extraordinary, because (though Your Committee did not mean to derogate from their undoubted Right of asking any Questions which they should think advisable) no Question whatsoever was asked relative to the Subject Matter of that or of any Dispatch; the Question related solely to the Transmission, Six Months ago, of Five printed Acts of Parliament: And he himself informed Your Committee, "That the sending of Acts of Parliament could not be considered as any Part of their Proceedings as a Committee of Secrecy;" and "as such, that they had nothing to do with the Act of Parliament."

Your Committee observe, That they know of no legal Power by which that Oath was administered; and they conceive the total Subversion of all judicial Proceedings, and of all Parliamentary Enquiry, must ensue, if any Persons are permitted to tender and receive voluntary Oaths of Secrecy, which do not include an Exception to an Examination by a competent Authority. The Persons whose Conduct is the immediate Subject of Enquiry, may be (as in this Case they are) the only Persons who can dispense with the Oath. They may actually restrict (as here they have restricted) the only Evidence which is capable of giving satisfactory Testimony concerning their Proceedings. It would be to no Purpose to make Acts to regulate and controul Persons in Trust by the East India Company, if they were, by Oaths of Secrecy, permitted to disable the Witnesses which might prove their Breaches of the Law. If such Oaths are allowed to be valid, they must wholly disqualify this Committee from an effectual Observance of any Part of the Instructions received from the House.

Your Committee are therefore of Opinion, That the giving of such Oath by the Chairman of the Company without any Authority of Law to give it, was originally unwarrantable; and that the enforcing it, with Regard to the Enquiries of a Committee of this House, is a Misdemeanor.

Your Committee, before they conclude this Head of their Proceedings, think it necessary to report to the House, their Observations upon a Matter which incidentally came to their Knowledge, in the Course of their Enquiry into their First Object, and which they consider as of an extraordinary Nature, and well deserving the serious Attention of Parliament.

Upon a Plan of Reformation, adopted by Parliament in the Year 1773, Mr. Francis was, with others, constituted in the Statute which carried that Plan into Execution, a Member of the new Council General, formed for the Government of Bengal, and the Superintendance of the whole Administration of the British Affairs in India. Mr. Francis, in a Letter addressed to the Court of Directors, which is become Public, has, in distinct and unqualified Terms, charged that Court with little less than an entire Neglect of their Duty, in many of its most essential Parts; and in particular, with the constant Support of certain of their Servants in an open Disobedience of their Orders. To this Letter Your Committee refer in their Appendix, N° 8.

Mr. Francis, though he waited on the Chairman and the Deputy on his Arrival in London, and was by the Chairman visited, never was asked a Question of any Sort relative to the important Affairs in which he had been engaged, and which, when he departed from India, were left in a critical Situation; nor did the Chairman ever summon him to appear before the Court of Directors, or call upon him in any Way, either to abandon or support his Accusation.

Your Committee are of Opinion, That the Authority of the Court of Directors cannot be maintained in the Respect necessary to give Poise and Controul to that immense System of Offices of all Descriptions, who act under them, if they are seen to pass over, in a Silence strongly expressive of Guilt, such weighty Charges against them, brought in so solemn a Manner, by a Person of so high a Rank in their Service. Your Committee conceive, That those Directors are ill qualified to confront the Boldness of Delinquents, strengthened perhaps by Wealth, Combination, and a common Cause of Abuse, who are themselves obliged to shrink from Enquiry, and who do not dare to look in the Face a Servant of their own, who indicates (at least by his Charges on them) that there is nothing in his Conduct, which calls for a mutual Traffic of Connivances. On the other Hand, Your Committee are of Opinion, that it is the greatest of all Discouragements to honest and disinterested Servants, who shall be disposed faithfully to obey the Orders of the Company, when they receive Commendation at the same Time that they are denied Support; and that a Censure for Disobedience is followed with a Continuance, and even an Increase, of Trust, Favour, and Power. This Conduct in the Court of Directors, if it should, on further Examination, appear in the Manner in which at present it stands charged, and not answered, will lead irresistibly to a Presumption, that proper Directions are given only with a View to Acquittal on the Foresight of a Criminal Charge; but that in Reality, those who issue colourable Orders, are secretly in League with the Offenders, on whom they pass an unoperative Censure, which, instead of correcting Misdemeanors, become an Indemnity from the exemplary Punishment demanded by their repeated Acts of Disobedience.

The Experience of many Years, and the Fate of a great Multiplicity of Regulations, has proved, that no Alteration in the Constitution of the Court of Directors, (whether affecting the Duration of their Office, or the Rotation established in that Body) that no Change of Qualification in those who elect them; that neither the Nomination of new Servants to superintend their Affairs in India, (although the Nomination was actually made in Parliament) nor the Establishment of a new Court of Supreme Judicature, (though that too was made by parliamentary Authority) nor the Appointment of the Judges (though by the Crown) nor all these, with all the other numerous Provisions in the Act of the Year 1773, and the subsequent Acts, taken together, can furnish an adequate Coercion, where the Temptations to Delinquency, in whatever Hands Power may be lodged, or from what Quarter soever it may be derived, are infinitely great, and the Danger attending it has never appeared in one single Example of Importance: On the contrary, it is to be apprehended, that the Regulations, standing, as they stand, thus naked and unarmed, have proved rather mischievous than beneficial; and that the very Controuls and Balances contrived in the Indian Administration, have increased the Discords, without reforming the Corruptions of Government. It is even to be feared, that whilst Regulation is unattended with Enquiry, the loading the Revenue with heavy Salaries, in the Hope of securing Independence to Office, has only served to secure a strong Ground, which enables the Officer to contend with Advantage for other Offices with other Salaries, and to give Rise to Controversies, which after being pursued through an intricate Maze of Dissention and Corruption, terminate at length in that very Dependence, which the original large and certain Emoluments were given to prevent.

Your Committee are of Opinion, that the Abuses which prevail in the British Government in India, do not arise from the Want of a sufficient Number and Variety of Employments, but from a long-continued Inattention to the Conduct of those who are either in the Possession of Places of high Trust, or in probationary Situations leading to such Places.

Your Committee having examined into the Conduct of the Chairman of the Company, with regard to the Objects of the East India Company's Petition, proceeded in the next Place, to consider the late Arrangement which has been made by the Governor General of Bengal, in Favour of Sir Elijah Impey, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

This Arrangement Your Committee find to be of so much Moment, and leading to Consequences which must so materially affect the Objects into which they have it in Charge to enquire, that it becomes their Duty to lay it open in the most full and most explicit Manner to the House, such as substantially it appears to them; in order that the House, discovering the true Motives of the Parties, and the real Spirit of the Transaction, may be the better enabled to adopt such Modes and Measures of Coercion or Regulation, as the Importance of the Subject may require. Your Committee have, therefore, considered the Matter, and digested their Observations under the Six following Heads:

- 1st.—The Power given or implied by the Governor General to reside in the Office of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, lately conferred on Sir Elijah Impey.
- 2d.—The Circumstances under which the Appointment was made.
- 3d.—The Expediency and Policy of that Establishment, in that Person, and with those Powers.
- 4th.—The Act of Parliament and other Powers under which the Appointment was justified.
- 5th.—The probable Effect, which that Appointment, under those Circumstances will have : 1st. On the Natives ; 2d. On the Judges and other Officers of the Supreme Court ; 3d. On the Members of the Council General not concerned in the Transaction ; and, 4th. On the British Inhabitants at large, and the Professors of the Law in particular.
- 6th.—The Manner in which the Accounts of the several Parts of that Transaction have been transmitted to Europe, and the Effects of that Mode of Transmission.

I.

Under the First Head, Your Committee enquired into the Powers and Authorities belonging to the Office which has been granted to Sir Elijah Impey. As they are not defined in the Minute of the Appointment and Acceptance, which was entered on the 18th of October 1780, Recourse was had to the Minutes on the original Proposition, made on the 29th of the preceding Month. Those Minutes convey (though by no Means with the Accuracy and Precision that ought to have been used upon so very important an Occasion) the Sense which the Mover, Mr. Hastings, entertained of the Powers he was giving, as well as the Light in which the Members of the Council who dissented, understood the Powers they were opposing. As the Notions of these dissenting Members on that Subject were never contradicted by Mr. Hastings or by Sir Elijah Impey, Your Committee were of Opinion, that from the joint Consideration of all the Papers which compose (what is called) the Consultations on that Business, something of the true Nature and Extent of the Authority might be tolerably collected. The Whole of these several Minutes must be considered as one Piece ; else the Powers expressed in the Proposition on which the Institution is framed, and the Institution itself, might be essentially at Variance ; a Matter extremely irregular, and which would give Rise to the worst of Practices ; for when the enormous abstract Power of the Court is questioned, it would be defended on the Terms of the Minute of Appointment, which expresses little or nothing distinctly ; but when in Practice that Power was to be exerted, Resort would be had to the avowed Intentions of the Legislature, to have it construed in a very extensive Sense.

In order to obtain, if possible, a more just and satisfactory Idea of the Office, Your Committee also perused the Plan of the original Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, inserted in a Report of the Secret Committee which sat in the Year 1773. But Your Committee found, that the Definition there given in very clear and precise Words, to be so totally departed from by the Construction in the Minute of Mr. Hastings of the 29th of September 1780, that no specific Limits to the Authority of the Court can be clearly marked out by a Reference to any Part of that Plan.

The Definition which stood in the original Constitution of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, namely, “ that it should be a Court of Appeals from the Provincial Courts, ” is expressly denied of this new Office ; so far as the Definition confines the Jurisdiction to Appeals. By the Description substituted in Mr. Hastings’s Minute, it should seem, that the Jurisdiction may be appellate or original, as Sir Elijah Impey shall choose ; that he may, at his Discretion, call up, and revise or alter, any Part of the Proceedings in the Courts below ; that he may form such Rules for the Proceedings of those Courts as he thinks fit. No Rule of Law or Equity, or Usage, either of Great Britain or of any other Nation, is laid down in that Consultation, by which he shall judge, or by which he is to be governed, in the Rules which he shall prescribe to the several Courts below. No Species of civil Cause is clearly excluded from his Competence. No Class or Description of Men is distinctly exempted. The Judgment is final and conclusive ; there is no Appeal, Revision, or Rehearing in any other Place. All this Power is vested in a single Man.

This Authority (so far as may be inferred from the Governor General’s Reasoning upon it) extends not to the Proceedings only, but to a Power of Alteration in the very Constitution of the subordinate Courts themselves. For he is declared in the Minute to have Power to remedy their Defects, and to form such new Regulations and Checks as Experience shall prove necessary to the Purposes of their Institution. And this, it should seem, is a Power which he not only may, but must exercise. For, if the Provincial Courts are, as the Framer of this Institution asserts, “ in Want of legal Powers, ” except such as are implied in very doubtful Constructions of the Act of Parliament, and that the Want of legal Power is to be supplied, and these Doubts to cease on Sir Elijah Impey’s Appointment, it can only be effected by his supplying these Courts with Powers of another Kind, and bestowing such as shall be agreeable to the real Authority given by the Act. The Minute either supposes an Authority in Sir Elijah Impey to new-model the Courts to the Act of Parliament ; or, what would be worse, to confer upon them Powers, which the Act of Parliament had not given the Governor General a Power to confer.

After

After declaring or presuming, these Powers, or Powers tantamount to them, to be vested in the Chief Justice, a Power is also, by a subsequent Minute or Resolution, reserved to the Governor General and Council, on their Part, to make Orders, Rules, and Regulations, which the Judge is to obey. Here is a double Legislative Power; one delegated, the other held. But, as Regulations and Ordinances are, for the most Part, by their Nature, general and prospective, they give (even if the Council does possess any Power of making them) no Remedy in particular Cases; nor is there any Relief if they are not obeyed; except the dangerous Power of Removal at Pleasure of a Judicial Magistrate; which may be exercised on Account of the Judge's doing his Duty, as well as for his having violated these, or any other Regulations.

The Chief Justice accepts the Office in the following Words: "Under its present Regulations, and such others as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their Stead." On these Terms it is impossible to know what Authority he may or may not exercise in that Office. He is Judge of the Supreme Court, whose Authority he had frequently declared to extend over Acts of the Council General collectively, as well as to the Conduct of the Members individually. He here submits himself to their Power of Regulation, without any Sort of Reserve whatsoever; though it is obvious, that their Regulations might possibly clash with or affect the Authority and Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, which in another Capacity it was his Duty to maintain; and which he had represented it as the systematic Design of the Council to impair, if not to destroy.

When the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut has received such a Latitude of Power in itself, when it may receive much larger, and may, mediately and immediately, give such Powers to the Provincial Courts; none but the Supreme Court (which now stands on a most precarious Footing) appears competent to question the Right of acting either in the one or in the other. But the Governor General asserts in his Minute, that these Provincial Courts, "when acting under the Sanction and immediate Patronage of the first Member of the Supreme Court" [now become Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut] "nobody will dare to dispute their Right of acting;" and, by much stronger Reason it must appear, that none will dare to dispute the Right of acting of the Person under whose Protection the inferior Courts are to enjoy so formidable an Immunity. All legal Power of Controul in the Supreme Court being rendered precarious at best, and so rendered by the Effects of the Patronage of the Chief Judge of the Supreme Court itself; the sole Corrective to the Power given, with Regard to particular Suits, must reside in the personal Qualities of Sir Elijah Impey, who is the principal Judge in one Court, and sole Judge in the other. What those personal Qualities are, it may be difficult, in the Midst of a warm Contest, exactly to discern. But there is no Difficulty at all in pronouncing on Mr. Hastings's Opinion of them. He certainly conceived, that Sir Elijah Impey's Conduct throughout the late Proceedings of the Supreme Court, was violent and indiscreet; and that towards the Natives, as well as towards several British Subjects, it was harsh and oppressive. Upon no other Grounds did he, or could he stand clear of the same Imputations on himself, in his strong Acts of Power in India, and his strong Remonstrances sent to Great Britain. Yet has he chosen to put the Person whose Conduct he thought thus rash, even when limited by Laws and Charters, into an Office of such unlimited arbitrary Power, as nothing but the greatest Temper, Moderation, Equity, and Regard to the Natives, could render in any Degree tolerable. If the Appointment therefore of such an Office could be justified by Law, or any avowable Expediency, Mr. Hastings is clearly reprehensible for filling it with a Person of whom he had entertained, or pretended to entertain, an Opinion, which (if well grounded) must render him altogether unfit for that Situation. He has put into a Situation of great Power and Trust in the Company's Service, the Chief Judge of a Court; the constant Aim of which he had represented to be that of Encroachment (if not worse) on the Rights and Privileges of that Company; of whose Rights and Privileges he (Mr. Hastings) was the natural Guardian and Trustee.

II.

The Circumstances in which this Arrangement was made, have next attracted the Attention of Your Committee.

The Governor General had published Orders, authorizing a Disobedience to the Process of the Supreme Court; and supported these Orders by a Military Force. The Chief Justice persevering in his Claims, issued Process for seizing the Officers, who acted under the Directions of the Governor General, even in the Camp; and Attempts were more than once made to put this Process in Execution.

In this Situation, the Governor General applies to Parliament for his Indemnity, on Account of a Proceeding, in itself so highly criminal, and so extremely dangerous in the Example; justifying himself (as it might naturally be expected) on the absolute Necessity of the Case; owing to the violent Spirit of the Court, their systematic Scheme for extending Jurisdiction, and the dreadful Consequences which might arise from the Discontent and Desperation of the Natives, irritated beyond Patience by the intemperate Proceedings, in which the Chief Justice had taken so active a Part. In Support of that Assertion, together with many other Matters of Charge, he transmits Petitions of the Natives, heavily complaining of the Conduct of the Supreme Court.

The Chief Justice, in his Letter to the Secretary of State, on his Part complains of the violent Proceedings of the Governor General and Council; whom he charges likewise with a systematic and regular Design of overturning the Authority of the King's Commission; asserting that the Charges against himself and the Court, were unfounded, so far as those Charges had come to his Knowledge. He states the Petition of the Natives, as not their true Sense, but as a Representation obtained from them in the Manner in which Petitions for factious Purposes are obtained in England, but with this Difference, "that the Petition against the Court, [the Supreme Court] was obtained under the Influence of Terror."

He represents, in a Letter to Lord Weymouth, 26th March 1779, "that Complaints without being examined, found an easy Admittance on the Consultations of the Governor General and Council; they hoped they would form a Body of Accusation, which would be taken for Proof, and would at once overwhelm the Court. From the Establishment to the present Period, it has been attacked by Charges kept profoundly secret from the Judges." In his Letter of the 29th of March 1780. He states, "That from the universal Tenor of the Conduct of Government, from the Anxiety with which Complaints against the Court are collected, and the Secrecy with which they are sent to England; from no Appeal having been made on any Question of Jurisdiction, and no public Prosecution carried on against the Ministers of Justice, it appears to me to have been a concerted Plan, to enter every Representation to the Prejudice of the Court or its Officers, silently and ex parte on their Records, and not to let the Facts which they contain, be brought to a Public Discussion, either here or at Home by which they hope that to prevail unexamined, by its Weight, as an heavy Body of Accusation, which might be liable, on Examination, to be refuted and falsified."

This Want of Communication of Charges had been frequently urged against any, even against a merely remedial, Proceeding in Parliament, by which the Character of the Chief Justice might be remotely and by Inference affected.

Although the Want of Communication did not appear to Your Committee a sufficient Reason against providing a Remedy by Regulation, for a proved Grievance, it always did appear to them highly blameable in the Governor General and Council, not to have made a regular Communication of their Complaints to the Judges; which in this last Instance we do not find to have been done. The British Inhabitants pleaded Fear of the Retortment of the Court, and as it should seem, not wholly without Reason. But there was no Reason for such Apprehension on the Part of the Governor General and the Board, armed as they were with all the Powers of the State, and disposed to use these Powers in their fullest Extent.

Under these so heavy reciprocal Accusations, the Parties were in the last Session brought before a Committee of this House. On the Revival of the Enquiry in the present Session, the Conduct of the Persons making these Accusations, became an early Object of Attention to Your Committee. Mr. Shakespeare, Chief of Dacca, was examined. His Evidence implies, that the Governor General and Chief Justice had for some Time forbore their mutual Visits, but about the Time of the Arrangement for the Court of Sudder Adaulut, they were reconciled.—Major Scott, private Secretary, Aid du Camp, and Agent to Mr. Hastings, was also examined. He is more full and direct, as he is by his Situation better qualified to speak to the Habits of the Parties. He informs Your Committee, that during the whole Time of so violent a Contest, and when Accusations of the most atrocious Kind were made against the Chief Justice, without Communication, he and his Accuser lived in an unbroken Intercourse, and on Terms of Intimacy and Friendship.

The Conduct of the Governor General and Council, in collecting, countenancing and transmitting Charges against the Court, which appears so blameable to impartial Judges in England, was considered (as might be expected) in the very worst Light by the Chief Justice. For so early as August 1775, speaking of himself and his Brethren, he says, "We cannot but consider any Secret Animadversions on our Conduct, as an indirect, and consequently an illegal Interference with our Authority, tending to weaken the Independency, without which it is impossible to administer impartial Justice." His Opinion of the Necessity of his Independence towards his performing the Duties of his Office, is certainly just; and his Concern for whatever might seem even indirectly to tend to weaken it, is, without Doubt, highly commendable. His Indignation against all Secret Accusations, is natural and becoming; he appears a Man of the quickest Sensibility to sinister Imputations, though not such as he thinks will affect him before any competent Authority; for in his Letter of 20th January 1776, "He calls on the Humanity of the Secretary of State to excuse him, labouring as he is, under the most agonizing Apprehensions that some Part of the foul Imputation on his Character will gain Credit among the Multitude," whom he states to be too apt to give ear to Calumny. Under the fresh Soreness of such Feelings, and under such heavy Charges, not made to the Multitude, but to Parliament, he takes an Office of Profit under the Authority, and tenable at the Pleasure of the very Board, composed of the very identical Persons who had transmitted against him Accusations, (which if innocent, he must suppose to be ill-grounded) and which by not being communicated, he must consider as unfair fair, if not treacherous, and deserving of all the Epithets to which he had formerly given to "Secret Animadversion."

It is remarkable, that whether he always continued in Friendship with Mr. Hastings, as Major Scott affirms, or was reconciled after a Coolness, as Mr. Shakespeare supposes, that neither in the continued or on the renewed Friendship, any Stipulation with the Governor General appears to have been made by the Chief Justice, for furnishing him or his Brethren with the Materials for a Defence to oppose to the uncommunicated Charges laid before Parliament against them, and against himself; nor did Your Committee find that any further Complaint of want of Communication has been made against the Governor General and Council, nor any full Elucidation of the Matters in Dispute been sent, though Opportunities have occurred.

Another Circumstance is remarkable in this Transaction, and may lead to a Discovery of the Sense which the Parties themselves entertained of it. In the Year 1772, the present Governor General, with the then Council, had formed a System of Provincial Courts; in which, as has been already observed, the Court of Sudder Adaulut is the Chief. What Opinion the Governor General entertained of the Legality of this Institution, will appear from his own Minute, with regard to their "very Right of acting." He affirms, that "their Powers are only implied;" and that Implication only "on a Construction of an Act of Parliament;" and that Construction "doubtful," and not only doubtful, but doubtful in the Extreme, "very doubtful," which is substantially the same Thing, as in his Opinion having little or no legal Authority.

If this was his Opinion of the lower, it must also, and for much stronger Reason, be his Opinion of the higher Parts of the same System—for it would be absurd to suppose a lawful Court of Appeal from Courts, which in themselves are fundamentally illegal.

This being the Governor General's Idea of the constructive and doubtful Nature of the original Institution, the giving it, by a further Construction, a far larger Degree of Authority, must have appeared an Assumption of Power (if possible) still more doubtful; and in that Case, it behoved the Governor General not to have made such Dispositions, until both the first and last Doubts were removed by an Authority that could not be dubious.

But Your Committee find, That no public Means of any Sort, either on the Part of Mr. Hastings, or on the Part of the Chief Justice, were taken to remove those Doubts, supposing the Measure of such Urgency as to require its Accomplishment before Recourse could be had to Great Britain, which Your Committee conceive it was not. In a Business of this Moment, which, if any Thing could be so, was, by Eminence, a Matter of Law, for the first Time, no Law Opinions were taken on either Side. During the preceding Contests with the Supreme Court, the Council Board had been all along aided by the Opinion of the Advocate General, though the Members were then entirely unanimous. On several former Occasions, they had even applied to the Advice of the Judges of the Supreme Court, though the Matters were not more interesting, nor more involved in legal Difficulties.

The Chief Justice, on his Part, had been in the Practice of availing himself of the Assistance of his Brethren of the Bench. Here, for the first Time, the Communication between them was cut off. No Application was made by the Chief Justice to his Associates in the King's Commission.

This Law Arrangement, thus made without any Law Reference, is the more striking, as, instead of the former Unanimity, the greatest and strongest Difference of Opinion had prevailed on this Point. It appears, that the Council were equally divided in Number, and the Question was carried only by the Governor General's casting Vote. In this Dissention, no Application was made to the old Law Refort, though the Governor General had, a very little Time before, concurred in, if not been the Proposer of, a Grant of a Salary of Three thousand Pounds a Year, in Addition to the former Salary, which was of the same Amount, to the Advocate General for his Assistance in Masters of Law.

The Governor General, independently of his legal Difficulty, had no Doubt that this Measure would subject him to much Obloquy. The Chief Justice must be presumed to know that he should necessarily be involved in the same Censures. It also appears in Evidence, that the Arrangement was, in Fact, odious to the British Inhabitants in general; and the Witnesses are of Opinion, that it must have proved displeasing to the Junior Judges of the Supreme Court.

No Way appears of accounting for this unprecedented Omission on both Sides, but this; that the Parties were well convinced that their Doubts of the Legality of the Appointment (which they had determined to carry into Execution, notwithstanding the official Opposition and the Public Odium) were more likely to be confirmed than removed by any Reference they could make.

III.

The Grounds of Expediency on which this Court has been justified, are stated at large by Mr. Hastings, in the Papers called "Consultations of the 29th of September 1780," which are answered in other Papers by Mr. Wheler and Mr. Francis. Your Committee refer to these Papers in their Appendix, N° 4. observing, that the Objections made to this Appointment appear solid; and that they have received no Answer in any Minute of Mr. Hastings, nor in any Writing produced to this Committee; nor has Mr. Scott, Agent to the Governor General, verbally given any Solution to their Difficulties. Mr. Hastings is said, by himself and by Major Scott, to depend upon his good Intentions, and the Benefits to arise to the Company; which is an unsatisfactory and improper Mode of Defence, when Objections to the Conduct of a Person in Authority are Specific.

In Addition to these unanswered Objections, Your Committee observe, that the Two principal Causes assigned for the Arrangement by Mr. Hastings, through his Minute and his Agent, are, First, The Harmony which is to prevail between the executive and judicial Powers; and Second, The preventing of Suits before the Supreme Court against the Company, or against those, whom it may be thought fit to support at the Company's Expence.

To accomplish a contingent Saving, a certain Expence is incurred of Eight thousand Pounds a Year, besides the Expences of the Establishment, which are in all Probability very large. The additional Salary voted to the Company's Advocate General, in Consideration of his Advice and Assistance in Suits (Suits in this Arrangement supposed to be prevented in future) amount to Three thousand Pounds annually. And Experience has abundantly shewn, that the Charges of Indian Establishments have never been permitted to remain long on the Expence limited by their original Institution. It is not stated what Fees of Office are or are not permitted to be taken, either by the Judge, or any inferior Officer, or by Practitioners in the Court. Such Fees are virtual Charges on the Revenue; and this Point ought to have been clearly settled before the Salaries were appointed. The Propriety of the Quantum allotted to each Office, must depend on the other Emoluments which each Officer is allowed to possess.

Neither is it at all clearly stated in what Manner any Saving can accrue, as the Supreme Court retains all its Claims; and a new Court is added, in which it does not appear, that Suits may not be commenced wherein the Company may be as much obliged to defend their Officers, as in any which have been commenced, or may be commenced hereafter, in the Supreme Court.

With regard to the Second Ground of Expediency, namely, The Harmony between the Civil Administration and the Supreme Judicature, it is to be observed, that towards reconciling the Differences between them, neither of the Parties seem to have abandoned any Part of their Claims. Mr. Hastings had contended, that if the Claims of the Supreme Court should prevail, the Government of the Country would be embarrassed, the Revenue destroyed, and the Natives oppressed. On the other Hand, the Chief Justice maintained the Rights claimed by that Court, as of absolute and indispensable Necessity towards obtaining its End in the Protection of the Natives. The Idea of establishing Peace, upon the Ground of adverse Claims thus fundamentally differing upon Principle, and which nothing even appear to reconcile but the lucrative Office given to the Chief Justice, can be maintained but upon Suppositions highly dishonourable to the Public Justice, and to the executive Administration of Bengal.

It is indeed observable, that the whole Scheme of Reasoning, by Mr. Hastings, proceeds upon a Supposition, that in Substance and Effect the Chief Justice was the whole Court. As Mr. Hastings well knows the State of the Country, and of that Court of Justice, the Ground of the Reasoning cannot be wholly slighted, as it determines much concerning the Effect of the new Appointment on the Welfare of the Native Inhabitants, as well as on the Utility of the Judicature established under the Royal Charter.

The State of Bengal under the Two Courts, namely, the Supreme Court, and the Court of Sudder Adaulut, constituted and filled as they now are, is conceived to be this: In the Court of Sudder Adaulut, the Natives, and a great Part of the Company's Servants, are subjected to the Discretion of Sir Elijah Impey. No Place is left in which to question the Extent or the Exercise of his Power in the Sudder Adaulut, but the Supreme Court. But in the Supreme Court, the Complainant finds the Person against whom he complains, sitting as the presiding Judge. One and the same Man in his own Person possesses, and in Effect blocks up, all the Avenues to Justice.

Against the Subject, and against the inferior Magistrate, this two-fold Authority is boundless and formidable; against the Persons, most capable from their Situation of causing and countenancing Abuse, it is feeble and precarious at the best; and in Truth, more likely to become the Instrument than the Controul of their Designs. By the Dependency of one Tribunal, both are rendered dependent; both are vitiated; so far as a Place of great Power, Influence, and Patronage, with near Eight thousand Pounds a Year of Emoluments, held at the Pleasure of the Giver, can be supposed to operate on Gratitude, Interest, and Fear. The Power of the Governor General over the whole royal and municipal Justice in Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, is as absolute and uncontrollable, as both those Branches of Justice are over the whole Kingdom of Bengal.

In that Situation the Governor General is enabled to do Things under the Name and Appearance of a legal Court, which he would not presume to do in his own Person. The refractory to his Will may appear as Victims to the Law; and favoured Delinquency may not appear as protected by the Hand of Power, but cleared by the Decision of a competent Judge. Other Establishments have had fair and plausible Beginnings, and have afterwards degenerated. But this sets out abusively in its fundamental Principle. And from what has already appeared to Your Committee, this Arrangement may be only preliminary to great and critical Changes; undertaken, if not by this Time executed, on the whole Establishment of Bengal; to the Effect of which Design, the Acquiescence or Impotence of the Supreme Court, and the Subsistence of the new Institution, may be essential.

IV.

The Fourth General Head under which this Arrangement has been examined by Your Committee, is the legal Authority upon which it is supposed to be made.

Your Committee are of Opinion, that no one Object requires the vigilant Attention of Parliament, more than the Power exercised of making new Courts of Justice in India. The Power by which new Courts of Law are made, is of the highest Form of Authority, and in its Nature, Legislative. But if these Courts are without Jury, where the Law and the Fact are in the same Hand; if they are without Appeal, where there is no Resort against Precipitancy, Error, or Corruption; if they are in a single Person, where they are without Check or Assistance from co-ordinate Rank, or equal Understanding; if they are not limited in the Quantity of Property to which they shall be competent, but may decide in the greatest Interests; the more dangerous it is to put the Power of conferring such Authority into subordinate Hands. These Considerations, which apply with Weight in all Cases, apply with far greater to Courts of Justice in a Country so distant as India; and where Religion and Manners double the Distance. But so long as the Exercise of this Power is permitted in the present Hands, the greatest Care ought to be used, that the Authority under which new Courts are established, be clearly known, and clearly legal; and that the Powers given to them, be as definite as possible.

Mr. Hastings has not stated upon what Clause of the Act (supposed the Act of 1773) he made the very doubtful Construction, by which he implied his Power of creating a System of Courts of Judicature, of which the Sudder Adaulut is Part. If the Authority under that Clause (whenever that Clause is certainly known) shall be found infirm, the whole Superstructure fails. But upon whatever Principle of Legality the Court stood in its first Institution, it is by no Means clear, that in the present Case these Principles are at all applicable. Its Powers are different; the Number of Judges is different; the Description from which the Judge is taken is different.

It would be highly absurd in Reasoning, and highly dangerous in Practice, to admit, That because a Court was continued under the same Appellation, though a total Change in its System had taken place, it might still be justified upon the Legality of its first Appointment. If this Principle could be supported, the admitting a subordinate Legislature (for such the Governor and Council is, if it be any Legislature at all) to make any one valid Regulation, would involve in it the Means of turning that One into any Regulation whatsoever; by which Means the Controul of the superintending Power, necessary to restrain the Makers of Bye Laws within due Bounds, would be rendered totally nugatory.

That the Court of Sudder Adaulut is different from the former Court of the same Name, and therefore for so much a new Court, is evident from Mr. Hastings's Description of it in his Minute.

1st. Because the original Court ought to have been a Court of Appeals. By this it must be understood to be a Court of Appeals only. For no new Court can have any Jurisdiction, but what it derives from the Words in its Constitution conveying Jurisdiction. But no Words, giving any other or further Powers than those of Appeals, are found in the original Appointment; and therefore no such Powers as those contained in the Minute by Mr. Hastings, can be valid under that Constitution.

An Attempt to introduce a new Court, under the Pretence of filling up a judicial Office in an old one, is an Action highly reprehensible; even supposing the Power of making a new Court to be clearly competent to the Parties claiming it. Yet this oblique Manner of exercising their Powers, is extremely faulty, as it tends to conceal from the superintending Authority the true Nature and Extent of their Act, and as it prevents their considering it with that Attention with which an Institution with new Powers is examined, when they are stated as new, and are not supposed to be involved in in the Construction of such as have been long allowed. Had the Act been proper, the Manner of doing it is calculated to deceive.

2d. The Difference between the Number of Judges in the old and new Court, is material. The Old might have consisted (if the Members should choose to attend) of the whole Council, who amount to Five; at the Time of the original Institution it might have consisted of Twelve; it could not have acted with fewer than Three of that Council. This Court is in a single Person.

3d. But if that Court were not otherwise new, the total Alteration of the political Character and corporate Description of the Judge, changes its Constitution. The original Court of Sudder Adaulut had for its Judges, the Governor General and Council, in their public and corporate Capacity; they are Servants of the Company. The present Constitution supercedes that corporate Body, and substitutes Sir Elijah Impey, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who is a Servant of the Crown. In all these respects (setting aside the Consideration of the Salary, which is new, and the attendant Establishment, which are reserved for another Place) the Court of Sudder Adaulut appears to Your Committee to be, in Effect and substantially, a New Court.

Your Committee does not deem it expedient, at the present Time, to report any decided Opinion on the absolute Legality or Illegality of the original Institution of that System of Courts of which the Court of Sudder Adaulut makes a Part. They conceive, that the Authorities under which, and the Capacities in which, British Subjects have exercised Authority in India, have been various at different Times, and not very easily reconcilable with each other at any Time; and that their legal Powers have in no Case been accurately defined; and that their Proceedings have not been inspected and controlled with a proper Degree of Vigilance by any Superintendency in this Kingdom. Therefore, for the Sake of condemning an Arrangement, (which they conceive, for the above Reasons, to be new, and which, on Grounds of Laws lately passed, as well as upon the clearest prudential and political Grounds, there may be found more than sufficient Cause to annul) it might perhaps be in some Degree dangerous to make a Declaration, which, by necessary Inference, might tend to shake the Validity of those Foundations, on which the whole Administration of the Country actually rests, until Parliament has collected sufficient Materials for making clear and definitive Provisions upon that delicate Subject.

But your Committee finding that the regulating Act of the 13th of His present Majesty, Ch. 63. seems to be referred to by the Governor General, as furnishing the Authority on which the System of Courts in 1772 (of which the Court of Sudder Adaulut is a Member) have been created; they have perused that Act, and attentively compared it with the late Proceedings of the Governor General and Council. It is not indeed perfectly clear to what Act he refers. But it is presumed to be this. The Regulation establishing the Provincial Courts, was made previous to the passing of the Act of 1773, and he must (if he refers to this Act in Justification of that Establishment) suppose it in some Way, rather to be ratified by the Statute, than made under its Authority. Without examining therefore, under what other legal Authority the Establishment is or may be supported, Your Committee think it proper thus early in the Session, to lay before the House, their Observations on the Powers given, or supposed to be given, by the Statute of the 13th of the King, Ch. 63. that the House may be enabled to discover whether the Powers given thereby, have been exercised according to the Directions by which they are accompanied; and by a Review of the Powers themselves, may be the better enabled to judge what Alteration, Explanation or Amendment, may be thought necessary to the Act itself.

In this Act, Your Committee find Two principal Clauses, giving Power to the Governor General and Council, namely, the 36th and the 7th Sections. Under these Two alone (as Your Committee apprehend) any Foundation for a legislative Authority can be found in that Act.

Your Committee find, that in the 36th, there are Words conveying subordinate local legislative Powers, to make Bye Laws, with certain Restrictions and Limitations, viz. “to make and issue Rules, Ordinances, and Regulations, for the good Order and Civil Government of the Company’s Settlements at Fort William, and other Factories and Places subordinate, or to be subordinate thereto; “provided they are just and reasonable, and are not repugnant to the Laws of England.”

These are nearly the Terms and the Restrictions with which the Power of making Bye Laws, is granted to Bodies Politic. As to the Extent of this legislative Competence; if this Part of the Act is supposed to be as general as the Words, “Places subordinate or to be subordinate,” would imply, it seems to be a Power sufficient for the Purpose, as it extends to make Ordinances to bind the whole Kingdoms of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa; it therefore may extend to the Power of making even a new Court. Whether the new Court of Sudder Adaulut is made upon a Construction of this Section, is unknown, as the Governor General’s Minutes refer to no Part of the Act specifically, nor indeed in a very distinct Manner to the particular Act.

Your Committee are given to understand, that this Power in this Section has been held in the Supreme preme Court, and is commonly supposed in India, only to relate to certain minute Regulations of the Police, with regard to Calcutta and some other Factories. If this should be considered as the Sense of Parliament in making the Clause, or if it should be thought advisable in future, to confine this Power within these Bounds, it is conceived that it will be necessary to employ much more determinate Words for that Purpose, as the Words of the Act, as they now stand, seem to convey a much larger Authority. Because, if by the Words subordinate Factories, those small Pieces of Ground inclosed by slight Fortifications, which were formerly held under very scanty Grants of the Indian Princes, be understood, few of them are at all existing in this ancient State; and the Application of Ordinances and Regulations for the good Order of Civil Government of those Places, several of which are little more than private Dwellings or Warehouses, would be unworthy of the Gravity of a Law, or of a judicial Construction. If Factories be taken in a larger Sense, and extend to all the Places in which the Company has Factories, that is, Agents to buy and sell, it comprehends several great Cities, and their adjacent Districts; and indeed, in one Way or other, almost, if not altogether, the whole Kingdoms of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, excepting in what relates to Calcutta. The Competence given in the Words, “Forts, Factories, and Places subordinate, or to be subordinate to,” either means this, or it means nothing.

This Sense gives a large Scope to the Legislative Competence of the Council; but it is utterly inconsistent with the Opinion that prevails, of its being confined to the Enclosure of what was formerly called a Factory.

It is not impossible, in the unformed State in which the British Authority stood in Bengal at the Time when this Act was under Consideration, and during the Disputes with the Company which then subsisted, that Parliament, on one Hand, was unwilling to leave the Council wholly without regulating Powers; and on the other, chose to use the old Language of Acts of Parliament, concerning the Possessions of the Company, which were generally in Acts and Charters described by the Names of Forts and Factories, before the Acquisition of such large territorial Possessions, as have been lately acquired. Parliament was probably desirous to avoid any Thing which might lead to an Acknowledgment of a full Right in the Company to those Possessions at large. They were also not disposed to make any clear Declaration of what might amount, on the Part either of the Crown or of the Company, to a direct and avowed Superfeding of the ancient Country Powers and Authorities. This doubtful State of Things produced an Ambiguity, visible in other Instances as well as in this; and which, in this Instance, it will be certainly advisable to remove, by Provisions more explicit in a new Statute.

If the Formation of the Court of Sudder Adaulut for Sir Elijah Impey, was made in virtue of any Authority derived from this Section of the Act of 1773, Your Committee observe, that the Directions of that Act necessary to give Validity to the Ordinances of the Council, have been observed in no one Particular.

The Act provides, First, That the Ordinance, Regulation, &c. shall not be valid, until it is “duly registered and published in the Supreme Court, and with the Consent and Approbation of the same.” Secondly, That such Ordinance, Regulation, &c. “shall be openly published, and a Copy of it affixed in some open and conspicuous Part of the Court, where the Supreme Court is held.” Thirdly, The Act provides an Appeal from the Regulations, &c. to His Majesty in Council, “within Sixty Days from Publication, for any Person or Persons in India; or for any Person or Persons in England, within Sixty Days from publishing them in England.”

These Directions were not observed in the Appointment of this Court. First, The Ordinance ought to have been a formal Act or Instrument, such as might be published and registered. The present Arrangement was nothing more than a Minute of Council, (if regularly it was even that) never published in the Supreme Court, nor registered, nor consented to, or approved thereby; and consequently (so far as it is grounded on this Clause) is without Question invalid and illegal.—Secondly, Every Person in India and in England, has, under the Statute, an Interest in every new Regulation, and has a Remedy provided for him. This Omission of Publication would wholly take away the Benefit of Appeal from all British Subjects, to whom the Act has expressly given it.—Thirdly, By the Act, these Ordinances are to be transmitted to a Secretary of State, and if not abrogated within Two Years from the making, &c. shall be valid. The Clause is express for the Time which gives Validity; but not for the Transmission. This may seem a Defect in the Act; but, undoubtedly, the Sense of the Statute is, that every Ordinance should be transmitted as speedily as possible. When a Time is not limited in a Law, a Time convenient must be understood. Fifteen Months are past, since the Proposition of this Court in Council, and upwards of Fourteen from the Acceptance of the Chief Justice. Many Messengers are arrived, and no Copy of the Ordinance (if any Ordinance at all was made) is transmitted. The Two Years may expire before His Majesty has the Notice of it, which the Act directs; and the Prerogative of the Crown, given by this Act to His Majesty, may be thus defeated.

The other enabling Part of the Act of the 13th of the King, is contained in the 7th Section. In this Section, if the Letter is attended to, the Powers are large indeed. It is however, observable, that that no one Term, appropriated in Charters or Acts of Parliament for enabling a Body Corporate to make Laws and Regulations, is found in that Section. Words proper for conveying the largest Powers of Administration are used; not one for Legislation.

The Clause begins with the Words "For the better Management, &c." Then the following Words are used "The whole civil and military Government of the said Presidency, and also the " Ordering, Management, and Government of all the Territorial Revenues and Acquisitions in the " Kingdoms of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa." These Words are all Words of Administration.

The Direction and Qualification of these Powers is as follows; "in like Manner to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, as the same now are or at any Time heretofore might have been exercised by " the President and Council, or Select Committee, in those Kingdoms."

Your Committee conceive, that no Power can be rendered legal by Reference to mere Actions, without any moral Qualification, and much less to the mere Possibilities of Action in any Person. To the Words "now are exercised, or might have exercised," Construction must, without Doubt, supply the Words lawfully otherwise every conceivable Abuse might be not only ratified for the Time past, but authorized in future, by an Act of Parliament conferring, in Effect, on the Governor General and Council, a Power of doing what they thought fit.

Two Reasons have been suggested for supposing this Power here authorized, to be unbounded, and therefore of course, to comprehend a legislative Capacity. First, It has been suggested, that the Company has succeeded to the Authority of the Subadar of that Province, who was a Prince exercising arbitrary Powers, unlimited by any Law; and that whatever he had done, or might have done, that became the Rule of what the President and Council might do.—In the Apprehension of Your Committee, such a Rule, is to have no Rule; nor can it be supposed that Parliament did, or could intend to appoint the actual Conduct, much less the possible Exercise of Power, by a Mahomedan, arbitrary Usurper (as the Subadar certainly was, if he affected to be an independent Sovereign) as a Standard of Legality for the Actions of British Subjects. If such Powers do or can lawfully exist, they may in Time be used for the Purposes to which they were formerly applied by some of the Subadars of Bengal, Independence and Oppression. It therefore becomes the more necessary, that Parliament should suffer no Doubt to remain upon the true Extent of the Powers which are supposed to be given by Words so loose and indefinite, as what Power has or might have been "exercised."

Your Committee conceive, that it is a great Error to imagine, that the People of those Countries lived without any fixed Law before the British Establishment. The Mahomedans were subject to the Mahomedan Law, as it is found in the Book called Alcoran, and its authorized Interpreters; and all Persons, from the lowest Slave to the most powerful Prince, was bound by it. Their Judges and Magistrates were also bound to observe, and to judge by, the Reâje ul Mulk, or ancient Custom and Usages, or Common Law of the Country, where it was not absolutely repugnant to the former. Certain Persons called Canongés, were appointed for the Ascertainment of that Usage; and to preserve their Integrity and Independence, they held their Office for Life, by Patent immediately from the Superior Authority, and not from the Governors of the Province. A Breach of those Laws would have formed a just Subject of Complaint and Punishment against any Mahomedan Governor. The Exorbitance of Power in Bengal, arose from the Want of Means of coercing the Mahomedan Governors, by Institutions of Strength on the Part of the Subject, and from their Independence of the Supreme Power, never asserted as of Right, but for a long Time in fact existing. Acts of any Governor beyond the Laws, or contrary to them, were abusive; and Acts of Abuse can never be made the Standard of Legality.

That a Body of Law existed for the Gentû Inhabitants, is certain; and Mr. Hastings has the Merit of bringing that to the View of the Public, by causing very material Abstracts from it to be translated. The Gentûs have also their Professors in that Science, who, as it appears in Evidence to Your Committee, are Persons highly revered by the Natives, on Account of their Learning and Integrity of Life.

The Second Reason for supposing the Act meant to ratify arbitrary Power in general Words, is, That the British Power in Bengal had arisen from Conquest; and that absolute Conquest putting an End to all Laws, Rights, and Privileges, the Governor General and Council exercised a Power, from the Nature of the Case unlimited; and this is the Power alluded to in the above Suggestion, as ratified by the Act.

Your Committee find the Question of the Rights derived from Conquest in the Abstract, dark and arduous. But they are unwilling to believe, that Parliament ever intended to act upon a Supposition of the utter Extinction of all the original Laws and Rights of the Natives. If any such Conquest, attended with such Consequences, has happened, it is not to be presumed, that on a Supposition that so formidable Power did thereby vest in the Company, it would have been transferred by Parliament, without Bounds, to the Company's Servants.—If it vested in the Public, it is not to be supposed that Parliament should part with the high Sovereign Members of such a Power out of their own Hands.

But your Committee observe, that formally and in Style, the Company do not act as a Sovereign deriving a Title from absolute and unconditional Conquest, whatever Right such a Title may be supposed to confer. They have accepted by Treaty, from the ancient sovereign Power of that Country, a Patent, under which they act as Dûan, or Administrator of Civil Justice and of the Revenues. By accepting that Office, they accepted the Duties inseparable from it; which were undoubtedly to protect the People committed to their Charge, in all their Possessions, moveable and immoveable, and in all their Rights, religious and civil. The Acceptance of this Instrument was virtually a Convention entered into in Favour of the Natives, then delivered over to the Government of British Subjects; who, as such, are bound to be obedient to Acts of Parliament, wherever the Power of this Kingdom prevails, as Parliament will consider itself as bound to observe the Conventions under which Rights are acquired to the Nation, or any Part of it. As this Office of Dûan, was not only accepted but solicited, and solicited and accepted at the Head of victorious Armies, it became much the more binding; because no Pretence could be made on the Part of the British Agents, that it was not an Act altogether voluntary. As therefore the Office of Dûan did not confer any boundless arbitrary Powers, when held under the ancient Sovereign, neither can it, when held under the Controul of another Sovereign; and it can never be a fair or safe Construction of an Act of Parliament, to suppose that any general Words, conveying a Right to exercise Authority, were intended to convey a Power repugnant to the Compact implied in the Instrument under which alone the Means of exercising any Authority at all have been acquired; a Compact by which many Millions of People have come under the Protection of this Kingdom.

The indirect Authority which may arise from Influence over the native Magistrates in high Place, as it never can be estimated by any legal Standard, so it never could be the Object of the Act; so that the President and Council never did, and the Governor General and Council never can, exercise as of Right, those unlimited, executive, judicial, and legislative Powers, which have been contended for under the Act of 1773.

It would be the more mischievous to admit this infinite Authority under the 7th Section of the Act of the 13th of the King, because the Provisions necessary to prevent Abuse of Powers given in the 30th Section of the same Act, do not at all apply to the Powers given in this Part: There is the greater Room for concluding them not to be originally in any Degree legislative, because it would be absurd to suppose, that Parliament should be so extremely sedulous in its precautionary Provisions against the Abuse of petty Regulations of Police, exercised within a very narrow Circuit, whilst it authorized without any Sort of Controul a boundless Exercise of legislative Power throughout the whole Extent of the British Possessions, present or future, in that Part of India.

Your Committee observe, that if the Governor General and Council could be justified in the Arrangement, under the largest Construction of these general Powers; yet it does not appear that they have conformed to the Directions necessary to give Validity to any of their Actions, when judged by that Statute; for in the next Section, that is, in the 8th, it is enacted as follows, “ That in all Cases whatsoever wherein any Difference of Opinion shall arise upon any Question proposed in any Consultation, the said Governor General and Council shall be bound and concluded by the Opinion “ and Decision of the Major Part of those present.”

Your Committee find, that a Difference of Opinion did arise; and the Minute of this Appointment was handed about to the Houses of the several Members, in what they call Circulation, but was never brought into the Council at all, and therefore never debated Face to Face, or decided by any Majority of the Persons present.

Mr. Francis being examined to this Point, admits this Mode of Proceeding to be against Law. But says, that in many Cases, particularly when the Ships are on the Point of Departure for Europe, it is impossible, consistently with the Nature of their Business, formed often of a great Number of minute Particulars, to have every Matter on which a Difference may arise, settled in Council as the Act directs.

Your Committee are of Opinion, That the most dangerous Consequences might arise from suffering the Council to obey or disobey a positive Law, according to their Ideas of Convenience. But this Mode of transacting Business, contrary to the essential Nature of every Council, and of every deliberative Act, leads so directly to the Encouragement of dark Cabals, and of insidious Practices to seduce the Opinions of Counsellors, that if it were not against the clear and express Provisions of an Act of Parliament, it must be considered, in itself, as wholly irregular and unjustifiable.

It is possible that the Offence of acting in this Manner may admit of considerable Alleviation, from the Nature of the Business to be done. But so solemn an Act as the Establishment of such a Court, with such immense Powers, can never be excused or palliated, by any Idea of Minuteness of Object, or of necessary Haste in attaining it.

The House will probably find it adviseable to limit the Directions of the Act of Parliament, for collecting the Sense of the Council, to such Things as are most essential; leaving others to be transacted at the Discretion of the Governor General and Council. By such a Method, on the one Hand, Business may not be obstructed by useless Formality; and on the other, a Stop may be put to that most dangerous Practice of occasional Dispensation with Acts of Parliament; which at First beginning probably in lighter Concerns, has already, in so short a Time as since 1773, been extended to the highest Acts of legislative Authority.

Your Committee, having reflected on the Exercise of these high legislative Powers by the Governor General and Council, and weighed the Conveniencies and Inconveniencies on both Sides, recommend it to the serious Consideration of the House, if any such Powers do by Law exist, whether those, and others equally liable to Abuse, should be permitted to remain in that Board, constituted as it is.

The whole Body now acting as Legislator in Bengal, consists, at most, but of Five Persons; upon Difference of Opinion, their Acts are but the Sense of Three; by not unfrequent Absences, Two may decide; and if but Two are present, which is sometimes the Case, the First in Rank, having a Double Vote, the whole Power is virtually in One. The Arrangement for Sir Elijah Impey was approved by Two only; and though formally it was the Act of the whole Four, in Substance was that of no larger Number. If to the Consideration of the Smallness of Number, be added that of the Manner of collecting Opinions, in what is called Circulation, that is, without Debate, Discussion, or personal Conference, this Power in these Hands, and so exercised, will appear in a Light truly serious. So small a Body was probably never known to be vested with legislative Powers, in a subordinate Capacity, under any Form of Government. Your Committee therefore recommend, whether it would not be proper, that no considerable Alteration shall be made by the Governor General and Council, or any Authority derived from them, in the Administration of the Public Affairs, whether in the Rules of Law, or in the Form of Judicial Institutions, or in the Tenure of Landed Property, or in the Mode of collecting the Revenues, or in the Imposition of new Taxes, or in the Creation of new Civil Offices, or in the Increase of Emoluments to those already created (exceeding a small Sum to be settled) without a Publication in the Supreme Court at Calcutta, of the specific Instrument by which such Acts are intended to be done; which Instrument shall be transmitted to the Court of Directors, and shall not be of any Force or Effect until it be sent back with such Alterations and Amendments as shall seem necessary by a General Court of the East India Company, and by His Majesty in Council.

The Source of many Grievances and many Corruptions, lies in the bold Licence of the Company's Servants, in shaking ancient Establishments, in lightly adopting new Projects, which give Place to others, when the irregular Motives which originally created them, appear to require their Destruction. The Powers thus to be restrained, Your Committee conceive not to be among the political Powers which require an immediate Proceeding on the Spot; and perhaps more Advantage is derived from Delay in the Execution of new Projects, and in the Grant of new Emoluments, than Mischief is to be apprehended from holding any of them under a very long Deliberation. Experience has shewn, that it is more adviseable to have the Principles of those Regulations well discussed, before they are adopted, than to take the Means of Remedy after they are made and fully executed.

1st, Because if the Provisions concerning Regulation, as they stand in the Act of 1773, were to be applied to them, the Power given to the King and Council is only to annul in toto, and not to modify or correct. By which Omission, an Ordinance, evil in many Respects, may be suffered to remain, upon account of some plausible, or really good Part, which it is not adviseable to change; and it is not difficult to construct in this Manner the most exceptionable Regulations.

2dly, Because bad Regulations being very frequently made for bad Purposes, which are for the most Part temporary and personal, all the Ends of such a Regulation are answered, and most of its Mischiefs produced, before it can be annulled by any Authority in this Kingdom.

3dly, The annulling the Regulation, if it operates retrospectively, may dangerously alter the Condition of Individuals, who may derive Titles under it. If only prospective, it leaves Individuals the Mortification of having suffered under an Ordinance, which the ultimate Authority has considered as unfit to be made.

4thly, The Act of the 13th of the King is only enabling, that is, to make Regulations; but not directory, with regard to what shall or shall not be the proper Subject of this Power; by which Defect, whether through Inadvertence or Design, it is to be feared that many Things have been done as Acts of Administration, which were in Reality Acts of Regulation; and thereby the Provisions in the Act, to prevent Abuse in making Ordinances and Regulations, have been entirely frustrated.

5thly, The Inconvenience from their Assumption of this Legislative Power, exercised under the Form and Manner of an Act of Administration, strongly appeared in the Case now before Your Committee. For whilst the Disputes between the Supreme Court and the Council General were under the Consideration of Parliament, the Council has undertaken, by an Act of its own, to appoint a Court upon Principles totally different from those established in the Act of Parliament. It is not difficult to discern the Confusion into which such a Power, so exercised, must involve all Authorities from the highest to the lowest.

The Governor General and Council, from their local and official Situation, are very fit to suggest, but very unfit, for many Reasons, to be the sole Makers of Laws and Regulations, or Disposers of Revenues to the private Emolument of any Person.

Your Committee having observed, as they conceive, fully on the Nature of the Powers claimed or assumed by the Governor General and Council, and on the Authority from which they are supposed to originate, and having suggested their Ideas of Correctives and Directions to that Authority, proceed to take into Consideration how far the Office given under that Authority to Sir Elijah Impey, may be affected by the Salary annexed; and how far the Legality of the Proceeding may be justified, under the Act of the 13th of the King.

In the Act of the 13th of the King, Your Committee find that the Salaries of the Judges are qualified by the Description of "certain and established;" and the Governor General and Council, and the Judges of the Supreme Court, are forbidden to receive, over and above those Salaries, "any Present, Gift, Gratuity, or Reward." The Salaries of the Judges, and the Governor General and Council, are further declared to be "in Lieu of all Fees of Office, Perquisites, Emoluments, or Advantages whatsoever." In consequence, they are forbidden to take them in any Manner, or on any Account or Pretence whatsoever. The same Principle is laid down in the Charter of Justice, so far as it regards the Judges, with a Reference to the Act.

The Act, it is true, does not in express Words and specifically prohibit either the Judges or the Governor General and Council from receiving the same Emoluments, which are forbidden in general Terms, in the Way of Salary for the Execution of other Offices: but Your Committee are of Opinion, that the Judges, or the Governor General and Members of the Council General, in taking such additional Profits, under Colour of other Offices, act clearly against the Spirit of the Statute, and frustrate the good Purposes of the Legislature in appointing fixed Salaries to their several Offices. The Words of the Act which prohibit the taking of further Emoluments, are no stronger where they relate to the Council, than where they relate to the Judges; and the Prohibition to both is sometimes combined together in the same Clause. The Chief Justice, by his Acceptance of this Employment and Salary, has given an Opinion, and an Example, under which the Members of the Council may distribute among one another, as many of the Offices of their Establishment as they think fit, and may annex to all those Offices such Salaries as are agreeable to their Desires. It is not necessary to point out the Door which this Practice lays open to Avarice, Rapacity, and Monopoly, and how it tends to render the Governor General and Council the Rivals and Competitors of the junior Servants, whom it is their Duty to protect, and to forward according to their Deserts.

If the Duties of the Supreme Court are light and trivial, an Establishment of so little Utility, and so vast an Expence, ought to be abrogated. If the additional Offices have a Duty, they interfere with the Duties of the Court: If they have no Duty, their Existence is an Abuse. It does not appear, that the Salaries of the Judges have been settled upon narrow and illiberal Principles. If they shall be found insufficient, they ought to be increased by Parliament; but the Judges ought not to be permitted to make them up, by oblique Means, to the Standard of their own Desires. For this indefinite Capacity of taking Emoluments, not only renders the Judges dependent through the Offices, which they have actually obtained; but through those, which they may even afterwards wish to obtain, and leaves no Bound to Influence. Thus the Dependence of the Judges on the Crown, which appoints them, is limited, and cannot be increased but by Act of Parliament;—their Dependence on the Company, or rather the Company's Servants, is infinite; as the Salaries to their new Offices may be raised, and the Offices themselves multiplied without any Limit.

The Chief Justice seemed formerly to have entertained Ideas of the Independence of the King's Judges, and of the Limitation of their Views to the Salaries of their Office under the Crown, very different from those under which he accepted an Office and a large Salary during the Pleasure of certain of the Company's Servants, and with an Obligation to yield Obedience to all their present and future Regulations. In a Letter written to the Court of Directors, signed by him and the other Judges, and dated the 14th of September 1776, he expresses no small Uneasiness on some Orders given by the Court of Directors, which prevented the easy Remittance of the Whole of the Savings from the Judges Salaries, at the just Value in England; and stating, that the Governor General and Council had been in that Point as liberal as he could expect. He adds, "But had they been still more so, we again submit to your honourable Board the Impropriety of its being left to the Discretion of your Government here, whether the Members of a Court of Justice shall or shall not have the Enjoyment in England of such Savings, as they are able to make in Bengal. The Influence which it tends to create, and its Consequences, are of a Nature so degrading to the King's Judges, and" may

“ may be so subversive of Justice, that we hoped the least Surmise of it would be sufficient to procure an effectual Redress against it.”

He was so very delicate and scrupulous, that the mere mercantile Accommodation of a Remittance and that only from the Savings of the Salary appointed by Parliament, which he supposed had a Tendency to create Influence in the Company's Servants, was so uneasy to him, that the whole Letter is a strong Demand and Remonstrance of Right on the Subject. In Addition to the above Reasons, and others explained at large, he enforces the Justice of his Demand, by laying open his Opinion with regard to the Limitation of the Views of the Judges, and their Difference in that Respect, from the Company's Servants:—“ Some of them (the Company's Servants) are dependant “ on you for Offices, which they hold in Possession or Reversion, or for other Emoluments granted “ and revokable by you, which may give reasonable Expectations of the like to the rest. We have “ nothing more to depend on than our Salaries. We must be obliged to insist on our Rights. “ We can have no Means of acquiring Property, other than our Salaries; we therefore can remit “ only our Savings out of them. We hold no other Offices, we receive no other Emolument from “ you.”—These were, at that Time, the Sentiments of the Chief Justice, expressing in a clear Language a sound Opinion.

Your Committee, agreeing with the Sentiments against the Practice of the Chief Justice, are decidedly of Opinion, that nothing can prevent the Supreme Court from becoming a Grievance of the heaviest Kind, instead of a real Benefit to the native Inhabitants, but the keeping of the Judges in a State of absolute Separation from, and entire Independence, directly and indirectly, of the Company's Servants.

The next Matter which Your Committee recommends to the Consideration of the House, is the Tendency of this Transaction to the Benefit or Prejudice of the Natives of India, and the Security and Advantage of British Government in that Part of the World. And here Your Committee have the Satisfaction to find, in the Course of their Examination, that these Interests are, in Effect, one and the same. There is nothing which can strengthen the just Authority of Great Britain in India, which does not nearly, if not altogether, in the same Proportion, tend to the Relief of the People; and nothing, which renders those, who exercise the subordinate Trusts of Power, less responsible, or less obedient to the Government from whence that Power is derived (whether this be effected by Compromise, Cabal, Connivance, or Connection, either there or here) which does not tend to depress the Minds, and destroy the Prosperity, of the Natives.

The manifest Tendency of this Transaction, in all its Views, is, “ to render Complaint to the Sovereign Power of the State unsafe and ineffectual.”

This Resort to an higher Power, of great Consequence in all Civil Society, is the only Resource of a People, unfurnished with independent Privileges, or Means of popular Controul upon its Magistrates. Whatever, therefore, tends to make the Resort to this Protection a Matter of Difficulty and Danger, goes to the direct Destruction of the Natives of India.

These Natives had been encouraged by the supreme executive Powers of the Country, to complain of the Supreme Court of Judicature; and not only to complain, but they were authorized, and even actually called upon, to resist the Process of that Court, as highly injurious to Government itself. They had scarcely sent off the Complaint, when they beheld the principal acting Person in that Government, delivering them up to the arbitrary Discretion of the principal acting Person in that Court.

On the other Hand, those of the Natives, who had given Credit to Sir Elijah Impey's frequent Declarations, that the Supreme Court was instituted for their Protection against the powerful Servants of the Company, and had, on that Ground, acted so as to incur the Displeasure of the Governor General, now see the First Judge of that Court accept a great judicial Office from the Hands of the chief Servant of the Company, and thereby becoming dependent upon those, against whom the Natives were taught to believe he was intended, on their Part, as an uninfluenced and a powerful Controul.

2. This Arrangement has also an evil Aspect on the Authority and Credit of the Supreme Court. The younger Judges must feel themselves abandoned by their Chief; and, it is to be feared, that in consequence of it, One of these Two Events will happen; either that they will neglect their Functions in Despair, and thus the Court will become (if already it has not become) an useless Incumbrance on the Revenues of Bengal; or, what would be worse, that these Judges, taught by the successful Example of their Chief, may, by the Renewal of a vexatious Exertion of their remaining Powers, put themselves into a Posture of compounding the Disputes between the Government and the Court, by obtaining lucrative Employments for themselves.

Its ill Effect on the Practitioners in that Court must also be considerable. The Chief Justice had adopted and transmitted a Complaint, on the Part of the Attornies of Calcutta, representing the Loss, which they must inevitably suffer, by the Reduction of Business in that Court, as very grievous. He stated that Business as then reduced by One Third, and he declared his Apprehensions of its shortly being being reduced to little or nothing. Major Scott has established the Sagacity of his Predictions, and informed this Committee, that several of the Practitioners in that Court were obliged to abandon their Profession, and to betake themselves to a military Life. If this had been foreseen, or had happened from the Cessation of a litigious Spirit, the Complaint would have been indecent; but if from the total Loss of the Authority of a necessary Court, the Person who made the Complaint ought not, by any Act of his, to have contributed to a Loss, which, in its Consequences, involved the Ruin of those whom he affected, and whom it was his Duty, as far as Reason and Justice went, to take under his particular Protection.

3. Those Members of the Council, who had engaged in strong Measures, in Concurrence with their Principal, and had been in the same Manner abandoned, and their Adversary placed by their Associate in an Office of the greatest Power and Emolument, may as probably become fearful or indifferent in asserting the Rights of the Company in future; or may take the Turn of compounding their Duties, according to the Mode established.

With regard to the Provincial Courts now submitted to Sir Elijah Impey's Controul, his Opinion of them is, that " they are planned on wise Principles, but so perverted in their Execution, as to be " the greatest Instruments of Oppression which the miserable Inhabitants of the Country labour under." As those Courts, so stated to be abused, and at that very Time abused, are in the Hands of the subordinate Servants of the Company, and this Opinion, if not always perfectly known to Mr. Hastings, must of Necessity become Public; Mr. Hastings must appear, either to have placed at the Head of these Courts Servants so ill-disposed, that no mere Power of Revision could sufficiently guard against their evil Practices; or, if he thought them innocent, must have placed over them their Accuser as their Judge, and one, who, even to justify his own unretracted Charge, would naturally be an harsh Censor of all their Actions, and a prejudiced Re-hearer of all their Judgments. The Company's Servants will not appear, in this Transaction, to be either justly coerced, or kindly protected, by Mr. Hastings. The respectful Subordination, so necessary to this Service, must be greatly impaired.

4. The British Inhabitants, who, concurring with the Governor General, were of Opinion that the Chief Justice had made an excessive Use of his Power in the Supreme Court, see him now invested by their Governor and Fellow Complainant with new and far greater Powers than those which they had stated him to Parliament as having abused. It appears in Evidence, that they are much discontented with this Arrangement; and it is impossible that it should not operate as a great Discouragement to any Exertion of theirs, either in their own Favour, or in that of others.

And Your Committee are of Opinion, That the Protection of British Subjects, thus deserted in their Complaints, is no trivial Matter, as, on Account of the comparative Smallness of their Numbers, it might appear; for it is through the Means of the Humanity, Courage, and Fidelity of those British Subjects, especially through the Courage and Fidelity of those who profess the Law as Counsel or Attornies, that a Complaint of the Natives can come before any Power in Great Britain, capable of affording Redress to their Grievances.

The Case of Mr. North Naylor, Attorney to the Company, is of itself sufficient to render all such Complaints, in future, an Affair of the extremest Hazard. Mr. Naylor, who appears to have been a Person of considerable Industry and Abilities, was employed by the Governor General and Council to defend that Board, and some Persons of Distinction amongst the Natives, against the late Suits in the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court attached Mr. Naylor for a Contempt, on Account of some Steps he had taken, under the Direction, and in Favour of, his Clients; and on his Refusal to answer a Series of Interrogatories (in which Refusal he was supported by his Clients) he was detained in the Common Gaol of Calcutta, a miserable and pestilential Place, upwards of a Month. For these Interrogatories, which Your Committee conceive to be in many Parts wholly unjustifiable, they refer to their Report of last Session, and to the Cossijurah Appendix to that Report, N<sup>o</sup> 23.

Mr. Naylor, who was in no good State of Health at the Time of this rigorous Imprisonment, and having had, during its Continuance, some Family Misfortunes, died soon after his Release upon Bail; his Death being, in all Probability, hastened, if not caused, by his Sufferings under Confinement. The Council, indeed, considered, that whatever the final Judgment of the Court might be, Mr. Naylor could not, after his suffering Imprisonment, and the Disgrace he had undergone, serve the Company any longer as Commissioner of Law Suits, and Attorney on Record; therefore conferred on him, as some Retribution, the Place of Register of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, which they then revived, with a Salary equal to that of his other Offices. Whether that Place could be a full Compensation for the whole of his Losses, does not appear: He did not live to make the Experiment: For his Imprisonment and Disgrace, it was none.

The Governor General and Council, instead of effectually pursuing their Complaint to obtain Reparation for Mr. Naylor's Character, and Justice for his Sufferings, in Effect have passed Judgment both on Mr. Naylor's Conduct and their own, by rewarding the Author of Mr. Naylor's Sufferings, and the Object of their own Accusation. Nothing has been done towards obtaining any Security for those, who might venture hereafter to serve the Company in their Law Affairs; the whole Transaction leaving leaving a memorable Example to Natives, to British Subjects, and to Practitioners in the Courts, to deter them from asserting any public or private Right in Course of English Law; since a Person, conversant in that Law, acting under the highest Powers of that Country, had suffered so grievously (it may be even to Death) for supporting a Cause of the Natives, patronized by Government.

Your Committee, considering the Safety of Complaint as the Foundation of all Redress to Grievances, find themselves indispensably obliged to call the serious Attention of the House to the Case referred to in their Report of last Session, p. 59; namely, the Case of the Rajah Nundcomar.

A Native of the highest Rank, and of an Order reputed sacred throughout India, was capitally executed in the City of Calcutta, with Circumstances the most shocking to the Prejudices of that People, and which conveyed, according to those Prejudices, the Idea of Offence and Insult to all Classes of Men. The Crime, for which this Native was thus executed, namely, that of Forgery, is not capital by the Laws of that Country; though, by a Statute made within this Century, it has been made so in England. The criminal Fact alleged was at that Time, and had long been, in a Course of Examination in a Civil Suit, the Event of which was to be decided by the Authenticity of the Instrument said to have been forged. In so extraordinary a Case, the Execution of the Sentence might and ought to have been respited, until His Majesty's Pleasure should be known. The Omission of such Respite is the more to be noticed, because the Chief Justice, in his Letter to the Earl of Rochford, of the 25th of March 1775, complains, that "he had always felt great Inconveniencies from "being obliged to inflict upon Offenders the same Punishments which are inflicted in England for the "same Offences." His First Instance is in the Application of the Law of capital Punishments. He certainly had it in his Power to respite the Sentence.

The Circumstance, which brings this Omission Home to the Point at present under the Observation of Your Committee, is this; that the Rajah, thus denied a Respite, was, at the very Time of his Apprehension, under the Protection of the Council, in the Midst of his Evidence against Mr. Hastings, the Governor General, on a Charge of Peculation and Abuse of his Office, in taking Money from the Natives.

Your Committee has received it in Evidence, that this Trial and Execution was looked upon by many of the Natives as political; nor does the Committee conceive it possible, that, combining all the Circumstances together, they should look upon it in the Light of a common judicial Proceeding; but must regard it as a political Measure, the Tendency of which is, to make the Natives feel the extreme Hazard of accusing, or even giving Evidence of corrupt Practices against any British Subject in Station, even though supported by other British Subjects of equal Rank and Authority. It will be rather a Mockery, than a Relief to the Natives, to see Channels of Justice opened to them, at their great Charge, both in the Institution and in the Use, and then Appeals, still more expensive, carefully provided for them, when, at the same Time, Practices are countenanced, which render the Resort to those Remedies far more dangerous than a patient Endurance of Oppression, under which they may labour.

Your Committee find, from their Enquiry, that the Natives, who are Men of Business, and who have Trust, or seek to be in Trust with Europeans, are, by Habit and Education, reserved and timid, patient and dissembling, not disposed publicly to complain of Abuse, or openly to resent Injury; and much less to bring to Light any Fraud, Extortion, or Peculation; and that, though litigious with their Equals, they are disposed to seek Refuge against the Abuses of Station, rather in low Intrigues, and the miserable Arts and Subterfuges of Servitude, than in a manly Assertion of their Rights, before an Authority enabled by Power, and bound by Duty, to relieve them. It is much to be apprehended, that they may find it more eligible to compound with the Rapacity of the Officer next above them, than to involve themselves in a doubtful, intricate, and distant Course of Redress, which, calling in new Powers, less understood, and as expensive as the First were rapacious, will only serve to vary and to aggravate their Vexations, rendering, in the End, the Pursuit of Remedy for some partial Grievance, the Means of their total Ruin. Others, seeing no Redress obtainable by fair and legal Courses, will secure Protection and Profit by becoming Instruments in the Oppressions of their Fellow Citizens; and it is to be apprehended, that it will inevitably grow into a Principle both of false Honour and real Policy, in Persons engaged in these criminal Trusts, to conceal every Act of Extortion, to which they are bound to submit, as well as every Corruption and Oppression, in which they are concerned. The Natives will be thus confirmed in all their evil Habits; and the Europeans, by being brought themselves into the same Condition, which produced those Habits in others, instead of improving the Natives by the Boldness and Openness of European Manners, will themselves be led gradually into the Refinement, Mystery, Dissimulation, and Prevarication of Indian Banians and Gomastahs. By this Means, such an Obscurity and Confusion will be spread (and is indeed already growing) over all the Transactions of that Country, that no Sagacity will be able to penetrate into Abuses, nor any Power be sufficient to convict them.

These Mischiefs being the direct Result of the late Transactions at Calcutta, in which the leading Persons have mutually abandoned their Principles, their Associates, and their Dependents, all Trust in any Branch of Government is dissolved; and it is the Opinion of this Committee, that, if an effectual Proceeding be not speedily adopted by the House, and persevered in with a Constancy equal to that with which some Persons in Bengal have persevered in their Practices, Parliament has received the last Complaint of Grievance from India.

The Manner in which Intelligence of Proceedings in India is communicated to Europe, comes under the last general Head of the present Report. Your Committee are of Opinion, that the Governor General and Council (and Judges, where they are concerned) should be compelled to an ingenuous and candid Statement of the Case, on which any proposed Regulation is to be made; and that they should be obliged to expose the Whole of their Design together, in One Piece, without which, it will be impossible to form a true Judgment on its Merits. The Mode of Transmission, in the present Case, has been found so extremely improper, that, if a more clear and ingenuous Method of Communication is not secured, all Plans of Reformation in India must be defeated.

In the First Proposition of Sir Elijah Impey's Office to the Members of Council, no Mention was made, or even hinted at, of any Salary. On that State, it was carried in the Consultation; in that State it was accepted by Sir Elijah Impey; and in that State (so far as the private Dispatch brought by Mr. Shakespeare, who arrived on or before the 2d of July last, gave any Account of the Proceedings) it was at first transmitted to Great Britain.

The First Dispatch which arrived in England, was not directed to the Court of Directors; but came from the Governor General, as a private Communication to the Chairman of the East India Company. The Chairman caused it to be privately communicated to Persons in high Office very soon after its Arrival; but held it back from the Court of Directors, as not being regularly authenticated, until the 24th of October, although he had laid before them other Papers, of not greater formal Authenticity, and which had been received by the very same Conveyance.

Whether the Arrival of the private Dispatch brought by Mr. Shakespeare, so long before that addressed to the Court of Directors (the Two having been sent in Ships which sailed at the same Time) was in consequence of Orders to pursue the Means fittest for giving the private Dispatch the Start of the public, or has happened by mere Accident, Your Committee cannot determine; but they think themselves obliged to point it out in this Place.

In India, the Scheme having proceeded thus far, and the Governor General having first secured the main Question for the Appointment, in due Time proposes the Salary; but, on the Prospect of Opposition from Mr. Wheler and Mr. Francis, Sir Eyre Coote being absent, the Matter is suffered to lie dormant: Mr. Francis being departed, and Mr. Wheler left unsupported, the Proposal of the Salary was, as Your Committee have Reason to believe, from undoubted Evidence, renewed, and of course carried.

The Establishment of the Salary was made on the 6th of January, and Mr. Scott departed with Dispatches to the Company from Mr. Hastings, and with his Powers as Agent, to defend his Proceedings, on the 9th of the same Month; but no public official Account of that Salary has been transmitted, or at least laid before the Directors; though they have so little Reason to doubt the Fact, that they have stated it as a Part of the Case laid before Council.

These several Members of the Design came to Europe, not only separate, but each Part comes at first in the Shape of private Intelligence.

Mr. Hastings, in sending an Agent to Great Britain, to explain a Conduct which stood so much in Need of Explanation, has in this Respect done his Duty. Major Scott, his Agent, is also his Aid de Camp and private Secretary. He is a Person in Confidence, and declares himself to be fully prepared with all the necessary Instructions, and furnished with the necessary Documents. But Your Committee, on Enquiry for a Copy of the Consultation concerning Sir Elijah Impey's Salary (which he does not deny to have been settled, though he will not admit himself to be clear that it is accepted) he finds he is not furnished with this sole Paper, so essential to Mr. Hastings's Cause: He supposes it owing to some Neglect of the Clerk. After leaving Calcutta, Mr. Scott, the Agent, makes a considerable Stay at Madras, and receives Letters from Mr. Hastings; but still this Paper is forgot.

Sir Elijah Impey, on his Part, has sent no Agent at all, nor authorized any, whom the Committee can find, to undertake his Defence; and though he must be conscious that the whole Proceeding was unpopular, and must be questioned in Great Britain; and though he beheld Vessel after Vessel, and Officer after Officer, departing for Europe, he has not thought proper to send, by any Conveyance, any Account whatsoever of this Transaction, either to the Ministers of His Majesty, under whose Commission Commission he acted in his First Office; or to the Court of Directors, under whose Authority he received his Second, and from whose Treasury he is to receive the vast Appointment of his Offices, both old and new. This was the more extraordinary, as the Chief Justice, on former Occasions, was sufficiently liberal of Information; and on the Matter of the Remittance of the Profits, derived from his legal Salary, had written a very long Letter to that Court. He had also long since transmitted a Plan relative to the Country Courts, and other Law Arrangements; and had, in his Letter to the Secretary of State, made an Offer to assist, without desiring any Vote, any Power, or any Emolument, in this very Court of Sudder Adaulut, merely as an Adviser, and absolutely disclaiming every View to Interest in his Desire of sitting there.

As it is rather by Management, than by direct Opposition, that the Authority of Great Britain is weakened in India, Your Committee think it expedient, without deciding on the actual internal Motives of the Parties, to state to the House the possible Policy, which might, in other Cases, dictate a Suppression of all Communication on one Side, and such imperfect, partial, and garbled Communication on the other, in order that the House may take Measures to prevent the Mischiefs arising from such unconnected and irregular Correspondence in future.

It may be taken for granted, that the great Stand of Objection to any new Establishment will be made on the First Proposition; and, knowing that Topics of the Disinterestedness of Parties, in any Transaction, have no small Force in recommending any Scheme to those, who may not be furnished with the Means of judging on its internal Merits, it may be first produced as a Measure from whence none of the Parties are to derive any Profit. In this Light, if a Sanction can be obtained to the naked Office, the lucrative Parts, which in Reality may be Principal in the Formation of the Design, will afterwards appear only an Accessary and Subordinate; they will pass off as included in the First Approbation, and the several Parts, dropping in one after another, will excite little Attention, and no Alarm.

With regard to a total Withholding of Information by one of the Parties, where there may be Cross Charges, and where the Decision is distant in Place, and late in Time, more Advantage might be derived, in some Sort of Cases, from having made no Defence at all, than from any Defence that could be made; whilst it was argued, by the Friends of the Parties in England, that it would be unjust to condemn a Man unheard, or even to touch the Measure he was concerned in, as indirectly tending to condemn him; and thus all Determination on the Merits of questionable Conduct, and even questionable Establishments, would be postponed from Year to Year. The First Impression of an evil Act would grow fainter every Day; the Spirit of Enquiry and Prosecution would cool by Time, till, at length, the Order and Peace of the subordinate Government would be pleaded against its Reformation.

Your Committee has been at the greater Pains to unravel a dangerous System of practical Prevarication, which may very easily be foreseen, if an irregular and partial Communication from India is permitted; because, by such unworthy Artifices, the wise and benevolent Designs of the King and Parliament may be effectually frustrated, if Persons there, covering an improper Conduct by an improper Neglect of Information; diverting the Attention from a reprehensible Act of an old Date, by committing a new one of the same Description, and, at length, establishing Corruptions as a Sort of prescriptive Rights, are suffered to fatigue British Government into an Acquiescence in their Misdemeanors, and the Native People into Despair of any Redress.

Your Committee is sensible, that the very Distance between Bengal and Great Britain affords great Advantage to improper Practices. For this Your Committee is unable to find any Remedy, but in the substantial Nature of Parliamentary Proceedings, and in using all possible Promptitude in them. Whenever a strong Ground of Charge is laid for an Abuse of Office in India, and that the Parties charged did, or might, but through their own Fault, know of that Matter, and are afterwards negligent in giving full Information, so far as it comes to their Knowledge, they ought to be called Home, if it were only for that very Negligence; and ought to be compelled to answer, on their Return to England, both to the Charge, and to the Neglect: Otherwise, Complainants and Witnesses will die, Misdemeanors will be compounded, and the Complaints antiquated, long before they can be brought to any Decision.

The People of India do not partake the Benefits of the British Constitution; and it is not proper to load them with its Inconveniencies. The Rules of formal Justice, established in England, and in most other European Countries, may have been made with a Reference to Advantages which are of a more substantial Nature, and which are to be enjoyed within the Limits of Countries where they prevail. They are originally made upon a small and a connected Scale of Empire. If such local Maxims are adhered to in their Rigour, and applied to Processes coming from the remotest Parts of the World, such a Delay of Justice would be worse than a total Denial of it.

The People of India can derive no Consolation from Maxims and Modes of Proceeding in Great Britain, which never have operated, and never can operate, in Favour of their Complaints ; but which have their full Force in Favour of the Persons, against whom they may have Reason to complain. These being most commonly Persons of great Wealth, and either originally possessing, or recently forming, extensive Friendships and powerful Connections in Great Britain, the Natives of India, who cannot comprehend the Principle of our Proceedings, but who perfectly comprehend the Force of Wealth, Friendship, Favour, and powerful Connection, will be apt to attribute their Failure of Relief rather to the Causes which they do, than to those which they do not understand. The Laws, therefore, relative to Persons in Power in India, ought, as Your Committee conceive, to be accommodated to their Situation ; and Parliamentary Proceeding appears to be the only Mode, in which Relief for Indian Grievances may be had, with Safety to the Rules of Judicature in England, or with Effect in India, if Parliament should not voluntarily put Fetters of Form on itself, where the Constitution has put none.

Your Committee think themselves bound, in concluding their Observations on this their First Report of this Session, to remark, that Mr. Francis and Mr. Wheler appear to have acted consistently and properly in resisting the new Arrangement of the Court of Sudder Adaulut ; and that Justice Chambers and Justice Hyde, for any thing which appears to Your Committee, have had no Share in, or been assenting to, any Part of it.

East India House, 26th December 1781.

At a Conference;

Laurence Sullivan, Esquire, Chairman,
Sir William James, Baronet, Deputy Chairman,
Brigadier General Richard Smith.

Representation by General Smith.

I AM directed by the Select Committee of the House of Commons, to represent to you, Mr. Sullivan, that as, in your Evidence before that Committee, upon being asked, If the Court of Directors had sent any Orders relative to the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut; you stated to them, That it was a Matter of Importance; and that that the Company had ordered the Opinions of the Attorney and Solicitor General, Mr. Dunning, and the Company's Counsel, to be taken before they would come to any Decision on it :

Quest. That as those Opinions are now received, the Committee wish to know, if the Company have sent any Orders in Consequence ?

Ans. No.

Quest. If they intend to send any Orders in Consequence ?

Ans. Yes ; the Chairman and Deputy will think it necessary to recommend to the Court of Directors, that some Orders should be sent, with the Counsel's Opinions ; but nothing decisive.

Upon this Answer, General Smith represented from the Committee to the Chairman and Deputy, That as this Appointment was now under the Consideration of the Committee, whether they would think it proper to send any Orders upon the Subject, until the Committee made their Report, and the Sense of the House of Commons should be known upon the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to the Office of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut ?

Answer by the Chairman and Deputy Chairman. The Chairs agree to propose to the Court, to mention the present State of Proceedings in England on that Subject, in their next Advices to India, and to state, that as the Subject is now under Consideration of Parliament, so soon as any Determination is had, the Servants of the Company shall be advised thereof, for their Guidance.

Lau. Sullivan.

At a Court of Directors, held on Tuesday the 15th January 1782.

The further Consideration of a Paragraph, which had been approved on, the 4th Instant, and afterwards submitted to and approved by Administration, for the General Letter to Bengal, relative to the Appointment made by the Governor General and Council of Sir Elijah Impey to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, was proposed, and the same being now read, and further considered,

A Motion was then made, That Sir Elijah Impey be removed from the Office of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

And the Court entering into a Debate thereon ; during the Course whereof, the Proceedings had in the Council General, on the Establishment of that Office, and the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey thereto, being read ; after a further Debate,

And the said Paragraph and Motion having been again read ;

And the Chairman having stated to the Court, the Proceedings had, and also the Minutes of a Conference held by himself and the Deputy Chairman, with Brigadier General Richard Smith, Chairman of the Select Committee of the House of Commons, appointed to take into Consideration the State of the Administration of Justice in the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, relative to the Appointment in Question ; and,

The said Minutes being then read,

It was moved,

That the Paragraph relative to Sir Elijah Impey, that passed the Court on the 4th of January last, be rescinded.

And the Question thereon being put by the Ballot, and it appearing there was an Equality of Votes,

The Court proceeded, agreeably to the Directions in the Company's Charter, to the Determination of the said Question by Lot ; and Two Lots being accordingly prepared,

And the Treasurer being called into Court, he drew the Lot, which determined that the said Question passed in the Negative ; which was accordingly declared from the Chair,

Whereupon the Question, on the before-mentioned Motion, That Sir Elijah Impey be removed from the Office of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, being proposed ;

A P P E N D I X, N° 2, 3.

The previous Question on the said Motion was demanded, That the main Question be now put ; and being accordingly put by the Ballot,

The same passed in the Negative.

At a Court of Directors, held on Friday the 18th January 1782.

Joseph Sparkes, Francis Baring, John Smith, Thomas Cheap, and William Mills, Junior, Esquires, now delivered in the following Dissent ; viz.

“ India-House, 18th January, 1782.

Gentlemen,

“ Being desirous that some Proof should appear upon the Company’s Records, of the Opinions which we expressed in Court on the 15th Instant, respecting Sir Elijah Impey’s Appointment to the Office of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and the Necessity of giving Orders, by the Ships now about to depart for India, to set aside that Appointment : We take this Method to express our Disapprobation of the Proceedings of the Court on that Day, which prevented the Decision of a Motion made to remove Sir Elijah Impey from the said Office.

“ We are, with great Respect,

“ Gentlemen,

“ Your most humble Servants,

We have not been inattentive to your Proceedings respecting the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut ; but as that Appointment is now under the Consideration of a Committee of the House of Commons, and as the Committee have not yet made their Report to the House, we think it proper to wait the Determination of Parliament on the Subject, when you shall, so soon as possible, be advised thereof for your Guidance.

Case for the East India Company.

FROM the Time the Dewannee of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, was granted to the East India Company, the whole Government and Management of the Provinces, in all Affairs civil and military, was in the Governor and Council of Bengal, or a Select Committee of them ; but in certain Cases the Name of the Nabob was used, and he was held forth as the ostensible Sovereign of the Country.

In the Year 1772, the Governor and Council of Bengal established new Courts of Judicature, for the Administration of Justice amongst the Natives throughout the Provinces ; which were divided into Districts. By these Regulations, a Court was established in each District, called The Mofussell Dewannee Adaulut, for Trial of civil Causes, in which the Collector of each District was to preside as Judge, in the Quality of King’s Dewan, and was to be attended by the Provincial Dewan appointed by the President and Council, and the other Officers of the Cutcherry.

A P P E N D I X, N° 3.

The Regulations also established a superior Court of civil Jurisdiction, at the chief Seat of Government, called The Dewannee Sudder Adaulut; which was to receive and determine Appeals from the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut. In this Court, the President or Governor of Bengal, and Two Members of the Council, were to sit as Judges, attended by the Dewan of the Khalsa, the Head Conongoes, and other Officers of the Cutcherry, and in the Absence of the President, a Third Member of the Council was to sit, so that not less than Three Members were to decide on an Appeal; but the whole Council might sit if they chose it.

After the above Regulations, a Provincial Council was appointed instead of a Collector, and they were named, "The Judges of the Court of Dewannee Adaulut."

1773, 13th Geo. III. Cap. 64.—An Act was made for establishing certain Regulations for the better Management of the East India Company's Affairs; whereby, for the better Management of the Company's Affairs in India, it was enacted, "That for the Government of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, there should be appointed a Governor and Four Councillors, and that the whole Civil and Military Government of the said Presidency, and also the Ordering, Management, and Government of all the Territorial Acquisitions and Revenues in the Kingdoms of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, should, during such Time as the Territorial Acquisitions and Revenues should remain in Possession of the Company, be and the same were thereby vested in the said Governor General and Council of the said Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, in the like Manner, to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, as the same then were, or at any Time thenceforth might have been exercised by the said President and Council, or Select Committee, in the said Kingdoms."

The same Act empowered His Majesty to establish a Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William aforesaid, to consist of a Chief Justice and Three other Judges, who were to have such Salaries as in the said Act are mentioned, which were to be in lieu of all Fees of Office, Perquisites, Emoluments, and Advantages whatsoever; and that no Fees of Office, Perquisites, Emoluments, or Advantages whatsoever, should be accepted, received, or taken by the said Judges, or any of them, in any Manner, or on any Account or Pretence whatsoever, other than such Salaries and Allowances as were in and by that Act directed to be paid to them respectively.

Pursuant to this Act, the King granted a Charter of Justice, and appointed Sir Elijah Impey Chief Justice of the Court; and he took that Office upon him.

Many Disputes arose between the Governor General and Council and the Judges, respecting the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

28th March 1780, the Governor General and Council established another Plan for the Administration of Justice throughout the Provinces; by which they ordained, that there should continue to be Courts of Civil Judicature in each of the Grand Divisions therein mentioned; and that over each of these Courts, a Company's covenanted Servant should preside, under the Title of Superintendent of the Dewannee Adaulut, and his Jurisdiction was to be independent of the Provincial Councils—that the Provincial Councils should try and determine all Revenue Causes; and that the Superintendent of the Dewannee Adaulut should try and determine all other civil Causes. They also established various other Regulations, of which you have a Copy herewith; by these Regulations an Appeal is given in certain Cases from the Dewannee Adaulut, to the Governor General and Council, in the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

October 1780.—Sir Elijah Impey was appointed by the Governor General and Council of Bengal, to be Judge of the said Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, as mentioned in the following Minutes.

Governor General's Minute in Consultation, 29th September 1780.

"The Institution of the new Courts of Dewannee Adaulut, has already given Occasion to very troublesome and alarming Competition between them and the Provincial Councils, and too much Waste of Time at this Board.—These, however, manifest the Necessity of giving a more than ordinary Attention to these Courts in the Infancy of their Establishment, that they may neither pervert the Purposes, nor exceed the Limits of their Jurisdiction, nor suffer Incroachments upon it.

"To effect these Points, would require such a laborious and almost unremitted Application, that however urgent or important they may appear, I should dread to bring them before the Consultation of the Board; unless I could propose some Expedient for that End, that should not add to the Weight of Business with which it is already overcharged.

"That which I have to offer, will, I hope, prove rather a Diminution of it. By the Constitution of the Dewannee Courts, they are all made amenable to a superior Court, called, The Sudder Dewannee

A P P E N D I X, N° 3.

Dewanee Adaulut, which has been commonly, but erroneously, understood to be simply a Court of Appeals. Its Province is, and necessarily must be, more extensive. It is not only to receive Appeals from the Decree of the inferior Courts, in all Causes exceeding a certain Amount; but to receive and revise all the Proceedings of the inferior Courts, to attend to their Conduct, to remedy their Defects, and generally, to form such new Regulations and Checks, as Experience shall prove to be necessary to the Purpose of their Institution. Hitherto the Board has reserved this Office to itself, but hath not yet entered into the Execution of it, nor, I will venture to pronounce, will it ever with Effect, though Half of its Time were devoted to this single Department. Yet, without both the Support and Controul of some powerful Authority held over them, it is impossible for the Courts to subsist; but they must either sink into Contempt, or be perverted into the Instruments of Oppression.

“ This Authority, I repeat, the Board is incapable of exercising, and if delegated to any Body of Men, or to any individual Agent, not possessing in themselves some Weight independent of mere official Power, it will prove little more effectual. The only Mode which I can devise to substitute for it, is included in the following Motions, which I now submit, on the Reasons premised, to the Consideration of the Board :

“ That the Chief Justice be requested to accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewanee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such other as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their stead; and that on his Acceptance of it, he be appointed to it, and styled the Judge of the Sudder Adaulut.”

“ I shall beg Leave to add a few Words in Support of this Proposition, on different Grounds. I am well aware that the Choice which I have made for so important an Office, and one which will minutely and nearly overlook every Rank of the Civil Service, will subject me to much popular Prejudice, as its real Tendency will be misunderstood by many, misrepresented by more, and perhaps dreaded by a few.

“ I shall patiently submit to this Consequence, because I am conscious of the Rectitude of my Intentions, and certain that the Event will justify me, and prove, that in whatever Light it may be superficially viewed, I shall be found to have studied the true Interests of the Service, and contributed the most effectually to its Credit.

“ The Want of legal Powers, except such as were implied in very doubtful Constructions of the Act of Parliament, and the Hazards to which the Superiors of the Dewanee Courts are exposed in their own Persons, from the Exercise of their Functions, has been the principal Cause of their Remissness, and equally of the Disregard which has been in many Instances shewn to their Authority : They will be enabled to act with Confidence, nor will any Man dare to contest their Right of acting, when their Proceedings are held under the Sanction and immediate Patronage of the First Member of the Supreme Court, and with his Participation in the Instances of such as are brought in Appeal before him, and regulated by his Instructions. They very much require an Instructor, and no one will doubt the superior Qualifications of the Chief Justice for such a Duty.

“ It will be the Means of lessening the Distance between the Board and the Supreme Court, which has perhaps been, more than the undefined Powers assumed to each, the Cause of the Want of that accommodating Temper, which ought to have influenced their Intercourse with each other.

“ The Contest in which we have been unfortunately engaged with the Court, bore at one Time so alarming a Tendency, that I believe every Member of the Board foreboded the most dangerous Consequences to the Peace and Resources of this Government from them. They are at present composed; but we cannot be certain that the Calm will last beyond the actual Vacation, since the same Grounds and Materials of Disunion subsist, and the Revival of it, at a Time like this, added to our other Troubles, might, if carried to Extremities, prove fatal.

“ The Proposition which I have submitted to the Board may, nor have I Doubt that it will, prove an Instrument of Conciliation with the Court; and it will preclude the Necessity of assuming a Jurisdiction over Persons, exempted by our Construction of the Act of Parliament from it; it will facilitate and give Vigour to the Course of Justice; it will lessen the Cares of the Board, and add to their Leisure, for Occupations more urgent, and better suited to the Genius and Principles of Government; nor will it be any Accession of Power to the Court, where that Portion of Authority which is proposed to be given, is given only to a single Man of the Court, and may be revoked whenever the Board shall think it proper to resume it.”

Sir Fyre Coote's Minute in Consultation, 24th October 1780.

"As the determining upon Points relative to Law Proceedings, has fallen so little within the Limits of my Profession, I acknowledge myself inadequate to the forming a thorough Judgment concerning the Plan proposed by the Governor General.

"But, trusting to his full Knowledge of that Branch of Government which he now means to bring under the Controul of Inspection, and from a real Sense of the Abilities of the Chief Justice to render any Department of Superintendence which should be intrusted to his Charge, no less useful and beneficial in Effect than in Idea, I give my Assent to the Measure:—Observing at the same Time, however, that this Assent is for the Trial of an Expedient, which may be attended with favourable Consequences, and not for its absolute Establishment; and therefore reserve to myself full Liberty to vote against the present Resolution, should I find it prove hereafter, in any Respect, detrimental either to the Lines of Government, or to the Community."

Mr. Wheeler's Minute, 24th October 1780.

"No one can be more sincerely desirous than I am, of the due Administration of Justice in this Country. By the late Act of Parliament, this Branch is divided between the Supreme Court and the Government; what the Act hath not committed to the former, it confirms to the latter; and wherever the Extent of the respective Jurisdictions is not clearly defined, or is oppositely viewed, their mutual Candour and Regard to the Public Good should influence.—Through these Channels only can Justice flow here.

"This Board, in the late Institution of Dewannee Courts of Adaulut, hath thought itself acting in the Province left to it by the Legislature, and making an effective Regulation for the Benefit of the Country.—I am sorry to find, from the Governor General's Minute, that he now sees the Institution in a different Light in both these Respects.—He conceives, that the Superiors of the Adauluts have no legal Powers, except such as are implied in very doubtful Constructions of the Act of Parliament; that the Court of Appeals established to controul their Proceedings, and support their Authority, can never prove effectual for these Purposes.—If the Institution has really these Evils in it, I am willing to deliberate upon proper Remedies for them to reduce it, if it has exceeded the due Limits; or if it is found to be essentially defective, to agree to an essential Change in it; but at present, I must confess, these Positions are not evident to me; and supposing these to be established in the Application of Remedies, we can have no Standard, but the Lines marked out by the Act of Parliament, which assigns a separate Jurisdiction to each of the Two Departments, or implies the Duty of a Co-operation of both?

"Although I entertain all due Deference for the Chief Justice, and feel myself embarrassed by the Personality which mixes in the Question before us; yet I must beg Leave to say, that the Expedient proposed by the Governor General, seems not to fall in with any of the Intentions of the Act, but to be opposed by Difficulties, as well as to threaten Consequences, which, unless obviated, must determine me to withhold my Assent to it.

"Some of the present Difficulties are these: First, If the Governor General and Council have no legal Power to appoint Superintendents of the Adauluts, than what is implied from a doubtful Construction of the Act of Parliament, then they should not have proceeded to an Establishment of such Importance, nor should they now persist in it; their Business in such Case is to act in concert with the Court.

2d, "If they have not in themselves competent Power for this Establishment, they, in like Manner, are not competent to confer upon any Individual, that Authority with which it is now proposed to invest the Chief Justice.

3d, "Unless the Chief Justice acknowledges the Validity of the Board's Institution (which will be a great Authority against the Governor General's Arguments) he cannot consistently accept of the Office proposed for him; and the same Remark may be extended to the Opinions of the other Judges.—His Acceptance of an Office cannot establish the Legality of the Power that confers it.

4th, "The Union of different Powers in the Person of the Chief Justice, can be no regular Conciliation of the Two Departments: The Interposition of his Person may indeed prevent their clashing for a Time; but this affects no real Adjustment of Principles between them; and it does not seem allowable for us to conclude, that a particular Distinction shewn the Chief Justice, will suppress all Opposition of Sentiment from the other Judges; nor does this Mode of procuring Peace,

if it should succeed, appear the most honourable or safe for ourselves ; for, after delegating so much Power, both Departments are still left exposed at the Pleasure of the Chief Justice, to the future Eruption of their unextinguished Differences.

5th, " If, for the Purposes of conciliating the Court, and giving Efficacy to the Adauluts, such an Authority is to be bestowed, it would seem that these Purposes would be better answered, and all Danger of infringing the Act of Parliament avoided, by delegating the Power of hearing Appeals to all the Judges of the Supreme Court, or associating them with ourselves, and holding such Power in Conjunction with them, which falls in with one Part of the Bill transmitted to the Court of Directors in the Year 1776.

6th, " By a Appointment of this Nature, the Independency of both Departments may be endangered ; by separating the Members from their Departments, a System of mutual Influences, which may occasionally operate too powerfully upon each, is at once founded.

7th, " Such a Union of different Powers is beyond the Scope of the Act of Parliament, and foreign to the Constitution of the Company's Government—A great Salary, high Rank and Consideration, are annexed to the Office of Chief Justice, most probably upon the Supposition, that the Person advanced to it could here receive no Augmentation in any of these Things ; and it seems inconsistent with his Appointment from the King, which makes him independent, to accept of another Appointment under the Company, during the Pleasure of this Board.

8th, " In the Office proposed to be given to the Chief Justice, it does not appear how he can be held under Controul or Responsibility. He cannot be separated from the Privileges of his original Office ; yet the Exercise of them, in all that relates to the new Appointment, must be quite discretionary with him.

" The Apprehensions which I entertain, and have alluded to in the former Part of my Minute, are these :

1st, " That it will be thought requisite, if this Appointment takes place, to annex a large Salary to it, and an ample Establishment.

" In our present State, when we can hardly raise Money for our necessary Occasions, I should think such an Expence utterly inadmissible.

2d, " Decisions might probably go upon the Principles of English Law—The Introduction of this Practice should, in my humble Opinion, be previously and maturely considered.

3d, " If Attornies and Solicitors should be admitted to practise in the Court of Appeals, a new and wide Door of Litigation would be opened—The Company have no Controul over Attornies and Solicitors.

4th, " The Business of the Court of Appeals must give Opportunity for a thorough Inspection of all the Affairs of the Revenue, and Proceedings of the Provincial Councils ; of course, a very powerful Influence over both Europeans and Natives.

5th, " Such an Influence, possessed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, might too much hide the Government from the Eye of the Natives.

" Waving further Objection, I now repeat my Wish to see these obviated ; and whatever may be wanting for an effectual Controul over the Country Courts, supplied. If the Service should indeed require an extraneous Check, delicate and important as this Point is, I would by no Means have it understood that I would oppose it ; but before this is applied, I think several other Expedients might be tried : 1st. The Company's chief Law Officer here, seems to be the Person to whom Recourse should first be had, his Station being similar to that of the Counsel in England, who attends on all Questions of Law, and gives his Opinion and Advice : I think, that by introducing in the same Manner the Advocate General in the Court of Appeals, the Business of that Court might be made easy to the Members of the Board ; and I must think also, that if such an Officer as Judge of Appeals should be created, he has the most natural Right to it.

2d, " The Supreme Court, and the Governor General and Council, might sit together as a Court of Appeals, according to the Principle of the Bill already mentioned.

3d, " The Objections against the Chief Justice lie with less Force against either of the inferior Judges. And,

4th, " Least of all against the Presidence of all the Judges in Rotation."

A P P E N D I X, N° 3.

Mr. Francis's Minute, 24th October 1780.

“ I have not had sufficient Time to give this important Proposition all the Consideration it deserves; the Reflections which it suggests, must be stated hastily as they occur. That it is a fresh Innovation, succeeding many others, in the Administration of Justice to the Natives of this Country, is of itself a weighty Objection; all Innovations of this Nature are dangerous, especially in a Country, whose Government cannot divide or surrender any of its Powers, without lessening the Respect, and hazarding the Obedience, of its Subjects. On this Principle we contended for the exclusive Jurisdiction of the Governor General and Council, as Dewan over the Zemindars, Landholders, and landed Property of this Country. In my Judgment, the Proposition amounts to a direct Contradiction or Desertion of every Thing we said or did, in the Case of the Rajah of Cossijurah; as such it will be naturally received and understood by the Natives: They cannot distinguish between the Chief Justice and the Supreme Court; or if the Distinction could possibly be explained to them, and if they could be satisfied that in fact it was not intended to reinstate the Court in the Exercise of the Jurisdiction which it had claimed, and which we had resisted, it is probable they would think that some greater Evil was to befall them. I hope it is unnecessary for me to say, that no Idea of personal Disrespect to the Chief Justice can be intended by any thing I shall offer on the public Question before me; if any Expression that may appear to have such a Tendency, should escape me, I disclaim it. I mean to examine the proposed Institution on its own Merits, and the Difficulties it may be subject to as a Public Measure, without Reference to the personal Character or Qualifications of any Individual. I shall follow the Reasoning of the Governor General's Minute, in the Order in which he has placed it.

“ If the Institution of the new Court has already given Occasion to Competitions between the Provincial Councils and the Dewannee Adauluts; it is our Business and Duty to put an End to them by our Authority, which is direct and sufficiently coercive over both Parties; we ought to draw the Line between them, and insist on their respective Submission to the Limitation described by it. I do not think, that to effect this Point would require any very laborious Application on our Part; our Administration wants Vigour, not Time, to execute its Duties: One Punishment would have more Effect than a Thousand Regulations. But if the Argument were well founded, how is the Difficulty removed by transferring this laborious Service to the Chief Justice, who is already so overloaded with the Business of the Supreme Court, that he finds it impossible to assist his Brethren as Acting Justices of Calcutta, and therefore is very justly excused from sharing with them in the Toil of that troublesome Office?

“ The Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, I know, has been commonly, but I do not think it is erroneously, understood to be simply a Court of Appeals. The 6th Article of the Plan for the Administration of Justice, provides, That the Dewannee Sudder Adaulut shall receive and determine Appeals from the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts; and it says no more: If its Province be, and necessarily must be, much more extensive, the Extent of it should be accurately described and defined. For my own Part, I know not where to look for their necessary Definition; but I know, that a Jurisdiction not so defined, either has no Power at all, or it is despotic. A Court of Appeal, as such, can do nothing but receive Appeals from the Decrees of inferior Courts: If it is to receive and revise all the Proceedings of such Courts, it must itself cease to be a Court of Appeal; for what Suitor will appeal to a superior Court, which has already revised, approved, and confirmed the very Proceedings by which he thinks himself injured? If a Court of Appeal adheres to the true Principle of its Institution, it should know nothing of the Proceedings of the Inferior Court, until an Appeal from the Decree of that Court comes regularly before it. If it has already approved of the Proceedings below, it is instantly a Party, and cannot be Judge. As to the other Duties proposed, of attending to their Conduct, of remedying their Defects, and forming new Regulations, &c. these are Objects of the Legislative Power of the Country, which I understand quoad hoc, at least, is exclusively and unalienably vested in the Governor General and Council.

“ I am of Opinion, that the Office might be exercised by the Board, or by any Two Members of it; and that Two or Three specific Days allotted in a Month to this Duty, would be sufficient to perform it.

“ I must object to the Request proposed to be made to the Chief Justice, for the following Reasons: The Governor General and Council cannot, without departing from the Principle on which they have unanimously acted, establish the Sudder Adaulut on any Plan which commits the Company's Rights, or ours in the Quality of Dewan of the Provinces, to the Custody of all or any of the Judges. The Supreme Court and Council differ widely in their Ideas of the Jurisdiction of the Court. The Chief Justice cannot be supposed to have changed the Opinions which he has at all Times so steadily maintained, and those Opinions would lead him to submit to the Jurisdiction in many Instances, in which the Council, upon their Principles, would resist them. Thus the Council, by making the Chief Justice Judge of the Sudder Adaulut, would put into the Power of the very Man with whom they have been contending, to give up what they hitherto insisted on as their essential Rights.

“ The great Object of this Plan is to give Authority to the Dewannee Adauluts; but I cannot admit, that the Means are likely to answer the End. The Arguments drawn from the elevated Station of the Chief Justice, have no Weight; he can carry none of the Powers of the Supreme Court into the Sudder Adaulut. When he acts under the Appointment of the Council, as Superintendent, he will possess no Part of the Authority which he derives from the King's Appointment of Chief Justice. It will not prove an Instrument of Conciliation, nor prevent the Revival of Disputes which, it is said, might prove fatal. It is admitted by the Governor, that the Grounds of Division still subsist; and it is certain that the Appointment of the Chief Justice to the Sudder Adaulut, will make no Alteration in the Authority and Powers of the Supreme Court; the remaining Judges will have the same Powers which they all now possess, because the Council cannot, by new modelling the Adauluts, abridge, or in any way affect the Powers of the Court. If the Chief Justice carries his late Opinions into the Sudder Adaulut, the Supreme Court will obtain Strength from this Appointment; if he acts on new Principles, more conformable to those of the Council, that will raise fresh Difficulties; it will tend to make a Breach between him and the other Judges, but can never repair the Breach already subsisting between the Court and Council. I use the Language which has already been applied by us to the Judges, when I say, that there is a Jealousy which all Men feel for their own Power and Consequence; the Two Puisne Judges cannot but feel themselves wounded by this partial Selection of the Chief Justice, and the Preference given to his superior Qualifications. We ought not to offer them such Cause of Offence, nor ought we to be careless of the Effects it may produce.

“ I conceive, that the Appointment of the Chief Justice to this Office, would clash and be inconsistent with the Duties of his present Station. It would be an insuperable Bar to his acting in many Cases, in which his Duty, as Chief Justice, would call on him to act. Suppose a Suitor in the Adaulut should think the Judge had acted illegally, he might bring his Action against him in the Supreme Court, and then, upon the Principles on which the Court and the Chief Justice have particularly insisted and acted, he would be obliged to come as a Party into the Court, in which he ought to preside as Chief Justice, to plead in the usual Form, and to defend himself in the usual Way; and he might be compelled to pay Damages for what he had done as Superintendent, in the same Manner that the Council of Patna were for their Proceedings against Nadara Begum. Thus his Proceedings in the Adaulut would bring him a Party into his own Court, and preclude him from acting in his Capacity of Chief Justice. Again, suppose a Person committed by any of the inferior Adauluts, or by the Chief Justice of the Sudder Adaulut, should apply to him for a Writ of Habeas Corpus, should he refuse the Writ, because the Grounds of the Commitment are already known to him? Or shall he grant it, though possessed of such Knowledge, and when he himself has prejudged the Question, by ordering or approving the Commitment?—I cannot presume to say how far it would be his Duty to grant the Writ at all Events, but it is evident that the Prisoner would gain nothing by obtaining it. It may be said, the Person so committed may apply for a Writ of Habeas Corpus to one of the Puisne Judges; if he succeeds (as he certainly would, if, in my Opinion of the Judge, there should seem Reason to suppose the Commitment might be illegal) it would follow, that the Act of the Superintendent would be canvassed, and perhaps set aside by an inferior Judge of another Court, in which the Superintendent himself presides. This Case might frequently occur, and if it should ever occur, it would tend to create new Differences between the Supreme Court on the one Side, and the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, supported by the Chief of the Supreme Court, on the other.

“ On the whole, I think it would be improper in the Council to request the Chief Justice to take upon himself, and perhaps illegal in him to accept, an Office, which is so inconsistent with the Duties of his present Station, and which would preclude him from exercising the Trust reposed in him by the King, in many Cases of the greatest Importance, particularly those in which the Limits of Jurisdiction of the Court, and the Extent of the Powers vested in the Council, might come in Question.

One of the Observations with which the Governor General concludes his Argument in favour of his Plan, viz.—That the Portion of Authority which is proposed to be given, is only to a single Man of the Court,—appears to me a strong Objection against it. The English Government has very sparingly delegated judicial Authority to single Persons; final Appeals in particular are never permitted to be tried by a single Judge, either in England or any of its Provinces or Dependencies. The King is, I believe, the only single Person to whom such an appellate Jurisdiction is even nominally given, and he cannot try an Appeal without the Assistance of his Privy Council: Appeals to him, therefore, are called Appeals to the King in Council.

“ This Policy has nothing to do with Trials by Jury, or Principles of English Liberty, which may be thought inapplicable in Bengal, but is founded on that Justice, to which the Natives of Bengal are entitled, as well as other Men. But Justice requires, in the Constitution of a Court, Corruption be above all Things guarded against; and no Magistrate is more liable to Corruption than a Judge, in whom is vested a Power of determining Appeals, without being either checked by Associates, or controlled by any further Appeals to superior Judges. The Legislature, in establishing the Superior Court of Judicature here, (though it be not a Court of Appeal, and though an Appeal may be made from its Decisions to the King in Council) thought a Plurality of Judges necessary, and therefore created so many, that it is not likely they should be reduced by Chance to one.—Mr. Hastings and his Council, when they erected the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, would not leave such Reduction in the Power of Chance, but made the Presence of Three Members essentially necessary to a Decision. If I could believe it lawful and proper for us to delegate our Judicial Authority to Judges of the Supreme Court, I should think it ought rather to be given to all than to one. If all the Powers of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut be vested in one Man, yet so vested, “that they may be revoked whenever this Board shall think it proper to resume them;” such a Judge may become, in the Hands of a corrupt Council, an Instrument of Oppression. The Council will not be answerable for his Decrees, and he will be in a great Measure protected by his judicial Capacity. The Authority given may undoubtedly be revoked, whenever the Board shall think proper to resume it. The present Board cannot bind their Successors, nor even themselves, against a Change of Opinions.—But will the Chief Justice accept of such an Office on so precarious a Footing? Or would it be respectful in us to offer it to him, with the Information which ought to accompany it, viz. That he is removable at any Time by a Resolution of the Board?”
Appeal

Resolution, 24th October 1780.

“Resolved, That the Chief Justice be requested to accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such other as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their stead; and that on his Acceptance of it, he be appointed to it, and stiled The Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.”

The Chief Justice accepted the Appointment; and thereupon it was agreed, that conformably to the Resolution of the Board, that the Chief Justice be appointed Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and that Notice of his Appointment should be sent to the Superintendents of the several Dewannee Adauluts, and that the Provincial Councils should be advised thereof.

Minute about Salary, same Day.

“The Governor General recommends, that a Salary of 5000 Sicca Rupees, and 600 Sicca Rupees per Month for the Rent of an Office, may be allowed to the Chief Justice for this Appointment; and that the Motion do lie for the Consideration of the Board, to be decided on at their next Meeting. Agreed, that it do lie accordingly.”

The Company's Advices do not inform them what has been done upon this last Motion; but it is not doubted, that a considerable Salary has been annexed to the Office of Judge of the Adaulut.

3d November, 1780, the Governor General and Council passed several additional Regulations, respecting the Administration of Justice in the Provinces; of which you have a Copy herewith.

The Court of Directors request, that you will consider the Act of Parliament of 13 Geo. III. Cap. 64, and the several Minutes and Arguments of the Governor General and Council, upon the Occasion of appointing the Chief Justice to be Judge of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut; and upon the Whole to advise them,

Q. Whether the Appointment of the Chief Justice, to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and giving him a Salary for that Office, besides the Salary he is entitled to as Chief Justice, was illegal, either as being contrary to the said Act of 13 Geo. II. Cap. 64; or incompatible with his Duty, as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court? And whether, he may be continued Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, consistent with the Act of 21st George III. Cap. 70. Sec. 21?

The Appointment of the Chief Justice, to the Office of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and giving him a Salary for the latter Office, besides what he is entitled to as Chief Justice, does not appear to us to be illegal, either as being contrary to the 13 G. III. or incompatible with his Duty, as Chief Justice; nor do we see any Thing in the late Act, 21 Geo. III. which affects this Question.

That Sir Elijah Impey, by his Talents, his general Knowledge of Jurisprudence, and by the Habits of his Life, is well qualified in the Character of Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, to improve the Order of judicial Proceedings, and to correct the Errors of inferior Courts of Adaulut throughout the Provinces, cannot reasonably be doubted.

On the other Hand, if by making this Office an Instrument of Conciliation with the Supreme Court, in the Language of the Governor General's Minute, to influence the Opinions of the Chief Justice, be intended; it can as little be doubted, that an Appointment of great Power and considerable Emolument, made with such a View, would be a direct Attempt to corrupt him in the Character of Chief Justice. I chuse therefore, to consider the Question; divested of all adventitious Circumstances, arising from the Qualifications of the Man, and the immediate Occasion of this Nomination.

In this general View of the Subject, the Appointment of the Chief Justice to be Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, with a Salary at the Pleasure of the Council, appears to me inconsistent with the Object and Intention of the Legislature, in creating a Supreme Court of Judicature. By the Act of the 13th of the present King, the whole Civil and Military Government of the Country is conferred upon the Governor General and Council, "in like Manner, to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, as the same now are, or at any Time heretofore might have been exercised by the President and Council, or Select Committee, in the said Kingdoms;" the President and Council had succeeded to the Power exercised by the Soubadhar, who certainly acted as a despotic Sovereign.—The Legislature therefore, by this Reference, have expressly declared their Intention to establish an undefined Power in the Council. Perhaps to limit this Authority by previous Laws, would be found, in the present State of Bengal, altogether impracticable.

It is sufficient to observe, that such a direct Controul has not been attempted; but, for the Purpose of preventing the Power necessary to the Government of the Country, being abused to the Emolument of Individuals, all those employed in the several Departments of Government under the Governor General and Council, are subjected to the Jurisdiction of a Supreme Court of Judicature. Their public Acts are protected by the Authority derived from the Council; as Individuals, the Europeans at least, are subjected to the Jurisdiction of the Court. Even (as the Power of the Supreme Court is explained by the Act of the last Session) those employed in the Management of the Revenues, and Judges administering Justice in the Courts of Adaulut, are liable to be punished in the Supreme Court for Extortion, or other Crimes committed in their public Character. To render the Restraint effectual, this Supreme Court of Judicature is established independent of any Power in the Country; the Judges are nominated by the Crown; and that their Minds may not be influenced by Hope or Fear, large Salaries are annexed to the Office by Parliament, which are declared to be in Lieu of all Emoluments whatsoever, with negative Words, excluding every other Emolument "in any Manner, or on any Account or Pretence whatsoever," than such Salaries and Allowances as by the Act are directed to be paid. Another Clause is added, prohibiting the Acceptance from any "Person or Persons, in any Manner, or on any Account whatsoever, of any Gift, Donation, Gratuity, or Reward," in as large and ample Terms as the English Language can furnish. General as these Prohibitions are, I do not think they can be construed to extend beyond the Intention of preserving the Parties independent: The Governor, therefore, or either of the Four Counsellors, may accept additional Emoluments from the Company; because, in the Formation of their Office, they are created dependent on the Company, and expressly directed to obey their Orders. For the same Reason, the Judges may receive additional Salaries from the Crown, because they are removable by the Crown; and there appears no Intention to guard their Independence from that Quarter: But I cannot persuade myself, that the Exception can be extended to the Chief Justice, and either (and consequently to all) of the Judges accepting Offices of great Power and large Emoluments, during the Pleasure of the Company, who, together with all Persons directly or indirectly in their Service, are amenable to the Supreme Court; or during the Pleasure of the Council, who are intrusted with those Powers, the Abuse of which the Supreme Court was instituted to repress. If the Judges may accept from the Council, it seems to follow, that the Members of the Council, the Judges, and all Persons in Civil or Military Employments under the Crown, or the Company, may accept Offices with Jaghires, or Salaries, from the Indian Princes; for the general Prohibition of accepting from Persons of this Description, in the subsequent Clause, is expressed in the same Terms as the preceding, with this sole Distinction, that the Clause respecting the Judges and Council alone prohibits the Acceptance from any Persons whatsoever, I am therefore of Opinion, that the Appointment is illegal, as contrary to the Intention of the Act of the 13th George III. and subversive of the Object of the Legislature, in the Institution of a Supreme Court. I cannot forbear to add, that the Example of a Chief Justice, one Day summoning the Governor General and Council before his Tribunal, for Acts done as Council, and the next, accepting Emoluments nearly equal to his original Appointment, to be held during the Pleasure of the same Council, is in itself pernicious ; and should this Appointment be confirmed, Opposition, right or wrong, to Government on the Seat of Justice, may become a sure Road to Preferment ; and we may see future Judges leading Examples of that Corruption, which they were intended to punish and prevent.

The Solicitor General presents his Compliments to Mr. Smith ; and having considered further the Question relating to the late Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey, since he subscribed an Opinion upon it, he incloses to Mr. Smith his present Ideas upon the Subject, which he wishes to be laid before those, to whom his former Opinion is communicated.

Since I gave my Opinion upon the Question relating to the Appointment of Sir Elijah Impey to the Office of Judge of the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, great Doubts have occurred to me upon that Question ; and although there is no particular Provision in the Statute of 13th George III. Cap. 63. which seems to have been intended to prohibit any of the Judges of the Supreme Court from accepting such an Office ; yet it is by no Means clear to me, that the Acceptance of such an Office, with a Salary or other Profit annexed to it, is not forbidden or rendered illegal by that Law. The great Object of that Law was, to erect a Court of Judicature, which might more effectually controul the British Subjects within its Jurisdiction, than any former Judicature had done. The Judges who composed it, were to be named by the King ; and their Salaries are fixed by the Statute. They do not, in any Respect, depend on the India Company, except that the Company are to pay their Salaries. To give Effect to this Court of Judicature, it seems to be necessary that the Judges should be, as far as possible, independent of the Servants of the Company. I therefore doubt, whether the Acceptance of such an Office, with a Salary, especially to be held at the Pleasure of the Governor and Council, is not contrary to the Spirit and principal Intention of the Statute. If it be so, it may perhaps not be thought a great Stretch of Construction, to consider the Acceptance of such an Office and Salary, as forbidden by that Part of the 23d Section, which prohibits the Judges to accept any Reward, &c. ; but my Doubts would have been the same, from the general Principle and Object of the Statute, if the Words of that Section could not be supposed to extend to this Case. I have not been able to get the better of these Doubts, although I have been very desirous of doing it, from the great Respect I have for the Opinions of those Gentlemen, with whom I lately concurred ; and whose Judgment ought to have much more Weight and Authority than mine.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor General and Council in Bengal, in their Revenue Department, to the Court of Directors of the East India Company, the 25th of November 1780.

Conf.
28th March,
11th April.

12th. THE several important Changes which have taken Place in the Constitution and Civil Government of these Provinces, since the Period when the late President and Council adopted their Plan for the Administration of Justice, which Changes had not hitherto been provided for, in any general and uniform System, have induced us, after the most mature and attentive Consideration of the State of this Country, with Respect to its present Circumstances, and the Manners and Customs of its Inhabitants, to establish a general Plan and Set of Regulations, for the more effectual and regular Administration of Justice in the Country Civil Courts of these Provinces.

13th. By this Plan, Courts of Civil Judicature are continued in each of the Grand Divisions of Calcutta, Moorshedabad, Burdwan, Dacca, Purnea, and Patna ; over each of which Courts, a Company's covenanted Servant is appointed to preside, under the Title of Superintendent or Judge of Dewannee Dewanee Adaulut, whose Jurisdiction is separate from, and independent of, the Provincial Councils.

14th. Care has been taken to distinguish and discriminate the particular Object of the Jurisdiction of the Provincial Councils, and those of the Superintendents of Adaulut; leaving with the former, exclusive Jurisdiction in all Matters which directly concern the Revenue, and some which may more distantly affect the Collection of it; but all Cases of Meum and Tuum, all Successions to Zemindaries, and other inheritable Lands, and Disputes of personal Property and personal Rights, on which Application may be made to them, are to be referred to the Decision of the Superintendent of Adaulut, in whom this Authority has been vested; intending, that the Time and Attention of the late Provincial Councils shall not be taken up in hearing and determining Matters of a judicial Nature, except in Cases which arise out of, or concern the Collection of, the Public Revenues; which will relieve them from a great Degree of Labour and Responsibility, and enable them to prosecute, with more Effect, the other Duties of their Station—the keeping up the Collection of the Revenues under their Charge, and preventing Oppression, by a speedy Adjustment of all Disputes and Differences which may arise in Consequence.

15th. We have in like Manner been careful to restrain the Authority of the Superintendent of Adaulut, in such particular Cases as might interfere with, or obstruct the Collection of, the Revenues; but in all Cases where the Superintendent may have Occasion to apply to the Provincial Councils for their Assistance, we have directed them to afford it to the utmost of their Power, as far as the particular Circumstances of the Case will admit; and, in general, to consider the Spirit as well as the Letter of our Regulations, and endeavour to conform thereto, by co-operating with the Superintendent, and promoting, as far as may depend on them, the Administration of Justice, in the respective Divisions under their Authority.

16th. For the several Rules and Ordinances contained in the Plan, and for the Oath administered to each Superintendent before he was invested in his Office, we beg Leave to refer you to the Proceedings noted in the Margin, in which the Plan itself is recorded: We also transmit a Copy of it, Conf<sup>d</sup>. 28th March. a separate Number in the Packet.

17th. The Superintendents have been allowed a Salary of One thousand Sicca Rupees, and Three hundred Sicca Rupees each per Month for House Rent, in lieu of all Contingencies; the Amount of which, together with that of their Establishments of Officers and Servants, will, we hope, be in a great Measure defrayed by the Fees or Commission which the Regulations direct to be levied, at specific Rates, on the Process and Decision of all Causes, of which they may take Cognizance.

18th. The inferior Dewanee Courts being, by their Constitution, all made amenable to a superior Court, called the Sudder Dewanee Adaulut, or Court of Repeal and Revision, the Duties of which the Board had hitherto reserved to be executed by itself, though it had not held any immediate Proceedings in Consequence; the Governor General, to whose Minute on the Subject we beg to refer you for the Grounds of the Motion which followed it, proposed, That the Chief Justice should be requested to accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewanee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such others as the Board should think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their stead; and that on his Acceptance of it, he should be appointed to it, and styled The Judge of the Sudder Dewanee Adaulut. Conf<sup>d</sup>. 29th Sept.

19th. The Governor General's Motion being resolved in the Affirmative; and the Offer made in Consequence to the Chief Justice, he accepted of the Office; and has been appointed to it accordingly. Conf<sup>d</sup>. 24th Oct.

20th. For our separate Opinions on this Subject, and for some additional Regulations which have been proposed for the Chief Justice, since his Appointment, and confirmed by us for the Sudder and inferior Dewanee Adauluts, we request your Reference to the Proceedings noted in the Margin; Copies of which Minutes and Regulations are also transmitted Numbers in the Packet. 24th Oct. 3d Nov.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 28th March 1780.

As several important Changes have taken place in the Constitution and Civil Government of these Provinces, since the Period when the late President and Council adopted their Plan for the Administration of Justice; and as these Changes have not hitherto been provided for in any general and uniform System, the Governor General and Council therefore, after maturely and attentively considering the State of this Country, with respect to its present Circumstances, and the Manners and Customs of its Inhabitants, have resolved, That the following general Plan and Regulations shall now be established, for the more effectual and regular Administration of Justice in the Country Civil Courts of these Provinces.

A P P E N D I X, N° 4.

1st. That there shall continue to be Courts of Civil Judicature in each of the grand Divisions of Calcutta, Moorshedabad, Burdwan, Dacca, Purnea, and Patna; and that over each of these Courts, a Company's covenanted Servant shall preside, under the Title of Superintendent of Dewannee Adaulut.

2d. That the Superintendent of each Dewannee Adaulut shall be appointed by the Governor General and Council, and that his Jurisdiction shall be separate from, and independent of, the Provincial Councils.

3d. That the Provincial Councils already established, shall continue to try and decide, in the same Manner as they have hitherto been allowed to practise, on all Causes which have an immediate Relation to the Public Revenue; such as Demands of Government on Zemindars, Talookdars, Chowdries, Farmers, Muthaaheds, Woodadars, Securities, Aumils, Tasseeldars, Etmaumdars, Shaikdars, or others employed in the Collections, or any ways responsible for the Revenues immediately under the Provincial Councils; Demands of Zemindars, Talookdars, Chowdries, Farmers, Muthaaheds, Woodadars, Securities, Aumils, Tasseeldars, Etmaumdars, Shaikdars, &c. on their under Farmers, Malzamins, inferior Landholders and Collectors, or others from whom Rents or revenues are immediately due to them; and, in short, all Demands for Rents or Revenues of Persons employed in the Collection of them, either officially or hereditary, in the different Gradations downwards, from Government to the Ryots, or immediate Occupants of the Soil. And again, in the same Manner, all Complaints of Ryots and Persons of any of the other above-mentioned Denominations, against the Persons to whom they pay Revenue in the different Gradations upwards, for irregular and undue Exactions, and in general, for all Oppressions which do not fall under the Cognizance of the Fouzdarry Courts. The Provincial Councils shall further try and decide all Disputes relative to Boundaries, except within the Town of Calcutta and Limits of Panchanum Gung, or 55 Dhees, which are to be reserved to the Superintendent of the Calcutta Adaulut, as being likely to take up too much of the Time and Attention of the Provincial Council, from the Number and Intricacy of the Suits which may be expected to arise about the Bounds and Limits of landed Property; and also all Claims for Money lent to Zemindars, Talookdars, and Chowdries, for the Payment of the Revenue.

4th. That all Causes of Inheritance to Zemindarries, Talookdarries, Chowdrahies, or other real Property; all Mercantile Disputes, all Matters of Personal Property, all Disputes about the Bounds and Limits of landed Property within the Town of Calcutta and Limits of Panchanum Gung, or 55 Dhees; and in short, all other Causes of a Civil Nature, not described in the Third Article of these Regulations, shall be subject to the Jurisdiction of the Superintendent of the Court of Dewannee Adaulut.

5th. That the Superintendent of the Dewannee Adaulut shall hold his Courts Three Times in every Week, and as frequently as Occasion may require; but that no Cause shall be heard or determined, except in open Court, and in the Presence of some of the principal Officers.

6th. That the Process observed for trying Causes in the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, shall be as follows:

- First, To file and read the Petition of the Complainant.
  - Secondly, To summon the Defendant, and require Security from him to answer the Plaint, which, if he does not give, the Superintendent may either confine him by Peons, or otherwise, at his Discretion; to allot a limited Time for the Defendant to give Answer, which, when received, shall also be filed and read.
  - Thirdly, To hear the Parties, vivâ voce, and if necessary, examine Evidences: And
  - Lastly, To pass Decree,
- That if in adhering to this Order of Process, the Defendant shall evade or delay giving Answer within the limited Time, the Court shall proceed to hear and try the Cause, ex parte; and to give Judgment according to the Evidence before them.

7th. The Petition or Plaint being the Foundation of the Cause, must be an authentic Document, and signed or sealed by the Plaintiff, or his authorized Vacqueel, and contain a particular State of the Case. No Plaint to be registered, except in this Form, and delivered either by the Plaintiff in Person, or by a Vacqueel or Vacqueels, having written Authority from him; the Name of such Vacqueel or Vacqueels to be registered; and none but authorized Vacqueels to be allowed to speak in the Cause.

The same Rules must be observed by the Defendant in his Answer, and in the Rejoinders, or Replies, which may follow. The Superintendent to summon Witnesses by Tullub, and to inflict moderate Fines, or punish by Imprisonment, for Non-attendance.

8th. That all Causes shall be brought before the Court, and the Process conducted in the Order in which the Plaints are filed, and the Evidences and Exhibits prepared.

9th. That complete Records shall be kept in the following Form: That at the Conclusion of every Trial, the Petition, Answer, Rejoinder, and what other Reply may follow, Evidence, Orders of Court, in the Order they are made; and lastly, the Decree or Judgment, be written on a Roll of strong Paper, and authenticated by the Seal of the Court, the Signature of the Superintendent, and countersigned by the different Officers, and delivered in this Form to the Keeper of the Records, who is to be answerable for the same. The above to be deemed a complete Record of the Trial, and Copies thereof, under the Seal of the Keeper of Records, to be given to all Persons applying to him for the same, on Payment of a certain Fee, as shall hereafter be specified; and such Copies so authenticated, to be deemed and received as Evidence in any other Court of Dewannee Adaulut, and in the Court of Appeals.—This Record to be kept in the Persian, or Bengal Language, as the Petitions and Answers, or Exhibits, are delivered; but the Orders of Court to be in Persian, and no English Petitions to be registered.

10th. That each Superintendent shall keep an Abstract Register of his Adaulut in English, containing the Names of the Plaintiff and Defendant, the Substance of the Suit, the Substance of the Decree, the Date of the Cause being filed, and the Date of the Decree being passed; and this Abstract shall be transmitted Monthly to Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

11th. All Warrants for Parties to appear before the Dewannee Adaulut, shall issue from the Adaulut, under the Seal of the Court and the Signature of the Superintendent; but the Chief of the Provincial Council may, of his own Authority, issue his Warrant under the Seal of the Provincial Council, for apprehending any Person who he may require to answer any Charge before the Dewannee Adaulut, in Cases which he shall judge of such Urgency as to require it.

12th. All Decrees of the Adaulut shall be issued under the Seal of the Court, and signed by the Superintendent; and Copies shall be delivered by the Superintendent himself, in the public Cutcherry.

13th. The Superintendent of the Adaulut, shall issue his Summons under the Seal. He shall not summon the Mofussil Farmers, or Zemindars, or Persons employed in the Collections immediately under the Provincial Council; but he may order their Vacqueels to appear, and in Case of their not sending Vacqueels properly authorized, he is to apply to the Chief and Provincial Council, to summon the Parties themselves, as directed in the 14th Article.

He may summon inferior Persons from the Mofussil, under the following Restrictions, viz. That he shall not send Peons, or any other Persons with Authority, into the Lands belonging to the Zemindars and Farmers, excepting only on such Occasions as shall indispensably require it, for the immediate Execution of Justice.

That on such Occasions, a Warrant, under the public Seal, and signed by the Superintendent, shall be given in Writing to the Officers employed, and be recorded in the judicial Proceedings, with the Reasons for issuing it; but that no Person be summoned on ordinary Occasions, excepting by a Tullubchitty to the Farmer, or Order, requiring him to produce the Person summoned in a certain Space of Time. That the Superintendent shall further avoid, as studiously as possible, summoning any Persons from the Mofussil, who are any Ways connected with the Revenue, during the Months of Badhoon, and Assin, and Augun, and Poos, unless in Cases which call for an immediate Enquiry.

14th. Should the Superintendent require the personal Attendance of Farmer, Zemindar, or Collector, he must make Application to the Chief or Council, who, if they judge it proper, will issue a Summons to such Farmer, or Zemindar, or Collector, under the Provincial Seal and Signature of the Chief and Dewan; but in all Cases where they think proper to decline issuing such Summons, at the Requisition of the Superintendent, they shall assign their Reasons, by Letter, to the Governor General and Council, for such Refusal.

15th. It shall be the Duty of the Superintendent to prevent the Interference of his private Servants, in any Cause depending, or intended to be brought on, before his Court, and to prevent them from having any Connection with the Parties.

16th. It shall be observed as a Rule of the Adaulut, to set down from among the Causes, in the Order in which they stand upon the File, such as are ready for hearing; and to give proper and timely Notice to the Parties, of the Day on which they will come to be heard.

17th. All Arzees, on being presented, shall be signed and numbered by the Superintendent, and copied in a Book by a Moherre or Officer of the Court; but they shall on no Account be delivered to any other Officer, but the one whose particular Duty it shall be to copy and register them.

18th. And furthermore, to prevent the Abuse of private Influence from obstructing or diverting the Course of Justice, it is hereby declared, That every Officer of the Dewannee Adaulut, or any Servant or other Dependand of the Superintendent, who shall be convicted of receiving Money, or other valuable Consideration, directly or indirectly, from any Party in a Suit depending before the Adaulut, shall be punished in an exemplary Manner, either by Fine, Imprisonment, or corporal Punishment, at the Discretion of the Superintendent.

19th. That as the Litigiousness and Perverseness of the Natives of this Country, in their Suits and Complaints, are often productive not only of Inconveniencies and Vexation to their Adversaries, but also of endless Expence, and actual Oppression; it is to be observed as a Standing Rule, that Complaints of so old Date as Twelve Years, shall not be actionable, unless where the Complainant can shew, by clear and positive Proof, that he had actually demanded Payment of the Sum in Question, or otherwise directly preferred his Claim for the Matter in Dispute, within that Period, and prove to the Satisfaction of the Superintendent, that either from Minority, or other good and sufficient Cause, he had been precluded from the Means of procuring Redress; in which Cases the Superintendent of the Adaulut, seeing good Causes, is to admit the Suit.

20th. That if the Parties should be found guilty, as is often the Case, from Litigiousness and Perverseness, of flying from one Court to another, in order to prevent and protract the Course of Justice, the Party so transgressing shall be considered as Non-suited; and according to his Degree in Life, and the Notoriety of the Offence, be liable to Fine, Imprisonment, or corporal Punishment.

21st. That as Cases may occur, in which it will be highly necessary, for the Welfare of the Crust and restrain trivial and groundless Complaints, and to deter and Intrigue, which Passions among the People often work to the undoing of their Neighbours, a Discretion shall, in such Case, be left to the Superintendent, either to impose a Fine, not exceeding Five Rupees, or inflict a corporal Punishment, not exceeding Twenty Lashes with a Rattan, according to the Degree of the Offence, and the Person's Station in Life.

22d. That Interest shall not be taken by Creditors or admitted by the Superintendent of the Dewannee Adaulut, either in Cases of past Loans, above the Rates established in the 18th Article of the former Plan for the Administration of Justice, namely on Sums not exceeding One hundred Rupees, Principal and Interest, at Rupees 3, 2, per Cent. per Menssem, or Half an Anna at the Rupee.

On Sums above One hundred Rupees Principal, an Interest of Two Rupees per Cent. per Menssem. The Principal and Interest to be discharged according to the Conditions of the Bond; and all Compound Interests arising from an intermediate Adjustment of Accounts, to be declared unlawful, and prohibited. And in Cases of future Loans, no higher Interest to be allowed than Two per Cent. per Menssem, or Twenty-four per Cent. per Annum, where the Principal shall be under One hundred Rupees; and One per Cent. per Menssem, or Twelve per Cent. per Annum, where the Principal shall exceed One hundred Rupees; and Publication of this to be made.

When a Debt is sued for upon a Bond which shall be found to specify a higher Interest than the established Rates, the Interest shall be wholly forfeited to the Debtor, and the Principal only recoverable; and that all Attempts to elude this Law, by Deductions from the original Loan, under whatever Denomination, shall be punished by a Forfeit of a Moiety of the Amount of the Bond to the Government, and the other Half to the Debtor.

It shall be further in the Discretion of the Superintendent, in Cases of past Loans, on a Review of the Circumstances of the Debt, and Condition of the Debtor, to settle the Payment of the Debt according to a known and established Custom of the Country; namely, where the Interest has accumulated so as to exceed the Principal, to reduce it to One Half of the Principal; or where the Interest has exceeded One Half of the Principal, to reduce it to a Quarter.

23d. That all Bonds shall in future be executed in the Presence of Two subscribing Witnesses; and Publication hereof made. This not however to apply to Bills of Exchange, Receipts, or Notes of Hand, in which the Custom of the Country is to be referred to and abided by.

24th. That whereas it has been too much the Practice in this Country, for Individuals to exercise a judicial Authority over their Debtors, a Practice which is not only in itself unlawful and oppressive, seeing a Man thereby becomes the Judge in his own Cause, but which is also a direct Infringement of the Prerogative and Power of the regular Government: That Publication shall therefore be made, forbidding the Exercise of all such Authority, and directing all Persons to prefer their Suits to the established Court of Adaulut; and that the Superintendent shall particularly attend to this Regulation; which, it is apprehended, will prove the Means of Relief to the helpless Ryott, from the merciless Creditor, the Money-lender. But that the Superintendent for the Relief of the poorer People, shall have the Power of referring Causes not exceeding One hundred Rupees, to Zemindars or public Officers, or Arbitrators chosen by the Parties, residing near the Spot where the Cause of Action shall have arisen; subject however to his Revival, in Cases of flagrant Injustice or Partiality.

25th. That in all Cases of disputed Property regarding Lands, Houses, &c. where a local Investigation is required, an Aumeen shall be chosen, with the mutual Consent of the Parties, or if they cannot agree in the Choice of one Person, each shall have the Privilege of nominating his own; or if they neglect neglect to do either, the Superintendent shall appoint one for them. The Superintendent shall decide on the Report of Circumstances, as delivered by the Aumeen, or on their joint Report in Case there are Two.

The Superintendent is also to attend, that the Aumeens do not accumulate Expences, by unnecessary Delays, but that their Scrutiny and their Wages be limited to the Time he judges sufficient for performing the Service in Question; the Expence of the Enquiry to be defrayed by the Person who is cast.

26th. That in all Cases of disputed Accounts, Partnership, Debts doubtful or contested, Bargains, Non-performance of Contracts, and so forth, it shall be recommended to the Parties, to submit the Decision of their Causes to Arbitration, the Award of which shall become a Decree of the Dewannee Adaulut.—The Choice of the Arbitrators is to rest with the Parties, but they are to decide the Causes without Fee or Reward.

The Superintendent on the Part of Government, is to afford every Encouragement in his Power to the Inhabitants of Character and Credit to become Arbitrators; but is not to employ any coercive Means for that Purpose.

27th. That in all Suits regarding Inheritance, Marriages, and Cast, and other religious Usages or Institutions, the Laws of the Koran with Respect to Mahomedans, and those of the Shaster with Respect to Gentoos, shall be invariably adhered to.—On all such Occasions, the Molavies, or Brahmans, shall respectively attend to expound the Law, and they shall sign the Report, and assist in passing the Decree.

28th. That the Superintendent of the Dewannee Adaulut, shall have a Right of decreeing, to the Party in whose Favour Judgment is given, any specified Sum of Costs within the real Amount, or in general to decree with Costs. The Bill in both Cases to be taxed by the Superintendent.

29th. That on the Decree being passed, the Superintendent may enforce it, by ordering an Attachment of the Person of the Party who is cast, or the Sale of his Effects at Auction; or by giving to the Party who hath carried his Cause, Possession of the Property comprehended under the Decree.

That it shall however be left to the Good Will of the Parties, and finally to the Discretion of the Superintendent, in some Cases to adjust the Payment by a Kistbundee, taken from the Party who is cast.

30th. That the Decree of the Dewannee Adaulut shall be final in all Cases, for Sums not exceeding Sicca Rupees 1000, for alienated or free Lands, in which the Jumma or Annual Revenue of Government doth not exceed Rupees 1000.

31st. That where the Sum or Value decreed, whether in Money, Effects, or Lands, shall exceed the above Amount, an Appeal shall lie from the Decree of the Superintendent of the Dewannee Adaulut, to the Governor General and Council in the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

32d. That the Appeal must be made within 10 Days after the Decree, and is to be noted in the Margin of the Trial: And that, as it may be a Discouragement to the Appellant, to present his Petition of Appeal to the same Person who has decided against him in the first Instance, that all Petitions of Appeal against Decisions of the Superintendents of Adaulut, shall be presented to the Chief and Provincial Council of the respective Division, who are to transmit the same without Delay, to their Governor General and Council, in their Department of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

33d. That no Appeals shall be received from an Award of Arbitration, unless the Arbitrators shall have been previously tried and convicted in any Phousdarry Court, of Subornation of Witnesses, of a Collusion with the Parties, of having received any Bribe or Consideration for their Award; or unless the Witnesses, on whose Testimony the Cause in Question was decreed, shall have been previously tried and convicted in any Phousdarry Court, of having given false Evidence in the said Cause; but that all criminal Accusations, although arising from any Cause heard and decreed in the Dewannee Adaulut, are cognizable only by the Phousdarry Court.

34th. That Persons found guilty of preferring groundless, litigious, or vexatious Appeals, shall be punished, at the Discretion of the Governor General and Council, by an Enhancement of the Costs, which shall be given to the Respondent as a Compensation for the Trouble and Expence he shall have sustained.

35th. That in Cases where an Appeal is made from the Decree of the Superintendent to the Governor General and Council, the Appellant, if Defendant in the original Suit, on delivering his his Petition of Appeal, shall be obliged to deposit the Amount of the Decree, or give good and sufficient Security for the Payment of the Decree, in case it should afterwards be confirmed by the Governor General and Council; the Costs to be immediately paid.

36th. That a Commission shall be taken on every Plaint filed at the Commencement of a Cause, in the Proportion of the Sums or Value sued for in the Bill of Plaint; the Rates of Commission to be as follows;

On all Sums not exceeding	1,000, 5 per Cent.
On all D <sup>o</sup>	D <sup>o</sup> 5,000, 4 per Cent.
On all D <sup>o</sup>	D <sup>o</sup> 10,000, 3 per Cent.
On all Sums above	10,000, 2 per Cent.

That these Regulations shall be considered as binding, only until a new Arrangement shall be made by Authority of Parliament.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 11th April, 1780.

Read again, the Plan entered in Consultation the 28th ultimo, for the Administration of Justice in these Provinces.

Agreed, That it be carried into Execution.

Agreed, That the Superintendents of Adaulut be allowed a monthly Salary of One thousand Sicca Rupees, and an Allowance of Three hundred Sicca Rupees for House Rent, in lieu of all Contingencies.

The Governor General recommends the following Persons to be appointed Superintendents of the respective Adauluts.

Calcutta,	Mr. Thomas Dugald Campbell.
Moorshedabad,	Mr. Edward Otto Ives.
Burdwan,	Mr. Hugh Ausler.
Dacca,	Mr. Alexander Duncanson.
Dinapore,	Mr. Benjamin Grindall.
Patna,	Mr. John Guichard Booth.

Agreed, That the above Gentlemen be appointed accordingly.

Agreed, That the Plan be notified to the Provincial Councils in the following Letter:

(Circular.)

To Mr. David Anderson, Chief, &c. Council of Revenue at Calcutta.

Gentlemen,

We now inclose you a Set of Regulations, which we have thought proper to establish for the Administration of Justice in these Provinces, and require your particular Attention and strict Adherence to the Rules and Ordinances contained therein.

We likewise direct you to give every Assistance and Support in your Power to the Superintendents of Adaulut, in the Performance of the particular Duties assigned to them; and to give Force and Effect to the Regulations themselves.

We have been careful to distinguish and discriminate the particular Objects of your Jurisdiction, and those of the Superintendents of Adaulut, and have left with you exclusive Jurisdiction in all Matter which directly concern the Revenue, and some which may more distantly affect the Collection of it; and these we think proper that you should carefully retain and exercise; but that you refer all Cases of Meum and Tuum, and Disputes of Personal Property and Personal Rights, on which Application may be made to you, to the Decision of the Superintendent of Adaulut, in whom we have thought proper to vest this Authority; meaning, that your Time and Attention shall not be taken up in hearing and determining Matters of a judicial Nature, except in Cases which arise out of or concern the Collection of the Public Revenue, which will relieve you from a great Degree of Labour and Responsibility, and enable you to apply with more Effect to the Performance of the other Duties of your Station, the keeping up the Collection of the Revenues under your Charge, and preventing Oppressions by a speedy Adjustment of all Disputes and Differences which may arise in consequence.

You will observe, that we have been careful to restrain the Authority of the Superintendent of Adaulut, in such particular Cases as might interfere with, or obstruct the Collection of the Revenues, by prohibiting him from sending Persons with Authority into the Lands of the Zemindars or Farmers, or calling Persons from the Mofussil during the Months of the heavy Collection, or summoning Farmers, Zemindars, or Collectors of the Revenue, except through the Medium of your Board. But in all such Cases where the Superintendents may have Occasion to apply to you for your Assistance, it is our Directions that you afford it to the utmost of your Power, as far as the particular Circumstances of the Case may admit; and in general, that you consider the Spirit as well as the Letter of these Regulations, and endeavour to conform thereto, by co-operating with the Superintendent, and promoting, as far as may depend on you, the Administration of Justice in the Division under your Authority.

We have appointed Mr. Thomas Dugald Campbell Superintendent of Adaulut for your Division; whom you will therefore call before you, and having read over to him the Regulations, tender him the Oath prescribed by the 43d Article, before he is invested with his Office. The Oath must be entered in a Book kept for that Purpose; and after it has been administered, must be signed by the Superintendent.

The Salary of the Superintendent has been fixed at 1,000 Sicca Rupees, with an Allowance of 300 Sicca Rupees per Month for House-rent, in lieu of all Contingencies.

Fort William,
the 11th April 1780.

We are, &c.

The same to Moorshedabad,	Mr. Ives.
Burdwan,	Mr. Aulster.
Dacca,	Mr. Duncanfon.
Dinagepore,	Mr. Grindall.
Patna,	Mr. Booth.

Ordered, That the Secretary do advise the Superintendents of the Adauluts, of their Appointments, and furnish them with Copies of the Regulations for their Guidance.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 29th September 1780.

The Governor General delivers in the following Minute, which he requests may be entered in this Day's Proceedings; but the Subject of it being of too much Importance for any immediate Decision, that it lie for Consideration till the next Meeting of the Board.

Governor General.—The Institution of the new Courts of Dewannee Adaulut has already given Occasion to very troublesome and alarming Competitions between them and the Provincial Councils, and too much Waste of Time at this Board. These, however, manifest the Necessity of giving a more than ordinary Attention to these Courts, in the Infancy of their Establishment, that they might neither prevent the Purposes, nor exceed the Limits of their Jurisdiction, nor suffer Encroachments upon it.

To effect these Points, would require such a laborious and almost unremitted Application, that however urgent or important they may appear, I should dread to bring them before the Consideration of the Board, unless I could propose some Expedient for that End, that should not add to the Weight of Business with which it is already overcharged.

That which I have to offer, will, I hope, prove rather a Diminution of it.

By the Constitution of the Dewannee Courts, they are all made amenable to a superior Court, called the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, which has been commonly, but erroneously, understood to be simply a Court of Appeals. Its Province is, and necessarily must be, much more extensive. It is not only to receive Appeals from the Decrees of the inferior Courts, in all Causes exceeding a certain Amount; but receive and revise all the Proceedings of the inferior Courts; to attend to their Conduct, to remedy their Defects, and generally, to form such new Regulations and Checks, as Experience shall prove to be necessary to the Purposes of their Institution.

Hitherto the Board has reserved the Office to itself; but hath not yet entered on the Execution of it; nor, I will venture to pronounce, will it ever, though Half of its Time were devoted to this simple Department.

Yet, without both the Support and Controul of some powerful Authority held over them, it is impossible for the Courts to subsist; but they must either sink into Contempt, or be perverted into the Instrument of Oppression.

This Authority, I repeat, the Board is incapable of executing; and if delegated to any Body of Men, or to any individual Agent, not possessing in themselves some Weight, independent of mere official Power, it will prove little more effectual. The only Mode which I can devise to substitute for it, is included in the following Motions; which I now submit, on the Reason premised, to the Consideration of the Board:

That the Chief Justice be requested to accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such other as the Board shall think think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their Stead ; and that on his Acceptance of it, he be appointed to it, and stiled “ The Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.”

I shall beg Leave to add a few Words in Support of this Proposition, on different Grounds.

I am well aware, that the Choice which I have made for so important an Office, and one which will minutely and nearly overlook every Rank of the Civil Service, will subject me to much popular Prejudices ; as its real Tendency will be misunderstood by many, misrepresented by more, and perhaps dreaded by a few.—I shall patiently submit to their Consequences, because I am conscious of the Rectitude of my Intentions, and certain that the Event will justify me, and prove, that in whatever Light it may be superficially viewed, I shall be found to have studied the true Interest of the Service, and contributed the most effectually to its Credit.

The Want of legal Powers, except such as are implied in very doubtful Constructions of the Act of Parliament, and the Hazards to which the Superiors of the Dewannee Courts are exposed in their own Persons, from the Exercise of their Functions, has been the principal Cause of their Remissness, and equally of the Disregard which has been in many Instances shewn to their Authority. They will be enabled to act with Confidence ; nor will any Man dare to contest their Right of acting, when their Proceedings are held under the Sanction and immediate Patronage of the First Member of the Supreme Court, and with his Participation, in the Instances of such as are brought in Appeal before him, and regulated by his Instructions. They very much require an Instructor, and no one will doubt the superior Qualifications of the Chief Justice, for such a Duty.

It will be a Means of lessening the Distance between the Board and the Supreme Court, which has perhaps been, more than the undefined Powers assumed to each, the Cause of the Want of that accommodating Temper, which ought to have influenced their Intercourse with each other. The Contention in which we have been unfortunately engaged with the Court, bore, at one Time, so alarming a Tendency, that I believe every Member of the Board foreboded the most dangerous Consequences to the Peace and Resources of this Government from them. They are at present composed, but we cannot be certain that the Calm will last beyond the actual Vacation, since the same Grounds and Materials of Disunion subsist ; and the Revival of it, at a Time like this, added to our other Troubles, might, if carried to Extremities, prove fatal.

The Proposition which I have submitted to the Board, may, nor have I Doubt that it will prove an Instrument of Conciliation with the Court, and will preclude the Necessity of its assuming a Jurisdiction over Persons exempted, by our Construction of the Act of Parliament, from it. It will facilitate and give Vigour to the Course of Justice ; it will lessen the Cares of the Board, and add to their Leisure for Occupations, more urgent and better suited to the Genius and Principles of Government : Nor will it be any Accession of Power to the Courts ; even that Portion of Authority, which is proposed to be given, given only to a single Man of the Court, and may be revoked, whenever the Board shall think it proper to resume it.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 24th October, 1780.

The Governor General's Minute, concerning the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, recorded in the last Consultation, having been sent in Circulation, for the Opinions and Decision of the Board ; the Opinions delivered thereon are entered in the Order in which they were received.

Mr. Francis.—I have not had sufficient Time to give this important Proposition all the Consideration it deserves: The Reflections which it suggests, must be stated hastily as they occur. That this is a fresh Innovation, succeeding many others, in the Administration of Justice to the Natives of this Country, is of itself a weighty Objection. All Innovations of this Nature are dangerous, especially in a Country, whose Government cannot divide or surrender any of its Powers, without lessening the Respect, and hazarding the Obedience of its Subjects. On this Principle we contended for the exclusive Jurisdiction of the Governor General and Council, as Dewan over the Zemindars, Landholders, and Landed Property of this Country. In my Judgment, the Proposition amounts to a direct Contradiction or Desertion of every Thing we said, or did, in the Case of the Rajah of Cossijurah. As such it will be naturally received and understood by the Natives. They cannot distinguish between the Chief Justice and the Supreme Court ; or if the Distinction could possibly be explained to them, and if they could be satisfied, that in fact it was not intended to reinstate the Court in the Exercise of the Jurisdiction which it had claimed, and which we had resisted, it is probable they would think that some greater Evil was to befall them. I hope it is unnecessary for me to say, that no Idea of personal Disrespect to the Chief Justice can be intended, in any Thing I shall offer on the public Question before me: If any Expression that may appear to have such a Tendency, should escape me, I disclaim it. I mean to examine the proposed Institution in its own Merits, and the Difficulties ties it may be subject to as a public Measure, without Reference to the personal Character or Qualifications of any Individual.—I shall follow the Reasoning of the Governor General's Minute, in the Order in which he has placed it.

1st. If the Institution of the new Court has already given Occasion to Competitions between the Provincial Councils, and the Dewannee Adauluts, it is our Business and Duty to put an End to them by our Authority, which is direct, and sufficiently coercive over both Parties. We ought to draw the Line between them, and insist on their respective Submission to the Limitation described by it. I do not think, that to effect this Point, would require any very laborious Application on our Part. Our Administration wants Vigour, not Time, to execute all its Duties. One Punishment would have more Effect than a Thousand Regulations. But if the Argument were well founded, how is the Difficulty removed, by transferring this laborious Service to the Chief Justice, who is already so overloaded with the Business of the Supreme Court, that he finds it impossible to assist his Brethren as acting Justices of Calcutta, and therefore is very justly excused from sharing with them in the Toil of that troublesome Office?

2d. The Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, I know, has been commonly, but I do not think it is erroneously, understood to be simply a Court of Appeals. The 6th Article of the Plan for the Administration of Justice, provides, That the Dewannee Sudder Adaulut shall receive and determine Appeals from the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts; and it says no more. If its Province be, and necessarily must be, much more extensive, the Extent of it should be accurately described and defined. For my own Part, I know not where to look for this necessary Definition; but I know that a Jurisdiction not so defined, either has no Power at all, or it is despotic. A Court of Appeal, as such, can do nothing but receive Appeals from the Decrees of inferior Courts. If it is to receive and revise all the Proceedings of such Courts, it must itself cease to be a Court of Appeal; for what Suitor will appeal to a Superior Court, which has already revised, approved, and confirmed the very Proceedings by which he thinks himself injured? If a Court of Appeal adheres to the true Principles of its Institution, it should know nothing of the Proceedings of the inferior Court, until an Appeal from the Decree of that Court, comes regularly before it. If it has already approved of the Proceedings below, it is, instanter, a Party, and cannot be Judge.

As to the other Duties proposed, “of attending to their Conduct, of remedying their Defects, and forming new Regulations, &c.” these are Objects for the legislative Power of the Country, which, I understand, quoad hoc at least, is exclusively and unalienably vested in the Governor General and Council.

3d. I am of Opinion that the Office might be exercised by the Board, or by any Two Members of it; and that Two or Three specific Days allotted in a Month to this Duty, would be sufficient to perform it.

4th. I must object to the Request proposed to be made to the Chief Justice, for the following Reasons: The Governor General and Council cannot, without departing from the Principles on which they have unanimously acted, establish the Sudder Adaulut on any Plan, which commits the Company's Rights, or ours, in Quality of Dewan of the Provinces, to the Custody of all or any of the Judges. The Supreme Court and Council differ widely in their Ideas of the Jurisdiction of the Court. The Chief Justice cannot be supposed to have changed the Opinions, which he has at all Times so strictly maintained; and those Opinions would lead him to submit to the Jurisdiction of the Court in many Instances, in which the Council, upon their Principles, would resist them. Thus the Council, by making the Chief Justice Judge of the Sudder Adaulut, would put it into the Power of the very Man with whom they have been contending, to give up what they hitherto insisted on as their essential Rights.

The great Object of this Plan, is to give Authority to the Dewannee Adauluts; but I cannot admit that the Means are likely to answer the End. The Arguments drawn from the elevated Station of the Chief Justice, have no Weight. He can carry none of the Powers of the Supreme Court into the Sudder Adaulut. When he acts under the Appointment of the Council as Superintendent, he will possess no Part of the Authority which he derives from the King's Appointment of Chief Justice. It will not prove an Instrument of Conciliation, nor prevent the Revival of Disputes, which it is said might prove fatal. It is admitted by the Governor, that the Grounds of Division still subsist; and it is certain, that the Appointment of the Chief Justice to the Sudder Adaulut, will make no Alteration in the Authority and Powers of the Supreme Court. The remaining Judges will have the same Powers which they all now possess; because the Council cannot, by new modelling the Adauluts, abridge, or in any Way affect, the Powers of the Court. If the Chief Justice carries his late Opinions into the Sudder Adaulut, the Supreme Court will obtain Strength from the Appointment: If he acts on new Principles, more conformable to those of the Council, that will raise fresh Difficulties; it will tend to make a Breach between him and the other Judges, but can never repair the Breach already subsisting between the Court and Council. I use the Language which has already been applied by us to the Judges, when I say, That there is a Jealousy, which all Men feel for their own Power and Consequence. The Two Puisne Judges cannot cannot but feel themselves wounded by this partial Selection of the Chief Justice, and the Preference given to his superior Qualifications. We ought not to offer them such Cause of Offence, nor ought we to be careless of the Effects it may produce.

I conceive that the Appointment of the Chief Justice to this Office, would clash and be inconsistent with the Duties of his present Station. It would be an insuperable Bar to his acting in many Cases, in which his Duty as Chief Justice would call on him to act. Suppose a Suitor in the Adaulut should think the Judge had acted illegally; he might bring his Action against him in the Supreme Court; and when, upon the Principles on which the Court and the Chief Justice have particularly insisted and acted, he would be obliged to come as a Party into the Court in which he ought to preside as Chief Justice, to plead in the usual Form, and to defend himself in the usual Way; and he might be compelled to pay Damages for what he had done as Superintendent, in the same Manner that the Council at Patna were for their Proceedings against Nadara Begum. Thus his Proceedings in the Adaulut, would bring him a Party in his own Cause, and preclude him from acting in his Capacity of Chief Justice. Again; suppose a Person committed by any of the inferior Adauluts, or by the Chief Justice himself as Judge of the Sudder Adaulut, should apply to him for a Writ of Habeas Corpus; shall he refuse the Writ, because the Grounds of the Commitment are already known to him? or shall he grant it though possessed of such Knowledge, and where himself has prejudged the Question, by ordering or approving the Commitment? I cannot presume to say, how far it would be his Duty to grant the Writ at all Events; but it is evident that the Prisoner would gain nothing by obtaining it. It may be said, the Person so committed may apply for a Writ of Habeas Corpus to one of the Puisne Judges. If he succeeds (as he certainly would, if in the Opinion of the Judge there should be Reason to suppose the Commitment might be illegal) it would follow, that the Act of the Superintendent would be canvassed, and perhaps set aside by an inferior Judge of another Court, in which the Superintendent himself presides. This Case might frequently occur; and if it should ever occur, it would tend to create new Differences between the Supreme Court on the one Side, and the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, supported by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, on the other.

On the whole, I think it would be improper in the Council to request the Chief Justice to take upon himself, and perhaps illegal in him to accept, an Office, which is so inconsistent with the Duties of his present Station, and which would preclude him from exercising the Trust reposed in him by the King, in many Cases of the greatest Importance; particularly those, in which the Limits of the Jurisdiction of the Court, and the Extent of the Powers vested in the Council, might come in Question.

One of the Observations with which the Governor General concludes his Argument, in Favour of his Plan, viz. "That the Portion of Authority which is proposed to be given, is given only to a single Man in the Court," appears to me a strong Objection against it. The English Government has very sparingly delegated judicial Authority to single Persons; final Appeals, in particular, are never permitted to be tried by a single Judge, either in England, or any of its Provinces or Dependencies. The King is, I believe, the only single Person to whom such an appellate Jurisdiction is even nominally given; and he cannot try an Appeal without the Assistance of his Privy Council: Appeals to him therefore are called Appeals to the King in Council.

This Policy has nothing to do with Trials by Jury on Principles of English Liberty, which may be thought inapplicable to Bengal; but is founded on that Justice to which the Natives of Bengal are entitled, as well as other Men. But Justice requires, that in the Constitution of a Court, Corruption be above all Things guarded against; and no Magistrate is more liable to Corruption than a Judge, in whom is vested a Power of determining Appeals, without being either checked by Associates, or controlled by any further Appeal to superior Judges. The Legislature, in establishing the Supreme Court of Judicature here, though it be not a Court of Appeal, and though an Appeal may be made from its Decisions to the King in Council, thought a Plurality of Judges necessary; and therefore created so many, that it is not likely they should be reduced by Chance to one. Mr. Hastings and his Council, when they erected the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, would not leave such Reduction in the Power of Chance, but made the Presence of Three Members essentially necessary to a Decision. If I could believe it lawful and proper for us to delegate our judicial Authority to Judges of the Supreme Court, I should think it ought rather to be given to all than to one. If all the Powers of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut be vested in one Man, yet so vested, "that they may be revoked whenever this Board shall think it proper to resume them;" such a Judge may become, in the Hands of a corrupt Council, an Instrument of Oppression; the Council will not be answerable for his Decrees; and he will be, in a great Measure, protected by his judicial Capacity. The Authority given may undoubtedly be revoked whenever the Board shall think proper to resume it. The present Board cannot bind their Successors, nor even themselves, against a Change of Opinion.—But will the Chief Justice accept of such an Office, on so precarious a Footing? or, would it be respectful in us to offer it to him, with the Information which ought to accompany it, viz. That he is removable at any Time by a Resolution of the Board?

(Signed) P. Francis.

Sir Eyre Coote—As the determining upon Points relative to Law Proceedings, has fallen so little within the Limits of my Profession, I acknowledge myself inadequate to the forming a thorough Judgment concerning the Plan proposed by the Governor General.

But trusting to his full Knowledge of that Branch of Government, which he now means to bring under the Controul of Inspection, and from a real Sense of the Abilities of the Chief Justice, to render any Department of Superintendence, which should be entrusted to his Charge, no less useful and beneficial in Effect than in Idea, I give my Assent to the Measure; observing at the same Time, however, that this Assent is for the Trial of an Expedient which may be attended with favourable Consequences, and not for its absolute Establishment; and I therefore reserve to myself full Liberty to vote for the Repeal of the present Resolution, should I find it prove hereafter in any Respect detrimental, either to the great Lines of Government, or to the Community.

(Signed)

E. C.

Mr. Wheler.—No one can be more sincerely desirous than I am, of the due Administration of Justice in this Country.

By the late Act of Parliament, this Branch is divided between the Supreme Court and the Government; what the Act hath not committed to the former, it confirms to the latter; and whenever the Extent of the respective Jurisdictions is not clearly defined, or is oppositely viewed, their mutual Candour, and Regard to the Public Good, should influence: Through these Channels only can Justice flow here.

This Board, in the late Institution of Dewannee Courts of Adaulut, hath thought itself acting in the Province left to it by the Legislature, and making an effective Regulation for the Benefit of the Country. I am sorry to find, from the Governor General's Minute, that he now sees the Institution in a different Light, in both these Respects. He conceives, that "the Superiors of the Adauluts, have no legal Powers, except such as are implied in very doubtful Constructions of the Act of Parliament;" and that the Court of Appeals, established to controul their Proceedings, and support their Authority, can never prove effectual for these Purposes.—If the Institution has really these Evils in it, I am willing to deliberate upon proper Remedies for them; to reduce it, if it has exceeded the due Limit; or if it is found to be essentially defective, to agree to an essential Change in it: But at present, I must confess these Positions are not evident to me. And supposing them to be established, in the Application of Remedies we can have no Standard but the Lines marked out by the Act of Parliament; which assigns a separate Jurisdiction to each of the Two Departments, or implies the Duty of a Co-operation of both. Although I entertain all due Deference for the Chief Justice, and feel myself embarrassed by the Personality which mixes in the Question before us; yet I must beg Leave to say, that the Expedient proposed by the Governor General, seems not to fall in with any of the Intentions of the Act; but to be opposed by Difficulties, as well as to threaten Consequences, which, unless obviated, must determine me to withhold my Assent to it.

Some of the present Difficulties are these:—First; If the Governor General and Council, have no other legal Power to appoint Superintendents of the Adauluts, than what is implied from a doubtful Construction of the Act of Parliament, then they should not have proceeded to an Establishment of such Importance, nor should they now persist in it; their Business in such Case, is to act in Concert with the Court.

2d. If they have not in themselves competent Power for this Establishment, they in like Manner are not competent to confer upon any Individual, that Authority with which it is now proposed to invest the Chief Justice.

3d. Unless the Chief Justice acknowledges the Validity of the Board's Institution (which will be a great Authority against the Governor General's Argument) he cannot consistently accept of the Office proposed for him. And the same Remark may be extended to the Opinions of the other Judges. His Acceptance of an Office, cannot establish the Legality of the Power that confers it.

4th. The Union of different Powers, in the Person of the Chief Justice, can be no regular Conciliation of the Two Departments. The Interposition of his Person, may indeed prevent their clashing for a Time; but this effects no real Adjustment of Principles between them; and it does not seem allowable for us to conclude, that a particular Distinction shown to the Chief Justice, will suppress all Opposition of Sentiment from the other Judges. Nor does this Mode of procuring Peace, if it should succeed, appear the most honourable or safe for ourselves; for after delegating so much Power, both Departments are still left exposed at the Pleasure of the Chief Justice, to the future Eruption of their unextinguished Differences.

5th. If, for the Purposes of conciliating the Court, and giving Efficacy to the Adauluts, such an Authority is to be bestowed, it would seem that these Purposes would be better answered, and all Danger of infringing the Act of Parliament avoided, by delegating the Power of hearing Appeals to all the Judges of the Supreme Court, or associating them with ourselves, and holding such

Power in Conjunction with them; which falls in with one Part of the Bill transmitted to the Court of Directors, in the Year 1776.

6th. By an Appointment of this Nature the Independency of both Departments may be endangered. By separating the Members from their Departments, a System of mutual Influences, which may occasionally operate too powerfully upon each, is at once founded.

7th. Such an Union of different Powers, is beyond the Scope of the Act of Parliament; and foreign to the Constitution of the Company's Government. A great Salary, high Rank and Consideration, are annexed to the Office of Chief Justice, most probably upon the Supposition, that the Person advanced to it could here receive no Augmentation in any of these Things; and it seems inconsistent with his Appointment from the King, which makes him independent, to accept of another Appointment under the Company, during the Pleasure of this Board.

8th. In the Office proposed to be given to the Chief Justice, it does not appear how he can be held, either under Controul or Responsibility. He cannot be separated from the Privileges of his original Office; yet the Exercise of them, in all that relates to the new Appointment, must be quite discretionary with him.

The Apprehensions which I entertain, and have alluded to in the former Part of the Minute, are these.

1st. That it will be thought requisite, if this Appointment takes Place, to annex a large Salary to it, and an ample Establishment. In our present State, when we can hardly raise Money for our necessary Occasions, I should think such an Expence utterly inadmissible.

2d. Decisions might probably go upon the Principles of English Law. The Introduction of this Practice should, in my humble Opinion, be previously and maturely considered.

3d. If Attornies and Solicitors should be admitted to practise in the Court of Appeals, a new and wide Door of Litigation would be opened: The Company have no Controul over Attornies and Solicitors.

4th. The Business of the Court of Appeals must give Opportunity for a thorough Inspection of all the Affairs of the Revenue, and Proceedings of the Provincial Councils; of course, a very powerful Influence over both Europeans and Natives.

5th. Such an Influence, possessed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, might too much hide the Government from the Eyes of the Natives.

Waving further Objections, I now repeat my Wish to see these obviated; and whatever may be wanting, for an effectual Controul over the Country Courts, supplied. If the Service should indeed require an extraneous Check, delicate and important as this Point is, I would by no Means have it understood that I would oppose it; but before this is applied, I think several other Expedients might be tried.

1st. The Company's chief Law Officer here seems to be the Person to whom Recourse should first be had, his Station being similar to that of the Company's Counsel in England, who attends on all Questions of Law, and gives his Opinion and Advice. I think, that by introducing in the same Manner, the Advocate General into the Court of Appeals, the Business of that Court might be made easy to the Members of the Board; and I must think also, that if such an Officer as Judge of Appeals should be created, he has the most natural Right to it.

2d. The Supreme Court and the Governor General and Council might sit together as a Court of Appeals, according to the Principle of the Bill already mentioned.

3d. The Objections against the Chief Justice, lie with less Force against either of the inferior Judges; and,

4th, Least of all against the Presidence of all the Judges, in Rotation.

Board's Resolution of the 18th October.

Resolved, That the Chief Justice be requested to accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their stead; and that on his Acceptance of it, he be appointed to it, and stiled "The Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut."

The Secretary having, by the Governor General's Directions, waited on the Chief Justice with the preceding Resolution, he lays before the Board a Letter delivered to him by the Chief Justice, in Answer.

To the Honourable the Governor General and Council, &c. &c.

Honourable Sir and Sirs,
Your Secretary, Mr. Baugh, has this Morning communicated to me your Resolution of the 18th Instant.

I am sensible of the Honour conferred on me, by the Trust you have reposed in me;—accept of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under its present Regulations, and such others as the Board shall think proper to add to them, or to substitute in their stead; and will, with great Readiness, dedicate my vacant Time to the Service of the Public.

I have the Honour to be, &c.
(Signed) . E. Impey.

Fort William,
19th October, 1780.

Agreed, conformably to the Resolution of the Board, that the Chief Justice be appointed Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

Ordered, That Notice of the Chief Justice's Appointment be sent to the Superintendents of the several Dewannee Adauluts; and agreed, That the Provincial Councils be also advised thereof, as follows:

To Mr. David Anderson, Chief, &c. Provincial Council for the Division of Calcutta, at Houghly.

Gentlemen,
The Chief Justice having accepted of the Charge and Superintendency of the Office of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, we have appointed him to it, with the Title of Judge of that Court.

Fort William,
the 26th October, 1780.

We are, &c.

The same to all the Provincial Councils.

The Governor General recommends, that a Salary of 5,000 Sicca Rupees, and 600 Sicca Rupees per Month for the Rent of an Office, may be allowed to the Chief Justice for this Appointment; and that the Motion do lie for the Consideration of the Board, to be decided on at their next Meeting.

Agreed, That it do lie accordingly.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council at Fort William, in their Revenue Department, the 3d November 1780.

The Governor General lays before the Board, the following Regulations for the Sudder and inferior Dewannee Adauluts, prepared by Sir Elijah Impey, and carefully revised by him; and recommends, that they may be transmitted to the Superintendents with the necessary Orders, requiring their Conformity to them.

1st. That all Rules, Orders, Regulations, and Resolutions respecting the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut and Provincial Dewannee Adauluts heretofore established by the Authority of any former President and Council, Governor General and Council, or Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, be confirmed, and be and remain Standing Rules and Orders of the said Courts respectively; except in such Matters and Things as the same may be varied by the Rules and Orders hereby established, or which shall hereafter be established by the Governor General and Council, or by the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut.

2d. That the Judges of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts do execute and perform all such Matters and Things which were required to be executed and performed by the Collectors, Provincial Councils, or any Judge or Judges of any Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, respecting the Administration of Justice in the Month of May 1772, or by any subsequent Rule, Order, Regulation, or Resolution of the late President and Council, Governor General and Council, or Court of Sudder Dewannee, in as much as the same are consistent with, or conformable to, the Rules, Orders, Regulations, and Resolutions hereby made.

3d. That it be not competent to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut to proceed on any Appeal in any Cause heretofore decreed and adjudged in any Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, unless the same shall have been presented to a Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, or to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, before the First Day of June, which shall be in the Year of our Lord 1781: That all Appeals against any Judgment, Decree, or final Order, which shall be made in any Provincial Dewannee

Adaulut,

Adaulut, after the First Day of November 1780, shall be presented within Three Calendar Months after the Day of the Decree given, and Copies thereof delivered to the Parties : That in every Case where any Appeal shall be presented to the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, the Judge of the said Court shall immediately indorse thereon, in his own Hand Writing, and sign it with his Name, the Day of the Month and Year in which such Petition was presented ; and if the original Cause of Action be concerning the Right or Possession of any Houses or Lands, all Proceedings shall immediately be stayed, and no Execution had, or Possession given under the Judgment, Decree, or final Order appealed against, until the said Appeal shall have been finally determined in the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut : Provided, that the Party appealing shall enter into good and sufficient Security to abide by such Judgment, in a Sum not exceeding Five hundred Sicca Rupees, for the Purpose of answering such Costs as the opposite Party may be put to in consequence of such Appeal : And if the Petition of Appeal be in any Case in which any Sum of Money, Goods, or Chattels, be adjudged to the Plaintiff, then such Security to be taken for the Sum decreed, or for the Value of such Goods and Chattels, together with Five hundred Sicca Rupees, for the Purpose of answering such Costs as the opposite Party may be put to in consequence of such Appeal.

4th. That the Judge of such Provincial Dewannee Adaulut shall, within Ten Days next after the Receipt of such Appeal, certify under his Hand and Seal, to the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, the original Arzee, Petition, or Plaint, together with the original Answers or Answer of the Defendants or Defendant ; the original Depositions taken in the Case ; the original Exhibits, and every Rule, Order, Decree, Judgment, Matter, or Thing, in anywise relating to the said Case ; and shall cause to be made true and exact Copies of all such Proceedings as shall be transmitted to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, authenticated by the Register or Clerk of such Provincial Dewannee Adaulut ; which said Copies shall be and remain of Record in such Court : That where any Appeal shall be presented directly to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, the Judge of the Court in which the original Cause was instituted, shall obey all such Rules and Orders of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut as shall be certified to him under the Seal of the said Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, witnessed by the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and signed by the Register of the said Court.

That before any Appeal be allowed by the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, that, besides what was heretofore required by the said Court, the Party appealing shall enter into such Security for the due Prosecution of his Appeal, and Payment of Costs, as the said Sudder Dewannee Adaulut shall think fit to award.

6th. That upon the passing of every Decree, Judgment, or final ordinary Case in the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, each Party be immediately furnished with a Copy thereof ; and that the same be tendered to, or delivered to them or their Vackeels, properly authorized : And the Register or Chief Clerk of the said Court shall endorse thereon, the Date of the Time on which such Decree was made, and Copies delivered, and authenticate the same with his Signature in his own Hand-writing.

7th. That all Process, as well to the Party as Witnesses, and all Process whatsoever, and all Rules and Orders for the Execution of any Judgment, Decree, or final Orders, or any Matter whatsoever relating to any Cause depending in the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, be directed to the Judge of the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut in which the Cause of Action shall originally have arisen, or in whose Jurisdiction the Lands be situated, or the Parties or Witnesses shall be or reside ; and that every such Process, Rule, and Order, do limit a Time certain, within which the same shall be served, executed, and returned to the said Sudder Dewannee Adaulut ; which Process, Rules, and Orders, shall be sealed with the Seal of the said Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, attested by the Judge thereof, and authenticated by the Register thereof ; and the Judge to whom the same shall be directed, shall execute the Orders contained in such Process, Rule, or Order, and return the same within the Time limited, or return to the said Court good and sufficient Reason why the same hath not been served or executed ; and what the said Judge hath done in pursuance thereof : Provided, that if any Judge to whom such Process, Rule, and Order, shall be directed, shall wilfully disobey or neglect to perform the Commands therein contained, or shall make a false Return thereto, such Judge shall be liable to be suspended from his Office, by Order of the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, until the Governor General and Council shall, upon Report to be made to them by the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, have examined into and determined on the Matter reported to them ; and if the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut shall suspend such Judge, the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut shall, within Ten Days after such Suspension, report to the Governor General and Council such Suspension, together with the Cause thereof, and certify under his Hand, and the Seal of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, all such Proceedings, Depositions, and Exhibits, and all other Matters which may be necessary for the Examination into and Determination upon such Suspension ; and shall, on Requisition of the Governor General and Council, transmit to them all such Papers and Proceedings in the Cause, which they may esteem necessary for their Investigation.

8th. The Sudder Dewannee Adaulut is hereby authorized and empowered to frame such Rules of Practice, and Standing Orders, for the Administration of Justice as well in the said Sudder Dewannee

A P P E N D I X, N° 4.

Adaulut, as in the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, so that the same be transmitted to the Governor General and Council; under the Seal of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, for their Approbation; Controul, or Alteration; and the Judges of the respective Provincial Courts are hereby strictly enjoined and commanded, in every Act, Matter, or Thing by them to be done, strictly to conform to the Rules and Regulations hereby transmitted to them, and to all other Rules of Practice and Standing Orders for Administration of Justice, which shall hereafter be transmitted to them from the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, under the Seal of the said Court, witnessed by the Judge thereof, and signed by the Register thereof.

9th. That the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, be authorized to make such reasonable Adjournments as consistently with the Business thereof he may think fit; and in case of his Absence through Illness, that the Register do make such Adjournments as he shall direct.

10th. That the Judge of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut may, for just Cause, remove any Officer or Officers of the said Court; and that in case of the Death, Removal, Resignation, or other Avoidance of any Office held under the said Court, the Judge of the said Court be authorized to appoint any other Person or Persons, duly qualified, to such Office or Offices as shall have become vacant.— That in case of Vacancy of the Office of Register to the said Court, no Appointment be made thereto, without the Consent and Approbation of the Governor General and Council; and all such Officers so appointed, shall be entitled to have and receive such Salaries and Emoluments as were enjoyed by their Predecessors respectively.

11th. That it be competent to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut to hear, try, and determine any Arzee, Petition, Matter of Complaint, or Dispute whatsoever, which shall be for that Purpose transmitted to the said Court by the Governor General and Council.

12th. That it be competent to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, in case of any Appeal, where the original Cause has not been sufficiently investigated in the inferior Court, or for other Cause which may be deemed reasonable by the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, either to receive such further Evidence as may be proper for the just Determination of the Cause, or to send the Cause back to the inferior Court where it originated, with special Directions to the Judge thereof, with regard to the new Evidence he shall receive thereon, as shall be deemed by the said Court most conducive to Justice, and the Convenience of the Parties and Witnesses.

13th. That the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut may, as it may deem conducive to Justice, Respect being had to the Nature of the Cause and the Evidence, either examine the Witnesses to be produced in Court, viva voce, in open Court, causing the Witnesses to be first sworn, their Depositions reduced into Writing, and signed by the Witnesses respectively; or authorize the Register of the Court to swear and examine such Witnesses, take their Depositions in Writing, and procure the same to be signed by the respective Witnesses, and authenticate the same by his Signature, so that such Examination be in the Presence of both Parties, or their Vackeels, who shall be at Liberty to put such Questions to the Witnesses as they shall think proper; which Questions, and the Answers thereto, shall be in like Manner reduced into Writing, signed and authenticated. Provided nevertheless, if due Notice be given to the Parties, or their Vackeels, of the Examination of any Witness or Witnesses before such Register, and he or they shall not attend at the Time of such Examination, the Register shall and is hereby authorized to proceed to the Examination as before directed; and such Depositions shall be received as good and authentic Evidence. Provided, that where any Witness may be of such Rank, Cast, and Quality, that it may be, from the Prejudice of the Country, improper to administer an Oath to them, the Judge of the Court may dispense with their being sworn, on their subscribing a Declaration to the following Effect, viz. If the Witness be a Hindoo, "I will faithfully answer such Questions as shall be put to me by the Court (or the Register thereof) in the Cause now before the Court, according to the Truth; I will declare nothing not warranted by the Truth; if I declare any Thing not warranted by the Truth, I shall be deserving of Punishment from Ihhar."—And in case such a Witness be a Mussulman, "I do sincerely promise and swear, in the Presence of Almighty God, that I will faithfully, and without Partiality, answer any Question put to me by the Court (or the Register thereof) respecting the Cause now before the Court, according to Truth." And the Testimony and Deposition of such Witness or Witnesses so subscribing, shall be as valid as if the Witnesses had been sworn.

That it be competent to the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut to receive any original Complaint whatever, and refer the same to the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, to whose Jurisdiction the Matter of Complaint shall of Right belong, and to order and command the Judge of the Court to hear, try, and determine the same.

That no Judge of any Provincial Dewannee Adaulut shall, upon any Pretence whatsoever, cause to be made any Report of any Matters of Fact, relating to any Cause depending before them by any Officer or Officers whatsoever; and that no Depositions or Deposition of Witness or Witnesses be read in any Cause, unless the same shall have been made publicly in open Court by such Witness or Witnesses, him or themselves, after having been duly sworn, in that Form or Manner which shall be deemed most binding on his or their Conscience, "bespeak the Truth, the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth;" and before such Witness or Witnesses shall have signed or attested tested the same; and that every Exhibit, or written Evidence whatsoever, be produced in open Court at the Trial, and duly proved by Examination of Witnesses, sworn as aforesaid, whose Depositions shall be reduced into Writing, and attested as aforesaid; and that every Exhibit or Exhibits, with proper Marks describing the same, and referred to in the Deposition or Depositions, proving the same be annexed to such Deposition or Depositions. Nevertheless, that it be competent to such Judge to refer any Question arising on the Mussulman or Hindoo Law, to any Maulavy or Maulavies, Pundit or Pundits, Respect being had to the Law in which each is conversant; so that such Maulavy or Maulavies, Pundit or Pundits, be duly sworn to answer to the best of his or their Judgment or Judgments: And that a Statement of Facts on which the Question shall arise, be made out in Writing, signed by the Judge of the Court, and be delivered to such Maulavy or Maulavies, Pundit or Pundits, for his or their Opinion thereon, and a Blank left for the Answer or Answers of such Maulavy or Maulavies, Pundit or Pundits, to be wrote on the same Paper on which the Question is stated, immediately under and following the same, and be signed by and with the Names of such Maulavy or Maulavies, Pundit or Pundits, together with the Date of the Time when such Question or Questions was or were submitted to him or them, and when such Answers shall be given.

That if any written Evidence be offered to any Provincial Dewannee Adaulut, in any Cause depending therein, if the Court shall in their Judgment think fit to reject the same, the Judge so rejecting such Evidence, shall endorse on the Back thereof the Word "Rejected," together with the Name of the Cause, and the Date of the Time when the same shall be rejected; and shall enter a Memorandum on the same, or on a Paper thereto to be annexed, of his Reason for not admitting the same on Evidence, with his Name subscribed thereto; and shall return the same so endorsed, and with such Memorandum, to the Person attempting to produce the same in Evidence.

That all Rules, Orders, Regulations, and Resolutions heretofore made by the late President and Council, and Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, with regard to the Administration of Justice in the said Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, and Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, together with the Rules, Orders, Regulations, and Resolutions thereby made and ordained, be forthwith published by Advertisement at the Presidency, and Copies thereof be transmitted to the Judges of the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, with Orders to carry them into Execution; and to publish them, by Advertisement affixed in the Cutcherries where such Courts shall be held or sit.

The Board approving of the above Regulations, ordered the Secretary do furnish the Superintendents of the several Provincial Dewannee Adauluts, with Copies of them for their Guidance.

Mr. Francis.—I cannot give my Assent to that Part of the 12th Article, by which, in the Case of an Appeal, the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut is authorized to receive such further Evidence as may be proper for the just Determination of the Cause. The Reasons on which my Opinion on this Point are founded, and to which I adhere, are expressed in a joint Minute, signed by Sir John Clavering, Colonel Monson, and myself, on the 21st of March 1776, in the Secret Department, and recorded on the 29th of May following, an Extract from which I beg Leave to enter here:

Extract of a Joint Minute of Sir John Clavering, Colonel Monson, and Philip Francis, Esquire; bearing Date the 21st of March 1776, and recorded on the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Secret Department, under Date the 29th of May 1776.

"The First or Superior Court to be composed of the Governor General and Council, and of the Chief Justice and Judges, supposes the executive to assume the Office of the judicial Power; and this Court, which is of Appeal in the last Resort, may receive fresh Exhibits, and examine new Witnesses. In both Instances, in the Constitution and Practice of the Court we see a direct Violation of the First Principles of English Jurisprudence, without the Plea of adhering to the Institutions of the Country.—The Examination of new Witnesses is liable to this further Objection, that, being discretionary, it is open to Interest and Partiality. If admitted in all or many Cases, the Court would soon sink under the Weight of Business, or be compelled to relinquish it."

The Governor General desires, that the Reasons on which that Part of the 12th Article, objected to by Mr. Francis, was first introduced into Practice in the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, may be added in this Place by the Secretary.

The Secretary having searched the Records of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, for the Regulation referred to by the Governor General, has not been able to find it, occasioned by one of the Sections of the literary Proceedings of that Court, being at present mislaid; for, with respect to the Regulation itself, the former Assistant in that Department has a Recollection of its standing recorded; as appears also by the Practice having been introduced and used in the judicial Process of that Court.

Harley-Street, 14th November 1781.

Sir,
ON the 20th of last Month, I requested Mr. Michell to inform the Court of Directors of my Arrival in London. On the same Day, I did myself the Honour of waiting on you at your House; and the Monday following on the Deputy Chairman. Since that Time, I have waited in Town in daily Expectation of receiving the Commands of the Court of Directors, or your's, in some Shape or other; but no Notice whatsoever has yet been taken of me. The Explanation with which you favoured me this Morning, as I understand it, leaves me no Room to doubt, that this Neglect of me, on your Part at least, if not on that of the Court of Directors, has been deliberate and intended; I am therefore obliged, in Vindication of my Character and Conduct in the Company's Service, to take this Method, which you yourself preferred as the least liable to Misconstruction or Mistake, of requesting, that, at the first Meeting, you will receive the Sense of the Court of Directors on the following Question :

“ Whether, in their Judgment, I have or have not executed the Duties of my Station, in the Government of Fort William, faithfully and honourably ?”

If

A P P E N D I X, N° 6.

If they say No, I trust and expect that they will, at the same Time, point out in what Instances or Instance, I have not acted faithfully and honourably to the East India Company : If they say Yes, I then request, that you will express to them my Hope and Expectation, that I shall be called upon to receive their Approbation of my Conduct directly from themselves, in the Form and Manner usually observed on such Occasions. No Man knows better than you do, that the Acknowledgement I claim from them, if they should think it in Substance due to me, is not a mere Compliment or Formality, or that it can be omitted to me, without an indirect Censure of my Conduct. No Man knows better than you do, that I have deserved the Approbation of my Employers.

The Conversation I had with you Yesterday, will enable you to satisfy the Court of Directors, that nothing is intended in this Letter, that can or ought to be deemed inconsistent with the Respect due to that Public Body, of which you are at present the Chief Member.

I have the Honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient
humble Servant,

Laurence Sullivan, Esq. Chairman of the Court of Directors

P. Francis.

East India-House, 14th November 1781.

Sir,

The Chairman of the East India Company having received and laid before the Court of Directors, your Letter dated this Day, I am ordered to acquaint you, that they have, on Consideration thereof, desired the Chairman and Deputy Chairman to receive such Information as you may please to offer on the Company's Affairs. I am also further ordered to acquaint you, in regard to the other Part of your Letter, that the Court of Directors will take the same into future Consideration ; and that the Chairman and Deputy Chairman will be ready to receive you at this House, at such Time as may be most convenient to yourself.

I am, Sir,

Your most obedient
humble Servant,

P. Francis, Esq.

P. Michell, Secretary.

Harley-Street, 15th November 1781.

Sir,

I am to acknowledge the Favour of your Letter, in which you inform me, " That the Court of Directors have, in Consideration of my Letter to the Chairman of the 14th Instant, desired the Chairman and Deputy Chairman to receive such Information as I might offer on the Company's Affairs ; and that, in regard to the other Part of my Letter, the Court of Directors will take the same into future Consideration."

In Reply to this Notification of the Pleasure of the Court of Directors, I beg that, in the first Place, you will please to observe to them, that there is not one Word in my Letter of the 14th Instant, to the Chairman, that either directly expresses, or indirectly implies, an Offer on my Part, or a Desire, to give them Information on the Company's Affairs. On a Re-perusal it will appear, that I confined myself strictly and exclusively to a single Point, which you describe to be the other Part of my Letter, and which relates solely to myself, and the Situation in which I stand. I did not solicit the Court of Directors to give me Audience for the Purpose of offering to them any Information on the Company's Affairs ; I did most cautiously avoid it, because I thought it belonged to them to demand such Information from me, if they were of Opinion that any Information within my Knowledge or Judgment, might be of Importance to the Company's Service.

My Letter to the Court of Directors from St. Helena, dated the 29th of March 1781, contains the following Passage : " It gives me great Concern, that my proceeding to England is likely to be delayed, as I believe it to be very material to the Company's Service, that the Information, which I am able to give you, of the real State of your Affairs in India, should be laid before you as speedily as possible ;" and I did conclude that the Court of Directors, having this Intimation before them, would have fixed upon an early Day, after my Arrival in London, to call for my Attendance. They alone, however, were to judge of the Propriety or Impropriety of doing so. It was not for me to force any Thing into their View, which did not immediately and essentially concern myself.

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup> 6, 7.

You will be pleased to inform the Court, that, in Obedience to their Commands, I shall, on Monday next, do myself the Honour to wait on the Chairman and Deputy Chairman, at the East India House.

Secretary to the Honourable the Court of Directors.

humble Servant,

Mr. Francis's Letter to the Court of Directors:

Gentlemen,

FOR your Convenience, as well as to assist my own Memory, I have thrown together, in the Paper which I have now the Honour to deliver you, short Memorandums of the principal Points on which I wish and propose to give you all the Information in my Power. Some Things will require Explanation—others may have been omitted, which I may recollect hereafter. I am ready, and shall be so at all Times, to answer any Questions you may think fit to put to me; and I hope that, if any Thing farther should occur to me, which may now have escaped my Attention, you will allow me to communicate it to you in Writing, whether as a Correction of any of the Contents of this Paper, or in Addition to them.

East India House,
19th November, 1781.

I have the Honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient, and
humble Servant,
P. Francis.

Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the Honourable the Court of Directors.

East India House, 19th November 1781.

When I had the Honour of addressing the Court of Directors from St. Helena, it was not known to me, that one of the Subjects on which I proposed to give them Information, would be brought so directly and explicitly into their View, as I find it has been, by Mr. Hastings's Letter to them of the 2d of December 1780—as he therein expressly tells you, "That they shall be under the Necessity of making a large Reduction, and possibly a total Suspension of your Investment for the ensuing Year; and that he cannot pronounce what their Ability may be, beyond that Period."—I have nothing to offer on that Head, but that I am thoroughly convinced that the Necessity to which Mr. Hastings alludes, will continue to operate, if not increase, in its Force, and in all its Effects; and that no Man, who knows any Thing of the real State of India, can, even by Conjecture, point out a Period at which such Necessity will cease to be felt. Peace at present is not within Sight; and whenever there shall be a Peace, I can venture to assure you, that the comparative State of your Expences and Resources in India, as they will then stand, will not exhibit a Surplus applicable to the Purchase of an Investment. It is my most serious Opinion, that you will never again have an Investment purchased with any Savings from the Revenues of Bengal. I hear you have lately authorized the Governor General and Council to draw upon you for Five hundred thousand Pounds, to be applied strictly to this Object:—You know, better than I do, how long the Company can support such a Demand upon their Resources in England.—As long as it can be supported, you will consult the Welfare of Bengal at least, in laying this Burden on the Company. If there be no Investment purchased in one Year, the landed Revenue of the Country will, in a little Time, be found to fail nearly in the same Proportion: One is, in effect, the Supply of the other.—Again, as there is properly no Trade in Bengal, or next to none, but that which is created by the Purchase of the Company's Investment, it follows, that in whatever Proportion such Investment is diminished, the Manufacturers are so far forth left without Employment—the Consequence of which must be, that they will either fly the Country, or turn to some other Occupation, and the Manufactures be proportionably debased, if not irrecoverably lost.—Reflections of this Nature, I presume, must have occurred to you, when you authorized the Governor General and Council to draw upon you for so large a Sum. Whether it will be in their Power to apply the Whole of it in the Manner you expect, I very much doubt:—But as a collateral Resource, applicable to the same Object, I submit it to you to consider, whether the following Idea might not be adopted with Advantage, under such Corrections and Improvements as your own Judgment may suggest: That all Europeans, and others, resident in Bengal, having Money which they wish to remit to England, should be invited to subscribe it into the Treasury of the Board of Trade, to be applied to the Purchase of Piece Goods, Raw Silk, &c. on Condition that their Bills on the Company, at a favourable Rate of Exchange (suppose, for Example, 2s. 1d. the Current Rupee) shall be accepted and paid at a given Period after the Arrival of the Ships in England. This Expedient, I believe, would produce Twenty-five Lacks a Year, at least for a Year or Two; and, as far as it went, the Extraction of Specie from England and from Bengal, would be proportionably and equally saved. I submit this merely as an Hint to your better Judgment.

The Second Point on which I meant to offer you some Information, was the State of the Administration of Justice in Bengal; but, as I find that this Subject has been already taken up by the Legislature, and is likely to be resumed at the Meeting of Parliament, I shall not enter further into it in this Place.—One Fact only it is fit you should be apprized of, because it directly concerns the Company's Interest, and may require some immediate Orders from you. It is, that whereas, in many Acts and Declarations of the Governor General and Council, and more particularly, in their Declaration made to the Supreme Court of Judicature on the 11th March 1780, it was constantly avowed and maintained by them, that the Zemindars and other Landholders of Bengal, were exclusively subject to the Jurisdiction of the Governor General and Council—the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court was, nevertheless, appointed in October 1780, by a Majority of the Board, consisting of the Governor General and Sir Eyre Coote against Mr. Wheler and me, to be Superintendent or Judge of the Dewannee Adauluts, and to decide, in the last Resort, in all Appeals from those Courts;—that the Chief Justice had accepted the Office; and that on the 24th of October, the Governor General proposed an Allowance of 5,600 Sicca Rupees a Month for the Chief Justice, which at that Time was not voted.

These Subjects being dismissed, I come to the great leading Facts, which constitute the actual State of India, as far as I am acquainted with it—1st. The Dominions of your Ally, or rather your Vassal, the Nabob of Oude, are utterly, and I believe irrecoverably ruined. In the Year 1776, the Revenues of that Country, and its Dependencies, exceeded Three hundred Lacks of Rupees. In April 1780, they were so reduced, that whereas the Company's Demand on the Vizier for that Year, as stated by Mr. Charles Purling, amounted to One hundred and Twenty Lacks, and as stated by me, to One hundred and Fifty Lacks, no Assignments could be had from the Vizier for more than Ninety Lacks, and he himself was reduced to the absolute Want of a bare Subsistence for himself and his Family. You will find the Particulars recorded in our Consultation of the 3d of April 1780. You cannot but be sensible how far the Fact of itself extends, and to what Consequences it leads. I mention it now for the following Reason, out of many that are still more important. I find, that in the Report of the Committee of Proprietors, dated the 19th of December 1780, Credit is taken (under the Head of Outstanding Debts due to the Company) for Current Rupees, 25,65,989, due by Asoph ul Dowlah, Nabob of Oude, with as much apparent Confidence and Security, as if you had the Money in your Treasury in Leadenhall Street:—Now I do assure you, that this Debt, so far from being discharged, is by this Time immoderately increased; and that it never can be discharged out of the Revenues of Oude, which, when I left India, were far short of being equal to the indispensable Establishments of that Government, and which were still declining rapidly every Day.—2d. I have good Reason to believe, that your Ally, the Rana of Gobud, as I find him entitled in the Governor General's Letter, is much dissatisfied with the Presence of your Troops, and with the Effects it has produced in his Country: That Major Popham was so apprehensive of being betrayed by him to the Marattas, that he seldom or never ventured to communicate his Plan of Operations to him, and more particularly in the Instance of his Enterprize on Guawlior: And that no Part of the Subsidy due by the Treaty from the Rana, or only a very small Proportion of it, had been discharged. The Truth is, he is too inconsiderable; that I had hardly ever heard of his Name, before the Treaty of Alliance with him, and Guarantee of his Dominions, were proposed by the Governor General.—3d. With respect to the Rajah of Berar, you are already in Possession of my Opinion of his Views and Disposition towards our Government, and of the Intent and Consequence of his keeping an Army stationed upon our Frontier in Cuttack. In my Letter of the 29th of March last, I told you that he had made a Demand of Money from us, for the Payment of this Army. I must now add it as a Fact, which I have absolute Reason to believe true, though I am not able to prove it, that Money to the Amount of Three or Four Lacks of Rupees, was actually sent to the Commandant of that Army, and that a much larger Sum was promised by the Governor General, without the Advice, Consent, or Knowledge of the Council. With respect to the Detachment under the Command of Lieutenant Colonel Pearce, avowedly formed for the Purpose of marching through Cuttack and the Northern Circars, towards the Carnatic, and of co-operating with Sir Eyre Coote, Coote, I must inform you, that so long as the above Maratta Army remains upon our Frontier, the Detachment cannot move without leaving Bengal open to Invasion; that while the Marattas keep the same or any other Situation upon our Frontier, they necessarily engage too much of our Force and Attention from other Objects; which, without an actual Rupture with us, produces many other Effects of the most avowed Hostility. I do not think the Governor General himself will deem it prudent to move Colonel Pearce's Detachment Southwards, until the Danger which may and ought to be apprehended from the uncertain Motions of the Rajah of Berar, shall be clearly and absolutely removed: He cannot do it, but in Contradiction to my Opinion, repeatedly given at the Board, and which ought to hold good as long as the State of Facts is the same: He never can obtain the Consent of Mr. Wheeler, who I know is immoveably fixed in this Point: And finally, he cannot do it even with the Approbation of Sir Eyre Coote, who, though very desirous of receiving every possible Support from Bengal, did nevertheless freely admit that the Measure was not to be thought of, unless we were perfectly secure of the Maratta Army in Cuttack. You already know, that in November 1780, the bonded and other Debts against your Treasury in Bengal, exceeded Eighty Lack of Current Rupees. You may depend upon it, that that Burthen will increase as long at least as the War continues, and as long as Money can be borrowed on any Terms. — 4th. In the Report of the Committee of Proprietors, I find the bonded Debt of Bombay stated at Bombay Rupees, 35,11,955. The Fact is, that on the 30th of April 1780, their bonded Debt amounted to Bombay Rupees, 50,89,213. Having no Means to pay the Interest of 9 per Cent. on this Debt, their Practice is to convert the Interest at the End of every Half Year, into Principal, Supposing this to be done, as I have no Doubt it has been, the Result will be, that at the End of October 1781, their bonded Debt will amount to Bombay Rupees, 58,07,634. Admitting that the Debt is not otherwise increased by an additional Loan. It is also a Fact, that, by their own Estimate, their Expences from April 1780 to April 1781, would exceed their Resources in the Sum of Rupees, 38,34,492, which of course is a Debt on the Government, whether bonded or not: The whole Bombay Debt therefore, without reckoning any Thing incurred since April last, must now stand at Bombay Rupees, 96,42,126, and this I believe to be very much under the Amount.

5th. I cannot speak particularly of the bonded Debt at Fort Saint George, but I have heard from good Authority, that it amounted to the utmost they could borrow. One Fact, however, is necessary to be brought into your immediate Observation; that whereas the Committee of Proprietors have taken Credit in their Report for Outstanding Debts and Property at Fort Saint George, convertible into Cash, to the Amount of £1,380,083: That whole Credit, or by far the greatest Part of it, is ideal. Their Expences are estimated by Sir Eyre Coote at above Seven Lacks of Rupees a Month, which, he declares, “ must all come from Bengal, as there were no Resources in the Carnatic, from which a single Pagoda was to be expected.”

6th. In Bengal, I am first to observe to you, that all the Establishments in the Civil Departments have been immoderately increased since Sir John Clavering's Death; but these, however great in themselves, are not to be mentioned in Comparison with the Excess to which the Military Charges have been carried in the same Period. In the 28th Article of the Instructions which General Clavering, Colonel Monson, and I, carried out with us, in the Year 1774, the Company say, “ Our Military Expences at Bengal having increased to a Degree, which is become insupportable to us, we, in an especial Manner, enjoin you to make strict Enquiry into the Causes of such Increase, &c.” At that Time, the Military Charge which the Company called insupportable, as in Truth it was, did not exceed Eighty Lacks of Current Rupees per Annum; the Estimate of the same Establishment, for the Year ending in April last, amounted to Two hundred and Fourteen Lacks and an Half; and this Charge, I conclude, has increased in the current Year; I am sure it cannot have been diminished. I am unwilling to say any thing of the actual State of the Army, in regard to its effective Strength, compared with the Establishment, its Discipline, or the Punctuality with which the Native Troops are paid, because it would be going out of my own Department, and partly because I cannot give you Lights on this Subject, from my own direct Knowledge of it: Thus far however I think it my Duty to say, that from my own Observation, and from all the Information I have been able to collect, I have too much Reason to believe, that your Army actually wants a strict Inspection into its Discipline, and a vigorous Command over it; and that this is true in a Degree much beyond what you will be inclined to believe, or what I could make good. The Thing in its Nature is not capable of Proof in England, your Judgment therefore must be guided and determined by your Opinion of the Veracity and Honour of those whom you consult.

7th. In the Report of the Committee of Proprietors, I am sorry to observe, among several other exceptionable Articles, that Credit is taken for Outstanding Debts due to the Company in Bengal, to the Amount of Current Rupees 77,22,548, and that this Sum makes Part of the final Balance of Pounds Sterling, supposed to be in Favour of the Company, just as much as the Money in your Treasury, or the Value of the Goods in your Warehouses, in London. I beg Leave to assure you, that these Debts, or the greatest Part of them, have stood for Years on the Company's Books, and are believed in Bengal to be desperate. I declare to you I never heard of a Debt of any Consequence being recovered by the Company in India. If these Debts were of a recoverable Nature, it is to be presumed that a considerable, or at least some Part of them, would have been recovered at a Time when the Governor General and Council were trying every possible Expedient to borrow Money at an high Interest : But the Fact, on the contrary, from a Comparison of the Accounts in my Possession, stands thus :

25th September 1779, Total Debts due to the Company	—	—	—	108,21,543
31st October 1780, Ditto	—	—	—	110,74,218
Increase of Debts due to the Company in those Thirteen Months	—	—	—	2,52,675

8th. Thus far, without descending to minuter Objects, I have confined myself to what I believe to be strictly the Facts, in stating to you the general Situation of your Affairs : My Opinion on some of them shall be laid before you, with the same Freedom and Sincerity.

I find, with Concern, that a Habit begins to prevail in this Country, of sending out new Corps of Europeans for the Service in India. In my Judgment, and in that of all the Officers of Experience with whom I have conversed in Bengal, you would find it a much less expensive, and a much more effectual Method of providing for that Branch of your Service, if you sent out Recruits sufficient to complete the European Regiments at the several Presidencies. The dividing those Regiments into Two Battalions each, when the Companies could not shew above Twenty-three Rank and File, was a most ill-advised Measure, and produced many bad Effects, besides a very great Increase of Expence. When I left India, they wanted more than Half their Complement. Your Army in Bengal, if the Establishment be kept complete, is sufficiently numerous ; it does not want Field Officers, at least not many ; nor Captains, nor Subalterns ; in these Ranks, I believe your Army is as well supplied as any Service in that Country can require : But it does want Two or Three General Officers, Men of Activity, of Experience, and of established Reputations ; if possible, they should be in the Prime of Life, and as high in Point of personal Rank as can be found ; under their Inspections, your Establishments will be kept complete, and your Troops in general, acquire as much Discipline and Vigour, as an Indian Army is capable of, or as the Nature of that Service is likely to demand.

9th. With respect to your Connections or Differences with the Country Powers, I have already told you in what Estimation the English Name and Authority are universally held by those Powers. The Re-establishment of Peace in India, which in Effect is no more than reverting to your own original Principles, is now become indispensably necessary, not only to your Prosperity or to your Safety, but I say, to your Existence. If the present Wars are to be continued, you can no more support the Consequences of Success than of Defeat : No Victory in India will ever again pay the Expence of the Army that gains it. I need not tell you, what Effect another Defeat might produce. The Disaster which befel Colonel Bailie's Detachment, was felt in the most distant Parts of our Provinces : Another Event of the same Nature would, as I apprehend, go near to drive all the Sepoys out of your Service.—Before the late unfortunate Transactions on the Two Coasts, the Reputation of your Arms had supported your Credit and Influence throughout India. But that Reputation has been wantonly hazarded, and severely wounded ; and your Credit and Influence have accordingly sunk along with it. Peace then, at all Events, must be your Object. On this Point I can give you other Explanations, if they are desired ; if not, I shall content myself with saying, that the Indian Powers have lost all Confidence in the Good Faith and Steadiness of the Government of Bengal.

You cannot but be thoroughly possessed of my Opinion of the Injustice and Imprudence of all our Proceedings with respect to the Marrattas : On this Subject you now have all the Evidence before you, that Argument and Reason, confirmed by the most ruinous Experience, are capable of furnishing. In attempting to support the Pretensions of Ragoba, and the Views of the Presidency of Bombay, you found the unanimous Opinion of the Governor General and Council, that is, of Men who seldom agreed in other Points, decidedly against the Measure. This was true at least in the Year 1775, though a different System has since prevailed in Bengal. I shall say nothing of the Conduct of Mr. Hastings's Negotiation with Moodajee Boosla. You see to what a State they have reduced us, and in what Conclusion they have ended. In my Judgment, the Principle on which that Scheme was professedly founded, stood in Opposition to the obvious Dictates of sound Policy and common Sense. After the Death of Madharow in 1772, the Union of that great Body, which constituted the Maratta Empire, was dissolved. The principal Chiefs set up for themselves, and no longer acknowledged any one common Superior ; or, if they acknowledged the Superiority of the Infant Peshwa, it was purely a Matter of Form. In this State, they naturally endeavoured to secure their respective Independence, by courting the Friendship, or at least by avoiding the Enmity, of the English Power. In what Sense could it possibly be our Interest to restore the Union of an Empire so dissolved, supposing the Attempt practicable, or to vest its united Strength in the Hands of a single Person ? In the Year 1778, they were so divided among themselves, that nothing but our invading their Country, with the avowed Design of overturning their Government, could have made them act together.—Such was the Plan of Mr. Hastings's proposed Alliance with the Rajah of Berar, as it stands exhibited in his Instructions to the late Mr. Elliot, in July 1778, and in many other recorded Documents. The same Plan included another Object, not less unwise in Point of Policy, and still more dangerous in the Execution than the first : I mean the Project of uniting with Moodajee Boosla, to invade the Dominions of Nizam Ally Khan, and to deprive him of a considerable Part of his Possessions. From this Project, which could not be long a Secret to the Nizam, the subsequent Union, which appears to have been concerted by him, between Hyder Ally, the Marattas, Moodajee Booslah, and himself, took its Origin. The Invasion and Ruin of the Carnatic sprung from the same Source; and, in Conclusion, the Rajah of Berar, for whose Advancement the Plan is professedly formed, joins in the Confederacy against us, and in Effect (though not yet avowedly when I left India) becomes one of the most dangerous Enemies we have to contend with. If this Confederacy should not be strong enough to maintain itself, and to accomplish the Designs of the contracting Parties, whatever they may be, their last Resource will unquestionably be, to call in the French to their Assistance.—I will not trespass, Gentlemen, any longer on your Patience.—If Objections are made to any Thing advanced in this Paper, I believe I can answer them. If Explanations are wanted, I am ready to give them.—In entering so far as I have done into such a Detail, it is not my Purpose to criminate any Man, nor even to condemn Measures, merely for the Sake of condemning them.—Your Governments in India are actually involved in a Labyrinth of Difficulties. I therefore think it my Duty to trace to you the principal Steps by which you have been, imperceptibly to yourselves, misled into this Labyrinth; because I believe it to be the surest, if not the only Method you can take, to find your Way out of it.

P. Francis.

Copy of a Letter sent over some Time ago by Mr. Francis, late one of the Council of Bengal, and a Passenger in the last arrived Ships.

To the Court of Directors.

Calcutta, 12th December, 1780.

Gentlemen,

THE Accounts you will receive, of a Duel between Mr. Hastings and me, I presume will attract some Degree of your Attention. It concerns my Honour and Reputation, that the Transaction should be accurately stated to you in the first Instance, and through you to the Company. It also concerns the Company's Interest, that the Cause of this Event, with all the public Acts or Declarations of the Members of this Council, immediately or remotely connected with it, should appear fully before you. The only fair and impartial Method of bringing them forward, is by laying before you, as I now do, authentic Extracts of such our Proceedings, as have a Relation to them, without Narrative or Comment.

The Papers I send you enclosed, are not only necessary to possess you of the Nature and Occasion of the personal Difference between Mr. Hastings and me, but will give you such a View of the State of the Company's Affairs in this Part of India, and of the Measures which have produced it, as I trust will make a deep Impression on your Minds.

We are now endeavouring to tread back the fatal Steps which have been taken in the last Three Years, by this Government, and by the Presidency of Bombay; but I would not undertake to answer for the Success of our present Endeavours, because a right System may be attempted too late, or the Means taken in Pursuit of it, may not be the wisest that might be chosen. In our Circumstances, it is very difficult to say what Plan is likely to succeed, or what Plan is free from Objection. I shall contribute my Advice and Assistance as long as I continue in the Council; but I will not embarrass the Execution of Measures, which may prevail against my Opinion, by a useless, perhaps a dangerous, Opposition to it. My Efforts to prevent the Distress which has fallen upon your Affairs, were exerted, without Remission, during a long Period, in which they might have been of essential Service to you, if they had either been regarded here, or supported from Home. You have suffered the Company's fundamental Principles of Policy to be overset; their Instructions to the Governor General and Council to be violated, and your own specific Orders, in various Instances, to be disobeyed with Impunity. You have heaped Condemnation, from Year to Year, on the Governor General and another Member of your Council, in the strongest Terms that ever were applied to Men, possessing so high a Trust and Station, and not instantly divested of both. You have also been pleased to favour the late Sir John Clavering, Colonel Monson, Mr. Wheeler, and me, with repeated Assurances of your Approbation of our Principles and Conduct, and with repeated Promises of Support. You have given us Reason to expect definitive Orders and Regulations on many important Subjects,

A P P E N D I X, N° 8, 9.

Subjects, which have never been sent; particularly in an Instance of the first Magnitude and Importance, in which you have declared to us, "That the Measures which it might be necessary for you to take in Consequence thereof, in order to retrieve the Honour of the Company, and to prevent the like Abuse from being practised in future, should have your earliest and most serious Consideration."

At the End of Six Years, since the Institution of the present Government, the concluding State of Facts is, that the Men whose Conduct you have so condemned, have never received any serious Proof of your Displeasure; but on the contrary, have been continued in Trust and Station by a new Appointment; and the Principles and Measures which you have constantly reprobated, have been suffered to prevail and operate, from Year to Year, to their present Conclusion, in the Face of your own Orders and Instructions, against the most strenuous Opposition in the Council; and notwithstanding the strongest Remonstrances, both public and private, accompanied with the clearest Explanations of the real State of Affairs here, which have been sent Home by every Means in my Power, since my Arrival in the Country.—Look back to the Situation of your Affairs, as long as Sir John Clavering's Efforts and mine had Weight enough to preserve the Peace of India, to which, in the first Article of our Instructions, you ordered us to fix our Attention, and compare it with that to which an opposite Policy, permitted, if not encouraged, by yourselves, has reduced them. Every Step that led from one to the other, was regularly marked to you as it was taken. Every Event that has happened was foretold. I will not now predict to you what is likely to be the Condition of all the Company's Possessions in India: At the Time when you will receive this Letter, you will have Facts enough before you to judge for yourselves.

The Struggle to which I have dedicated my Labours so long without Effect, and in which I have sacrificed my Repose and the Peace of my Mind, to no Purpose, is now at an End. In the Course of Three Months I mean to quit Bengal, and return to England, where it is possible my Presence may be of some Use to the Company, though it is of none here.

I have the Honour to be,
Gentlemen,

Your most obedient humble Servant,
(Signed) P. Francis.

Extract of Bengal Revenue Consultations, the 23d of May 1775.

THE Governor General proposes, That as the dispatching the Northumberland he hopes will leave a less Weight of Business on the Hands of the Board, than with which they have been hitherto loaded; and as the Suspension of the Business of the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut may prove a great Obstruction to Justice, the Board do set apart every Wednesday as formerly, for the regular Meeting in this Court: That it be made a Rule of the Court, that Two Members may be sufficient to compose it; and in Case of a Difference of Opinion on any Cause, a full Court may be summoned at any Time for the Rehearing of it. He will gladly take his Share in this Attendance, which may be so contrived as not to impede other Business. If this be agreed to, he will further propose, that public Notice be given, in the usual Manner, that the Court will be open again, and assemble regularly every Week, that such Persons as have Appeals to make, may attend.

Mr. Francis.—I think, that before the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut shall assemble, we ought to apprise the Judges of our Intention, in order that if our Proceedings be liable to any Objection on their Part, from a clashing of Jurisdiction or otherwise, they may previously apprise us of it; otherwise it may happen, that our Decrees, which, from the Nature of the Institution ought to be final, may be appealed from to the Supreme Court, and reversed there.

The Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, is supposed to be the last Resort; if any Appeal from its Decree should in any Instance be received by the Supreme Court, I conceive that our Jurisdiction would be thereby ipso facto abolished.

Mr.

A P P E N D I X, N° 9.

Mr. Barwell.—I agree to the Governor's Proposal.

The Honourable Mr. Monson.—I understand the Sudder Dewannee Adaulut to be a Court of Appeal, from which there is no Resort. As the Causes which come before this Court, may afterwards be carried into the Supreme Court of Judicature, I think this Court totally unnecessary, as Appeals from the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts may be made to this Board, and they may go under an Examination here, and if this Board think proper to confirm the Decrees of the Provincial Councils, I think their Authority cannot then be called in Question by the Supreme Court of Judicature.

General Clavering.—The Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut, being a Court of Appeal from the Courts of Adaulut established in the Country, its Decisions ought to be final. Sir Elijah Impey, as I understand, has declared, that it would be dangerous to bring the Powers of the Supreme Court and the Supreme Council into Discussion; and in a Letter received from the Judges Yesterday, they have acquainted us, that they will oblige all Persons who apply for Writs, to swear, that the Person against whom the Writ is intended to be issued, is subject to the Jurisdiction of that Court; that is to say, that he shall swear to the Facts or Circumstances by which the Person becomes amenable to the Court. If they acted conformably to this Declaration, I cannot conceive in what Manner they have deemed many Zemindars, who have been arrested, to be brought to Calcutta, to come under that Description. If they consider a Person to be a Servant of a British Subject, because he receives a Pension from this Government, they may equally allow a Writ to be issued against the Nabob, or the King Shah Allum; I therefore think, that the Court is useless, till the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court be declared, that it will not, under any Pretence whatever, interfere or receive Complaints upon Matters relative to the Revenue, whereupon either the Courts of Adaulut may have decided, or which finally shall be so by the Court of Sudder Adaulut. If the Members of this Council shall be of Opinion, that the Judges will give us any Satisfaction upon that Subject, I should advise that Mr. Francis's Proposition be adopted, of writing to the Judges to obtain their Information from them.

Governor General.—I conceive the Rule established by the Judges of the Supreme Court, the most, if not the only effectual Means of preventing Suits being brought before them, which do not appertain to their Jurisdiction; but I apprehend, that it will not immediately produce its complete Effect.

All Innovations, of whatever Utility, require Time to bring them to Perfection, to be universally understood, and to be guarded by the subsidiary Regulations against the Inconveniences to which they may be liable in their first Form. In the Case of a Zemindar, against whom Application may be made by a Writ in the Supreme Court, the Plaintiff or Prosecutor may be obviously misled by the Zemindar's monthly Stipend, or he may designedly discontinue it; and, under Pretence of his being a Servant, and receiving the Wages of the Company, may make Oath accordingly; it will remain, therefore, to be decided, whether such a Stipend infers the Possessor of it to be a Servant of the Company. To me it appears, that it cannot, by any Construction, be so understood. And in the first Instance in which it shall come into Debate before the Court, their Decision upon it will serve as a Precedent for all future Cases of the like Nature; but, until it is so determined, it appears to me indispensably necessary, that every Person against whom Complaint shall be made to the Supreme Court while such a Doubt remains, whether he is or is not amenable to its Jurisdiction, must appear before it, either in Person or by his Attorney, and plead to its Jurisdiction, before the Cause can be dismissed, otherwise every Man might refuse to submit to their Authority. I do not mean this as an Objection to Mr. Francis's Proposition; but to give my Sentiments of the Proceedings of the Court in the Cases alluded to by the General.

Agreed, That the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature be written to as follows:

Sir Elijah Impey, Knight, Chief Justice, and the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

Gentlemen,

From the first Establishment of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Calcutta, we were apprehensive, that Difficulties and Inconveniences might possibly arise in the general Administration of Civil Justice, and in the Collection of the Territorial Revenues of these Provinces, from a clashing of Jurisdiction between the Supreme Court, and the Dewannee Courts of Adaulut, which were instituted under the Authority of the Duan, for hearing and determining all Civil Suits whatsoever, between Native and Native, and all Causes relative to the Revenue. Our Doubts on this Subject had a more particular Relation to the Court of Sudder Dewannee Adaulut. We beg Leave to inform you, that this Court was instituted to receive and determine Appeals from the Provincial Dewannee Adauluts; that the President, with Two Members of the Council, preside therein, attended by the Dewan of the Khalsa, the head Canongoes, and other Officers of the Cutcherry. This Court of Appeal, being composed of the Members of the Council, it necessarily follows, that it can be held nowhere but in the Town of Calcutta: For that Reason, it may appear to assume and exercise judicial Powers, inconsistent with the local Jurisdiction of the Supreme preme Court. Under these Doubts, and under the Uncertainty, whether our proposing any Questions to you, concerning the Limits of your Jurisdiction, might not be liable to Objection, we have hitherto thought it adviseable to suspend the sitting of the Dewannee Sudder Adaulut. But as, on the one Side, a further Suspension of the Proceedings of that Court would defeat the Purposes for which it was instituted, and operate in Effect to the total Abolition of the Court; and as on the other, we know not how far we can safely and legally sit as Judges in a Court of Appeal, whose Decrees must, from their Nature, be final; we have thought fit, before we came to any Determination, to request your Opinion, Whether, supposing the above Court should resume their Proceedings, an Appeal from their Decrees will be to the Supreme Court? Whether the Cognizance of any Cause brought by Appeal before us, can be removed by your Authority, to the Supreme Court of Judicature? or, Whether the Decrees of the Court of Dewannee Sudder Adaulut, will justify the ministerial Officers of the Court in carrying those Decrees into Execution?

Considering the Principles on which this Court was instituted, and the Power with which it was vested to decide in the last Resort, we conceive, that if an Appeal from its Decrees should, in any Instance, be received by the Supreme Court; or if a Cause may be removed from thence to the Supreme Court; or if our Officers are liable to Prosecutions for carrying our Decrees into Execution; in all, or any of these Cases, the Jurisdiction of the Court of Dewannee Sudder Adaulut would be ipso facto abolished.

Fort William,
23d May 1775.

We are, &c.

Extract of Bengal Revenue Consultations, the 25th July 1775.

Read the following Letter, from the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature, in Answer to the Questions contained in the Board's Letter of the 23d May.

Honourable Sir and Sirs,

We thank you for the Caution you use in submitting Questions to us. Though we are not in general justifiable, and therefore ought to be reserved in delivering extra-judicial Opinions; we are at all Times desirous of affording you every Assistance and Information that is compatible with our Duty. As the Questions now proposed will, as we apprehend, never come judicially before us, and as we shall thereby prevent the Suspension of Justice, we are much pleased to feel ourselves at Liberty to give you direct and full Answers.

1st. If the Dewannee Sudder Adaulut should resume their Proceedings, an Appeal from their Decrees will not lie to the Supreme Court.

2d. The Cognizance of any Cause, brought by Appeal before that Court, cannot be moved by our Authority into the Supreme Court.

3d. The Decrees of the Dewannee Sudder Adaulut will justify the ministerial Officers of the Court, in carrying those Decrees into Execution, in all Cases in which the Provincial Dewannee Adaulut had legal Jurisdiction in the original Cause.

We take the Liberty of adding, that as the local Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court is limited to the Town of Calcutta, the Factory of Fort William, and the Limits thereof, we hope you do not entertain any Apprehension, that the Authority of the Criminal Courts exercising Jurisdiction elsewhere, either in the Provinces at large, or in the Purgunnahs adjacent, are affected by the Establishment of the Supreme Court; for we should be extremely sorry that our Powers, which are calculated to promote, should in any Instance, be understood to impede the Course of Justice.—We did not receive the Honour of yours, of the 23d, till this Day.

Mr. Justice Chambers is absent from the Settlement on a Visit. We know we must have had his Concurrence, and would not suffer a Moment's Delay in your Proceedings, as soon as it was in our Power to prevent it.

We are,
Honourable Sir and Sirs,
Your very humble Servants,

(Signed) E. Empey,
S. C. Lemaistre,
John Hyde.

Copy of a Letter from the Governor General of Fort William, in Bengal, to the Chairman of the Court of Directors, dated 6th January 1781.

To the Chairman of the Court of Directors.

Sir,
HAVING thought proper to appoint an Agent at Home, for the Purpose of attending to my political Interests, and managing all my public Concerns, I take this Opportunity of acquainting you, that I have selected Major Scott for this Service; and have furnished him with suitable Instructions: And as this Gentleman is possessed of every necessary Information relative to the State of this Government, he will be ready to communicate with you, on all Matters wherein you may think it proper to ask his Opinion.

It is material to me to make one Observation; that, in my Instructions to Major Scott, I have particularly provided, that I will suffer no Person whatever to perform any Act in my Name, that shall be construed to imply a Resignation of my Authority; protesting against the Exercise of so dangerous a Power, from its having been assumed upon a former Occasion, without being warranted by my Consent, or by any previous Instructions, that could bear the most distant Tendency to such a Measure.

I have the Honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient,

and most humble Servant,

Warren Hastings.

Fort William,
January 6th 1781.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor General and Council at Fort William in Bengal, in their Secret Department, to the Court of Directors of the East India Company, dated 7th January 1781.

The Departure of Major John Scott to Europe, by express Appointment from the Governor General, as his private Agent, affording us an Opportunity of addressing you, we have the Honour to avail ourselves of it, in transmitting to you, in Triplicate, our last Advices from this Department by the Ships Fox and Walpole.—Major Scott has taken his Passage on a Portuguese Ship, which being to stop in her Way at Fort Saint George, we have recommended it to the President and Select Committee at that Place, to embrace the same Occasion of transmitting to you a Relation of the Occurrences upon the Coast, to the latest Period of Major Scott's Stay.—We beg Leave to recommend this Gentleman to your Favour; and that he may be restored to the Company's Service, without Prejudice to his Rank, if he should be hereafter desirous of returning to Bengal.

The Evidence respecting the State of the Gaol.

MR. James Creasly being examined, said, That he lived at the Dock Yards at Kidapore, within Two Miles of Calcutta, about Eighteen Months; that he left Calcutta about 15th April, 1779. And being asked, Whether, during the Time he was at Calcutta, he had any Knowledge of the Common Gaol of that Place? he said, Yes, he was imprisoned there by a Sentence of the Supreme Court, upon Two Actions for Trespass, upon Assault and Battery—that he was confined Two Days and One Night—that the Gaol is an old Ruin of an House; it appeared to him to have been formerly the Residence of some Black Native—there were very few Windows to admit Air, and those very small—during the Time of his Confinement, he asked the Gaoler how many Souls were then confined in that Prison? who answered, Upwards of 170, Blacks and Whites included—that there was no Gaol Allowance, and that many Persons had died for the Want of Necessaries of Life; and that he believed more would have died, if he had not relieved them out of his own Pocket—the nauseous Smells, arising from such a crowded Place, was beyond Expression—besides the Prisoners, the Number of Women and Attendants, to carry in Provisions and dress Victuals, was so great, that it was astonishing that any Person could long survive such a Situation. Being asked, What were the Dimensions of the Gaol? he said, It is built round a small Square, of about Fifty or Sixty Feet in Dimensions, but he cannot speak positive as to the exact Dimensions—that the Building appeared to him to be about Sixteen or Seventeen Feet wide—he thinks the Building did not go quite round the Square—that there is a Wall and a Gateway, but he did not see the back Part of the Prison—he thinks the Building is Two or Three Stories high, but he cannot say which. And being asked, Whether the Prisoners were, without Discrimination of Cast or Religion, mixed together in the Gaol? he said, As it is a common Gaol, he never heard of any other Distinction but what the Gaoler chose to make: The Gaoler was so indulging to him, as to permit him to reside in the Apartment belonging to himself. Being asked, Whether there seemed to be in the Prison, Apartments proper to accommodate Persons of Rank and Distinction? he said, No, it was the most horrible Place he ever saw, take it altogether; there are little Partitions, but for want of Windows to admit Air, even if they were appropriated for particular Persons, they would be very uncomfortable Dwellings. Being asked, Whether the Prison is supplied with plenty of good Water, by Pipes, or any other Method? he said, He never saw any but what was brought in in Pitchers, from a Tank near the Court House, which Water is very good. And being asked, Whether there was any Want of that good Water? he said, He heard no Complaints; he was there but a short Time.

Then Mr. William Hickey being examined, was asked, Whether he was acquainted with the Gaol at Calcutta? he said, Perfectly well, he has been in it very often; he visited an Englishman who was confined there—you enter the Prison by a large Gateway, over which is the Gaoler's Apartment; you then enter a Yard; the Space from the Gateway to the Prison, he thinks is about Twenty Yards; the Prison, he supposes, is about One hundred Feet in Front, and about Thirty Feet deep; it is what is called here, a Single House; it is divided into small Apartments, and those very bad; the Stench dreadful, and more offensive than any he ever experienced in this Country—that there is no thorough Draught of Air, but formerly there might have been—the Windows are neither large nor numerous—the Rooms are low in Comparison to the Rooms of Houses in India, but in this Country they would not be deemed low—there are some open Drains which run into the back Yard, from which, in a great Measure, he conceives the Stench to arise. And being asked, Whether there are commodious separate Apartments, fit for the Reception of Prisoners of Distinction? he said, Certainly not one in the Prison—there is a large Yard at the Back of the Prison; it is nearly about One hundred Feet square; the Prison is on one Side, and on the Three other Sides a high Wall; in the Middle is a Tank, in which the Prisoners promiscuously bathe, and wash their Cloaths; the Tank is nearly about Thirty Feet square—the Person he visited had erected a small Tent of Bamboo and Matting in this Yard, at his own Expence, by the Sheriff's Permission, which is an Indulgence generally allowed to Europeans—that this Person has frequently told him, that it would be impossible for any European to exist any Length of Time in the Prison, but even in that Shed, it was at Times scarcely to be endured, from the Stench of the Tank, Drains, &c.—he experienced the Stench himself, which the Prisoners told him came from the Tank, but this was nothing like what he had experienced in passing through the Prison. And being asked, Whether that Tank appeared to him a commodious Place for decent Persons to bathe in, and make their Ablutions? he said, He thinks not. Being asked, Whether Water is laid into the Prison at the public Expence? he said, He does not know; he conceives not, because he was asked for Charity by a female Prisoner, and she asked for Money to pay her Servant Boy for bringing Water to her, and that if she did not get the Money she would have no Water; she spoke in Moorish, which he did not understand, but it was interpreted to him. Being asked, Whether Hindoos, Mahomedans, and Europeans, were thrown indiscriminately into that Prison? he said, They were all together, with the Exception of the Indulgence to Europeans before mentioned. And being asked, Whether the Debtors and Criminals were separated? he said, No, he has frequently met Prisoners with Fetters on? being asked, Whether the Men were separated from the Women? he said, He believes not, but he is not positive. Being asked, In what Manner the Food for the Prisoners is provided? he said, By the Prisoners themselves, or by their own Servants. Being asked, Whether he has seen the King's Bench Prison? he said, He has. Being asked, Which he thinks the most commodious Prison, considering the Circumstances of the Two Countries? he said, They will not bear a Comparison, Calcutta is so much worse. Being asked, Whether he thinks Imprisonment in the Two Countries, under any Circumstances, similar in its Effects? he said, He conceives it much more likely to prejudice the Health, even of the Natives there, than here—that the Sheriff has the Superintendence of the Gaol—and all Complaints from the Prisoners are made to him—that there were great Numbers sick when he was there. And being asked, Whether there was any Infirmary or Provision for the Sick, or any Medical Assistance allowed to the Gaol? he said, He believes none, he never heard of any.

THE STATE OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF

Appointed to take into Consideration the State of the Administration of Justice in the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, and to report the same, as it shall appear to them, to the House, with their Observations thereupon; and who were instructed to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be held and governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the Native Inhabitants may be best promoted.

WHILST your Committee were diligently pursuing the Orders of the House, Advices were received from India of an Event that claimed their immediate Attention, which was the Expulsion of Rajah Cheyt Sing.

Your Committee find that Cheyt Sing, Rajah of Benares and Gazypoor, was, upon the Decease of his Father, Rajah Bulwant Sing, at the particular Request of the President and Council of Bengal, confirmed by Treaty in the Possession of those Zemindaries by the Vizier Sujah Dowlah, to whom he was Tributary.

That upon the Death of the Vizier Sujah Dowlah, in 1775, the Governor General and Council of Bengal concluded a Treaty with Mirzy Amany, the Son and Successor of Sujah; by which the Zemindaries of Benares and Gazypoor were surrendered in Perpetuity to the English Company, subject to the entire Rule and Management of Rajah Cheyt Sing as heretofore, on Condition of his paying the same Tribute to the English Company which he formerly paid to the Nabob of Oude, and which Tribute amounted to ~~near~~ £. 260,000 per Annum.

The Expulsion of a Rajah of the highest Rank from his Dominions; a Rajah who paid the largest Tribute into the Treasury, whose Possessions are secured to him not only by the Faith of public treaties, but in Consideration of Services performed by his Ancestor to our Nation; a Rajah who, ever since he became the Tributary of the Company, punctually performed his Engagements, and very seldom suffered any just Balance to remain beyond the stated Time of Payment—Your Committee were of Opinion, that they could in no Point more essentially perform their Duty than by entering into an immediate Investigation of the Causes which gave rise to this extraordinary Event.

And in order to shew the Origin of our Connection and Alliance with Bulwant Sing, Rajah of Benares and Gazypoor, and with Cheyt Sing, his Son and Successor, Your Committee have thought proper to submit to the House such Documents as they find in the public Records of the Company; concluding concluding this Report with the Two Narratives of the Governor General, Mr. Hastings, of the 18th of August and the 29th of September, from Benares, to Edward Wheler, Esquire, a Member of the Council General at Calcutta, and by him transmitted to the Court of Directors.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 29th March 1764.

Received a Letter from Major Carnac, dated the 18th Instant, enclosing one he has received from Shitabroy, to which he refers us for Information of Shuja Dowla's Intention against us; and expressing his Concern to find, that by the Advices from Calcutta of the 8th, the Reinforcement under the Command of Captain Pemble had not yet begun their March, that their being so late renders it next to impossible for them to join him in Time, and that he must therefore put every Thing to Risk with the Force he has at present, however little to be depended on after what has passed; further advising us, that he would fain cross the Carumnassa, and give the Enemy a Meeting as far as possible from the Boundary, but that he fears the Distress they are in for Provisions, being only supplied from Day to Day, will not permit his doing so, and that he shall be obliged to keep close by the Ganges to secure a Conveyance by Water, having had Intimation that the Enemy's Design was to hover at a Distance around them, and endeavour to cut off their Supplies: That a Treaty of Alliance has been some Time in Agitation between the Nabob and Bulwant Sing, the Rajah of Benares: That the Nabob is now very anxious for it's being brought to a Conclusion, and proposed to him that Evening setting his Seal thereto on the Part of the English, without which the Rajah will not enter into any Engagement; that he shall be very unwilling to take a Step of such a Nature without first knowing whether it be agreeable to us, but that the present Exigency will not admit the Delay of waiting our Answer.

A Translation of Shitabroy's Letter to the Major being here read;

Ordered it be entered in the Books of Country Correspondence.

Having duly considered this Letter of Major Carnac's, we are unanimously of Opinion, that as Shuja Dowla has now openly espoused the Cause of Cossim Ally Cawn, and encourages his Design of an Invasion into Bengal, we can entertain no further Thoughts of entering into a Treaty with him. On the contrary, we think it our Duty to form against him all the Enemies we possibly can; that the proposed Alliance with Bulwant Sing will therefore be a very proper Measure, and prove as well now as in all Times to come, a strong Barrier and Defence to the Bengal Provinces.

Agreed therefore, that we write to Major Carnac, advising him, that we shall approve entirely of his entering into the intended Treaty in concert with the Nabob, and of his engaging to protect and maintain Bulwant Sing independant, both now and hereafter.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 26th April 1764.

Received Two Letters from Major Carnac, dated the 9th and 17th Instant; the former repeating and explaining fully the Reasons which determined him to cross the Soane, and retire towards Patna, and advising us that he is now convinced, from Bulwant Sing's Behaviour, of which the Major gives us an Account, that his proposed Alliance with us, was only a concerted Scheme to draw us further on, and so favour Shuja Dowla's Design of getting between our Army and Patna.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 11th June 1764.

That we are determined to prosecute the War against Shuja Dowla; and being of Opinion, that the Rains will not be any Impediment to the Operations, but on the contrary, with regard to receiving Provisions and Stores, rather a Convenience, from the Advance of the Rivers, we hereby direct, that he do immediately put the Army in Motion, leaving the necessary Garrisons in Patna and Mongheer, and cross the Soane, and pursue the Enemy as far as the Ganges, opposite to Benares, endeavouring, if possible to bring them to an Action. That in any Operations on the other Side of the River, it is our View to make as much Advantage as we can, without lessening greatly the Strength of our Army by the Detachment that is sent: That they may therefore endeavour to take Possession of the Gauzypoor Country, and collect its Revenues to assist in defraying the Expences of the War: That we desire the Officer commanding may be instructed, and that it may also be observed as a general Rule on all other Occasions, to prevent any Ravages being committed on the Country, or Injuries being done to the Inhabitants; on the contrary, that all Manner of Encouragement and Protection be given them, in order to gain their Affections.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 25th June 1764.

Received a Letter from Major Carnac, dated the 16th Instant, acquainting us, that the Detachment he ordered over the Ganges, has procured the Effect he expected from it; for, upon Advice of their having crossed the Dewa, and began Hostilities in the Districts of Gauzypoor, Shuja Dowla has judged it necessary to retire towards his own Country.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 28th June 1764.

That we are resolved to continue the War against Shujah Dowla, until he submits to the Conditions we have prescribed; viz, the Delivery of Meer Cossim, Sombre, and our Deserters: That the Object therefore of the Detachment on the North Side of the Ganges, must be to prevent Shuja Dowla from crossing the River, by destroying any Bridges he has made or may attempt to make over it, taking Possession at same Time of as large a Tract of his Country as they can, and if possible, of the City of Benares, and collecting the Revenues; but avoiding all Manner of Plunder and Ravage, particularly should the Detachment advance so far as to seize the City of Benares, especial Care must be taken that no Plunder is committed there.

Extract of a Letter of Instructions to Major Hector Munro, dated 6th November 1764.

As Shuja Dowla has all along refused to submit to the reasonable Terms we demanded of him, and at last put the Whole to the Risk of a general Engagement, in which our Arms have been attended with such signal Success, we think it just and necessary to require for the Company some Cession and Compensation for this Risk, and the great Expence of the War in which he has engaged us.

With respect to Bulwant Sing, the Rajah of Benares, and Zemindar of the Gauzypoor Country, the double Part he acted in the Beginning of the War, sufficiently warns us to put no Confidence in him; and therefore, if he has not already been permitted to join you, or you have entered into no Engagements with him, we would have him dispossessed of his Country, and his Person, if possibly, secured.

It has always been the Rule of our Conduct to conciliate the Affections of the People in the Countries where we have made War, and prevent, to the utmost of our Power, all Manner of Plunder and Destruction. This we must recommend to your strict Observance; and think it the rather necessary on this Occasion, as the City of Benares, being reputed a Place of great Wealth, may be a Temptation to the Sepoys; and it would give us a particular Concern, were any Mischief committed in a Place which is so much respected for its Antiquity, and held sacred in the Eyes of the whole Country.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 21st November 1764.

Translation of a Proposal from Rajah Bulwand Sing, by Soochet Roy, to Major Munro, with the Major's Answer.

Proposal.—If you, Gentlemen, choose to possess yourselves of Shuja ul Dowla's Country, I will agree to hold the Sircars of Benares and Gauzypoor, and Jaunpoor, and Bejeigur, &c. on the same Terms as I hold them from Shuja ul Dowlah, and I have commissioned Rajah Shitabroy to settle this Matter for me. I will besides take upon myself the Management of Auzingurra, and Two or Three other Districts, paying the customary Rents; and I request that you will give me the Sunnuds for them, and let me possess which was given to me Rent-free, as usual.

Answer.—For the present the Sunnuds shall be granted you, and you shall be established in the Territories till the Conclusion of the Negotiation with Shuja ul Dowla.

Translation of a Letter delivered by Rajah Shitabroy, the 16th November 1764.

Rajah Bulwand Sing has written to me as follows: " If it is the Intention of the English Gentlemen to take Possession of Shuja ul Dowla's Dominions, I will agree to hold Benares and Gauzypoor, &c. which have long been under my Jurisdiction, the Revenues of which amount to about 24 Lacks of Rupees a Year, and I paid 170,000 Rupees Monthly, on the same Terms from the SIR. COM. REP. II. B " Company

“ Company as I did from Shuja ul Dowla.” He likewise desires, “ that in case the English Army should march forwards to conquer the Country, the Districts of Auzingurra and Coonda, &c. which are near to Benares, and be very convenient for him, may be added to his Jurisdiction.” As the Rajah is a Man who adheres to his Engagements, and pays his Rents regularly, if it is your Pleasure to take the Country, let the Management of the aforesaid Territories be committed to his Charge; and in case of an Accommodation with Shuja ul Dowla, yet let a favourable Answer be written to the Rajah, to set his Mind at Ease; he is a Person of high Rank, and the Zemindar of a frontier Country.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 26th November 1764.

Received a Letter from Patna, dated the 15th Instant, acknowledging the Receipt of ours of the 6th, and advising us, that Messrs. Billers and Dacres were in consequence preparing to set out to collect the Revenues of the Districts which we may take Possession of; also requesting, if the Army should proceed further, that we will order a sufficient Force to be stationed at Benares, for their better Security in that Business.

Agreed, we do write them in Answer, That should our Instructions to Major Munro occasion his advancing further than Benares, he will no doubt leave such a Force as may be necessary for collecting the Revenues: Further advising them of our having appointed an Establishment for this Service from hence; that Mr. Marriott will accordingly set out in a Day or two, and upon his Arrival Messrs. Billers and Dacres are to deliver over to him the Charge of the Business, and return to Patna; and that in the mean Time they will proceed upon the Instructions we have given to Mr. Marriott and his Council, of which we enclose them a Copy.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 6th December 1764.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor and Council to the Commander in Chief, dated 6th December 1764.

With regard to Bulwand Sing, we shall adhere to the Terms which you may have thought it necessary to make with him; but it is our View, so far as it can be done consistently with your Engagements, to have the Power and Authority over this Rajah and his Zemindaries vested in the Company, by Sunnuds from the King, holding them under him with the same Rights, and in as full a Manner, as enjoyed by Shuja Dowlah; and that the whole Rents so collected, shall be appropriated for the Use of the Company, and wrote off from the Books of the King's Revenues.

With respect to the Agreements entered into by the Inhabitants of Benares, for the Ransom of the City; we are glad that such an Opportunity has offered of obtaining a Reward to the Army for the very signal Service which they have rendered the Company, as well as a Compensation for the Loss which they sustained of their Baggage, in the Action of the 23d of October, nor can we have any Objection to it on this particular Occasion; but as we would consider the Country not as a Conquest, but belonging to the King, whom we have engaged to support against the common Enemy, no future Considerations of this Kind should be demanded from the Inhabitants, or expected by the Army, but every Care taken to conciliate the Affections of the People.

Proposals made by the King Shah Aalum, and inclosed in a Letter from Major Hector Munro to the President and Council at Bengal, dated from the Camp at Benares, the 22d of November 1764.

If this Country is to be kept, put me in Possession of it, and leave a small Detachment of the Troops with me, to shew that I am protected by the English, and they shall be at my Expence; that if any Enemy come at any Time against me, I will make such Connections in the Country, that with my own Troops and the afore-mentioned small Detachment, will defend the Country, without any further Assistance from the English, and I will pay them of the Revenues of the Country what Sum they shall demand Yearly. If the English will, contrary to their Interest, make Peace with the Vizier, I will go to Delhi, for I cannot think of returning again into the Hands of a Man who has used me so ill: I have no Friends I depend on more than the English; their former Behaviour to me will make me ever respect and regard them; now is their Time to be in Possession of a Country abounding with Riches and Treasure; I shall be satisfied with whatever Share they please of it. The Rohillas were always Enemies to the imperious Vizier; they are all my Friends.

Articles to be executed by the King; enclosed in a Letter from the President and Council at Benigal to Major Hector Munro, Commander in Chief of the Army, sent the 6th of December 1764.

In Consideration of the Assistance and Fidelity of the English Company, which has freed us from the Inconveniences we laboured under, and strengthened the Foundations of the Empire which God has given us, we have been graciously pleased to grant to the English Company our Royal Favours according to the following Articles, which shall remain firm both in present and in future:

As the English Company have been put to great Expence, and their Affairs exposed to Danger by the War which the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla unjustly, and contrary to our Royal Pleasure, waged against them; we have therefore assigned to them the Country of Gauzepoor, and the rest of the Zemindary of Bulwant Sing, belonging to the Nizamut of the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla: and the Regulation and Government thereof, we have given to their Disposal, in the same Manner as it was in the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla's. The aforesaid Rajah having settled Terms with the Chiefs of the English Company, is, according thereto, to pay the Revenues to the Company, and the Amount shall not belong to the Books of the Royal Revenue, but shall be expunged from them.

The Army of the English Company having joined our Standard, shall put us in Possession of Illiabad, and the rest of the Countries belonging to the Nizamut of the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla; and the Revenues, excepting those of Rajah Bulwant's Zemindarry, shall be in our entire Management and Disposal.

As the English Company will be at a further Expence in putting us in Possession of Illiabad, and the rest of the Nizamut of the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla, we will therefore, as we get Possession, grant to them out of our Treasury such a Proportion of the Revenues as the Exigencies of our Affairs will admit of; and when we are put in full Possession, we will reimburse the whole Expences of the Company in this Business from the Time of their joining our Royal Standard.

Firmaund executed by the King:

As the English Company have been put to great Expence, and their Affairs exposed to Danger, by the War which the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla unjustly, and contrary to our Royal Pleasure, waged against them, we have therefore assigned to them the Country of Gauzepoor and the rest of the Zemindarry of Rajah Bulwant Sing belonging to the Nizamut of the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla; and the Regulation and Government thereof we have given to their Disposal, in the same Manner as it was in the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla's. The aforesaid Rajah having settled Terms with the Chiefs of the English Company, is according thereto to pay the Revenues to the Company.

The Army of the English Company having joined our Standard, shall put us in Possession of Illiabad and the rest of the Countries belonging to the Nizamut of the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla; and the Revenues, excepting those of Rajah Bulwant's Zemindarry, shall be in our entire Management and Disposal.

It becomes the Company to shew their grateful Sense of our Royal Favours, and to exert themselves to the utmost in the proper Management and Regulation of the Country; to encourage and befriend our Subjects, to punish the Contentious, and expel the Rebellious from their Territories: They must use their best Endeavours to promote the Welfare of our People, the Ryotts and other Inhabitants; to prohibit the Use of Things of an intoxicating Nature, and such as are forbidden by the Law of God; in driving out Enemies, in deciding Causes and settling Matters agreeably to the Rules of Mahomed and the Law of the Empire; so that the Inhabitants may apply themselves, with Peace of Mind and Satisfaction, to the Cultivation of the Country, and the Exercise of other their Professions, and that the Weak may not labour under Oppression and Violence. They will consider these as our strict Injunctions.

Written on the 4th Day of Rajeb, the 6th Year of the Reign, 29th December 1764.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 6th December 1764:

Extract of a Letter from the Commander in Chief to the Governor and Council, dated 22d November 1764.

As soon as the Army encamped here I sent into Town safe Guards, and gave out the strictest Orders against pillaging or plundering the Inhabitants, some of whom had left the Place through Fear, and some remained in Hopes of being protected. The Place is now full of Inhabitants, and the Merchants have promised Four Lacks of Rupees for the Protection given them.

He, the King, is to write immediately to the Chiefs of the Rohillas and all his Friends, not to join the Vizier; and assures, that if he once got Benibahadre and Bulwand Sing to come in, the Vizier would leave the Country immediately, and never make any Head again.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 27th December 1764.

Received a Letter from Messrs. Billers and Dacres, at Benares, acquainting us of their Arrival there the 8th Instant, and that on their Application to Major Munro, they found he had made an Agreement with Bulwand Sing to leave him with the Collection of the Revenues, on paying the Company the same Annual Sum he had before paid to the Vizier Shuja Dowla, and that Major Munro had made this Appointment to Bulwand Sing in consequence of the King's Request, and had thought proper to assign the First Payment of this Collection to his Majesty's Use, on account of his having no other immediate Support.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 4th January 1765.

Extract of a Letter from Major Munro to Major Fletcher, dated 4th January 1765.

You will see by the Letters from the Board, that the King is to be put in Possession of whatever Part of this Country shall be conquered by our Arms, and the Management of it given to such as he pleases. I therefore called in Bulwant Sing at the Request of the King, but as he had offered his Services before that Time, or that I knew the Intentions of the Gentlemen of Calcutta of keeping the Country, I encouraged his coming in as much as possible, and upon his getting the Country as before, to collect the Revenues the same as he did for the Vizier, together with the King's. Sending Nabob Munier Dowla for him, he came in; and our Agreement with him for collecting the Revenues, has been since confirmed by the Board.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor and Council to Major Munro and Mr. Marriott at Benares.

As it is our Interest and Desire, that his Majesty should receive every Testimony of our Respect and Attachment, we cannot but approve of the appropriating such a Part of Bulwant Sing's Revenues as can be spared from the Occasions of our own Army to the Relief of his present distressed Circumstances: You will only observe to take from him the proper Receipts and Promissory Notes, that he will refund the same to the Company whenever he shall have Ability so to do.

John Burdett,

Received a Letter from Major Carnac, dated Cossimbuzar, the 5th Instant; advising of his Arrival there the Day before, and that he should proceed on as fast as the Things which are of immediate Necessity for his Journey can keep pace with him; that he has Advice of Bulwant Sing's having eloped from our Army.

Agreed we write him in Answer, That with regard to the Intelligence he mentions to have received of Bulwant Sing's having left our Army, we suppose it must be entirely groundless, not having had any such ourselves, and that no Engagements have been made with him but such as it is equally for his Interest as ours should be fulfilled.

Extract of a Letter from Sir Robert Fletcher to the Governor and Council, dated 14th January 1765.

"I shall march this Night about Eleven o'Clock towards the Enemy, and shall not halt until I am in Shuja Dowla's Camp, though I fear we shall not be able to surprize him, as his Troops are distributed very properly to prevent it; however, I think he will not have Time to carry off his Baggage. He is Seven Cofs from us, and Sombre is Eleven. I shall be happy if they will stand. A general Action in all Probability would bring back Bulwant Sing, as well as occasion the Surrender of Chunargur."

We do not observe any Answer received from Bulwant Sing to Major Fletcher's Letter desiring him to return.

Received

Received also a Letter from Mr. Marriott, dated the 12th Instant, advising of his Arrival with the Army the 2d; that in Consequence of the Agreement made with Bulwant Sing, 90,000 Rupees had been paid out of the Collection of the Revenues before his Arrival, but not any since. Also advising us, that Bulwant Sing's having left the Camp (as mentioned by Major Fletcher) was under Pretence of defending a Place where his Family was, which Shuja Dowla had sent a Party to attack; and that as he has not yet committed any Hostilities, they are in Hopes he is at least neuter; that, however, he should do all in his Power to prevail on this Man to return, judging his Continuance with us of Consequence.

Charles Stafford Playdell,
George Gray, Esquires.

Received, since our last Meeting, Three Letters from Mr. Marriott, Chief of Benares, dated the 18th, 22d, and 28th ultimo; advising of Bulwant Sing's Return, and of his having, in Conjunction with General Carnac, settled with him for his Revenues to be paid the Company.

That on the Subject of the Agreement made with Bulwant Sing, and the Points therein referred to our Determination, we have not yet resolved any Thing.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 1st April 1765.

At a Consultation; P R E S E N T,

The Honourable John Spencer, Esquire, President;
Charles Stafford Playdell, Esquire,
Ralph Leycester, Esquire,
John Burdett, Esquire,
George Gray, Esquire.

Agreed also, that we do now write a Letter to the General and Mr. Marriott, on the Subject of the Agreement made by them with Bulwant Sing, as advised in their different Letters of the 18th, 22d, and 28th February, and 9th ultimo, That this Man acted from the First so wavering a Part, that we expressed in our Instructions to Major Munro, after the Battle of Buxar, our Wish to have no Manner of Connection with him, but rather that his Person should be secured, and some other placed in his Zemindary who was more to be relied on; however, as the Major had, previous to the Receipt of these Instructions, admitted him to a Treaty, and received him on the Faith thereof, that we consented to abide by it; in this also he failed, and therefore it was our Intention to have trusted him no further; which Sentiment is also expressed by the General in his Letter of the 15th January from Cossimbuzar, where he points him out as one by no Means to be depended on. That this is sufficient to inspire us with the strongest Doubts of his Fidelity, and give but too much Cause to apprehend, if Shuja Dowla should again move this Way with any considerable Force, or our Army at any Time receive a Check, that he will be the first to break his Engagements in favour of the Enemy; and as his Situation will always place him between our Provinces and our Enemy, he may be able to do us much Mischief, if allowed to keep up a Force. That after Bulwant Sing, in Violation of his Treaty, had deserted our Army, it was, as before observed, our Wish that the Country had been placed in the Hands of some Persons on whose Fidelity we might at least have had some Dependence, and whose Troops might have been an Addition to our own Strength in case of a Renewal of War; but, as it appears that Bulwant Sing has again been received back on the Faith of Promises made by them, that we shall abide by them, though we wish none had been made till our Sentiments had been known: That we can now only recommend that a strict Eye be kept upon his Conduct and Correspondence, and that he be not allowed to maintain such a Body of Forces as may on any Occasion be detrimental to us. That at the Time we say this, we are willing to give up those Articles amounting to Rupees 2,28,306. 10. which were left undetermined by them in Hopes of making it his Interest to remain faithful, by the Advantages he will reap from his Connection with us, the Security that we look for from extending our Frontiers being a greater Object than any Encrease of our Revenues.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 11th June 1765.

At a Select Committee ; P R E S E N T,

Harry Verelst,
Francis Sykes, Esquires ;
Mr. Sumner indisposed.

Letters from General Carnac, of the 26th and 27th ultimo, advising, That Shuja Dowla, as his last Resource, had thrown himself upon our Generosity, and was now actually in Camp, ready to receive such Terms of Peace as we shall prescribe. And this appearing to the Committee a favourable Opportunity for establishing the Tranquillity of the Country on a permanent Foundation, by stipulating no other Conditions than such as shall appear to be for the mutual Interest of the contracting Parties, equitable in themselves, and evidently calculated for the public Benefit ;

Resolved, That the General's Letter be acknowledged, his Sentiments approved, and the following Instructions sent to him for settling preliminary Articles with Shuja Dowla, which he is not to conclude definitively until Lord Clive's Arrival in Camp.

Bulwant Sing to be secured in the Possession of his Country, Nudjuff Cawn to be restored to the Possession of his former Dominions, and all those who either joined or assisted the English, to be favoured and encouraged.

The King's Honour, Safety, and Subsistence to be consulted.

Cosim Aly, Sombre, and the Deferters, to be demanded, or put to Death by Shuja Dowla himself ; but this last Article not to be considered as essential, though obtaining it would be agreeable ; it being the Opinion of the Committee, he should be engaged to our Interest by the Ties of Gratitude, and not by Compulsion.

To acquaint the General, that full Powers will be given to Lord Clive, in Conjunction with him, to settle every Thing as they shall think proper and necessary to the Stability of the intended Peace ; also to desire he would use his Influence to prevail with the Vizier to shorten Lord Clive's Journey, and meet his Lordship at Benares or Patna.

Extracts of the Treaty between the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla, the Nabob Nudjum ul Dowla, and the English Company, executed at Illiabad the 16th of August 1765.

Article 5.

His Highness Shujah ul Dowla engages, in the most solemn Manner, to continue Bulwant Sing in the Zemindaries of Benares, Gauzepoor, and all those Districts he possessed at the Time he came over to the late Nabob Jaffier Ally Khan and the English, on Condition of his paying the same Revenue as heretofore.

Article 7.

It being firmly resolved to restore to his Highness the Country of Benares and the other Districts now rented by Bulwant Sing, notwithstanding the Grant of the same from the King to the English Company, it is therefore agreed, that they shall be ceded to his Highness in Manner following ; viz. They shall remain in the Hands of the English Company, with their Revenues, till the Expiration of the Agreement between Bulwant Sing and the Company, being on the 27th of November next ; after which his Highness shall enter into Possession, the Fort of Chunar excepted, which is not to be evacuated until the 6th Article of this Treaty be fully complied with.

Article 9th.

All the Relations and Subjects of his Highness, who in any Manner assisted the English during the Course of the late War, shall be forgiven, and no ways molested for the same.

Extract of a separate General Letter from Bengal to the Court of Directors, dated 11th September 1770.

Par. 2. We have just received Advices of the Death of Rajah Bulwand Sing, who died at Benares the 23d ultimo, after a short Indisposition of some Hours.—A few Months ago the Rajah had gone through a long and painful Sickness, of which he had apparently recovered ; and, barring his old Age, and the Infirmities incident to it, he was far from being considered in any immediate Danger.—In our former Letter, Gentlemen, we expressed our Sentiments of the Consequence it was to your Affairs, that the Succession to the Zemindary of Benares should continue in the Family, but that it was a delicate Point to accomplish with the Vizier. A Regard to your Interest has long made it our Wish, but the doubtful Conduct of the Vizier has for some Time made it an unreasonable Measure. The Occasion however now demanded immediate Dispatch, and the President was requested to write the Vizier accordingly in Favour of the Son of the late Rajah, in Terms that would least awaken his Jealousy.—The Time has been, Gentlemen, when this might have been made a Demand ; but Circumstances cumstances are now much changed, and even Address is necessary to solicit. A jealous, suspicious Disposition of the old Rajah, assited by the Distrust of their own Children inherent in the Minds of the People of this Country, may possibly have been the Reason why the Son was not included in the Treaty of 1765, for had he expressed a Wish to secure the Zemindary in his own Family, at a Time when the Vizier was receiving back his Country from our Hands, a Doubt can scarcely be formed but it would have been attended with Success; but suspicious probably of the Consequences that his Son should think he had a Right to the Succession, and equally fearing that the Measure might be attended with a considerable Reduction to his Treasures, from the usual Presents made on such Occasions, his whole Aim seemed to center in Self-Security, without the least Attention to the Good of his Posterity. Indeed it would appear at a Time when lately his Life was despaired of, this Thought first struck him, and he was desirous then to engage our Interests, and appeared no way backward to satisfy the Vizier as to any pecuniary Present which might be expected from him: But he was no sooner free from Danger, but his Love of Money returned upon him, and he became no longer eager to obtain his Wish, but solely through our supposed Interest with the Vizier, and meeting with no Inconvenience to himself.

Extract of a General Letter from Bengal to the Court of Directors, dated 31st October 1770.

Par. 30. In our Letter of the 11th ultimo we informed you of the Death of Rajah Bulwand Sing, and of the Measures we were taking with the Nabob Shuja ul Dowlah to induce him to settle the Succession of the Zemindary of Benares on the late Rajah's Son.

The Demands made by the Nabob's Agent were Twenty Lacks of Rupees as a Nazerannah, and Five Lacks per Annum as an Addition to the Sums stipulated by the Treaty of 1765. The Terms were however finally concluded on the 8th Instant, when the Nazerannah was settled at Seventeen Lacks, and the required Increase was reduced to  $2\frac{1}{2}$  Lacks of Rupees. Permit us, Honourable Sirs, to congratulate you on so very happy a Conclusion of an Event we deem highly important to your Interest.

31. The Vizier's Readiness in complying with this our earnest Recommendation and Request, has afforded us the greatest Satisfaction, and is a Circumstance the more pleasing, as it must give Strength to the Opinions of the several Powers in Hindostan, of the strict Friendship subsisting between the English and him; and his having considered Captain Harper as a necessary Witness to the Negotiation carrying on between his Agent Allage Cawn and the young Rajah Cheyt Sing, will serve as a Proof to the World that he meant not to take any Measure therein that might give the least Cause for Suspicion on our Part.

Par. 32. The President was requested to acquaint the Vizier with the proper Sense we entertain of the Attention he has paid to our Recommendation, and that we consider it as an additional Proof of his Friendship.

Extract of a General Letter from Bengal, dated 31st December 1770, to the Court of Directors.

Par. 18. With respect to the Son and Successor of Bulwand Sing, the Vizier has, as we before informed you, acted agreeably to our Desire. Cheyt Sing is now fully invested with the Government, to the entire Satisfaction of every one, and is considered by the Vizier as holding that Country on the same Terms as his Father, the Difference in the Revenues excepted. The whole are settled at Benares Rupees 22,48,449; which are 2,50,000 more than were paid by his Father. The Vizier expressed a Desire of seeing the young Rajah at the Marriage of his eldest Son Mirza Amany; the Rajah, sensible how much this Mark of Respect was due from him at that Time, promised to attend, but at length excused himself, perhaps by the Advice of his Father's Counsellors, who had kept alive the Family Enmity.

Extract of Instructions from the President and Council at Fort William to Governor Hastings, dated 23d June 1773.

We empower you to renew, in Behalf of Rajah Cheyt Sing, the Stipulation which was formerly made with the Vizier in favour of his Father Rajah Bulwand Sing, in Consideration of his Services to the Company in the Year 1764.

Extract of Secret Letter from Fort William, dated 12th October 1773; received in London 26th March 1774.

Par. 5. We have obtained from the Vizier a Renewal of the Sunnuds in Favour of Rajah Cheyt Cheynt Sing, and his Posterity, on the same Footing as it was granted to his Father Bulwant Sing, excepting only the Increase of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  Lacks to his Annual Tribute, which the Rajah had agreed to at his Accession in 1770.

Extract of Secret Consultations, Fort William, 4th October 1773.

Extract of the Governor's Report.

N<sup>o</sup> 3 is Persian Copy of a Cowlname or Engagement, which I obtained from the Vizier, confirming to Rajah Cheyt Sing and his Posterity, the Stipulations formerly made in Behalf of his Father Bulwant Sing.—N<sup>o</sup> 4 is an English Translation of it.—N<sup>o</sup> 5, Copy of the Vizier's Pottah or Rent-roll, fixed with Rajah Cheyt Sing for the Year 1178, and alluded to in the Cowlname.—N<sup>o</sup> 6, an English Translation of the Pottah.—N<sup>o</sup> 7, the Translation of Letter which I wrote to Rajah Cheyt Sing, as a further Assurance of the Conditions promised in the Cowlname.

The Cowlname was executed in my Presence, and attested by me. The Vizier desired that the Stipulations made in Favour of the Rajah might be executed in this Mode rather than by an Article in the Treaty, and it was equally satisfactory to the Rajah. I must remark, that he had already given the Rajah a Cowlname of this Tenor, soon after the Death of Bulwant Sing, through the Solicitation of Captain Harper, by the Order of the Select Committee; he could therefore have no reasonable Plea to refuse the Confirmation of it. Nevertheless he seemed to think his former Act of so little Validity, that he pressed me, in very earnest Terms, for my Consent, that he should dispossess the Rajah of the Forts of Leteeffgur and Bydgygur, and take from him Ten Lacks of Rupees, over and above the stipulated Rents; and he seemed greatly dissatisfied at my Refusal. He argued, that the Treaty of Illahabad related to Bulwant Sing solely, and was never meant to extend to his Posterity. I confess the Letter of the Treaty expresses no more; yet I cannot conceive that either the Rajah or Lord Clive, when the Treaty was made, could have intended it in that Sense. It has certainly been differently understood, both by the Company and by this Administration; and the Vizier himself had before put it out of all Dispute, by the solemn Act passed in the Rajah's Favour on his Succession to the Zemindary. I am well convinced that the Rajah's Inheritance, and perhaps his Life, are no longer safe than while he enjoys the Company's Protection, which is his Due by the Ties of Justice, and the Obligations of public Faith, and which Policy enjoins us to afford him ever most effectually; his Country is a strong Barrier to ours, without subjecting us to any Expence, and we may depend upon him as a sure Ally whenever we may stand in Need of his Services.

Translation of the new Cowlname, or Agreement, given by the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla to Rajah Cheyt Sing. N<sup>o</sup> 4.

The Affairs of the Zemindarry and Takud of the Sircar of Benares, and Sircar Chunarrah, and of the Mehalls of Jecanpoor, Beseypore, Buddohy, Suknesegurrah, Mubookhas, Sircar Gazeypoor, Sickinderpoor, Khareed, Shadeyabad, and Toppeh Serinch, &c. which were under the Charge of Rajah Bulwand Sing, deceased, I do hereby grant and confirm unto you, upon their former Footing. It is necessary, that after deducting the Nankar, and Half of the Jaghire of Buddohy, you Monthly and Annually pay into the Treasury of the Sircar the established and stated Payments. By the Favour of God, whatever is promotive of your Honour shall be performed; and exclusive of the Jumma specified in the Caboolect of the present Fussully Year 1178, no Increase shall ever hereafter be demanded. And if you remain firm and steady in your Obedience, and in the Payment of your Rents, no Harm shall by any Means happen to your Ryots or Country. By the Word of God, and of the Holy Coran, and of the blessed Imaums, this Agreement is made between me and my Heirs, and you and your Heirs, and it shall never be deviated from. Extract of Bengal Consultations the 13th of February 1775—Secret Department.

At a Council; PRESENT,

The Honourable Warren Hastings, Governor General, President;

Lieutenant General John Clavering,

The Honourable George Monson,

Richard Barwell, } Esquires:
Philip Francis. }

The Governor General conceives it to be necessary before the Board proceed any further in the Business now before them, that one Principle upon which every other Resolution must depend should be determined, and therefore desires that the following Question be put,

Whether this Board considers the Treaties which were made with the late Nabob Suja Dowla as remaining in Force, or as having expired at his Death?

Mr. Francis—I think that the Obligations contained in the several Treaties with the Vizier, to support him in the Possession of his Territories, were confined to his Person, and consequently expired with him.

Mr. Barwell—This Question must be decisively determined by the express Letter of the reciprocal Engagements of the contracting Parties; I therefore desire the Treaties may be referred to; the Board will then see how far the Obligations extend.

SEL. COM. REP. II.

D

Read

Read, the Treaties of Allahabad and Benares.

Mr. Barwell—I think the Treaties bind to his Heirs.

Colonel Monson—I think the Treaties with the Vizier expire in his Person.

General Clavering—I desire to know whether the Governor in the Word “Treaties,” comprehends the Engagements with the late Vizier respecting the Rohilla War?

The Governor General—I conceive that my Opinion in this Point can be of no Use in deciding the Question before us, because it has already been decided by the Majority of the Board, that the Engagements with respect to the Rohilla War, formed by the late Administration with the late Vizier, had not the Obligation of Treaty, nor, if I rightly recollect the Declaration made on this Subject, were in any Respect obligatory on this Government.

General Clavering—I could have wished to have heard the Governor General’s Opinion upon the Question I took the Liberty to submit to him, on the Obligations of this Government to defend the Rohilla Country, as clearly given as that which Mr. Barwell gave in his Minute of the 31st October, because I might have formed some Judgment of the Governor General’s Ideas on the Force and Extent of the Treaties contracted with the late Vizier. I think the Treaty of Allahabad was broken by the subsequent Treaty of Benares, by which Corah and Allahabad were taken from the King, and given to the Vizier, so that whatever Conception I might entertain of the Validity of the original Treaty, I think it now no longer obligatory on this Government till the Court of Directors have given their Approbation of the Treaty of Benares which entirely altered the Nature of the other.

The Governor General—I am of Opinion that the Treaties which were made with the late Nabob Sujah Dowla still continue in Force, and have admitted of no other Change but in that of the Person of his Heir and Successor standing in his Place.—The First Clause of the First Article of the Treaty of Allahabad, in my Construction of it, extends the Obligation of that Treaty to the whole Line of the Nabob Sujah Dowla’s Heirs. The Treaty of Benares being but explanatory of the former in the Article which respects the Part of the Extra-Charges of the Forces employed in his Defence, must be understood in the same Sense with respect to that Article; and the First Article expressly grants the Possession of Corah and Allahabad to the Vizier for ever, a Term excluding all Limitation.

Resolved, That the Treaties made with the late Vizier Sujah Dowla, do not remain in Force, but expired at his Death.

The Governor General proposes the following Question :

Whether a new defensive Treaty shall be executed with the Nabob Asoph-ul-Dowla, in case he himself should solicit it?

Mr. Francis—Supposing the Nabob to require our Assistance in support of his Succession I think that a new defensive Treaty should be formed with him, on the most advantageous Terms which can be obtained for the Company.

Mr. Barwell—Certainly.

Colonel Monson—I think a new defensive Treaty should be executed with the Nabob Asoph-ul-Dowla, on the most advantageous Terms for the Company.

The General agrees with Colonel Monson.

The Governor General—I am of Opinion there should.

Agreed, That a new defensive Treaty be executed with the Nabob Asoph-ul-Dowla, in case he solicits it.

The Governor General proposes, That each Member of the Board deliver in his Sentiments of the Conditions to be required or acceded to for the new Treaty; not having himself sufficiently considered this Subject in the Latitude which has been given to it by the foregoing Resolution, he wishes to prepare what he may have to offer himself, unless any immediate Proposition should be made by any Member of the Board, on which he should be willing to give his Opinion.

Resolved to adjourn to the Evening, that every Member may prepare his Ideas on this Subject.

Met in the Evening at Six o’Clock, according to Adjournment.

Refused the Subject of the new Treaty to be formed with the Nabob of Owde.

Agreeable to the Governor General’s Proposal in the Morning, the Members of the Board deliver in their separate Opinions in Writing, as follows :

Mr. Francis—Supposing it to be the Interest and Desire of the present Nabob of Owde to enter into a new defensive Treaty with the Company, by which we may oblige ourselves to guarantee to him the Possession of any Part of his present Territories, I think that the following Articles should be proposed and insisted on for the Advantage of the Company.

1st. The Pay of our Troops in his Service to be made equal to their real Expence, upon a new monthly Estimate, and to commence from the Accession of the present Nabob.

2<sup>d</sup>. The Zemindary of Benares to be made dependant as a Fief on the united Kingdoms of Bengal and Bahar; and the Tribute lately paid by the Rajah to the Vizier, to be paid to this Government.

3<sup>d</sup>. The present Rajah of Benares to be confirmed in the Zemindary, which may be perpetuated in his Family under a fixed annual Tribute, and a fixed Fine at each future Investiture; a free Trade to be opened between these Provinces and his Country; the Rajah's Authority in his own Government to be left full and uncontrolled.

4th. If the Possession of the Rohilla Country, or any Part of it, be guaranteed by a future Treaty to the Nabob, that some favourable Terms be made for the surviving Chiefs of the Rohillas, or their Representatives.

5th. The Debts from Suja Dowla (supposing them not to be liquidated at the Conclusion of the new Treaty) to be considered and acknowledged by the present Nabob as due from himself, or the Representative of the State of Owde for the Time being.

6th. Besides the Guarantee to be stipulated in Return for the above Conditions, this Government shall undertake to obtain from the King a regular Confirmation of the Nabob in his Government, according to the Laws and Constitution of the Empire.

7th. I conceive that the Attachment of Nudjif Cawn might be secured with the greatest Advantage to this Government, if through our Recommendation the King would appoint him Vizier of the Empire, with a Jaghire, which might easily be found for him either in the Douabe or the Rohilla Country. I understand he is one of the ablest Men and best Soldiers in the Empire: If properly placed in point of local Situation, and his Attachment secured, he might serve as a Barrier to the Soubahdarry of Owde, either against the Marattas, or any other Invaders from the Western or Southern Parts of India.

(Signed)

P. Francis.

The first Object to be attended to in a new Treaty, is the future Strength and Security of our own Possessions. The Company have invariably declared against any further Accession of Territory to themselves; any Conditions of that Tendency are of course out of the Question.

1st. I think the Conditions of the old Treaty (the Article respecting Corah and Allahabad excepted) is a good Foundation for any we may now chuse to form.

2d. As it may be possible to increase the Subsidy for a Brigade employed in Owde, that Increase ought, if possible, to be effected; but its Extent being arbitrary, and depending entirely on the Pleasure of the Board, we should consider in which Way to make our Aid the least burthen some, and most useful to our Ally.

Our Military Establishment is become an intolerable Burthen, and the Directors have expressly recommended that such Reduction take place in it as may be done with Safety to Bengal. To effect a Reduction appears here a secondary Object, the Safety of Bengal the first; to answer both, we should engage our Ally to pay a respectable Body of Troops, such as we may at all Times be able absolutely to command, and use as our own on any emergent Occasion. If this can be effected, a proportionable Retrenchment of our own Forces may immediately take place, and the Burthen be removed from our Shoulders to those of our Ally: This is preferable, in my Opinion, to the hiring out any Part of our own Forces occasionally to defend Owde, &c. and will equally strengthen the Nabob against his Foreign Enemies, while it renders him proportionably weak, and dependant on us.

3d. The Independency of Gauzipore and Owde is a great political Object, and ought to be insisted on; and whatever may be resolved respecting the Revenue paid by the Raja of that Country; the English Government ought not to stand in the same Relation to it as the late Vizier, because the Country of Benares and Gauzipore is a natural Barrier to these Provinces, and the Raja should have the strongest Tie of Interest to support our Government, in case of any future Rupture with the Soubah of Owde.

To make this his Interest, he must not be tributary to the English Government; for, from the Instant he becomes its Tributary, from that Moment we may expect him to side against us, and by taking Advantage of the Troubles and Commotions that may arise, attempt to disburthen himself of his pecuniary Obligations.

(Signed) R. Barwell.

On the Death of a Soubah, the Soubahdarry escheats to the Crown; before Stipulations are made with Asophi ul Dowla, his Right to the Nabobship of Owde should be legally ascertained.

If the King nominates any other Person to the Nabobship of Owde, our Opposition to that Appointment is a Violation of the Laws of that Government under which we ostensibly hold the Dewannee.

I think therefore in the present Instance we should act as Mediator between the King and Asophi ul Dowla. This Measure will be serviceable to the young Nabob, respectful to the King, and obviate many Circumstances that may hereafter appear inconsistent in our Conduct.

Supporting Mirza Ammanee in the Succession, without the King's Firmaund, will be an Act of Rebellion.

The King's Firmaund therefore appears to be indispensably necessary, as a Sanction for our Conduct and Honour.

For this Service done the Nabob, we should require that Cheyt Sing's Zemindarry be annexed to the Soubahship of Bengal or Bahar, or to both.

To engage for the young Nabob strictly to adhere to all Treaties made between the King and Suja Dowla, and to endeavour to prevail on the Nabob to give the whole of the Rohilla Country to the King.

The King Shaw Allum, for these Advantages, and for the Respect shewn him, should make over the Sovereignty of Bengal and Bahar to the King of Great Britain, and relinquish all Claims to his Tribute.

If these Terms are too severe on the Nabob, they may be mitigated by relinquishing the Sums that remain due from him for the Conquest of the Rohilla Country.

If the Nabob Aloph ul Dowla requires the Assistance of a Brigade, he should pay all Charges attending it.

I mean by Charges, the Pay, Batta, and contingent Expenses.

(Signed) G. Monson.

In considering the important Subject which is now before us, I have Two Objects in View; First, the obtaining the greatest possible Advantage to the Company, in consideration of the defensive Aid proposed to be offered to the new Nabob; the Second is the avoiding the greatest probable Inconveniency to the State by virtue of the Engagements we may enter into with him.

As the Basis of all my Reasoning, the following Premises must be granted to me: First, that the Nabob Mirza Ammanee possesses such Disqualifications of Character, that he cannot maintain himself or his Musnud without our Assistance; Secondly, that there is a political Necessity in this Government, not to allow any other Prince to occupy the Soubahship of Oude, and the Countries of Corah and Allahabad, without our Concurrence.

It is well known that there will be as many Competitors for the Countries left by the late Vizier as there are Powers in that Part of Indostan; the King, the Marattas, the Jauts, the Rohillas, Nudjif Cawn, and even some of the Nabob's own Family and Commanders of his Army, will probably all or most of them strive to obtain some Share of his Dominions.

The Question then is, Will it be for the Interest of the Company to permit any of these Princes to establish themselves in the Provinces bordering on Bengal without our Consent?—I am of Opinion there would be great Danger in permitting it. In that Case, what Measure must be pursued to render us the Arbiters of those Countries consistently with those Views which I first stated—the obtaining the greatest possible Advantage to the Company, and avoiding the greatest probable Inconveniency in the Undertaking?

The greatest Advantage, in my Conception, that can be obtained for the Company, is, First, the total Extinction of the King's Claim to the Tribute on these Provinces; Secondly, that the Zemindary of Benares and Gauzipore shall be held by Cheyt Sing of the Company, instead of the Soubah of Oude. To obtain the First it should be proposed to the King, that he should renounce his Tribute on these Provinces, that he should acknowledge the Nabob of Oude to be Soubah of that Country, and should appoint him Vizier.

In Return for this Favour, we should restore to him the Countries of Corah and Allahabad. The Nabob, in Return to the Favour shewn to him and procured by our Mediation, should relinquish to the Company the Sovereignty of Benares and Gauzipore, to be held as at present by Cheyt Sing, on his paying his Tribute to the Company. In order to attach this Raja to the Company, his Tribute ought to be diminished at least Three Lacks of Rupees.

Whatever Assistance shall be afterwards required by either the King or the Nabob, for the Defence of their respective Countries of Corah and Allahabad, and the Province of Oude, not less than Three Lacks per Month should be paid to the Company, as less than that will not defray the Expence of a Brigade serving out of the Provinces.

(Signed) J. Clavering.

On the Grounds already resolved on, I propose the following Articles for the new Treaty, premising, that I consider the Debts due from the late Vizier, as not appertaining to the Subject of the intended Treaty. These we claim as a Right, exempt from any future Negotiation.

1st. That the Treaties of Allahabad and Benares be renewed on the Footing on which they stood at the Vizier's Death.

By this Proposition the Monthly Subsidy for our Army will remain, as settled with the late Vizier, at 2,10,000 Rupees. I am against augmenting it. The Expence ought not to exceed that Sum. If more be agreed on, it will either discourage the Nabob from employing the Brigade, or he will employ it, and most probably suffer it to run in Arrears.

2d. That the perpetual and independant Possession of the Zemindary of Benares and its Dependencies, be confirmed and guaranteed to Rajah Cheyt Sing and his Heirs for ever, subject only to the Annual Payment of the Revenues hitherto paid to the late Vizier, amounting to Benares S<sup>t</sup> Rupees 23,71,656. 12. to be disposed of as expressed in the following Article; that no other Demand be made upon him, either by the Nabob

The Rajah of Benares, from the Situation of his Country, which is a Frontier both to the Provinces of Oude and Bahar, may be made a serviceable Ally to the Company, whenever their Affairs shall require it. He has always been considered in this Light both by the Company and the successive Members of the late Council; but to ensure his Attachment to the Company, his Interest must be connected with it, which cannot be better effected than by freeing

bob of Oude or this Government, nor any Kind of Authority or Jurisdiction exercised by either within the Dominions assigned him.

freeing him totally from the Remains of his present Vassallage under the Guarantee and Protection of the Company, and at the same Time guarding him against any Apprehensions from this Government, by thus pledging its Faith, that no Encroachments shall ever be made on his Rights by the Company.

3d. That an equal Partition be made of the Revenue of the Zemindary of Benares, between the Company and the Nabob of Oude; that is to say, that the Rajah shall pay monthly to each, the Sum of 98,823. 2. 9. amounting on the Whole to Rupees 23,71,656. 12.; and that this Participation be expressly declared to be intended as a Pledge and Acknowledgement of the equal Relation in which the Rajah and his Successors are hereafter to stand to both Governments.

I propose this Article with some Reluctance, as contrary to my Idea of the Right of the Nabob of Oude, in virtue of the Treaty originally formed between his Father and the Company; but it is conformable to the Principle adopted by the Board in the Resolution passed this Morning, and may perhaps be obtained without much Opposition from the Nabob; at the same Time that it contributes to fix the Independence of the Zemindary of Benares, on the most permanent Foundation.

(Signed) Warren Hastings.

Agreed, That these several Opinions lie for further Consideration.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor General and Council in Bengal, in their Secret Department, to the Court of Directors of the East India Company, dated the 24th February 1775.

Par. 2. We then informed you of the declining State of the Vizier's Health, according to the Intelligence we received from Mr. Middleton; and that in his Opinion he could not survive long. On the 6th Instant, by Letters from Colonel Galliez, we were informed he was actually dead. The Colonel had previously apprized us of the imminent Danger in which the Vizier lay; and we had dispatched Instructions to him, to support the Pretensions of Mirza Amanny, the Nabob's eldest and only legitimate Son, in the Succession, in case of his Father's Death, and immediately to move the Brigade down to Fyzabad, to prevent any Disturbance in the City on the Occasion. We at the same Time ordered the Third Brigade to march up from Barrampore to Dinapore, that it might be nearer to the Frontier in case any Service should be required.

Par. 4. Just before the Vizier's Death, he wrote a Letter to the Governor General, which was afterwards transmitted to its Address by Mahomed Elich Khan, his Minister and favourite Servant, accompanied by one from himself.—By these Letters it appears that Mirza Amanny, otherwise called Afoph ul Dowlah, had his Father's positive Nomination to the Succession; and though by all Accounts he possesses neither the Qualities of the Heart nor Head equal to the Station to which he is thus called, we have not as yet any Reason to think that his Right will be disputed.

5. In Conformity to those Assurances which we gave in our last Letter to your Honourable Court, we have had in Deliberation the Line which on this important Event it may be most proper for us to pursue, for drawing from it the greatest possible Benefit to the Company's Affairs. We have already determined, that the specific Conditions of our former Alliances with the Vizier expired with him; and that although we owe Friendship to the present Nabob, as Heir to his Father, we are not bound to any special Services to him. In this essential Point it is necessary to mention, that the Sentiments of the Board were not unanimous, as will appear upon the Proceedings. Our present Engagement goes no farther than to a simple Acknowledgment of his Title; and therefore, should he apply to us for Assistance and effective Support, we mean to afford it only on such Terms and Stipulations as to us shall appear most advantageous to the Company, and honourable to the British Name. As this is a Subject of great Magnitude and Importance, we have chosen to enter upon it in Council with all the Deliberation which it requires. The Ideas of the different Members will appear in the Consultation referred to in the Margin; they are not given in as conclusive Opinions, but as Sentiments subject to be canvassed, modified, and corrected, and tending only to throw Lights on the Subject before the final Determination of the Board; when that Determination takes place, you shall be duly advised.

Par. 6. Mr. Bristow, who has set out for his Residency at the Court of the new Nabob, will be furnished with ample Instructions on these Heads.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 8th March 1775.

At a Council; PRESENT,

The Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, President,
 Lieutenant General John Clavering,
 The Honourable George Monson,
 Richard Barwell, } Esquires.
 Philip Francis, }

Mr. Francis having sent in the following Minute the Day after the Date of the above Council, it was circulated for the Perusal of each Member of the Board, and is now recorded.

Fort William, 4th March 1775.

I believe it was understood by the Board, that in my Answers to the several Questions proposed last Night by the Governor General, relative to a new defensive Treaty with the Soubah of Oude, I meant that all the Conditions which I thought this Government might assent to in Favour of the Soubah, or insist upon in Behalf of the Company, had an united and inseparable Relation to each other. As however my Answers to each Proposition may appear to be given absolutely, and independent of that mutual Relation by which I meant to unite them, I now beg Leave to explain my Intention, with respect to all the Governor's Propositions considered in one View.

1. I make the Cession or Transfer of the Revenue or Tribute (paid by the Rajah of Benares) from the Nabob of Oude to this Government for ever, a preliminary and fundamental Condition, without which I do not mean to consent to any Treaty of Guarantee whatsoever in Favour of the Nabob, unless an Alternative shall be proposed which may appear equally advantageous to this Government. If, for Example, the Nabob would rather relinquish his Claim to Corah and Illiabab than his present Right over the Zemindary of Benares, I shall be very willing to come to an Accommodation with him on that Point. The Recovery of those Countries might enable us to adjust all Disputes or Differences with the King, upon a Footing equally honourable and advantageous to the Company.

2. Supposing this first fundamental Article to be settled, I then consent to the Guarantee of Oude and Benares to the Nabob for his Life, without any Reservation; or, if he prefers Corah and Illiabab to Benares, I then include those Countries in the Guarantee, provided the Treaty of Benares shall be approved of, and confirmed by the Honourable Court of Directors.

3. With this Guarantee, on which ever of the Two Principles it may be settled, I mean to unite the Article of the Subsidy to be paid for the Service of such Part of our Troops as may be employed at the Nabob's Requisition in defending the Dominions guaranteed to him, provided the first great Point be adjusted to our Satisfaction. I would not ultimately insist on raising the Subsidy beyond its present Establishment. The first Demand however should be made for the entire Expence, we may afterwards gradually relax from it if we think proper.

4. In agreeing to the proposed Independence of the Rajah of Benares, my Meaning was to adhere strictly to the Third Paragraph of my Minute of the 13th of February, the Zemindary may be perpetuated in his Family on fixed and unalterable Conditions. The Conditions I proposed, tend to secure us a great Accession of Revenue without any Accession of Territory. It is highly for his own Advantage to be considered as a Vassal of the Sovereign of these Kingdoms, holding a great hereditary Fief by a fixed Tenure, and acknowledging the Sovereign of Bengal and Bahar to be his Lord Paramount. Speaking my Sentiments without Reserve, I must declare, that in settling this Article, I look forward to the Assertion or Acceptance of the Sovereignty of these Provinces, plena jure, on the Part of His Most Gracious Majesty the King of Great Britain.

(Signed)

P. Francis.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 8th March 1775.

Extract of the Governor General and Council's Instructions to the Resident at Oude.

These Matters being thus settled, you will then be at Liberty to listen to any Overtures for a new Treaty which the Nabob may choose to make; and in this Case you will take Care to intimate to him, that although the Company regard him as an Ally, and have not scrupled to acknowledge his Right to his Father's Succession, yet that the specific Conditions of the several Treaties made between the Company and his Father being merely temporary and personal, they of course expired with him. That therefore if he (the new Nabob) thinks it necessary also to require any specific Assistance or Service from this Government, it will be proper that a new Treaty, with new Stipulations, be entered into between us.

Possibly one of the First Articles he will propose, will be the Guarantee on our Parts of all his 9 Father's

Father's Dominions to him; and as our Ideas on this Article may not correspond with his Expectations, it will require particular Delicacy in opening them to him. We therefore recommend this particularly to your Attention; and shall explain them fully to you as a Guide for your immediate Conduct; not meaning to bind ourselves absolutely to adhere to them, should we find it expedient to recede afterwards in any Degree.

First, you must acquaint him that the Rohilla Country lately conquered by his Father, being now completely in his Possession, and the Company having faithfully fulfilled all their Engagements respecting it, we look upon it as unnecessary for us to interfere longer in its immediate Defence, especially as his own Power is sufficient for that Purpose, and that it would be carrying our Troops to too great a Distance from our own Frontiers to take upon us a constant Guarantee of its Possession to him; therefore this Article we must decline.

As to the Conquests in the Duab, they having been undertaken without our Consent or Participation, and no Assistance either required or expected from us at the Time, and even an express Declaration from the then Administration to the Vizier, that they would not assist him; we never looked upon ourselves as any way concerned in them, and cannot now enter into any Engagement for maintaining them.

With respect to the Provinces of Oude, Corah, and Allahabad, we shall make no scruple to guarantee to him the Possession of the First and of the Two last, till such Time as the Determination of the Court of Directors on the Treaty of Benares be known. It is probable that the Advice of this Determination will arrive before any Treaty can be finally adjusted with the Nabob, in which Case we shall be able to give you more precise Instructions on this Article. In the mean Time the above is the Line you are to take in conversing with the Nabob upon it.

But as in the Case of a defensive Treaty between the Company and the Nabob, and that they should take upon them the Guarantee of any Part of his Dominions, it is fit they should reap an Advantage from it equivalent to the Service which they are to render him, and to the Hazard which they take upon themselves; you will therefore give the Nabob to understand, that such Equivalent is to be expected of him; and you will throw out in your first Conversation with him on the Subject, that you have Reason to believe if he were to relinquish and make over to them for ever the Tribute which he receives from the Rajah Cheyt Sing, together with the Sovereignty of the Province possessed by that Rajah, it would be accepted as a full Compensation for the Protection they would agree to afford him, that thus yielding up to his best Friends a Tribute which bears a small Proportion to his other Revenues, it would better enable them to afford a solid and effectual Protection for the rest, and at the same Time encroach little on his real Dominion as a Sovereign Prince, since it would only be his relinquishing the nominal Authority over a Province where he hardly at present exercises any.

Such are the general Points on which we are willing to enter into a defensive Treaty with the new Nabob of Oude, and which must be the Groundwork of any Negotiations for that Purpose with him. It will be your Business, whenever these commence, supposing always that the Proposition first comes from him, to explain our Ideas to him in the most clear and precise Manner, that no Misunderstanding may afterwards arise; and you will endeavour to convince him of their Justice and Propriety. You must further acquaint him, that in any Treaty with him, where the specific Aid of any Body of our Troops may be stipulated, we expect that the Monthly Subsidy shall be ascertained at a Sum equal to the real and whole Expence; that we experienced in the last Campaign that the Subsidy paid by his Father was considerably less than the real Charge of the Brigade, which served to involve us in Difficulty and Distress; and in a similar Case with regard to him, it might prevent us from affording him that hearty and effective Aid which it is our Intention to bestow.

Provided the Surrender of his Claims on the Revenues and Sovereignty of Gauzipore be adjusted to our Satisfaction, we think proper to inform you, in the strictest Reliance and Confidence in your Discretion, that in that Case we do not mean to insist ultimately on raising the Subsidy beyond its present Establishment. And this Hope you are at Liberty to hold out to the Nabob as from yourself only, and without Authority from us. Your first Demand on the Head of the Subsidy, should be made for the entire Expence; we may afterwards gradually relax from it if we think proper. We need not tell you however, that you will render a most acceptable and useful Service to the Company, in obtaining the whole Demand according to the Terms in which you are ordered to make it in the first Instance.

If when the Nabob shall be thoroughly possessed of our Ideas and Expectations with respect to the Terms of the proposed Treaty, he should give a direct and positive Refusal to treat on such Terms, you are then to suspend all further Negotiations with him, and report to us the precise Terms of his Refusal; informing him at the same Time, that it is our Determination to withdraw our Troops immediately out of his Country, and that he must expect such Orders from us in Reply to your Report. We expect that you will obtain a precise Satisfaction from him on this Point, as soon as it is possible, and that you do not suffer yourself to be amused by a Negotiation of which the Nabob may avail himself during his present urgent Necessity; and when he has confirmed himself in his Government, under the Countenance and Protection of our Troops, may afterwards break off the Treaty.

At a Council; P R E S E N T,

The Honourable Warren Hastings, Governor General, President,
Lieutenant General John Clavering,
The Honourable Geo. Monson,
Rich<sup>d</sup> Barwell, } Esquires.
Philip Francis, }

Read the following Letter from Mr. Bristow, the Resident at the Court of the Nabob Asoph ul Dowla.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, and the Members of the Honourable Supreme Council at Fort William.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I am this Evening honoured by the Receipt of your Letter of the 8th Instant, containing full and explicit Instructions relative to the Treaty. All I have hitherto said to the Nabob about it was, that the English were firmly united to him in Friendship, and had therefore authorized me to negotiate this Matter.

On his Excellency's repeatedly asking me regarding the Terms of the new Treaty, I always answered, that I could not, according to my present Instructions, finally conclude any thing, but when he was at Leisure to give in his Preliminaries, I would forward them for the Approbation of the Honourable Board. He appeared anxious to confirm the Treaty of Benares, without taking any Notice of those made either at Allahabad, or by the Deputation in the Year 1768.

This is the Situation in which the Negotiation now stands; and as I have purposely avoided to descend to Particulars with his Excellency, the Channel is left open for the Propositions the Honourable Board are pleased to instruct me to make.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, 27th April 1775.

Extract of a Letter from the Resident at Oude to the Governor General and Council, dated the 14th April 1775.

My last was on the 11th Instant, since when I am favoured with your Letter of the 30th ultimo. I in consequence waited upon his Excellency, and intimated your Commands to him. He at first expressed great Discontent at the Honourable Board's protecting Rajah Cheyt Sing; called him his Zemindar, of whom he had a Right to require his Rents in Advance; and told me that he did not think I was authorized to make any Representation to him on this Head, or that of the Release of the Rohilla Families, for "the Governor General would have wrote to him, as well as to me, on these Matters." I hereupon quoted the Words of my Credentials, and requested his Excellency to consider my Trust was general, and that it was intended he should pay Attention to any Representations I should make in the Name of the Honourable Board, and this Mode of Negotiation had been adopted to save Trouble on both Sides.

I likewise quoted the Treaty subsisting between the late Vizier and Rajah Cheyt Sing, and their Heirs respectively, of which the Company were the Guarantees so long as the Rajah paid his Kists when they became due; and his Excellency on his Part could not demand either an Increase of Rent or Sums in Advance.

After a long Conversation, his Excellency confessed he had on my first mentioning the Matter not recollected the Circumstances I had explained to him; that his Reason for granting the last Tuncaw, was the Rajah's having once before paid one in Favour of the Company for Five Lacks of Rupees, and thought he would do it again; besides this, he had at the Time no other Means of discharging ever so small a Part of the Money due from him to the Company. I upon this told his Excellency, what he also pretended not to remember, that the Rajah had been induced to pay the First Tuncaw of Five Lacks with great Difficulty, and did it solely to avoid Altercation; that he would not now by a Repetition establish a Precedent so disadvantageous to himself, and contrary to the Letter of the Treaty.

At my Interview this Day there were many People present: I therefore thought it necessary, after the Conversation which had passed, both to support the Honour of the Government and the Credit of my own Station, to tell his Excellency, that the Honourable Board would never suffer the Rights of their Dependents to be infringed; Rajah Cheyt Sing was to be considered in this Light, and he must expect to see him protected, for that he was not to be put upon a Footing with his other Zemindars.

Translation of the proposed Articles of the Treaty with the Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah.

The Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah, Jeayaa Cawn Behadre, Hozebus Jung, on the one Part; and the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, and the Members of the Supreme Council of Fort William, for and in the Name of the English East India Company, on the other Part, agreeable to the following Articles.

First. That universal Peace, firm Friendship, and perfect Union, shall for ever be established between the Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah and the English East India Company; the contracting Powers, with a View of maintaining a reciprocal Friendship in the future, shall not for any Cause, or under any Pretence, encourage the Rejats and the Inhabitants of their Soubahs in committing Hostilities and Disturbances, and every Thing shall be avoided by the said Powers which might occasion them; their Friends and Enemies are mutual; and any Person who shall run away and take Refuge in the Country of one of the said Parties, shall be given up to the other, and no Assistance afforded him.

Second. The aforesaid Nabob engages never to entertain or receive in his Dominions Cossim Ally Cawn, the former Soubahdar of Bengal, and Sumroo, the Murderer of the English; even in Case of his getting them into his Hands, he will out of Friendship make them Prisoners, and deliver them up to the English Company. He also engages not, for any Cause or under any Pretence, to entertain Europeans of any Nation in his Service, without the Consent of the English Company: That he will prevent, oppose, and send back such as offer to come in, to pass through, or remain, or shall now be in his Dominions without the Perwannah of the English Company. The Europeans of every Nation in the Service of the said Nabob are hereby dismissed; and now and in the future he engages never to entertain the said Europeans; and to deliver up to the English Company such of their Servants who have deserted or may desert, in case of his apprehending them.

Third. If the King should write any Thing relative to the Affairs of the Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah to the English Serdars, they will attend to the Satisfaction, Advantage, and Inclination of the said Nabob, and not consent to what the King may say or write. In like Manner, if the King should write to the Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah, relative to the Affairs of the English Serdars, he will attend to their Satisfaction, Advantage, and Inclination, and not consent to what he may say or write.

Fourth. The Countries of Corah and Allahabad shall always and for ever remain in the Possession of the Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah, on the same Footing as the Soubah of Oude; and they shall on no Account in the future be disturbed by the English; nor will they ever request a Dam or Derrum, or any Thing from the said Countries. The English Serdars engage to defend the Soubah of Oude at all Times, and Corah and Allahabad until the Pleasure of the Court of Directors shall be known.

Fifth. The said Nabob, for the Defence of his Country as above specified, declares, that he has given up of his own free Will and Accord, unto the English Company, all the Districts dependant on Rajah Cheyt Sing, together with the Land and Water Duties, and the Sovereignty of the said Districts in Perpetuity—That the English Company shall, after One Month and a Half from the Date of this Treaty, take upon them the Sovereignty and Possession of the Districts under Rajah Cheyt Sing, as hereunder specified; viz.

Sircar Benares,	The Districts of Junapore,
Sircar Chumar,	Bighpore Bahdore,
Sukteffgun,	Mullbooz Kaws.
The Sircar Gauzypore,

The Purgunnahs of Seckunderpore, Jeride, Shaay, Abad, Toppa, Surchehur, &c. as formerly, The Mint and Cutwally of Benares.

Sixth. The Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah, for the Aid and Assistance of the English Troops when stationed with him, shall pay Monthly, from the Date of this Treaty, for the Charges of a Brigade, the Sum of Two Lacks Sixty thousand Oude Sicca Rupees, of the 16th Year, agreeable to the present Currency.—If in future this Currency should be abolished, the Decrease or Increase of Batta shall be mutually given and received by the Parties. The Particulars of a Brigade are; viz.

Two Battalions, or One Regiment of Europeans,
One Company of Artillery, and Six Battalions of Sepoys.

The aforesaid Nabob shall, whenever the English Troops pass the Boundaries of the Company's Provinces at his Request, pay the stipulated Sum Monthly from that Time until their Return to the aforesaid Boundaries.

Seventh. If the aforesaid Nabob shall ever require the Aid and Assistance of the English Company, for the Defence of any other of his Countries besides those above specified, he will fix something for the Company proportioned to the Service.

The English Company and all the English Serdars, engage to perform whatever Articles are now mutually settled ; and in the future, during the Life of the Nabob Asuf ul Dowlah, they will never vary or depart from them.—They will not, in any Respect or Manner, make Requests of any thing new, contrary to the Tenor of this Treaty.

The Parties mutually swear according to their respective Faiths, to abide by these Engagements. Dated the 20th of Rubby-ut-Euril, 1189 of the Hegira, or the 21st of May 1775.

Extract of Letter from Mr. Bristow to the Governor General, dated Camp opposite to Konnajeer, 22d May 1775.

I humbly submit my Conduct to the Honourable Board, in agreeing to the Sum of Fifty thousand Rupees a Month for the Increase of Subsidy, as Murtehret Cawn repeatedly observed to me. Benares, &c. now ceded to the Company instead of 22 Lacks, might be estimated at Fifty per Annum, it being rented, the Difference between these Two Sums, under its real Value. To transfer such a Revenue to the English, and at the same Time consent to an Increase of Subsidy for defending Oude only, for in fact the Stipulation, in regard to Corah and Illahabad, could hardly be considered binding, when Letters from the Court of Directors might arrive the very Day after the signing of the Treaty, and leave the Company at Liberty to require new Terms for this Service. He for a long Time, in the Name of the Nabob, therefore positively rejected this Article ; but after much Persuasion, I convinced him of the Propriety of it ; and as the Honourable Board did not fix a Sum, and the Juncture was favourable for concluding every Point, I thought it prudent to accept what was offered.

Together with the Treaty I received Purwannahs from the Nabob to Rajah Cheyt Sing, the Cutwah, and the Dorogo of the Mint at Benares, directing them to deliver over the separate Trusts to the Company at the stipulated Time. I have enclosed the original Perwannahs by this Night's Dawk to Mr. Motte, desiring him and the other Parties to acknowledge the Receipt of them.

Translation of an Agreement under the Seal of his Excellency the Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah.

In case of any Persons having any Demand, or having received Tunkaws on Rajah Cheyt Sing, or on the Districts under him, agreeable to my Orders, such Demands or Tunkaws do not depend on the said Rajah, or on the said Districts, but are due from myself.

The Possession and Sovereignty in Perpetuity of the said Districts under the said Rajah, without Incumbrances, Delay, Dues, Debts, Tuncaws, &c. I wholly give up to the English Company, at the Expiration of One Month and a Half.

Par. 2. It is now with the greatest Satisfaction we can inform you that the Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah has consented fully and totally to the Terms we proposed for a new Treaty with him, as advised you in

In our Letter of the 24th March last. The Treaty was finally adjusted between the Nabob and the Resident at his Court, on the 21st May last, and the Ratification executed by us immediately after the Receipt of the Treaty.

3. In the Consultation referred to in the Margin, is inserted an exact Copy of the Treaty as signed by us. The Articles differ in nothing essential from those agreed upon to be offered to the Nabob when we first determined to renew our Alliance with him. The Cession of Benares, and the other Territories of the Rajah Cheyt Sing, to the Company, we flatter ourselves will prove perfectly agreeable to your Ideas, as it conveys a valuable Acquisition to the Company, without incumbering them with any new Engagements, or loading them with additional Expence; nor indeed is it liable to the Objection of involving them in the Trouble of new Collections and new Establishments, with all the Disorders which attend them. The Revenue which accrues from this Acquisition amounts to Rupees 23,72,656. 12. 0, and will be paid by the Rajah in monthly Payments as a neat Tribute, without rendering any Account of his Collections, or being allowed to enter any Claim for Deductions. You will observe that the Cession of the whole Zemindary of Cheyt Sing, with all the Powers and Rights annexed to it, is made immediately to the Honourable East India Company, without any Participation with the Soubah of these Provinces, or any formal Union of Title or Possession between this and the Company's former territorial Acquisitions. In the Treaties entered into with the late Vizier Sujah Dowlah, in the Years 1765 and 1770, the Company's Representatives acted as Plenipotentiaries from the Nabob Nudjum-ul-Dowlah, and his Successor Syef-ul-Dowlah.—We hope that our securing to the Company the exclusive Right to the rich Zemindary of Benares, independent of the Sovereignty of Bengal, will be deemed a Service of Importance to their Interests, and favoured with their Approbation. It is not yet finally settled with the Rajah whether the Tribute shall be paid at Patna or Calcutta. We wait his Answer to our Proposal on this Head, as well as to some others, regarding the Cutwally and Mint at Benares, and to our Recommendation of his keeping up a Body of Cavalry, to be ready for our Assistance when called upon: When these Matters are adjusted, we shall duly advise you; in the mean while the Governor General's Proposals respecting them, and our Deliberations upon them, will be seen in the Consultations.

Extract of Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 11th September 1775.

Par. 10. In our Letter of the 3d August, of which you will receive a Duplicate by this Ship, you are advised of the Acquisition of the Territories of Rajah Cheyt Sing to the Company, and of the Steps which we had then taken towards settling with him for that Zemindary. On the 16th of that Month we again took this Subject into Consideration, and called the Vackeel before us, who had received an Answer from his Master to our first Offer; but not being able to ascertain from him the Fineness and Quantity of the Silver of the Goushary Rupees, in which Coin the Tribute from the Rajah is to be paid, nor the exact Amount which the late Farmers of the Mint and Cutwally at Benares, and the Cutwally at Juanpore, had paid annually to the Nabob and his Officers, for the Grant of those Articles; we judged it necessary to appoint a Person to proceed to Benares, to make sundry local Investigations into these and other Points, to enable us to come to a final Adjustment with the Rajah; and we accordingly appointed Mr. Francis Fowke. In the mean Time we agreed that the Rajah should continue to pay at Benares the exact Sum, and in the same Species of Rupees as he had paid to the late and present Nabobs of Oude; that is to say, 23,72,656. 12. Gourshay Rupees, exclusive of the Mint, Cutwally, and other Articles, which the Nabob held in his own Right.

Extract of Minute of General Clavering, Colonel Monson, and Mr. Francis, in Secret Consultations, 7th December 1775.

The permanent Advantages secured to the Company by our Treaty with the present Subahdar of Oude, are equally conspicuous and important; they have extorted an Acknowledgment from the Governor General, with which he has not been accustomed to honour any Measures but his own. In Return for an Acquisition of Twenty-two Lacks a Year for ever, with an Increase of Fifty thousand Rupees to the Monthly Subsidy of the Brigade, besides many other Advantages and honourable Stipulations, hardly any thing is granted on our Part but a personal Guarantee of the same Countries to the Son which we were before bound to guarantee to the Father. The Frontier Country of Ghazipore must at any rate have been defended by our Arms in case of an Invasion, whether the Revenues of it had been ceded to the Company or not. These Revenues are in Effect a clear Gain to the Company, and a seasonable Relief to the declining Circulation of Bengal. The Measure is strictly and exclusively ours: The original Plan was opposed in every Step by the Governor General and Mr. Barwell. It gives us the highest Satisfaction to observe, that by the Terms of the Treaty, the Guarantee of the Nabob's Dominions, and the Service of the Company's Troops, were exactly confined within the same Limits which the Court of Directors in their last Letter have thought fit to prescribe to us in our Engagements with the Vizier.

Secret Consultation, 29th February 1776.

Extract from the Governor General's Observations on the Minute of General Clavering, Colonel Monson, and Mr. Francis, dated the 21st November 1775.

Par. 9. The new Treaty with Asoph O'Dowla is certainly advantageous to the Company, if the Conditions of it can be fulfilled; but of this I ever did, and do still, entertain a Doubt, notwithstanding the Acknowledgments which it is said to have extorted from me, but which I do not remember to have expressed, and now disclaim; for I cannot deem it honourable to have extorted from the Nabob, Concessions inconsistent with our former Treaties, to which the Necessity of his Situation alone obliged him, however unwillingly, to submit.

Extract of Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 15th January 1776.

Par. 14. The Amount of the yearly Tribute of Rajah Cheyt Sing, fixed by his Treaty with the late Nabob of Owde, was Benares Rupees 22,48,449, besides which we find that he paid a further annual Tax, under the Head of Nuzzerana Rupees, Rupees 90,000, which, consistently with our Resolution to exact the same from him as he paid to the late Vizier, we think the Company had an undoubted Right to, and therefore we resolved to fix the Sum, adding the Value of a few Articles, which we had left the Settlement of to Mr. Fowke, at Benares Rupees 23,40,209, or Sicca Rupees 22,66,180 <sup>11 21</sup>/<sub>100</sub> Decimals. We have authorized Mr. Fowke to treat with the Rajah for the Payment of this Sum by monthly Instalments at Calcutta; and we have Reason to hope, from the Concessions we have made to him in the Articles of the Mint and Cutwally, that he will take upon himself this Remittance on moderate Terms. Mr. Fowke has received from him 7,09,000 Rupees to the 20th ultimo, and we have directed him to remit this Amount through the Hands of the Rajah, or by Bills obtained from the Merchants at Benares.

15. It appearing that the Coinage struck for many Years past in the Mint at Benares, has been debased in Proportion to the annual Rent paid by the Person who farmed it to Government, we thought it advisable to fix a proper Weight and Standard to be invariably observed by the Rajah in all Money which might be coined, on Pain of forfeiting the Mint, and being liable to any Penalty the Board might think fit to impose on the first Instance of any Deviation; and to obviate any Objections on his Part, we relinquished the Sum which had been usually paid for that Farm.

16. Conceiving also that no Profits could be justly yielded by the Cutwallies, above the Expence of their Establishments, we were unwilling to encourage Oppression, or to furnish a Pretence for the Rajah or his Ministers to introduce or give Sanction to any venal Perquisites in his Courts; we also remitted the Sum commonly paid to the Nabob for a Grant of them.

Extract of Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 20th March 1776.

Par. 37. Rajah Cheyt Sing has now agreed to pay the Amount of his Tribute, being Sicca Rupees 22,66,180, into the Treasury at Calcutta, by equal monthly Kists or Instalments, and is to receive 2 per Cent. Premium on the Amount for the Charge of Remittance; we have allowed 51 Days Grace for every monthly Payment to be made after the Period on which it actually becomes due, in order to enable him to procure Bills, or to remit Assets to answer the Payment within that Term: And to secure his being exact in the punctual Discharge of his monthly Kists, we have agreed to impose a Penalty in case of Failure of  $\frac{1}{4}$  per Cent. per Diem on the Amount of all deficient Payments, after the Expiration of the Term of 51 Days. A Sunnud for his Zemindary shall be furnished him on these, and the Conditions before agreed on.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor and Council General, in their Secret Department, at Fort William, 15th April 1776.

The Secretary having prepared the Sunnud and Potta for Rajah Cheyt Sing's Zemindary, now begs Leave to lay them before the Board, with Copy of an Obligation to be executed by him for the Remittance of his Tribute. The Board having signed the former, Ordered, That they be transmitted to him, and Translations of all of them entered in this Place.

Whenever the Money shall not be wanted at Benares, he is to remit the Annual Amount of 22,66,180 Sicca Rupees punctually, agreeably to his Kists and Muckulka, by monthly Payments at Calcutta. In Consideration of which, he shall be allowed a Deduction of 2 per Cent. amounting in all to S<sup>r</sup> R<sup>r</sup> 44,434. 14. 5. Account Hindowunny, which being deducted, the net Amount is 22,21,745. 1. 7. S<sup>r</sup> R<sup>r</sup> of Calcutta, which he is to pay at that Place. After the Settlement of Account at the End of the Year, he shall in the customary Manner receive Credit for his Payments; and he is by no Means to collect the prohibited Abwank of the Durgah of His Majesty. This Sunnud being granted, is to remain in Force, and all former Sunnuds to become null and void. You the Mutisiddies and Persons abovementioned are to regard the said Rajah as the truly and lawfully Possessor of Zemindary, Aumeny and Foujedarry of the above Circars, and to acknowledge his Authority in the several Acts appertaining thereto. Know that we have here issued the most strict and positive Commands, and obey them accordingly.

Extract of the Company's General Letter to Bengal, dated 24th December 1776.

Par. 37. It is with singular Satisfaction we observe at any Time the Attention paid by our Servants to the great Interests of their Employers; and it is with particular Pleasure we here signify our entire Approbation of the late Treaty concluded with Asoph ul Dowlah, Successor of Sujah' Dowlah, by which such Terms are procured as seem to promise us solid and permanent Advantages.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in their Secret Department, the 9th July 1778.

Extract of Governor General's Minute.

Secondly. That Rajah Cheyt Sing be required in Form to contribute his Share of the Burthen of the present War, by consenting to the Establishment of Three regular Battalions of Sepoys, to be raised and maintained at his Expence.

Mr. Francis—On the Supposition that the Detachment now employed under Colonel Leslie will not return for a Length of Time into the Provinces, I acquiesce in the Proposal relative to Rajah Cheyt Sing; but I think he should be informed, that this additional Charge will not be imposed on him beyond the Continuance of the present War.

The Governor General—The Qualification proposed by Mr. Francis is consonant to my Intention in the Question, and is implied in it: I should have no Objection to its being expressed in an additional Clause. That our Resolutions upon this Subject may be unanimous, I agree to add to the Question the following Words, "and to be disbanded at the End of the War;" but perceiving that the Difference in our Opinions upon the Subject arises, not from a Disagreement respecting the Requisition simply considered by itself, but from a different Understanding of the Right of the Company to exact, under any Pressure of Affairs, more than the Sum stipulated by the Sunnud granted to Cheyt Sing, and the Caboolat given by him in Return, I must adhere to the Question as it stands, wishing to avoid the Question of Right. If, however, we cannot agree upon this Point, still I would wish to have the Requisition made in the Words of the Question, and leave the Decision of future Right to our Superiors.

Mr. Wheler—Wishing to avoid the Question of Right, I acquiesce in the Motion; but I think it should be qualified in the Manner proposed by Mr. Francis.

Mr.

Mr. Barwell—An Acquisition of Revenue and Military Force I suppose to have been annexed to the Grant of the Zemindary of Benares and Gauzipore to the Company. Any military Establishment, independent of the English Administration, in the Heart of the Company's Dominions, may, in the Time of Danger, be turned against those Interests which, under another Policy, it would protect. I have long regarded the military Establishment of Benares under the Rajah's native Officers, and not subject to the Discipline, Command, and Regulation of our Battalions, as a Defect: I therefore most heartily agree to the present Proposal for Three disciplined Battalions to be kept up and paid by the Rajah, and sincerely hope the Company will direct, that the whole Force of Benares and Gauzipore under the Zemindar, be placed upon the same Footing as the regular military Force of the Presidency.

The Governor General—I agree to the Question in the original Terms of it, deeming it a Right inherent in every Government to impose such Assessments as it judges expedient for the common Service and Protection of all its Subjects; and we are not precluded from it by any Agreement subsisting between the Rajah and this Government.

Resolved, That Rajah Cheyt Sing be required in Form to contribute his Share of the Burthen of the present War, by the Establishment of Three regular Battalions of Sepoys, to be raised and maintained at his Expence; and the Governor General is requested to write to him to that Effect.

To Rajah Cheyt Sing: Written 11th July 1778.

War having been declared between the Courts of Great Britain and France, by the former on the 18th March or 18th Suffer, and by the latter on the 30th of March, or 1st of Rubbee ul Awal, 1192 Hejeree, I am to request of you in my own Name, and that of the Board, as a Subject of the Company, bound to promote their Interest on every Occasion, to contribute your Share of the Burden of the present War, which will equally affect your Interest and ours. It has been determined by the Board, that an Establishment of Three Regular Battalions of Sepoys, to be commanded by British Officers, be raised and maintained at your Expence, and employed on such Service as the Situation of Affairs may require. I have no Doubt but, regarding this Measure equally conducive to your own and the Company's Interest, you will with the greatest Readiness comply, and I hope you will intimate your Consent without Delay.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council in their Secret Department, 17th August 1778.

The Governor General lays before the Board the following Letters, &c.

The Governor General lays before the Board the following Letter from Rajah Cheyt Sing, and informs the Board, that having called upon Ally Nucky, the Rajah's Vackeel, for an Explanation of his Master's further Sentiments upon the Subject of it, he received the following Answer from the Vackeel, being the Substance of a long Conversation, viz. That his Master was at all Times ready to pay Obedience to the Commands of the Board, and to afford every Proof of his Attachment to the Company; and that the Rajah had authorized him to declare his Acquiescence in the Requisition of a Subsidy equal to the Expence of Three Battalions of Sepoys, for the Service of the War.

The Vackeel contended much for fixing the Sum of the Subsidy at Three Lacks of Rupees. The Governor told him, it could not be less than Five; and received his Consent in his Master's Name, and in virtue of the Authority which he derived from the Rajah, to the Payment of that Sum for One Year, his Authority extending no further.

The Governor General is of Opinion, that as the Rajah's Consent has been expressed with such a Limitation, and eluded in his written Answers, the Payment of the Subsidy ought not to be left subject to the Contingencies which the Course of a Year may produce, but immediately demanded. He computes that the Amount of Three Battalions of Sepoys, on Double Batta, exclusive of Tents, Arms, and contingent Charges, will amount to 4,76,000 R<sup>l</sup>. On these Grounds he moves, That the Subsidy to be paid by Rajah Cheyt Sing, for the Maintenance of Three Battalions of Sepoys during the Course of the War, be fixed at the annual Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees; and that he be immediately required to pay that Sum into the Hands of the Resident Mr. Graham.

(Signed)

Warren Hastings.

Mr. Francis—I acquiesce, though in my own Opinion it would answer as well to us, and be less distressing to the Rajah, if the Subsidy were added in equal Proportions to the monthly Receipts of the Tribute.

I agree,
Agreed,

P. Francis,
R. Barwell,
E. Wheler.

From

From Maha Rajah Cheyt Sing. Received 30th July.

I have been honoured by the Receipt of your gracious Letter, communicating the Intelligence of a War having broke out between the Courts of Great Britain and France, and desiring me to take on myself a Share of the Burthen of Expence. My Patron! I am the Servant of the Sircar; I will write you more fully hereafter. On all Occasions I am hopeful of your Highness's Favour and Support.

Resolved, That the following Letter be written to Mr. Graham; and that Notice of the Board's Resolution be given to the Persian Translator, that a Letter be accordingly prepared to be sent to Rajah Cheyt Sing.

Sir,

Thinking it necessary that Rajah Cheyt Sing should be required to contribute his Share to support the Burthen of the present War with France, we resolved that Three Battalions of Sepoys should be raised and maintained at his Expence: And the Rajah, in Answer to a Letter which the Governor General wrote to him on the Occasion, having, by Means of his Vackeel, agreed to pay a Subsidy of Five Lacks of Rupees for One Year, but not authorized his Vackeel to extend his Acquiescence further, we deem it necessary, and have accordingly ordered, that the Rajah shall immediately pay this Sum into your Hands; you will therefore receive the same from him, and remit the Amount of it to the Presidency.

We are, &c.

Fort William,
17th August, 1778.

To Rajah Cheyt Sing. Written 17th August 1778.

I have been favoured with your Letter, intimating your Consent to the Requisition made to you by this Government as a Subject of the Company, to bear a Part of the Expence of the present War: I am pleased with your ready Compliance; of this indeed I could have no Doubt, as your Interest is equally concerned with the Company's in the Success of it. The Expence of keeping up Three regular Battalions has been calculated, and found to amount to Five Lacks of Rupees per Annum, at which Rate your annual Subsidy has been accordingly fixed. I am therefore to desire, in the Name of this Government, that you will pay immediately to Mr. Thomas Graham the Sum of Five Lacks of Muckledar Rupees. Thus you will perform your Duty to the Company, and secure their Favour and Support.

Extract of Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 17th August 1778.

Par. 12. We have agreed to augment our own Military Establishment, by the Addition of 15 Companies of Native Artillery, and 9 Battalions of Sepoys. Three of these Battalions are now forming by Drafts from the regular Troops which are stationed in the Nabob's Dominions, and the other Six will be composed of Recruits; but as we think it just that Rajah Cheyt Sing should contribute his Part to the Charges of the War, we have determined that Three of these Battalions shall be raised and maintained at his Expence, by Means of a Subsidy of Five Lacks per Annum, which he has agreed to pay for One Year.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Public Department, 28th September 1778.

Extract of Letter from the Resident at Benares, dated the 14th September 1778.

I think it necessary to inform you, that notwithstanding Seventeen Days are elapsed since your Orders arrived here, directing the Rajah to pay into my Hands the Subsidy he had agreed to pay, of Five Lacks of Mutchilidar Rupees, he has not yet paid me One Rupee; and offers, as a Reason, his Inability to discharge the Whole at once; and requests me to receive it by Monthly Payments. Your Honourable Board's Orders authorizing nothing of the Kind, I have acquainted him that it is impossible for me to come into his Request; and have repeated my Requisition, which I have indeed been urging every Day since the Receipt of your Orders, to pay me the whole Amount as speedily as possible.

The Governor General lays before the Board the following Letter from Rajah Cheyt Sing:

From

From Rajah Cheyt Sing, 28th September.

I have been honoured with your gracious Letter, desiring that I will, as a Subject of the Company, take on myself the Payment of Five Lacks of Mutchledar Rupees, as my Proportion of the Expences of the present War, and pay them to Mr. Graham.—Although I have no Ability left, and the great Burthen of Expence I laboured under from the Time of the Decease of the late Rajah till the Expiration of the Nabob Vizier's Authority over me is well known to God and your Excellency, yet solely with a View to Compliance with your Orders, and to prove my Fidelity, having sold and pledged every thing belonging to me, I will make good the aforesaid, in Instalments, in Six or Seven Months; although by parting with my Effects, which are clearly necessary, I am left in a State of Inability for the future; yet you will show me much Favour, that I shall again recover myself.

As a Time is required for the Sale of my Effects, and raising the Money, I hope, from your Kindness, that the Officers of Government may take from me in different Payments the said Sum in Sonaut Specie, as I shall not be able to procure this Sum in Muchledar Rupees; and that you will be graciously pleased to affix your Signature to my Requests, that I may apply myself with Satisfaction and Assiduity to the Business of the Sirkar.

Governor General—The Substance of this Letter, and the Requisition made by the Rajah to Mr. Graham, differ so much from the cheerful and ready Acquiescence with the Rajah's Vackeel, Shaik Ally Nuckey, made in his Master's Name, to the Demand we made on him for this Subsidy, that I think it necessary, for my own Justification, to call upon the Secretary to certify the Accuracy of my Minute, delivered on the 17th August, containing the Assent expressed by the Vackeel, in his Master's Name, to the Payment of the Subsidy.

The Secretary acquaints the Board, that the Governor General delivered to him the Minute above-mentioned, previous to his laying it before the Board, with Orders to explain the Contents of it to the Rajah's Vackeel, that it might correspond with the Acquiescence which he had delivered. He accordingly communicated the Minute to the Vackeel, and received from him a Confirmation of the Terms therein expressed.

The Governor General moves, That Orders be written immediately to Mr. Graham, that he do, on Receipt of them, demand of the Rajah in Person, the Payment of the entire Sum of Five Lacks of Rupees in the Space of Five Days; and declare to him, in the Name of this Board, that his Refusal or Neglect to compleat the Payment within that Time, shall be deemed equivalent to an absolute Refusal; and that he be forbidden in that Case to hold any farther Intercourse with the Rajah, until he shall have advised us of the Particulars of the Rajah's Conduct in this Instance, and received our Orders in Consequence.

Mr. Francis—I beg Leave to ask, Whether there be any Letter from the Rajah himself to the Governor, in which his Consent to pay the Five Lacks, in the Manner agreed to by the Vackeel, is expressed, or the Vackeel's Engagement to that Effect confirmed?

Governor General.—All the Rajah's Letters will be found in the Book of Persian Correspondence, to which I refer; but I well recollect, that the Assent given by the Vackeel was expressed in Terms the most peremptory that could be conceived, either confirmed by an Oath, or his own Life pledged for the Performance of it. My Minute was drawn up from Heads of what passed in Conversation with the Vackeel; and when it was explained to him by Mr. Auriol, he was very desirous of correcting a Part of it, which made the Acquiescence of the Rajah appear too general; and that it might be specifically limited to One Year, his Powers, he added, extended no further. The Correction was accordingly made upon the Spot, in the Room adjoining to this, and the Minute immediately recorded. I desire the Secretary to mention whether this agrees with his Recollection of the Matter.

The Secretary very well recollects the particular Circumstances alluded to by the Governor General, and therefore offers his Testimony, that the Vackeel declared he was authorized to acquiesce in the Subsidy for One Year, but no longer, and desired that the Requisition might be limited to that Time. The Minute was before indefinite.

Mr. Francis—I have no Sort of Doubt of the Reality of the Engagements made by the Vackeel; the Question is, whether they are Acts of the Rajah, or made by sufficient Authority from him? If the Vackeel had even a Letter of Credence, relative to the Point in question, it would be sufficient; if he had, it must appear on the Persian Correspondence, and I desire the Secretary will read it.

Governor General—I have looked over the Book of Correspondence; there are but Two Letters upon the Subject, the First a Letter recorded in Consultation of the 17th August, acknowledging the Receipt of mine, which contained the First Requisition of the Five Lacks, and promising an Answer. The Letter recorded on this Day, appears to be that Answer, as it begins with an Acknowledgment of the First Letter, and a short Recapitulation of its Substance. My First Letter was written on the 11th July, Two Months and Seventeen Days from this Date. If an Answer from the Vackeel, during so long an Interval, was not to be deemed authentic, the Rajah's Silence was more disrespectful than a direct Refusal; but if it be admitted as an Exculpation, his surest Remedy against any Act of Government will be a Refusal to make any Reply to its Demands. I will not conceal from the Board that I have expected this evasive Conduct in the Rajah, having been some Time past well informed, that he had been advised in this Manner to procrastinate the Payment of the Five Lacks, to afford Time for the Arrival of Dispatches from England, which were to bring Orders for a total Change in this Government; and this he was given to expect would produce a Repeal of the Demand made upon him by the present Government. On intimating my Suspicions of such a Design to the Vackeel, he promised he would write in so effectual a Manner to his Master, as should without fail induce him to make an immediate Payment of the Subsidy. He this Morning informed me, that his Letter was dispatched on the 12th of this Month; its Effect ought by this Time to have shewn itself. Sufficient Time will have been given to the Rajah to obey the Authority of the Board, by the Arrival of the Orders which I have now proposed; and whether in that Interval he shall ratify the Act of his Vackeel or not, I shall consider of little Consequence. If the Board will support their own Authority, he shall be made to yield to it.

Mr. Francis—There is no Question but the Rajah must yield to the Power of this Government, and I shall be as ready as any Member of this Board to support its Authority, as long as its Power is directed by Justice. I did from the first express a Doubt, whether we had strictly a Right to encrease our Demands upon the Rajah beyond the Terms which we originally agreed to give him, which he consented to, and which, as I have constantly understood it, were made the fundamental Tenure by which he held his Zemindary. If such Demands can be encreased upon him at the Discretion of the Superior Power, he has no Rights, he has no Property, or at least he has no Security for either: Instead of Five Lacks let us demand Fifty; or whether he refuses or is unable to pay the Money, the Forfeiture of his Zemindary may be the immediate Consequence of it, unless he can find Means to redeem himself by a new Treaty. Having this Opinion of the Demand itself, as it originally stood, it cannot be deemed extraordinary in me, that I should proceed with very great Caution in enforcing any Penalties which may be proposed to attend his not instantly complying with it. It appears that the Engagements made by the Vackeel have not been confirmed by the Rajah, and that the Vackeel had not even a Letter of Credence from his Master. I know the Temper of Black Servants too well to punish their Principals for any Acts done by them, or even to hold them bound by such Acts, if not expressly or virtually confirmed by themselves. I do not mean by what I have said, that the Board should give up the Demand which they have already thought fit to make of the Rajah: That Resolution being passed, it only remains for us to take Care that it be carried into Execution without Harshness or Violence. The Rajah must pay the Money, if he has it; but I cannot conceive why we should insist on his paying it all at once. We do not instantly want it, and it may distress him in the greatest Degree to part with such a Sum at a single Payment. My Opinion is, therefore, that the Liquidation of the present extraordinary Demand upon him, should be settled by Installments, and that he should be assured at the same Time, that this Board will not make any further Demands upon him. Under such a Settlement, unanimously agreed to, it is not likely that the Rajah will delay or evade a due and regular Execution of it, from any Hopes he may conceive of future Relief by a Change in this Government.

The Governor General—The very Demand is itself a Proof that the Rajah expects such Relief; and with respect to his Ability to pay the Sum so long demanded from him, or even Ten Times that Amount, I speak within Compass, no Man can doubt of it. The Acts of the Majority of the Board are the Acts of the Board. When the Person who is the immediate Object of them, stands so high in the public Estimation, and holds Pretensions, as it appears this Rajah does, to a sovereign and independent Authority, such Acts once passed, ought never to be revoked. The Demand made upon the Rajah was for immediate Payment; the Demand ought to be supported rigidly; but I will so far yield to the Necessity of the Times, weakening as it may prove to the Powers of this Government, at a Crisis which of all others demands their most vigorous Exertion, as to consent to a Compromise. The Rajah has requested, that he may be allowed to pay the Sum required of him by Installments, within the Space of Six or Seven Months. I will consent to pardon his past Contumacy and Disobedience, on Condition of his consenting to pay the entire Sum within Three Months; which Time will have elapsed before the Orders now sent to Mr. Graham can take effect, although not a Rupee shall have been received to that Period, of the Payments which by his own Proposal ought to be half completed. I desire, that what I have said may not be misunderstood. I mean only to shew, that instead of the Harshness and Rigour, which have been imputed to this Government, in its present Conduct to the Rajah, he has been treated with a Lenity almost equal to the Substance of his own Demands. I think it unnecessary to reply further to Mr. Francis's Minute, as I desire only to obtain his Consent to a Measure upon his own Principles, which I understand to be, that a public Measure, nay even an Opinion of Government, once passed, ought to be invariably supported, even by those who opposed it in the first Instance.

Mr. Francis—It is generally true, that a Resolution of Government, once passed, should be supported; but, where the Rights of others are concerned, it is only true with this proviso, that such Resolutions are not directly contradictory to the Principles of Justice, or to the voluntary and fundamental Engagements of the Government itself. This Board was already bound to the Rajah by certain Acts of their own, not carried by a Majority, but unanimously agreed to. I desire, that that they may be recorded in this Place as I find them stated in our Instructions to Mr. Fowke, of the 24th August 1775.

“ 4th. It will be proper to assure the Rajah, that we do not mean to increase his Tribute ; but to require from him the exact Sum, and in the same Species of Rupees, to be paid at Benares, as he paid to the late Vizier Sujah Dowlah, besides whatever Equivalent may be fixed for the Grant of the Mint and Cutwally to him, the Whole to be discharged by equal monthly Kists ; and if we should find it expedient hereafter to receive the Amount at the Presidency, a suitable Deduction or Commission shall be allowed to him, for the Expence and Risk of transporting or remitting it.

“ 5th. That under the acknowledged Sovereignty of the Company, we are determined to leave him the free and uncontrolled Management of the internal Government of his Country, and the Collection and Regulation of the Revenues, so long as he adheres to the Terms of his Engagements ; and will never demand any Augmentation of the annual Tribute which may be fixed.”

If the Opinions of the individual Members who then composed the Board, should be looked back to, I believe it will appear that the Amount of the Tribute was fixed at a higher Sum than the Governor General then thought the Rajah ought to pay. This however is immaterial ; I only mean to shew that I adhere to my Principles, and that the Doubts which I have constantly expressed, of the Justice of increasing our Demands upon the Rajah, which, if done at all, may be done ad libitum, were not ill founded.

Governor General—I must object to the Term “ unanimous ” applied to any Resolution passed at the Period to which Mr. Francis alludes, merely because my Dissent was not expressed to it. The Quotation from Mr. Fowke’s Instructions related only to the fixed and annual Revenue, but could never be understood to preclude that Right, which every Government inherently possesses, to compel all its Dependencies to contribute by extraordinary Supplies to the Relief of extraordinary Emergencies ; but though it were granted that this Injunction given to Mr. Fowke did extend to every Mode of Supply, still the Argument will not apply to the present Question. The present Demand for the Subsidy, just or unjust, was made unanimously ; and therefore, even on that Ground alone, ought to be unanimously supported.

Mr. Francis—Understanding that the instant Payment of the Five Lacks is still to be demanded in the Terms of the first Proposition, and that no Relaxation from those Terms was intended, I am against the Motion.

Mr. Wheler—I am for the Question ; but am further of Opinion, that it should be left to Mr. Graham to determine, whether to enforce Payment of the Sum required of the Rajah, for the present Exigencies of Government, by One Payment, or whether to receive it by different Installments, not exceeding Three Months from the First Payment to the Completion of the Whole.

Mr. Barwell—The Facts that have been related to the Board by the Governor General, speak the absolute Necessity of the Motion that has been agitated. In these Sentiments it is incumbent on me to support it ; and I think that in order to its full Efficacy the Governor General should be empowered to pursue such Means as may secure the Government from a Possibility of a further Disappointment.

Governor General—I cannot consent to the Qualification of the present Motion recommended by Mr. Wheler, for the Reasons I have already assigned. With respect to the Proposition implied in Mr. Barwell’s Minute, I shall take an early Occasion to offer my Sentiments upon it, desiring the Subject to rest here for the present.

Mr. Francis—If Mr. Barwell in his Minute means to give the Governor General, by his Voice, any Powers whatsoever independent or exclusive of the Board, I must request he will be pleased to explain himself ; I am sure that no such Powers can be wanted on the present Occasion.

Governor General—I beg that the Debate, which is now unnecessary, may end. The Morning has already been lost in Words. As nothing more is proposed to be done, I hope it is unnecessary that more of our Time should be consumed in ineffectual Debates, even without a professed Object.

Agreed, That the following Letter be written to Mr. Graham.

Sir,

We have received your Letters of the 15th July, 9th August, and 14th Instant.

We cannot consent to the Request of Rajah Cheyt Sing to be allowed to pay the Amount of his Subsidy for the Expence of the present War, for One Year, by monthly Kists. Our Orders communicated to him by the Governor General, for the immediate Payment, were positive ; we therefore confirm those Orders, and direct, that on Receipt hereof you wait on the Rajah forthwith, and demand of him in Person, and by Writing, the Payment of the full Sum of Five Lacks of Muchlidar Rupees, the Sum at which the Subsidy is fixed, in Specie to that Amount, to be made to you within Five Days of such Demand ; and declare to him, in the Name of this Government, that his evading or neglecting to accomplish the Payment thereof within that Space, shall be deemed equivalent to an absolute Refusal ; and in case of his Non-compliance with your Demand, we peremptorily enjoin you to refrain from all further Intercourse with him, until you shall have advised us of the Particulars of his Conduct in this Instance, and received our further Orders on the Subject.

Read Two Letters from Mr. Graham as follows:

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I have been honoured with the Receipt of your Letter of the 17th Instant, informing me of Rajah Cheyt Sing having by Means of his Vackeel agreed to pay a Subsidy of Five Lacks of Mutchlidar Rupees, as his Share for the Support of the Burthen of the present War, and for the Purpose of defraying the Expence of Three Battalions of Sepoys, resolved to be raised and maintained at his Charge; also acquainting me of your having ordered the Rajah to pay this Sum immediately into my Hands, and directing me to receive the same from him, and to remit the Amount of it to the Presidency.

In consequence of these Orders, I have called upon the Rajah for Payment of Five Lacks of Mutchlidar Rupees, which I shall accordingly receive, and agreeable to your Orders, remit to the Presidency.

As the Exchange on Bills between this and Calcutta is daily rising, and is at present at the exorbitant Rate of 10½ per Cent. and as I am desirous the Company should sustain as little Loss as possible by the Remittance of this Sum, I beg to be informed whether you would prefer its being sent down under Insurance, whereby a Saving will accrue of One per Cent. after allowing for the full Expence of Coinage, which if the Company, being themselves the Coiners, do not chuse to charge themselves with, the Difference between remitting by Bills at the present Exchange and sending Specie, will be Three per Cent.

I have the Honour to be, with the highest Respect,

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I have the Pleasure to acquaint your Honourable Board, that last Night the Rajah made me a Payment of Fifty thousand Rupees in Part of the Subsidy of Five Lacks. He has promised to send me as much more To-morrow or next Day, and if the Whole is not discharged very soon, it shall not be owing to any Want of Exertion on my Part, to perfect the Execution of your Orders.

To Rajah Cheyt Sing. Written the 11th October 1778.

I have received your Letter, containing Assurances of your Fidelity and Attachment, and intimating, that conformably to my Directions you had assented to the Payment of 5 Lacks of Rupees, and communicated your Consent in a former Arzee, and that afterwards being informed it was my Pleasure that the Whole should be paid at one Time in Calcutta, you would remit the Whole in the Space of a Week; with other Particulars, which I understand.

I am pleased at the Intimation of your Assent to my Desire, respecting the Mode of Payment of the afore said Sum, although it arrived somewhat late, and I doubt not but you will faithfully discharge your Promise by making the Remittance to Calcutta at the specified Time. Whilst you continue faithfully and zealously attached to the Company, you may be assured that every Measure will be adopted which may promote your Interest and Prosperity. Know me ever interested in your Welfare. For further Particulars I refer you to your Vackeel, Shaik Aly Nuckey.

Sir,

I herewith send you Four Bills of Exchange, this Instant delivered to me by Shekh Ally Nuckee, the Vackeel of Rajah Cheyt Sing, being for Four Lacks and a Half of Rupees, which, with Fifty thousand Rupees paid, complete the Sum of Five Lacks required of the Rajah for the extraordinary Expences of this Year.

Rajah Cheyt Sing has, by Means of his Vackeel, remitted Bills of Exchange to us for the Sum of Four Lacks and Fifty thousand Rupees, which, with the Amount paid into your Hands, will complete the Subsidy of Five Lacks, required as his Proportion of the Burthen of the War with France for the present Year; we therefore direct, that you refrain from the Execution of the Orders contained in our last Letter.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Public Department,
19th October 1778.

Received the following Letter from Mr. Graham.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I did myself the Honour of addressing your honourable Board on the 22d ultimo, to inform you, that I had received from the Rajah Fifty thousand Rupees in Part Payment of the Subsidy of Five Lacks which he had agreed to pay the Company, and that I was promised a further Payment of Fifty thousand Rupees the next or following Day.

That Period and Three Days more having elapsed, without hearing any Thing either from the Rajah or his Servants regarding the promised Payment of Fifty thousand Rupees, I judged it necessary to remind the Rajah thereof by Letter, as well as to recommend to him a speedy Discharge of the Remainder. This Mode of Application having several Times repeated unsuccessfully, I deemed a personal Interview not only indispensable, but highly consistent with my Duty; on which Occasion I verbally demanded of him, in the Name of the Company, Payment of the Balance of the Subsidy; in Reply to which he acquainted me, that he would pay no more here, but would send the whole remaining Sum of Rupees 4,50,000 to his Vackeel at Calcutta, who would pay it there. Finding him determined in this Resolution, I desired he would furnish me with some Testimony thereof, either by an Address to your honourable Board, or, as it is more customary to the Governor General, that I might transmit it to him; but this he positively refused me.

These Circumstances I have thought it my Duty to inform you of, that you may honour me with your Commands thereon, likewise as to the Manner in which you would chuse I should remit the Fifty thousand Benares Sicca Rupees that have been paid me.

We have received your Letter of the 7th Instant.

Our's of the 12th will have apprized you, that the Balance of the Subsidy of Five Lacks, required from the Rajah, has been discharged in full by Bills transmitted to us through the Channel of his Vackeel.

With respect to the Sum of Fifty thousand Rupees which the Rajah has paid into your Hands, we desire you will remit it, in such Manner as you shall think most advisable, to the Presidency.

The Governor General delivers in the following Minute :

Governor General—It having been resolved in Secret Consultation, 9th July 1778, “ That Rajah Cheyt Sing should be required in Form to contribute his Share of the Burthen of the present War with France, by the Establishment of Three regular Battalions of Sepoys, to be raised and

"maintained at his Expence;" and the Amount of the Subsidy fixed by the Board in Consultation of the 17th August following, and agreed by him to be paid, for One Year, being Five Lacks of Mutchledar Rupees; as the Year is now expired, I move, That he be at this Time required to contribute the like Sum, as his Share for the Expence of the War for the current Year.

Agreed to the Governor General's Proposal.

Resolved, That the following Letter be written to Mr. Graham:

Sir,

The Period of One Year, for which Rajah Cheyt Sing contributed the Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees, as his Proportion of the Burthen of the War with France for the last Year, being expired, and the War still continuing, we find it necessary to maintain the same Force, and to require that the Rajah shall bear his Share of the Expence; you will therefore at this Time demand from him Payment of the above Sum, as his Proportion of the Charge for the current Year, and remit the Amount of it to us.

Fort William, 19th July 1779.

We are, &c.

Agreed, That the Governor General be requested to write to Rajah Cheyt Sing, acquainting him that the Period of One Year, for which he agreed to pay Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees, as his Share of the Burthen of the War with France, on the 17th August 1778, is expired; and as the Continuation of the War makes it still necessary to maintain the same Establishment of Troops for the Defence of the Country, the Board deem it requisite that he should at this Time contribute the further Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees, as his Share of the Charge for the current Year: Mr. Graham has therefore been directed to apply to him for the same.

The Term of your Engagement for the Payment of an Annual Subsidy, as your Share of the Expence of the War, being expired, and the War still continuing, and the same Force being necessary to be kept up, I am therefore to desire that you will pay to Mr. Thomas Graham the further Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees, as your Proportion for the present Year. Mr. Graham has accordingly Orders to receive it from you, and it is necessary that you do not delay to pay it to him.

Read the following Letter from Mr. Thomas Graham.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

Immediately on the Receipt of your Honourable Board's Letter of the 19th ultimo, directing me to demand of Rajah Cheyt Sing Payment of the Sum of Five Lacks of Mutchledar Rupees, as his annual Proportion of the Burthen of the present War with France, I waited upon him; and at the same Time that I communicated [the Orders of your Honourable Board myself, I delivered to him the Honourable the Governor General's Letter him in Confirmation thereof. He then gave me for Answer, that he had not the Ability to discharge the Demand. As this was similar to the Answer he gave me when I demanded Payment of his Subsidy for the last Year, I did not consider it as a definitive one, and therefore continued in renewing my Demand every Second Day; finding, however, that he holds to the Terms of his first Reply, and seeing no Probability of a speedy Change in his Sentiments, I am unavoidably reduced to the Necessity of applying for your Honourable Board's further Instructions on this Head. Until they arrive, I shall follow the Orders already sent me by repeating my Request for Payment every Second or Third Day.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

Read a Letter from Rajah Cheyt Sing, as follows :

From Rajah Cheyt Sing. Received 27th August 1779.

I have been honoured with your Letter, calling on me for the Payment of Five Lacks of Rupees on Account of the Expence of the War for the present Year, and understand its Contents.

My Situation is well known to you; and I assure you, without Reserve, that I have no Ability left; nor is there any Mode of Relief for me, but in the Exertion of your Favour. I am fully convinced that it is your Desire, who are my Master, to support me your Servant; and last Year you directed Sheik Ally Nucky, that I should by any Means, by disposing of my Effects or by borrowing, make this One Payment, and I should not be called on in future, and that you would take every Means for my Advantage and Support.

I accordingly put in Practice every Method in my Power, and by Loans made good the Requisition: It is now absolutely out of my Power to raise the Sum required, and I am therefore hopeful that you will be kindly pleased to excuse me the Five Lacks now demanded, and that nothing may be demanded of me beyond the Amount expressed in the Pottah, which through your Favour I obtained from the Honourable English Company.

This Rije and Zemindary, and my Dignity, are the Gifts of your Highness. I have judged it necessary to represent to you my Inability and helpless State.

Governor General—I move, That the Commander in Chief be directed to issue an Order for the March of Two Battalions of Sepoys from the nearest Station of the Army, excepting the first and temporary Brigades, to Benares, on the Requisition of Mr. Graham, and there to remain for the further Orders of the Board: That the whole Expence of this Detachment, from the Day of its March, be exacted from the Rajah of Benares: That this Resolution be communicated to him by the Governor General; and that the Resident be ordered to inform the Rajah of it, repeating his Demand for the Sum required; and in case of his Refusal or Non-compliance with his Demand, to give immediate Notice to the Officer in Command of the Detachment, that he may march accordingly.

Sir Eyre Coote—Agrees to the Motion.

Mr. Wheeler—I am against it.

Mr. Francis—I never approved of the additional Demand beyond his stipulated Tribute: I cannot therefore concur in the Measure proposed. I firmly believe it to be unnecessary, even for its avowed Purpose; and I am very much afraid that it will be attended with Consequences ruinous to the Rajah and to his Country. That Country is now one of the richest Jewels we possess. The great Revenue we draw from that Country may be permanently secured under mild and equitable Treatment. Measures of a different Nature may extort more for a Moment; but they will ruin the future Resource.

Mr. Barwell—It rests with the Rajah himself to discharge his Quota of the Expence of the War voluntarily, or to be compelled to it. I agree to the Motion.

Governor General—Benares is not a Jewel in our Possession, If we leave the Rajah an Option to obey or disobey the Orders of his superior Government, and to maintain himself in the Independency of a tributary Prince. As to the Ruin portended from this Order, the Terms of the Question itself put it in his Power to prevent even the Execution of the Order, and more I shall not at this Time say upon the Subject; I may hereafter.

Agreed to the Governor General's Motion: And,

Resolved, That the Commander in Chief be requested to give Orders to Major Camac; or the Officer in Command of his Detachment, for the March of Two Battalions of Sepoys to Benares, on the Requisition of Mr. Thomas Graham, the Resident there, and to remain at that Place for further Orders.

Resolved, That the following Letter be written to Mr. Graham.

Sir,

We have received your Letter of the 16th Instant, acquainting us that Rajah Cheyt Sing had declined to pay the Five Lacks of Rupees which were required of him as his Proportion of the Expences of the War for the current Year.

Having judged it necessary to make this Claim, which was suggested to us by the Exigency of the Case, we cannot admit of any Plea which the Rajah may urge to exempt him from it. Orders have therefore been sent to Major Camac, or the Officer in Command of his Detachment, to march to Benares immediately on your Requisition, with Two Battalions of Sepoys, and to wait our further Orders at that Place. We have thought this Step necessary for the Purpose of compelling the Rajah to pay the Quota required of him in case of Necessity; and we direct that you repeat your Demand, and insist on his Compliance. If the Rajah should still continue to object to your Claim, and refuse Payment, you are to require the Officer in Command of the Detachment, to march immediately in Conformity to our Orders, and advise us of your Proceedings. We hope, however, that you will not be reduced to proceed to this Extreme, as it would oblige us to increase increase our Demands on the Rajah, by exacting from him the whole Expence of the Detachment from the Day of its March, in Addition to our original Claim.

To Rajah Cheyt Sing: Written the 28th August 1779.

I have received your Letter in Reply to the one I wrote to you, requiring the Payment of Five Lacks of Rupees, as your Share for the present Year of the Expences of the War; and am greatly astonished at your Refusal and pretended Plea of Inability, it being very inconsistent with the Duty you owe to the Company. I now repeat my Demand, that you do, on the Receipt of this, without Evasion or Delay, pay the Five Lacks of Rupees into the Hands of Mr. Thomas Graham, who has Orders to receive it from you, and Authority, in case of your Refusal, to summon the Two Battalions of Sepoys under the Command of Major Camac to Benares, that Measures may be taken to oblige you to a Compliance; and in this Case the whole Expence of this Corps, from the Time of its March, will fall on you.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in their Public Department, the 13th September 1779.

Read a Letter from Mr. Graham, as follows:

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I have been this Day honoured with the Receipt of your Letter of the 19th August.

In Compliance with your Honourable Board's Orders, to revert to the usual Mode of receiving Payment of the Rajah's Tribute by Bills of Exchange on Calcutta, I have accordingly written to him to furnish me with them, for the Amount of his Kist, which becomes due the 4th Instant.

In my Address of the 15th ultimo I acquainted your Honourable Board with my Proceedings to that Time, regarding the Demand of Five Lacks made on the Rajah, as his Proportion of the Burthen of the War with France; since then I have, as I informed your Honourable Board I should, renewed my Application for Payment, either verbally or by Letter, every Second or Third Day; but his Answer has been uniformly the same, that he has not the Ability to discharge it. I have, exclusive of these repeated Applications, also used every Argument in my Power to convince him, that as a Subject of Government, it was a Duty inseparable from his Allegiance to afford every Assistance it might require whilst it was engaged in a War, and that a Denial under such Circumstances was never admitted of.

I shall continue to impress him with those Sentiments, and to urge him to make Payment, until I receive the further Instructions of your Honourable Board for my future Conduct.

From Rajah Cheyt Sing to Mr. Graham, 20th September 1779.

I received your Letter about the Five Lacks of Rupees, and understand the Contents. I have before made known to you my distressed Situation, that I have not Power to comply, and I have also sent an Arzie, in Answer to the Letter from the Presence which you delivered to me. I have no Power to comply: I discharge the Revenue according to the Pottah granted by the Sirkar. I am hopeful that this Order may be revoked; for which Purpose I have also written an Arzie to the Presence, and request that you will oblige me, by dispatching it without Delay.

Enclosure in the foregoing.

From Rajah Cheyt Sing to the Governor General.

Every Two or Three Days am I called upon to pay Five Lacks of Rupees: Your gracious Letter on this Subject honoured me by its Arrival. I have dispatched an Arzie in Answer, which will have been presented to you. In Obedience to your Order, I last Year, by every Means, and borrowing from all Quarters, raised the Sum; and at that Time you promised that it should not happen again. I have it not in my Power at present. You have before honoured me with the Title of Son, and regarding me as your Son, you have protected me; I am therefore hopeful that I may be excused from this Requisition.

To

To Rajah Cheyt Sing : Written 25th September 1779.

I have received your Letter ; from the Contents of which, as well as from the Letters of Mr. Graham, and the Copy of a Letter which you wrote to that Gentleman, and which he transmitted for my Inspection, it appears but too clearly, that instead of a cheerful Compliance with the Requisition of this Government in the immediate Payment of the Sum of Five Lacks of Rupees, as your Share for the Expence of the War for the present Year, a Requisition which the great Burthen of Expence under which the Company labour for the Defence of the Country renders necessary, and to which you, as a Subject of theirs, are bound to contribute, have thought proper, under the Plea of Inability, which is well known to be futile, to endeavour to amuse the Resident with vague and distant Promises, meaning probably to protract, if not entirely evade, Payment of the Sum required of you. In a Letter which I lately wrote you, I informed you in express Terms that this Government neither could or would recede from so reasonable a Demand ; and added, that in case of no Compliance on your Part, Mr. Graham was authorized to summon a Detachment of our Forces to enforce our Orders if it should be found necessary. This I hoped would have opened your Eyes, and induced you to relinquish a Conduct which must, if pursued, bring the greatest Disadvantages on you. But since even this Intimation of our Determination has proved ineffectual, I now think it necessary to inform you, that we have desired the Commander in Chief to dispatch Major Camac, with the Detachment under his Command, to Benares, there to wait our further Orders ; he will accordingly begin his March immediately, unless the Resident in the mean Time, from the actual Receipt of the Subsidy, shall inform him that it is unnecessary for him to proceed further ; and you will be pleased to observe, that should you force us to a Measure so contrary to our Wishes, the whole Expence of the Detachment, from the Time of its March, will be required from you, exclusive of the Subsidy for the War.

Copy of. a Letter from Rajah Cheyt Sing, in Reply to Mr. Graham : Received the 25th September 1779.

I have received your Letter, accompanied by One from the Nabob Amaud ul Dowlah, Governor General, Jelladut Jung, and understand the Contents.

You press me to return an Answer to the Letter from the Presence.—My Friend ! I have already represented to you personally my absolute Inability ; but as a fresh Order is arrived from the Presence, for the Payment of the said Sum, and you, through Motives of Friendship, press me on the Subject, being remediless I have, notwithstanding my absolute Inability, which exceeds Description, consented this once to comply with the Orders of the Presence. I will, by every possible Means, by taking up Loans, comply with the Orders from the Presence, and pay it gradually to you.

I am hopeful, from your Kindness and Regard, that you will use every Means to secure me the future Support and Favour of the Presence.

From Rajah Cheyt Sing to the Governor General. Received 25th September 1779.

I have been honoured with your gracious Letter, urging me in the strongest Terms to the Payment of Five Lacks of Rupees on Account of the Share of the Expences of the War for the present Year, and understand your Pleasure. Regarding your Highness as my Master, in the Representation which I sent you of my Poverty and absolute Inability, I had no View of preserving my Property, and deceiving you by false Pretences ; but I had really no Property left but what is apparent to every Body, such as Elephants, Horses, &c. which for the Support of my Credit I am obliged to keep, since that Credit is the Gift of your Highness's Bounty ; but since you have been pleased to direct that I should raise the Sum by any Means I can, I regard it as the Effect of my evil Destiny that the Representation of my Situation had no Weight, and submit to the Necessity of this once complying with your Order. Notwithstanding the Greatness of my Poverty, which exceeds all Description, I will make good the Sum gradually by the Disposal of my Effects, and by Loans, the Particulars of which I cannot fully explain to you.

Since you have honoured me, your most faithful and obedient Dependent, with the greatest Marks of Favour and Regard, even to the honouring me with the Title of your Son, I am hopeful, from the Continuance of that Regard, that you will in future continually keep in View my Welfare and Interest, and will be kindly pleased to excuse me from Services which are beyond my Ability to perform, on a Compliance with which my Support, nay even Life, and the Prosperity of the Country depends.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I had last Night the Honour of receiving your Letter of the 26th ultimo, directing me to repeat the Claim which your Honourable Board had thought proper to make of Rajah Cheyt Sing, for Five Lacks of Rupees, as his annual Proportion of the Expence of the present War, and empowering me, in case of his persisting in refusing Payment, to require Major Camac with Two Battalions of Sepoys, to march to this Place, and to wait your further Orders.

Having also received the Honourable the Governor General's Persian Letter to the Rajah on the Subject, I have sent it to him, with a Letter from myself requiring his immediate Compliance with the Orders contained therein, and desiring that he would forthwith send a Person properly qualified to make Payment to me of the Five Lacks of Rupees, and further to send me a Reply to the Governor General's Letter. I shall immediately do myself the Honour to address you on the Receipt of his Answer, which I flatter myself will prove satisfactory, and that I shall not be under the Necessity of making use of the discretionary Power which your Honourable Board have been pleased to lodge in me, in order to compel him to Payment.

Resident.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I have this Day received an Answer from Rajah Cheyt Sing to the Letter which I informed your Honourable Board I had written to him on the 10th, requiring his Compliance with your Orders; wherein he sends me an Answer to the Governor General's Letter, which I have transmitted to him, and acquaints me with his having consented to the Payment of the Five Lacks of Rupees. As however he still holds forth his original Plea of Inability, I have every Reason to apprehend he will be very dilatory in his Payments; I beg therefore to be favoured with your Honourable Board's Orders, as to the Conduct which in such Case I must observe towards him.

Benares,
12th September 1779.

I have, &c. &c.

Tho' Graham,
Resident,

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I have herewith the Honour to transmit you Twelve Bills of Exchange, for the Sum of Calcutta Sicca Rupees 1,85,145. 6. 16. 1. drawn in favour of the Honourable Company, as per accompanying Invoice, being on Account of Rajah Cheyt Sing's Kists due the 4th Instant, and in Part Payment of his Annual Tribute.

Although Four compleat Days are now elapsed since I had the Honour of informing you of the Rajah's having consented to the Payment of the Five Lacks of Rupees; and although I sent him a suitable Reply to the Letter he wrote me on the Occasion, and at the same Time repeated my Request for a Person being sent to me sufficiently qualified for discharging the Amount; no one has yet come, nor has any Money been yet paid me: On the contrary, through his Vackeel, he has solicited to be indulged with Time, but without specifying any Period; which leaving Room for no other Answer than to desire him to conform to the Orders he had received from your Honourable Board through the Channel of the Governor General, I have sent a Person to attend at his Durbar, to require his speedy Compliance therewith.

Benares,
16th September 1779.

I have, &c. &c.

Tho' Graham,
Resident.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I had the Honour of addressing you last Night, informing your Honourable Board of the Steps I had taken towards obtaining the Payment of the Five Lacks of Rupees from Rajah Cheyt Sing. I this Day received a Letter from him; of which I beg Leave to submit to your Consideration the following Translate :

" The Situation of my Affairs is well known to you; and I have repeatedly represented the Particulars to you. The Five Lacks of Rupees, on Account a Proportion of the Expence of the War, conformably to the Injunctions of the Honourable English Company, I have for this Time agreed to pay; neither am I dilatory or inattentive in providing for its Discharge; but the Amount is considerable, and can only be liquidated by Degrees. Within the Space of Four Months I will pay it to you by Instalments: To the End of the Month of Zelhedge," (corresponding nearly to the Middle of the English Month of January ensuing) " I will complete Payment of the Whole. What is now preparing, in Part of the aforesaid Sum of Five Lacks, shall be paid to you on Thursday next, the 12th of Rumzan. My Thoughts are not a Moment at rest from this Matter. But, from incessant Applications, Inconveniencies are occasioned to the Provision, and my Endeavours are interrupted. From your Indulgence, I will discharge the Amount in the Manner above specified."

I shall be glad to be honoured with your Orders on the Subject of the foregoing Letter: In the Interim, I considered it consistent with the Spirit of those Orders already received from your Honourable Board, to reject the Propositions therein contained, and to repeat my Demand for Payment of the Whole without Delay.

Benares,
17th September 1779.

I have, &c. &c.

Tho' Graham,
Resident.

Governor General—As it appears by the last of the above Letters from Mr. Graham, that Rajah Cheyt Sing, whose present Ability to discharge the full Amount of the Sum demanded of him cannot be doubted, is endeavouring to amuse our Resident with Delays; and as his Reply, although it professes an Intention of Compliance with his Claim, is a plain Evasion of it, I think Mr. Graham, according to the Spirit of the Orders he had received, ought to have required the immediate March of Major Camac's Detachment, to enforce Payment from the Rajah; but as he has omitted to act in this Manner, and as it appears to be his Intention to wait for the further Orders of the Board, I move, That the Contents of his Letters be imparted to the Commander in Chief, and that he be desired to send Orders forthwith to Major Camac to march without Delay, in Conformity to his former Instructions, giving Notice of the Day on which he shall move from his present Station to Mr. Graham, that the Expences of the Detachment, from that Time until its Return, may be charged to the Rajah; and that Major Camac do continue his Route with the Two Battalions under his Command to Benares, unless Mr. Graham, upon the full Receipt of the Subsidy, shall notify to him that there is no Necessity for his Proceeding. I further move, that Letters to the same Effect be prepared and dispatched to Mr. Graham and Rajah Cheyt Sing.

Mr. Wheler—I object to the above Orders.

Resolved, That the following Letters be written to the Commander in Chief and Mr. Graham; and that the Governor General be likewise desired to write a Letter to the same Effect to Rajah Cheyt Sing.

To the Commander in Chief.

Sir,

As it is implied, by the enclosed Copies of Letters which we have received from our Resident at Benares, that Rajah Cheyt Sing means to protract if not entirely to evade Payment of the Five Lacks of Rupees required of him, as his Share of the Expences of the War for the current Year, by his distant and illusory Promises, although there can be no Doubt of his present Ability to discharge the Demand if he thought proper, we conceive that some effectual Means should be taken to compel him to it.

Mr. Graham has not yet required the March of Major Camac's Detachment, in Obedience to the Letter of our Orders to him; we therefore request that you will issue fresh Orders for this Detachment to repair forthwith to Benares, and there to wait, according to your former Instructions; unless Mr. Graham, in consequence of the full Receipt of the Subsidy, shall inform the Officer in Command of it, that his Proceeding is thereby rendered unnecessary. It will be proper likewise to direct, that the Day of March be notified to Mr. Graham, in order to enable him to claim the Expences of the Detachment from that Time till its Return to Dinapore, from the Rajah.

Fort William,
29th September 1779.

We are, &c. &c.

To Benares.

Sir,

We have received your Letters of the 10th, 12th, 16th, and 17th Instant.

As we conceive that the Rajah means to amuse you with vague and distant Promises, and thereby to protract if not entirely to evade Payment of the Sum required as his Proportion of the Expences of the War for the current Year, we are of Opinion that compulsory Means should be immediately used used to oblige him to discharge it, since there can be no Doubt of his present Ability. We have therefore desired the Commander in Chief to issue his Orders to Major Camac, to march forthwith to Benares with the Detachment under his Command, and there to wait our further Orders; unless you in the mean Time, from the actual Receipt of the Subsidy, shall inform him that it is unnecessary to proceed any further. Major Camac will advise you on what Day he shall have marched from Dinapore; and we direct, that you insist on the Rajah's paying the Expences of the Detachment from that Time till its Return to the same Place, exclusive of the Subsidy for the War.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

Rajah Cheyt Sing not having yet completed Payment of One Lack of Rupees in Part of his Subsidy of Five Lack, notwithstanding agreeable to his own voluntary Proposal, whereof I transmitted you a Translate in my Address of the 17th ultimo, he ought Twelve Days ago to have paid me a Lack and Twenty-five thousand, I have, believing it to be consistent with the Spirit of your Honourable Board's Instructions, dated the 26th August, in order to enforce Payment, this Day written to Major Camac, requiring him with the Detachment under his Command, to march to this Place with all convenient Expedition.

Benares,
the 3d October 1779.

I have the Honour, &c.

Tho<sup>s</sup> Graham,
Resident.

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I have been honoured with the Receipt of your Letter of the 29th ultimo:

My Address to your Honourable Board of the 3d Instant, acquainted you not only of the Rajah's Continuation to procrastinate the Payment of the whole Subsidy, but of his Failure in particular in the Payment of that Proportion which he had himself voluntarily fixed a Time for discharging, and of my having in consequence sent the necessary Notice to Major Camac to march with the Detachment under his Command to this Place. Your further Instructions on this Subject now before me, shall be punctually attended to. The Rajah, notwithstanding he has been repeatedly made acquainted with your Honourable Board's determined Resolution to obtain speedy Payment, and of the Consequences attendant on Delays, has only, to this Day, paid me the Sum of One Lack and Nineteen thousand Rupees; he now offers in Excuse, a general Scarcity of Specie; what may be his Conduct on the Approach of the Detachment you shall be duly informed of.

I have herewith the Honour to transmit you Fifteen Bills of Exchange for the Sum of Calcutta Sicca Rupees, 1,85,145. 6. 16. 1. drawn in favour of the Honourable Company as per accompanying Invoice, being on Account of Rajah Cheyt Sing's Kist due the 4th Instant, and in Part Payment of his Annual Tribute.

Resolved, That the following Letter be written to Mr. Graham :

Sir,

The Provincial Council at Patna, having still occasion for an extraordinary Supply of Cash to answer their current Disbursements, we direct that you remit to them the Amount which you may have received or shall receive from the Rajah on Account of his Subsidy for this Year, by Bills of Exchange; in the Negotiation of which we need not recommend to you to fix the Exchange at the most favourable Rate you can obtain.

Read the following Letter from Mr. Graham :

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

The Purpose of this is to inform you, that the Dinapore Detachment, under the Command of Captain Crabb, arrived here this Morning, and have for the present encamped contiguous to Ramnagur. As the Rajah has only yet paid Half the Amount of the Subsidy, viz' 2,50,000 Rupees, One Lack of which was paid me Yesterday, I conclude, therefore, that in Two or Three Days more he will discharge the Whole ; at least he acquainted me so by the Person who came with the last Payment. I shall send your Honourable Board daily Information of his Conduct.

Sir,

Since writing the foregoing, the General has desired me to request you will inform the Governor, that the Two Battalions of Sepoys ordered to Benares, being in want of their Pay, he has directed the Resident to issue it to them from his Treasury, which he imagines will be sufficient Authority for Mr. Graham, but would rather it should be confirmed by the Governor General.

I am, &c.

Agreed that his Application to Mr. Graham be confirmed by the following Orders :

To Mr. Thomas Graham.

Sir,

We have received your Letters of the 20th and 22d ultimo.

Our last Orders concerning the Disposal of the Sum which you have received from Rajah Cheyt Sing, on Account of his Subsidy for this Year, directed the Remittance of it to the Chief and Council at Patna ; but as we understand that the Two Battalions of Sepoys which marched to Benares, will require an Advance for their Pay, and that the Commander in Chief has applied to you to make an Advance for that Purpose, you will accordingly comply with his Desire, and remit the Residue which shall remain in your Hands of the Subsidy, together with the Amount which you will demand and receive from the Rajah for the Expences of the Detachment from the Date of its quitting Dinapore until the Amount of the Five Lacks was completely discharged, to Patna, agreeably to our former Instructions.

From Rajah Cheyt Sing.—Received the 16th December 1779.

Your gracious Letter, directing me to pay without Delay the Sum of Five Lacks of Rupees, as my Share of the Expences of the War for this Year, honoured me by its Arrival, and made me acquainted with your Pleasure. My Protector! before the Arrival of your Orders, I had paid 1,50,000 Rupees to Mr. Thomas Graham; and immediately on the Receipt, I sent the Balance of 3,50,000 Rupees to the said Gentleman. I was not forgetful of it for One Instant. As the Troops were sent here, I have given that Gentleman their Pay from the Day of their March till the Day that the Sum was discharged, which was not quite Fifteen Days. I am hopeful, that considering me to be attached to you from of old, you will protect and support me by your Favour and Friendship, that my Honour and Dignity may be encreased by it.

Extract of Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 13th March 1780.

Par. 41. We thought it necessary and consistent to demand a further Contribution of Five Lacks of Rupees from Rajah Cheyt Sing, for his Part of the Expences of the War for the current Year, being the same Sum as he paid towards that and for the last Year. The Rajah strongly pleaded his Inability to comply with this Demand, and even suffered us to send Two Battalions of Sepoys from Dinapore to Benares to enforce Payment, before he would grant it; at length however, with much Difficulty the Amount was received from him, added to a Penalty of 20,000 R<sup>s</sup> for the Expences of the Two Battalions until their Arrival at Benares.

42. We shall make but this short Observation upon the Conduct of the Rajah, that whether it proceeded from the Apprehension of establishing a Precedent for exceeding the Sum of his annual and stipulated Revenue, or from a Sense of Independency, it was equally unreasonable, and an ungrateful Return for the Benefits which he has been allowed to derive from the Company's Protection.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in their Secret Department, the 22d June 1780.

Governor General — The Period of Two Years, for each of which the Rajah of Benares, at the Requisition of the Board, has contributed the Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees as his Proportion of the Burthen of the War with France, being nearly expired, and that War still continuing, I move, That he be now called upon to contribute the like Sum as his Share of the Expence of it for the current Year.

Agreed to the Governor General's Motion,

The following Letter is in consequence written to the Resident at Benares :

To Mr. Francis Fowke.

Sir,

The Period of Two Years, for each of which Rajah Cheyt Sing has contributed the Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees as his Proportion of the Burthen of the War with France, being nearly expired, and the War still continuing, we find it necessary to maintain the same Force, and to require that the Rajah shall be at his Share of the Expence; we therefore direct that you demand from him Payment of the aboye Sum, as his Proportion of the Charge for the current Year, and remit the Amount of it to us,

We are, &c.

Fort William,
22d June 1780.

To Rajah Cheyt Sing: Written 22d June 1780.

The Period of the Second Year, for which on the 17th August 1778 you agreed to pay the annual Subsidy of Five Lacks Muckledar Rupees as your Share of the Burthen of the War with France, being expired, and the Continuation of the War making it still necessary to keep up the same Force for the Defence of the Country, I am therefore to desire you to contribute the further Sum of 5 Lacks of Muckledar Rupees as your Share of the Charge for the present Year. Mr. Fowke has accordingly been directed to apply to you for the same. It is necessary that you do not delay to pay it to him.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Public Department, the 7th September 1780,

Read the following Letters from the Resident at Benares ;

Extract, dated 21st July 1780.

In Obedience to your Orders of the 22d ultimo, I have demanded of Rajah Cheyt Sing the Sum of Five Lacks of Mutchlidar Rupees, as his Proportion of the Burthen of the present War with France. The Rajah has desired me to inform you of his entire Submission to your Commands. He has promised to pay One Lack of this Amount within a few Days. I shall immediately advise your Honourable Board of the Receipt of it, and shall remit it upon the most advantageous Terms I can obtain; I shall likewise urge the Rajah, in the strongest Manner possible, to use the utmost Expedition in the Discharge of the remaining Part.

Extract of Letter from the Resident at Benares, dated 10th August 1780.

————— I have received from the Rajah One Lack of Rupees, in Part Payment of his Subsidy ; and I have the Honour to enclose Bills of Exchange for the Amount of this Sum, drawn as per accompanying Invoice.

I have urged the Rajah very strongly to complete the Payment of his Subsidy with all possible Expedition ; but he is determined to make no further Payment till he receives an Answer to his Arzee, transmitted in my Letter of the 5th Instant to the Honourable Governor General.

The Governor General lays before the Board the following Letter from the Rajah of Benares, referred to in the Letter from the Resident above recorded.

Arzee from Rajah Cheyt Sing: Received 21st August 1780.

I have been honoured by your Orders, directing me to pay Five Lacks of Sicca Mayhadar Rupees to Mr. Fowke, for the War which still continues ; and although my distressed Situation must be known to you from other Quarters, notwithstanding I have been afraid to represent it to you myself, that I have sold my House, and borrowed Sums of Money, from which I am not yet released ; yet, in Obedience to your Orders, I have paid One Lack of Rupees out of the Five Lacks to Mr. Fowke, and shall pay the other Four in Three Months. I request you will send Directions to that Gentleman to allow me that Time, and it shall be punctually paid at the End of that Term. You yourself must be convinced that I have no Abilities or Resources left.

Ordered, That Mr. Fowke do inform the Rajah, that the Board are much displeased with these affected Delays, knowing his Ability to make the immediate Payment of the Subsidy ; and that he peremptorily require him to discharge it.

Ordered, That Mr. Fowke be desired to remit the Sum, when received, by Shroffs Bills if possible, or by any safe Mode of Remittance, to Major Camac, for the Expences of the Detachment under his Command ; and that Major Camac be advised accordingly.

The following Letter is accordingly written to Mr. Francis Fowke :

Sir,

We have received your Letters under Date the 21st July, 10th and 20th August, with the Bills and Accounts enclosed : We have also had before us the Rajah's Letter to the Governor General, to which you allude in your Address of the 10th ultimo.

We desire that you will inform the Rajah of Benares, that knowing his Ability to make quick Payment of the whole Amount of the Subsidy, we are much displeased with the groundless Pretences which he urges for delaying it ; and we direct, that on Receipt of this Letter you peremptorily demand his immediate Discharge of the Sum due from him on this Account ; which, when you have received it, we desire you will remit, either by Shroff Bills if possible, or by any other safe Mode, to Major Camac, for the Expences of the Troops under his Command.

We are, &c.

Fort William,
7th September 1780.

Agreed, That we write the following Letter to Major Camac :

Sir,

The Rajah of Benares being indebted to the Company in the Sum of Four Lacks of Mutchiladar Rupees, we have sent Orders to our Resident at that Place to demand immediate Payment of it, and to remit the Amount, when received, to you, by Shroff Bills if possible, or by any other safe Mode, for the Purpose of defraying the Expences of the Troops under your Command : We desire, therefore, that on the Receipt of the Remittances made you by the Resident at Benares, you will appropriate them to the Service for which they are intended.

Having thought proper to add the Corps of Foreign Rangers now at Cawnpore to the Detachment under your Command, the Commander in Chief has been requested to issue the necessary Orders for carrying this Resolution into Effect.

Extract of Letter from the Resident at Benares, dated 27th September 1780.

I have received the Honour of your Letter of the 7th Instant, and have signified your Commands to the Rajah; he has promised to discharge the Balance of his Subsidy, being Rupees 2,53,000, in the Course of a few Days. I am treating with the Shroffs for a Remittance to Major Camac, and imagine I shall be able to effect it by Bills from them for the whole Amount.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in their Public Department, 26th October 1780.

The following Letter from the Resident at Benares having been circulated, was returned with the following Minute:

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I think it incumbent upon me to inform you, that the Rajah, notwithstanding his solemn Assurances, has hitherto paid no Part of the Balance of his Subsidy specified in my Address of the 27th ultimo. He has resumed his Plea of Inability; and I can form no Opinion how long he may think proper to protract the Payment.

Benares,
5th October 1780.

I remain,

Honourable Sir, and Sirs, &c.
(Signed)

F. Fowke,
Resident at Benares.

Governor General—Such an Instance of Contempt shewn by the Rajah of Benares to the Authority of this Government, at a Time in which his Fidelity and Gratitude for the many Obligations which he owes to it, ought to have prompted him to make a voluntary Tender of that Aid which he now refuses after repeated Promises to grant it, merits some Mark at least of the Resentment of the Board. For that Reason I must recommend that Mr. Fowke be directed to demand instant Payment of the Balance due of his Subsidy; and if he shall not have paid it at the Time of the Receipt of this Letter, to exact from him, in the Name of the Board, the further Sum of One Lack of Rupees, as a Fine for his past Disobedience. That to enforce this Order, Brigadier General Sibbert be directed to issue Orders to the Commanding Officers of the Battalions of the nearest Stations to Benares, to march immediately to that Place, and to wait such Orders as may be hereafter transmitted to them. In the mean Time, the Board may be informed of the Reception given by the Rajah to the present Order, and it is hoped that it may be such as shall render it unnecessary to proceed to Extremities against him.

Warren Hastings.

I acquiesce, though I hope the Threat will be sufficient.

Agreed.

Agreed that the following Letter be written to the Resident at Benares.

Sir,

We have received your Letter of the 5th Instant, informing us that the Rajah, notwithstanding his solemn Assurances, has hitherto paid no Part of the Balance of his Subsidy specified in your Address of the 27th ultimo; that he had resumed his Plea of Inability, and that you could form no Opinion how long he might think proper to protract the Payment.

This Conduct of the Rajah seems to us without Excuse; we direct therefore, that you demand instant Payment of the Balance due of his Subsidy, and if he shall not have discharged it at the Time of your Receipt of this Letter, that you exact from him, in the Name of the Board, the further Sum of One Lack of Rupees, as a Fine for his past Disobedience. To enforce the Compliance due to our Authority, and the Payment of the Sum required of him, we have given Orders that the Battalions at the Stations nearest to Benares should march immediately to that Place, and wait for such Directions as may hereafter be transmitted to the Officer commanding them.

Sir,

Having had late Occasion to be much dissatisfied with the Conduct of the Rajah of Benares towards this Government, in withholding the Payment of the Amount due from him as his Subsidy, we think it necessary to direct, and do direct you to issue Orders to the Commanding Officers of the Battalions at the Stations nearest to Benares, to march immediately to that Place, and wait such further Orders as may hereafter be transmitted to them.

Gentlemen,

In consequence of your Letter to me of Yesterday's Date, I dispatched Orders by last Night's Post to Captain Moses Crawford, commanding the 35th Battalion of Sepoys at Dinapore, to march with his Corps immediately to Benares, leaving behind him Two Companies of Sepoys as a Guard to these Cantonments. At the same time I wrote to Captain Lucas, who commands the 36th Battalion of Sepoys, and whom I understand to be on Detachment from the 2d Brigade in the Gorrickpoor Districts, to proceed also without Delay to Benares; lest, however, this Officer should have joined the 2d Brigade by Order of Colonel Morgan, or other Authority, I have directed the Colonel in such Event to detach the First Battalion for Duty at his Station on the required Service. I shall also this Day send Orders to Lieutenant Colonel Tottingham, commanding at Chunar Gur, to detach immediately to Benares Five Companies of Sepoys from the Battalion at that Garrison.

The Officers commanded on this Service are, according to your Desire, instructed to remain at Benares until further Orders.

The following Letter from the Resident at Benares having been received since the last Meeting, Orders were immediately issued for countermanding the March of the Troops ordered to Benares:

Honourable Sir and Sirs,

The Rajah has this Day given me Bills of Exchange on Ghohud in Favour of Major Camac, for the Balance which remained due on Account of his Subsidy, being Benares Sicca Rupees 2,50,000.

I shall make a further Remittance to Major Camac in a few Days, of the whole Amount which I have received from the Rajah in ready Money on this Account.

(Signed) F. Fowke.

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in their Secret Department, 2d November 1780.

Agreed that the Governor General be requested to write to the Rajah of Benares, requiring him to furnish such Part of the Cavalry entertained in his Service as he can spare for the Service of this Government, and to inform him what Number he can supply; that a Letter be written to Mr. Francis Fowke, directing him to make the same Requisition of the Rajah, and at the same Time, to obviate any Jealousy which the Rajah may conceive that this may be converted to a permanent Imposition upon him, that the Board will require the Services of these Forces no longer than while the present War lasts, after which they will be returned.

Agreed that the following Letter be written to the Resident at Benares:

Sir,

On the Receipt of the Intimation conveyed to us in your Letter of the 18th ultimo, Orders were issued to countermand the March of the Troops which were appointed to proceed to Benares in consequence of the Delays used by the Rajah in the Payment of his Subsidy.

Deeming it just and proper that the Rajah should be desired to afford every Assistance in his Power to this Government, to whose Protection and Support he owes all that he possesses, the Governor General has been requested to write to him, requiring him to furnish such Part of the Cavalry entertained in his Employ as he can spare for the Service of the Company; but as some Jealousy and Apprehension

Apprehension may arise in the Rajah's Mind, that this Aid may be converted to a permanent Imposition on him, we think it necessary that such Fears should be obviated, and direct you therefore to assure him, that we shall require the Services of this Force no longer than during the Continuance of the present War, after which it will certainly be returned.

We are, &c.

Fort William,
2d November 1780.

To Rajah Cheyt Sing, 2d November 1780;

Requiring him to furnish such Part of the Cavalry entertained in his Service as he can spare for the Service of this Government, and to inform the Governor General what Number he can supply.

Extract of Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 29th November 1780.

Par. 36. We have thought it necessary to require from the Rajah of Benares the same Subsidy for the ensuing Year that he paid in the last, as his Proportion of his Expence of the War. He for some Time hesitated to comply with the Demand, and we were obliged to resolve on Measures of Compulsion; but he has since paid the Amount, and we have stopped the Execution of those Measures. The Support which he receives from this Government, to whom he owes all that he possesses; the known Affluence of his Circumstances, notwithstanding his Pretexs to the contrary; and the Interest which he possesses, in chief over all other Persons subject to us, in the Company's Prosperity and Success, have induced us to require of him the Assistance of such a Body of Cavalry as he can spare for the Company's Employ, under a Promise made to him, that their Services will not be required beyond the Continuance of the War. We have also strongly recommended to the Nabob Vizier to require from Fyzoola Cawn the Quota of Troops, consisting of 5,000 Horse, stipulated by Treaty to be furnished by the latter; and we do not doubt of his ready Obedience to the Requisition.

Extract of Letter from the Governor General and Council, in their Secret Department, dated 3d February 1781.

---Required from the Rajah of Benares the same Subsidy for the ensuing Year that he paid in the last; One Lack paid immediately, the remaining Four Lacks not paid until the 18th October.

The Assistance of a Body of Cavalry required from him, to be returned at the Conclusion of the War.

Letter from Mr. Hastings, at Benares, to Mr. Wheler, at Fort William, of 18th August 1781.

The Honourable Edward Wheler, Esquire, &c. &c. &c. Fort William.

Sir,

I arrived at Benares on 14th Instant.—My Transactions with the Rajah being of a most important Nature to the present and future Interests of the Company, I have determined to inform you of them without Delay, in the Order in which they have occurred.

The First Step which I judged it necessary to take, as the Ground on which my future Proceedings with the Rajah were to be conducted, was to recapitulate in Writing the several Instances of his Conduct, which for some Time past have repeatedly drawn upon him the severe Reprehensions of the Board; and to demand a clear and satisfactory Explanation—This Paper I sent to the Rajah by the Hands of Mr. Markham, who was directed to require an immediate Answer.

In the Evening his Answer arrived. The following are Copies of both.

“ To Rajah Cheyt Sing.

“ It is about Sixteen Months since Lalah Sadanund, your Buxey and confidential Servant, came
“ to Calcutta, charged with an express Commission and Authority to make Excuses for your past “ Conduct, and to give me Assurances, confirmed by Oath, of your future Submission to my “ Advice, and the Orders of my Government. As a Test of your Sincerity, I required your “ immediate and unreserved Acquiescence in the Demand, which at the same Time was made
“ to

“ to you, in the Name of the Governor General and Council, of the Subsidy of Five Lacks “ of Rupees for the Expences of the War.

“ With this Demand you ostensibly complied, in your Answer to my Letter ; and the Buxey “ promised me verbally in your Name, and in Terms so strong as amounted to the fullest “ Assurance, that there should be no Delay in the Payment. Relying on this Agreement
“ and Promise, I gave Orders to Mr. Fowke, who was then Resident at this Place, to receive “ the Money, and remit it to Colonel Camac for the Pay of the Army, which had been “ ordered to march towards the Province of Malva ; and I made no other Provision for it,
“ such was my Confidence in your Faith : But you deceived me ; and, after having made the First “ Payment of a few Rupees, either consulting the Temper of the Times, or conforming to a “ premeditated Design, you by Shifts and Pretexts withheld the Remainder, until the Army,
“ for whose Use it was intended, was reduced to the last State of Distress. Many Hundreds “ deserted ; and, had an Enemy at that Time appeared against them, their total Destruction had “ been inevitable.

“ In all this Time daily Applications were made to you by the Resident, and I wrote repeat“ ed Letters to you ; but you paid no Regard to either.

“ Besides this, I required, in the Name of the Governor General and Council, by Letters,
“ and ordered Mr. Fowke to repeat the Requisition in Person, that you should furnish a Body
“ of Horse to assist and act with the Armies of the Company ; and when Mr. Markham suc“ ceeded Mr. Fowke, I gave him Orders to repeat the Demand ; which he did accordingly, “ with frequent and almost daily Importunity, limiting the Number to 1,500, and afterwards to “ 1,000. To this Demand you returned evasive Answers ; nor to this Hour have you contri“ buted a single Horseman.

“ I pass over other Instances of your Conduct, in which, through the Means of your secret “ Agents, you have endeavoured to excite Disorders in the Government on which you depend ;
“ and your Neglect of the Duty which you owe to it, and to the Subjects of this Zemindary,
“ by suffering the daily Perpetration of Robberies and Murders, even in the Streets of the City “ of Benares itself, to the great and public Scandal of the English Name, and in Violation of “ one of the Conditions on which you receive the Confirmation of this Zemindary. But, as the “ Two foregoing Instances amount to a direct Charge of Disaffection and Infidelity to the Go“ vernment on which you depend, and happened at a Time in which it was your Duty most “ especially to have exerted yourself in the Support of its Interests, I have therefore judged it “ proper to state them to you thus fully in Writing, and to require your Answer to them. And “ this I expect immediately.”

A N S W E R.

“ I received your Letter delivered to me by Mr. Markham, and I have understood every Parti“ cular of its Contents. Sir, after the Arrival of Sheik Ally Nucky, I observed all the Orders “ which you sent me ; and I received the Letter which the deceased Sheik brought me, informing “ me that every Suspicion was now compleatly removed from your Mind, and that I must consider “ you as formerly attentive to me. But I have not experienced from you the same Generosities as “ formerly. I sent you repeatedly Letters, representing to your Consideration my unhappy Cir“ cumstances ; but you never honoured me with any Reply. For this Reason I sent my Buxey “ Sadantund to your Presence, enjoining him to represent to you the Firmness of my Obedience and “ Attachment ; to lay before you the Particulars of my Situation ; and to learn the Disposition of “ your Mind towards me. He arrived accordingly in your Presence, and represented every Thing
“ in a proper Manner. I have never deviated in the smallest Degree from these Professions ; and “ the Benefactions and Civilities with which you have honoured me, have given me the greatest “ Satisfaction ; and I have considered you as the Source from which I derive the Fulfilment of all “ my Wishes and Desires. It is my firm Hope that I may be always favoured with your Direc“ tions. In this Manner I complied, with the utmost Readiness, with the Order you sent me for “ the Payment of Five Lacks of Rupees on Account of the War :—I sent first One Lack of Rupees, “ with an Answer to your Letter ; afterwards, having paid to Mr. Fowke the Sum of One Lack “ and Seventy thousand Rupees, I sent a Letter requesting a further Allowance of Time to enable “ me to make some Preparations. To this I received no Reply—it being no Time to delay. Not“ withstanding this, I was not a Moment inattentive to this Concern, and as soon as my Buxey “ arrived, I paid immediately the remaining Part of the Sum. The remitting of this to the Army
“ did not depend upon me ; if any Delay happened on this Head I could not help it. If, besides
“ the Payment of the Money, the Remittance of it also to the Army had rested with me, a Delay
“ of this Kind should not have happened. I have enclosed in this Letter a Paper respecting the “ particular Sums which have been advanced, with their Dates.

“ With respect to the Horse, you desired me, in your Letter, to inform you of what Number I “ could afford to station with you. I sent you a particular Account of all that were in my Service, “ amounting to One thousand Three hundred Horse, of which several were stationed at distant “ Places ; but I received no Answer to this. Mr. Markham delivered me an Order to prepare a “ Thousand
“ N “ Thousand

“ Thousand Horfe. In Compliance with your Wishes I collected Five hundred Horfe, and a Sub“ stitute for the Remainder, Five hundred Burkundaffes, of which I sent you Information; and I “ told Mr. Markham that they were ready to go to whatever Place they should be sent. No “ Answer, however, came from you on this Head, and I remained astonished at the Cause of it.
 “ Repeatedly I asked Mr. Markham about an Answer to my Letter about the Horfe; but he told “ me, that he did not know the Reason of no Answer having been sent. I remained astonished.—
 “ With respect to the Sepoys, I received first an Order to station Two of my Companies, which I “ did. I was then desired to give a Tunkhaw for the Payment of the Sepoys, and likewise to pay
 “ the Captain; which has been done every Month.

“ Excepting Abdullah Beg, who remains with you, and his Attendants, none of my People, “ either Dependents or Servants, or others in any Shape connected with me, have ever gone to “ Calcutta. My Enemies, with a View to my Ruin, have made false Representations to you.
 “ Now that, happily for me, you have yourself arrived at this Place, you will be able to ascertain
 “ all the Circumstances relative to the Horfe, to my People going to Calcutta, and the Dates of “ the Receipts of the particular Sums abovementioned; you will then know whether I have “ amused you with a false Representation, or made a just Report to you.

“ I have given my Aumils most particular Injunctions, and have taken a Penalty Bond from “ them, that they shall keep no Thieves in their Districts. What Power have they to act other“ wise? But if ever a Robbery or Murder is committed in the Country, I have been careful to im-“ pale or otherwise punish the Culprit. If a Person having committed a Delinquency should “ escape to some other Place so as to elude all Discovery, in that case I am helpless; but to the “ utmost of my Power I endeavour to fulfil your Orders. I have never swerved in the smallest “ Degree from my Duty to you. It remains for you to decide on all these Matters. I am in “ every Case your Slave. What was just I have represented to you. May your Prosperity “ encrease!

“ Account of Five Lacks of Rupees advanced for the Expence of the War.

This Answer you will perceive to be not only unsatisfactory in Substance, but offensive in Style, and less a Vindication of himself than a Recrimination upon. It expresses no Concern for the Causes of Complaint contained in my Letter, or Desire to atone for them, nor the smallest Intention to pursue a different Line of Conduct. An Answer couched nearly in Terms of Defiance, to Requisitions of so serious a Nature, I could not but consider as a strong Indication of that Spirit of Independency which the Rajah has for some Years past assumed, and of which indeed I had early observed other manifest Symptoms, both before and from the Instant of my Arrival here.

Under these alarming Appearances of the Rajah's Conduct and Disposition, I conceived myself indispensably obliged to form some immediate and decisive Plan for obviating their Consequence, and for the Preservation of the Company's Rights and Interests in this Zemindary. To have left him in the full Exercise of Powers, which he had notoriously abused, and which it was to be apprehended he would employ to the most dangerous Purposes, was totally inconsistent with the Maxims of Justice and Prudence. To divest him entirely of the Zemindary, though justifiable on the Grounds stated above, would be attended with an Appearance of Severity, and might have furnished Grounds for Constructions unfavourable to the Credit of our Government, and to my own Reputation, from the natural Influence which every Act of Rigour, exercised in the Persons of Men who stand in elevated Stations, is apt to impress on the Minds of those who are too remote from the Scene of Action to judge, by any Evidence but of the direct Facts themselves, of their Motives or Propriety.

Thus circumstanced, and attentive to these opposite Considerations, I laid down the following Plan for my future Proceedings.

I first directed the Resident to repair to the Rajah, who resided at his House, situated on this Side of the River, at the Distance of about Two Miles; and gave him the following Instructions:

“ Benares, 15th August 1781, 10 at Night.

“ To Mr. William Markham, Resident at Benares.

“ Sir,

“ It is my Order, that you proceed early To-morrow Morning to the House of Rajah Cheyt-“ Sing, with your usual Guard, and put him in Arrest. You will require his immediate Submission, “ informing “ informing him, that you act under Orders given you by me ; and in case of his Refusal, you will wait the Arrival of Two Companies of Sepoys Belonging to Major Popham's Detachment, who are directed to follow and assist you in the Execution of this Service. Having secured the Rajah, you will keep him in your Custody until further Orders.

“ I am,

“ Sir,

“ Your most obedient Servant,

(Signed) “ Warren Hastings.”

On the next Morning Mr. Markham went, according to his foregoing Instructions, and was followed by Two Companies of Grenadier Sepoys belonging to Major Popham's Detachment. The Rajah quietly submitted to the Arrest ; and Mr. Markham returned to me with the following Letter from the Rajah, leaving him under the Charge of Lieutenants Stalker, Scott, and Simes. For the Particulars which passed at this Interview, I refer you to the following Report, which Mr. Markham delivered to me on his Return.

Letter from the Rajah.

“ At this Time Mr. William Markham being come to me, has informed me that your Highness's Orders are, that I should remain under a Guard. My Protector, I before represented to you, on board your Pinnace, that I was the Servant of the Honourable Sirkar, and was ready from my Heart and Soul. Whatever may be your Pleasure, do it with your own Hands. I am your Slave ; what Occasion can there be for this Guard ?”

“ Benares, 16th August 1781.

“ To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c. &c.

“ Honourable Sir,

“ I this Morning, in Obedience to your Orders of last Night, proceeded with a few of my Orderlys, accompanied by Lieutenant Stalker, to Shewvallah Gaut, the present Residence of Rajah Cheyt Sing, and acquainted him, it was your Pleasure he should consider himself in Arrest ; that he should order his People to behave in a quiet and orderly Manner, for that any Attempt to rescue him would be attended with his own Destruction. The Rajah submitted quietly to the Arrest ; and assured me, that whatever were your Orders, he was ready implicitly to obey : He hoped that you would allow him a Subsistence ; but as for his Zemindary, his Forts, and Treasure, he was ready to lay them at your Feet, and his Life, if required. He expressed himself much hurt at the Ignominy, which he affirmed must be the Consequence of his Confinement, and intreated me to return to you with the foregoing Submission, hoping that you would make Allowances for his Youth and Inexperience, and, in Consideration of his Father's Name, release him from his Confinement as soon as he should prove the Sincerity of his Offers, and himself deserving of your Compassion and Forgiveness.

“ Near a Quarter of an Hour after this Conversation, Lieutenant Scott arrived with the Two Grenadier Companies of Major Popham's Regiment, to whose and Lieutenant Stalker's Care I left the Rajah, having given them the following Instructions—That they should disarm every Servant of the Rajah's ;—that they should allow him any such Eight or Ten Kissinutgars, for the Attendance of his Person, as he should approve of ;—that these Men should be shown to the Sepoys, lest any Deceit should be practised ; but that they might indulge him in any Request consistent with the Security of his Person.

“ I am now returned to acquaint you with my Proceedings, and to receive any further Instructions, if you think it necessary.

“ I have the Honour to be,

“ Honourable Sir,

“ Your most obedient humble Servant,

“ William Markham.”

As the Rajah in the above Letter had desired that Mr. Markham might be sent back to him, I was preparing Instructions for that Purpose, when I received another Letter from the Rajah, of which the following is a Translation :

Letter from the Rajah.

“ I am the Servant of the Sirkar, and am ready from my Heart and Soul in the Performance of your Orders.—My Honour was bestowed on me by your Highness ; it depends on you alone to take away, or not take away, the Country out of my Hands. In case my Honour is not left me,
“ how

“ how shall I be equal to the Business of the Sirkar ? Whoever, with his Hands in a supplicating Posture, is ready with his Life and Property, what Necessity can there be for him to be dealt with in this Way ? ”

From the apparent Despondency in which these Letters were written, I thought it necessary to give the Rajah some Encouragement ; and accordingly wrote him the following Answer :

Letter to the Rajah.

“ I have received your Two Arzies by the Hands of Mr. Markham, and understand their Contents.—That Gentleman will wait upon you in the Afternoon, and explain all Particulars to you. —Set your Mind at Rest, and do not conceive any Terror or Apprehension.”

To this I received the following Reply :

Letter from the Rajah.

“ Your gracious Letter has been received, and has made me acquainted with your Commands. You order that Mr. William Markham will come to me ; that I must not suffer any Apprehension to distress me, but remain at Ease in my Mind.—My Protector, wherever you spread your Shadow over my Head, I am entirely free from Concern and Apprehension ; and whatever you, who are my Master, shall as such determine, will be right.”

At this Time I had prepared Mr. Markham's Second Instructions ; but before he could set out with them, Intelligence came that large Bodies of armed Men had crossed the River from Ramnagar, and had proceeded to the Rajah's House. What follows is a Scene of such Horror, that it is with the greatest Reluctance I submit to the painful Duty of relating it : The Guard placed over the Rajah consisted of the Two Companies of Grenadier Sepoys, as above-mentioned, from Major Popham's Detachment, and commanded by the Officers already named, who were stationed in an inclosed Square, which surrounded the Apartment where the Rajah was. The Resident's Guard had returned with him. It now appeared that these Troops had taken no Ammunition with them : Major Popham sent another Company of Sepoys, under an Officer, with Ammunition, to reinforce and support the First Party. When the latter arrived at the Rajah's House, they found it surrounded, and all the Avenues blockaded by a Multitude of armed Men, who opposed their Passage. The Minds of this tumultuous Assembly becoming soon inflamed, some of them began to fire upon the Sepoys within the Square ; and immediately, as if this had been the concerted Signal, the whole Multitude rushed in, and made an instantaneous and fierce Attack upon the Sepoys, who, wanting their accustomed Means of Defence, were capable of making but a feeble Resistance, and fell an easy Sacrifice to the superior Numbers of the Assailants, who cut almost every Man of this unfortunate Party to Pieces. The Officers, it is supposed, were the First Victims to their Fury ; but not until they had, by astonishing Efforts of Bravery, and undismayed amidst the imminent Danger which surrounded them, involved a much superior Number of their Enemies in their Fate : In this general Report of them all Accounts concur, though varying in Circumstances : I yield to my own Feelings in bestowing this just, but unavailing Tribute, to these unhappy Gentlemen. In the Midst of this Confusion, the Rajah found Means to escape through a Wicket which opened to the River ; and the Banks being exceedingly steep in that Place, he let himself down by Turbans tied together, into a Boat which was waiting for him, and conveyed him to the opposite Shore : Those who had effected his Escape, followed him across the River, in the same tumultuous Manner in which they had assembled, leaving the Party of our Sepoys which had last arrived, in the Possession of the House.

On the first Intelligence of this Commotion, I had directed Major Popham to repair immediately to his Camp, which was about Two Miles from the Resident's, and at the same Distance from the Rajah's House ; and to march instantly with the Remainder of his Detachment to the Support of the Party. This Order was executed with all possible Expedition ; but Major Popham arrived too late, and had the Mortification to be a Spectator of the Effects of a Massacre which he could neither prevent nor revenge—He returned to me immediately, and made the following Report :

Report of Major Popham.

“ Consequent to an Order for the Detachment under my Command to proceed to the Support of the Grenadier Companies under Lieutenant Stalker, I carried it with as much Expedition as possible to Adjet Sing's Palace, which I found to be entirely evacuated by the Rajah's People, who were already landed on the opposite Side of the River.

“ Of the Two Companies commanded by Lieutenant Stalker very few remained alive, and the Majority of those appeared to be severely wounded. The Bodies of Lieutenants Stalker, Scott, “ and

" and Simes, were lying within a small Distance of each other, shockingly mangled, and without any Signs of Life.

" It may be necessary to observe, that Lieutenant Burrell was dispatched with One Company of Sepoys, upon the first Rumour of the Rajah's coercive Intentions, but the Fate of the Companies which preceded him was decided prior to his being able to enter the Palace. There were, however, some of the Rajah's People whom he effectually cleared it of. In his Attack he met with some Loss.

" My utmost Endeavours have hitherto proved insufficient to procure an exact Detail of the Killed and Wounded in this unfortunate Transaction.

" I thought it necessary to leave a Company with a Subaltern in the Palace.

" Benares,

" 16th August 1781

" William Popham,

" Major."

I cannot learn with Certainty what is become of the Rajah, but the prevailing Report is, that he fled from Ramnagur, his usual Residence on the other Side of the River, in the Middle of the Night, and proceeded with his Zenana and Effects to Lutteesgur, a strong Fort of his, situated about Ten Miles from Chunar. He was accompanied by Sujah Sing his Brother, and Munyar Sing a Relation and Son by Adoption of Rajah Bulwant Sing. He has also had the Precaution to take with him Rana Golabkoover the Widow of Rajah Bulwant Sing his Father, her Son-in-Law Durbijey Sing, and his Two Sons her Grandsons.

In them he possesses every Member of his Family who can have any Plea to dispute with him the Right of Inheritance from his Father Rajah Bulwant Sing, if that were ever a Question. His Right to the Zemindary being derived exclusively from Sunnuds which his Father never possessed, but which were first granted to Cheyt Sing by the late Vizier Sujah ul Dowla, through the Influence of our Government, in the Year 1773, and since repeated by similar Grants from our Government, when the Sovereignty was ceded to the Company by the present Nabob Asoph ul Dowla.

I have made Choice of Baboo Posaun Sing, who held the Office of Dewan during several Years of the Life of Rajah Bulwant Sing, for a considerable Period since the Accession of the present Rajah, to administer the Revenues and Government of this Country, in the Quality of Naib, until it can be determined to whom the Zemindary may legally belong, and who may be in a Capacity to receive it.

To this Effect I have caused a Proclamation to be made through the City of Benares, and have notified it by circular Perwannahs to all the Zemindars and Aumils of the Zemindary.

To enforce the Execution of these Acts, to maintain Tranquillity and Order in the Country, and protect the Inhabitants, I have ordered One Battalion of Sepoys from Chunar, the Remainder of Major Popham's Detachment from Mirzapoor, and a Regiment of Sepoys from Dinapoor, to march immediately to Benares.

The Detail of these Proceedings shall be transmitted to you in a subsequent Letter. I do not expect they will detain me here much beyond the Time I had prescribed to myself, which was about Seven or Eight Days.

I have the Honour to be, with the greatest Esteem,

Benares,
17th August 1781.

Sir,
Your most obedient humble Servant,
(Signed) Warren Hastings.

P. S. The Delay occasioned in copying this Letter, from its great Length, has afforded me an Opportunity of contradicting the latter Part of it, and I have now the Satisfaction to add, that Ranny Golabkoover, together with her Son-in-law Durbeje Sing, and his Two Sons, are safe at Benares.

I have this Morning received a Visit from Durbeje Sing, and his eldest Son Myep Narain.

Letter from the Governor General, at Bēnāres, dated 29th September 1781, to Mr. Wheeler.

To Edward Wheeler, Esquire.

Sir,

I have had the Honour to inform you in various and successive Letters of my Transactions, and of the Occurrences which have befallen me since my Departure from Calcutta, and especially since my Arrival at this Place on the 14th of last Month. It is my Intention to employ the first Hours of my Leisure in drawing up a detailed Narrative of the latter for your Information; in the mean Time I shall continue to advise you, from Time to Time, of such Circumstances of Moment as occur in the Course of daily Business, both for your Information, and for the Means of obtaining your Sentiments upon them for my Assistance and Guidance. I deem it a Misfortune, that not one of your Letters, written with the Knowledge of the late Troubles, have reached me, and I much fear that many of mine may have miscarried; for which Reason, I shall cause to be transcribed Copies of all written since the 16th of last Month, and shall transmit them to you.

Lest my Letters, advising you of our late Successes, should have been intercepted, I think it proper to repeat in this the Substance of them.

The Arrival of the Detachment from Caunpore, under Major Crabb, of the 10th Instant, and of Major Roberts on the 13th, enabled Major Popham to take the Field with a considerable Force.

It was publicly expected that his first Attempt would be made upon Ramnagur; but such Information having been given of the State of the Two Fortresses of Lutteespoor and Pateeta, as seemed to promise the certain and immediate Reduction of those Places; he accordingly formed his Army into Two Detachments, one commanded by Major Crabb, consisting of the First Battalion of the Sixth Regiment, the Seventh Regiment, the Battalion of the Nabob's Body Guard, commanded by Lieutenant Polhill, with Six 6 Pounders, and One 5½ Inch Howitzer; and the other under his own Command, consisting of the Nineteenth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-fifth Regiments, Two Companies of European Infantry, the Corps of Rangers, and about Thirty Artillery, with Six 6 Pounders, Two 8½ Inch Howitzers, and an 8 Inch Mortar. The First Detachment marched on the Night of the 15th, by a large Circuit, through almost impracticable Ways: But the Spirit of the Officers and Men surmounted every Difficulty. In Places where the Guns could not be drawn by Bullocks, the Sepoys lifted them up the Rocks; and at length, on the Morning of the 20th, they arrived at the Heights lying behind and above the Fort of Lutteespoor, at a Place called Lora, which commands a Pass descending to Lutteespoor, and reputed inaccessible against Opposition, but from above. The profound Secrecy with which this Expedition was undertaken, and to which the Security of the Enemy, in a Region so unfrequented, not a little contributed, prevented any Opposition to our Troops in the different Parts of their Route. Their first Movement only, but neither their Strength nor Destination was known till their very near Approach.

At Lora they met a Body of 2,000 of the Enemy, which they defeated and dispersed with little Loss on our Side, but on theirs of 200 Men killed on the Spot.—The next Morning they took Possession of the Pass, and of the Fort of Lutteespoor, which they found evacuated.

In the mean Time Major Popham marched with his Part of the Forces on the Morning of the 16th to Pateeta, a Place in Consideration in itself, being a fortified Stone House within a very high Rampart, and a Ditch of great Depth, and the Town which is of great Extent surrounded by Intrenchments.—These being all obscured from Observation by Trees and thick Bushes, he judged it not advisable to attempt an immediate Assault upon the Place, which fortunately proved the Cause of a concurrent Success in both Enterprizes, almost in the same Instant of Time; for in the Morning of the 20th he stormed and took Pateeta, at the same Time defeated and dispersing Two Bodies of the Enemy that made an Attempt on his Camp. And on the same Day, and on the same Hour, Major Crabb fought and gained the Battle of Lora, which was the immediate and eventual Cause of the Capture of Lutteespoor.

The News of these combined Successes alarmed the Rajah to such a Degree, that he instantly fled by a distant Route over the Hills from Lutteespoor, which till that Time had been his capital Residence, regaining the Road of Bidjeygur, the only direct Way to it being through the Pass abovementioned.

The Consternation of his Followers was so great, and its Contagion so rapid, that in a few Hours the Fort or Palace of Ramnagur, and the Fortress of Sutteesgur, were wholly abandoned and evacuated.

Major Balfour marched on the 22d, and took Possession of Ramnagur.

On the Morning of the 25th I parted from the Nabob, who set out on that Afternoon on his Return to his Capital. It is but Justice to the Nabob to declare, that on the first Intelligence of these Troubles, notwithstanding my repeated and pressing Injunctions to return to Lucnow, he prosecuted his March to Benares, with only a few Companies of Sepoys and 100 Horse at that Time attending him, and has in every other Instance given the strongest Proofs of his Fidelity and Attachment. In the Evening I departed from Chunar, and on the next Morning arrived at Ramnagur.

Ramnagur. My Stay there being unnecessary, and it having been represented to me that my Presence at Benares would be a Means of quieting the Minds of its Inhabitants, I accordingly returned hither Yesterday Morning, and had the Happiness to find the City restored to a State of perfect Order and Tranquillity.

I have issued Proclamations offering Pardon to all who shall quietly return to their Obedience, excepting the Persons of Cheyt Sing and his Brother Sujan Sing, whom their late rebellious Conduct and their Rancour manifested to our Nation, in the deliberate Murder of many of our Soldiers, and even unarmed Passengers who had the Misfortune to fall into their Hands, have precluded from every Title to Lenity.

The Persons standing next in the Line of Inheritance of the Zemindary, were Ranny Goolaub Koower the Widow of Rajah Bulwant Sing, their Daughter married to Bauboo Durbijey Sing, and Bauboo Meyipnarain their Grandson by the Two latter. By the Concurrence of the Two First Parties, and in Consequence of a written Acknowledgment made by the Ranny of the Right of her Grandson Meyipnarain, I have nominated him to the Succession of the Rauge, and have appointed the Morning of To-morrow for his Investiture.

I have forborne any particular Comments in this Place, reserving them; where they will be more properly introduced, for my more detailed Narrative. Yet I cannot suppress, without a Violence to my own Feelings, the Testimony which is due especially from me to the unexampled Zeal and public Spirit of all our Officers, and the wonderful Activity with which their Qualities were displayed on the late Occasion. I have already acknowledged the early Exertions which were made by Colonel Blair during my former short and calamitous Residence at Benares. Of Major Popham I cannot say sufficient to express my Sense of his Services. Though my Letters were every where intercepted, Colonel Morgan, with a Decision and Solitude that reflect equal Credit upon his Character, detached Major Crabb, with his Party, to my Assistance: On the first and instant Rumour of my Situation, Colonel Sir John Cumming, with the like Alacrity, obeyed the Orders of his March to Cawnpore; as did Colonel Ahmuty in the immediate Dispatch of Major Crawford, and the Troop of Cavalry. The same Spirit animated every Officer of every Corps, and infused itself into the Men under their Command, with an Effect so far exceeding the common Occurrences of human Affairs, that in the complete Space of One Month, this great and valuable Province, which had been unexpectedly and wholly lost; was in Substance wholly recovered to the British Empire.

Benares,
29th September 1781.

I have the Honour to be,
Your most obedient
humble Servant,
(Signed) Warren Hastings.

A true Copy,
J. P. Auriol;
Secretary.

Your Committee must here remark, that the Resolution to make a formal Demand on Rajah Cheyt Sing, to raise and maintain Three Battalions of Sepoys during the present War, was made on the Ninth of July 1778; and that on the Seventeenth of August following, the Governor General and Council resolve, That the Sum of Five Lacks of Muckledar Rupees be fixed as the Subsidy to be paid by Rajah Cheyt Sing, for the Maintenance of those Three Battalions of Sepoys; and on the same Day the Governor General and Council advise the Court of Directors of this Resolution: But Your Committee do not find that the Court of Directors sent any Orders whatsoever to Bengal, relative to this important Subject.

Appointed to take into Consideration the State of the Administration of Justice in the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, and to report the same, as it shall appear to them, to the House, with their Observations thereupon; and who were instructed to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be held and governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the Native Inhabitants may be best promoted.

YOUR Committee, in the last Session of Parliament, presented their Second Report to the House: This Report contained the Origin of the Connection between the Representatives of the English Company and Bulwant Sing, Rajah of Benares; and was continued to that Period when Cheyt Sing, the Son and Successor of Bulwant Sing, was first arrested by Order of the Governor General, and afterwards deprived of all Rank, Power, and Command in that Zemindary which was the Inheritance of his Ancestors.

This Report was a mere Statement of historical Facts, but without any Observations from Your Committee; for, although the Governor General's Proceedings against the Rajah of Benares appeared to be such as carried with them their own Condemnation, yet Your Committee declined making any Comments upon it, until they had received those which the Governor General had promised to send to the East India Company: They are contained in the Governor General's Narrative and Appendix thereto, in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 1, hereunto annexed.

Your Committee have perused this Narrative with great Attention; but the first Impression which Your Committee had conceived of Cheyt Sing's Arrest and subsequent Deposition, is now strengthened and confirmed by the Governor General's own Representation of the Case.

In order to convey some general Knowledge of the Subject, Your Committee will make a few Observations on some Points mentioned by the Governor General in his Narrative, before they proceed to examine more particularly into those Measures which he has thought proper to pursue against Cheyt Sing.

Narrative I.

The Governor General states, "that Bulwant Sing derived the Degree of Independency which he possessed during the latter Period of his Life, from the Protection or Intervention of our Government." This appears to be a Fact; he was protected by an Article of the Treaty made by Lord Clive with the Vizier in 1765; and those who succeeded Lord Clive in that Government, until the Death of Bulwant Sing, paying a due Regard to the Faith of Treaties, protected him against all the Intrigues of the Vizier; and carried their Attachment so far, as to make it a Point to obtain the Succession for his Son. This last Event happened more than Twelve Months before Mr. Hastings succeeded to the Office of President and Governor of Bengal; yet Your Committee observe, the Governor General asserts in his Narrative, "that Cheyt Sing obtained from our Influence, exerted by myself, the first legal Title that his Family ever possessed of Property in the Land, of which he till then was only the Ameer, and of which he became the acknowledged Zemindar by a Sunnud granted to him by the Nabob Sujah Dowlah, at my Instance, in the Month of September 1773."

Lett. from Bengal, 17
Sept. 1770, to Directors.

Your Committee will endeavour to state this Point to the House with Precision:—In the Second Report from this Committee, several Letters are entered from John Cartier, Esquire, the President, and the Council of Bengal; from which it appears, that Bulwant Sing died 23d August 1770; that the President and Council expressed in a former Letter their Sentiments of the Consequence it was to their Affairs to have the Succession to the Zemindary of Benares continue in the Family, but that it was a delicate Point to accomplish with the Vizier—"the Time has been, when this might have been made a Demand, but Circumstances are now much changed, and even Address is necessary to solicit; had Bulwant Sing expressed a Wish to secure the Zemindary in his own Family, at a Time when the Vizier was receiving back the Country from our Hands, a Doubt can scarcely be formed but it would have been attended with Success."

Vide 2d Report,
Page 11.
1 Oct. 1770 Lett. from Bengal to Directors.

"In our Letter of the 11th ultimo, we informed you of the Death of the Rajah Bulwant Sing, and of the Measures we were taking with the Nabob Shuja ul Dowlah, to induce him to settle the Succession of the Zemindary of Benares on the late Rajah's Son.—The Demands made by the Nabob's Agent were 20 Lacks of Rupees as a Nazerannah, and Five Lacks per Annum as an Addition to the Sums stipulated by the Treaty of 1765; the Terms were, however, finally concluded on the 8th Instant, when the Nazerannah was settled at 17 Lacks, and the required Increase was reduced to 2½ Lacks of Rupees; permit us, Honourable Sirs, to congratulate you on so very happy a Conclusion of an Event we deem highly important to your Interest."

"The Vizier's Readiness in complying with this our earnest Recommendation and Request, has afforded us the greatest Satisfaction, and is a Circumstance the more pleasing, as it must give Strength to the Opinions of the several Powers in Hindostan, of the strict Friendship subsisting between the English and him; and his having considered Captain Harper as a necessary Witness to the Negotiation carrying on between his Agent Allage Cawn and the young Rajah Cheyt Sing, will serve as a Proof to the World, that he meant not to take any Measure therein that might give the least Cause for Suspicion on our Part."

Vide 2d Report,
Page 11.
31 Dec. 1770, to Directors.

"The President was requested to acquaint the Vizier with the proper Sense we entertain of the Attention he has paid to our Recommendation, and that we consider it as an additional Proof of his Friendship."

"With respect to the Son and Successor of Bulwant Sing, the Vizier has, as we before informed you, acted agreeably to our Desire. Cheyt Sing is now fully invested with the Government, to the entire Satisfaction of every one, and is considered by the Vizier as holding that Country on the same Terms as his Father, the Difference in the Revenues excepted. The Whole are settled at Benares Rupees 22,48,499, which are 2,50,000 more than were paid by his Father. The Vizier expressed a Desire of seeing the young Rajah at the Marriage of his eldest Son Mirza Amany. The Rajah, sensible how much this Mark of Respect was due from him, at that Time promised to attend; but at length excused himself, perhaps by the Advice of his Father's Counsellors, who had kept alive the Family Enmity."

Vide 2d Report,

The President and Council of Fort William in Bengal, in their Instructions to Governor Hastings of the 23d of June 1773, thus say:

"We empower you to renew, in Behalf of Rajah Cheyt Sing, the Stipulation which was formerly made with the Vizier in Favour of his Father Rajah Bulwant Sing, in Consideration of his Services to the Company in the Year 1764."

And the Letter of Mr. Hastings and his Council to the Court of Directors, of the 10th of October 1773, places this Point of the Zemindary beyond the Possibility of a Doubt; they write, "We have obtained from the Vizier the Renewal of the Sunnuds in Favour of Rajah Cheyt Sing and his Posterity, on the same Footing as it was granted to his Father Bulwant Sing, excepting only the Increase of 2½ Lacks to his Annual Tribute, which the Rajah had agreed to at his Succession in 1770."

This is still more confirmed in the President's Report of 4th October 1773; wherein he states as follows :

" N° 3 is a Persian Copy of a Cowlname or Engagement, which I obtained from the Vizier, confirming to Rajah Cheyt Sing and his Posterity, the Stipulations formerly made in Behalf of his Father Rajah Bulwant Sing.

Vide 2d Report,
Page 12.

" The Cowlname was executed in my Presence, and attested by me. The Vizier desired, that the Stipulations made in Favour of the Rajah might be executed in this Mode, rather than by an Article in the Treaty; and it was equally satisfactory to the Rajah. I must remark, that he had already given the Rajah a Cowlname of this Tenor soon after the Death of Bulwant Sing, through the Solicitation of Captain Harper, by the Order of the Select Committee; he could, therefore, have no reasonable Plea to refuse the Confirmation of it."

In 1770.

In another Part of the same Report, when the Vizier Sujah Dowlah wished to take from Cheyt Sing Ten Lacks more than the Sums stipulated, and he argued, that the Treaty of Allahabad related to Bulwant Sing solely, and was never meant to extend to his Posterity, the President declares, " That the Vizier himself had before put it out of all Dispute by the solemn Act passed in the Rajah's Favour on his Succession to the Zemindary."

Your Committee must here observe, That Rajah Cheyt Sing had been in the uninterrupted Possession of his Zemindary for near Three Years before Mr. Hastings had his Interview with the Vizier Sujah Dowlah at Benares, in 1773. That the Terms of the Grant had been fully complied with by both Parties; and Your Committee conceive, that Cheyt Sing, by virtue of that Grant, and under the Protection of the English, might have remained in the uninterrupted Possession of it during the Life of the Vizier Sujah Dowlah, even if the Governor and Council had not then thought a Confirmation of a Grant obtained by Captain Harper, under the Orders of a former Administration, to be a necessary Measure; for it must be remembered, that this Grant, so to be confirmed, was considered as an Act so solemn as to bind all Parties, and which had then existed for Three Years in its full Force, and without any Deviation whatsoever.

Appendix, N° 3.
Capt. Harper's Correspondence.

From this Evidence, Your Committee do not find the Governor General well-founded in his Assertion, that it was from his Influence that Cheyt Sing obtained the first legal Title that his Family ever possessed of Property in the Land, of which he till then was only the Aumil, and of which he became the authorized Zemindar, by a Sunnud granted to him by the Nabob Sujah Dowlah, at my Instance, in the Month of September 1773. On the contrary, the Letters of the President Cartier and his Council, to the Directors; the Orders Mr. Hastings received from the Council, and their Letter to the Directors, which mention nothing more being obtained than a Renewal of the Sunnuds which had already been granted to Cheyt Sing; and his own Report to the Council, where he declares, that the Vizier had already given to the Rajah a Cowlname of this Tenor through the Solicitation of Captain Harper, and that the Vizier himself had before put it (the Succession) out of all Dispute, by the solemn Act passed in the Rajah's Favour on his Succession to the Zemindary; together with the Fact of an Investiture publicly performed by the proper Officer deputed by the Vizier for that Purpose, and the Evidence of Colonel * Harper, who was present at that Ceremony; form a Mass of incontestible Proof, that Rajah Cheyt Sing had actually enjoyed all the Rights of a Zemindar Three Years before that Period in which Mr. Hastings obtained only the Confirmation of those Rights for him.

Vide 2d Report as above.

Vide Appendix,
N° 3.
Capt. Harper's Letter,
dated 11 Oct. 1770.
* Appendix, N° 4.
Col. Harper's Evidence.

Your Committee entered into this Investigation only to examine the Governor General's Assertion, which Assertion appeared quite contradictory to the Matter contained in their former Reports; not that they conceive it should either increase or diminish the actual Rights of the Company, or that it is a fit Subject of Discussion, whether Rajah Cheyt Sing, who was a Tributary to the Company, was more or less bound to perform the Duties actually incumbent on him as a Tributary, because he succeeded to his Zemindary under this or that particular Governor.

Your Committee cannot avoid remarking, that the Governor General, when he drew up a Narrative for the Justification of his Conduct, places the Dependence of Cheyt Sing upon the Company in a very opposite Point of View to that in which he had been accustomed to regard that Rajah, and in a very opposite Point of View to that in which he had declared he was regarded by the Company and the successive Members of the late Councils, previous to the Establishment of the Governor General and Council.

Vide Narrative K.

Your Committee observe, that the Governor General considered Rajah Cheyt Sing " as culpable in a very high Degree towards the State; and his Punishment, of which he had given him frequent Warnings, if he did not amend his Conduct, as an Example which Justice and Policy required equally for the Reparation of the Wrongs which its Dignity had sustained, and for the future Preservation of its Authority:" And

The Governor General declares, " That he was determined to make the Rajah pay largely for his Pardon, or to exact a severe Vengeance for his past Delinquency."

D° L.

Your Committee, with a View to enable the House to form a just Judgment upon this Subject, have thought it necessary to examine into the actual State of the Facts whereon these Accusations of Delinquency are founded. They will proceed to state the direct Charges made by the Governor General in his own Words; they will also examine whether those Charges are well-founded; and then submit to the Consideration of the House, how far such Charges, even had they been proved true in the utmost Extent, can, or ought to be considered as a Justification of the Governor General's Conduct.

The first Charge consists in the Delay of the Payment of the extraordinary Aid of 5,00,000 Rupees demanded of him in the Year 1780.

Narrative E.

The Governor General states, " It is sufficient to say, that the Demand was made, and the whole Payment consequently due, in July: That it was not until the Month of October, nor until the same Constraint was practised to compel his Obedience, by an Order for the Advance of Two Battalions of Sepoys for that Purpose, that the Balance of the Subsidy, which was 2,50,000 Rupees, was discharged. In the mean Time the Resident received an Order from the Board, to remit the Money as he received it, by Bills, to the Paymaster of Lieutenant Colonel Camac's Detachment: But these, from the Lateness of the Receipts, were not sent until the Detachment had suffered the Extremity of Distress from the Want of Money, and very great Desertions; all which Calamities I charge to Rajah Cheyt Sing's Account; as it is certain that my Reliance on his Faith, and his Breach of it, were the principal Causes that no other Provision had been made for the Detachment, and that it suffered such Want in consequence."

Your Committee cannot discover any Record to prove, that although an extraordinary Demand of Money (beyond the stipulated Rent paid by the Rajah) was made in July, that the whole Payment of it was consequently due the Moment in which the Demand was made. The Records being deficient in this Proof, they had Recourse to what had been the Practice in the Two preceding Years, in which this same extraordinary Demand had been made upon the Rajah: And Your Committee will now lay before the House the exact State of those Payments.

September	—	—	—	—	—	1,00,000
20th October	—	—	—	—	—	2,50,000
						5,00,000

By these Statements, it does appear that in the Year 1780, in which the Charge of Delay is made, the Rajah had paid Half the extraordinary Aid much sooner than in any preceding Year: that that he had paid the Whole as early as in the last Year, although the Payment was then enforced by Two Battalions of Sepoys; and that he was only Ten Days later in his Payments of the remaining Half than in the First Year of this Demand.

Your Committee will now proceed to the Investigation of the other Part of this Charge; namely, all the "Calamities which befel Lieutenant Colonel Camac's Detachment, which the Governor General charges to Cheyt Sing's Account."

As this is made a direct Charge against Cheyt Sing, and assigned as the First Reason to justify the extraordinary Proceedings which have been held towards him, Your Committee expected something more like Proof than mere general Assertion. They have perused the Governor General's Narrative with Attention, and have not been less attentive to the Records of the Company; and the following is the Result of their Enquiries.

It appears, that Captain Popham was sent early in the Year 1780 with a Detachment, to the Assistance of the Rana of Gohud.

It appears, by the 2d Article of the Treaty with the Rana of Gohud, That he was to pay the Expences of this Detachment; and the Sums were stipulated in Proportion to the Number of Troops to be employed.

By the 5th Article of that Treaty it appears, That in case the combined Forces of the Rana and the English were employed in any hostile Operations against the Marattas, beyond the Borders of the Rana's own Dominions, upon Requisition made to him in Writing, he was to furnish 10,000 Horse for such Service; and each Party was to bear his own separate Expence.

It appears, That on the 29th May 1780, the Governor General made a Proposition in Council, to form a Detachment under the Command of Major Camac: And on the 12th June he submitted to the Board the Instructions to be given to Major Camac.

These Instructions were opposed in Council, and they did not pass until the 20th July. A Copy of these Instructions of that Date is entered in the Appendix N° 5.

It appears, That Major Camac was ordered to succeed Captain Popham, with Directions to comply with the Terms of the Treaty.

So long as Major Camac remained with the Rana of Gohud, he was to receive the stipulated Sum for the Payment of the Troops from him. It appears, that discretionary Powers were given to Major Camac, to carry the War into the Territories of Two Maratta Chiefs, Madajee Scindia and Holkar; but Your Committee do not observe, that until the 7th September the Governor General and Council made any Provision, or took any actual Precautions, for supplying him with Money to defray the Expence of this Detachment, after he should have commenced his Operations against the Marattas in their own Dominions; when, by the 5th Article of the Treaty, the Subsidy with the Rana of Gohud was to cease.

It is true, that in the Consultations of the 12th June 1780, the Governor General proposed to make the Demand of Five Lacks from Cheyt Sing, for the Payment of his Annual Contribution towards the Expences of the War, and which Sum should be appropriated solely to the Payment of Major Camac's Detachment. But the Majority of the Council General opposed this, "because the proposed Anticipation of the Demand of Five Lacks from the Rajah of Benares, and the sole Appropriation of it to this Service, is no Relief of Expence, or Increase of Resource, since the above Five Lacks make Part of our general Estimate of Resources for the Service of the current Year; and if applied to any Service not provided for in the same Estimate, will leave a Deficiency which must be made good out of some other."

The Council General having rejected the Governor General's Plan of an Expedition into the Maratta Country under Major Camac, on the 26th of June 1780, the Governor General supposing the Expence which would attend it the only formal Objection, offers to exonerate the Company from it, and to take it upon himself; the Extent of this Offer he confines to the Contingencies, which he rates far below Two Lacks of Rupees; that Sum he offers to contribute to this Disbursement; and adds, that he had already deposited it (within a small Sum) in the Hands of the Sub Treasurer; and he begs the Board will permit it to be accepted for that Service. The Board do not accept this Offer.

And it appears, That on the 22d of the same Month, the Council General write to the Resident at Benares as follows:

"The Period of Two Years, for each of which Rajah Cheyt Sing has contributed the Sum of Five Lacks of Mucklidar Rupees, as his Proportion of the Burthen of the War with France, being nearly expired, and the War still continuing, we find it necessary to maintain the same Force, and to require that the Rajah shall be at his Share of the Expence; we therefore direct that you demand from him Payment of the above Sum, as his Proportion of the Charge for the current Year, and remit the Amount of it to us."

And the Resident in his Answer, dated 10th August following, says, "I have received from the Rajah One Lack of Rupees in Part Payment of his Subsidy, and I have the Honour to enclose Bills of Exchange for the Amount of this Sum, drawn as per accompanying Invoice."

"I have urged the Rajah very strongly to complete the Payment of his Subsidy with all possible Expedition; but I find he is determined to make no further Payment till he receives an Answer to his Arzee, transmitted in my Letter of the 5th Instant to the Honourable Governor General."

The Governor General lays before the Board the following Letter from the Rajah of Benares, referred to in the Letter from the Resident above recorded, received at Calcutta the 21st August 1780; viz.

" I have been honoured by your Orders, directing me to pay Five Lacks of Sicca Mayhadar Rupees to Mr. Fowke, for the War which still continues; and although my distressed Situation must be known to you from other Quarters, notwithstanding I have been afraid to represent it to you myself, that I have sold my House and borrowed Sums of Money, from which I am not yet released; yet, in Obedience to your Orders, I have paid One Lack of Rupees out of the Five Lacks to Mr. Fowke, and shall pay the other Four in Three Months. I request you will send Directions to that Gentleman, to allow me that Time, and it shall be punctually paid at the End of that Term. You yourself must be convinced that I have no Abilities or Resources left."

On the 7th September Your Committee observe the following Orders were sent to the Resident at Benares.

D<sup>o</sup>;

" We have received your Letters under Date the 21st July, 10th and 20th August, with the Bills and Accounts enclosed: We have also had before us the Rajah's Letter to the Governor General, to which you allude in your Address of the 10th ultimo.

" We desire you will inform the Rajah of Benares, that, knowing his Ability to make quick Payment of the whole Amount of the Subsidy, we are much displeased with the groundless Pretences which he urges for delaying it; and we direct, that on Receipt of this Letter you peremptorily demand his immediate Discharge of the Sum due from him on this Account; which, when you have received it, we desire you will remit, either by Shroff Bills, if possible, or by any other safe Mode, to Major Camac, for the Expences of the Troops under his Command.

" We are, &c."

" Fort William,
" 7th Sept. 1780."

On the same Day Major Camac is also advised of the Plan adopted for the Payment of his Detachment.

And on the Proceedings of the 9th October, there is the following Extract of a Letter from the Resident at Benares, dated the 27th September 1780; viz.

Vide id Select Report,

" I have received the Honour of your Letter of the 7th Instant, and have signified your Commands to the Rajah. He has promised to discharge the Balance of his Subsidy, being Rupees 2,53,000, in the Course of a few Days. I am treating with the Shroffs for a Remittance to Major Camac, and imagine I shall be able to effect it by Bills from them for the whole Amount."

And in the Proceedings of the 26th of the same Month, the following Letter from the Resident, dated the 5th Instant, is entered; viz.

" I think it incumbent upon me to inform you, that the Rajah, notwithstanding his solemn Assurances, has hitherto paid no Part of the Balance of his Subsidy, specified in my Address of the 27th ultimo. He has resumed his Plea of Inability; and I can form no Opinion how long he may think proper to protract the Payment."

And the following Letter was written in consequence to the Resident at Benares; viz.

D<sup>o</sup>;

" We have received your Letter of the 5th Instant, informing us, that the Rajah, notwithstanding his solemn Assurances, has hitherto paid no Part of the Balance of his Subsidy, specified in your Address of the 27th ultimo; that he had resumed his Plea of Inability; and that you could form no Opinion how long he might think proper to protract the Payment.

" This Conduct of the Rajah seems to us without Excuse; we direct therefore, that you demand instant Payment of the Balance due of his Subsidy; and if he shall not have discharged it at the Time of your Receipt of this Letter, that you exact from him, in the Name of the Board, the further Sum of One Lack of Rupees, as a Fine for his past Disobedience. To enforce the Compliance due to our Authority, and the Payment of the Sum required of him, we have given Orders that the Battalions at the Stations nearest to Benares should march immediately to that Place, and wait for such Directions as may hereafter be transmitted to the Officer commanding them."

The Council send the following Orders to Brigadier General Stibbert:

" Sir,

" 19th October 1780, Fort William.

Vide id Select Report,
Page 47.

" Having had late Occasion of being much dissatisfied with the Conduct of the Rajah of Benares towards this Government, in withholding the Payment of the Amount due from him as his Subsidy; we think it necessary to direct, and do direct you to issue Orders to the Commanding Officers of the Battalions at the Stations nearest to Benares, to march immediately to that Place, and wait such further Orders as may hereafter be transmitted to them."

And in the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, of the 2d November, we find the following Letter from the Resident at Benares, dated the 18th October 1780.

D<sup>o</sup>.

" The Rajah has this Day given me Bills of Exchange on Gohud in Favour of Major Camac, for the Balance which remained due on account of his Subsidy, being Benares Sicca Rupees 2,50,000.

" I shall make a further Remittance to Major Camac in a few Days, of the whole Amount which I have received from the Rajah, in ready Money, on this Account."

Your Committee will now make the following Observations :

It is apparent, from the Letter of the 22d June, that the Governor General did not then place his Reliance upon the Payments to be made by the Rajah, for the future Support of Major Camac's Detachment in the Province of Malva, because he directed the Resident at Benares to remit the Amount of such Payment to Calcutta; and in Obedience to this Order, on the 10th August the Resident actually remitted One hundred thousand Rupees to Calcutta.

It appears, that a Letter from Rajah Cheyt Sing, transmitted by the Resident, was received at Calcutta by the Governor General on the 21st August; and the Rajah had declared to the Resident; his Determination not to make any further Payment until he received an Answer to that Letter. At that Period, Delay of Remittance did not appear to be a Crime of such great Magnitude; since the Governor General was in Possession of this Letter Sixteen Days previous to his laying it before the Council, which was on the 7th September: Then, for the first Time, the Resident at Benares received Orders to supply Major Camac's Detachment. And here Your Committee must remark, that if the Rajah had paid the whole Sum, according to what the Governor General in his Narrative states to have been the Rajah's Engagement, or even the remaining Balance, all the Money so paid, according to the existing Orders of the Governor General and Council, ought to have been remitted to Calcutta, until the Orders of the 22d June were countermanded by the Receipt of those of the 7th September.

Yet, although the Resident had on the 27th September received Half the Amount of the extra Aid, he had not then made any Remittance to Major Camac; but he was treating with the Shroffs, or Bankers, and had Hopes to obtain Bills for the whole Amount.

On the 18th October he had received from the Rajah, Bills of Exchange on Gohud for the Balance of the Subsidy, being 2,50,000 Rupees; and in the same Letter he writes to the Council, that he shall make a further Remittance to Major Camac of the whole Amount which he had received from the Rajah, in ready Money, on that Account (the Subsidy).

From this Letter it is evident, that Cheyt Sing paid at Benares the Balance of his Subsidy the Day before the Order passed in Council at Calcutta to enforce the Payment of it by the March of Two Battalions of Sepoys. And Your Committee must observe, notwithstanding what is stated in the Governor General's Narrative, that it does clearly appear the Rajah was not compelled to Obedience by any Constraint, as in the preceding Year, when Two Battalions of Sepoys actually enforced Obedience to the Orders of the Council.

was countermanded on 2d Nov. 1780.

There is no Record at the India House to prove the precise Time when Major Camac began his March to Malva, nor of his Arrival at Gohud: But the Instructions from the Governor General and Council to Major Camac are not dated till the 20th July 1780; his Detachment was then to be formed from the Army at Cawnpoor, more than Eight hundred Miles from Calcutta; and he was then to proceed without Loss of Time.

Your Committee observe, that Cheyt Sing, in his Answer to the Governor General's Letter, sent to him previous to his Arrest, declares, that the remitting the Money to Major Camac's Army did not depend on him; if any Delay happened on this Head he could not help it; and if, besides the Payment of the Money, the Remittance of it also to the Army had rested with him, a Delay of that Kind should not have happened: And the Records of the Company confirm the Truth of this Assertion, as far as relates to the Remittance. The Payment only depended on him, the Remittance on the Resident. And here Your Committee must remark, it does not appear to them that the Mistortunes, whatever they were, attending Lieutenant Colonel Camac's Detachment, ought by any Means to have been imputed to Cheyt Sing; because it appears that the Resident at Benares had not, even on the 18th October, remitted to Colonel Camac the ready Money which he had actually received from the Rajah on Account of the Subsidy; although it appears, from the Governor General's Narrative, that before the End of September the Rajah had paid, besides the Lack of Rupees sent to Calcutta, 1,50,000 Rupees to the Resident.

Vide the Gov. General's Narrative,
Appendix, No 1. Q

Your Committee must observe, that it appears to them somewhat singular, that on a Point of so much Importance as fixing a proper Fund for the due and regular Payment of Troops appointed to march upon Foreign Service, the Governor General, if he was resolved that the Payment of Major Camac's Detachment should at all Events depend on the Rajah of Benares, did not direct the Resident to make Remittances from the fixed Tribute, which for many Years had been so constantly and so regularly paid, rather than prefer a Fund, the Payment of which had always been objected to; and which had, on a former Occasion, been enforced by Military Execution.

It is impossible to assign any Reason for preferring the uncertain to the certain Fund, since we find that both Funds were equally included in the General Estimate of the Resources for the Service of the current Year, unless, indeed, that of Anticipation. The Tribute could not be demanded until due. The extraordinary Aid being in itself arbitrary, the Time of Payment was equally so: But if this Expedition was a necessary Measure, surely the Payment of the Troops which composed it, ought not to have depended on a precarious Source of Supply.

Your Committee observe indeed, that on the 19th December, the Remittance from the regular Tribute was ordered, by a Letter from the Governor General and Council to the Resident at Benares*.

That the first Mode of Supply from Benares was not only disadvantageous in Point of Remittance, but detrimental to the Province, by the Export of so much of its Currency, is evident from the following Letter from Lieutenant Colonel Camac to the Governor General and Council, dated, Camp near Norva, 30th December 1780.

" Accompanying, I have the Honour to send you an Estimate of the Monthly Expence and Arrears due to my Detachment, to the 1st January 1781, amounting to C. R' 2,89,726. 0. 7.
" As the Company have sustained great Loss by the Mode of Supply, in remitting Money for the Payment of the Troops from Benares; and it being likewise very detrimental to the Country, to transfer such large Sums irrevocably from our Provinces; I beg Leave to request your Permission to draw upon the Company's Treasury occasionally; which will, in some Measure, remove those Evils: And I am of Opinion, from the unsettled State of the Country, that many of the Inhabitants will be glad of such an Opportunity of remitting their Money to Places in the Company's Territory of greater Security."

On the 16th January 1781, the Governor General and Council adopt Lieutenant Colonel Camac's Proposition, and write him as follows:

" We have received the Letter which you have written to us, under Date 30th ultimo, accompanied by an Estimate of the Monthly Expence and Arrears due to the Detachment under your Command to the 1st Instant.

" We approve of the Proposal which you make to us for occasional Draughts upon the Company's Treasury to supply the Pay of your Detachment, and accordingly empower you to draw on us for such Sums as you may require, and be able to obtain for Bills at a reasonable Rate of Exchange. We desire that you will inform us, for our final Determination and Orders on the Subject, at what Rate the Exchange can be fixed; and assure you, that such Bills as you may draw upon us in the mean Time will be duly answered. This Mode of Supply having been resolved on, we have revoked the Orders sent to the Resident at Benares, for a Remittance to you of the Sums which he might receive from the Rajah in Discharge of his Tribute, instead of remitting them as usual to the Presidency."

And on the same Day they write the following Letter to the Resident at Benares:

" Having lately resolved on a Mode of Supply to the Detachment of Troops commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Camac, which makes a Remittance to him from Benares, of such Monthly Gifts of Tribute as you may receive from the Rajah, unnecessary, we revoke the Orders which were sent to the Resident for this Purpose on the 19th ultimo, and direct that the Gifts of Tribute be again regularly transmitted to the Presidency, as usual, by Bills of Exchange."

From this State of the Case, drawn from the actual Records of the Company, the House will judge how far Cheyt Sing can or ought to be considered as responsible for the Calamities of Major Camac's Detachment.

Vide Narrative I.
Vide 2d Report,
Page 47.

The Governor General's second and direct Charge against the Rajah is, that " on the 2d November 1780, a Resolution passed the Board, that a Letter should be written to the Nabob Vizier, advising him to require from the Nabob, Feyz Oolla Cawn, the Number of Troops stipulated by Treaty, expressed, as they were then understood, to be 5,000 Horse; and that the like Demand should be made on Rajah Cheyt Sing, for all the Cavalry in his Pay, which he could spare for our Service. At that Time we stood in Need of every Aid that could be devised, to repel the multiplied Dangers which surrounded us; the Rajah was supposed to maintain a very large and expensive Force; and the Strength of his Cavalry alone was estimated at Two thousand. I had formerly experienced their Utility in the War with the Sincassies, in which they were successfully employed, and liberally rewarded. The Demand was formally made, both in a Letter from myself, and in Person by the Resident Mr. Fowke, in the easy and indefinite Terms mentioned above. His Answers were evasive, pleading, as I recollect, for I am not in Possession of them, the Scantiness of the Establishment, its Employment in enforcing the Collections, and the Danger of those failing, if the Detachments were withdrawn. At length a more peremptory Order was sent to him, and repeated by the present Resident Mr. Markham. The Number required was 2,000, and afterwards reduced to the Demand of 1,500, and lastly to 1,000, but with no more Success. He offered 250, but furnished none."

Vide 2d Select Report,

Your Committee cannot but observe, That on the very same Day in which the Letter from the Resident at Benares is read at the Council at Calcutta, advising, that the Rajah had actually paid the full Amount of the extraordinary Aid, which had been so peremptorily required, the Council General, as if determined to have an Object of Discussion subsisting with Cheyt Sing, make a new Claim on the Rajah, by a Resolution, That the following Letter be written to the Resident at Benares; viz.

" On the Receipt of the Intimation conveyed to us in your Letter of the 18th ultimo, Orders

* By some Mistake, the Book of Consultations of the 19th December 1780 is mislaid, so that this Letter cannot be entered in the Appendix; but the Confirmation that such a Letter exists, will appear by Reference to the Governor General and Council's Letter of the 16th January 1781, to the Resident, where they revoke their former Order of Remittance from the regular Tribute to Lieutenant Colonel Camac, and order the Money to be sent by Bills of Exchange to Calcutta.

“ were issued to countermand the March of the Troops which were appointed to proceed to Benares, in consequence of the Delays used by the Rajah in the Payment of his Subsidy.

“ Deeming it just and proper that the Rajah should be desired to afford every Assistance in his Power to this Government, to whose Protection and Support he owes all that he possesses, the Governor General has been requested to write to him, requiring him to furnish such Part of the Cavalry entertained in his Employ as he can spare for the Service of the Company; but as some Jealousy and Apprehension may arise in the Rajah's Mind, that this Aid may be converted to a permanent Imposition on him, we think it necessary that such Fears should be obviated, and direct you, therefore, to assure him, that we shall require the Services of this Force no longer than during the Continuance of the present War, after which it will certainly be returned.”

And it is also resolved to write to Cheyt Sing, “ Requiring him to furnish such Part of the Cavalry entertained in his Service as he can spare, for the Service of this Government; and to inform the Governor General what Number he can supply.”

Vide 2d Select Report,
Page 48.

The Rajah asserts, that he sent an Answer to this Letter, containing a particular Account of all that were in his Service, amounting to 1,200 Horse, of which several were stationed at different Places; and he adds, that to this Letter he received no Answer—that Mr. Markham delivered him an Order to prepare a Thousand Horse—that in Compliance to the Governor General's Wishes, he collected Five hundred Horse, and as a Substitute for the Remainder, Five Hundred Burgundosses, of which he sent him Information; and that he told Mr. Markham they were ready to go to whatever Place they should be sent to—that no Answer came from the Governor General on this Head; and that the Rajah was astonished at the Cause of it—that he had repeatedly asked Mr. Markham for an Answer to his Letter about the Horse, but was told by him, that he did not know the Reason why no Answer had been sent—that the Rajah remained astonished—that with respect to the Sepoys, he received first an Order to station Two of his Companies, which he did—that he was then desired to give a Tunkaw for the Payment of the Sepoys, and likewise to pay the Captain; which was done every Month.

Do, Page 49.
Vide also Narrative R.

Your Committee are of Opinion, that the Rajah appears to have given a full and direct Answer to every Point of this Charge; and Your Committee must suppose the Answers to be true, because Reference is made to Mr. Markham, then on the Spot, and who was the official Person employed by the Governor General in his Intercourse with the Rajah. If these Answers had not been well founded, the Governor General certainly would have called upon Mr. Markham to contradict them; but they stand uncontradicted.

As the Governor General has neither stated nor described the multiplied Dangers which surrounded Bengal at the Time this Demand was made, Your Committee have no Document before them which proves that Bengal did stand in Need of every Aid that could be devised to repel these multiplied Dangers. On the contrary, they observe that Seven Days before the Date of this Letter, the Governor General and Council agree, that a Detachment of Six Battalions of Sepoys and One Company of Artillery should march by Land to Fort Saint George; a Distance of more than Nine hundred Miles from Calcutta, and which Detachment did actually march. About the same Time they observe that Major Camac, with Four other Battalions and proper Artillery, was employed, not in the Defence of our own Frontiers, but upon an Incursion into the Maratta Territories, belonging to Madajee Scindia, some hundred Miles distant from either of the Provinces of Bengal or Oude.

Appendix, No 6.
Bengal Secret Conf.
3d and 26th Oct. 1780.

Your Committee will now lay before the House, Extracts from the Company's Records, to shew that this Demand of Cavalry from Cheyt Sing was so far from being a justifiable Demand on him, the Non-compliance with which ought to be considered as an Act of Delinquency, that it will appear to be a Demand unjustifiable in the Governor General to make, because it was contrary to a formal Resolution of the Council General, founded upon the most just and equitable Principles, and in which Resolution the Governor General himself had concurred.

The 12th June 1775, the Governor General proposes, “ that the Rajah, for certain Concessions, and as a Vassal of the Company, shall engage to maintain in constant Pay, and ready at all Times for immediate Service, a Body of Two thousand Horse, on such fixed Establishment as shall be prescribed by the Governor General and Council, and consigned to the Command of such Officers as they shall appoint;” and that the Rajah shall be allowed from the Company an additional Pay or Gratuity of Fifteen Rupees per Month for each private Man, and in Proportion for the Officers of the said Corps, during the Time of such Service.

Appendix, No 7.

In his Remarks upon this Proposition, he says, “ he rather proposes it for Consideration than recommends it—such a Body of well-disciplined and well-appointed Cavalry will give Credit to the Rajah and prove serviceable to this Government, though the Occasions will rarely happen in which we shall want it; the additional Pay will make them our own, when we do want them, and will be no great Expence.”

In the Fifth Article, the Governor General also proposes, “ that while the Rajah shall continue faithful to these Engagements, and punctual in his Payments, and shall pay due Obedience to the Authority of this Government, no more Demands shall be made on him by the Honourable Company of any Kind, on any Pretence whatsoever, nor shall any Person be allowed to interfere with his Authority, or to disturb the Peace of his Country.”

Your Committee particularly request the Attention of the House to the Governor General's own Illustration of this Proposition. He says “ that the voluntary Restraint laid by the Government on its

" Its own Actions, will afford the Rajah the greatest Confidence, and naturally inspire him with Sentiments of Fidelity and Attachment, both from the Principles of Gratitude and Self-interest. Without some such Appearance he will expect, with every Change of Government, additional Demands to be made upon him, and will of course descend to all the Arts of Intrigue and Concealment practised by other dependant Rajahs, which will keep him indigent and weak, and eventually prove hurtful to the Company. By proper Encouragement and Protection he may prove a profitable Dependant, an useful Barrier, and even a powerful Ally to the Company; but he will be neither, if the Conditions of his Connections with the Company are left open to future Variations."

Vide the above
Appendix.

On the 5th July the Governor General's Minute and Plan proposed for a Settlement with Rajah Cheyt Sing, for the Countries lately ceded by the Nabob, were taken into Consideration by the Council General. The Opinions of the several Members, relative to the keeping up a Body of Horse, are recorded as follows.

Mr. Francis,

" I object to our compelling the Rajah to keep up an extraordinary Force for our Service, considering it in effect as an Increase of the Tribute, which is contrary to the Principles which have guided my Judgment from the first Onset of this Negotiation. I have no Objection however to its being made an Article of Agreement with him, that he shall either put the Troops, which he now keeps, upon a better Footing in Point of Discipline, or disband them, and raise an equal Number in their Stead. What will be the best Method of making such Troops useful, or whether Cavalry should be preferred to Infantry, are Military Points, of which I do not pretend to judge. I understand that there are local Objections to the Utility of Cavalry in the Rajah's Country."

Mr. Barwell,

" I am of Opinion, that the Rajah should keep up such a Body of Forces; but entertain the same Sentiments as Mr. Francis respecting it being an Enhancement of his Tribute, and of any Degree of Compulsion to induce him to it."

Colonel Monson,

" I am of Opinion, the Company should receive the Rajah's Assistance on the same Terms he gave it to the Vizier, or the present Nabob. Cavalry, I understand, is an improper Force for this Country, which is bounded on the North by the (River) Gogra, on the South by the Mountains, on the West by Azoph ul Dowlah's Territories, and on the East by Bahar; the Extent Westward, from North to South, is not above Fifty or Sixty Cos, which is watered by Four Rivers; the Gogra, the Gumpty, the Saye, and the Ganges, intersected by many very considerable Nullahs (Creeks) and otherwise strengthened by Woods, Inclosures, and Villages; that Part of the West of the Frontier, from the Gumpty to the Ganges, is almost an entire Jungle (Wood), inhabited by Robbers. There is no Ground in the Country, or its Environs, North, West or South, for some Distance, free from Mountains, Nullahs, Topes, Brushwood or Jungle, Inclosures or Villages. I therefore think Infantry a more proper Force for this Country; but if the Rajah should be required to keep Cavalry more for the Defence of these Provinces than his own, they should be officered and disciplined in the European Manner."

General Clavering,

" I understand that the Rajah does . . . keep up a large Body of Cavalry, and that Five hundred of these, which assisted under the Command of the Captain of the Governor's Guard on the Conquest of the Rohilla Country, were absolutely useless, by their total want of Discipline, when they took the Field, but improved during the Campaign.—I would not compel the Rajah to keep up any Troops, but I would recommend it to him to maintain the Number which the Governor General has proposed for his and our Assistance; and as the Country of Bahar is open, where Cavalry may always act with great Advantage, and as the Company does not maintain any, I think it should be recommended to the Rajah to appoint some English Officers to discipline and command his Troops, by the Means of which great Benefit may be derived from them in case of a War with the Marattas."

Governor General,

" The Accounts which have been given to me of the Zemindary of Benares differ very much from Colonel Monson's Description of it, and represent it as open, perfectly well cultivated, and but little intersected with Rivers. The Gogra forms the Boundary of one Part of it, and the other Rivers are very inconsiderable; all these lie to the North of the Ganges. On the South Side I do not remember one—It is on this Side that Provision should be made for its Defence, as it is liable to Invasion on the other from no Quarter but the Province of Oude—It was far from my Intention to propose this or any other Article to be imposed on the Rajah by Compulsion; I do not conceive that he would object to this, but am willing to yield my Opinion of the Propriety of such an Establishment to the General and Colonel Monson, who from their Experience must be the most competent Judges—I only proposed it as an Article of Speculation."

The Council General then came to the following Resolution :
That it be recommended to Rajah Cheyt Sing, to keep up a Body of Two thousand Cavalry, to be disciplined after the European Manner, but that there be no Obligation on him to do it.

Read the 5th Article.

Approved the Proposal in this Article:

Thus it appears, that in 1775, when the Sovereignty of Benares was first ceded to the Company, the Council General took into Consideration the Terms on which they should confirm Cheyt Sing in his Government. The Governor General then proposed, that the Rajah should furnish Two thousand Horse, upon certain Conditions. The Council debated on this Proposition; several of the Members declared they did not mean to increase his Tribute, which would be done by such a Resolution—a Negative was given to the Proposition.—The Governor General, in his Minute on this Occasion, said, “it was far from his Intentions to propose this or any other Article to be imposed on the Rajah by Compulsion.”—In 1781 a peremptory Demand is made of Two thousand Horse from the Rajah, as if it had been an Article of Treaty that he was bound to perform. The Rajah's Answer to the Governor General's Letter on this Subject appears in the Appendix, and shews no Unwillingness to comply with the Demand, as far as he can with Convenience to the Collection of his own Revenues. It is somewhat singular, that the Governor General declares in 1775, that he did not mean to impose this Demand of Cavalry on the Rajah by Compulsion; and yet, in 1781, his not complying with this Demand is considered as such an Act of Delinquency, as to form one of the Two direct Charges of Culpability and Guilt, and for the Pardon of which he was to pay largely, or a severe Vengeance was to be exacted for his Delinquency.

Vide Appendix,
 No 1.
 Govr. General's Narrative R.

As both the Governor General and Cheyt Sing have referred to their different Letters concerning this Demand of Cavalry, Your Committee directed the proper Officer of the India Company to lay not only that Correspondence before Your Committee, but the Letters which passed betwixt the Governor General and Mr. Markham, the Resident at Benares, on this Subject. By the Letter of Mr. Michell, Secretary to the India Company, of the 27th May 1783, it appears, that no Part of this material Correspondence has yet been received by the Company.

Vide Appendix,
 No 8.

Your Committee have now not only stated the direct Charges made by the Governor General against Cheyt Sing, but they have laid before the House Materials upon which the House will be enabled to form an Opinion whether those Charges are well or ill founded.

In the Second Report, delivered from this Committee in the last Session of Parliament (to which they consider this as a Supplement) and from the preceding Part of this Report, the House will be competent to form a true Judgment of the Relation in which Cheyt Sing stood as a Tributary to the Company.

It is impossible to select Words more forcible to express that Relation, than those used by the Governor General when he described Cheyt Sing's Situation, and the Obligation thereby imposed on the Bengal Government to grant him Protection.

4th October 1773.
 Vide 2d Select Report,

In his Report to the Council he declares, “I am well convinced that the Rajah's Inheritance, and perhaps his Life, are no longer safe than while he enjoys the Company's Protection, which is his Due by the Ties of Justice and the Obligations of public Faith, and which Policy enjoins us to afford him ever most effectually: His Country is a strong Barrier to ours, without subjecting us to any Expence; and we may depend upon him as a sure Ally, whenever we may stand in Need of his Services.”

And here it may be necessary to state the peculiar Privileges which the Zemindar of Benares enjoyed since the Treaty of 1765. He was to pay a stipulated Tribute at fixed and stated Times of Payment; but the Tribute could not be increased during the Life of the Zemindar, nor demanded in Advance: He was not to render any Account of his Collections, nor was he allowed to make any Claim for Abatement or Deduction; and he presided over the Courts of civil and criminal Jurisdiction throughout the Provinces.

 1765, in 2d Select Report,

Your Committee will now proceed to observe on the Deliberations which produced the Treaty of 1775, and then they will examine whether this Treaty made any Alteration whatsoever in the fixed, acknowledged, and established Rights of Cheyt Sing.

Mr. Francis, in his Opinion delivered in to the Council, and entered on the Secret Consultations of the 13th of February 1775, says, “The Zemindary of Benares to be made dependant as a Fief on the united Kingdoms of Bengal and Bahar, and the Tribute lately paid by the Rajah to the Vizier to be paid to this Government.

Vide 2d Select Report,

“The present Rajah of Benares to be confirmed in the Zemindary, which may be perpetuated in his Family under a fixed Annual Tribute and a fixed Fine at each future Investiture; a free Trade to be opened between these Provinces and his Country; the Rajah's Authority in his own Government to be left full and uncontrolled.”

Mr. Barwell in his Minute says, “The Independency of Gazipoor and Oude, is a most political Object, and ought to be insisted on; and whatever may be resolved respecting the Revenue paid by the Rajah of that Country, the English Government ought not to stand in the same Relation to it as the late Vizier, because the Country of Benares and Gazipoor is a natural Barrier to these Provinces, and the Rajah should have the strongest Tie of Interest to support our Government in case of any future Rupture with the Soubab of Oude.

" Instant he becomes its Tributary, from that Moment we may expect him to side against us, and, by taking Advantage of the Troubles and Commotions that may arise, attempt to disburden himself of his pecuniary Obligations."

Mr. Monson, in his Opinion, says, " For this Service done to the Nabob, we should require, that Cheyt Sing's Zemindary be annexed to the Soubahdarry of Bengal, or Bahar, or to both."

General Clavering, in his Opinion, says, " The greatest Advantage, in my Conception, that can be obtained for the Company is, First, the total Extinction of the King's Claim to the Tribute on these Provinces; Secondly, that the Zemindary of Benares and Gazipoor shall be held by Cheyt Sing of the Company instead of the Soubah of Oude. To obtain the first, it should be proposed to the King, that he should renounce his Tribute on these Provinces; that he should acknowledge the Nabob of Oude to be Soubah of that Country, and should appoint him Vizier.

" In return for this Favour we should restore to him the Countries of Corah and Allahabad; the Nabob, in return to the Favour shewn to him, and procured by our Mediation, should relinquish to the Company the Sovereignty of Benares and Gazipoor, to be held, as at present, by Cheyt Sing, on his paying his Tribute to the Company. In order to attach this Rajah to the Company, his Tribute ought to be diminished at least Three Lacks of Rupees."

The Governor General, in his Minute, makes the following Propositions, and adds the following Remarks on them,

2d. " That the perpetual and independent Possession of the Zemindary of Benares and its Dependencies, be confirmed and guaranteed to Rajah Cheyt Sing and his Heirs for ever, subject only to the Annual Payment of the Revenues hitherto paid to the late Vizier, amounting to Benares Rs Rupees 23,71,656. 12. to be disposed of as expressed in the following Article; that no other Demand be made upon him, either by the Nabob of Oude, or this Government, nor any Kind of Authority or Jurisdiction exercised by either within the Dominions assigned him."

" The Rajah of Benares, from the Situation of his Country, which is a Frontier both to the Provinces of Oude and Bahar, may be made a serviceable Ally to the Company whenever their Affairs shall require it. He has always been considered in this Light both by the Company and the successive Members of the late Council; but to insure his Attachment to the Company, his Interest must be connected with it, which cannot be better effected, than by freeing him totally from the Remains of his present Vassalage, under the Guarantee and Protection of the Company, and at the same Time guarding him against any Apprehensions from this Government, by thus pledging its Faith, that no Encroachments shall ever be made on his Rights by the Company."

3d. That an equal Partition be made of the Revenue of the Zemindary of Benares between the Company and the Nabob of Oude; (that is to say,) That the Rajah shall pay Monthly to each the Sum of 98,823. 2. 9. amounting on the Whole to Rupees 23,71,656. 12. and that this Participation be expressly declared to be intended as a Pledge and Acknowledgment of the equal Relation in which the Rajah and his Successors are hereafter to stand to both Governments."

" I propose this Article with some Reluctance, as contrary to my Idea of the Right of the Nabob of Oude, in virtue of the Treaty originally formed between his Father and the Company; but it is conformable to the Principle adopted by the Board in the Resolution passed this Morning, and may perhaps be obtained without much Opposition from the Nabob, at the same Time that it contributes to fix the Independency of the Zemindary of Benares on the most permanent Foundation."

Although the Governor General's Propositions did not exclusively form the Basis of the Treaty with Azoph-ul-Dowlah, yet they remain an undeniable Proof of his Opinion in 1775, that the perpetual and independent Possession of the Zemindary of Benares, and its Dependencies, should be confirmed and guaranteed to Cheyt Sing and his Heirs for ever, subject only to the Annual Payment of the Revenues hitherto paid to the late Vizier.

It appears, that Mr. Bristow was the English Resident at Oude, and concluded the Treaty, in consequence of Instructions transmitted to him by the Governor General and Council. Nothing can more fully describe the Power and Independence of Cheyt Sing, nor the Sense they entertained of that Power and Independence, than the following Article of the Instructions above-mentioned.

" But as in the Case of a Defensive Treaty between the Company and the Nabob, and that they should take upon them the Guarantee of any Part of his Dominions, it is fit they should reap an Advantage from it equivalent to the Service which they are to render him, and to the Hazard which they take upon themselves; you will therefore give the Nabob to understand, that such Equivalent is to be expected from him; and you will throw out in your first Conversation with him on the Subject, that you have Reason to believe, if he were to relinquish and make over to them for ever the Tribute which he receives from the Rajah Cheyt Sing, together with the Sovereignty of the Province possessed by that Rajah, it would be accepted as a full Compensation for the Protection they would agree to afford him; that thus yielding up to his best Friends a Tribute which bears a small Proportion to his other Revenues, it would better enable them to “ afford a solid and effectual Protection to the rest, and at the same Time encroach little on his real Dominion as a Sovereign Prince, since it would only be his relinquishing the nominal Authority over a Province, where he hardly at present exercises any.”

The House will perceive, that nothing was then more remote from the Intentions of each Individual of the Council General, than any Attempts to infringe the Rights of Cheyt Sing: Divided as they were in Council upon all other Points, and even divided in Opinion concerning this very Treaty; yet so far as relates to Cheyt Sing, they were unanimous in their Expressions of Good-will towards him, and of the Policy of making him an useful Ally.

Your Committee observe, That on the 3d of August 1775, the Governor General and Council inform the Court of Directors of the Conclusion of the Treaty with Azoph-ul-Dowlah, as follows:

“ The Cession of Benares, and the other Territories of Rajah Cheyt Sing, to the Company, we flatter ourselves will prove perfectly agreeable to your Ideas, as it conveys a valuable Acquisition to the Company without encumbering them with any new Engagements, or loading them with any additional Expence; nor indeed is it liable to the Objection of involving them in the Trouble of new Collections and new Establishments, with all the Disorders which attend them: The Revenue which accrues from this Acquisition amounts to Rupees 23,72,656. 12. and will be paid by the Rajah in Monthly Payments as a neat Tribute, without rendering any Account of his Collections, or being allowed to enter any Claim for Deductions.”

And in the Sunnud which the Governor General and Council granted to Cheyt Sing on the 15th of April 1776, no Stipulation was made to bind him to send a Body of Horse to our Assistance whenever required: In short, no new Stipulation whatsoever was made; but there were Rights to a very considerable Amount, appertaining to the Soubah of Oude, which the Council General, for the Reasons assigned by them, surrendered to the Rajah without any Compensation; these were the Profits of the Mint and of the Cutwallees. The Rajah was also allowed £. 2 per Cent. for remitting his Tribute to Calcutta, whenever it was required to be sent thither. From this Detail it appears, that Cheyt Sing was a considerable Gainer by his new Sunnud; he was now to pay that Tribute to the Company which he before paid under certain Conditions to the Subah of Oude: Whilst he was the Zemindar of that Subah, and regularly made his Payments, he was intitled to the Guarantee and Protection of the British Government; so that it is evident that the Transfer of the Sovereignty from Azoph-ul-Dowlah to the Company, made no Alteration in the actual Rights of Cheyt Sing.

The Force and Effect of that Guarantee is best explained by a Review of Mr. Hastings's Conduct in 1773. At that Period Mr. Hastings resisted an Application, made in very earnest Terms by the Vizier, to dispossess Cheyt Sing of his Forts of Bidjegur and Lutytspoor, and to take from him Ten Lacks of Rupees, over and above his stipulated Rents; and Sujah Dowlah seemed greatly dissatisfied at the Governor General's Refusal. At that Time the Rajah appeared to possess certain Rights, which were on no Account to be invaded. The Governor General tells him, “ if he paid the established Rents to the Vizier, the Company would always attend to his Welfare, and afford him their Care and Protection; and in the Agreement before mentioned, there shall never be any Breach or Deviation.”

This Fact is important; whilst Cheyt Sing was Tributary to the Nabob of Oude, and paid him regularly his Rents, the Guarantee of the English was to protect him in all his Rights, and did actually protect him against the avaricious Attempts of Sujah Dowlah. When the Provinces of Benares and Gazipoor were ceded to the Company by the Successor of Sujah Dowlah, your Committee would have expected, that the same Principles, namely, the Preservation of the Honour and good Faith of the Nation, which had protected Cheyt Sing against the unjust Demands of his Mahomedan Lord, would have operated with still more Force upon those to whom the national Faith and Honour of this Country were intrusted: And

Your Committee cannot help thinking, that if the Company's Protection was his Due by the Ties of Justice, and the Obligations of public Faith, in 1773, as stated by the Governor General, that those Ties and those Obligations were no less his Due in 1781; they cannot help thinking, that if the Governor General was commendable in 1773, for resisting every Proposition of the Vizier to dispossess Cheyt Sing of his Fortresses, or to extort Money from him beyond his stipulated Rent, that he was highly culpable in 1781, when he departed from those Ties of Justice, and those Obligations of public Faith, in order to exact Money from him, under the Pretence of making him pay largely for his Pardon, or of exacting a severe Vengeance for past Delinquency.

The Governor General, in his Narrative, states, “ those who have been accustomed to regard Cheyt Sing as a Vassal or Tributary Prince, may revolt at the Idea of treating him with such Indignity, and call it an Oppression; they will suppose nothing to be due from him to the Company, but the Payment of his stipulated Tribute, and that the Pledge of his Exemption from every other Claim.—I suspect too, that the Deeds which passed between him and the Board, on the Transfer of his Zemindarry to the Company in 1775, are by many understood to bear the Quality and Force of a Treaty of optional Conditions between equal States.—He paid no Tribute to the Company, but a fixed Annual Rent.”

Your Committee are of Opinion, that unless Cheyt Sing had forfeited all the Rights he enjoyed from our Guarantee, when the Sovereignty of his Country was transferred by Treaty from the Nabob Azoph ul Dowlah to the Company, that the Payment of his stipulated Tribute was a Pledge from every other Exemption; and the Governor General entertained the same Opinion, when Rajah Cheyt Sing was the Zemindar of Sujah Dowlah. Now he says, but “ if the Company, possessing the ac-

"known Right of his former Sovereign, held an absolute Authority over him." Your Committee will not admit, that his former Sovereign did possess an absolute Authority over him; the British Government stood betwixt Cheyt Sing and the Soubah of Oude; and it appears beyond Contradiction, that his former Sovereign did not possess such an Authority. Sujah Dowlah wished to increase his stipulated Rents, he was solicitous to take his Forts; but here the Guarantee put in a Negative; he could not even compel the Payment of his Tribute in advance; or, indeed, until it became actually due. And Your Committee think it a great Aggravation of a Breach of public Faith, that the Governor General should, when he was the Representative of the Sovereign Power, do that which he had himself declared to be so highly improper, and which he would not permit to be done, when he was but the Representative of that Power which guaranteed Cheyt Sing in his Possessions.

Your Committee conceive the Justice of Parliament will expect, that when a Man of high Birth, Rank, and of ancient Family, possessing all the Rights of Sovereignty but the Name, over a well-cultivated and populous Country, is deprived, after many Years peaceable Possession, of his Country and his Wealth, that some very solid and substantial Reasons be shewn, to prove such an Exertion of Authority did proceed from Causes of great, momentous, and important Nature, such as regarded the Safety of the State. They will naturally expect, that a Rajah, who had regularly paid a Tribute, exceeding £. 250,000 a Year, if any Crimes were imputed to him, was justly entitled to have a sober and dispassionate Hearing of his Case, before any Resolution was taken to exact Money from, or otherwise to oppress him.

It is evident, that Measures of determined Severity had been adopted by the Governor General before he left Calcutta, and that he had formed his Plan of future Proceedings against the Rajah upon that Principle.—Cheyt Sing manifested his Obedience to the Governor General, by his personal Attendance to receive him on the Frontier of his Country. The Governor General says, "that he had paid him (this) the customary Duty of Respect:" But he adds, that "he brought with him a great Fleet of Boats, which, as I afterwards learned, were crowded with Two thousand armed and chosen Men."

Your Committee must observe, that this Fleet of Boats did not appear, at the Time the Rajah met the Governor, a Matter of Alarm, scarcely of any Notice; but was since magnified into Importance by succeeding Events; and for Proof on this Point, Your Committee refer to the Evidence of Mr. Sumner, who attended the Governor General on his Expedition.—And here Your Committee must remark to the House, that the Rajah's Visit to the Governor was a Public Testimony given by him of his Reliance on the good Faith of our Nation. He thought his Person secure from Restraint under the Sanction of that good Faith, which ought not to have been violated; for Cheyt Sing not having the same Reliance on the Nabob Sujah Dowlah, could never be prevailed on to put himself in the Power of the late Vizier, and consequently did not accept an Invitation to his Court, even on the very important Occasion of celebrating the Marriage of his eldest Son, the present Vizier. The next Day Rajah Cheyt Sing had a private Audience of the Governor, in which he professed much Concern at his Displeasure, and Contrition for having given Cause for it, with Assurances that his Zemindary and all that he possessed were at his Devotion; and he accompanied his Words by an Action strongly expressive of the Agitation of his Mind, or of his Desire to impress on the Governor General's a Conviction of his Sincerity; he laid his Turban on the Governor General's Lap—Your Committee understand that the Inferior denotes by this Action, that his Honour is supposed to be at the Disposal of the Superior. — But neither this Mark of profound Submission and Obedience, nor his Acknowledgments of past Errors and Promises of future Behaviour, had any Effect upon the Governor General; he was inflexible; and the Governor General assigns his Reasons, by saying, "As the preceding Conversation was accidental, and made no Part of the Plan which I had concerted in my own Mind for my Conduct with the Rajah, I kept no Minutes of it, nor should have thought it deserving a Place in this Narrative, but for the Weight which he has since given it; and that it might be imputed to me as a designed Suppression, if I made no Mention of it."

When the Governor General arrived at Benares, the Rajah was not permitted to visit him that Evening, and he was required to defer his future Visits until Permission should be granted to him. Such an Order given to him, and in his own Capital, degraded him in the Eyes of all his Subjects; yet Your Committee observe nothing but Submission; and when the Governor sent Mr. Markham to put him in Arrest, he submitted quietly to that Arrest, and wrote a Letter to the Governor General, which indicates the most perfect Obedience—in which he says, "At this Time Mr. William Markham being come to me, has informed me, that your Highness's Orders are, that I should remain under a Guard. My Protector! I before represented to you on board the Pinnace, that I was the Servant of the honourable Sirkar (Government) and was ready from my Heart and Soul—Whatever may be your Pleasure, do it with your own Hands, I am your Slave. What Occasion can there be for this Guard?"

On the same Day he wrote another Letter to the Governor General, as follows: "I am the Servant of the Sirkar (Government) and am ready from my Heart and Soul in the Performance of your Orders, my Honour was bestowed on me by your Highness. It depends on you alone to take away, or not to take away, the Country out of my Hands. In case my Honour is not left me,

"how

“ how shall I be equal to the Business of the Sirkar ? Whoever, with his Hands in a supplicating Posture, is ready with his Life and Property, what Necessity can there be for him to be dealt with in this Way ?”

The Governor General in his Narrative states, That the apparent Despondency in which those Letters were written, made him think it necessary to give the Rajah some Encouragement ; and that he accordingly wrote him the following Answer.

Vide Narrative Y.

“ I have received your Two Arzees (Petitions) from the Hands of Mr. Markham, and understand their Contents. That Gentleman will wait on you in the Afternoon, and explain Particulars.—Let your Mind be at rest, and do not receive any Terror or Apprehension.”

To which the Rajah sent this Answer.

“ Your gracious Letter has been received, that made me acquainted with your Commands. Your Order, that in the Afternoon Mr. Markham will come to me, that I must not suffer any Apprehension to disturb me, but remain at Ease in my Mind. My Protector ! wherever you spread your Shadow over my Head, I am entirely free from Concern and Apprehension ; and whatever you, who are my Master, shall as such determine, will be right.”

The Governor General states, “ That he had prepared Mr. Markham's Second Instructions ; but before he could set out with them, Intelligence came, that large Bodies of armed Men had crossed the River from Ramnagur, and had proceeded to the Rajah's House. What follows is a Scene of such Horror, that it is with the greatest Reluctance I submit to the painful Duty of relating it.” For this Relation Your Committee refer to the Governor General's Narrative in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 1. A a.

The Governor General has stated, “ That these Instances of Contumacy and Disobedience (of Cheyt Sing's) criminal as they were in themselves, and aggravated by the extreme and known Distresses and Dangers of the superior State, to which he owed not only personal Fealty, but every voluntary Aid which all the Resources of his Zemindarry could contribute, appeared to me of less Consideration as such, than as they were Evidences of a deliberate and systematic Conduct, aiming at the total Subversion of the Authority of the Company, and the Erection of its own Independency on its Ruins ; this had been long and generally imputed to him,”

Your Committee must observe, that they cannot perceive the Justice of these Conclusions ; they do not comprehend, how a very short Delay in Payment of an extraordinary Assessment, the Demand not warranted by Treaty, or not complying with a Requisition of Cavalry, when he was not bound by Treaty to perform any such Requisition, can be construed into Evidence of a deliberate and systematic Conduct, aiming at the total Subversion of the Authority of the Company.

Your Committee can conceive these Circumstances to have happened, without any Design whatever in Cheyt Sing to give Umbrage to the Administration of Calcutta : And indeed, succeeding Events have clearly proved it. There is no Record of the Governor General to shew his Apprehensions of Danger from this systematic Conduct, before he went on his Expedition to the Upper Provinces. In his Instructions from the Council, no Doubts of the Rajah's Loyalty are expressed, nor no particular Powers are given to guard the State against the Effects of his supposed Ambition. The Governor General is indeed intrusted “ with full Power and Authority to form such Arrangements with the Rajah of Benares for the better Government and Management of his Zemindarry, and to perform such Acts for the Improvement of the Interest which the honourable Company possesses in it, as he shall think fit, and consonant to the Mutual and actual Engagements subsisting between the Company and the Rajah.”

Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 10.
The Governor General's Credentials.

Your Committee are inclined to believe, that the Governor General could not then entertain the most remote Suspicions of Cheyt Sing's Intentions to subvert the Authority of the Company, and to erect his own Independency on its Ruins ; they are justified in this Opinion, by observing that the Governor General had taken no Precautions to guard against the Perfidy, Treachery, or open Violence of this suspected Rebel. Had he then entertained those Sentiments which he has since expressed, his Conduct must have been the compleat reverse—instead of entering Cheyt Sing's Provinces with a slender Guard, and thereby putting himself at the Mercy of the Rajah, Prudence would have dictated to him, not to advance until an Army had been assembled sufficient at least for the Protection of his Person : And if he really did entertain any such Apprehensions, his Duty to his Country required these previous Measures to have been taken ; for the Governor General has stated, that if such a Stroke as that which he supposes had been struck, (his being cut off by Cheyt Sing's Troops) it would have been considered “ as decisive of the National Fate ; that every State around it would have started into Arms against us, and every Subject of its own Dominion would, according to their several Abilities, have become its Enemy ;” and the Fate of the British Empire in India was connected with the Safety of his Person.

Vide Narrative G.

D<sup>o</sup> C c.

Your Committee observe the Governor General residing, with his Guard of 5 or 600 Men, in Benares, the capital City of Cheyt Sing (whose standing Force has been represented by Mr. Hastings to be 7,690, and who in a few Days was at the Head of 22,000 Men) and there exercising, in the most extensive Degree, the Powers of his Office, in degrading and dishonouring the Rajah, who quietly submitted to the Disgrace.—If the Rajah had ever entertained Designs hostile and inimical to the Company, scarce any other Coincidence of Circumstances could have given such an Opportunity to him of effecting his Views, as that which now presented itself at Benares; for, according to the Governor General's Doctrine, he might, by one spirited Exertion, have not only freed himself from Confinement, but rendered himself independent of all future Controll. The Rajah's Conduct, on this trying and tempting Occasion, does not appear to have been that of an enterprizing Chief, impatient under the Exercise of any kind of Superiority over him, and therefore resolved to aim at Independence whenever the Means of Attainment were in his Power; on the contrary, his Object was to escape from Confinement, and then to fly to his Forts, for Safety to his Person.

Vide Appendix,
N<sup>o</sup> 4.

Notwithstanding the Governor General has supposed, (at a particular Period) that the Fate of the British Empire in India was connected with the Safety of his Person, Your Committee hope and believe, that the British Possessions in India are not held on so very precarious a Tenure as the Life of any Individual whatsoever, who happens to be immediately the first Member of the Government. The Powers of India, from their Intercourse with the Administration at Calcutta, are intimately acquainted with our Constitution, and the Nature of our Government, and of its respective Dependency on the Company, and on the Parliament. They consider the Governor General as the first Member of the State whilst he holds that Office, but that his Duration in it depends solely on the Orders of his Superiors in Europe. They are not ignorant, that if by any Accident his Life should be lost, or his Person made Captive, that until Orders shall arrive from England, all the Powers appertaining to the Office of Governor General would instantly, and of course, devolve on the next in Order of Succession; and that no Competition can arise concerning the Succession, since all the subordinate Ranks of the British Authority must transfer their Obedience, where by Law and Custom that Obedience was due; and that such is our Constitution, that the Death, Removal, or Captivity, of a Governor General, would make no other Difference in the Conduct of the National Affairs, than what would arise from the actual Difference of the Abilities or Integrity of him who made the Vacancy, and of him who succeeded to it.

This regular and established Mode of Succession to Power, so frequently confirmed by Practice, when opposed to the great Uncertainty of Succession amongst the Princes of India, has been a Matter of Admiration to the Natives of Indostan. There, Experience has frequently shown, that Succession to Government or Dominion neither depends upon hereditary Right, Priority of Birth, the Appointment of the late Possessor, the Election of the People, nor any other fixed or determinate Rule; but frequently on Points totally foreign and accidental. The actual Possession of the Treasury has frequently enabled a Competitor for Power to pay the Arrears of, or to bestow a Large sum upon, the Army; which Act has decided the Lot of Empire in his Favour, against all his Rivals for Dominion. The Death of a Soubah, Nabob, or Maha Rajah, opens a Field of Contention to different Interests, often betwixt Brother and Brother, Uncle and Nephew, or the several Chiefs of the Army; and these again opposed or supported by the Intrigues of the Seraglio; that to the Variety of Hopes and Expectations occasioned by such an Event, we may principally ascribe the frequent Murders and Assassinations in the Eastern World, while it has been seen, that the Fate of a Battle, or the Loss of an Empire, has solely depended on the Life of the Prince who commanded. But these Examples are solely confined to the Oriental Princes; they cannot be made applicable to the British Government in India; and our national Possessions in that Part of the Globe cannot possibly, in the Opinion of Your Committee, depend on the Life of any Individual, so long as the British Laws are held in due Reverence by British Subjects.

Vide Narrative G.

Notwithstanding the Governor General's Assertions, Your Committee discover no Part of Cheyt Sing's Conduct, previous to his Arrest, which can induce them to believe that he ever entertained the most remote Idea of intending to subvert the Authority of the Company, or to erect his own Independency on its Ruins; and although the Governor General states, that this had been long and generally imputed to him, yet Your Committee are at a Loss to conceive what the Governor General means to convey by such an Assertion: He cannot mean that the Council General imputed such Designs to him, because the Records of the Company are silent on this Point; nor could he himself, before he left Calcutta, suspect Cheyt Sing of such a Design, for Your Committee find no such Imputation expressed on the Consultations, when Instructions were framed for his Conduct towards Cheyt Sing at the expected Interview. That the very Suspicion did not then exist, cannot be more clearly manifested, than by examining Mr. Haltings's Instructions, extensive as they are, and more general than ought ever to have been granted, as he was invested "with full Powers and Authority to form such Arrangements with the Rajah of Benares for the better Government and Management of his Zemindary, and to perform such Acts for the Improvement of the Interest which the Company possesses in it, as he shall think fit, and consonant to the mutual and actual Engagements subsisting between the Company and the Rajah." Yet, they neither express or imply Suspicion of Cheyt Sing's Loyalty; on the contrary, Your Committee must remark, that Part of these Instructions is an irrefragable Proof of the Fidelity of Cheyt Sing, because they restrain the Governor General from adopting any Measure, not consonant to the mutual and actual Engagements subsisting betwixt the Company and him.

Vide Appendix,
N<sup>o</sup> 10.

The Idea of the Zemindar of Benares having it in Contemplation to subvert the British Power in Bengal, and to erect his own Independency on its Ruins, is too chimerical to be seriously admitted mitted even for a Moment. The House will recollect, that when Cheyt Sing is to be constrained by Force to make Payments which neither by Treaty or Justice we were authorized to demand, Two Battalions of Sepoys were thought a Force sufficient to send to his Capital, to effect that Payment; and they were found sufficient. When it is represented he had raised his regular Establishment from 7,600 to 40,000 Men, including all Descriptions, the British Force employed against these Numbers was trifling, compared to the General Establishment of our Army. Three Companies of European Troops, Four Regiments and a Battalion of Sepoys, with Six Companies of the Nabob's Body Guard (Sepoys) and a proper Train of Artillery, was the whole Strength employed in this Service. On the 15th of September 1781, in the Evening, these Troops began their March towards Cheyt Sing's Fortresses; on the 20th their Military Operations had been so successful against the Rajah's Forces, that the Governor General declares "the Allegiance of the whole Country restored as completely in the Course of a few Hours, from a State of universal Revolt, as if it had never departed from it."

Vide Narrative G g.

Major Crabb, who commanded one of the Detachments of the Army against Cheyt Sing, with Reputation to himself, has given Evidence to your Committee, that a single Brigade of the Company's Troops was more than sufficient to defeat Cheyt Sing, and complete the Reduction of his Country. This Evidence has been confirmed by the Fact itself; and the House will be enabled to form their Judgment, as well from the Strength of the Detachment actually employed as in the very short Time it required to complete its Object, namely the Reduction of Cheyt Sing's Country from universal Revolt to perfect Obedience, whether the Zemindar of Benares, formerly the Tributary of Oude, and now of Calcutta, was a Power capable of subverting the British Authority in Bengal, and of erecting its own Independency on its Ruins.

Appendix, No 11.

Major Crabb's Evidence.

Your Committee will only observe upon all the Governor General's Reasonings, References, and Appeals, that in great Matters which concern the State, there was one unerring Rule to follow; by that Rule the Company's Affairs have, till of late Years, been uniformly conducted; and whenever it is departed from, Suspicions will inevitably arise, that some secret Motives do exist, more than are presented to the public Inspection. The Governor General did not follow this Rule, for it does not appear that he assembled the Council (as was usual and customary upon all important Occasions), to enter into the Discussion of Cheyt Sing's Demerits, and then come to a formal Resolution, to be entered in the Consultations, of the Measures necessary to be adopted; such a Proceeding would have had the Merit at least of being regular, and according to the Rules and Forms of the Service, and in strict Obedience to the positive Orders of the Directors. The Company and the Nation would have had certain public Proceedings held, before the Indignity of the Arrest was committed, whereon to ground their Approval or Disapprobation; and, unless the Deposal of Cheyt Sing was a Measure absolutely pre-determined, before the Governor General proceeded to Acts of Violence, the Rajah might have been informed of the Extent of his Guilt, and of the ultimate Demands which the Government intended to exact from him as a Mulct for that Guilt. He would by such a Communication have had the Option at least of compounding for these supposed Offences; and it is not very difficult to decide what that Option would have been, betwixt Payment of a large Sum of Money, and retaining his Honour, his Dignity, and the Government of his Provinces; or the Deprivation of Honour, Wealth, and Territory, and himself to become a Fugitive from his Women, Children, Parents, Friends, and Country, and to seek an Asylum for his proscribed Person, wherever he could possibly find it, beyond the Reach of British Influence. The Governor General would himself have been relieved from the very painful and disagreeable Situation of being obliged (to avoid the Imputation of corrupt Motives) to make References to the Recollections of Men, whose Testimonies were to give Validity to what were his Intentions upon certain Points, previous to certain Events having taken place, and after a Lapse of many Months had happened.

Appendix, No 12.

Vide Narrative O, No 2.

Upon a full and mature Consideration of the Subject, it appears to Your Committee, That if Cheyt Sing had actually been guilty of those direct Charges of Delinquency made against him by the Governor General, that they were not Crimes of such a Magnitude, as could justify the Measures intended to be pursued against him, even before the Governor General left Calcutta; much less those he adopted after his Arrival at Benares. It has been stated, that Cheyt Sing had faithfully and punctually discharged his Tribute. Demands of extraordinary Aid had been made on him; these too he had discharged—perhaps reluctantly; and Your Committee will here observe, that if there was no Boundary of Right, on which the Rajah could make his Stand to the increasing Demands of the Governor General and Council, he could not be said to possess any Right or Property whatsoever. But it appears to Your Committee, that even those direct Charges of Delinquency, made by the Governor General against Cheyt Sing, are so far from being proved to be Delinquency, that Your Committee cannot discover any Part of the Rajah's Conduct, previous to his being made a Prisoner, which merits the Imputation of a Crime.

It is an Instruction from the House to this Committee, "to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be held and governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the native Inhabitants may be best promoted."

Your Committee have investigated the actual Government of India under the present existing Laws;

Laws; and the Ninth Report contains, in Part, their Observations on this very material Head of their Instructions.

Vide Gov. General's Narrative, in

The Principles laid down by the Governor General, namely, "That the Company, possessing the Right of Sovereign, hold absolute Authority over every Rajah and Zemindar—That they owe a personal Allegiance, and an implicit and unreserved Obedience, to that Authority, at the Forfeiture of the Zemindary, and even of Life and Property, at the Discretion of those who hold, or fully represent, the sovereign Authority," deprives those Rajahs and Zemindars, who are the Princes and Nobles of the Land, of all their Rights. Your Committee have seen these Principles carried into Practice, to the compleat Ruin of a Rajah of the first Rank under the British Dependence.

An Event so extraordinary in itself, and of so much Consequence, not only to the suffering Party, but to every Tributary to the Company, whatever may be his Rank or Station, induced Your Committee to investigate the Subject with Precision; as well to acquire complete Information on this particular and very extraordinary Transaction, as with a View to framing some future Regulations for the better Protection of the Rajahs, Zemindars, and other Natives of India. From this Investigation, the following Conclusions may be drawn:

If the Consideration of public Services performed to our Nation by the Father, is required by a Violation of public Faith to the Son, upon Pretences the most frivolous—

If the solemn Faith of Treaty, which confirmed the Tributary in the actual Possession of his Lands, be no longer considered of sufficient Validity to protect him from Oppression or Extortion—

If the just, regular, and punctual Performance of all stipulated Conditions, is found to be no Kind of Security against new Claims and new Exactions—

If a Tributary of the Company is found to have no other Security for the Possession of his Lands, which descended to him from many Generations, but the arbitrary Will of the Governor General, or executive Government of the Country—

If the Possession of Wealth is to be considered as a State Crime, and heavy Fines and Penalties are to be laid on the Possessors, with a View of rendering their Power or their Wealth less dangerous to the Company—

If the Compliance with one arbitrary and unjust Demand, instead of securing the Tributary from further Oppression, is instantly followed by another Demand, so extravagant as to render a Compliance with it utterly impossible—

If Requisitions are made, unauthorized by any Stipulation in Treaty, and a short Delay intervenes before the Requisition is finally complied with, if such Delay is construed into Evidence of High Treason—

If Reports, unwarranted and ill-authenticated—if Suggestions of public Danger, and Imputations of evil Designs, ill-founded, improbable, and impracticable, are to be admitted as sufficient Grounds for commencing Hostilities—

If the Distress of the East India Company, from whatsoever Cause arising, should ever be considered as the smallest Justification of Measures which are cruel, unjust, and oppressive to the Natives of India—

If these Conclusions be just and well-founded,—Your Committee must observe, that no Situation can be more wretched and deplorable than the Tributaries or Dependants of the East India Company, whose Honour, Lives, and Fortunes are deemed solely dependant on the Discretion of the Servants of the East India Company; and they are of Opinion, that the Justice of Parliament ought not to delay Relief to those oppressed and unhappy Men, by passing some precise and positive Law, not only for the general Protection of their Persons, Honours, and Estates, but as the best Means to recover the national Reputation for Probity, Humanity, and good Faith, and to prevent the Nation from being brought into further Disrepute by a Repetition of such Acts.

Your Committee having finished their Observations on the Conduct of the Governor General, proceed to observe upon the Conduct of the Council General, so far as relates to their Approval or Disapproval of the Measures pursued by the Governor General against the Rajah of Benares.

Vide Appendix,
N<sup>o</sup> 13.

The Minute of the Council General of the 14th January 1782, is entered at large in the Appendix, and is very particularly recommended to the Attention of the House. The Council General have supposed certain Objections to be made to the Conduct of the Governor General towards Cheyt Sing, viz.

" 1st. Where were the Governor General's particular Instructions for such extraordinary Demands upon Cheyt Sing?

" 2d. Why was that Chief put in Arrest, when he offered to make every Concession?

" 3d. Whether there was not a Compact between him and the Company, which specified that he was only to pay them a certain Annual Tribute?"

And it appears that the Council give their Opinion upon those Objections as follows:

" The Board think the Governor General was fully authorised by the general Tenor of his Instructions.

" The Governor General having a decided Vote, could have written out and approved more particular “ particular Instructions. There was a Delicacy in the Mode he preferred, and it composed a greater Responsibility.”

“ In regard to the Second Question, it is evident from Cheyt Sing’s Answers and Preparations, and the whole Tenor of his Conduct before, and at the Time, that nothing but Arrest could have convinced him of the Governor General’s Determination.

“ That the Arrest was not intended to proceed further than the Payment of a proper Fine to the Company, who stood in the Place of his Sovereign and Benefactor, is evinced by the Governor General’s Answer to Cheyt Sing after his Confinement.

“ Had a total Revolution in the Administration of the Zemindarry been intended, the Arrest must have been effected with more Force and greater Marks of Severity.

“ That the Officers who went to execute this Service, were convinced that no Measure of determined Severity was intended against Cheyt Sing, appears from that unfortunate Want of Precaution which cost them and their Followers their Lives.”

“ The Third Question involves much Argument, yet is fully answered by that Part of the Governor General’s Narrative which discusses the Sunnud under which Cheyt Sing ruled the Province, and which was so liberally granted by the Company. The Correspondence with the Indian States, shews clearly their Ideas of the Rights of Zemindars and Rajahs, protected in their Zemindaries by superior Power. Had Cheyt Sing been an Ally and a Sovereign Prince, who paid only a fixed Subsidy, his Military Preparations, and his insidious Conduct under Pretences of Poverty, in disappointing the Expectations of the Government for the Army under Major Camac, justified, together with his Correspondence with our Enemies, the severest Exaction of Aid to assist the Company in their Distresses, and to atone for his Ingratitude and Treachery to a Power who protected him, and to whom he owed his Situation.”

As Your Committee can suppose, the Answers which the Council General have given to their own Questions, are the Grounds on which they have given their Approbation to the Governor General’s Conduct at Benares; and as these Answers are very far from being satisfactory to Your Committee, they have thought proper to examine them with some Degree of Attention.

Your Committee are of Opinion, that the Governor General was not justified in his extraordinary Demands on Cheyt Sing by the general Tenor of his Instructions; he was invested with full Power and Authority to form such Arrangements with the Rajah of Benares, for the better Government and Management of his Zemindarry, and to perform such Acts for the Improvement of the Interests which the Honourable Company possesses in it, as he shall think fit and consonant to the mutual and actual Engagements subsisting between the Company and the Rajah; but Your Committee admit, that if the Governor General had judged it either politic or prudent, to have been invested by the Council General with more particular Instructions, his own casting Vote would have decided that, or any other Question whatsoever. But if he had carried such a Question by such a Vote, then the Responsibility would have remained with him alone; whereas, by having communicated his intended Projects to Mr. Wheeler, and bespeaking his Support in the Measures he intended to pursue towards Cheyt Sing, and Mr. Wheeler having concurred in those Projects, by not having entered any Protest against them before they were carried into Execution, he thereby took upon himself a Share of the Responsibility.

Your Committee perceive nothing in Cheyt Sing’s Answers, that indicates any thing like a Desire to shake off his actual Dependence upon our Nation. As to his supposed Preparations, although there was an English Gentleman in a public Character constantly resident at Benares, Your Committee find no Complaints on this Head against the Rajah, previous to his Arrest. The whole Tenor of his Conduct, instead of being brought as Evidence against him, is the strongest Testimony in his Favour.

Your Committee will not pretend to decide, whether an Arrest of Cheyt Sing was the only Measure which could convince him of the Governor General’s Determination; but they are so far from thinking the Arrest of his Person was a necessary Measure, that they consider the Arrest itself as a manifest Ignominy inflicted on him, and done with a View to accomplish a most unjustifiable Exaction, of that which is called by the Council, a proper Fine for his (alleged) Delinquency.

Your Committee do not admit the Reasoning of the Council General—that if a total Revolution in the Administration of the Zemindarry had been intended, the Arrest must have been effected with more Force, and greater Marks of Severity. In Justice to the Governor General, it ought to be supposed, that he thought his actual Military Strength, or the ready Means of reinforcing that Strength, amply sufficient to effect the Purposes which he intended to carry into Execution.

The Council General have drawn Conclusions from the Neglect of a common Precaution in the Military Officers; and they assert, that this Negligence was a Proof that those Officers were convinced no Measures of determined Severity were intended against Cheyt Sing. By adverting to the Orders given to Mr. Markham, it will appear, that he was to repair to the House of the Rajah, with his (the Resident’s) usual Guard, and put him under Arrest, by Orders of the Governor General. In the Performance of this Duty, Mr. Markham was the executive Officer. His own Guard was to assist him in the Execution of this Order. In case of Refusal, he was to wait the Arrival of Two Companies of Grenadier Sepoys belonging to Major Popham’s Detachment, who were directed to follow and assist him in the Execution of the Service. It does not appear that the Subaltern Officer who commanded this Detachment, received any other Directions, than to march to the Rajah's Palace, and then to obey the Orders which he should receive from Mr. Markham. But the Rajah quietly submitted to the Arrest. Mr. Markham left the Rajah in Charge of Lieutenants Scott and Stalker, with Orders to "disarm all the Servants of the Rajah—to allow him any Eight or Ten of them for the Attendance of his Person—and "to indulge him in any Request consistent with the Security of his Person." He then returned to the Governor General; and so little Apprehension did he entertain, that any Rescue would be attempted, that he brought back with him his own Guard. Intelligence came soon after to the Governor General, that large Bodies of armed Men had crossed the River from Ramnagur, and had proceeded to the Rajah's House; and it now appeared (when Danger threatened) that the Detachment of Grenadiers had taken no Ammunition with them. Major Popham sent another Company of Sepoys, under an Officer, with Ammunition, to reinforce and support the first Party.

From this Detail, Your Committee are of Opinion, that the Conclusions drawn by the Council General, from the Negligence of the Officers in not carrying a Supply of Ammunition, cannot be considered in any Degree in the Light in which they have endeavoured to represent it in their Minutes upon this Subject.

The Council General think that "the Third Question involves much Argument;" but without entering into that Argument, they refer the Directors to the Governor General's Narrative for the Discussion of Cheyt Sing's Sunnud, under which he ruled the Province. Your Committee have fully shewn, not only what were the Rights of Cheyt Sing when he was the Zemindar of Sujah Dowla, but they have pointed out what was the Sense at that Time entertained by the Governor General of those Rights. The Council General add, "that the Correspondence with the "Indian States, shews clearly their Ideas of the Rights of Zemindars and Rajahs protected in "their Zemindaries by superior Power." Your Committee are at a Loss to know to whose Correspondence the Council General refer; and if it is their own, they are still equally uninformed where to find these clear Ideas of the Rights of Zemindars.

As Your Committee have made their Observations so fully on the Charges brought by the Governor General against Cheyt Sing, they will refer the House to that Part of the Report; and as they have already stated that the Military Preparations of Cheyt Sing were not imputed to him as a Crime by the Governor General and Council previous to his Arrest, so neither do they find that he stands charged, before that Period, with maintaining a Correspondence with the Enemy.

It appears to Your Committee, That if the Conduct of Mr. Hastings towards Cheyt Sing has been such as to merit the Approbation of this House, the Two Members of the Supreme Council, Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Mac Pherson, are entitled to their Share of that Approbation, by the unreserved Manner in which they have justified his Acts.—If, on the other Hand, the House shall be of Opinion, that the Proceedings against Cheyt Sing were unjust, oppressive, and contrary to Public Faith; those Members of the Council who approved those Proceedings, are implicated in the Criminality.

Your Committee thinking it necessary to examine Major Fairfax, who is lately arrived from Bengal, and who was at Benares at the Time the Governor General was there, as is mentioned in the former Part of this Report, have inserted his Examination in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 15.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S NARRATIVE OF THE TRANSACTIONS AT BENARES.

Edward Wheler, Esquire, &c. &c. and Council, Fort William.

Gentlemen,

I Have now the Honour to send you the Narrative, which I promised in my Letter, dated the 18th October, of the Transactions and Events which passed during the Course of the last Insurrection of this Province. I had begun it at the Time of the Date which I have prefixt to it; but the busy Scenes which followed, both while I was at Chunar, and after my Return to Benares, hindered me from prosecuting it till a few Days before the Date which I have subjoined to it. I did not chuse to alter the Introduction, although written at such a Distance of Time from that in which the Body of the Work was executed, and even from the Existence of the Events which are recorded in the latter, because I found it not easy to give it a new Form, without a total Omission of what had been already produced, while my Mind was animated by the recent and actual Scenes in which it was engaged, to an anxious and most feeling Solicitude, not more for the Issue of the impending Contest, than for its Consequences on my own Reputation. In the Consciousness of the Rectitude of my own Intentions, I had allowed myself to use an Appeal, the most solemn and the most sacred that could bind my Relation to Truth, or impress the Conviction of it on the Hearts of others; nor could I, consistently with my own Sense of its Obligation, withdraw it, or coldly place it after the Narrative already written, and written under the Check which I had imposed upon it. I know not whether I shall be clearly understood. If I am not, yet let this Endeavour to explain a seeming Impropriety in the Construction of this Performance, be accepted for its Apology.

I have only to add my Hope, that as I have received the most cordial Support in the past Events from you, my respectable and most respected Associates in the Administration, and as it has been my unvaried Study to prevent your suffering any Embarrassment from them, my Conduct in them may also receive its first Reward in the Testimony of your Approbation.

Benares,
3rd December 1781.

I have the Honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient, and most humble Servant.

Chunar, 1st September 1781.

In whatever Manner the Scene may close in which I am now engaged, the Calamities with which it opened, will not fail, on their first Impression, to influence in some Degree the Minds of all Men in forming their Judgment of it. In the following Narrative, if I can trust to my own Sentiments, or if those who shall read it will credit this Declaration of them, I shall let's study to efface that Impression, than seek to divest my Mind of all partial Biass, and to deliver all the past Transactions and Occurrences with the strictest and most faithful Regard to Truth; in which if I fail, I fail unknowingly: And may the God of Truth so judge me, as my own Conscience shall condemn or acquit me of intentional Deception.

A. The Motives and Objects of my Journey were various. With these, the Design of my Transactions at Benares had but a remote and secondary Connection. I left Calcutta on the 7th of July. At Buxar, Rajah Cheit Sing paid me the customary Duty of Respect, by advancing to that Place, which lay the nearest to the Boundary Line of his Zemindarry. He brought with him a great Fleet of Boats, which, as I afterwards learned, were crowded with Two thousand armed and chosen Men. This Circumstance was noticed by many of the Gentlemen who accompanied me, and was certainly a Deviation from the established Rules of Decorum, not only such as are observed from Vassals to their Superiors, but even such as pass between Equals. An Instance of this will be remembered by many to have happened at Benares in the Year 1773, in the Meeting which took place there between the late Vizier Suja ul Dowla and myself. He had left his Capital with a large Retinue, but hearing that I came unattended, he dismissed his Followers, and met me with a State as humble as mine.

B. I received the Rajah with Civility, and without any Expression of Displeasure. I left Buxar the next Morning, and received a second Visit from the Rajah in my Boat. After a short Space he desired to speak to me in private. The Particulars of our Conversation I do not exactly remember: I can only relate the Substance of it. He professed much Concern to hear that I was displeased with him, and Contrition for having given Cause for it, assuring me that his Zemindarry, and all that he possessed, were at my Devotion; he expressed his Fears of Cossaun Sing, who had been some Days in my Suite, and of the Intrigues of his Relations; and he accompanied his Words by an Action either strongly expressive of the Agitation of his Mind, or his Desire to impress on mine a Conviction of his Sincerity, by laying his Turban on my Lap. I replied, that I had not seen Cossaun Sing, nor concerned myself about him, nor should I descend to be a Party in his Family Disagreements; that my Business was with him, and with him only; that what he had heard, or might have conjectured, of my Displeasure, was true: And I entered into a full Discussion of the Causes of it; that I had been already once deceived by his Oaths and Protestations, and should not suffer my Purpose to be changed, or my Duty to be overruled, by any verbal Concessions or Declarations, which were made with little Cost, and for the Observance of which I had no Pledge nor Warrant to credit them. He pleaded his Inability to answer my Charges against him, admitted that he was in every Respect faulty, but desired that I would forget the past, and form my Opinion of him on his future Behaviour. I declined any further Conversation upon the Subject, and he took his Leave.

C. As the preceding Conversation was accidental, and made no Part of the Plan which I had concerted in my own Mind for my Conduct with the Rajah, I kept no Minute of it, nor should have thought it deserving of a Place in this Narrative, but for the Weight which he has since given to it, and that it might be imputed to me as a designed Suppression, if I made no Mention of it. I shall proceed to relate the Subjects to which it alluded, and add the Purposes which I had in Contemplation concerning them.

D. On the first Intelligence of the War with France in July 1778, it was resolved in Council, that Rajah Cheit Sing should be required to contribute an extraordinary Subsidy for the Expence which this new Exigency had imposed on our Government; and the Sum was limited to Five Lacks of Rupees for the current Year. After many Excuses and Protestations of Inability, he at length consented, with a very ill Grace, to the Payment, and with a much worse discharged it. The next Year the same Demand was repeated, and he attempted in like Manner to elude it, affecting to borrow Money in small Sums, and to sell his Plate and Jewels, to raise it; nor was it paid at last, till he had reduced the Board to the Extremity of ordering Two Battalions of Sepoys to the Neighbourhood of Ramnagur, and quartering them upon him, with their Pay charged to his Account, until the whole Payment was completed.

Early in the following Year, about the Month of May, he deputed Lalla Saddamund, who was his Buxey, and the confidential Manager of his Affairs, on a private Commission to me, to solicit my Forgiveness of his past Conduct, and to give me Assurances, confirmed by Oath, of his future Submission to the Orders of my Government, and Compliance with my Advice. I accepted his Excuses, and promised him an Oblivion of all that had passed exceptionable in his Conduct, and my future Protection, and every good Office in my Power, so long as he adhered to his Professions, requiring only, as the Pledge of their Sincerity, that he would immediately notify his ready and unreserved Consent to the Demand which would be made upon him, this being the Period for it, of the Subsidy for the current Year, and that he would use no Delay in discharging it. I at the same Time explained to Saddamund, the Nature of the Demand; its Conformity to the Customs of all States in Times of extraordinary Emergency; and assured him, that though he must expect a Repetition of it every Year so long as the War lasted, yet it could not be justly drawn into a Precedent for exacting an Increase of his regular and stipulated Rent; and, so far as it could depend upon me, I gave him the strongest Assurances, and I believe very solemn Affirmations, that it should not. Saddamund vowed the fullest Obedience on the Part of his Master; the Demand was accordingly made; and the Rajah answered it with a liberal and unreserved Declaration of his Acquiescence. I expected the immediate Payment of the whole Sum, according to his Promise, and I placed a Reliance upon it so far as to destine the Appropriation of it to the Support of the Detachment which was then acting in the Province of Malva, under the Command of Lieutenant Colonel Camac, not apprehending any Policy which could warp him from the strong Obligation of such an Engagement, and from the evident Interest which he had in fulfilling it. I was mistaken. The First Payment was made in different Periods in the Course of a Month, amounting to about a Lack of Rupees; and there, as I recollect, he stopped, and even defended to the Meanness of writing to solicit the Forbearance of the Remainder, that it might be included in the regular Payments of the ensuing Year which was then approaching. I am not possessed at this Time of the Materials for ascertaining the Dates of the Demand, and of his Letters* written in Acquiescence of it, nor the Dates and correspondent Sums of the subsequent Payments; but I desire that these may be inserted by the Secretary, as a Note to this Page of the Narrative. It is sufficient to say that the Demand was made, and the whole Payment consequently due, in July; that it was not until the Month of October, nor until the same Constraint was practised to compel his Obedience as had been used in the preceding Year, by an Order for the Advance of Two Battalions of Sepoys for that Purpose, that the Balance of the Subsidy, which was Two Lacks and a Half of Rupees, was discharged. In the mean Time, the Resident received an Order from the Board to remit the Money as he received it, by Bills, to the Paymaster of Lieutenant Colonel Camac's Detachment; but these, from the Lateness of the Receipts, were not sent until the Detachments had suffered the Extremity of Distress from the Want of Money, and very great Desertions; all which Calamities I charge to Rajah Cheit Sing's Account, as it is certain that my Reliance on his Faith, and his Breach of it, were the principal Causes that no other Provision had been made for the Detachment, and that it suffered such Want in consequence.

It is with the greatest Tenderness that I recur to the past Diffentions in our Government; but I am compelled to it on this Occasion, for the Elucidation of the Conduct of this Man; which had the Appearance of being invariably guided by the Reports which were made to him of the State of my Influence: When he deputed his Buxey Saddanund to me, in the Manner which I have mentioned, an apparent Harmony had taken place in our Councils, with the general Expectation of its being permanent. The Powers of our Government whenever united, and if I may use the Term, consolidated, by such an Event, will ever recover the Respect which is due to them, especially from those who have rendered themselves obnoxious to its Terror. The Subject which produced the subsequent Contest between Mr. Francis and myself, originated a little before the Departure of Saddanund from the Presidency, but was not perhaps either generally known, or known to have grown into a decided Breach, till the latter End of July. A Reference to the Proceedings of that Period will prove the Grounds of this Supposition. It was the prescribed Duty of Cheyt Sing's Vackeels in Calcutta, to furnish him with every little Anecdote which bore any Relation to the State of our Government. I believe, that the deliberate Manner in which he made the First Payment of the Subsidy of that Year, was dictated by the Doubts suggested of the Firmness of my Authority; and I am morally certain, that his subsequent Excuses and Delays in the Payment of the Residue of the Subsidy, were caused by the Belief that I was no longer able to enforce it; and possibly, for such was the Report, that a few Months would close the Period of my Administration altogether. That I had his solemn Promise, in the Manner which I have recited, to pay the Subsidy, I as solemnly affirm; and his Letter, assenting to the Payment, which is recorded on our Consultations, is a strong presumptive Evidence of it: And that he evaded the Performance of his Promise; that he attempted, to the utmost of his Power, to elude it altogether, is also proved by the Record of the Dates of the different Payments; the Minutes of the Board relating to them; and the Order of the Board for the March of a Detachment for the Purpose of compelling him to perform it. That this Order had a principal Effect in bringing him to a Compliance, I believe; but I also attribute a Share of it to the approaching Departure of Mr. Francis, which was publicly and generally expected.

I owe it in Candor to the Gentleman whose Name I have reluctantly repeated in this Digression, to obviate an Inference which might otherwise be unwarily drawn from it, by declaring, that I mean not, by the most distant Hint, to impute any Part of this Policy to him, and in my Heart do totally and deliberately acquit him of any Concern in it, however, in the Resentment of instant Disappointment, I may have suffered my Mind to catch such a Suspicion; although I believe that if I have, it has been sacredly confined to my own Breast.

This was the First direct Charge which I had to prefer against the Rajah. The Second was similar in its Quality and Principle. On the 2d of the Month of November 1780, a Resolution passed the Board, That a Letter should be written to the Nabob Vizier, advising him to require from the Nabob Fyz Oulla Cawn, the Number of Troops stipulated by Treaty, expressed, as it was then understood to be, 5,000 Horse; and that the like Demand should be made on Rajah Cheyt Sing, for all the Cavalry in his Pay which he could spare for our Service. At that Time we stood in need of every Aid that could be devised, to repel the multiplied Dangers which surrounded us. The Rajah was supposed to maintain a very large and expensive Standing Force, and the Strength of his Cavalry alone was estimated at Two thousand. I had formerly experienced their Utility in the War with the Seneasses, in which they were successfully employed, and liberally rewarded. The Demand was formally made, both in a Letter from myself, and in Person by the Resident, Mr. Forcke, in the easy and indefinite Terms mentioned above. His Answers were evasive, pleading (as I recollect, for I am not in Possession of them) the Scantiness of the Establishment, its Employment in enforcing the Collections, and the Danger of these failing if the Detachments were withdrawn. At length a more peremptory Order was sent to him, and repeated by the present Resident Mr. Markham. The Number required was 2,000, and afterwards reduced to the Demand of 1,500, and lastly to 1,000, but with no more Success. He offered 250, but furnished none.

G. These Instances of Contumacy and Disobedience, criminal as they were in themselves, and aggravated by the extreme and known Distresses and Dangers of the Superior State, to which he owed not only personal Fidelity, but every voluntary Aid which all the Resources of his Zemindary could contribute, appeared to me of less Consideration as such, than as they were Evidences of a deliberate and systematic Conduct, aiming at the total Subversion of the Authority of the Company, and the Erection of his own Independency on its Ruins. This had been long and generally imputed to him. It was reported that he had inherited a vast Mass of Wealth from his Father Bulwant Sing, which he had secured in the Two strong Fortresses of Bedjeygur and Luteefpoor, and made yearly Additions to it; that he kept up a large Military Establishment both of Cavalry, of disciplined and irregular Infantry, and of Artillery; that he had the above and many other Fortresses, of strong Construction, and in good Repair, and constantly well stored and garrisoned; that his Aumils and Tenants were encouraged and habituated to treat English Passengers with Inhospitability and with Enmity; that he maintained a Correspondence with the Marattas, and other Powers who either were or might eventually become the Enemies of our State; and if the disaffected Zemindars of Fyzabad and Bahar were not included in the Report, which I do not recollect, we have had woeful Proof, that there was equal Room to have suspected the like Intercourse between them; and lastly, that he was collecting, or had prepared, every Provision for open Revolt, waiting only for a proper Season to declare it, which was supposed to depend either on the Arrival of a French Armament, or on a Maratta Invasion.

This Design had been greatly favoured by the unhappy Divisions of our Government, in which he presumed to take an open Part. It is a Fact, that when these had proceeded to an Extremity bordering on civil Violence, by the Attempt to wrest from me my Authority, in the Month of June 1777, he had deputed a Man named Sumboonaut, with an express Commission to my Opponent, and the Man had proceeded as far as Moorshedabad, when hearing of the Change of Affairs which had taken place at the Presidency, he stopped, and the Rajah recalled him.

It may perhaps be urged in favour of Rajah Cheir Sing, that he was justifiable by the Principle of good Policy, in seeking a State of Independency; that we had no natural Right to his Vassalage, having acquired it, with all our other Rights of Dominion, by no other Charter than the successful Spirit of Enterprize. Were this truly the Case, it would reduce the Relation between us to the primitive Law of Nature, and it would be equally incumbent on us, on that Ground alone, to use every Means to confirm and perpetuate his Subjection, as it would be allowable in him to emancipate himself from it. But something more, I apprehend, was due, both as a political and even moral Obligation, from him.—His Father, Bulwant Sing, derived the Degree of Independency which he possessed during the latter Period of his Life, from the Protection and Intervention of our Government. His Son, Cheyt Sing, obtained, from our Influence exerted by myself, the First legal Title that his Family ever possessed of Property in the Land, of which he till then was only the Aumil, and of which he became the acknowledged Zemindar by a Sunnud granted to him by the Nabob Sajah Dowlah, at my Instance, in the Month of September 1773. On the Succession of the Nabob Assof o Dowlah, the Rights of Sovereignty which were held by him over the Zemindarry were transferred by Treaty to the Company. Those Rights were indisputably his, and became, by his Alienation of them, as indisputably the Company's; and every Obligation of Fidelity and Obedience which is due from a Zemindar to the superior Magistrate, by the Constitution of Hindostan, became as much the Right of the Company from Cheyt Sing, as they had been due to his former Sovereign, with the additional Ties of Gratitude for the superior Advantages which he was allowed to possess with his new Relation. The unexampled Lenity of our Government, in relinquishing to him the free and uncontrolled Rule of his Zemindarry, subject to a limited Annual Fine, and the Royalties of the Mint, Administration of Justice, and Police, ought to have operated as an additional Claim on his Fidelity; but evidently served to stimulate his Ambition, and perhaps to excite in his Mind an Opinion that he possessed an inherent Right of Self-dependency.

I considered Cheyt Sing as culpable in a very high Degree towards our State, and his Punishment, of which I had given him frequent Warnings, if he did not amend his Conduct, as an Example which Justice and Policy required, equally for the Reparation of the Wrongs which its Dignity had sustained, and for the future Preservation of its Authority. I was resolved to draw from his Guilt the Means of Relief to the Company's Distresses, and to exact a Penalty, which I was convinced he was very able to bear, from a Fund which I was also convinced he had destined for Purposes of the most dangerous Tendency to the Company's Dominion. In a Word, I had determined to make him pay largely for his Pardon, or to exact a severe Vengeance for his past Delinquency.

Those who have been accustomed to regard Cheyt Sing as a Vassal or tributary Prince, may revolt at the Idea of treating him with such Indignity, and call it an Oppression; they will suppose nothing due from him to the Company, but the Payment of his stipulated Tribute, and that the Pledge of his Exemption from every other Claim: I suspect too, that the Deeds which passed between him and the Board, on the Transfer of his Zemindarry to the Company in 1775, are by many understood to bear the Quality and Force of a Treaty of optional Conditions between equal States. To such I reply, that such an Opinion is itself criminal to the State of which he was a Subject, and that he was himself amenable to its Justice, if he gave Countenance to the Belief. He paid no Tribute to the Company, but a fixed annual Rent. The Deeds by which he held his Zemindarry, and the Company their Claim to their Portion of its Revenue, were a Sunnud or Grant, and a Potta or Lease, executed on the Part of the Company; and a Cabuleeat or Agreement, and Kistbundee or Account of Payments to be made by Installments, on his Part. These, excepting the special Privileges allowed to the Rajah, of the Mint, the Cutwallies of Benares and Jowanpoor, the Fowjdarree and Aumeeny; that is so far as they relate to the Zemindarry darry alone; are drawn precisely in the same Forms as Instruments of the same Denominations interchanged with the Zemindars of Bengal. I refer to the Instruments themselves, which will make a Number in the Appendix to this Narrative; in which it will be seen on how different a Tenure, and how infinitely below Independency, he really held his Zemindarry. The Sunnud and Cabuleeat are Counterparts of each other; the former prescribes the Revenue which was to be paid, and the Duties which were to be performed, as the Conditions on which the Rajah was confirmed in the Possession of his Zemindarry; and of these Conditions the Cabuleeat is a Pledge or Engagement for the Performance. In the first, the "Government and Sovereignty" of the Zemindarry transferred by the Nabob Affof o'Dowla to the Company, are stated as the Basis of it: The Zemindarry is confirmed to him: A strict Observation and Execution of the Duties incumbent on him, "to behave with Moderation and Kindness to the Reyats and People; to promote the Cultivation and Encrease of the Inhabitants and Produce of the Lands; to preserve the Peace, and punish the Disturbers of it;" and to pay a yearly Rent of 23,40,249 Mahidar Rupees in monthly Payments, agreeable to the Kistbundee; are most strictly and positively commanded and enjoined; and the Officers of the Zemindarry are commanded to regard him as the Zemindar, "and to acknowledge his Authority in the several Acts appertaining thereunto." I must observe, that in the Translation of the Sunnud, the yearly Revenue is in one Place, through the Negligence of the Translator, expressed by the Word "Tribute;" but it is not on the Translation, nor on the Will of a Translator, that the Rights of the Company depend. I affirm the Word to be false, as it is inconsistent with the proper Term "Revenue," immediately following in the same Translation, and with the same Term "Revenue" occurring in the Translation of the Cabuleeat or Agreement.

The Cabuleeat also sets off with stating the Company's Sovereignty as the Basis of the Agreement, and acknowledges the Grant made by the Company to Rajah Cheit Sing of the Zemindarry, and other Privileges recited in the Sunnud: And it proceeds to express, that "it shall be his Duty to do every Thing that may be needful and usual for the Interest and Security of the Country, to provide for the Welfare of the Inhabitants, to be attentive to the Encrease of Cultivation and Improvement of the Revenue, "to use his Endeavours to expel Robbers, &c. and to pay the annual Revenue of Government" in the Manner prescribed by the Sunnud.

To obviate Misapprehensions, I think it proper to remark, that in the above Recitals I have abridged the Text, where it was too prolix and involved for literal Quotation, and given the Substance in the closest Sense of it; but where I have used the original Words of the Translations, I have marked them with inverted Commas as such. The Copies in the Appendix will shew with what Fidelity I have conformed to the Text in both Instances.

I have dwelt with a greater Strefs and with a more minute Exactness, on the foregoing Subject, because it is on this Point that the Justice and Propriety of my Conduct must wholly turn. If Rajah Cheit Sing possessed the Zemindarry of Benares in his own Right, and with an inherent and exclusive Authority; if he owed no Allegiance to the Company, nor Obedience beyond the Payments of a stipulated Tribute; I am liable to Condemnation for exacting other Duties from him, and for all the Consequences of that Exaction; and he is guiltless: But if the Company, possessing the acknowledged Rights of his former Sovereign, held an absolute Authority over him; if in the known Relations of Zemindar to the sovereign Authority, or the Power delegated by it, he owed a personal Allegiance and an implicit and unreserved Obedience to that Authority, at the Forfeiture of his Zemindarry, and even of his Life and Property, at the Discretion of those who held or fully represented the sovereign Authority; if in Corroboration of the general and implied Obligation, he was bound to it by written Engagements and specific Conditions; I am warranted in my Assertions of the Rights of Government, which were fully and wholly delegated to me; and he alone is responsible for his Opposition to them, and for all the Consequences which have attended that Opposition.

O. N<sup>o</sup> 1.

Whether I have exercised the Power vested in me with Justice and with Moderation, will appear from the preceding Relation, and the following Parts of this Narrative.

Before I quit this Digression, I must further trespass on the Patience of the Board, and of those for whose Judgment it is ultimately written, by a more pointed Application of the above to my own personal Conduct and Character.

I will suppose for a Moment that I have erred, that I have acted with an unwarranted Rigour towards Cheit Sing, and even with Injustice. Let my Motive be consulted. I left Calcutta impressed with the Belief, that extraordinary Means were necessary, and those exerted with a strong Hand, to preserve the Company's Interests from sinking under the accumulated Weight which oppressed them. I saw a political Necessity for curbing the overgrown Power of a great Member of their Dominion, and to make it contribute to the Relief of their pressing Exigencies. If I erred, my Error was prompted by an Excess of Zeal for their Interests, operating with too strong a Bias on my Judgment. But rare are the Instances in which the Judgment suffers the Bias of such an Operation; and much stronger is the Presumption, that Acts, prompted by an unmixed Attention to the Public Interests, are founded on just Principles, than that they are the Result of a misguided Judgment.

Possibly it may be suspected, and may God forgive those who know me, and countenance the Suspicion; I have no Title to an Exemption from it with others; that I was influenced by a secret and mercenary Interest. I have heard of the Practice of holding out the Terrors of Authority, and the Denunciations of Disgrace, Dismissal, and War, as the Instruments of private Rapacity. Though the Charge, if true, is capable of positive Conviction, yet I know of no direct Evidence which could refute it, were it were false; for no Man can be conscious of the Reccesses of another's Mind. I can therefore only offer such presumptive Proof of my Intention, as the Nature of it will admit, and Accident has provided. These are my own early and confidential Declarations, and the Attestations of those to whom they were made. In a Point of such public Moment, independently of the near Interest which I have in establishing the Truth of it, Mr. Wheler will pardon my Appeal to him, although in one Light it may tend to involve him in a Participation of the Reproach of those who may regard every Severity shewn to Cheit Sing as criminal, however founded. He will doubtless recollect the Conversation which I had with him on the Subject, on the Eve of my Departure from Calcutta; our mutual Opinion of Cheit Sing's past Conduct; mine, of the Justice and Policy of exacting an exemplary Punishment for it, by a large pecuniary Mulct; the Sum to which I then declared my Resolution to extend it; my Conviction of his Ability to pay it; and the Two Alternatives on which I had resolved, if he refused to submit to it. He will also remember, that I bespoke his Confidence in the Means which I should use for this End, and his Support in the Issue of them. I entreat him to give me his formal and circumstantial Attestation of these Facts, and that he will permit it to be inserted in this Part of my Narrative.

Mr. Wheler.

I have the Pleasure to comply with the Governor General's Request, and will cheerfully record, in this Place, what I at present recollect to have passed between us, at the Time and on the Circumstances which he mentions.

I well remember, that on the Eve of the Governor General's Departure from Calcutta, the Conduct of Cheit Sing, late Rajah of Benares, was a principal Subject of a confidential Discourse between us, and that he bespoke my Support of the Measures which he intended to pursue towards him.

The Rajah's Offences were declared to require early Punishment, and as his Wealth was great, and the Company's Exigencies pressing, it was thought a Measure of Policy and Justice to exact from him a large pecuniary Mulct for their Relief; the Sum to which the Governor declared his Resolution to extend the Fine, was Forty or Fifty Lacks; his Ability to pay it was stated as a Fact that could not admit of a Doubt; and the Two Alternatives on which the Governor declared himself to have resolved, were, to the best of my Recollection, either a Removal from his Zemindarry entirely; or, by taking immediate Possession of all his Forts, to obtain out of the Treasure deposited in them the above Sum for the Company.

After such an Appeal, it would be as superfluous as indelicate to call in the Aid of other Testimonies, if all that were required were no more than to ascertain that I did hold such a Conversation as that which I allude to with him. The Conclusion will be much strengthened by its Agreement with Declarations made by me on the same Subject, and nearly at the same Point of Time, to others. I shall therefore require similar Attestations from Major Palmer, my Military Secretary, and from Mr. Anderson, my appointed Assistant on this Deputation. With these References, and their Result, I shall make my last and solemn Appeal to the Breast of every Man who shall read this, Whether it is likely, or morally possible, that I should have tied down my own future Conduct to so decided a Process and Series of Acts, if I had secretly intended to threaten, or to use a Degree of Violence, for no other Purpose than to draw from the Object of it a mercenary Atonement for my own private Emolument, and suffer all this Tumult to terminate in an ostensible and unsubstantial Submission to the Authority which I represented? Whether it is likely, or morally possible, that I should have chosen to irritate the Feelings of my Colleague in Office, and expose myself to all the Effects of his Indignation, by so wanton and unnecessary a Deception; or lower my own Dignity and Character, and afford so base an Example to my Inferiors, by pretending to make them privy to Acts which I never meant to perform, and from which I could not depart with any possible Share of Reason, but the manifest Sacrifice of my Integrity. A Man actuated by such a Motive, and possessing the Trust which I held, would have used a Cover to his Venality; he would not have compromised himself by positive Declarations of what he would do, much less by detailing his Intentions in a Series of Trials, as they might successively fail; but would have been contented with distant and indefinite Intimations and Suggestions, which obviously left his Actions open to Enquiry and Variation, which could not subject him to the Imputation of Inconsistency, if they were productive of no Effect, and which he might use as Justifications, if his Artifices should chance to operate with the Effect ostensibly portended by them.

I now return to my Narrative.

P. I arrived at Benares on the Morning of the 14th of August; the Rajah some Hours later. I forbade his coming that Evening to my Quarters, as he had intended, and required him to defer his future Visits until he should receive my Permission, as I had some previous Matters to settle with him, of which he would be informed by the Resident, whom I should depute to him the next Morning for that Purpose.

My Narrative will be best continued, nor will the Thread of it be broken, by the following Copy of my Report of my Proceedings, and the Consequences which attended them, to Mr. Wheler, then the only effective Member of the Board.

A P P E N D I X, N° 1.

To Edward Wheler, Esquire.

“ Sir,
 “ I arrived at Benares on the 14th Instant. My Transactions with the Rajah being of a most “ important Nature to the present and future Interests of the Company, I have determined to inform “ you of them without Delay, in the Order in which they have occurred.
 “ The first Step which I judged it necessary to take, as the Ground on which my future Pro“ ceedings with the Rajah were to be conducted, was to recapitulate in Writing the several Instances
 “ of his Conduct, which for some Time past have repeatedly drawn upon him the severe Reprehen“ sions of the Board, and to demand a clear and satisfactory Explanation.
 “ This Paper I sent to the Rajah, by the Hands of Mr. Markham, who was directed to require “ an immediate Answer. Late in the Evening his Answer arrived. The following are Copies of “ both.

“ N° 1. To Raja Cheit Sing.

“ It is about Sixteen Months since Lallah Saddanund, your Buxey and confidential Servant, came
 “ to Calcutta, charged with an express Commission and Authority to make Excuses for your past “ Conduct, and to give me Assurances, confirmed by Oath, of your future Submission to my Ad“ vice and the Orders of my Government. As a Test of your Sincerity, I required an immediate “ and unreserved Acquiescence in the Demand, which at the same Time was made to you in the “ Name of the Governor General and Council, of a Subsidy of Five Lacks of Rupees, for the Ex-“ pences of the War. With this Demand you ostensibly complied in your Answer to my Letter;
 “ and the Buxey promised me verbally, in your Name, and in Terms so strong as amounted to the “ fullest Assurance, that there should be no Delay in the Payment. Relying on this Agreement and “ Promise, I gave Orders to Mr. Fowke, who was then Resident at this Place, to receive the Mo“ ney, and remit it to Colonel Canac, for the Pay of the Army which had been ordered to march “ towards the Province of Malva; and I made no other Provision for it, such was my Confidence in “ your Faith. But you deceived me; and, after having made the First Payment of a few Rupees, “ either consulting the Temper of the Times, or conforming to a premeditated Design, you, by “ Shifts and Pretexs, withheld the Remainder, until the Army, for whose Use it was intended, was “ reduced to the last State of Distress. Many Hundreds deserted, and, had an Enemy at that Time “ appeared against them, their total Destruction had been inevitable. In all this Time daily Ap“ plication was made to you by the Resident, and I wrote repeated Letters to you; but you paid no “ Regard to either. Besides this, I required, in the Name of the Governor General and Council, by “ Letter, and ordered Mr. Fowke to repeat the Requisition in Person, that you should furnish a “ Body of Horse to assist and act with the Armies of the Company; and when Mr. Markham suc“ ceeded Mr. Fowke, I gave him an Order to repeat the Demand, which he did accordingly, with “ frequent and almost daily Importunity, limiting the Number to 1,500, and afterwards to 1,000:
 “ To this Demand you returned evasive Answers, nor to this Hour have you contributed a single “ Horseman.

“ I pass over other Instances of your Conduct, in which, through the Means of your secret Agents,
 “ you have endeavoured to excite Disorders in the Government on which you depend; and your “ Neglect of the Duty which you owe to it, and to the Subjects of this Zemindarry, by suffering
 “ the daily Perpetration of Robberies and Murders, even in the Streets of the City of Benares itself,
 “ to the great and public Scandal of the English Name, and in Violation of one of the Conditions
 “ on which you received the Confirmation of this Zemindarry. But as the Two foregoing Instances “ amount to a direct Charge of Disaffection and Infidelity to the Government on which you depend,
 “ and happened at a Time in which it was your Duty more especially to have exerted yourself in the “ Support of its Interest, I have therefore judged it proper to state them to you thus fully, and to “ require your Answer to them; and this I expect immediately.

“ N° 2. From Rajah Cheit Sing to the Honourable the Governor General.

“ I received your Letter delivered to me by Mr. Markham, and I have understood every Parti“ cular of its Contents. Sir, after the Arrival of Shaick Ally Nucky, I observed all the Orders which “ you sent me; and I received the Letter which the deceased Shaick brought me, informing me that “ every Suspicion was now completely removed from your Mind, and that I must consider you, as “ formerly, attentive to me. But I have not experienced from you the same Generosities as formerly.
 “ I sent you, repeatedly, Letters representing to your Consideration my unhappy Circumstances; but “ you never honoured me with any Reply. For this Reason I sent my Buxy Saddanund to your “ Presence, enjoining him to represent to you the Firmness of my Obedience and Attachment, to “ lay before you the Particulars of my Situation, and to learn the Disposition of your Mind towards “ me. He arrived accordingly in your Presence, and represented every thing in a proper Manner.
 “ I have never deviated in the smallest Degree from these Professions; and the Benefits and Civil-“ ties

“ lities with which you have honoured me, have given me the greatest Satisfaction; and I have considered you as the Source from which I derived the Fulfilment of all my Wishes and Desires. It is my firm Hope that I may be always favoured with your Directions. In this Manner I complied, with the utmost Readiness, with the Order you sent me for the Payment of Five Lacks of Rupees on account of the Expences of the War. I sent first One Lack of Rupees, with an Answer to your Letter; afterwards, having paid to Mr. Fowke the Sum of One Lack and Seventy thousand Rupees, I sent a Letter requesting a further Allowance of Time to enable me to make some Preparations. To this I received no Reply, it being no Time for Delay. Notwithstanding this, I was not a Moment inattentive to this Concern; and as soon as my Buxey arrived, I paid immediately the remaining Part of the Sum. The remitting of this to the Army did not depend on me; if any Delay happened on this Head, I could not help it. If besides the Payment of the Money, the Remittance of it also to the Army had rested with me, a Delay of this Kind should not have happened. I have enclosed in this Letter a Paper, specifying the particular Sums which have been advanced, with their Dates.

“ With respect to the Horse, you desired me in your Letter to inform you of what Number I could afford to station with you, and I sent you a particular Account of all that were in my Service, amounting to One thousand Three hundred Horse, of which several were stationed at distant Places; but I received no Answer to this. Mr. Markham delivered me an Order to prepare a Thousand Horse. In compliance with your Wishes, I collected 500 Horse, and as a Substitute for the Remainder, 500 Burkundasses, of which I sent you Information; and I told Mr. Markham they were ready to go to whatever Place they should be sent. No Answer however came from you on this Head, and I remained astonished at the Cause of it. Repeatedly I asked Mr. Markham about an Answer to my Letter about the Horse; but he told me he did not know the Reasons of no Answer having been sent. I remained astonished. With respect to the Sepoys, I received first an Order to station Two of my Companies, which I did; I was then desired to give a Tunkaw for the Payment of the Sepoys, and likewise to pay the Captain; which has been done every Month.

“ Excepting Abdullah Beg and his Attendants, none of my People, either Dependants or Servants, or others in any Shape connected with me, have ever gone to Calcutta. My Enemies, with a View to my Ruin, have made false Representations to you. Now that, happily for me, you have yourself arrived at this Place, you will be able to ascertain all the Circumstances relative to the Horse; to my People going to Calcutta; and the Dates of the Receipts of the particular Sums abovementioned. You will then know whether I have amused you with a false Representation, or made a just Report to you. I have given my Aumils most particular Injunctions, and have taken a Penalty Bond from them, that they shall keep no Thieves in their District. What Power have they to act otherwise? But if ever a Murder or Robbery is committed in the Country, I have been careful to impale or otherwise punish the Culprit. If a Person having committed a Delinquency should escape to some other Place, so as to elude all Discovery, in that Case I am helpless; but to the utmost of my Power I endeavour to fulfil your Orders. I have never swerved in the smallest Degree from my Duty to you. It remains with you to decide on all these Matters. I am in every Case your Slave. What is just I have represented to you. May your Prosperity increase.

“ This Answer you will perceive to be not only unsatisfactory in Substance, but offensive in Style; and less a Vindication of himself, than a Recrimination on me. It expresses no Concern for the Causes of Complaint contained in my Letter, or Desire to atone for them, nor the smallest Intention to pursue a different Line of Conduct. An Answer, couched nearly in Terms of Defiance, to Requisitions of so serious a Nature, I could not but consider as a strong Indication of that Spirit of Independency which the Rajah has for some Years past assumed; and of which indeed I had early observed other manifest Symptoms, both before and from the Instant of my Arrival.

“ Under these alarming Appearances of the Rajah's Conduct and Disposition, I conceived myself indispensably obliged to form some immediate and decisive Plan for obviating their Consequences, and for the Preservation of the Company's Rights and Interests in this Zemindarry. To have left him in the full Exercise of Powers he had notoriously abused, and which it was to be apprehended he would employ to the most dangerous Purposes, was totally inconsistent with the Maxims of Justice and Prudence. To divest him entirely of the Zemindarry, though justifiable on the Grounds stated above, would have been attended with an Appearance of Severity, and might have furnished Ground for Constructions unfavourable to the Credit of our Government, and

“ and to my own Reputation, from the natural Influence which every Act of Rigour exercised on the Persons of Men who stand in elevated Stations, is apt to impress on the Minds of those who are too remote from the Scene of Action to judge, by any Evidence but of the direct Facts themselves, of their Motives or Propriety.

“ Thus circumstanced, and attentive to these opposite Considerations, I laid down the following Plan for my future Proceedings.

“ I first directed the Resident to repair to the Rajah, who resided at his House situated on this Side of the River, at the Distance of about Two Miles; and gave him the following Instructions.

“ Sir,

“ It is my Order, that you proceed early To-morrow Morning to the House of Rajah Cheit Sing, with your usual Guard, and put him in Arrest. You will require his immediate Submission, informing him that you act under Orders given you by me; and in case of his Refusal, you will wait the Arrival of Two Companies of Sepoys belonging to Major Popham's Detachment, who are directed to follow and assist you in the Execution of this Service. Having secured the Rajah, you will keep him in your Custody until further Orders.

“ Benares, 15th August 1781.

“ 10 at Night.

“ On the next Morning, Mr. Markham went, according to his foregoing Instructions, and was followed by Two Companies of Grenadier Sepoys, belonging to Major Popham's Detachment. The Rajah quietly submitted to the Arrest, and Mr. Markham returned to me with the following Letter from the Rajah, leaving him under the Charge of Lieutenants Stalker, Scott, and Simes. For the Particulars which passed in this Interview, I refer you to the following Report, which Mr. Markham delivered to me on his Return.

T.

“ At this Time Mr. William Markham being come to me, has informed me that your Highness's Orders are, that I should remain under a Guard. My Protector! I before represented to you on board your Pinnace, that I was the Servant of the Honourable Company, and was ready from my Heart and Soul. Whatever may be your Pleasure, do it with your own Hands. I am your Slave. What Occasion can there be for a Guard?”

“ N<sup>o</sup> 5. Report of Mr. Markham.

“ To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General; &c. &c.

“ Honourable Sir,

“ I this Morning, in obedience to your Orders of last Night, proceeded with a few of my Orderlies, accompanied by Lieutenant Stalker, to Shewalla Ghaut, the present Residence of Rajah Cheit Sing; and acquainted him, it was your Pleasure he should consider himself in Arrest; that he should order his People to behave in a quiet, orderly Manner, for that any Attempt to rescue him would be attended with his own Destruction. The Rajah submitted quietly to the Arrest, and assured me, that whatever were your Orders, he was ready implicitly to obey; he hoped, that you would allow him a Subsistence; but as for his Zemindarry, his Forts, and his Treasure, he was ready to lay them at your Feet, and his Life if required. He expressed himself much hurt at the Ignominy which he affirmed must be the Consequence of his Confinement, and intreated me to return to you with the foregoing Submission, hoping that you would make Allowances for his Youth and Inexperience, and, in Consideration of his Father's Name, release him from his Confinement, as soon as he should prove the Sincerity of his Offers, and himself deserving of your Compassion and Forgiveness.

V.

“ Nearly a Quarter of an Hour after this Conversation, Lieutenant Scott arrived with the Two Grenadier Companies of Major Popham's Detachment; to whose and Lieutenant Stalker's Care I left the Rajah, having given them the following Instructions: That they should disarm every Servant of the Rajah's; that they should allow him any such Eight or Ten Kistmutgars for the Attendance of his Person, as he should approve of; that these Men should be shewn to the Sepoys, lest any Deceit should be practised; but that they might indulge him in any Request consistent with the Security of his Person.

" I am returned to acquaint you with my Proceedings, and to receive any further Instructions which you may think necessary.

" Benares,
" 16th August 1781.

" I have the Honour to be,
" Honourable Sir,
" Your most obedient,
" humble Servant,
" (Signed) W<sup>m</sup> Markham.

" As the Rajah in the above Letter had desired that Mr. Markham might be sent back to him, I was preparing Instructions for that Purpose, when I received another Letter from the Rajah, of which the following is a Translation.

" N<sup>o</sup> 6. Letter from the Rajah.

X. " I am the Servant of the Sirkar, and am ready, from my Heart and Soul, in the Performance of your Orders. My Honour was bestowed on me by your Highness: It depends on you alone to take away, or not to take away, the Country out of my Hands. In case my Honour is not left me, how shall I be equal to the Business of the Sirkar? Whoever, with his Hands in a supplicating Posture, is ready with his Life and Property, what Necessity can there be for him to be dealt with in this Way?

Y. " From the apparent Despondency in which these Letters were written, I thought it necessary to give the Rajah some Encouragement, and accordingly wrote him the following Answer."

" N<sup>o</sup> 7. Letter from the Governor General.

" I have received your Two Arzies, from the Hands of Mr. Markham, and understand their Contents. That Gentleman will wait on you in the Afternoon, and explain Particulars. Set your Mind at rest, and do not conceive any Terror or Apprehension.

" To this I received the following Reply :

" N<sup>o</sup> 8. Letter from the Rajah.

Z. " Your gracious Letter has been received, and has made me acquainted with your Commands. You order, that in the Afternoon Mr. William Markham will come to me; that I must not suffer any Apprehension to disturb me, but remain at Ease in my Mind. My Protector! wherever you spread your Shadow over my Head, I am entirely free from Concern and Apprehension; and whatever you, who are my Master, shall as such determine, will be right.

A a. " At this Time I had prepared Mr. Markham's Second Instructions; but before he could set out with them, Intelligence came, that large Bodies of armed Men had crossed the River from Ramnagur, and had proceeded to the Rajah's House. What follows is a Scene of such Horror, that it is with the greatest Reluctance I submit to the painful Duty of relating it.—The Guard placed over the Rajah consisted of Two Companies of Grenadier Sepoys, as above-mentioned, from Major Popham's Detachment, commanded by the Officers already named, who were stationed in an enclosed Square, which surrounded the Apartment where the Rajah was. The Resident's Guard had returned with him. It now appeared that these Troops had taken no Ammunition with them. Major Popham sent another Company of Sepoys, under an Officer, with Ammunition, to reinforce and support the First Party. When the latter arrived at the Rajah's House, they found it surrounded, and all the Avenues blockaded, by a Multitude of armed Men, who opposed their Passage. The Minds of this tumultuous Assembly becoming soon inflamed, some of them began to fire upon the Sepoys within the Square; and immediately, as if this had been the concerted Signal, made an instantaneous and fierce Attack on the Sepoys; who, wanting their accustomed Means of Defence, were capable of making but a feeble Resistance, and fell an easy Sacrifice to the superior Numbers of their Assailants, who cut almost every Man of this unfortunate Party to Pieces. The Officers, it is supposed, were the first Victims to their Fury; but not until they had, by astonishing Efforts of Bravery, and undimmed amidst the imminent Dangers which surrounded them, involved a much superior Number of their Enemies in their Fate. In this general Report of them, all Accounts concur, though varying in Circumstances. I yield to my own Feelings, in bestowing this just but un-availing Tribute to these unhappy Gentlemen.

" In the Midst of this Confusion, the Rajah found Means to escape through a Wicket, which opened to a River, and the Banks being exceedingly steep in that Place, he let himself down, by Turbans tied together, into a Boat which was waiting for him, and conveyed him to the opposite Shore. Those who had effected his Escape followed him across the River in the same tumultuous Manner in which they had assembled, leaving the Party of our Sepoys which had last arrived, in Possession of the House. On the first Intelligence of this Commotion, I had directed Major Popham to repair immediately to his Camp, which was about Two Miles from the Resident's,

“ and at the same Distance from the Rajah's House, and to march instantly with the Remainder of his Detachment to the Support of the Party.

“ This Order was executed with all possible Expedition; but Major Popham arrived too late, and had the Mortification to be a Spectator of the Effects of a Massacre, which he could neither prevent nor revenge. He returned to me immediately, and made the following Report:

“ N<sup>o</sup> 9. Major Popham's Report.

“ Consequent to an Order for the Detachment under my Command to proceed to the Support of the Grenadier Companies under the Order of Lieutenant Stalker, I carried it with as much Expedition as possible to Cheyt Sing's Palace, which I found to be entirely evacuated by the Rajah's People, who were already landed on the opposite Side of the River.

“ Of the Two Companies commanded by Lieutenant Stalker, very few remained alive, and the Majority of those appeared to be severely wounded. The Bodies of Lieutenants Stalker, Scott, and Simes, were lying within a small Distance of each other, shockingly mangled, and without any Signs of Life.

“ It may be necessary to observe, that Lieutenant Birrell was dispatched with One Company of Sepoys upon the First Rumour of the Rajah's coercive Intentions, but the Fate of the Companies which preceded him was decided prior to his being able to enter the Palace. There were, however, some of the Rajah's People, whom he effectually cleared it of. In his Attack he met with some Loss. My utmost Endeavours have hitherto proved insufficient to procure an exact Detail of the Killed and Wounded in this unfortunate Transaction. I thought it necessary to leave a Company with a Subaltern in the Palace.

“ Benares,
“ 16th August 1781.

“ (Signed) W<sup>m</sup> Popham,
“ Major.

“ I cannot learn with Certainty what is become of the Rajah; but the prevailing Report is, that he fled from Ramnagur, his usual Residence on the other Side of the River, in the Middle of the Night, and proceeded with his Zennana and Effects to Lutteefgur, a strong Fort of his, situate about Ten Miles from Chunar. He was accompanied by Sujah Sing, his Brother, and Mannyar Sing, a Relation and Son by Adoption of Rajah Bulwant Sing. He has also had the Precaution to take with him Ranny Goolabkooer, the Widow of Rajah Bulwant Sing his Father, her Son-in-Law Durgbijey Sing, and his Two Sons, his Grandsons. In them he possesses every Member of his Family who can have any Plea to dispute with him the Right of Inheritance from his Father, Rajah Bulwant Sing, if that were ever a Question; his Right to the Zemindarry being derived exclusively from Sunnuds, which his Father never possessed, but which were first granted to Cheit Sing by the late Vizier Sujah ul Dowlah, through the Influence of our Government, in 1773, and since repeated by similar Grants from our Government, when the Sovereignty was ceded to the Company by the present Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah.

“ I have made Choice of Bauboo Oosaun Sing, who held the Office of Dewan during several Years of the Life of Rajah Bulwant Sing, and for a considerable Period since the Accession of the present Rajah, to administer the Revenues and Government of this Country, in the Quality of Naib, until it can be determined to whom the Zemindarry may legally belong, and who may be in a Capacity to receive it.

“ To this Effect I have caused a Proclamation to be made through the City of Benares, and have notified it by circular Perwannahs to all the Zemindars and Aumils of the Zemindarry.

“ To enforce the Execution of these Acts, to maintain Tranquillity and Order in the Country, and protect the Inhabitants, I have ordered one Battalion of Sepoys from Chunagur, the Remainder of Major Popham's Detachment from Mizzapoor, and One Regiment of Sepoys from Dinapoor, to march immediately to Benares.

“ The Detail of these Proceedings shall be transmitted to you in a subsequent Letter.—I do not expect they will detain me here much beyond the Time I had prescribed to myself, which was about 7 or 8 Days.

“ I have the Honour to be, with the greatest Esteem,

“ Sir,

“ Your most obedient

“ humble Servant,

“ (Signed) Warren Hastings.

“ P. S. The Delay occasioned in copying this Letter, from its great Length, has afforded me an Opportunity of contradicting the latter Part of it; and I have now the Satisfaction to add, that Ranny Goolaub Kooer, together with her Son-in-law Durgbijey Sing, and his Two Sons, are safe at Benares.—I have this Morning received a Visit from Durgbijey Sing and his eldest Son, Mehipnarain.”

I have read over the preceding Letter with great Attention, but can find nothing in it, with the Advantage of recent and better Means of Information, to correct; nor do I know that it requires quires a Comment. That which I am now about to make, may appear trivial, but I make it, as it impells me by its present Impression. The Rajah, in his Reply to the Charges which I had preferred against him, insists much on the many Letters which he wrote to me, praying to be dispensed from his Obedience to the Orders of Government, and my Neglect to answer them; and this Charge against me he repeats in a Manner not the most respectful. I do not know but it may be true. He had received positive Orders, and those had been repeated. It was his Duty to obey them, not to waste my Time with Letters of Excuse, to cavil with my Answers for Evasions, or with my Silence for Delays. His Vackeel was in daily Attendance on me, and knew my Mind sufficiently upon these Subjects; and what he knew, I am sure he wrote to his Master. As to his Plea of Inability to pay the Residue of the Subsidy "without Preparation," that is, without contriving the Means to raise the Money, after having sacredly promised the full and instant Discharge of it, it was as insolent, as we know too surely that it was most egregiously false.

It was truly reported that Cheit Sing, after his Escape from Showalla Gaur, immediately fled to Lutterpoor, taking his Family and his whole Force with him, except the ordinary Guard, which had been early appropriated in the Time of his Father, Bulwant Sing, under the Command of Gudgeraue Sing, who had the Title of Killadar, to the Charge of Ramnagur. This was a vast Pile of irregular, but massy Buildings, constructed of Stone, on the River Side, and within the Bed of the River. To its original Strength, Cheit Sing had added Two or Three small Bastions of Stone and Earth. A large Town had grown round it, which rendered the Approach to it suspicious; and the Intricacy of the Apartments and Passages of the Palace was such, that a cautious Officer would hesitate, under almost any Encouragement, to enter it. I had early Information, that it was in effect evacuated; and I believed it; but not being certain, I did not chuse to hazard a Repulse, nor had I a Force equal to any Operation of doubtful Success, much less of Enterprize. My whole Strength had consisted originally of Six Companies of Major Popham's Regiment, about Sixty Sepoys, which I had taken from the Garrison of Buxar, for the Protection of my Boats, and a few Men, who had been newly recruited, for the Resident's Guard; who had yet neither Arms nor Discipline. Of Major Popham's Regiment 82 Men had fallen in the Massacre of Showalla Gaur, and 92 were wounded. The whole Number of killed and wounded, of every Corps and Denomination was 205.

Every Circumstance of an Event and Time so critical to the present Existence, and the Permanency of the British Interests in India, will merit Notice in a Relation of this Kind. If Cheit Sing's People, after they had effected his Rescue, had proceeded to my Quarters at Mahdoodof's Garden, instead of crowding after him in a tumultuous Manner, as they did, in his Passage over the River, it is most probable that my Blood, and that of about Thirty English Gentlemen of my Party, would have been added to the recent Carnage; for they were above 2,000 in Number, furious and daring, from the easy Success of their last Attempt; nor could I assemble more than 50 regular and armed Sepoys for my whole Defence. Let it not be thought, that I attribute too much Consequence to my own Person, when I suppose the Fate of the British Empire in India connected with it. Mean as its Substance may be, its accidental Properties were equivalent to those, which, like the magical Characters of a Talisman in the Arabian Mythology, formed the Essence of the State itself; Representation, Title, and the Estimate of public Opinion. Such a Stroke as that which I have supposed, would have been universally considered as decisive of the National Fate; every State around it would have started into Arms against it; and every Subject of its own Dominion would, according to their several Abilities, have become its Enemy. What really passed approaching to such an Effect, from the sole Apprehension of such a Cause, more than warrants the Conclusion of what would have followed the Cause itself, had it existed.

The Effects of the first Consternation having subsided, a Number of Men, reputed 2000, returned to Ramnagur on the 18th, under the Command of Ramjeeawun, a confidential and domestic Chief of the Family.

The Remainder of Major Popham's Detachment, consisting of Four Companies of Sepoys, One Company of Artillery, and the Company of French Rangers, lay at Mirzapoor.

These were ordered to march immediately to Ramnagur. Lieutenant Colonel Blair was ordered to detach a Battalion of Sepoys from the Garrison of Chunar on the same Destination. It was intended, that as soon as these Corps had joined, and were properly equipped for Service, Major Popham should take the Command, and proceed against the Forces quartered in Ramnagur. I wrote an order express to Captain Blair, who commanded the Battalion from Chunar, commanding him to halt at a secure Distance from Ramnagur, and wait for further Orders; and Major Popham, whom I had afterwards vested with the Command in form, wrote a similar Order to Captain Mayaffre, the Officer commanding the Residue of his Detachment, with an additional Caution to avoid Hostilities, and attend to the Safety of the whole Party, of which, being the Senior Officer, he would have the Command till Major Popham assumed it. To ensure the Success of his Operations on that Side, he had chosen a convenient and open Plain on the Shore opposite to Ramnagur, for a Battery of Two Mortars, which were expected from Chunar; nor can there be a Doubt that a Place so peculiarly ill formed for such a Mode of Attack, and in no State of Defence against a wary Assailant, would have proved an easy Conquest. Unhappily, the ill-timed Ambition of a rash Individual defeated this Plan, and had nearly caused the Destruction of the whole Party. Captain Mayaffre, unwilling, as it appears, for no other possible Motive can be ascribed to so precipitate and irregular a Conduct, to lose the Opportunity which his present and casual Command afforded him, of acquiring a military Reputation, Reputation, without Plan, without Enquiry, against the Advice of his Officers, and against Order; ordered the Detachment to march into the narrow Lanes of the Town, where they were opposed by the Fire of an Enemy surrounding them unseen, and the Party which entered were in an Instant annihilated, rather than defeated. Twenty-three Men of the Corps of Rangers, with their Commander Captain Doxat, who led the Attack, were killed, and Ten wounded; the 1st Battalion of the 6th Regiment of Sepoys, commanded by Captain Blair, which followed, lost 57 killed and 41 wounded. The whole Loss sustained in all the Corps was 107 killed and 72 wounded. Captain Mayaffre was killed. The Detachment instantly retreated. The Retreat appears to have been conducted by Captain Blair, and in a Manner that did him much Credit. The Enemy pursued with little Effect, their Numbers gradually lessening till the Detachment arrived within Four Miles of Chunar, which it regained the same Evening.

This unfortunate Affair happened on the Morning of the 20th of August.

I considered myself now as plunged in a decided War, and made every Provision both for its speedy Termination and for its Confinement to the Scene in which it had opened.

Orders were written, and dispatched in multiplied Copies, to the different military Stations, for Assistance; to the Resident of the Vizier's Court, for a Supply of Treasure; and to Lieutenant Colonel Blair, for an instant Reinforcement. The Detail of these Orders will be found in the Appendix. Very few reached their Destination, the Communication with every Quarter being intercepted, and all the Country in Arms against us; and our Emissaries, unused to this dangerous Service, either made Prisoners, or not daring to execute it, and secreting their Dispatches. Two of my Letters reached Colonel Blair, who ordered Captain M'Dougal, with the 2d Battalion of the 6th Regiment, to march on the next Day, which was the 21st, to Benares. I now passed an Interval, like that of a dead Calm preceding a violent Storm, and fraught with all the Symptoms of its certain Approach. Successive Notices were brought to me by various Channels, of Preparations making at Rannagur for an Assault on my Quarters, which stood in the Midst of the Suburbs of Benares, and consisted of many detached Buildings within one large Enclosure, surrounded by Houses and Trees, which intercepted every other Prospect. The whole Force which I had left, amounted to about 450 Men. The Report of an intended Assault, which was fixed for that Night, grew stronger as the Day advanced; the Boats on the other Side of the River were said to be in Motion; and, besides the moral Certainty of the real Existence of such a Design, the obvious Advantages which it presented to the Enemy, who had nothing left to fear, and nothing else to do, precluded all Hesitation but on the Choice of Expedients for defeating it: There were but Two; which were, to wait the Danger and try the Chance of repelling it, or to retreat to a Place of greater Security or of equal Advantage for the Encounter. The confined State of the Place, of which any Description will be insufficient to convey an adequate Idea, rendered the First Plan impracticable: We had not a Force sufficient to guard all the Defences of that Place, nor a Store for the Provisions of a Day even for that small Number: The only Arguments for it were, the Disgrace of a Flight, and the Consideration of our wounded Sepoys, whom it might leave at the Discretion of a merciless Enemy. The former Consideration yielded to the superior Weight of Necessity, the latter, to the Impossibility of protecting the wounded Men, in either Case, as they were quartered at the Distance of near a Mile from Mahdoodo's Garden, nor would it have been possible, in their Condition, and in the Multiplicity of pressing Exigencies which the Resolution to remain would have created, to remove them. Yet these Considerations held me suspended during the whole Course of the Day. In the Evening it became necessary to come to a final Determination, as the Delay of a few Hours might now preclude every Option. I consulted Major Popham; he declared the Defence of that Place impossible, and advised a Retreat to Chunar. There were other Field Officers with me: I asked for their Opinions separately; they clearly and unhesitatingly agreed in the same Advice. My Opinion had been determined from the Instant that I received the certain Information of Captain Mayaffre's Defeat. I had not yet received the News of Captain M' Dougal's March, nor any Answer to the Letters which I had written to Lieutenant Colonel Blair for a Reinforcement; nor could I know whether these had reached him. I yielded to the Reluctance of a few Minutes. My Resolution was taken, and declared, and Orders given to form our little Corps, that we might have Time to gain the open Country, before the Enemy, having Notice of the Design, could cross and attack us at the Disadvantage of the Streets, Lanes, and broken Ground, which we had to pass before we could reach it. These Orders were issued between Seven and Eight o'Clock, and by Eight the Line was in Motion, having been much retarded and impeded by an incredible Tumult of Servants, Palankeens, and Baggage of every Denomination, which for a Time threatened a total Obstruction to our March; fortunately, this enormous Mass took the wrong Road, which left the right with a free and undisturbed Passage for the Sepoys. On the Way we passed Captain M' Dougal's Battalion, about Nine o'Clock. We sent him timely Notice of our Movement, he turned and joined us. Early the next Morning we arrived at Chunar.

It is proper to mention, that as soon as I had formed my Resolution to leave Benares, I sent my Moonshy to the Nabob Saadut Ally Cawn, to inform him of it, and to recommend the wounded Sepoys to his Care; believing that the Rajah, from a Consideration of Policy, would not chuse to molest them, especially as he could have no Motive or Object to it but Revenge, if he would shew a determined Resolution to protect them. The same Request I made to him in Writing after my Arrival at Chunar. I owe him the Justice to attest, that he faithfully and liberally complied with my Request. He visited them himself, and furnished them with Provisions and with Money,

Money, and appointed native Surgeons to attend them; and, as they were able to bear it, he caused them all to be removed to his own Quarters.

Many Reports and Suspicions have prevailed of his being concerned in some of the Designs which were formed against us. I can neither credit nor refute them. The Evil imputed to him is at best doubtful: The Good which he did is certain, and he is entitled to the entire Merit of it.

I avail myself of this Repose in my Narrative to relate another Instance of private Merit in Beneram Pundit, the Vackeel or Minister of the Rajah of Berar, and his Brother Bisumber Pundit. These Persons had come to pay their customary Attendance at my Quarters, about the Time that the Line was already on the March. They immediately joined it. Some Time after I saw and spoke to them, expressing some Concern to find them in that Situation. They were on Foot, without a single Servant or Attendant. I suffered them to accompany me till we came to the Plain and halted. I then thanked them for the Proof which they had shewn of their Attachment, with which I was satisfied, and desired them to return, as they had a large Family in Benares, which would be exposed by their Continuance with me to the Repentment of Cheit Sing, and perhaps to the worst Effects of it, nor could by their Presence afford me any Service, which could repay what I myself should feel of Compunction for suffering them to be exposed to such Hazards. They refused me in a peremptory Manner, without Compliment, or the Ostentation of performing meritorious Service; and persisted, although I as peremptorily insisted on their Return. I then desired that the elder Brother, who was corpulent, and of a Constitution less equal to Fatigue, would return, and the younger only remain; but could not prevail. A few Days after my Arrival at Chunar, I casually mentioned to them my Distress for Provisions, which was occasioned principally by the Want of Money; for such was our total Loss of Credit, that we could not raise a Sufficiency even for the ordinary Wants of our small Detachment; and it was with great Difficulty, and a Degree of Violence, that Lieutenant Colonel Blair extorted from the Shroffs of Chunar, who had lived and grown opulent under the Protection of the Garrison, the small Sum of 2,500 Rupees, which was distributed among all the Sepoys, and afforded a satisfactory Relief. Beneram Pundit immediately, and with an Eagerness which belonged to his Character, told me that he had a Lack of Rupees in ready Money, lying in his House at Benares, which I might take, if I could find any Means to receive and convey it to Chunar; and the younger Brother advised, as the simplest Expedient, to send a Battalion of Sepoys for that Purpose, which could easily go and return without Interruption, as there were no Troops stationed near the Town on that Side of the River, offering to accompany it himself, and to bring away the Money. I rejected this Proposal for an obvious Reason, and preferred the Trial of the Means which the Shroffs are supposed to practise for the Conveyance of Money on such Occasions. I accepted a Draft on their Family for the Sum, payable to Cantoo Baboo, my Dewan, who had been left in Benares, and sent it inclosed in a Letter to him, with Directions to concert with Gopaul Doss the Means of conveying it to Chunar. This proved ineffectual. Cantoo Baboo could not be found. Gopaul Doss was seized (I forget at what exact Period of Time) and sent a Prisoner to Lutteespoor, and in a short Time after, Cantoo Baboo was also secured and conveyed to the same Place of Confinement; I was obliged therefore to wait for a more favourable Opportunity, which never happened while I remained at Chunar. After my Return to Benares, Beneram again repeated the Offer; I accepted it, and received the whole Amount on the Instant, giving him a Note in the Company's Name, and in the usual Form, for the same.

Examples of Fidelity and national Attachment merit the first Reward of being recorded. In me it is a Duty both of public and private Obligation to relate what I have related. Their Merit is national; for, under whatever Impressions their Assistance was offered, its Object was the national Service, nor can my Person in such an Instance be separated from my public Character.

On the 20th or 21st, I forget which, I received a Letter from Rajah Cheit Sing, filled with Expressions of slight Concern for what had passed; and Professions, but indefinite and unapplied, of Fidelity. I did not think it becoming to make any Reply to it; and I think I ordered the Bearer of the Letter to be told that it required none.

On the Morning of the 21st, a Person came to Mr. Richard Johnson, who was one of my Party, and desired his Interposition with me to receive a Letter and Messenger from the Rajah in the Evening, with Proposals for an Accommodation. The like Application was made by Mizza Abdoolla Beg, the Rajah's Vackeel, to my Dewan Cantoo Babboo; and with my Permission, Cantoo Baboo returned to his own House in the Evening, to meet the Vackeel by Appointment for that Purpose; by which Means he missed the Opportunity of going off with me, the Intelligence of my Intention reaching him too late for him to join me, or his infirm State of Body not admitting of his taking so hasty a Resolution. The Substance of the Message, as it has been since delivered to me by Abdoolla Beg in Writing, was to exculpate himself from any Concern in what had passed, which he charged to the intolent Behaviour of a Servant of the Resident's who was present, and the Repentment of his own People; and to profess his Obedience and Submission to my Will in whatever Way I should dictate.

I regarded this as an Artifice to gain Time, since the Message, whatever were the Substance of it, might as easily have been delivered in the Morning as in the Evening, and the Messenger might have obtained an easy Access to me, without the Intrigue and Mystery of secret and indirect Applications.

I have been since confirmed in this Opinion by the Two following Anecdotes, and their exact Coincidence with the Design to which I attribute that just recited.

On the Morning of the 21st, while Preparations were making to cross Captain M'Dougal's Battalion, Three Men, Two Strangers, and all Volunteers, went successively to Colonel Blair, with Intelligence that a Design was formed to escalate the Fort of Chunar with a numerous Force on that Night; and an earnest Caution, that he should not diminish the Strength of his Garrison.

The Intelligence and Advice delivered by each were expressed nearly in the same Words. When M'Dougal's Battalion was on the Road Three Men, Strangers and Volunteers, like the former, came to him successively with Intelligence, that a large Body of armed Men lay wait to intercept him at a Village called Beeterburr, and warned him not to proceed. He proceeded, but did not meet a Man. Lieutenant Colonel Blair caused a more than ordinary Watch to be kept on that Night in the Fort, but not a Man appeared to attack it. Not one of these Emissaries have ever been seen since.

As it had been my original Intention to make but a short Stay at Benares, the Nabob Vizier, in the Expectation of my Visit, had already left his Capital, and advanced to a short Distance to meet me. I considered that his Presence would prove of much Service, by its Influence on our Credit; and his Troops, Rabble as they were, might serve to keep the Country in Awe, and to divide the Attention of the Enemy. But these Advantages would invert the Relation of our Alliance, and give him a Superiority in our Meeting, which would defeat the Purposes of it; besides, that I did not think it consistent with the Dignity of our Government, to employ a Foreign Aid for the Suppression of a Rebellion of its own Subjects: I therefore wrote a Letter to the Nabob, requesting him to return to Lucknow, and remain there until I should have Leisure from the actual Disturbances to prosecute my original Journey. The Nabob refused to comply with this Injunction, and on the first Intimation of my Difficulties resolved to join me; and he executed this Purpose with such apparent Earnestness, that he made his first Stage with no other Attendance than about 100 Horse, and about Four Companies of his Body Guards, with his usual domestic Attendants. As soon as I was informed of this, to remove any unfavourable Impression of my former Letter under the Construction of Distress, I wrote another to the Nabob, expressing the warmest Sense of such a Testimony of his Attention, apologizing for what I had before written, from an Unwillingness to involve him in a Scene of Trouble, and expressing my Desire to see him at Chunar according to his own Wishes.

In the mean Time I had received several Intimations imputing evil Designs to the Nabob, and warning me to guard myself against them, and especially be careful that I did not expose myself to the Effects of concealed Treachery, by visiting him without a strong Guard. Many Circumstances favoured this Suspicion. No sooner had the Rebellion of this Zemindarry manifested itself, than its Contagion instantly flew to Fyzabad and the extensive Territory lying on the North of the River Dewa, and known by the Names of Goorucpoor and Bareech. In the City of Fyzabad, Nawaub Allea and Junaaby Allea, the Mother and Grandmother of the Nabob, openly espoused the Party of Cheit Sing, encouraging and inviting People to enlist for his Service, and their Servants took up Arms against the English. Two Battalions of regular Sepoys in the Vizier's Service, under the Command of Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, who had been entrusted with the Charge of that District, were attacked and surrounded in various Places, many of them cut to Pieces, and Colonel Hannay himself, encompassed by Multitudes, narrowly escaped the same Fate. The Nabob Vizier was charged with being privy to the Intrigues which had produced and fomented these Disturbances; and the little Account that he seemed to make of them, served to countenance the Suspicion. I can truly say for myself, that I never afforded it the slightest Degree of Credit; neither his Character, the Tenor of his past Conduct, the Expectations which I knew he entertained of Assistance and Relief from myself, nor his Inability to support himself without the Protection of our Government, allowing me for a Moment to entertain a Thought so injurious to his Fidelity, and so contrary to Probability. Yet I was not perfectly free from Apprehensions similar to such a Suggestion. The Nabob was surrounded by Men base in their Characters, and improvident in their Understandings, his Favourites and the Companions of his looser Hours. These had every Cause to dread the Effect of my Influence on theirs; and both these, and the Relations of the Family, whose Views of Consequence and Power were intercepted by our Participation in the Administration of his Affairs, entertained a mortal Hatred to our Nation, and openly avowed it. These all joined in prescribing the most pernicious and fatal Counsels to the Nabob, representing this as the Time to deliver himself from what they described as the Yoke of Servitude. Although he firmly rejected all their Persuasions, and I was assured of it, was in their Power to use both his Authority and his Person for the Perpetration of their own Designs; nor could I use any Precaution to avoid them, which would not appear to proceed from a Distrust of the Nabob himself. I never communicated my Apprehensions, nor acted from them, and had the Satisfaction of receiving the Nabob, of maintaining an Intercourse with him, with every Mark of the most secure and mutual Confidence, and of parting with him with every Demonstration of mutual Satisfaction.

I had before written to Colonel Morgan for Assistance. I now repeated the Order; and, as the Issue of a War, begun with such Disadvantages on our Side, and with the total Loss of the Country, was doubtful, I added an Order to follow with his whole Force, with another to Colonel Sir John Cumming, who commanded at Futteh Gur, to supply his Place at Cawnpoor. I considered, that if we were successful with a less Exertion, it would be easy to countermand these Orders before the Troops could have advanced far in the Execution of them; but if we failed of Success, and such Orders were not sent, it might be too late to issue them with any Hope of Effect from them, or even of their being received, since the Communication, which was now very difficult and uncertain, might then be absolutely precluded. None of my Letters reached Colonel Morgan till he had taken his Resolution. Reports were conveyed to him of my Situation and past Misadventures. The sudden Failure of Intelligence convinced him of the Truth of what he heard; and, justly concluding that Orders had been sent which had been stopped in their Way to him, he at once resolved to execute their supposed and obvious Purport, and detached a Force superior to that which I had required, to my Assistance. It consisted of Two Regiments of Sepoys, Thirty European Artillery Men, and Two Companies of the European Regiment, with Four Six Pounders, One Howitz, Tumbrils, Ammunition, Draft and Carriage Cattle; for the greater Expedition he ordered this Detachment to proceed by Water. The Zeal of the Officers so well seconded that of their Commander, that although it appears that the Resolution was taken on the 29th, the Whole were embarked and in Movement on the 31st of the Month. Major Crabb commanded the Detachment.

A long Interval of Time, which acquired its full Measure from the Magnitude of the Events which were expected to grow out of it, and their uncertain Production, passed in total Ignorance of the Success of the various Orders which had been dispatched, and of the Succours which might be preparing for us. One Half of the Province of Oud was in a State of as complete a Rebellion as that of Benares. Futteh Shah had invaded Sircar Saurun, in our Province Bahar, supported by Supplies of Money, and encouraged with Promises of more from Cheit Sing. Many of the Zemindars of Bahar had discovered Symptoms of Disaffection; and Reports were made to me of Levies of Men openly entertained for the Enemy from our own Subjects in that Province; even the wretched Subjects of Napall dared to seize by Force some Villages to which they had a Claim, and had some Time before supplicated the Attention of our Government to it. In my Impatience for Advices I dreaded that every Packet would bring a fresh Accumulation to our Distresses, and the News of Commotions in every Quarter. At this Period a Letter found its Way to me from Colonel Muir, who commanded the Army employed against Mahdajee Sindia, informing me of Overtures made by that Chief for a separate Peace. This had been one of the Objects of my Journey to this Quarter; but eagerly as I had sought such an Event, I was proportionably mortified to learn with what Facility it might have been accomplished, and how unseasonably our domestic Misfortune had happened to defeat so fair a Prospect of it. I had no Money, nor Credit equal to the Supply of 3,000 Rupees, and, by an unfortunate Train of official Perplexities, which had happened some Time preceding this, both Major Popham's Regiment, the Rangers, and all the Corps of the Garrison of Chunar, were Four Months in Arrears. This was our Situation.

What Force could be spared from the Garrison of Chunar, added to Major Popham's Regiment, was formed into a Detachment under his Command, and encamped on a Plain about a Mile to the Eastward of Chunar. The greatest Strength of the Enemy was collected at Pateeta, about Seven Miles from Chunar, in the same Direction.

On the 27th of August, Lieutenant Polhill arrived with Six Companies of Sepoys belonging to the Nabob Vizier's Body Guard stationed at Illahabad. He was ordered to encamp on the opposite Bank of the River, for the Purpose of keeping our Communication open with that Shore. On the 29th he attacked and defeated a considerable Body of Troops under the Command of a principal Chief, named Shaub Cawn, who was stationed at a small Fort and Town called Seeker, within Sight of Chunar. The Advantages gained by this Success were the Removal of that Part of the Enemy, and the Acquisition of a considerable Booty in Grain, which had been the Object of the Enterprize.

On the 3d of September, Major Popham detached Captain Blair, with his Battalion, and Two Companies of his own Grenadiers, to surprize the Camp at Pateeta. They marched at Three in the Morning, and arrived at the Ground by Day-light, but found it abandoned, and the Enemy waiting for them in complete Order at about a Mile beyond it. A bloody Action ensued, in which the Enemy, as might be expected from Men flushed with recent Successes, fought with a desperate Intrepidity. Our Sepoys began to break into Disorder, when, by a well-timed and successful Attack of the Enemy's Guns by the Two Companies of Grenadiers, headed by Lieutenants Fallon and Berrell, the Fortune of the Day turned in our Favour, and the Field was left to our Possession, with Four Guns and Four Tumbrils. One of the Guns, its Carriage being broken, was spiked and left. The other Three, with one of the Tumbrils loaded with as much Ammunition as it could carry, was brought away. The other Three Tumbrils, with Two hundred Maunds of loose Powder, were blown up. About 1,500 round Shot of different Weights, and mostly hammered, were found and left in a Village adjacent.

Our Loss in this Action was very great; we had 48 Men killed, and 85 wounded: That of the Enemy was unknown, but must have been considerable. Their Guns were well served, and it was from their Execution that we principally suffered. It was remarkable, that they had all the Apparatus of our Artillery, such as Port Fires, Tubes, Chain and Quilled Grape Shot, &c. equal, or nearly equal, to the Production of an European Laboratory; Samples of each Kind will be sent to the Board. Their Artillery did not answer to the Quality of the Stores. One Gun was of Modern Cast, and with its Carriage, which was not bad, said to have been made at Ramnagar. The others others were of a very old Cast and Construction, and their Carriages bad and much worn: This was the general Character of all the Ordnance taken in the Course of the War.

Dearly as this Victory was purchased, with the Expenditure of One Fourth of the Party, it was yet a Victory, ascertained and acknowledged; and had its due Effect of impressing the Enemy with Discouragement, and our own Men with Confidence; and it was an Earnest of our future Success in the public Opinion, which at all Times is of high Importance to our political Influence; was especially so at this, in which the Minds of all Men were suspended for the Decision of the Part which they were to take, either in the immediate Contest, or in their own Conduct as dependant on it.

I must not omit in this Place an Instance of Vengeance which marks the sanguinary Character of Cheit Sing, and too strongly proves, that if the other Excesses committed by his People were not authorized by his express Order, they were perpetrated under the Influence of his Example and the Knowledge of his Inclination.

Fourteen Men of the Corps of Rangers had been left sick at Mizzapoor, when the Remainder of Major Popham's Detachment marched under the Command of Captain Mayaffre, at Ramnagar. They were made Prisoners, and sent to Lutteefpoor. They arrived there on the 3d of September, about the same Time that News was received of Captain Blair's Action at Pateeta, which happened on that Morning. What Provocation they gave, or whether any, is not known: It is furnished, but I know not the Authority, that one of these unhappy Men expressed a Joy on hearing that our Arms had been successful. They were all butchered on the Spot, and almost in the immediate Presence of the Rajah, except one Man, who made a Shift to crawl with a mangled Body to the neighbouring Woods, where he subsisted for a few Days; returned to the Fort; received Mercy, and is still living in our Camp. The Particulars of this Massacre have been since verified, with some unessential Variations from my Relation of it, in an Affidavit of the Survivor, which will be annexed.

On the 10th of September, at about Seven in the Morning, Major Crabb's Detachment appeared on the opposite Shore. It consisted of the Corps already related. It had proceeded as far as Illahabad by Water, but much retarded in its Course by strong and adverse Winds, on which Account, the Course of the Water also winding very much between Illahabad and Chunar, Major Crabb had prudently disembarked the Men and Stores, and marched them by the high Road, remanding the Boats to Cawnpore, whither indeed their Return would have been impracticable, and they passed the Boundary of this Zemindary.

Major Roberts, with his Regiment and a Lack of Rupees, arrived on the 13th of September, from Lucknow; to which Place, as I have before related, he had been ordered to repair for the Guard of my Person, in my intended Visit to that Capital. A further Supply of Fifty thousand Rupees was a few Days after received from the Nabob's Aumil of Illahabad.

The Money was immediately distributed among all the Troops in equal Proportions; and by satisfying their Wants, facilitated Major Popham's Preparations for the Commencement of active Operations.

I have a Pleasure in testifying, that, distressed as the Sepoys had been for the Want of Money, they had never manifested the least Symptom of Discontent. I had frequently visited the Camp, and passed the Lines each Time in Review; once, and only once, I heard One or Two Voices of Complaint, but neither clamorous nor disrespectful.

On the 11th, the Nabob Vizier arrived at his Encampment, which had been formed on the opposite Shore. I chose to make him the first Visit, which was performed on the same Morning, and was returned by him on the next.

Hyder Beg, the Nabob's Second Minister, arrived at the same Time. He had been deputed early to meet me at Benares, and had arrived there about Two Days after my Departure from it. Instead of following me to Chunar, he had suffered himself to be detained by Lalla Bucherange, the Shroff, who had promised to accompany him with a Supply of Money. In the mean Time, a sudden and great Swell of the River rendered the Burna Nulla, behind which he was encamped, impassable. The Rajah's People at the same Time carried away all the Boats, and after a long and fruitless Negotiation with them for an unmolested Passage, which he did not think it prudent to attempt at the Hazard of the Opposition, he at length did attempt it, and met none. His Indecision on this Occasion furnished Ground for various Suspicions; but I know, and had Assurances from a Person in my Suite, who had taken Refuge with him, and acquired his Confidence, and on whose Authority I could implicitly rely, that they were wholly devoid of Foundation. I had a pleasing and incontrovertible Evidence of his Fidelity soon after the Conclusion of our Troubles, in a Letter which Captain Blair picked up at Lutteefpoor, and which I shall add to the Appendix, not merely as a Justification of the Minister, but as a Relief to the dry and unentertaining Materials with which it is associated, if it shall convey the same Opinion of the good Sense of the Writer to other Minds, as it has done to mine.

G g. "To which are to be added, Husbandmen and Adventurers who took up Arms voluntarily, making the foregoing Number amount to near Forty thousand."

These Forces were divided between Lutteefpoor, Pateeta and Ramnagur. The best reputed of them were at Pateeta, and the great Mafs, composing the last Corps, with a Part of the others, at Lutteefpoor with the Rajah, who had fixed his Residence at that Place since his Flight from Shawalla Gaut.

Before I proceed, it may not be improper to state the other Resources on which he, not very unreasonably, depended for lengthening the War, if not for Success in the Course of it.

First, his Fortresses; of which there are many, and some of considerable Extent and Strength, erected in various Parts of the Zemindary. Of these, the Two principal are Bidjeygur and Lutteefpoor.

A P P E N D I X, N° 1.

poor.—Ramnagur scarcely deserves to be named with them; and Pateeta has been rendered considerable only by its having been a capital Scene of his Opposition, and of our Victories.

Bidjeygur is a Fort erected on the solid Rock of a Hill, rising to the Height of 745 perpendicular Feet from the level Ground. It lies about Fifty Miles in a South East Direction from Chunar. It was the Depository of all his and his Father's Treasures.

Lutteespoor is a large Fort built with Stone, and surrounded by Hills, and, either from Neglect or Design, obstructed from distant View by Trees and thick Shrubs surrounding it. It lies about 14 Miles Eastward from Chunar.

Pateeta is a very large Town, surrounded by a Rampart of Earth, extending to a great Distance beyond it to the Hills adjoining. The Fort itself is a small square House of Stone, itself fortified with Four round Towers, and enclosed with a high Rampart, and a Ditch which is in most Parts broad and deep. Its greatest Advantage against an Enemy, to whom Delay was Defeat, was that it was invisible to its Assailants.

Ramnagur has been described already: The other Forts, whatever their Consequence under a different Train of Successes might have been, are of none to the Events of this Narrative.

His next great Resource was his Wealth; on which he looked and thought himself invincible—an Expression which I borrow from one of the meanest of his Dependants. It is credibly affirmed, that he inherited from his Father Bulwant Sing, a complete Crore of Rupees, to which it is believed that he made considerable Additions.

The Distresses of our Government, and the Power and Number of its Enemies, may also be reckoned, though negative, yet amongst his Resources. The rest were delusory, which the false and violent Counsels of his Brother Sujan Sing, and his Buxey Saddanund, imposed on his Inexperience, and the Pliancy and Aptitude of his Disposition.

It would break the Attention, and perplex the Thread of the Narrative, to relate every distinct Event in its exact Order of Time. I have therefore, in the minuter Points, endeavoured rather to arrange them according to their Relation to the greater, or to find a Place for them in the vacant Intervals and Pauses of it. It may be proper in this Place to mention, that during the Time of Inaction which succeeded to my Arrival at Chunar, I received several Letters from Cheit Sing, besides Letters from Mr. Barnet, and one from Canto Babboo, who were both his Prisoners at Lutteespoor, which were written by his Order. These were all alike in Substance, containing Acknowledgements and Professions of his Submission to my Authority; Assertions of his own Innocence, charging the Massacre at Showalla to the Chubdar, whose Insults provoked the Resentment of his Servants, whom he could not restrain, and claiming a Merit from his having in the Three past Actions been the suffering Party, though successful, and in none the Aggressor; adding general Offers of Accommodation; and in the Letters written by his Order, a pompous Display of his inexhaustible Wealth, the Multitude and Bravery of his Forces, and the devoted Affection and Fidelity of all his Subjects. I refused to answer them, letting him know that they were written with too much Presumption, in the Style of Equality, and with inapplicable Professions, which were no better than none. Some of these Letters will appear in the Appendix; the rest were lost.

It had been intended to begin our Operations with the Attack of Ramnagur, partly because it had been the Scene of our first Disgrace, and principally because the Repossession of the Capital, which would follow the Capture of Ramnagur, would, it was thought, redeem our Credit with the Public, and be deemed equivalent, in the distant Reports of it, to the complete Recovery of our Authority over the Country, as the Existence of a fugitive Chief in the Wilds and Mountains would be little regarded, when he was expelled from the Capital of his Government and the Seat of his Collections. For this Purpose battering Cannon and Mortars were ordered to Major Popham's Camp, and every other Preparative made for a Siege. This caused the Delay of some Days. In the mean Time a Man, named Bundoo Cawn, a Native and Inhabitant of the Town of Chunar, gave Information, that as the Rajah's Force was principally collected at Lutteespoor and Pateeta, and was daily accumulating, it would become exceedingly difficult to dislodge him, if he was allowed to gain too great Strength there by a Process of detailed and consecutive Operations; that the Approaches both to Pateeta and Lutteespoor were strongly guarded, and especially those of Lutteespoor, which he described as unassailable, but with a great and certain Loss, on this Side, the only Road to it lying through Pateeta; and even if carried, untenable from the Strength of the Pass behind it, of which the Enemy would keep Possession in Defiance of all our Efforts, and against any Superiority of Numbers. This Pass takes its Name from the adjacent Village of Suckroot. He advised a divided Plan of Attack, to be executed at the same Point of Time; one on the Fort of Pateeta, the other on the Pass of Suckroot; of which our Forces coming on it by Surprise, it being unguarded and easier of Access from above, might easily obtain Possession, and by that Means gain the same Advantage over the Garrison of Lutteespoor, as that would have over us, if we first took Possession of the Fort, with the Command of every Road of Communication, of which he did not doubt, if we succeeded against Pateeta. He offered to conduct the Party which should be destined on the Service against the Pass of Suckroot, by a Road unfrequented and unknown, which he described with a minute, and, as it has since appeared, correct Detail. The Confidence with which he spoke, and the Consistency of his Assertions, and Reasonings upon them, acquired a great additional Strength from his former recent Conduct. He had accompanied Captain Blair in both Actions of Ramnagur and Pateeta, and had been very serviceable to that Officer by his Knowledge of the Ground, and by his Advice in the Application of it. His Service on the Occasions had been gratuitous, nor did he profess any other Motive for that which he now offered, but the Interest and Safety of a large Family, which depended on our Success.

Major Popham at once saw the Propriety of his Advice, and adopted it. The Evening of the 15th was appointed for the first Execution of the Plan; in the mean Time it was concealed with the most profound Secrecy. As a Security for the Fidelity and Steadiness of Bundoo Cawn, he had a Promise of a Jageer in Perpetuity for himself and his Family, if the Enterprize succeeded. This Engagement has been since amply performed. Major Popham formed his Army into Two Divisions, one destined for the more distant Enterprize, and commanded by Major Crabb; it consisted of the 7th Regiment, Major Crabb's, the First Battalion of the 6th Regiment, Lieutenant Polhill's Six Companies of the Nabob's Body Guard, Four Six-Pounders, and a 5  $\frac{1}{2}$  Inch Howitz. These Corps were told off, and began their March about Eleven that Night. Major Popham began his March with the other Division at about Three o'Clock in the Morning to Pateeta.

On his Arrival there, he found the Works much stronger, and the Approach more hazardous, than he had expected from the Description which had been given of the Place. He applied for the Two Battering Cannon and the Mortar, which had been originally intended for the Attack of Ramnagur, and remanded in the Change of Plan. They were sent, but made no Impression, and he resolved in the Encouragement of Five Days Experience, and from the Fear of a Delay operating against the other Part of his Plan, to attempt a Storm. This was ordered, and executed in the Morning of the 20th, with an instant and compleat Success. Major Roberts commanded the Storming Party. The Enemy made a slight Stand at the outer Intrenchment, and fled through the Fort, our Men following without Opposition. A slight Attack was made at this Time on our Camp, but repelled with some Loss on the Part of the Enemy, and none on ours. We lost during the Siege Eleven Men killed, besides Ten wounded.

On the same Morning, Major Crabb having conducted his Division through almost impracticable Ways, arrived at a Village called Lora, which lies about Two Miles from the Pass. Here he found a Body of Men, with Three Guns, posted to oppose him: They made a firm Stand, but were defeated with a considerable Loss; ours was Twelve Men of every Denomination killed, and Twenty-two wounded. The Enemy fled through the Pass to Lutteespoor; our Detachment followed to the Head of the Pass, and there encamped for the Remainder of the Day.

The News of these concurrent Successes being conveyed to the Rajah at the same Instant of Time, alarmed him exceedingly for his own personal Safety. His Fears were excited with a more forcible Impression by the Surprise of the Advance of so great a Force from a Quarter where he had not expected any. With his Face turned towards Chunar, and his whole Attention and that of his People directed to the Movements which were made on that Side, they had no Suspicion of any Design being formed behind them. The first Intelligence which was received of Major Crabb's Party, described it as consisting of the Followers of Cossau Sing, and only Three Companies of our Sepoys; the Hircarrahs who conveyed the News possibly mistaking the advanced Guard for the whole Force, and reporting it accordingly; nor was the real Strength of the Party known, even by that which was detached to oppose it, until the Instant of the Action. This Circumstance was related at the Time, and has been since confirmed to me by an Officer, named Myher, who commanded a small Body of the Rajah's Sepoys and the Guns in the Action. No Design could be more judiciously planned, or more happily executed; even the Impediments and Disappointments which attended it, served but to promote the Coincidence of the final Movements of its Operation with so well-timed an Effect, that the Difference of Time which passed between the Engagement at Lora and the Conquest of Pateeta, was little more than that which would be required by the Difference of the Distances of each from Lutteespoor, for the News of each Success to reach Lutteespoor at the same Instant.

Cheit Sing instantly prepared for Flight: His Road to Bidgey Gur, which was his last Refuge, lay through the Pass which he durst not attempt. He left Lutteespoor about Three or Four in the Afternoon, and making a Circuit over the Hills, gained the high Road at the Distance of some Miles beyond the Pass, and proceeded with a few Followers to the Neighbourhood of Bidjeygur. Some others followed and rejoined him; the rest, left without Orders, staid but to plunder the Place, and evacuated it. The Gown Wallahs, or Militia, composed of the Husbandmen who had been summoned to attend him, all fled to their own Homes. So rapid was the Report of this Event in its Communication, and so decisive in its Effect, that the Fort of Sutteesgur, which lies about Seven or Eight Miles to the Northward of Lutteespoor, and the Palace of Ramnagur, were evacuated on the same Evening; and the Allegiance of the whole Country restored as compleatly in the Course of a few Hours, from a State of universal Revolt to its proper Channel, as if it had never departed from it.

H h.

On the next Morning, the 21st, Major Crabb marched through the Pass to Lutteespoor, and found it abandoned.

On the same Day Major Moses Crawford, with the 28th Regiment of Sepoys, arrived from Dinapoor, and joined the Detachment.

Major Balfour was detached on the Morning of the 22d to Ramnagur, of which he took quiet Possession; no one remained to oppose him.

Being desirous of returning, without Loss of Time, to Benares, and the Presence of the Nabob Vizier being more urgently required for the Quiet of his Country, we parted on the 25th with every Expression of mutual and real Satisfaction. The annexed Copy of my Letter to the Board, dated the 29th November, contains the Detail of my Transactions with him. See Appendix, Part 1st, N<sup>o</sup> 1.

On the next Morning I arrived at Ramnagur, and on the 28th returned to my old Quarters at Maudooda's Garden at Benares.

To quiet the Minds of the People, Proclamations were issued, offering Pardon to all who should peaceably return to their Obedience, excepting the Persons of Cheit Sing and his Brother Shujan Sing, whom their late rebellious Conduct, and their Rancour manifested to our Nation in the deliberate Murder of our Soldiers, and even defenceless Passengers who had the Misfortune to fall into their Hands, had precluded from every Title to Lenity. Among the unhappy Sufferers to whom the above Exception alluded, was a Person of the Name of Hooker, who had followed the Occupation of a Dealer in European Wares to our Camps, and had ventured to pass in his Budgerow, a little after the unhappy Affair of Showalla, near Ramnagur, where he was seized, and, unarmed as he was, and pleading the Innocence of his Profession, murdered in cold Blood. Shujan Sing had the Command at that Time in Ramnagur. Two Soldiers also of Major Crabb's Detachment having wandered from the Line, were taken and murdered at Gopee Gunge. For this Reason that Town was excepted in the Proclamation; and has since been destroyed.

My first Care, after my Return to Benares, was to determine the Succession to the Zemindarry and Range, vacated by the Forfeiture of Cheit Sing. The Right of the Company to the Disposal of it, certainly had not suffered by the past Events. The Territory had been wholly lost to their Dominion, and wholly conquered by their Arms: Yet the rest of the Family who formerly possessed it had not merited, by any Act of theirs, to be involved in the Punishment of a Man who had been equally their Enemy, and whom they had regarded as the Usurper of their more legal Rights; nor perhaps would it have been prudent to have put the Submission of the People to the Test of a new Species of Dominion. I therefore resolved, in virtue of the full Powers which I possessed from the Board for that Purpose, to bestow it on the next lineal Heir. This was Bauboo Mehpnarain. He was the Grandson of Raja Bulwant Sing, by a Daughter married to Bauboo Doorbeje Sing. The Widow of Bulwant Sing, named Ranny Goolaub Kower, was still living, and in an extreme old Age. By the Hindoo Law she might claim the Inheritance. Her Daughter also, the Wife of Doorbeje Sing, might assert the like Pretension: Had it become a Matter of Contest, I had resolved to leave it to the Decision of the whole Body of the Pundits of Benares; but this Reference was unnecessary, Doorbeje Sing yielding up the Pretension of his Wife; and the old Ranny her own, by a Writing sealed with her Name, and acknowledged in the Presence of a confidential Person whom I deputed to her for that Purpose, declaring it to be her Wish and Request, that the Range might be conferred on her Grandson Mehpnarain: He was accordingly invested, and proclaimed on the 30th of September. His Father Bauboo Doorbeje Sing was at the same Time invested with the Office of Naib, and is in effect the sole acting Manager: He is about Thirty-five Years of Age, his Son Nineteen.

I have thought it proper to establish a distinct and independant Magistracy for the Town of Benares. The Reasons for this Act, the Description of the Office; and of the Officers subordinate to it, are detailed in the subjoined Letter to the Board, dated the 1st of November; see the Appendix Part 1st N<sup>o</sup> 2. Allee Ibrahim Cawn, the Person chosen for this Charge; was duly invested with it on the 20th of October.

On the 5th of November I concluded the Settlement of the Revenue, which was to be paid by Rajah Mehpnarain, being 33,33,333. 5. 8. for the Current Year, and a perpetual Rent of 40,00,000 Rupees for the future.

The Particulars of this Transaction are contained in my Letter to the Board, dated the 21st November. See Appendix, Part 1st, N<sup>o</sup> 3.

It has been already mentioned, that soon after my Flight to Chunar, Colonel Muir advised me of Overtures made by Mahdajee Scindia for a separate Peace. I sent to Colonel Muir Credentials and Instructions; and on the 13th of October a Treaty was concluded with Mahdajee Scindia. To confirm and improve the Advantages obtained by it, I deputed Mr. Anderson to Mahdajee Scindia, and at the same Time sent Mr. Chapman, with Bissumber Pundit; on a similar Commission to Moodajee Boosla, the Rajah of Berar. The Particulars of these Transactions, and of my Views relating to them, are contained in the annexed Copies of my Instructions to Colonel Muir, and of my Letter to the Board adjointed, dated the 25th November. See Appendix, Part 1st, N<sup>o</sup> 4.

The annexed Letter to the Board, dated 22d November, contains also the Circumstances of some new Arrangements made in the Customs. See Appendix, Part 1st, N<sup>o</sup> 5.

On the 8th of October, Major Naylor, with the 23d Regiment, having been detached to the Relief of Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, arrived on the Northern Banks of the Dewa, defeated a large Force which had assembled round Colonel Hannay, and entirely dispersed them. The Return of the Nabob soon after effectually restored the Quiet of the Country.

About the same Time a Regiment of Sepoys, under the Command of Major Lucas, defeated and drove Futteh Sing from the District of Sircar Saurun.

After having gained Possession of Lutteespoor, Major Popham lost no Time in prosecuting his March to Bidjeygur. Cheik Sing did not wait his Approach, but fled, taking with him as much Treasure as his Elephants and Camels could carry, which has been reported to me to have consisted of One Lack of Mohrs, and Fifteen or Sixteen of Silver, besides Jewels to an unknown Amount. His Wife, a Woman of an amiable Character, his Mother Paund, and all the other Women of his Family, and the Survivors of the Family of his Father Bulwant Sing, who were connected with him, were left in the Fort of Bidjeygur. He took the Rout of Rewa, and from thence proceeded to Panna, the Capital of Boondelchund, paying and plundered as he passed. He was, by the last Advices, in that Country, the Rajah professing in his Letters to me a Resolution to withdraw his Protection from him, and secretly favouring him.

The Fortrefs of Bidjeygur surrendered by Capitulation on the 10th of November, yielding to Major Popham the peculiar Credit of having surmounted all the Obstacles which Nature and Art had opposed to the Conquest of Two of the Fortresses of Hindostan, which had been before universally deemed impregnable.

I have now brought my Narrative to its proper Conclusion, at that Point in which all the Movements which from the Subject of it, and all their Objects, appear to have attained their full and complete Termination. I regret the Length to which it has been drawn, and fear that it will appear unreasonable to those who may consider it a Point of Duty to give it a thorough Perusal, and who will scarce fail to reflect, that it comprises in Effect the History of but One Month. To myself the Reflection affords a different Sensation, when applied to the Multitude of Events and their Magnitude, comprised within so short an Interval of my public Life. I have aimed at Brevity, both in the Selection of Facts and in the Narration of them, having omitted every Circumstance, which, though engaging a Portion of my Attention at the Time, had no Connection with the general Train of Events or Influence in the Character by which they are discriminated from the ordinary Course of Affairs. For the Satisfaction of such as shall have more Patience or Leisure to look into them, I have added as an Appendix, Copies of all the material Papers which have Relation to the Narrative, but which would have increased the Bulk of it, and disturbed the Attention, if inserted in the Body of it.

I have also added Attestations of all the principal Facts and Events, sworn before the Chief Justice, to whose Advice I am obliged for having suggested it. It did not strike my Mind, that Matters of such Notoriety here would require some more authentic Verification of them at Home, than the Recital of the Man whose Reputation is so immediately concerned as mine is in the Judgment which my Superiors, and which the Public at large, will have a Right to form upon it. I am sensible of the Wisdom of the Precaution, and sorry that it was not earlier intimated, that I might have had Time to have collected a larger Fund of Evidence, although I have Reason to be satisfied with the Weight of that which I have obtained. Let it be also remembered, that this Relation itself has been written under the Force of an Obligation as binding as that of an Oath administered and taken in all its legal Forms.

Whatever Judgment may be passed on my particular Conduct, I am yet happy that it has proved the Means of calling forth the inherent Virtue of my Countrymen, and displaying to all the Powers and People of India, both the National Character and the National Constitution, by such Effects as have been unrecorded in their Histories, and are scarce conceivable by their Habits of thinking.

The Suddenness of our Calamities, the Distance of Assistance, the Privation of every present Resource, the manifest Interest which animated and impelled every Corps and every Individual to the Support of the common Cause, and the Rapidity with which they rushed to repel the common Danger, are Facts of universal Observation, and will contribute more effectually to the Permanency of the British Influence and Dominion, than the most splendid Victories obtained over Adversaries of the highest Reputation; because it shews the Harmony which unites all the Parts of our Government, and their augmented Strength under the Compression of external Violence; and will be remembered as a most striking Example, which every Man concerned in its Operations will apply to his own Interests and Feelings, that its greatest and most successful Exertions have arisen out of the most desperate Emergencies, and have fallen, in every such Instance, with the most dreadful Vengeance on the Heads of its Aggressors.

For the Sense which I have entertained of the particular Conduct of the Officers who have distinguished themselves in the late Service, I cannot express myself in stronger Terms than those of the following Extract of my Letter to the Board, dated the 29th of September, and Copy of one dated the 7th of October.

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup>. I.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor General to the Board; dated 29th September 1781.

" I have forborne any particular Commands in this Place, reserving them, where they will be more properly introduced, for my detailed Narrative. Yet I cannot suppress, without a Violence to my own Feelings, the Testimony which is due, especially from me, to the unexampled Zeal and public Spirit of all our Officers, and the wonderful Activity with which these Qualities were displayed on the late Occasion. I have already acknowledged the early Exertions which were made by Colonel Blair, during my former short and calamitous Residence at Benares. Of Major Popham I cannot say sufficient to express my Sense of his Services. Though my Letters were every where intercepted, Colonel Morgan, with a Decision and Solicitude that reflect equal Credit upon his Character, detached Major Crabb with his Party to my Assistance, on the first and instant Rumour of my Situation. Colonel Sir John Cumming, with the like Alacrity obeyed the Order for his March to Cawnpore; as did Colonel Ahmuty, in the immediate Dispatch of Major Crawford and the Troop of Cavalry. The same Spirit animated every Officer of every Corps, and infused itself into the Men under their Command, with an Effect so far exceeding the common Occurrences of human Affairs, that in the complete Space of One Month, this great and valuable Province, which had been suddenly and wholly lost, was in Substance wholly recovered to the British Empire.

" I am,

" Sir, &c."

Copy of a Letter from the Governor General to the Board; dated the 7th October.

" I have had frequent Occasions to express, in public Orders, the highest Approbation of the Zeal, Spirit, and good Conduct exerted by all the Officers and Troops, in all the late Operations for reducing this rebellious Zemindarry to Obedience. Several of the Officers have merited and received particular Thanks by Name; and it would give me the greatest Satisfaction to distinguish and reward each Individual in Proportion to his Station and Services. But as no Government is possessed of the Means of such diffusive Recompence, it must be unavoidably confined to those whose elevated Rank or peculiar Situation affords them Opportunities of laying immediate Claim to the more honourary or beneficial Testimonies of public Gratitude. But such Testimonies, whilst they are in Possession of Persons in superior Rank, give Hopes to, and excite the Emulation of, those also who are in the inferior: And thus, by well-timed and judicious Rewards, the Prosperity of the State and the Interests of its Servants are united.

" It is on this Principle that I request Permission to solicit the Consideration of the Board, for an honourable Recompence to the Two Officers who have been first in Rank, and most conspicuous in Services, during the Commotions in the District.

" Lieutenant Colonel Blair, who commanded at Chunargur from the Day of the fatal Catastrophe in this Town, manifested a general Zeal for the public Interests, and for my Safety, above all Considerations for his own. Every Requisition which I made to him was instantly complied with; and he sent me a Reinforcement of a Battalion of Sepoys, at a Time when he had the strongest Grounds to believe that an Attack would be made on his own Garrison, which it was incapable of sustaining.

" It is perhaps scarce less meritorious in Colonel Blair, to have not only submitted without repining to the Preference of an inferior Officer to a Command of such Importance within the Limits of his own, but to have assisted and co-operated with that Officer, with as much Alacrity as if the Success was to have redounded to his own Honour.

" This is not the first Occasion on which the Attention of the Board has been called to the distinguished Merit and Services of Major Popham. They have been again most happily exerted in his present Command, for the Safety and Interests of the Company, in a very perilous Situation: I have been, in a Manner, an Eye Witness of them. I wish to express, and to shew, my Sense of them, but I want Language for the first, and Means for the latter.

" As, from the Knowledge which I have of the Characters of Lieutenant Colonel Blair and Major Popham, I am certain that the most honourable Reward will be to them the most acceptable one, I beg Leave to propose, that they be promoted by Brevets to the Rank immediately above that which they at present respectively hold; that is, Lieutenant Colonel Blair to the Rank of Colonel, and Major Popham to the Rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

" This Preferment, whilst it is an honourable Distinction to these Officers, cannot be deemed an Injury to their Seniors, as their Promotion will not be thereby retarded, they may be always employed on separate Service, and their Rank will not be affected, when they rise in the regular Course of Succession.

" The Company owe so much to the eminent Services of Major Popham, that I may think it incumbent upon me, at a future Period, to recommend him to their further Consideration.

“ Whilst I bestow the just Tribute of Praise due to those Officers who acted upon the Spot, I should be guilty of an unpardonable Neglect, and even Injustice, if I omitted to express my Sense of equal Approbation of the Conduct of others more remote.
 “ Colonel Morgan, on the first Intelligence which reached him of my Situation, and without waiting for official Information or Authority, in the true Spirit of an able and zealous Officer, detached a very considerable Portion of his Brigade, and all the Supplies of Provisions which he could procure.
 “ Colonel Sir John Cumming likewise moved with the utmost Diligence and Alacrity, on receiving an Order to occupy the Station of Cawnpore, in the room of the Second Brigade.
 “ He marched with his whole Force in Fifteen Hours after receiving the Orders, and reached Cawnpore in Four Days; himself, Officers, and Troops, cheerfully making their utmost Efforts in the common Cause.
 “ Such have been the spirited and judicious Exertions of your Officers and Troops in Support of the Company's most valuable Rights and Possessions, of the Dignity of their Government, and of the Honour and Safety of their chief Magistrate: A Conduct which manifests the strongest Attachment and Affection on their Parts, and implies an Observance of Justice and Regard to the Prosperity and Happiness of those who are placed under our Authority, on ours. These are Circumstances which will always afford me the most pleasing Reflections, notwithstanding the Calamities which have produced them.

P. S. I have divided the Appendix into Two Parts; the First consists of Papers which containing my Instructions on Points foreign from the immediate Subject of the Narrative, and which having, been already separately detailed in Letters addressed to the Board, I have preferred this Method of annexing them to it, having referred to them in the proper Order of their Dates in the Narrative. To these I have added a Letter from the Resident at the Court of the Nabob Vizier, comprising a distinct Narrative of the Rebellion in the Pergunnahs of Gorookpoor and Bareech, and in the City of Fyzabad, in the Dominions of the Nabob of Owd.

The Second Part contains official Letters and other Papers, which form a connected Series of the Events and Proceedings recorded in the Narrative.

To Edward Wheeler, Esquire, &c. &c. &c. Council, Fort William.

Gentlemen,

I MUST have Recourse to your Indulgence, on the Occasion of every Report of Importance, for the Delay in transmitting it. Many are the Causes of these Delays, which I need not enumerate, as I am myself the principal Sufferer by them: Indeed I am almost tempted to say, that I find a Sufficiency for the Occupation of each Day in the Evil thereof, and in a Thousand little Occurrences, less known in a regular Process of Business, which exact their Share of Attention, and pass without any substantial Effect. It was for this principal Reason, that I have again shifted my Residence from Benares to this Place, where I shall hope for more Leisure to bring up a long Arrear of Business, than it would have been possible for me to have cleared if I had continued there.

I have now to inform you of my Transactions with the Nabob Vizier, during his short Stay at Chunar; these are comprised in the enclosed Papers.

The following are added as explanatory to the foregoing.

N<sup>o</sup> 6. Estimate of the temporary Brigade.

N<sup>o</sup> 7. Establishment and Estimate of the Charges of the Nabob Vizier's Arsenal.

N<sup>o</sup> 8. Establishment and Estimate of the Expences of Three Battalions of Sepoys, under the Command of Lieutenant Colonel Hannay.

N<sup>o</sup> 9. Establishment and Estimate of the Expences of the Nabob Vizier's Body Guard.

N<sup>o</sup> 10. Establishment and Estimate of Two Battalions of Sepoys, under the Command of Captain Osborne, now of Major Clark.

N<sup>o</sup> 11. Estimate of the general Disbursements made by Mr. Wombwell, Paymaster and Auditor of British Troops in the Service of the Nabob Vizier.

I have alluded to the general Reasons which have prevented me from transmitting the Reports of my Proceedings to the Board with Punctuality. I am obliged to add a special Cause for the present Instance; which is, that the Resident having carried with him all the authentic Papers relating to this Business to Lucknow, I have since waited both for them and for the preceding Estimates, which are yet incomplete, though sufficient for general Elucidation.

To the Copy of the Articles of Agreement, N<sup>o</sup> 1, I have added the Papers N<sup>o</sup> 1. A, B, C. which will fully explain my Reasons for the several Articles; and to these I beg Leave to refer you. Upon the Whole, generally, I have only to observe further, that the Agreement was drawn up from a Series of Requisitions presented to me by the Nabob, to whom I was happy in the Occasion of making such a Return for the uncommon Instance of Fidelity and Attachment which he had recently shewn to our Government, by an instant and unqualified Assent to each Article. This was done verbally in his Presence. And in like Manner I requested and obtained his Acquiescence in the short Condition which followed mine. I considered the Subject of his Requests as essential to the Reputation of our Government, and no less to our Interest than his; and if the Resident performs his Duty in the Execution of my Instructions, the Nabob's Part of the Engagement, by a singular Inversion of their Purposes, in both Instances will prove of still greater Benefit to him than to our Government, on whose Behalf it was exacted.

The Nabob Vizier ul Mummalie Aseph ul Dowlah Aseph Jaw Cawn Behadre, having repeatedly and urgently represented, that he is unable to support the Expences of the temporary Brigade Cavalry and English Officers, with their Battalions, as well as other Gentlemen, who are now paid by him under the Denomination of Sebundy, &c. &c. and having made sundry Requests to that and other Purposes, and as the Constancy and Firmness of his Alliance with the Company entitle him to every Consideration and Relief that may depend upon us; I, Warren Hastings, Governor General, Imadut Dowlah Jelladit Jung Bahadre, &c. &c. on Behalf of the Governor General and Council, have agreed to the under-mentioned Articles, this 19th Day of September, in the Year of our Lord 1781, corresponding to the last of Ramzan 1195 of the Hidjerie.

1st. That the temporary Brigade and Three Regiments, Cavalry, be no longer charged to the Nabob's Account for the Year Fuffullee 1189, excepting a Term of Two and an Half Months, which is required for their passing the Nabob's Boundaries; and for which, together with all former Arrears, their usual Pay and Allowances are to be made good: Also, the English Officers, with their Sebundy Battalions, and other Gentlemen, excepting the Resident's Office, now upon the Nabob's List, be no longer at his Charge for the Year 1189; the Arrears being paid up with the Addition of Two Months Allowances. The true Meaning of this being, that no more Troops be paid for by the Nabob than the Number of European Artillery and Sepoys agreed for, under Title of One Brigade, with the late Nabob Shujah ul Dowlah, now paid for at the Rate of 2,60,000 Rupees per Month, to which is now to be added One Regiment of Sepoys of the present Establishment, expressly allowed for the Purpose of protecting the Office, Treasury, and Person of the Resident at Lucknow; the Pay and Allowances of which are to commence from the 1st of Aughun next, at the Rate of Rupees 25,000 per Month. The Regiment to be relieved every Three Months. The Brigade to be stationed or moved wherever the Nabob shall direct, in the Mode prescribed in the former Treaty with the Nabob Vizier deceased. And finally, That whenever the Nabob Vizier shall require a further Aid of Troops from the Company, the Pay and Allowances shall commence from the Day of their passing the Caramnassa. Also, should the Assistance of the Nabob's Troops be required by the Company, their Pay and Allowances, as may be then agreed upon, be allowed during the Time they may serve.

2dly. That as great Distress has arisen to the Nabob's Government from the Military Power and Dominion assumed by the Jaguierdars, he be permitted to resume such as he may find necessary, with a Reserve, that all such for the Amount of whose Jaguiers the Company are Guarantees, shall, in case of the Resumption of their Lands, be paid the Amount of their net Collections, through the Resident, in ready Money.

3dly. That as Fayzula Khawn has, by his Breach of Treaty, forfeited the Protection of the English Government, and causes, by his Continuance in his present independent State, great Alarm and Detriment to the Nabob, he be permitted, when Time shall suit, to resume his Lands, and pay him in Money, through the Resident, the Amount stipulated by Treaty, after deducting the Amount and Charges of the Troops he stands engaged to furnish by Treaty; which Amount shall be passed to the Account of the Company during the Continuance of the present War.

4thly. That no English Resident be appointed to Furrukabad, and the present one recalled.

5thly. That the Treaties made between the English and the Nabob Shujah ul Dowla be ratified between the present Parties, as far as may be consistent with the above-written Articles; and that no Officers, Troops, or others, be put upon the Nabob's Establishment, exclusive of those herein stipulated.

The Nabob Vizier Ulmumalic Afof ul Dowlah, Afoph Jah Seheyah Cawn Behadre, having repeatedly and urgently represented, that he is unable to support the Expences of the temporary Brigade, Cavalry, and English Officers, with their Battalions, as well as the other Gentlemen, who now are paid by him under the Denomination of Sebundy, &c. and having made sundry Requests to that and other Purposes; and as the Constancy and Firmness of his Alliance with the Company entitle him to every Consideration and Relief that may depend upon us; I, Warren Hastings, Governor General, Imad ul Dowlah, Jelladit Jung Behadre, &c. on behalf of the Governor General and Council, have agreed to the undermentioned Articles, this 19th Day of September, in the Year of Our Lord 1781, corresponding to the last Day of Ramzan 1195 of the Hidjeree.

° I. C.

1st. That the temporary Brigade and the Regiments of Cavalry be no longer charged to the Nabob's Account for the Year Fussullie 1189, excepting a Term of Two and an Half Months, which is required for their passing the Nabob's Boundaries, and for which, together with all former Arrears, their usual Pay and Allowances are to be made good. The true Meaning of this being, that no more Troops be paid for by the Nabob than the Number of Europeans, Artillery, and Sepoys agreed for, under the Title of One Brigade, with

1st. The Introduction to the Agreement contains Reasons in Support of this Article, which are incontrovertible. The Vizier declares, That he is absolutely unable to defray the Expence of these Troops. This Plea alone, if the Fact be admitted, will be allowed to be conclusive. But the Vizier urges our additional Claim to this Indulgence, and to every other in the Power of our Government to shew him, from the Fidelity and Attachment which he has unvariably manifested to the Company, and which was remarkably exemplified in the late alarming Conjunction, when every Art was employed to shake his Constancy, and to engage him in Measures which would have been productive of the most fatal Consequences.

These Arguments, though confined to the Rights and Interests of the Nabob, will be allowed a complete Justification of this Engagement: But I have others to offer in Support of it, affecting with equal Force the Interests and Security of the Company. To whatever Causes the late Nabob, Shujah ul Dowlah, now paid for at the Rate of 2,60,000 Rupees per Month, to which is now to be added One Regiment of Sepoys of the present Establishment, expressly allowed for the Purpose of protecting the Office, Treasury, and Person of the Resident at Lucknow; the Pay and Allowances of which are to commence from the 1st of Aughun next, at the Rate of Rupees 25,000 per Month. The Regiment to be relieved every Three Months. The Brigade to be stationed or moved wheresoever the Nabob shall direct, in the Mode prescribed in the former Treaty with the Nabob Vizier, deceased. And finally, That whenever the Nabob Vizier shall require a further Aid of Troops from the Company, the Pay and Allowances shall commence from the Day of their passing the Caramnassa. Also, should the Assistance of the Nabob's Troops be required by the Company, their Pay and Allowances, as may then be agreed upon, be allowed during the Time they may serve.

Causes it may be attributed, it is certain that we do not at present reap those Advantages which we promised ourselves, and which we at first derived, from the Institution of the temporary Brigade. The actual Disbursements of it have fallen upon our own Funds; and we support a Body of Troops, established solely for the Defence of the Nabob's Possessions, at our own Expence. It is true, that we charge the Nabob with this Expence; but the large Balance already due from him, shews too justly the little Prospect there was of disengaging ourselves from a Burthen which was daily adding to our Distresses, and must soon become insupportable, although it were granted that the Nabob's Debt thus suffered to accumulate might at some future Period be liquidated. Our immediate Wants are too pressing, and our Means of supplying them too limited, to admit of such a Drain from our Funds, as is caused by the current Disbursements of the temporary Brigade; and their Recall, on that Ground alone, would be indispensable. In short, the Existence of this Corps added considerably to a Debt, which might never be realized, and intolerably to our current Expences. The Dissolution of it, in an æconomical Light, will advance one great Object of my Journey, which was to obtain instant Relief to our pecuniary Distresses, which this Measure will substantially effect as soon as the Reduction of the Corps withdrawn from the Stations of Futty Gur and Daranaghur takes place.

Should the Nabob find his own Strength unequal to the Defence of his remote Dominions, and again require our Aid for that Purpose, we shall have a Right to prescribe our own Terms, and may secure the certain and regular Payment of the Troops, instead of receiving a fallacious Credit, and making the actual Expenditure our own.

Notwithstanding the great Benefit which the Company would have derived from such an Augmentation to their Military Force as these Troops constituted, ready to act on any Emergency, prepared and disciplined without any Charge on the Company, as the Institution professed, until their actual Services should be required, I have observed some Evils growing out of this System, which in my Opinion more than counterbalanced those Advantages, had these been realized in their fullest Effect. The remote Stations of those Troops placing the Commanding Officers beyond the Notice and Controul of the Board, afforded too much Opportunity and Temptation for unwarrantable Emoluments, and excited the Contagion of Peculation and Rapacity throughout the whole Army. A most remarkable and incontrovertible Proof of the Prevalence of this Spirit, has been seen in the Court Martial upon Captain Erskine; where the Court, composed of Officers of Rank and respectable Characters, unanimously and honourably, "most honourably," acquitted him, upon an acknowledged Fact, which, in Times of stricter Discipline, would have been deemed a Crime deserving the severest Punishment.

In a political View, the Removal of these Stations will be of important Advantage, by contracting our Frontier, and adding to our interior Security and Defence.

I request that the Board will take these Arguments into their serious Consideration, and, if they are pleased to allow them that Weight which they have had in actuating my Conduct, that they will consult the Commander in Chief upon the Reduction and Distribution to be made of the Corps in question, that they may not remain remain an unnecessary Burthen upon our Funds; and upon such a Disposition of the Army in general as may be suitable to our present and future Situation in every probable Variation of it, both foreign and domestic.

With respect to the Removal of the Company's Servants, Civil and Military, from the Court and Service of the Vizier, I was actuated solely by Motives of Justice to him, and a Regard to the Honour of our national Character. In removing those Gentlemen, I diminish my own Influence, as well as that of my Colleagues, by narrowing the Line of Patronage; and I expose myself to Obloquy and Repentment from those who are immediately affected by the Arrangement, and the long Train of their Friends and powerful Patrons. But their Numbers, their Influence, and the enormous Amount of their Salaries, Pensions, and Emoluments, were an intolerable Burthen on the Revenues and Authority of the Vizier, and exposed us to the Envy and Repentment of the whole Country, by excluding the native Servants and Adherents of the Vizier from the Rewards of their Services and Attachment.

Art. 2d. That as great Distress has arisen to the Nabob's Government from the military Power and Dominion assumed by the Jagheerdars, he be permitted to resume such as he may find necessary; with a Reserve, that all such for the Amount of whose Jagheers the Company are Guarantees, shall, in case of the Resumption of their Lands, be paid the Amount of their net Collections, through the Resident, in ready Money.

The Mischiefs to which the Nabob is exposed, from permitting a Number of rich independent Estates, supporting a Body of military Tenants, to be maintained in the Heart of the Country, are of the same Nature which we have recently experienced from the enormous Wealth and Influence of Rajah Cheit Sing; and in fact, the Nabob did experience them also, and at the same Time, and from the same Causes.

The Jagheers possessed by the Begums have enabled them to give frequent Disturbance to the Nabob's Government; and it can be well attested that they principally excited and supported the late Commotions in Gooruckpore, &c. in Concert with Cheit Sing, and that they carried their Inveteracy to the Nabob and to the English Nation so far, as to aim at our utter Extirpation. By a Disposition so malignant, and a Conduct so offensive, and even dangerous to our Existence, as have been manifested by the Begums, without the smallest Injury or Provocation on our Parts, they have forfeited all Claim to that Protection which we afforded them, in exacting from the Nabob, at the Time Mr. Bristow assisted him in obtaining 30 Lacks of Rupees from them, on a Promise to our Government that those Ladies should enjoy full Possession of their Jagheers unmolested. We have a Right to withdraw this Protection when they are no longer worthy of it, and to provide against their Machinations by a Concession of that Pledge which afforded them the Means of injuring and distressing us.

The Begums will suffer no actual Loss by the Resumptions of the Jagheers, (except of an Influence which they have invariably employed to the most pernicious Purposes against one State which conferred, and another which secured and protected them) since it is stipulated that they shall receive the Amount of the net Collections of them in Money by the Hands of our Resident.

These Arguments will apply to the Situation of all the other Jagheerdars, though they may not to their actual Conduct or Dispositions; but as we are neither engaged for their Possessions, nor have any immediate Connection with them, the Nabob should be left to the Exercise of his own Authority and Pleasure respecting them.

Art. 3d. That as Fayzula Khawn has, by his Breach of Treaty, forfeited the Protection of the English Government, and causes,

The Conduct of Fayzula Khawn, in refusing the Aid demanded, though not an absolute Breach of Treaty, was evasive and uncandid. The Demand was made for causes, by his Continuance in his present independent State, great Alarm and Detriment to the Nabob, he be permitted, when Time shall suit, to resume his Lands, and pay him in Money, through the Resident, the Amount stipulated by Treaty, after deducting the Amount and Charges of the Troops he stands engaged to furnish by Treaty; which Amount shall be passed to the Account of the Company during the Continuance of the present War.

5,000 Cavalry. The Engagement in the Treaty is literally for 5,000 Horse and Foot. Fayzula Khawn could not be ignorant that we had no Occasion for any Succours of Infantry from him, and that Cavalry could be of the most essential Service. So scrupulous an Attention to literal Expression, when a more liberal Interpretation would have been highly useful and acceptable to us, strongly marks his unfriendly Disposition, though it may not impeach his Fidelity, and leaves him little Claim to any Exertions from us for the Continuance of his Jagheers. But I am of Opinion, that neither the Vizier's nor the Company's Interests would be promoted by depriving Fayzula Khawn of his Independency; and I have therefore reserved the Execution of this Agreement to an indefinite Term, and our Government may always interpose to prevent any ill Effects from it.

Art. 4th. That no English Resident be appointed to Furrukabad, and the present one recalled.

I was glad to acquiesce in this Article, as it met my own Wishes of freeing the Nabob Muzuffer Jung from that unwarrantable and oppressive Restraint which he has so long endured from the Usurpations of the Court of Lucknow, and from which he has long and unsuccessfully solicited Relief of our Government. It was a Subject of Difficulty and Delicacy for us to interpose in Favour of Muzuffer Jung's Rights, invaded by the Vizier; but in permitting a Resident at Furrukabad, for the express Purpose of receiving the Assignments on that Country, transferred to us by the Vizier, publicly avowed and gave Sanction to all the Injustice and Injury complained of against the Servants of the Nabob, and opened a Door for new ones against our own.

The Removal of Mr. Shee is an Example which I have recommended to the Nabob to imitate; to leave Muzuffer Jung in the uncontrolled Exercise of his Authority over the small Remains of his Country; and, if that little must be still subject to a Tribute, that he may collect and pay that Tribute himself.

Having on my Behalf agreed to the Requisitions of the Nabob Vizier, without Diminution or Reserve, I must now repeat the Request, which I before verbally made to him, that he will be pleased to attend to such Proposals as I shall have to make to him; and to these I expect his Assent the more readily, as they have for their ultimate Object his Interest alone, that of the Company being no further concerned, than in the Influence which they will eventually have in the Payment of the Debt due from the Nabob to the Company. I therefore recommend to him to reduce the great Number of his Sibundy and other Troops to regular and complete Establishments; not to be paid by Assignments of Revenue, but in Money from the Treasury; and their Number not to exceed the certain Means of paying them. But as this may be difficult, without making a Separation of the Nabob's public and private Funds, I further recommend, that he receive into his private Purse no more than a fixed Monthly Sum for the Expences of his Person and Household; and that the Remainder of the net Collections be left in a public Treasury, under the Management of his public Ministers, and the Inspection of the Resident, for the Discharge of his Military and Civil Disbursements.

N° 1. D.

This Advice is not meant to affect the Assignments annually, and which must be annually renewed for the Payment of the past Debt, and the current Demands of the Company.

The Numbers and licentious Spirit of the Vizier's Shebundy and other Troops, without Discipline or Obedience to Command, regularly paid, and that by the worst Mode, Assignments on the Collections, were disgraceful to the Authority, and dangerous to the Security of the Vizier, and an intolerable Grievance to the Country.

By reducing this disorderly and useless Rabble, and forming a new Establishment, to be well appointed and commanded, and punctually paid in Money, he will have an Army creditable in Appearance, of effectual Service, protecting instead of distressing his Country, and a great Saving of Expence.

The latter Part of this Requisition is equally calculated for the Honour and Interest of the Vizier: To discriminate his Disbursements; to make separate Provision for each Branch of Expenditure, and limit those for his Household and private Expences to a specific Sum; will introduce Order and Regularity into the Accounts, and enable the Ministers to ascertain and make an early Provision for Deficiencies; and the Participation which is allowed our Resident, in the Inspection of the public Treasure, will secure the Receipts of the Company's Demands; whilst the Influence which our Government will always possess over the public Ministers of the Nabob, and the Authority over our own, will be an effectual Means of securing an attentive and faithful Discharge of their several Trusts, both towards the Company and the Vizier.

N<sup>o</sup> 1. F.

In a great public Measure, constituted on a large and established System, and destructive in its instant Effect of the Interests and Fortunes of many patronized Individuals, I have no Claim to an Exemption from the common Lot of all Innovators; but must expect that Share of Reproach which the Disappointment of some, the Malevolence of others, the general Proneness to Suspicion which prevails in the Bulk of Mankind, and a Difference of Opinion even in the most candid, may lay in Store for me. I think it therefore not sufficient to have displayed the Motives of my Conduct, and the Good which may result from it; but shall proceed to state all the Objections which may be made to it, with my Answer to each. Even this Precaution is liable to its peculiar Objection, to the Charge of a Consciousness of Error, too readily anticipating the Imputation of it, and implying its Existence; and it will be said on this, as it has been said on a thousand similar Occasions, that the Defects which I have thus supposed, must have had some Ground for them, or they would not have occurred as such to myself, against an Act of my own; nor excited so uncommon an Eagerness to refute them. To this I reply, That there is no Proposition, which the Wit of Man cannot find plausible, and perhaps even just Cause to censure, by a false and partial Review of it; and I of all Men may be allowed to dread this Treatment, after having invariably experienced it in every Instance of my public Life.

I shall proceed as above, to state the Objections in One Column, and the Answers to them in the opposite.

To the first Article it may be objected; 1st, That while Troubles were gathered and collecting all round us, it was unsafe and imprudent to lessen our Force in the distant Provinces. 2<sup>dly</sup>, That the internal Safety of the Nabob Vizier's Dominions, will not admit of our immediately withdrawing our Officers from his Service. 3<sup>dly</sup>, That the temporary Brigade was an Addition to our military Strength, and, if reformed, we should become proportionably weaker. 4<sup>thly</sup>, That if drawn into our own Provinces, we shall continue indeed

To these Objections I shall reply, with a Reference to their numerical Order:

1st, This Argument was much stronger, when it was first suggested, against the Measure actually depending, when we were engaged in a War with Mahdajee Scindia, near our own Borders; when the War in the Carnatic wore so unfavourable an Appearance as to portend the Union of the whole Maratta State and other Powers against us; when a sudden Rebellion had deprived us of every Foot of Land in this Province, and the Contagion had involved the whole Province of Owde in a similar Defection, and was spreading to the Doaub and Rohilcund; and when even our own Province equal in Strength, and perhaps stronger; but we incur an additional Expence, and from what Fund is this Expence to be defrayed, our Revenues in Bengal being unequal to the Expences already chargeable upon them? 5thly, The Injury sustained by Individuals withdrawn from the Nabob Vizier's Service, is not likely to be made a public or avowed Objection; but as a private one, it will operate with more Force against the Author of it, than any that can affect the State alone.

vince of Bahar was ready for an Insurrection, without any present Means of Defence.

These Objections I saw and felt in their fullest Force; but I knew, or believed I knew, that with the Suppression of the Rebellion in this Province, every other Evil would be instantly dissipated; that if this was not instantly suppressed, the Disorders would so multiply and gather Strength around us, that neither our Military Strength, nor Resources of Wealth, would suffice to oppose them; and in that desperate State we should require the Exertion of our whole Force in our own Defence, which we had no Right, without a Violation of public Faith, and even of common Honesty, to withdraw from the Nabob Vizier's equally pressing Wants, while he paid for it. With respect to the War with Mahdajee Scindia, the same Troops that were then opposed to him, would continue of course opposed to him, if the War continued; nor could we spare more for other Diversions, if the Nabob Vizier's Claim to the exclusive Use of the temporary Brigade continued. Thus it will appear, that by withdrawing the temporary Brigade, our Force was not lessened, but in effect augmented, in the distant Provinces; which is a clear Answer to the Objection.

2dly. This is not our Concern, if the Nabob, whose it is, affirms the contrary; and though it may eventually affect us, we should be less liable to suffer by a remote Contingency, than by the immediate Privation or Dissipation of our own Troops, employed in Anticipation of possible Evils affecting us through him, while our own Exigencies immediately demanded their Exertions. But in Truth, I much suspect the Position; having been too much accustomed to the Tales of hostile Preparations and impending Invasions, against all the Evidence of political Probability, to regard them as other than Phantoms raised for the Purpose of perpetuating or multiplying Commands. Who are the Invaders of the Daub and Rohilcund? Not the Marattas; they are fully occupied in the Defence of their own Territories: Not the Sies; they are engaged with Nudjiff Cawn in an unequal War: And Nudjiff Cawn, with foreign Concerns, with domestic Intrigues, and the Habits of late-acquired Sloth, and an unwieldy, unpaid, and licentious Army, can have little Leisure or Inclination to embroil himself in new Difficulties, by a War with the Vizier and the English.

The 3d Objection I have answered in my Reply to the First.

The 4th I have anticipated in my Enumeration of the Reasons for withdrawing the temporary Brigade; and have shewn, that in respect to the present Time, our certain Means and current Wants, we gain nothing by a Credit in Account for a Charge which is unavoidably our own while the Corps subsists, and which we can only lessen by a Reduction of the Corps itself.

To the 5th I answer, from the Discharge of the Vizier's Debt to the Company, which the Reduction of his Expences, the Resumption of the Jagheers, and Improvements recommended in his Administration, ought, and I have no Doubt will, afford him ample Means of discharging.

The last Objection is independent of Reason, which few Men are pleased to admit against their own Interests, their Connections, or the Pride of Patronage. I have acted with the strictest Impartiality, I have spared no Friend of my own, or of my Friends, but have dealt with equal Rigour to all; the Times would not suffer me to dissipate the Benefits of my public Influence to Individuals, and at the same Time provide for the public Wants. I was compelled compelled to make my Choice, and in preferring the latter I have made a light Sacrifice of my own personal Ease to the Safety of the Public, and to my own involved in it. This was the sole Motive that I had, or could have, in it.

Few Objections can be made to the 2d Article; it may be suggested, 1st, that it will excite Clamour and Discontent, which in the present Time may be dangerous; and 2dly, that it will be, in a principal Instance, a Breach of our Faith, which is pledged to guarantee a Treaty concluded, through the Means of Mr. Bristow, between the Nabob Vizier and Nawaub Allea Begum, his Mother; in which it is stipulated, that no subsequent Claim should be made on her Property, or Invasion of her Rights.

To the 3d Article I have already stated, answered, and obviated, the only Objection that can be made to it.

Objection to the 4th Article, That this Condition might more properly have been exacted by Mozutter Jung than Affof O'Dowla; and that by proceeding from the latter, who is already supposed to have oppressed the former, it may appear as if he was desirous of removing all Check to his Oppressions.

The great Objection to the 5th Article has been answered in the Answer to the last Objection on the First. It may indeed be asked as a further Objection, why we are so scrupulous about Appointments made by our Recommendation, when the Nabob himself is, by the same Agreement, precluded from appointing his own Military Commanders without the Concurrence of the English Resident?

2d. No Effects of any additional Clamour and Discontent, excited by the Resumption of the Jagheers, would excite those of their actual Defection; and the Begum herself had forfeited all Pretension to the Benefit of the Treaty executed for her Behalf, by having been the first Mover and most busy Actor of the Sedition.

4. If the Nabob Mozutter Jung must endure Oppression, and I dare not at this Time propose his total Relief, it concerns the Reputation of our Government to remove our Participation in it. It is a Fact, that Mr. Shee's Authority over the Territory of Furukabad is in itself as much subversive of that of its lawful Ruler as that of the Vizier's Aumil ever was, and is the more oppressive, as the Power from which it is derived is greater. It is a Fact, that the Nabob Mozutter Jung is equally urgent with the Nabob Vizier for the Removal of our Resident; and it is my Care, that his Servitude shall not be transferred, if I can help it. The Imbecility of Mozutter Jung, and the distracted State of his Affairs, will not admit of his being left in the uncontrolled Management of them. He must be in a State of Pupilage to some one; and it is my Desire, that a proper Guardian may be selected for him, from the ancient Dependants of his Family. This was too delicate a Matter to be made the positive Article of a Convention, and may be better converted to its professed Purposes, by the mutual good Understanding which subsists between the Nabob Vizier and myself, than by a formal Obligation, which it would have been difficult to apply to any precise and determined Point.

The Difference is infinitely wide between a positive and a negative Recommendation; and the Right of the latter is confined to the Resident alone as a Point of official Duty. If he abuses it, it is at his Peril, and the Nabob has a ready Appeal, and the Encouragement of Experience to expect Redress from such Appeal, on a just Occasion. The Truth is, that the Necessity of the Reservation arose from a too well known Defect in the Nabob's Character. If he shall make Choice of Men of Character and Rank for the Command of Posts in his Army, the Resident has no Right to exercise the Privilege which the Nabob has yielded to him, on the Plea that there are other Men better qualified. If this Check be withdrawn, and the Choice left absolutely to the Nabob, the first Commands in his Army will be filled by the most worthless and abandoned of his Subjects. His late Commander in Chief is a signal and scandalous Instance of this.

To Mr. Nathaniel Middleton, Resident at the Court of the Nabob Vizier.

N° 1. G.

Sir,

Having on the 19th Instant entered into certain Engagements with the Nabob Vizier, tending to relieve his Finances of a Burthen they were no longer able to sustain, with sundry other Clauses, the Execution of which is intrusted to you; I herewith inclose an authentic Copy of the same, for your Guidance. The Nabob, on his Behalf, has subscribed and sealed an Agreement in your Presence, and in the Presence of Mr. Richard Johnson and Hyder Beg Cawn, respecting the better Administration of his Affairs; of which I also transmit you an authentic Copy.

To these Papers, and to the Points consequently and necessarily dependant on them, I think it necessary to add the following Instructions; to which I require your most implicit Obedience.

I need scarcely inform you, that my chief Object in my Negotiations with the Nabob, has been to induce and assist him to bring his Government and Finances into such Regularity, as to prevent his Alliance being a Clog instead of an Aid to the Company, and to enable him to discharge his Debt in the shortest Time possible. To this End, the most essential Point is to limit and separate his personal Disbursements from the public Accounts: They must not, in their total annual Amount, exceed what he has received in any of the last Three Years. This Amount, in Twelve equal Parts, should be paid him Monthly out of the First Receipts, and the Remainder of the net Collections placed separately in a public Treasury, from whence his Public, Military, and Civil Establishment must be paid, under the sole Management and Controul of the Ministers, with your Concurrence. It is of course to be understood, that this has no Connection, and is in no Shape to interfere, with the Company's Assignments, and the Collections upon them, which are to be conducted as usual. And as by the Addition of the Jaghire Lands, with their Revenues, to the Nabob's regular Collections, his Income will, or ought to be, considerably increased, I shall expect that the Whole of the Excess be appropriated to the Discharge of the Nabob's Debt to the Company.

After settling the Amount of the personal Disbursements of the Nabob Vizier and his Household, the next Point that will require your Exertions, towards the general Arrangements of the public Charges, is the Reform of the established Multacena Troops, reducing them into One established Corps for the whole Service. If this Corps should be brought to consist solely of Cavalry, it would best answer mutual Benefit; leaving no Infantry in the Nabob's Service, but what may be necessary for his Body Guard; and to supply the Deficiency, should any occur from such Arrangement, our Infantry may be employed where Infantry are wanted.

The Corps reformed and established, their Pay must be issued from the public Treasury. No Assignments to be in future granted them, and those already issued, to be recalled. To complete this, all Numbers above what the real Service may require, or the actual net Receipts may be adequate to the full Payment of, must be disbanded as fast as their Arrears can be paid off.

The Nabob will select and appoint his own Commanders; but if he should nominate improper Persons, such as Men commonly known by the Name of Orderlies, or others deriving their Influence from them, or of known Disaffection to our Government, you are in such a Case to remonstrate against it, and if the Vizier shall persist in his Choice, you are peremptorily, and in my Name, to oppose it, as a Breach of his Agreement.

For the Management of the Collections, the Ministers, with your Concurrence, are to choose all Aumils and Collectors, and in their Choice to be guided by the Responsibility and good Reputation and known Ability of the Persons they elect, that, as far as possible, Changes should be avoided.

Much is to be said, though little may now suit, upon the Subject of the Distribution of Justice in the Nabob's Dominions. For the present, I limit myself to direct you to urge the Nabob to endeavour gradually, if it cannot be at once, to establish Courts of Adalut throughout his Districts; the Daraghas, Mowlavies, and other Officers of which, must be selected, as in the Case of the Aumils, by the Ministers, with your Concurrence. The Want of these Courts is equally hurtful to the Revenue, Government, and Reputation of the Nabob.

In consequence of the Disturbances which the rebellious Example of Rajah Cheyt Sing has caused in the Nabob Vizier's Country, I have instructed Colonel Morgan to assist you, in the Requisition of the Vizier, communicated by you to him, or at your own single Application, if any Case of Emergency should make it needful, with such Detachments as may be necessary, exclusively of the Regiment of Sepoys which is stipulated to remain with you at Lucknow. This Power you are not to risque but in Cases of the most urgent and manifest Necessity. It is directed, that the Regiment ordered for the immediate Protection of your Office and Person at Lucknow, shall be relieved every Three Months, and during its Stay there shall act solely and exclusively under your Orders.

It is finally my positive Order, that you do not permit any British Subject, or others claiming the Name and Protection of the Company, to reside at Lucknow, or within any Part of the Dominions of the Nabob Vizier, except the Officers and Soldiers of the Army acting in their Duty, and such Persons as are officially appointed to remain there. And that to such as are now at Lucknow, or in any other Part of his Dominions, and falling within the Description of the above Exception, you give due Notice in Writing, that they quit the Country, allowing them a reasonable Time, not exceeding Three Months, to settle their Affairs; and in case of their Refusal, you are to inform the Nabob thereof, that he may use his own Authority to compel them to depart.

To Edward Wheler, Esquire, &c. &c. &c. Council, Fort William.

Gentlemen,

Having thought necessary to establish Courts of Judicature for the Protection of the Persons and Property of the Inhabitants of the Town of Benares, I now do myself the Honour to lay before you a Copy of the Plan on which these Courts are formed. I shall proceed to submit to you the Reasons which have given rise to this Plan, and flatter myself, that they will induce you to honour it with your Concurrence and Approbation.

The Town of Benares has long been deficient in all those Regulations, which in populous Places are necessary for the Preservation of Peace and good Order, and the Protection of the Property and Persons of the Inhabitants. Whilst, however, the Sovereignty over it was retained by the Soubah of Owde, some Appearance of public Justice was still preserved, and the Awe of a despotic Prince produced Restraints on the Minds and Actions of Individuals, which bore a Resemblance, however faint, to the Effects of more regular and perfect Instructions. But these Restraints ceased with the Cause which produced them. By the Treaty made by the Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah, on the 21st May 1775, the Sovereignty of Benares was ceded to the Company, and soon after the Cootwallie, or Superintendence of Police, was formally made over by us to the late Rajah. From this Period the Appearance of public Justice was gradually effaced, till at last, without any System of Police, any Courts of Judicature, or any Awe of the sovereign Power, the Inhabitants of Benares were guilty of Enormities and Crimes which reflected the greatest Disgrace on the Government to which they were subject. The Relations and Dependants of the Rajah, or the Merchants whose Credit was useful in the Payment of his Revenue, might violate the Rights of their Fellow Citizens with Impunity; and the sacred Character of a Bramin, or the high Rank of the Offender, were Considerations which stamped a Pardon on the most flagitious Crimes.

Such was the State in which I found the civil Government of the Town when I arrived at Benares. All Ranks of People joined in their Representations of the Necessity of a Reformation; and this appeared the more necessary from a Consideration of the Circumstances which are peculiar to Benares. Its Temples are held in particular Veneration by the Professors of the Hindoo Religion, who flock to it on occasional Pilgrimages from the most remote Parts of Hindostan, and many who have acquired independant Fortunes retire to close their Days in a Place so eminently esteemed for its Sanctity. It may therefore rather be considered as the Seat of the Hindoo Religion, than the Capital of a Province. But its Inhabitants are not composed of Hindoos only; the former Wealth which flowed into it from the Offerings of Pilgrims, as well as from the Transactions of Exchange, for which its central Situation is peculiarly adapted, has also attracted Numbers of Mahomedans, who still continue to reside in it with their Families. Amongst such a Mixture of Persons, mostly without Employment, of different Countries, and of different Sorts and Religions, it is obvious that every Defect of Civil Government must be productive of more than ordinary Evils; and these Evils are propagated in all Quarters of India, to the Discredit of our Government, and to the Hindrance and Discouragement of those who, under more favourable Circumstances, might wish to repair with their Wealth to Benares.

For these Reasons, after my Return from Chunar, when I began to settle the Affairs of this Province, the Reformation of the Civil Government of the Town of Benares was one of the first Objects to which I thought it necessary to turn my Attention. The Plan which I have formed is now submitted to your Consideration. You will observe, that I have established Three distinct Departments, for the Police, and the Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction; and I have put the Whole under the Regulation and Controul of One Chief Magistrate, who is to be subject to the immediate Orders of the Board. It was at first my Intention to have included also under his Authority, the Collection of the Revenues and Customs of the Town; but I found that this would give great Discontent to the new Rajah, and might perhaps hurt his Influence in the Management of the Revenues of the rest of the Province; I have therefore left it out; at the same Time I am sensible, that it is a Defect which may occasion some Inconveniencies, from the clashing of the Authorities of the Rajah and the Chief Magistrate.

The Person whom I have chosen to fill the important Station of Chief Magistrate, is Ally Ibrahim Cawn, a Man who has long been personally known to myself, and I believe to many Individuals of our Government, and whose Character for Moderation, Disinterestedness, and good Sense, will bear the Test of the strictest Enquiry. On his good Conduct must doubtless, in a great Measure, depend the the Success of a Plan which is to take Effect at so remote a Distance from the Seat of our Government; and it is chiefly from the Reliance I have in him personally, that I have ventured to delegate a Degree of Authority to him, which it would perhaps be unsafe to vest in a Person of a less established Character.

In forming the Establishment, I have calculated the Allowances of the Chief Magistrate and his Officers in Proportion to the Importance and Degree of Trust annexed to their several Employments; and I have fixed them at such Rates, as will set them above the Necessity, and I hope the Temptation, of having Recourse for a Subsistence to the Practices of Corruption.

I have the Honour to be,

N° 2. B.

Whereas the Town of Benares is, and has been for many Years past, totally deficient in every essential Regulation, usually established in all large and populous Places for the Maintenance of Peace, and the Security of the Persons and Property of the Inhabitants: And whereas the said Place is the fixed Residence, or occasional Resort, of Persons of all Religions, from every Part of Hindostan and Decan, and in effect rather the capital Seat of the Religion of the Hindoos than of the Territory to which it immediately appertains; and from that Consideration alone, demands a more immediate Protection and Attention from the Powers of Government: For these Reasons, the Governor General, in virtue of the Powers vested in him by the Governor General and Council, and in the Name of the East India Company, doth hereby ordain and proclaim,

That a Person shall be invested with the Chief Magistracy of the said Town, with full and complete Authority over every Person inhabitant or resident therein, for the Preservation of the Peace and Administration of Justice, with the Title of Chief Magistrate of the said Town of Benares.

And it is further ordained and proclaimed, That to enable him duly to execute the said Duties so assigned him, Three Officers, as hereinafter described, shall be established, in the Manner and with the Powers hereinafter mentioned.

First. A Cutwall; whose Duty it shall be to apprehend Persons who shall be guilty or accused of Murder, Robbery, Burglary, Theft, or any other Acts of Violence committed in the Town of Benares against the Peace, Persons, or Property of the People, and to deliver over the said Persons to the Court of Criminal Justice, hereinafter appointed and described; and to suppress and prevent all Riots and Disturbances in the said Town, with the Power of inflicting immediate Punishment, with Stripes of a Rattan, not exceeding Twenty, on any Offender: For which Purposes as aforesaid, a certain Number of Pikes or Peons in Monthly Pay, and distinguished by certain known Badges, shall be put under his Charge and Authority by the Chief Magistrate, to patrol the Streets at such Times as he shall appoint, and to be occasionally employed in executing the other Services of his Office. And the said Cutwall shall receive his Appointment from the Chief Magistrate, who shall also have the Power of dismissing him and appointing another, and of dismissing any of the Officers employed under him. And the said Cutwall is required to obey all Orders, relative to the Duties aforesaid, which he shall receive from the Chief Magistrate.

Secondly. One criminal Court or Foujedarry Adawlut; which shall be composed of One Derogah and Three Molavies, Men of approved Integrity, and Skill in the Knowledge of the Mahomedan Laws; for the Trial of all Persons who shall be brought before them, and accused of Murder, Highway Robbery, Burglary, Theft, or any other Acts of Violence, committed in the said Town, against the Peace, Persons, or Property of the People: And the Soorut Hall and Futwa, or Proceedings and Sentence of the said Court, shall, on the Close of every Trial, be laid before the Chief Magistrate; who, after a due Examination thereof, shall return the same to the Derogah and Molavies of the said Court, with his Warrant for carrying the same into Execution; and the Derogah and Molavies of the said Court are required and commanded to cause the same to be carried into Execution. And the said Derogah and Molavies shall receive their Appointments from the Chief Magistrate, who shall also have the Power of dismissing them, and appointing others in their Room; and the Chief Magistrate shall have the Power to establish Rules of Process for the said Court, which Rules the said Derogah and Molavies are hereby required to obey.

Thirdly. One Civil Court, or Dewanny Adawlut; which shall be composed of One President or Derogah, and Three inferior Judges, being Men of known Integrity and Understanding, who shall be chosen from among the Inhabitants of the said Town; for the Trial and Decision of all Debts, Pledges, Mortgages, disputed Accounts, Transfers of Property, Rights of Neighbourhood, contested Boundaries, Rights of Marriage and Claims of Inheritance, and of all other Claims of Property, whether real or personal, according to the Principles of natural Justice, in all Cases not depending on the particular and prescribed Laws and Institutes of the Parties; and in all Cases which shall depend on the particular Laws and Institutes of the Parties, the said President and Judges shall first determine on the Facts, as ascertained by the Evidence before them, and shall adjudge the Right as established by those Facts, according to the respective Laws and Institutes of the Parties, whether they be Mussulmen or Hindoos; and for this Purpose they shall be assisted by Two Mussulmen, versed in the Serrah or Mahomedan Law, and Two Pundits, versed in the Pootee or Code of Justice instituted for the Professors of the Hindoo Religion, whose Opinions shall be consulted and taken in all Cases referable to them, as aforesaid. And it is further ordained, That in all Cases wherein the Judges shall not agree in One Judgment, their Opinions shall be severally delivered and recorded, and the greater Number of Opinions on One Point shall be taken and considered as the compleat Judgment of the Court thereon; and if the Number of Opinions shall be equal, that of the President shall be taken and deemed as equivalent to Two Opinions, and the Judgment of the Court shall be passed accordingly; and their Judgment shall be final in all Causes of which the original Amount or Matter in Suit shall not exceed One thousand Rupees: And in all Causes of which the original Amount or Matter in Suit shall exceed One thousand Rupees, it shall be allowable to appeal from the Judgment of the said Court, within the limited Time of One Month from the Date of the Judgment, to the Chief Magistrate, who shall have Power to revise the same, or, if he shall think fit, to try the Cause again, with such further Evidence as the Parties shall bring before him, sufficient Reasons, to his Satisfaction, being given for their not having been before produced; and either to confirm or reverse the former Judgment, or to pass a new Judgment on the Cause; and his Judgment shall be final and conclusive. And it is hereby required and commanded, That the Chief Magistrate, and the President and Judges of the said Court of Dewanny Adawlet, shall keep Records of their respective Proceedings; which Records shall be admitted as Evidence in all future Causes. And the President and Judges of the said Dewanny Adawlet shall receive their Appointments from the Chief Magistrate, who shall also have the Power of dismissing them and appointing others in their Room; and the Chief Magistrate shall have the Power to establish Rules of Process for the said Court, which Rules the President and Judges of the said Court are hereby required to obey.

And it is further required and commanded, That the Chief Magistrate do transmit to the Governor General and Council, Monthly, Copies of his Proceedings, and Reports of all Persons appointed or dismissed in the superior Offices, and of all new Regulations established by him as aforesaid, and of all Rules of Process instituted for the Two Courts of Foujedarry and Dewanny Adawlet, and in general of all other Matters of Consequence, which shall relate either to the general State of the Town, or to the several Branches of his Department; and shall obey all such Orders as he shall receive from the Governor General and Council. Although the Authority of the Chief Magistrate is, for the Purposes of this Institution, restricted to the Limits of Benares; yet, that the Ends of it may not be defeated by Offenders flying from his Jurisdiction beyond those Limits, it is hereby explained and declared, That if any Persons shall be guilty of Offences within the Town of Benares, and shall escape beyond the Limits of the said Town, the Chief Magistrate, or his Officers, shall have Power to apprehend, with a written Warrant, and bring them to Justice; and it is required and commanded, That the Zemindars, Aumils, or other Officers of the District into which such Offenders shall be so pursued, do assist the Officers of the Chief Magistrate in apprehending the said Offenders; and that it shall be also lawful for the Officers of the Judges of the Two Courts of Justice, to require and compel the Attendance of Witnesses living beyond the said Districts, Reason being first shown, to the Satisfaction of the Judges of the said Court, that the Evidence of the said Witnesses is necessary.

And it is hereby further ordained and proclaimed by the Governor General, That Ally Ibrahim Cawn be appointed, and that he is accordingly, from this Date, appointed the First Chief Magistrate of the Town of Benares.

Edward Wheler, Esquire, &c. &c. &c. and Council, Fort William.

Gentlemen,

In a short Letter, dated the 5th of this Month, I informed you, that I had on that Day concluded the Settlement of this Zemindarry, for the fixt and perpetual yearly Jumma of Forty Lacks of Rupees, with a Deduction of Rupees 6,66,666. 10. 10. being the Amount of Two Months Collections, estimated in equal Divisions, for the current Year. I have now the Honour to send you the following Papers, which comprehend all the Accounts and Deeds appertaining to this Transaction.

- N<sup>o</sup> 1. Abstract Account of the Annual Jumma or Rent Roll of the Zemindarry of Raja Cheyt Sing, according to the Pottahs for the last Year 1188, including the Jagheers allowed to the Farmers; delivered to me by the Resident.
2. A particular Account of the Revenues of Benares, &c. for the Year 1184, delivered to me by the Raja through his Naib.
3. Abstract Account of Ditto for Ditto—Ditto.
4. An Account Particulars of the Revenue of Benares, &c. for the Year 1188, by Ditto.
5. Abstract Account of Ditto for Ditto, by Ditto.
6. Account of the Revenues of Ghazipore, by a Person formerly in Office at that Place.
7. Form of the general Settlement concluded with Raja Mehipnarain.
- 7<sup>a</sup>. Abstract of Allowances paid for the Support of distressed Families and Men of Piety and Learning, and Copy of my Resolution on this Subject.
- 7<sup>b</sup>. Paper relative to a Grant of certain Villages granted to the Fackeers of the Macbarrah of Shaw Cassun Sulimany and Shaw Waffel, at Chunar.
8. Translation of the Pottah granted to Raja Mehipnarain, conformable to N<sup>o</sup> 7.
9. Copy of the Cabooleat, conformable to the above, executed by Raja Mehipnarain.

10. Kiftbundee

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup> I.

10. Kistbundee for the current Year 1189.
11. Ditto for the Year 1190, and for ever.
12. Agreement of Raja Mehipnarain, for Payment of the Arrears of the Year 1188, by the actual Collections.
13. Paper of Requests presented to the Governor General by Raja Mehipnarain, with the Governor General's Answers annexed.

I shall now proceed to the Explanation of the preceding Accounts :

You will obviously perceive, that the Six first Numbers served as the Materials on which the Settlement was formed. The first is an Estimate of the Collections received by Raja Cheyt Sing, and was delivered to me by the Resident. It corresponds in its total Amount with my Recollection of a similar Account, which was formerly in my Possession, and sufficiently, with the Account, N<sup>o</sup> 6. for the Presumption of its Authenticity. As it was the best Account that I was able to obtain, and the Accounts delivered by the Nays were confessedly made up of imperfect Materials ; all the Accounts having been either carried away by Cheyt Sing, or destroyed, and all the principal Officers of the Revenue, who could give any Information on the Subject, having accompanied him in his Flight ; I made this the Ground for forming the new Settlement.

Although I am convinced that with proper Management the Zemindarry might yield an Amount considerably exceeding that which I have taken as the Estimate of its Value ; yet I must express my Apprehension, that unless the Naib can find Means to avail himself of better official Assistance than he at present possesses, his real Profits will fall below their allowed Amount ; and on that Account I have encouraged him to hope, that if he shall prove himself diligent in his Office, and punctual in the Discharge of his Kists to the Company, he may hereafter obtain, from the Indulgence of the Board, some Remission from the stipulated Jumma, whenever the actual Demands of the Company shall be lessened, and the State of their Treasury will admit of it ; and this I shall recommend as an Act of Generosity becoming their former Relation to this Province, and equally warranted by the Principles of good Policy : For there are certain Lines, beyond which the Exaction of a Public Revenue will not only defeat its own Purpose, but operate as effectually to a Reduction as an intentional Act of Bounty could do. But it is not my Wish to engage the present Attention of the Board in a Discussion upon this Subject ; my Desire being only to premise what I may hereafter find necessary to introduce to their further Consideration, so that any future Proposition may not appear to rise wholly from the instant Occasion of it.

I now proceed to the Explanation of the Particulars of the Settlement, as contained in the Account N<sup>o</sup> 7. The first Deduction made from the gross estimated Jumma, of Rupees 53,06,002. 12. is the Sum of Rupees 61,496. granted in Jagheers and other Alienations. The First is a Jagheer granted to Beneram Pundit, of the yearly Amount of Rupees 25,000. I have already acquainted the Board with the faithful Services of this Man and his Family, during the late Troubles, which I can take upon me to assure the Board, whatever was our Opinion of them at the Time, and however repugnant it may be to our national Character to regard any Situation of Affairs with the Eye of Despondency, were considered universally by all but ourselves, equally by Friend and by Foe, as utterly desperate. To the Merits of Beneram Pundit and his Brother on this Occasion, I must add a long Series of Attachment and effectual Service, from the Year 1773 to the present Time. Tho' the immediate Servants and confidential Ministers of a foreign State, to the constitutional Members of which they have always professed an almost enthusiastic Devotion, they have zealously adopted all my Views for the Promotion of a Connection between their Government and ours. For this Purpose, Beneram Pundit, at my Requisition, made One Journey to Naugpore, and attended Colonel Leslie and Colonel Goddard in the first Operations of their Detachments ; another of the Brothers still attends General Goddard in the same Capacity, and has been of great Use, by his Letters, in refuting the false Representations which were made from Poonah to the Government of Berar, of the Events of the War. Beneram Pundit proceeded to Naugpore, and, chiefly at my Requisition, returned with a Constitution much impaired by the customary Effects of the malignant Climate of the Route lying between Calcutta and Naugpore. To his Influence I entirely ascribe the generous Conduct of that Government to ours in many signal Instances, which stand recorded in our Consultations, and will be universally acknowledged as such, when Time shall have effaced the Prejudices with which they have been, and perhaps still are, represented by some ; and to him I owe the Influence which I myself possessed with the late Dewan Dewargur Pundit, and its Effects, while he was living. In the same Spirit of common Attachment, Bissumber Pundit, the younger Brother, went, instructed by me, to Chimnaje Baboo, the Commander of the Army employed last Year in the Province of Orissa, and assisted Mr. Anderson in his Negotiations. In all these Instances I have considered and treated them equally as the Friends of our Government, and the faithful Servants of their own ; and wherever I have been, one or both have been my constant Attendants.

If these Services shall be admitted as meritorious, although they should be ascribed to Motives of personal Respect to myself, still let it be considered, that it was in my Character of the first and executive Member of our State that I received such Instances of it, or could have the Means of inspiring it ; and that I doubt whether a national Attachment, in an alien Breast, can either grow or subsist on any other Principle.

For all these united Reasons, I have thought it incumbent upon me to recompense the Merits of this Family, by the seasonable Grant of a public Income, derived from the Settlement of the Province in which which they relided, and in the Recovery of which to our Authority they have made to themselves so near an Interest.

The Board have been pleased to repose so generous a Confidence in me, that I persuade myself that I shall not need their Excuse for having determined this Act by my own Authority. It was necessary to include it in the Settlement, as it would have been the Source of much Embarrassment, and given Rise to unreasonable Claims, had it been ordered after the Settlement had been concluded. I might indeed have applied to the Board, and received their Answer in sufficient Time for the Conclusion of the Settlement, had I known that the latter would have been so long delayed; but it had been from the Beginning my Intention to form it immediately on my Return to Benares, and I was only prevented from finishing it sooner by the Delays and Procrastinations of others, which I could not conquer.

Upon this Subject I have only to add, that the Bounty of our Government has been rarely exercised on such Occasions; that no Occasions ever did more justly demand the Exertion of that Principle; and that it is one of the Duties of Government, as it is one of its best Instruments, to exercise it for the Reward of past, and for the Encouragement of future Deserts.

The next Article will require little Explanation, and no Apology. Bundoo Cawn, whose Name is affixed to a Jagheer of 2,000 Rupees annual Rent, is an Inhabitant of the Town of Chunar. He attended Captain Blair in the unfortunate Attempt on Ramnagur, and in the Battle fought at Pateeta, and was of much Service to that Officer on both Occasions, by his Knowledge of the Ground, and by a natural good Understanding, which enabled him to apply that Knowledge to the Incidents before him. This Man suggested the Expedition, which was afterwards formed, to take Possession of the Passes lying behind Lutteefpore, by an unknown and secret Route, and was himself the Guide of the Detachment. Although his former Services, and that which he offered upon the Occasion, were gratuitous; yet as the Success of the Enterprize appeared to me, from his Description of it, likely to prove the Crisis of the War, I thought it adviseable to secure his Fidelity, and animate his Exertions, by such Instruments as were likely to operate with the greatest Power on a Man in his Rank and Situation in Life: I promised him a Jagheer in any Part of the Company's Dominion of which he should make Choice, to the Amount of One Thousand Rupees clear yearly Rent, if the Enterprize succeeded. The Event proved the Justice of his Advice and the Truth of his Representations, and his Conduct in the Course of it obtained the most favourable Testimony of Major Crabb, the Officer who commanded the Party. On his Return to Chunar, I instantly granted him a Perwanna for the Village of Iclalpoore, of which I had allowed him to make Choice, situated in the Pergunna of Pateeta; he himself told me that it yielded a Revenue exceeding 1,500 Rupees, and, to prevent future Disputes if it were more, I have inserted it at the round Sum of Two Thousand.

Jaggernaut Sing, late Commandant in the 3d Regiment of Sepoys, having been strongly recommended to me by Colonels Muir, Auchmuty, and other Officers of Rank, whose Recommendation at this Time had particular Weight with me, for a Provision in his declining Years, after having passed Thirty of his Life in faithful and meritorious Service; I procured for him a Jagheer in this Zemindarry to the yearly Value of 1,200 Rupees. I am persuaded that the Board will admit the Expediency, as well as the Justice and Humanity, of making a more comfortable Provision than our ordinary invalid Establishment allows, for such native Soldiers as have merited the particular Attention of their Superiors; and I flatter myself that the present Instance, as well as the Principle on which it is founded, will meet with their Approval.

The last Article will be explained in the separate Paper, N° 7. A. It is a simple Act of Justice; and I was pleased that our Government should have the Credit of passing it. On the same Principle I issued a Sunnud for the Restoration of certain Villages, which are a Part of the original Endowment of Two Durghas, in the Precincts of Chunar. The Particulars of this Claim are set forth in the accompanying Paper, N° 7. B. These form no Part of the Diminution of the Revenues.

With respect to the other Deductions, they stand exactly as they were stated by the Naib himself, except the last Article, which I myself inserted merely for Adjustment, that it might make the remaining Sum of the net Jummaetar 40 Lacks; at which Amount I had predetermined to fix it.

The Accounts of the Settlement, N° 8, 9, 10, and 11, require no Explanation. The Deduction allowed for the present Year from the first Jumma, for Devastations, is accounted for in the Term itself. In the unequal Sum of the Kistbundee, I was compelled to yield to the pertinacious Instances of the Family. I should have been better pleased that so large a Sum had not been thrown upon the last Month of the Year; but this Advantage may and ought to be derived from it, that as it has enabled them to make their Payments with greater Facility, it will leave them without Excuse if they fail in any Part of them.

The Agreement, N° 12, passed against my Inclination, as well as my Advice. A substantial Revenue having been obtained to the Company, I wished to pay more Regard to their Credit than to the Prosecution of any immediate Interests which were not of essential Importance; I knew that an Enquiry might serve for an Instrument of Gratification of private Influence, and wished to prevent the Temptation; having already allowed the Sum of Rupees 6,66,666. 10. 10. as a Deduction from the First Year's Jumma, I wished to bring the Raja to agree to Payment of the Arrears due from his Predecessors for the last Year, amounting to the Sum of Rupees 4,63,006. 5. 8. in lieu of the Agreement since made; but this he would not consent to. What he is to pay upon this Account therefore remains open for future Enquiry.

A P P E N D I X, N° 1.

The Paper of Requests, N° 13, as it preceded the Settlement, ought regularly to have been inserted before it, but as the Settlement itself was not affected by it, it may stand in its present Place.

Respecting the First Request, I had very early apprized the Raja, through his Naib, that I should not allow him the Exercise of any Privilege or Authority, on which an Opinion of Independency could be founded: That the Mint, the Cutwally, or Police of the Town of Benares, and the Administration of Justice to its Inhabitants; the Power of levying Forces, and maintaining Fortresses; were commonly understood as Kinds of Royalties or Appurtenances of the Sovereign State; which therefore could not be allowed to him, consistently with his Relation to the Company, nor with the Expectations which they would naturally form on the Experience of the past Troubles, in the Agreement which I might make for the future Administration of this Province.

I have directed him to deliver over Charge of the Mint to the Resident; whom I have also ordered to receive it, and to conduct the Business of it until he shall have your final Orders respecting it; to ascertain the Amount of the Annual Revenue paid from it to Raja Cheyt Sing during the last Five Years, that the Average thereof may be carried to the Credit of the present Rajah in the Payment of his Revenue to Government; to erect proper Offices for the Services of the Mint, which, to my great Surprise, I find have been performed to this Time in the private House of the Daroga; and to form and report to me a proper Establishment for the Mint on the most frugal Valuation.

I beg Leave to recommend the actual Resident, as well qualified to conduct this Business, and to request that you will be pleased to continue him in the Charge of it.

I have already advised you very fully of the Appointments which I have vested in the Person of Ally Ibrahim Cawn, respecting the Police and Administration of Justice in the Town of Benares; the Insertion of the other Articles comprized in this Request arose from my having directed them to be abolished, because they appeared to me to be discreditable and impolitic.—The following is a List of the Particulars.

1. Nekausf.                      Duties on the State of Horses;—an oppressive Tax, and considerable in its Amount. It was not my Intention to make this an express Prohibition; but having marked it, with other Articles which I thought improper, in the List of Revenues collected by the Aumeen of Benares, it was considered as an express Prohibition, and I chose to let it stand with that Construction.
2. Taxes levied on Strangers, consisting of the following Heads:
  - 1st. Dufstore Perdassy, or Duties levied on Pilgrims.
  - 2d. Dutaulie Perdassee, or Sums paid by the Brokers to buy and sell for the Pilgrims.
3. Falashee.                      Duties taken on the Examination of Persons travelling from Benares.
4. Hummar Connā.              Revenue paid by the Keepers of Gaming Houses.
5. Dufstore upon Rings.        A Revenue paid by the Sellers of the Rings usually bought by Pilgrims.

The 2d, 3d, and 5th Articles have been often represented to me as grievous Impositions, no less in their Amount, than in the Mode of levying them, and a great Discouragement of Strangers, whom the Spirit of Devotion might induce to come to Benares. The Abolition, in itself a popular Act, and extending its Influence to every Part of India, is likely to repay the Loss arising from it, by the Inducement which it will afford to greater Numbers to resort to Benares, in the Proportion of the Immunity which it presents to them.

2d Request. The Zemindars to whom this Article alludes are as follow:

Buggut Sing,	Zemindar of Chowfa.
Eidel Sing,	——— of Agoree.
Govind Gut,	——— of Kunteer.
Bikram Majut,	——— of sundry Villages in Zemmar.
Ally Azim Cawn,	——— of Ghazipore.
Dubjeet Sing,	——— of Bidzigur.

As these Persons shewed a Zeal for the Service of our Government, and a Desire of being useful to us during the late Troubles, I have thought it proper that their Conduct should not pass without the Retribution due to it; and for that Purpose have directed, that they be restored to the Possession of the Lands to which they have hereditary Claims. I shall also give Orders to the Resident to pay them them annually, whilst they continue out of the Management of their respective Districts, an Allowance proportionate to the Jumma of each, as soon as that can be ascertained.

The remaining Requests require no Explanation or Comment.

I will not engage the Time of the Board longer than to express my Hope, that the Explanations which I have given of my Proceedings in forming the Settlement, will be satisfactory. The Process of the Business I left to Mr. Anderson, to whom I am much indebted for the Pains and Diligence with which he assisted me in bringing it to a Conclusion. Much remained to be done in Detail at the Time of his Departure on another Service, which of course fell upon my Hands, with other Business. To this Cause I must beg the Board to attribute my Delay in making the Report of my Proceedings, and any Deficiencies that may appear in it.

Chunargur,
21st November 1781.

I have the Honour to be, with the greatest Esteem,
Gentlemen,

humble Servant,

N<sup>o</sup> 1. ABSTRACT

N° 1. A B S T R A C T of the Allowances paid for the Support of distressed Families, and Men of Piety and Learning, from the Revenues of Benares; formed from an Account which was drawn out by Raja Cheyt Sing at the Desire of Mr. Fowke, and is now in the Possession of the Cawzee; authenticated by Mr. Graham's Signature.

A.

These Allowances were continued until the Year 1183 Fuffullee, when the Rajah made his Settlement with the Company, after which they were resumed. Some of them might now be struck out, the Persons being dead, or the Purposes for which they were granted having ceased. The Cawzee has engaged to draw out a List of such as may be struck out, or left for Enquiry. Under these Allowances are comprehended 323 Names or Families.

B.

These Grants were after Mr. Marriot's Time. None of the Persons obtained Lands, but the Rajah paid them an Equivalent in Money. Some of the Grants never took place, and many of the Persons are dead.

C.

These are similar to the Articles under B. only that the Jagheers were temporary, and in consideration of Services; whereas the Maafee Dehat were hereditary, and granted to poor People, like the Milk or Ahema of Bahar.

A P P E N D I X, N° 1.

N° 2. The Cawzee delivers in a List of Persons who are not forthcoming, and in general supposed to be dead, or so provided for as not to require the Allowance, the Abstract of which is as follows :

The Village of Begpore.

D° Buggerah.
D° Bohry.
D° Bibtee.

The Fackeer represents that all these Villages were resumed in the Time of Munfarum; afterwards the Nabob Seef Dar Jung restored the Two Villages of Behree and Bigpore, valued at 1,000 Rupees per Annum. These are still in Possession of the Fackeers, but they are now subject to a Revenue of 500 R<sup>s</sup> per Annum, which was imposed about 18 Years ago, when Tumkun Khan, the Naib of Sujah ul Dowlah, made a general Resumption of One Half of all the Charity Allowances of Benares. The remaining 500 R<sup>s</sup> was confirmed afterwards by Mr. Marriot, and in Exception to all other Allowances has been continued by the Raja. The Fackeer now requests to have the whole Four Villages restored, or if this cannot be granted, to have the Revenue of 500 R<sup>s</sup> taken off. He does not know the Amount of the Villages of Behry and Begpore.

The Cawzee of Benares being examined, confirms this Representation.

8 October, Sunnud issued to Mahomed Ismael the Khaleefa, granting the Villages of Begpore and Behree to be held free of Revenue, for keeping the Tombs and Mosque at Chunar in proper Repair, and for the Maintenance of the Fackeers.

To Colonel Muir,

The Treachery of Raja Cheit Sing has compelled me to retreat to this Place, where I wait to reduce this Zemindary; a Work (I trust) of no great Difficulty or Time. I have received a Letter from you, mentioning that Madajee Scindia has offered Terms of Peace; I hereby give you full Powers, in the Name of the Governor General and Council, to conclude a Treaty with him on the following Instructions: I have sent you Credentials in Form: I do not repeat them in this, on account of the Dangers of the Road; but in case of their Miscarriage, this Letter must serve in their stead. Act accordingly, and I will ratify it. Agree with him, either for an Alliance of mutual Defence, or Neutrality. If he desires to include the Peshwa, you may agree to a Treaty of Peace with the Peshwa, and an Alliance against Hyder Ally Cawn, and all common Enemies, or of Peace simply, on the Conditions of restoring all that we have acquired during the War, except Ahmedabad, and the Territory conquered for Rajah Futtah Sing Guickwar, and the Fortres of Gwallior, and Fort and Territory of Lahar; that we will never assist Ragonaut Row, nor interfere in his Concerns, nor admit him into our Forts and Factories; but we will not deliver him into the Hands of any one; let a Time be allowed him to repair to a Place of Security. We will yield what is ours, and we can in Honour grant; but we will never suffer our Treaties to be infringed, nor our Faith to be violated. Reserve for us Basseeen if you can, even if it should be necessary to yield in exchange for it, all the Lands obtained by the Treaty with Colonel Upton, except Sabutta, and the other ceded Islands, and the ceded Moiety of Barouch; but do not insist on the Reservation of Basseeen to the Hindrance of Peace; we want nothing from them but their Alliance against Hyder Ally Cawn, and that we can dispense with. Be careful that the Agreement do not contain any Thing hostile to the Government of Berar, or hurtful to our Connection with it. Obtain the Restoration of the Chunderry Raja, and secure, as far as you may have the Means, the Interests of the Raja of Narwar, and any other Chiefs who have been active in our Cause. Include the Rhana of Ghode, and Futtu Sing Gaykwar in the Peace. To prevent future Provocations of Hostilities, let it be agreed to exclude the French and all other European Nations from the Ports and Dominions of the Mahrattas. If a Treaty has already taken place between General Goddard and the Mahratta State, the present Treaty must in such Case be void, but you may assure Scindiah that no Peace can or shall be made to his Prejudice. Send, if you think proper, a confidential Person to Madajee Scindiah. If he will engage on the above Terms, he must conclude them now: I am now making my final Arrangements, and if the Time is lost, a Treaty with him may be for ever precluded by them. Obviate any Conclusions which he may draw from the present Scene: It regards myself personally, and myself at this Time but little. Cheit Sing, by the sudden Massacre of some of the Sepoys of my Guard, which diminished it to the small Number of 400 Men, shut up with me in the close Suburbs of Benares, might have effected my Destruction. I escaped the Danger, and Troops are assembling daily, to which he can afford no Opposition. While the Effect of these Instructions is passing to Scindiah, the Rajah's total Exclusion might be accomplished; I hope it will.

To Colonel Muir.

Sir,

I have lately sent you Dispatches in Duplicate, containing Instructions and full Powers for negotiating and concluding a Treaty of Peace with Madajee Scindia, either for himself separately, or with a Retention in favour of the Peishwa, in case it should be agreed to include him as a Party in the Treaty. I have since received Intelligence that one of my Dispatches has been intercepted, and it is not unlikely that the other may meet with the same Fate. I have also sent a second Letter, of the same same Substance with the first, but without Credentials. As the present Opportunity promises a more safe Conveyance, I now send you a Duplicate of my last Letter of Instructions, together with a more full and regular Commission than it was before in my Power to forward to you.

I had Yesterday the Pleasure to receive your Letter of the 17th ultimo. The one which you mention to have written on the 13th has not reached me; I imagine it has fallen into the Hands of Cheit Sing's People. It is with great Satisfaction I observe, from the Deputation of Chimnaghee Row, that Madajee Scindiah has in some Degree anticipated the Overtures of this Government, that the general Expressions of a Desire of Peace, used at his first Interview with Mr. Ford, indicate a Disposition so consonant with our own. If Scindiah should urge the Return of your Detachment beyond the Boundaries of his Dominions, I see no Objection to this Condition being granted; on the contrary, I desire it. There can be no Use for the Continuance of the Detachment after Peace is concluded; nor will there be any Thing in the smallest Degree dishonourable in agreeing to its Return.

The Objects of its Equipment were, to divert Madajee Scindiah from the Operations on the Malabar Side of India, or to withdraw him from the Alliance of the Ministers of the Peshwa; and these Objects having been effected, its Return becomes a natural Consequence.

We are under no Engagements to protect the present Dominions of the King, or those of Nudjiff Cawn and the Raja of Jaynagur; and if Peace is settled betwixt Madajee Scindiah and us, I do not desire that he should be restrained in carrying into Execution any Plans which he may have formed against them; at the same Time, I think it necessary to caution you against inserting any thing in the Treaty, which may expressly mark either our Knowledge of his Views or Concurrence in them. It will be sufficient for us (and Scindiah ought to be satisfied with the Latitude implied in it) if he is only restricted in the Treaty from making Encroachments on our own Territories and those of our Allies, the Nabob Vizier, the Rana of Ghode, and Futty Sing Gaickwar: For these, an express Provision must be made. He must, in direct Terms, engage, that he will never invade, or in any Respect molest them; as we will in the same Manner stipulate with respect to his Territories. In my Letter of the 29th ultimo, I instructed you to obtain the Restoration of the Chandery Raja, and to secure the Interests of the Raja of Narwar, and any other Chiefs who have been active in our Cause. This Subject I must now leave to your Discretion, as it is not in my Power to send you such explicit Instructions as I could have wished, not having Access at present to your and Colonel Camac's Letters, which point out the Nature and Extent of our Connections with each of these Rajas, and the Claims which their past Services may have given them to our Protection. In discussing their Interests, we must make a Distinction betwixt actual and implied Engagements. No actual Engagements whatever exist between us and any of these Rajas: Such of them, however, as have taken an active Part in our Cause, are entitled to some Degree of Consideration. You who are on the Spot, can best judge of their several Merits; and will attend to them as far as you may be able, without hindering the more important Objects of your Negotiations.

It seems probable, that few Difficulties will arise in settling a separate Treaty with Madajee Scindiah; and this is the Object which I have principally at Heart. Let it not be impeded or retarded by the Obstacles which may occur in adjusting the more complicated Matters remaining in Dispute betwixt us and the Peshwa. A Peace with the one must soon produce a Peace with the other. Let an Opening be left for it in the Treaty with Scindiah, on the Terms I have mentioned; and although these Terms comprehend in our Favour every Object which we could desire; yet they are, on the Whole, so advantageous to the Peshwa, that I think his Ministers will acquiesce in them, rather than continue a precarious and expensive War, deprived of the Support and Assistance of Madajee Scindiah.

It will be necessary to stipulate, that in case they shall not accede to the proposed Terms of Peace, Madajee Scindiah shall not, directly or indirectly, assist them, or suffer any of his Tributaries or Subjects to assist them, with Men, or Money, or Arms, or any other Means of carrying on the War against us.

This must either be expressly stipulated, or so clearly and strongly implied, that no Doubt shall remain regarding it.

In the Event of a Peace being settled with the Peshwa, it will perhaps be thought proper to recall General Goddard's Detachment; and their best Route lies through Madajee Scindiah's Territories. With a View to such an Event, you will stipulate with Madajee Scindiah, that he shall allow them a free Passage, and assist them in procuring Provisions and other Necessaries on the Road.

I enclose a Letter which I have written to Scindiah, informing him of the Powers which I have delegated to you; and desire that you will urge him to an immediate Decision on the Propositions which you have to make to him. Inform him, that any Delay or Evasion on his Part, may preclude an Accommodation for ever; and that by your Answers I shall be regulated in entering into another Plan of Connections, which will not only prove an inseparable Bar to the Views he has at present formed on the Northern Provinces, but draw such a powerful Attack on his own Territories, as must infallibly end in his Expulsion and Ruin.

If after the Conclusion and Execution of the separate Treaty with Madajee Scindiah, he should desire to promote a Peace between us and the Peshwa, I will appoint a Person with full Powers to negotiate the same, through the Channel of his Introduction and Mediation.

I am, &c.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor General to the Governor General and Council; dated N<sup>o</sup> 4. C.
Benares, 22d October 1781.

I have already expressed my Approval of the Orders sent to Bombay, and to Brigadier General Goddard, on the 24th September, against a Plan of offensive Operations, and an Augmentation of the Military Establishment on that Coast. The Reasoning in favour of an Increase of their Army, is doubtless overset by their own Confession of an Inability to maintain what they have already; and we are unable to supply them. I have not yet seen the Plan of offensive Operations recommended, but I am generally against it, not being able to discover to what useful Object it can tend. Be it what it may, this Government has no Object but a Peace; we have acquired all that we fought for when we were forced into the War, and we have offered to part with a large Share of that All, to effect a Peace. But I am influenced by still further Reasons for approving of the Orders sent to Brigadier General Goddard; and these I shall now recite, first making an Apology to the Board for not having before given them public Information of the Facts on which they were grounded. I alluded to them distantly in an official Letter, which I wrote to Mr. Wheeler from Chunar; but from a Fear of its being interrupted, it was expressed with so much Caution, that I fear my Meaning may not have been exactly understood. In a private Letter, which I have since written to Mr. Wheeler, I have been more explicit, and shall be obliged to him, if he will be pleased to lay before the Board, and record on their Proceedings, such Part of it as relates to the Subject.

I was made to understand, by a Letter which I received from Colonel Muir, and by distant Advances made to me after my first Arrival at this Place, that Madajee Scindia was very desirous of a Peace. His Wishes coinciding with those of our own Government, I sent Orders to Colonel Muir to negotiate, and full Powers to conclude, a separate Peace with him; accompanied by Instructions for the Colonel's Guidance, in fixing the Conditions of it. As these appear to be the Orders on which a Treaty has since been prepared, I transmit a Copy of them enclosed for the Information of the Board, together with a Copy of my Credentials to Colonel Muir. They were both drawn up to go in the smallest Compass possible, on account of the Danger to the Passage of our Letters at that Period. Soon after I had dispatched these Orders, and before they could reach Colonel Muir, I received from him a Communication of his Correspondence with Scindia, with respect to the Conditions of a Peace; and was happy to find by it, that the Conditions to which Scindia would agree, were, except in very trivial Instances, the same as those which I had impowered Colonel Muir to yield.

I have the Honour to transmit inclosed, for the Information of the Board, a Translation of the Proposals made to Colonel Muir by Scindia's Dewan, on the Part of his Matter; a Copy of my Replies, and of a Letter which I wrote with them to Colonel Muir on the 11th ult. A Truce had been respectively agreed on between the Two Commanders, and my Instructions to Colonel Muir fortunately reached him before the limited Period of it was expired. I have been for some Time in hourly Expectation of hearing that the Treaty was concluded, having had the Satisfaction to learn from Colonel Muir, that neither the Arts of Cheyt Sing, nor the worst State of our Affairs in this Country, even the most exaggerated Account of them, appear to have affected the amicable Disposition of the Mahratta Chief; but as it will afford the Board Pleasure to know what Progress Colonel Muir has made, I have the Honour to subjoin an Extract of the last Letter which I received from him, under Date the 6th Instant.—“The Treaty is at last fairly made out, and is this Day transmitted to Scindia for his Approbation. To-morrow it will be returned, and if approved, Captain Ford will be dispatched to his Camp to see his Signature and Seal affixed; after which Interim, I shall be able to write you fully on every Part of the important Charge intrusted to my Management.”—To this Information I beg the Board's Permission to add an Extract of a private Letter received from Colonel Muir's Camp, of a still later Date. “Leshai, 11th October 1781. “The Treaty is ready, and Ford is to set out this Morning for the Mahratta Camp to have it executed by the Putul, as he has already approved of the Articles in it.”

The Board will observe in Scindia's Proposals for a separate Peace, that he promises his Interposition at Poona, for effecting a general Peace with the Mahratta State; and as in such Event it will be necessary to take some further Steps for securing Success to so desirable an Object, I shall soon have Occasion to address the Board again on this important Subject.

Gentlemen,

I have the Honour to transmit to you Copies of my Instructions severally delivered to Mr. Anderson and Mr. Chapman; the former deputed to Madajee Sindia, the latter to Naypore. Both are so consonant to your Wishes, and to the Commands of our honourable Superiors, that they will need no Comment or Explanation; unless it shall appear, that the Mission of Mr. Chapman is rather ostensible than real, little being given him in Charge, but to preserve the Friendship unimpaired between the Government to which he is deputed and our's. In effect, the Advantages proposed by it, are rather contingent, than such as could be prescribed as determined Objects; an Attention was necessary to an ancient and approved Friendship of our Government, on the Occasion of our availing ourselves of a different Influence. I have judged it necessary to provide for a new Channel of a Correspondence with that Government itself, having lost that on which I had hitherto placed a confident and effectual Reliance, in the Dewan Dewargur Pundit. But my principal Hope from this Deputation is, that it may prove the Means of quickening the Conclusion of the Peace with the Mahratta State, by making an Object of Competition to the Two most powerful Members of it. It is not the professed Object of Mr. Chapman's public Credentials, and therefore not liable to any just Grounds of Jealousy in Madajee Scindia; but from my Experience of the general Tenor of the Policy of the late Dewan, and the Veneration paid to his Judgment, especially by the Rajah himself, will continue to make the Rule of the present Administration, or whatever may decidedly succeed to his. I have no Doubt that either the Rajah will endeavour to counteract our Endeavours to obtain a Peace, that we may ultimately have Resource to him for affecting it; or that he will himself precipitate it, if he sees it likely to be accomplished by another, that he may have the sole Merit of it, and preserve his Consequence with both Parties, by having been the successful Mediator between us. You will observe, that I have sufficiently guarded Mr. Chapman's Instructions against the Possibility of their clashing with Mr. Anderson's.
SUP. SEL. COM. REP. II. T are

I am certain that Mr. Chapman will think it no Degradation to act under the Controul of Mr. Anderson, for whose Abilities he entertains a very high and deserved Respect.

Mr. Anderson left Benares, to proceed on his Deputation, on the 5th of this Month, and Mr. Chapman on the 17th: The former accompanied by his Brother, Lieutenant Anderson, whom I appointed his Assistant, granting the Allowance usually annexed to such Office; and by Tussuzal Hossain Couz, a Native of the first Abilities in Indostan, who had been employed by me under Major Palmer, during his Deputation to the Rana of Ghode, and had rendered material Services to our Government, and who I knew would be very useful to Mr. Anderson in his Negotiations, from the Character which he bears throughout the Country for his Integrity and Knowledge: His Salary I fixed at a Thousand Rupees per Month. Mr. Chapman is accompanied by Mr. John White, whom I have appointed his Assistant, with the same Allowance that is given to Lieutenant Anderson; and as the Service on which he is employed is merely temporary, I should hope that the Offices which he holds in Calcutta will not be considered as vacated by this Appointment. Mr. Anderson is authorized by me to draw the same Allowances that were given to Colonel Upton, when appointed to the Court of Poona; and Mr. Chapman the same that are given to Mr. Anderson.

I request the Board will be pleased to communicate to Mr. Anderson any Orders which they have lately sent, or may hereafter send, to Brigadier General Goddard, that may be necessary for his Information, or any Instructions given to our Resident at the Court of Hyderabad, respecting the Nazim's Mediation of Peace between us and the Marattas, that the whole Subject may be completely before him.

Colonel Muir having been unable yet to furnish me with the Particulars of the late Negotiation with Madajee Scindia, by Reason, as his last Letters mention, of the dangerous and continued Sickness of Captain Ford, to whom he had committed the Execution of that Business; and having transmitted to me the Persian Copy of the Treaty, I have the Honour to forward the same for your present Information.

Treaty concluded by Colonel Muir on the Part of the English Company, and Mah Rajah Subadar Madhe Row, on his own Part.

Mr. Warren Hastings, Governor General of Bengal, in virtue of the Power vested in him by the Governor General and Council of Bengal, having fully empowered Colonel Muir to settle a Treaty of Peace between the Mah Rajah and the Company, in this Manner, That whatever he may conclude on the Part of the Company, shall be binding on the said Governor General and Council; and the Mah Rajah and the Colonel being both desirous of a Peace, have concluded one on the following Terms.

Article 1st. Peace and Friendship being solidly established between both Parties, each will remain to their Agreement.

Article 2d. Within the Space of Eight Days from the sealing of the Treaty by both Parties, both

both Armies shall at one Time begin their March, Colonel Muir with his Camp shall return to the Territory of the Nabob Vizier, and the Mah Rajah with his Army to his own Country.

Article 3d. If it should be approved, the Mah Rajah will mediate a Peace with Hyder Ally Cawn and the Company, and also a Peace between the Peishwa and the Company: If Peace should take place in Consequence, it is well; if not, the English Gentlemen are left at Liberty to act as they please, and the Mah Rajah will give no Interruption.

Article 4th. Colonel Muir restored to the Mah Rajah the Territories belonging to him on this Side of the Jumnah, of which the Company have possessed themselves, and the Mah Rajah agrees not to invade the Country of Lojender Rana Chitton Sing Bahadre, or Gwalior, which is now in his Possession, or the Territory of Maheel Ram Sing Jeyendre Bahadre, now also subject to him, provided he (the said Rana) shall not behave improperly.

Article 5th. The Mah Rajah will restore Ram Chunder, Rajah of Chundery, now under the Protection of Colonel Muir, to his Government, and will make no Demand on him whatever; the Mah Rajah will take the Whole of the said Rajah's Country from his treacherous Dewan, Raudye Dehir, who rebelled against him, and will restore it all to him, except what has for a Length of Time been subject to the Peishwa; the Mah Rajah will expel the said Raudye Dehir.

The above Articles are ratified by the Seals and Signature of Col. Muir on the Part of the Company, and the Mah Rajah on his own Part, on the 13th of October 1781, answering to the 24th of Showal 1195 Keyirah.

N° 4. F.

Sir,

Having already delegated to you by a formal Commission, the full Powers and Authority vested in me by the Governor General and Council, for the Purpose of negotiating and finally concluding a Treaty of Peace and Alliance between the Company and the Maratta State, and reposing the firmest Reliance on your Abilities and Integrity, I recommend to your attentive Consideration and Observance the following Instructions, for the easier and more effectual Attainment of the great Object of your Deputation, and other Purposes dependant upon or connected with it.

The Peace lately concluded between our Government and Mahdajee Scindia, opens a fair Prospect for the Success of your Mission, by the Offer which that Chief has made to interpose his friendly Offices at Poona for an equitable Accommodation. The great Credit and Influence which Scindia possesses in the Maratta State, leaves no Room for Apprehension that his Endeavours will prove ineffectual, if he exerts them sincerely and heartily.

It is therefore with a View to dispose him more strongly to our Interests, that I desire you to repair to him, to give him the strongest Assurance of my personal Esteem and Friendship, and of my Desire to cultivate and improve the Connection which has lately been formed between us. The most effectual Means of accomplishing these Purposes, would be a personal Interview between Scindia and myself; and I desire that you will endeavour to draw from him his Sentiments concerning it, and advise it, if you find him disposed to it, but do not abruptly or formally demand it. Should he be equally inclined to meet me, you may propose Allahabad or Cawnpore, as the Rendezvous; but if neither of those Places should suit his Convenience, I will go to Etawa, or any other Place on the Banks of the Jumna, that you may judge my Time will admit of. If Scindia should either decline an Interview altogether, or not afford you a proper Encouragement to recommend it, it must then rest entirely with you to effect my Views, which are as follows; first, obtain, through the Mediation of Scindia, and in Concert with his Agents, if he shall think proper to depute one for the Purpose, a Treaty of Peace and Alliance, offensive and defensive, with the Peishwa, against all common Enemies, but especially against Hyder Ally Cawn; or of Peace simply, on the Condition of restoring all that we have acquired during the War, except Ahmedabad, and the Territory conquered for Futty Sing Guickwar.

We cannot totally abandon the Interests of Ragonaut Row; endeavour to obtain for him an adequate Provision, on the Conditions prescribed in General Goddard's Instructions.

You may consent to yield what is ours, and what we can in Honour grant; but we will never suffer our Treaties to be infringed, nor our Faith to be violated. You will of course be attentive to any Engagements subsisting between us and other Powers, in settling the Terms of Peace and Alliance with the Marattas. I except from this Precaution the Rana of Ghode, who has been guilty of the most flagrant Breach of Faith towards us, in every Instance, after a most faithful and scrupulous Performance of every Stipulation in his Favour by us, and after we have saved him and his Country from certain Destruction. Leave him to settle his own Affairs with the Marattas: Colonel Muir will give you complete Intelligence concerning the Rana's Conduct, and from this you will judge whether he is worthy of being any longer considered as our Ally.

Reserve

A P P E N D I X, N° 1.

Reserve Bassein if you can, even though it should be with the Concession of restoring all the Lands obtained by the Treaty with Colonel Upton, except Salfett, and the other ceded Islands, and the ceded Moiety of Baroach; but do not insist on the Reservation of Bassein, to the Hindrance of Peace. We want nothing from the Marattas but their Alliance against Hyder Ally Cawn, and that we dispense with, as the Effect of a positive Engagement to which they cannot perhaps in Decency agree, although they may be desirous of availing themselves of any Pretext which may lead to it without a direct Breach of their public Faith.

Be careful that your Engagements do not contain any Thing hostile to the Government of Berar, or hurtful to our Connection with it.

Include Futy Sing Guickwar in the Peace, according to the Treaty concluded with him, of which you have a Copy.

Obtain the Exclusion of the French, and all other European Nations, from the Alliance, and from the Ports and Dominions of the Marattas.

It must be a principal Object of your Attention to prevail upon the Maratta Government to invade the Dominions of Hyder Ally Cawn: They will not enter into public Engagements for that Purpose, as they are at present in Alliance with him; but Pretexts will not be wanting, when they shall perceive the Facility of making Conquests upon him.

Endeavour to interest Scindia in all these Views with the Administration at Poona, and to engage him separately, or with Tuckoogee Holcar, into closer Connections with our Government by the Prospects of mutual Advantage. I leave a large Latitude in this Instruction to your Discretion. You know my Views, which are for present Peace and future Security. Pursue and agree to whatever may promote these Views. Reject and shun whatever may obstruct them, and especially such as may draw us into a new Scene of Hostilities.

Wait upon Colonel Muir in his Camp at Etawa, before you proceed to Scindia, and obtain from him every Information and Advice which can be useful in your Negotiations with that Chief.

Since your Departure, Raja Moodajee Boosla has requested, that a Gentleman in my Confidence might attend him, as the Agent of our Government, at his Court; and I have given this Commission to Mr. Chapman. I send you a Copy of his Instructions. You will furnish him with such Communications and Orders from Time to Time, as you may judge will tend to promote the Success of your Negotiations.

To Charles Chapman, Esquire.

Sir,

The Raja of Berar having expressed a Desire, that an English Gentleman in my Confidence may be sent to his Court, I have thought proper to comply with his Request; and depute you thereto accordingly. Your Credentials are enclosed.

You are to consider the First Object of your Commission to be, to strengthen and encrease the Friendship and Alliance virtually subsisting between the Company and the Berar Government. You will be furnished by the Secretary at the Presidency with Copies of all the Papers that are material to your Information respecting the Relation in which the Two Governments stand to one another; and the Persian Translator has Orders to give you Copies of such Part of the Correspondence between them, as you may require.

Should any Circumstances occur that may present a favourable Opportunity to the Rajah to act offensively against Hyder Ally, and he or his Ministers should shew a Disposition to employ the Berar Forces in doing so, you will encourage it, and acquaint the Board with any reasonable Conditions on which such Aid may be proffered.

The indecisive Conduct of the Berar Government, subsequent to its Offer of Mediation and Guarantee of a Peace between the Company and Maratta State, having thrown the Credit and Honour of such Interference into other Channels, you can now only accept of the Assistance which the Rajah's Influence, as a Member of the Maratta State, may enable him to afford, for effecting a speedy Termination of the War, unless the other Members of the Maratta State should require or approve his Guarantee, of which you will be advised by Mr. Anderson: And in this, and on every other Occasion which may result from his Negotiations, you will act conformably to his Advice and Requisition.

Should the Raja, as he declares his Intention to be, pay a Visit to Poona, and invite you to accompany him, you will comply with his Desire; but as Mr. Anderson has been deputed by this Government with full Powers to conclude a Treaty of Peace with the Maratta State, you are on no Account to enter upon any Negotiation but at his express Requisition; and you are, in every Respect, to consider yourself as subordinate to him, and to promote the Object which he has been appointed to accomplish.

In this Qualification of your Powers, I know that I conform to your own Wishes; but should any unforeseen Accident happen to Mr. Anderson, that will prevent him from being present at an Assembly of the efficient Members of the Maratta State, or otherwise acting on the Orders given him, and he shall write to you to that Effect, and you yourself be on the Spot, and find them disposed to accommodate their Disputes with the Company, the Powers entrusted to Mr. Anderson are in such Cases to devolve on you, and you will act in Conformity to his Instructions, a Copy of which is given to you enclosed, and to such further Instructions as he shall give you.

Mr. John White is appointed your Assistant in this Deputation, and he and yourself are authorized to draw the fixed Allowances usually given to Persons employed in your respective Capacities.

I am, &c.

Gentlemen,

The Mode of collecting the Customs on Merchandize passing through this Province, being attended with much Abuse, and the Rates unequal, being proportioned to the Load, not to the Value of the Goods; I have issued Orders that the Customs shall be hereafter collected only at Three Stations; namely, Mirzapore, Benares, and Gazipoor, by appointed Officers instead of Farmers, and according to a new Table of Rates formed on the ordinary Prices of the Goods; the Duty to be levied thereon at the Rate of 5 per Cent. and in One single Payment.

Enclosed are Copies of my Orders to the Rajah, and to the Resident, and of the Table of Rates.

N° 6.

Sir,

When I had last the Honour of seeing you, I more than once urged my Reasons for thinking that the Rebellion of Raja Cheit Sing was but a Part of a larger and more extensive Plan, which was, by the good Fortune of your Arrival, prematurely brought forward before all the Parties to it were united and properly prepared for Action. In support of this Belief, and to prove that I am far from being single in the Espousal of it, I beg Leave to trouble you with some Extracts from the Letters I have received from Colonel Hannay, written from the Time of the first breaking out of the Rebellion, to my Return to Lucknow. His Situation for obtaining the Knowledge he imparts, his Experience, and his Judgment to guide what he advances, must make his Sentiments of Weight and Authenticity.

In his Letter of the 8th September from Fyzabad, scarcely Ten Days after he had set about obeying the Nabob Vizier's Orders to march with his Force to your Assistance, he writes, "That the whole Country on the East Side of the Gogra was in Arms and Rebellion; his own Troops deserting, and the single Companies scarcely able to join other Detachments; the Forts of Gurruckpore, Bilma, and Dumreagunge, taken from the Aumils by the Zemindars; and that even Hircarrahs cannot pass; so that all Communication of Intelligence from his other Detachments under Major McDonald, Captain Williams, and Lieutenant Gordon, was cut off and at an End." He adds, "This Town (Fyzabad) has more the Appearance of belonging to Cheit Sing than the Vizier. The Begums have placed Guards to prevent any of my People going to the Bazar in it. Within these few Days Shaake Cawn, with near 1,000 Horse and Foot, has marched from hence to Benares (they were raised here) and I must confess, that for my own Part I have no Doubt but Juwar Ally Khan and Behar Ally Khan, through their Agents, have stirred up all the Distur“ bances which extend from hence to Powez and Azimgur. I have sent Hoolafs Ray to the Begum,

"bances

 “ to enquire into the Reason of my People being prevented from going into the Town, Cheyt Sing’s “ being suffered to raise Troops here, and why her Servants attempted to prevent my getting Boats to “ transport the Company’s Guns and Horse from Amora? I have also desired that she will give Or“ ders for seizing the Family of Shaake Cawn (above mentioned); and when Hoolafs Roy returns, I “ will write you her Answer. In Kyrabad, Shylack, and all the Country on the West Side of the “ Gogra, between Fyzabad and Kyrabad Beid-amley, in Perfection; the Aumils flying before the “ Gongwars, and Cannon firing at all Hours. Cheyt Sing has sent Money to Futtu Saw, Ghinoo “ Roy, Ajeetmul, Zalim Sing, and all the refractory Rajas, to enable them to raise Men.—I this “ Moment received Gordon’s Account of the Loss of his Detachment, which puts my March to join
 “ you out of the Question. It happened by the Villainy of the Phousdar of Tanda, Shumhur “ Khan, a Cheelah of Bahar Ally Khan, who turned his Guns upon the Detachment; and an “ unfordable Nullah in Front, and many Thousands of Rajepouts, who had fought them all the “ Way from Chowra Gaut, made the Sepoys despair. Zalem Sing and Puttypaul Sing mean to “ attack McDonald To-morrow with 2,100 Men. Behar Ally Khan deserves Death, as the Loss of “ Gordon’s Detachment can only be imputed to him. His Cheelak would never have acted so dar“ ing a Part without Orders from him. Juwar Ally Khan, in the Choke of Fyzabad, asks every “ Man who bears the Appearance of a Soldier, why he goes not to Cheit Sing for Service. I “ mention these Circumstances, that you may mention them to Mr. Hastings and the Nabob, and
 “ the necessary Steps be immediately taken to prevent what Delay will render a very serious “ Matter. A few Days more will lead the Ferment which is here to Lucknow. If the Nabob in“ sists upon my proceeding, I must bring every Body with me, for whoever is left behind will “ be sacrificed.”

On the 7th of September Captain Williams writes “ Upon my Arrival here I found that Part of “ Futtu Saw’s, Ghinoo Roy’s, and Ajeelmull’s People, had crossed to Manjowlay. They have been “ urged to this Step by Cheyt Sing, who has supplied them with a considerable Sum of Money, and pro“ mised them great Sums, if they will put the whole Country into Confusion; 5,000 Men are on the “ opposite Side of the River ready to cross; Futtu Saw has written to all his Adherents to be in “ Arms; Saadit Ally and the Begums are concerned deeply in the late Business.” In a subsequent Letter, received immediately after the above, but without Date, Colonel Hannay says: “ I have “ before told you how violently the Begum’s People inflame the present Disturbances; and, in addition “ to this, the principal Zemindars and Rajahs have all Certificates, under the Seal of Cheyt Sing, “ that he will supply them with whatever Money they may require for subsisting all the Troops they “ can raise. In a very short Time I apprehend the greatest Part of the Nabob’s Dominions will be “ in the State we are in here; and it is the general Belief of every Man in this Part of the Country,
 “ that the Conduct I have related is a concerted Plan for the Extirpation of the English. What may “ be the Situation of the rest of the Nabob’s Dominions I know not; but it is most certain, that “ from Goonda to Manjee, and from Fyzabad to the Benares District, and across from the Gogra to “ the Ganges, the Country is in the utmost Ferment. Should the present Disturbances proceed from “ a Plan of Policy, it will be concealed from you as much as possible, and therefore I take all possible “ Means of communicating to you what I really know to be fact. I know not whether the Dawks “ pass freely from you to Lucknow; but if they do not, and no Measure is immediately taken
 “ to bring about Order, and draw the Troops together, we may be deprived of all possible Means
 “ of assisting one another, and the Army lost by detached Regiments. We have no Communication
 “ with Bengal, and the Troops on this Side Benares are at present too much separated to yield one “ another timely Assistance. I hope to God a sufficient Force is ordered for the Reduction of “ Cheyt Sing; for the People who are daily sent to him, Horse and Foot, from Fyzabad, and the Seat
 “ of Rebellion I have before named, is very great.”

In the next of the 13th he says, “ It is impossible, in the general Insurrection which now reigns al“ most universally, for me to get the Force together the Nabob demanded, or to force my Way to “ you with a less. The greatest Anarchy prevails. The present Insurrection is said, and believed,
 “ to be with an Intention to expel the English. I am compelled to give up all the Country below “ Goonda. Be upon your Guard against the Vizier, for there are many Circumstances to make me “ believe he means to espouse the Cause of Cheyt Sing; the Begums have almost themselves recruited “ for him.”

In his Letter of the 18th he says, “ If you meet with but a Check at Benares, every Man in the “ Country is ready to fall upon your scattered Parties. The State of the Vizier’s Dominions is in “ general beyond Description; the Insurrection is not partial, but generally spread throughout the “ Whole, though it rages most violently in the Mahls of Sultanpore, the Mahls from Fyzabad to the “ Benares Country, the Mahls on this (East) Side of the Gogra, and in Koonary, Kyrabad, and “ Sylack; and if I may trust to the Information I receive, it is already begun; and will soon rage
 “ as violently, in the Shajihempore, Rohilcund, Kosa, and the Douab. I have already and repeatedly “ informed you of the Dispositions of those in Power in Fyzabad, which has in fact been one of the “ great Sources of the Insurrection, and the Place of all others in the Vizier’s Dominions which has “ supplied Cheyt Sing with the greatest Number of Troops. The old Begum does, in the most “ open and violent Manner, support Cheyt Sing’s Rebellion and the Insurrection; and the Nabob’s “ Mother’s accursed Eunuchs are not less industrious than those of the Burra Begum. Capital Ex“ amples of Jewar Ally Khan and Behar Ally Khan would, I am persuaded, have the very best “ Effect.”—On the the 20th he says, after re-stating his own imminent Danger, “ I have already written you so fully my Reasons of being convinced of the Treachery practised at Fyzabad, and which, I am afraid, extends to your Camp, that I need say no more on the Subject;” and again mentions the general Insurrection. The Truth of these Positions I found most fully proved upon my Return, but observed in particular, that the most vigorous Efforts were limited to the Jaygurdars, amongst whom the Begums, Fyzullah Khan, and Lutteefet Ally Khan, distinguished themselves. However, the Nabob's Return, the Victories gained by the Troops with you in the total Reduction of Cheyt Sing's Country, and the March of the Two Regiments from Cawnpore to our Assistance here, have unitedly contributed to restore Matters nearly to their usual Tranquillity. The Example most necessary to be made of the Two active and turbulent Eunuchs, mentioned by Colonel Hannay, remains yet to be done, as well as of a Villain now in Confinement, who had assembled 5,000 Gongwars for the avowed Purpose of rescuing Two principal State Prisoners from their Confinement with the Nabob, and, as it is universally believed, to make an Attempt upon the Treasury, for which he had fixed the Day of the Dusârah; but was most happily detected, seized only a Day before by the Vigilance of the Cutwal, and the Fact proved by Papers found in his House. Unless Spirits of this Sort be controuled, the worst of Consequences may be expected from the Neglect, should (which God avert!) any fresh Opportunities occur.

Resolved, That the following Letter be written to Mr. Graham.

To

To Mr. Thomas Graham, Resident at Benares.

Sir,

We have received your Letters of the 16th Instant, acquainting us that Raja Cheyt Sing had declined to pay the Five Lacks of Rupees which we required of him, as his Proportion of the Expences of the War for the current Year.

Having judged it necessary to make this Claim, which was suggested to us by the Urgency of the Case, we cannot admit of any Plea which the Raja may urge to exempt him from it: Orders have therefore been sent to Major Camac, or the Officer in Command of his Detachment, to march to Benares, immediately on your Requisition, with Two Battalions of Sepoys, and to wait our further Orders at that Place. We have thought this Step necessary, for the Purpose of compelling the Rajah to pay the Quota required of him, in case of Necessity; and we desire that you repeat your Demand, and insist on his Compliance. If the Rajah should still continue to object to your Claim, and refuse Payment, you are to require the Officer in Command of the Detachment to march immediately, in conformity to our Orders, and advise us of your Proceeding: We hope, however, that you will not be reduced to proceed to this Extremity, as it would oblige us to encrease our Demands on the Rajah, by exacting from him the whole Expence of the Detachment from the Day of its March, in Addition to our original Claim.

We are, &c.

I have been honoured with your Letter, calling on me for the Payment of 5 Lacks of Rupees, on account of the Expence of the War for the present Year; and understand its Contents.

My Situation is well known to you; and I assure you, without Reserve, that I have no Ability left, nor is there any Mode of Relief for me but in the Exertion of your Favour.—I am fully convinced that it is your Desire, who are my Master, to support me, your Servant; and last Year you directed Shiek Ally Nucky, that I should, by any Means; by disposing of my Effects, or by borrowing, make this One Payment, and I should not be called on in future; and that you would take every Means for my Advantage and Support.

I accordingly put in Practice every Method in my Power, and by Loans made good the Requisition. It is now absolutely out of my Power to raise the Sum required; and I am therefore hopeful that you will be kindly pleased to excuse me the Five Lacks now demanded; and that nothing may be demanded of me beyond the Amount expressed in the Pottah, which, through your Favour, I obtained from the Honourable English Company.

This Raje and Zemindary, and my Dignity, are the Gifts of your Highness; I have judged it necessary to represent to you my Inability and helpless State.

I have been honoured by your Orders, directing me to pay Five Lacks of Sicca Machlydat Rupees to Mr. Fowke, for the War, which still continues; and although my distressed Situation must be known to you from other Quarters; notwithstanding I have been afraid to represent it to you myself, that I have sold my House, and borrowed Sums of Money, from which I am not yet released; yet in Obedience to your Orders, I have paid One Lack of Rupees out of the Five Lacks to Mr. Fowke, and should pay the other Four in Three Months. I request you will send Directions to that Gentleman, to allow me that Time, and it shall be punctually paid at the End of that Term. N° 12. The following is the SUBSTANCE of an ORDER written, but not delivered, though verbally notified to Major Popham, on the 19th August 1781:

To take the Command of a Detachment to be immediately formed, and of which his own Regiment was to compose a Part, and was on the Spot, for the Purposes of reducing the Zemindary of Benares, which was in a State of general Revolt under the Rajah Cheyt Sing, to Obedience; for restoring Peace, Order, and Security to the Country; and for granting Pardons to such Persons as should return to their Duty and make Submission to Government, with the Exception of Rajah Cheyt Sing and his Brother Sujan Sing.

These Orders, or rather Instructions, also enumerated the Corps of which the Detachment was to consist, and authorized Major Popham to raise and form a Corps of Goolundauze for the Duty of the Train.

Major Popham was left at full Discretion in the Conduct of his Military Operations, for obtaining the Object above expressed.

GENERAL ORDERS.

N° 14.

Chunagur, 22d August 1781.

Major William Popham is appointed to the Command of the whole Detachment at Chunagur.

Chunagur, 23d August 1781.

N° 15.

To the Nabob Vizier.

Your Excellency will have heard from Report, the rebellious and treacherous Conduct of Cheyt Sing, which has delayed for a few Days my Departure towards Lucknow; and I am now arrived at Chunagur, where I shall remain some Time, to punish this Treachery and Rebellion, which has originated from his own wicked Disposition. Your Excellency will therefore be pleased to return to Lucknow; and as the sole Object of my Journey from Calcutta to this Quarter was to have an Interview with your Excellency, by the Blessing of God having shortly punished, in an exemplary Manner, this Rebel, I shall be made happy by meeting with your Excellency, who in the mean while must not suffer any Apprehensions or Doubts to exist respecting this Business.

As in this Time of Necessity Troops were wanted here, and our Concerns are the same, I have therefore written to Lieutenant Polhill, who is with some Companies of your Excellency's Sepoys at Illahabad, to come to this Place, and have promised him to acquaint you with it; assuring him, that your Excellency will approve of his coming here.

(Signed) Warren Hastings.

To Major Moses Crawford, or Officer commanding the Detachment on its March from Dinapore to Benares.

N° 16.

Sir,

Having ordered Lieutenant Colonel Akmuty to send the Regiment of Sepoys directly to Benares, from the respective Stations of the Two Battalions, I now direct, if the Two Divisions should have marched separately, that on Receipt hereof you take Measures for effecting their Junction, whether they may be on the same or opposite Sides of the River, and proceed together the Remainder of your Route, which you will direct to this Place, instead of Benares, as at first directed. You will pursue your March on whichever Side of the River you may judge most safe and expeditious for reaching this Destination; and will be careful to guard against a Surprise, and not suffer your March to be delayed by any Object but your own Security and Defence.

Chunagur,
23d August 1781.

I am, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,
Warren Hastings.

Chunagur, 23d August 1781.

N° 17.

To Mr. Nathaniel Middleton, Collector, &c. Lucknow.

Sir,

Immediately upon Receipt of this Letter, you will be pleased to pack up and dispatch One Lack of Rupees in Silver, to be delivered here to the Commanding Officer of this Place. Should you not possess a Sum equal to this Amount in your Treasury, you will be pleased to exert every Means in your Power to raise it upon your own Credit, or otherwise; and when prepared, put it in charge of the Officer commanding the Regiment of Sepoys, which I lately ordered from Cawnpore to Lucknow. He is directed to escort the Treasure with his whole Force to this Place.

You will further be pleased, immediately on Receipt of this, to send an Agent to Allahabad, with Directions to purchase Grain to such Amount as he may be able to dispatch by Water from thence to this Fortrefs, for the Use of the Troops encamped near it.

You will also, as soon as possible, acquaint the Nabob Vizier; that instead of meeting him upon the Road from Lucknow to Benares, I now intend meeting him at Lucknow; and that I consequently request he will immediately return to that Place, and there wait my Arrival.

I am,

Dear Sir,

Yours, &c. &c.

Warren Hastings.

To Colonel James Morgan.

Sir,
I am at Chunar; send a Regiment of Sepoys to this Place instantly, with 30 Artillery Men, Officers in Proportion, and one of Experience to command them; by Water if you can. Send Grain; a strong Escort with it. I have written many Letters to you;—be expeditious.

Benares, 16th August 1781.

To Lieutenant Colonel Blair, or in his Absence the Senior Officer at Chunargur.

Sir,
I request that you will give immediate Orders for a compleat Battalion of Sepoys, from the Garrison at Chunargur, to march without Loss of Time to Ramnagur, where the Commanding Officer will receive my further Instructions.

As I understand that the Regiment of Sepoys at Chunar is deficient in Arms, I request you will please to compleat the Battalion ordered for this Service with Arms from the Magazine, and a Quantity of spare Ammunition.

You will also please to order the Guards from the 11th Regiment to be relieved immediately, that it may proceed compleat in Number. Captain Blair, who is here, has my Orders to return immediately to Chunar, and take Charge of the Detachment for Ramnagur, to which I hope you will have no Objection.

I am, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,
Warren Hastings.

N° 20.

Benares, 16th August 1781. 10 o'Clock P. M.

To Captain Mayaffre, or Officer commanding a Detachment at Mirzapore.

Sir,
I desire that on Receipt hereof you will march the Detachment now at Mirzapore, by the Route of Chunargur, to Ramnagur. To avoid Delay, it will be best to embark your Guns and Stores at Mirzapore for Chunargur, where you may disembark them, and bring such as are necessary for immediate Service with your Detachment by Land.

If you should overtake a Party of Sepoys detached from the Garrison of Chunar, you will join them, and take Command of the Two Detachments until you receive further Orders.

I am, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,
Warren Hastings.

Benares, 16th August 1781. 9 o'Clock P. M.

To Captain Blair, commanding a Detachment.

Sir,
The Rajah having made his Escape from hence, is still at Ramnagur, with all his People in Arms, as I am informed. You will therefore be upon your Guard, and diligent to prevent a Surprise or Attack in such a Situation as might give an Advantage over you. You will not proceed to the Town of Ramnagur, as at first directed, but halt, upon the Receipt of this, at such a Distance, and in such a Situation, as you may judge will afford you Security, until you receive further Orders from me.

I am, Sir,

Sir,

I have received Two Letters from you, dated Yesterday and To-day.

I have provided a Sum of Money for Captain Blair, and will take instant Means for furnishing you with a Sum for the Remainder of your Garrison.

I recommend to you to guard against a Surprise. I do not apprehend that the Rajah will attempt an open Attack upon the Fort or Town, nor is it at present necessary to lay in any Store of Provisions.

I request that you will send me a Return of the Troops under your Command, including Captain Blair's Battalion, and an Account of the Arrears of Pay due to them; and as it may become necessary to make a Provision of Victualling Stores for the Fort, I wish you to furnish me with a List of such Articles, and the Quantities of each, as you shall judge to be necessary.

But unless you shall receive such Intelligence from him, or if you shall at the same Time have any Grounds to expect an Opposition, you will in either Case halt, and encamp in some open and secure Place without the Town; but on no Account enter it, unless you have every such Assurance as your own Judgment can rely upon, added to the Information of Baboo Offin Sing as above-mentioned, that you may proceed without Hazard of Hostilities, which it is my particular Desire to avoid, as the

To Lieutenant Colonel Blair, commanding at Chunar.

Sir,
I request that you will use your best Endeavours to obtain Intelligence of any Party of the Raja's Troops at Pateeta, or other Places at no greater Distance from Chunar; and if you should judge it practicable and safe, attempt to surprize and defeat them by a Party from your Garrison. A successful Attack, though trifling in itself, might produce favourable Consequences; but I would not have it made at any Risk of Miscarriage, and still less if there was the smallest Probability of Misfortune. I would be understood only to recommend the Matter to your Consideration. The Decision must be left to your own Judgment, formed upon an intimate Knowledge of all Circumstances.

A Budjerow having been stopped and plundered, and an European and several Dandies belonging to it murdered, by the Rajah's People at Ramnagar, you will be pleased to give Orders for preventing all Boats whatever passing the Limits of your Garrison, either up or down the River.

Sir,

I wrote you of my Arrival on the 17th Instant in the Evening, and Yesterday Morning I enclosed you a Return of my Battalion. As the Hircarrahs have not yet returned, I am doubtful of their having been able to reach you. Ram Jouaan, a Servant of the Rajah Cheyt Sing, is about Three Cofs from me, with something more than 2,000 Men and 4 Guns. I was informed of his intending me a Visit last Night: I was perfectly ready, and in Hopes of being able to have given a good Account of him and his Guns. A Party of his Horse came to a Village distant about Two Miles, and went off. This Morning One Howder Elephant, and less than 200 Horsemen, tolerably well mounted and armed, marched past in Front, distant about One and a Half Miles. I understand that the Town of Ramnagur is without Troops, and not more than 250 or 300 Men in the Rajah's House. Troops from the different Pergunnahs are joining Cheyt Sing at Lutteefpoor; he has formed a Camp on this Side of it, about Five Cofs from me. I shall be glad to receive your further Orders.

My Hircarrahs acquaint, that Ram Jouaan Sing is at Pateeta; that Callunder Sing, Nuncoo Sing, and Ball Kissen Hassarie, are in the Fort of Ramnagur, with their People, to the Number of 12 or 1,500 Men of various Kinds.

4 o'Clock Afternoon.

To Major William Palmer, Military Secretary to the Honourable Governor General.

Sir,

Your Letter of the 18th Instant at 8 P. M. was delivered to me about 12 o'Clock this Morning. I am much concerned that my Orders were so positive against proceeding to Ramnagur, as I have no Doubt but I should have been able to take Possession of it with very little Loss, if the Information I had was good, which I have Reason to think was to be depended on. About 10 o'Clock this Morning I was under Arms, and continued so till One, my Hircarrahs having brought me Information of the March of the Rajah's Troops from Addilkahaut: They were in Sight soon after. Some Horsemen advanced very near my most distant Centries, and went off; the Whole of the Enemy moved more to the Right, and passed my Front within a Mile. I at first expected his whole Force; but from my own Observations I think they may be 600 Cavalry, not very good, 2 Guns, 200 Sepoys, Matchlock Men, and some Peons. They would arrive at Ramnagur before 12 o'Clock.

I have since been informed that the Rajah would march from Lutteefpoor about 12 o'Clock for Ramnagur: If he does, I expect him to pass me about 6 o'Clock this Evening, before which Time I shall be under Arms.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire.

Sir,

As you seem to be unacquainted with the Misfortune that has happened to Captain Mayaffre's Detachment, as late as 9 o'Clock last Night, by the Two Letters which I have received of that Date, I am sorry to inform you, that they were beat out of the Town of Ramnagur with a very considerable Loss; Two Officers killed, Three wounded, Two Field Pieces and a Howitz lost. The Enemy pursued the Detachment as far as Chuta Mirzapore, and they arrived within Two Miles of this Fort last Night about 9 o'Clock. It has been a most unfortunate Business, and more rash and inconsiderate than any Thing I ever heard. Captain Blair, whom I have seen, says he told Captain Mayaffre every Thing that happened. If an Opportunity should offer of attacking any Parties of the Rajah's Force about the Distance of Pateeta, I will endeavour to surprize and defeat them; but I must proceed with great Caution, as the Enemy is at present flushed with Success, and the Battalion in Garrison is mostly composed of raw, undisciplined Men, who never fired a Shot. They have not less at this Time than 4,000 fighting Men at and about Pateeta. I have this Moment received your Letter at Half past Nine o'Clock, and shall dispatch the Battalion immediately, agreeable to your Orders.

I am, &c.

GENERAL ORDERS, 26th August 1781.

N° 46.

The Governor General having this Day received the Returns of all the Killed and Wounded in the late Attack upon the Town of Ramnagur, and circumstantial Reports from the proper Officers, finds the greatest Alleviation to his Sorrow for the unhappy Issue of that Event, in the Testimonies which those Reports exhibit of the Bravery and Firmness displayed by the Officers and Troops, both Europeans and Natives, after they were compelled to retire from the Town with so considerable a Loss. The Governor General remarks, with particular Satisfaction, the spirited and judicious Conduct of Captain Sparks and Captain Blair in effecting a Retreat; and to the latter Gentleman especially, without derogating in the least from the approved and acknowledged Merit of Captain Sparks, the highest Acknowledgments are due for the Skill and Resolution with which he extricated the Troops from their dangerous Situation in the Streets of Ramnagur, until their Junction with Captain Sparks's Battalion. The Governor General considers the Officers engaged in this unfortunate Action entitled to his warmest Thanks and Applause for their gallant Behaviour, and requests they will please to convey to the Troops under their Command, his entire Approbation of their Courage and Discipline; particularly to the Corps of Rangers, who so eminently distinguished themselves throughout the whole Attack and Retreat, and whose Loss, with his own, on the Death of their unfortunate Companions, he justly laments.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Honourable Sir,

I have the Pleasure to inform you, that I arrived at this Place Yesterday Morning, and only wait for a Company, which I expect to join me every Moment, and shall march this Afternoon. I hope to reach Chunargur the 27th in the Forenoon, where I hope I shall find Boats ready for my crossing. My Reason for taking this Route rather than that you were pleased to direct, is, that Reports are circulated here, that you, the Gentlemen, and Troops, have left Benares and gone to Chunargur. I did myself the Pleasure of writing to you at Benares, but do not know whether you have received my Letter. I do not hear that any Bodies of the Rajah's Troops are within 20 Cofs of this Place. There is in the Villages a Number of the Zemindars and Ryots assembled. I have no Intelligence so far as Chunar; but if there should be any large Parties in the Roads, I hope you will honour me with the Information. My Detachment, when this Company joins me, will be about 420 Men, but we have nothing but bad Country-made Arms, One out of Ten of which is the utmost that will go off. I have Three Day's Dawks with me. It is reported here that there are Troops near Allahabad from Cawnpore marching this Way.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

To Edward Wheeler, Esquire.

Sir,

I have written to you many Letters ; all probably intercepted. I arrived the 14th at Benares. On the 16th the Rajah having been put under Arrest, a numerous Body of armed Men suddenly crossed, attacked, and massacred the whole Party which had him in Custody, consisting of Lieutenants Stalker, Scott, and Symes, and Two Companies of Major Popham's Grenadier Sepoys ; these having no Ammunition fell without Resistance : The Raja escaped, and fled to Lutteefgur. On the 19th a large Force returned to Ramnagar. Captain Blair with his Battalion, and Captain Mayaffre with the Remainder of Major Popham's Detachment, were ordered to assemble for the Attack of that Place, and Major Popham to join and conduct the Operations, according to a concerted Plan. The Two Corps having joined, Captain Mayaffre, the Senior Officer, without waiting for Major Popham, and against Orders, on the Morning of the 20th marched precipitately into the narrow Streets of the Town ; where, in an Instant, he fell, with Captain Doxat and 33 Rangers, and almost all the Sepoys of Captain Blair's Battalion that had entered with him. The rest of the Detachment returned to Chunar, with the Loss of 2 Guns, 1 Howitz, and 103 Men of all Denominations killed. I was in Benares with the broken Remains of Major Popham's first Party, consisting of about 400 Men, in a Place incapable of Defence, even with equal Numbers. Preparations were making to attack me. I waited till the Evening for a Battalion ordered from Chunar to reinforce our Party. At Seven repeated Intelligence arrived that the Rajah's Boats were in Motion. No News had arrived of the Battalion from Chunar. The Resolution was instantly carried into Execution. We passed the Battalion, which returned and overtook us, and on the 22d at Day Break we gained the Banks of the River opposite to Chunar, having met no Opposition. The Detachment crossed on the Morning of the 23d. The Rajah's Forces are divided between Ramnagar and Lutteespore; his Family is at Bidzigur; his fixed Establishment exceeds 10,000 Men; and all his Reliats bear Arms. Major Popham is encamped on the Plain East of the Fort. I expect to be joined by a Regiment from Cawnpore; one ordered for my Guard at Lucknow. Lieutenant Polhill, with Six Companies of the Nabob's Guard, now at Hand, and Major Moses Crawford's Regiment. My only Distress is the Want of Money, and is great. Bauboos Ouffan Sing, Durbijey Sing, and his Son Mchiphnarain, are with me.

Sir,

The Treachery of Rajah Cheyt Sing has compelled me to retreat to this Place, where I wait to reduce this Zemindary; a Work, I trust, of no great Difficulty or Time.—I have received a Letter from you, mentioning that Mhadajee Scindia has offered Terms of Peace; I hereby give you full Powers, in the Name of the Governor General and Council, to conclude a Treaty with him, on the following Instructions.—I have sent you Credentials in Form; I do not repeat them in this on account of the Dangers of the Road; but in case of their Miscarriage, this Letter must serve in their Stead: act accordingly, and I will ratify it.—Agree with him either for an Alliance of mutual Defence or for Neutrality.—If he desires to include the Peshwa, you may agree to a Treaty of Peace with the Peshwa, and an Alliance against Hyder Ally Cawn, and all common Enemies, or of Peace simply on the Conditions of restoring all that we have acquired during the War, except Ahmedabad and the Territory conquered for Rajah Futty Sing Guicowar, and the Forts of Gwalior, and Fort and Territory of Lahar; that we will never assist Ragonaut Row, nor interfere in his Concerns, nor admit him into our Forts and Factories; but we will not deliver him into the Hands of any one. Let a Time be allowed him to repair to a Place of Security. We will yield what is ours, and what we can in Honour grant; but we will never suffer our Treaties to be infringed, nor our Faith to be violated. Preserve for us Bassein if you can, even if it should be necessary to yield in Exchange for it all the Lands obtained by the Treaty with Colonel Upton, except Salsette and the other ceded Islands, and the ceded Moiety of Baroach; But do not insist on the Preservation of Bassein to the Hindrance of Peace. We want nothing from them but their Alliance against Hyder Ally Cawn, and that we dispense with.—Be careful that the Agreement do not contain any thing hostile to the Government of Berar, or hurtful to our Connection with it.—Obtain the Restoration of the Chundery Rajah, and secure, as far as you may have Means, the Interests of the Rajah of Nurwar, and any other Chiefs who have been active in our Cause.—Include the Rana of Ghode and Futteh Sing Guicowar in the Peace.—To prevent future Provocations of Hostility, let it be agreed to exclude the French, and all other European Nations, from the Ports and Dominions of the Marattas. If a Treaty has already taken place between General Goddard and the Maratta State, the present Treaty must in such Case be void; but you may assure Scindia, that no Peace can or shall be made to his Prejudice. Send, if you think proper, a confidential Person to Madajee Scindia. If he will engage on the above Terms, he must conclude them now: I am making my final Arrangements, and if the Time is lost, a Treaty with him may be for ever precluded by them. Obviate any Conclusions which he may draw from the present Scene. It regards myself personally, and myself at this Time but little—Cheyt Sing, by the sudden Massacre of some of the Sepoys of my Guard, which diminished it to the small Number of 400 Men, shut up with me in the close Suburbs of Benares, might have effected my Destruction. I escaped the Danger, and Troops are assembling daily, to which he can afford no Opposition.—While the Effect of these Instructions is passing to Scindia, the Rajah's total Exclusion ought to be accomplished.—I hope it will.

Honourable Sir,

I have been favoured with your Letter of the 23d Instant, and have the Pleasure to inform you of my Arrival at this Place, on the Morning of the 26th, with the 2d Battalion of my Regiment. The Information I received on my Arrival here, of a large Force being assembled at Zammaniah, Gauzipore, &c. to obstruct my March, determined me, with the Advice of Major Eaton, to proceed no further, till being joined by the 1st Battalion of my Regiment, which I am happy in informing you joined me here at 2 o'Clock, P. M. this Day, after a March of 14 Cos. As a Number of the Men, and most of the Cattle of the Battalion, which To-day are much fatigued and lame with forced Marches, I shall be under the Necessity of halting them To-morrow; but next Day I will assuredly march, and lose no Time in joining at Chunargur. You may rely, Sir, on my informing you as frequently as possible of my Progress and Situation. I propose marching up on the Ramnagur Side of the River, to evade repeated Crossing, more especially as it is uncertain whether I should be able to procure Boats for crossing the Gumpy.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Sir,

About the Month of November last I communicated to Mr. Markham the Substance of a Conversation, said to have passed between Raja Cheyt Sing and Saadit Ally, and which was reported to me by a Person on whom I had some Confidence; the Mode of communicating this Intelligence to you I left entirely to Mr. Markham.

In this Conversation, which was private, the Raja and Saadit Ally were said to have talked of Hyder Ally's Victory over Colonel Baillie's Detachment, to have agreed, that they ought to seize this Opportunity of consulting their own Interests, and to have determined to watch the Success of Hyder's Arms. Some Days after this Conversation was said to have happened, I was informed, by the same Person, that the Rajah had received a Message from one of the Begums at Phyzabad (I think it was from Suja-ul-Dowlah's Widow) advising him not to comply with the Demands of Government, and encouraging him to expect Support in case of his resisting. This also I believe I communicated to Mr. Markham; but not being perfectly certain, I now think it my Duty to remove the Possibility of your remaining unacquainted with a Circumstance which may not be unconnected with the present Conduct of the Rajah.

To Edward Wheler, Esquire.

Sir,

Enclosed are Copies of Two Letters, which I have had the Honour to write to you; the first, in Duplicate from Benares, and the last, from this Place. I doubt the Possibility of the first having escaped the Vigilance of the People who are stationed in every Part of the Zemindary to intercept my Letters. For the Conveyance of this Packet, I shall trust to a light Boat, which, with a strong West Wind aiding the Rapidity of the Stream, will certainly pass without Interruption, if the Fears of the Dandies do not urge them to quit the Boat. In the inclosed Letters you will receive a connected Relation of the Events which had befallen me to the 27th Instant, though purposely abbreviated in the last, for the safer Means of Conveyance.

The Arrival of Lieutenant Polhill, whose Activity cannot be too much applauded, has proved of very great Service in freeing our Communication with the opposite Shore. Our greatest Distress has been in the Want of Money and Provisions; the latter has been effectually removed, and with it the former in a Degree, by the Seizure of a large Store of Grain made by Lieutenant Polhill Yesterday Morning, in a Village about Three Miles distant, Information having been given me of it the preceding Evening. He was opposed by a considerable Body of the Enemy, reported to consist of about 150 Horse, Two Companies of Sepoys, and more than 2,000 Matchlock Men, and Gawars or armed Villagers, but were repulsed and dispersed with some Loss on their Side: On our's none. The Quantity of Grain secured is estimated at 5,000 Maunds, which in our Situation is a most important Acquisition, as we have every Reason to apprehend a total Failure of our Supplies, when the Troops of this Place are reduced, as they soon must be, to the Complement of the Garrison. Numbers are yet assembling to reinforce the defeated Party of the Enemy, and they have been strengthened by Four Guns from Ramnagur, with the professed Determination of making One more Effort.

I have received no Answer to the Letters which I have diversly and repeatedly written to Colonel Morgan, Morgan, to Mr. Middleton, to Lieutenant Colonel Ahmuty, and to Major James Crawford, to whom it escaped me in my last to inform you that I had sent Orders to march to the Borders of Bidgigur; but I have received a Letter from Colonel Morgan, written with a Knowledge of the late Events, and cannot doubt that his Prudence will dictate to him the obvious Necessity, on an Occasion of such Emergency, of sending a Party to my Relief, without waiting for the Formality of Orders, which he will know can with Difficulty reach him. I have Accounts, which I trust to as authentic, that Major Moses Crawford with his Regiment is on the Way; and my later Letters to Mr. Middleton have been safely passed beyond the Borders of this Zemindary. Upon the Whole, I can venture to assure you, that my Situation is actually such as, with the Reservation of that Influence which under every Circumstance must be allowed to Fortune in the Events attendant on a State of Warfare, will warrant the Expectation of an easy and compleat Success.

Major Popham continues encamped on the Plain lying to the Eastward of the Fort, where he will be strengthened by all the Men that can be spared from this Garrison; and as soon as the Preparations are compleated for that Service, he will march to the Attack of Ramnagur.

In the mean Time I have not been inattentive to our more remote Concerns, which I shall reserve for a future Detail, and more secure Conveyance.

The Rajah's Situation, and the Disposition of his Forces, except the Detachment which is opposed to Lieutenant Polhill, is much the same as they have been described in my last.

Hyder Beg Cawn has been some Time arrived at Benares, but prevented from joining me by the Destruction of the Bridges laid over the Barna Nulla, on the Lower Bank of which he is encamped, and by the sudden great Swell of the Water, which has rendered it unfordable. Yet I expect him soon, and his Presence will afford me material Service.

I have ordered to be inclosed Copies of Major Popham's Return of the Loss sustained in the Massacre of the 16th; of a Letter which has been written to me by Captain Sparks, and the Returns accompanying it, of the Killed and Wounded in the Attack of Ramnagur on the 20th of August; and a Letter from Captain Blair, containing the Particulars of that ill-fated Enterprize; also a List of the Gentlemen who were with me in Benares on the 21st, and who accompanied me to Chunar.

I cannot close this Letter without testifying my Satisfaction with Lieutenant Colonel Blair, for his Zeal and Attention, and the Alacrity with which he executed the Orders sent to him for the different Movements of the Detachments from his small Garrison; and my entire Reliance on the steady Conduct and approved Experience of Major Popham. My Regrets for the past are personal. I shall ever retain the painful Remembrance of that Scene of Blood, of which I have been too near a Spectator, and which no future Return of Prosperity can ever efface from my Mind; but in the Prospect before me, I think I have every Reason to expect the happiest Termination of it, in the Extension of the Powers and Influence of the Company; and that the past Example may contribute to the Permanency of both, by prompting us to guard against the secret Growth of the like Evil which has produced it.

I am, &c.

Camp near Chunar, 4th September 1781. N<sup>o</sup> 63:

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Sir,

The 3d Instant at Night, Major Popham did me the Honour of mentioning his Wish of surprizing the Enemy, then encamped near Petitaw, with an Offer to me of commanding the Party which was to perform that Service. I most gladly accepted it; and at One o'Clock in the Morning marched off with the greater Part of my own Battalion, the Grenadiers of the 35th Regiment, in all about Five hundred and Fifty Men, and Two Six Pounders. I took my Route by the Left of our present Encampment, to avoid their Out Posts, which I was so fortunate to pass unobserved, and expected to have arrived by the first Appearance of Day Light, but was retarded in my March by the Badness of the Gun Bullocks and Drivers. The Enemy were first alarmed by some Firing on the West Side of Chunar; nearly at the same Time they must have received Information of my March and Intentions, for I found them regularly drawn up on an extensive Plain, more than a Mile to the Eastward of their former Station, in Numbers about Four thousand, including Four hundred Cavalry tolerably well mounted, and Six Pieces of Ordnance. They commenced the Cannonade about Five o'Clock in the Morning, distant about Three Quarters of a Mile. I continued to advance, and so soon as our Round Shot would take Effect, I fired upon the Line, and continued doing both; their Infantry and Artillery firing very smartly, and their Cavalry hovering round us, which was deterred from charging our Line by a Shot from our Guns now and then. The Fire of our Artillery and Sepoys, which was very quick, obliged their Infantry to fall back. To get Possession of their Guns, was indispensably necessary at this critical Moment. Convinced of it, I ordered the Whole of the Grenadiers to advance for that Purpose; which they did with such Impetuosity as overcame all Opposition; and seized Two Guns, which were immediately turned upon the Enemy. The Grenadiers were led on by Lieutenants Fallow, Birrell, and Murray: I must beg Leave to mention them in the warmest Manner, for their gallant, steady Conduct. The Enemy began to give way in every Part: Immediately after a very smart Fire from all the Guns and Line compleated our Success. About Six, or a little after, the Enemy observed no Regularity, every Man appeared to be guided by his own Fears, and ran away to the Town and Fort of Petitaw, which was in the Rear of their left Flank. Another Gun was about this Time taken, by a Party which I detached for that Purpose. In another Part One of the Enemy's Standards was taken, and soon after a Fourth Gun. Our Guns were well pointed and served by Lieutenant Baillie, the Officer of Artillery, to whom I am much obliged for his Activity and Conduct during the Whole of the Action.

Taken from the Enemy: Four Brass Guns, with Litubers and Tumbrils, with a very large Quantity of Ammunition of every Kind, and of the very best Materials; One of each Sort I have taken the Liberty of sending for your Inspection.—It appears evident to me, from the Quantity and Quality, to have been all prepared long before your Arrival at Benares, and at a very considerable Expence, Part of it being European Materials. I was under the Necessity of blowing up a Tumbril, and Two Limber Boxes full of Ammunition, a large Quantity of Powder, and leaving upwards of 1,500 Round Shots, and One Gun shotted and spiked, for want of any Means to bring them off.

Three Brass Guns, One Tumbril, and One Limber Box of Ammunition, I brought with me. The Sepoys offered their Services to drag them, which I thankfully accepted, and made them a small Recompence for their Readiness.

I now collected my wounded Men, which was very considerable, and much dispersed, occasioned by the Distance I had advanced. I provided them with Palankeens, Officers Horses, Doolies, and every Thing which could be collected. Mr. Laird, the Surgeon, was very diligent and active in giving his Assistance on this Occasion, as well as during the Action. About Eight o'Clock I was joined by Lieutenant Wade and Malcolm, with One Gun, the Rangers, and One Hundred Sepoys; the Rangers made an Offer of dragging the Enemy's Gun, which I accepted, and employed them with the Sepoys, who had before made the like Application, and were much fatigued.

Having accomplished the Service, and I believe the Intention of my being detached, though I could not surprize the Enemy's Camp, owing to their early Intelligence, I judged it most proper to return to our present Station; which I did, the Enemy not chusing to give me any further Trouble. I take the Liberty of mentioning Lieutenant Birrell's Conduct, during the Whole of the Action, as deserving the highest Praise from me; also every Officer and Soldier I had the Honour of commanding.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

To Edward Wheler, Esquire.

Sir,

Yesterday Morning Major Popham detached Captain Blair with his Battalion, and Two Companies of his own Grenadiers, and Two Guns (6 Pounders) to attack the Enemy, collected at Pateeta. They were prepared to receive him, and made a very spirited Resistance. After a very severe Action, the Fortune of the Day was happily turned in our Favour, by a bold but well-judged Manœuvre. Captain Blair detached his Two Grenadier Companies to attack Two Guns which were posted on the Flank, and galled his Troops exceedingly. The Attack succeeded, and the Two Guns were turned upon the Enemy, who were soon after totally routed. Captain Blair brought off Three of their Guns, and spiked the Fourth, the Carriage of which was disabled. He brought away also One of their Tumbrils, and all his own loaded with their Ammunition. Three more of their Tumbrils, with much loose Powder, were blown up on the Field. Captain Blair having no Means of bringing them away, he was obliged to leave about 1,500 of their Shot piled in a Village. The Enemy's Numbers are reputed 8 or 9,000 Men; Captain Blair judges them from Appearance to be only 3 or 4,000. They were their prime Men; our Loss, which I add with Regret, exceeds 105 Men killed and wounded; theirs must be proportionably more, though unknown. It is remarkable, that the Enemy's Artillery and Cartridges made at Ramnagur are almost equal to ours; their Cartridges and Portfires compounded with equal Skill, and their Powder much better. This is the Second Instance in which the Service is signally indebted to the collected and intrepid Gallantry of Captain Blair. Other Praises are due, which cannot be noticed in this.

I am, &c.

N. B. Sent in Duplicate by Two Men of Lieutenant Polhill's, in the Evening of the 4th September, and in Triplicate on the 8th.

Cawnpore, 29th August 1781.

N<sup>o</sup> 69.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Honourable Sir,

The unusual Failure of Intelligence from you, and the Reports which are brought to me from the Natives being fraught with alarming Accounts of your Situation, have determined me to detach immediately Two Regiments of Sepoys, 40 European Artillery Men, with Four Guns, and One Howitz, with Orders to proceed with all Expedition to join you; and the Officer commanding the Detachment has Orders to pursue such Measures, and make such Movements, as he shall deem expedient, according to his Intelligence, for effecting that Service. They will set off on Saturday next, September the 1st. The Artillery, for the Sake of Expedition, is to go down by Water to Allahabad, where it is to wait for the Arrival of the Sepoys. I shall immediately order Three Battalions from the Detachment at Kalpy to march to this Station, and One Battalion under Major Gilpin will be left for the Protection of that Place. A fresh Supply of Ammunition has been dispatched to Lucknow for Major Roberts's Regiment.—Though I cannot but imagine, that were your Situation any ways critical or dangerous, and you stood in need of Military Force to assist you, I should have remained so long without receiving Orders from you to send Troops down; yet I doubt not but the Step I have taken will obtain your Approbation, as there is a Possibility of your Orders having miscarried, and the Consequence of a Delay, in such Case, might prove serious and dangerous.—I shall order the Regiment of my Brigade that is now at Futty Ghur, to march down to this Station as soon as possible.—As the quick Arrival of this Letter to your Hands is promised to be rewarded by you, or the Officer who receives it, I beg Leave to request that you may be pleased to order the Sepoys and Boatmen such Rewards, honorary or pecuniary, as you may think equal to the Merit of their Service.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

James Morgan, (Colonel).

Cawnpore, 30th August 1781.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Honourable Sir,

Since I inclosed the accompanying Duplicate, I have received a Letter from Lieutenant Pigott, at Allahabad, covering a Note from Colonel Blair, to communicate your Orders to an Officer commanding a Detachment proceeding from Cawnpore to Benares by Water; and Lieutenant Pigott has sent Three Copies of it, that have since arrived. His Care and Attention I must beg Leave to recommend here, as from these I received the first authentic Intelligence of your being in want of Troops to assist you; and as by the Words of Colonel Blair's Note, it appears that you had dispatched Orders to me for sending a Detachment of Troops down to Benares; but these Orders have never reached me, and I am now at a Loss to know what Strength you wished the Detachment. To-day, Part of the Detachment I send down to you under the Command of Major Crabb will embark, and To-morrow the Whole will set off: It consists of a Party of Artillery under Captain Hill, the Two Flank Companies of the European Regiment, and Two Regiments of Sepoys, with Four 6 Pounders and One Howitz; Tumbrils, Ammunition, Draft, and Carriage Cattle. All will proceed by Water, but no more Boats can be procured here.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

James Morgan,
Colonel.

Buxar, 30th August 1781.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Honourable Sir,

I have forwarded you Six Letters by different Dispatches; but as I have not yet been honoured with your Instructions, and am daily receiving Reports of the Situation of Affairs towards Chunar, I am fearful of their having miscarried, and more so from the Disaffection which seems to prevail in this Part of the Country, and particularly in the Pergunnah of Sarrijah, where the Inhabitants are assembling in a small Fort, and rendering themselves as formidable as the Situation will admit. Aware of the Consequences which might attend their Measures, I wrote a Letter to the Aumils Amur Sing and Ooden Sing, to require their Reasons for this Appearance of Hostility; but their Answer was evasive from the Subject I addressed them on, and tinged with Insolence. Such Steps therefore as I deemed necessary for the Defence and Protection of this Place, I have been studiously attentive to, and am now providing a Magazine of Provisions for the Expence of the Garrison in case of an Attack, which, from the Information of my Hircarrahs, I find myself threatened with. For Assistance in this Particular I applied to Bickra Munjeet, Phouzdar of Budgepore; but though his Professions are tendered with all the Warmth of Sincerity, his Conduct, and Connection with Bucket Sing, induces me to think him but little attached to the Interests of our Government, and I have been therefore necessitated to make further Application to Mr. Green at Chuprah.—The Numbers of Troops detached on Command from this Station, reduces my Force to 368 Rank and File, including the contiguous Out Guards and the Sick; and I am further deficient in an Establishment to work the Ordnance of the Garrison.—The several Dawks arrived at this Station shall be forwarded under Charge of Major Crawford.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

Isaac Eaton, Major.

The Two following Letters were sent from Ramnagur, by Teekchund, to Gobind Ram Pundit at Benares, and delivered to the Governor General by Beneram Pundit, on the 5th September 1781.

Translation of an Arzee from Rajah Cheyt Sing to the Honourable Governor General.

When I waited upon your Highness in your Pinnacle, I represented to you every Thing which was proper to be represented; that my Life, my Country, and Property belonged to your Highness; requesting requesting that you should order whatever was your Pleasure, and that I was ready to obey it with Pleasure. I besides performed all the Duties of Obedience and Humility, and represented all the Particulars with a View to the present Time; for I well knew, that as soon as Oossaun Sing should be introduced to your Highness, Mr. Markham and the Molavies, &c. having settled this Plan, would make you conceive Displeasure against me. At that Time your Highness answered, that you had no Business with my Life or Property; that you had not given Admission to Oossaun Sing, or any of his People; that you had no Connection with any of my Relations: What Crime did I afterwards commit, that, by the Advice of my Enemies, you should resolve to confine me with such Disgrace? However, I remained till Evening in Confinement, and behaved in no Instance otherwise than with the greatest Humility and Obedience.—I addressed several Arzies, expressing my Readiness to obey your Orders; and that I was your Slave, and was ready with my Life and Property.—Observe, that Cheyt Ram Chubdar came to me, and reviled me, and with a loud Voice gave both me and my People the vilest Abuse. The People of the Sirkar first fired Balls from their Guns, and discharged their Muskets; immediately the Tumult arose, and, notwithstanding my most earnest Request for them to desist, no one would hear me. Myself, after being wounded by a Sword in the Hand of the Captain, escaped with Life from that imminent Danger, and sat down in a Corner. If you will examine with an Eye of Justice, and not listen to Tale-bearers and Informers, you will find no Crime in me; and your Mind, which is the Mirror of the World, will I am certain approve of it.—I have before addressed Arzies to you, but have not yet been honoured with an Answer.—Oossaun Sing has not yet ceased from ruining the Affairs.—Should now my Life and Honour be left to me, I am your Slave.—Beneram Pundit will have represented my Situation to you and will continue to do so.

Translation of a Letter from Raja Cheyt Sing to Beneram Pundit.

N<sup>o</sup> 73.

I formerly wrote all Particulars of my State to you at Calcutta, that you might explain them fully to his Highness the Nabob. When his Highness came to this Quarter, I repeated every Thing to him on board his Pinnace: That I was in every Instance ready, that my Life, Country, and Property belonged to him, and should do whatever he wished. To this he replied, that he had nothing to do with my Country, Property, or Life. A Day or two after he sent a Battalion to Shewallan, with Mr. Markham and Three other Gentlemen; and put me into Confinement; he likewise sent Guns. Notwithstanding this I made no Opposition, and remained confined till Evening. I addressed an Arzee to the Governor, that I should make no Opposition, and that he might do with me whatever he liked. This however did not meet with his Approbation. Cheyt Ram Chubdar came to me, and gave the vilest Abuse to me and my People; they then fired their Guns and discharged their Muskets. In this Instant I most earnestly requested them to desist; but upon the Captain's striking me with his Sword, the Tumult commenced; I myself having escaped with Life, remained at a Distance, when Battalions and Guns, sent from the Fort of Chunar, arrived at the Town of Ramnagur. My People, for the Protection of their Honour and Credit, defended themselves.—As my Honour is bestowed on me by the Nabob, I have therefore addressed an Arzee to his Presence, which you will present, and procure a speedy Answer.

Lutteespoor, Tuesday 5th September 1781.

N<sup>o</sup> 74.

Honourable Sir,

The Relation of the unlucky Accident which prevented my going to Chunar, and the Distresses I have suffered since, I shall forbear mentioning till I have the Honour and Happiness of seeing you; will only briefly acquaint you, that the Rajah having discovered the Place of my Concealment, at the House of Gopaul Doss, he sent a Number of his People Yesterday to take Charge of me, and I am now with him at Lutteespoor.

Pardon me, Sir, and do not impute it to any presumptuous Liberty if, at the Rajah's humble and earnest Entreaty, I propose, on his Part, Terms of Conciliation and Submission: He solemnly declares that the Misfortunes resulting from the late Event were contrary to his Wish and Intent, his Disposition ever leading him to live in Peace and Friendship with the English Nation, and to pay implicit Obedience to your Commands. The Rajah desires me to say, that he is disposed to pay the Honourable Company the customary Tribute, and any other Demands you may in Reason make upon him. To this you will please to reply, as the Exigency of our Situation and your superior Wisdom may suggest.

I assure you, Sir, that though I am now in the Rajah's Power, and cannot avoid repeating to you what he has requested, I have taken up my Pen with Fear and Trembling, lest any Thing I have said should give you Displeasure; for I am conscious of my Inferiority, and scarce dare entertain a Hope that any Thing that comes conveyed through me will be attended to; but I confide in the

To the Nabob Vizier.

N<sup>o</sup> 75.

I was made happy by the Receipt of your Excellency's Two Letters, accompanied by Mr. Middleton's, acquainting me that you have advanced some Days Journey from Lucknow, and arrived at Peepulpoor, and that you would proceed from thence towards this Place, where you would soon arrive. Before this I wrote to your Excellency, requesting that you would lay aside your Intention of coming here, and return to Lucknow, that you might not suffer any Inconvenience on the Road, from the rebellious Disposition of Cheyt Sing's People; and that I, having settled these Matters, would proceed to an Interview with your Excellency; and that you ought by no Means to think of coming to this Quarter. But as I learn that notwithstanding this your Excellency is resolved on coming to my Assistance, I am filled with the highest Gratitude for so noble a Proof of your Friendship. It is now incumbent on your Prudence and Circumspection that you advance with the greatest Caution, to prevent any Inconvenience from the Treachery of Cheyt Sing's People. As soon as I am informed of your Excellency's Approach to Chunar, I will cross the River with as many Troops as I have with me, and will proceed to meet you. Three Days ago Major Popham, with a small Part of his Detachment, attacked a large Force of Cheyt Sing's Entrenchment near the Fort of Pateeta, defeated them completely, and took Four Guns, several Tumbrils of Ammunition, and a considerable Quantity of all Sorts of Military Stores. I beg Leave to congratulate your Excellency on this signal Success.

Dated the 21st Ramgaun.

N<sup>o</sup> 76.

From Cheyt Sing to the Governor General,

Before this the Arzees which I have repeatedly addressed to your Presence will have been perused by you, but to this Time I have not been honoured with an Answer to any one of them. I am in every Way ready in my Allegiance and Duty, and have obeyed all your Highness's Orders, and never have I been negligent in any one Point; and your Highness, from your Goodness and Justice, has always been pleased to protect and support your own Slave, and to shew him Favour. All this Time, when from the unfortunate State of the Times the Reports of self-interested Persons have met with Reception at the Presence, I humbly represent that the Words of evil-minded, self-interested Persons be not attended to; but that your Highness, looking upon me as a Slave raised by yourself, will be favourable towards me, because I am your Slave, and am ready in my Duty and Allegiance. Although I have been guilty of no Fault, yet the Slave is by all Means criminal, and the Business of the Master is to pardon. By the Blessing of God, your Highness is the Master, and is just; let him consider that in all the Three Battles the Army of the Sirkar was the Aggressor. Now Matters have passed the Extremities. Should you even now bestow Life upon me, it would not be foreign from the Duty of a Master.

Honourable Sir,

A Detachment of 100 Europeans, 30 Artillery Men under Captain Hill, 2 Regiments of Sepoys, 1 Howitz, &c. under the Command of Major Crabb, set off by Water on the 31st ultimo for Chunar. Your Order of the 25th ultimo I received the 1st, and that of the 26th on the 2d. I sent by Express your Order to Colonel Cumming immediately. I am preparing to follow the Detachment with my whole Force as soon as possible. I have wrote to you Letters in Triplicate, to inform you of what I have done. I have given Major Crabb particular Orders to carry down Grain and Provisions with him, and gave him 25,000 Rupees to purchase it with, which was all the Cash in ### GENERAL ORDERS issued at Chunar, 8th September 1781.

The Governor General desires to express publicly the Sense which he entertains of the gallant Behaviour of the Officers and Troops in the Attack made upon the Enemy's Camp near Pateeta on the 4th Instant. The Governor General considers Captain Blair as entitled to his warmest Approbation, for the Resolution and Conduct which he evinced in defeating a Force so much superior in Number, not wanting, as it has appeared, in personal Bravery.

The Spirit exerted by Lieutenants Fallon, Birrell, and Murray, who led the Grenadiers; the Service performed by the Artillery, under Charge of Lieutenant Baillie; and in general, the Steadiness and Attention of every Officer in his Station, materially contributed to the Success of the Action, and give them a Claim to the highest Commendations.

The Governor General also highly commends the Care and Activity of Mr. Laird, in his Attention to the Wounded during the Action.

It is with great Satisfaction that the Governor General gives the Praise, which has been represented to him as due, to the distinguished Behaviour of the Grenadiers of the Detachment.

Chunar, 8th September 1781.

N<sup>o</sup> 79.

To Colonel Morgan.

You have acted nobly, and with a Decision that does you Honour. I most heartily thank you. I have had a Letter from Major Crabb, dated the 2d, from Allahabad: he proposed to march by Land from thence, and I expect him hourly, though I have not heard from him since. The Nabob is near; Major Moses Crawford is also on the Way from Dynapore, and is reported to be on the Way from Sukkerdeea, which is but 4 Cofs from Ramnagar. I have written to you the News of the 3d. On that Morning Captain Blair, with 5 Battalion Companies and 2 Companies of Major Popham's Grenadiers, and Two Six Pounders, attacked the Enemy, encamped in a Body of more than 4,000 Men, at Pateeta; and after a very severe and doubtful Conflict, in which we lost 104 Men, killed and wounded, he obtained a most decisive Victory, taking all their Guns and Ammunition, viz. 4 Guns, 4 Tumbrils, and of Ammunition an incredible Quantity, most of which he destroyed, spiked One Gun, and brought away the rest. I hope that it will be unnecessary for you yourself to proceed this Way; yet march, and use your own Discretion in advancing. If your Presence shall be required, you will receive the surest Proof of it by the Failure of my Letters. I less fear the actual Enemy than the Contagion of the Example. I am much pleased with the Nabob.

(Signed) Warren Hastings.

Dear Sir,

N<sup>o</sup> 80.

Futty Saw, Geenooroy, and Adjeet Mull, with a large Body of armed Men, are come into Housseypore. The Two last have, I understand, joined Futty Shaw, on a Promise of his Assistance in obtaining Possession for them of their Zemindaries in Goruckpore, which is to be the second Object of this Confederacy. I have no Force to defend any Part of my Districts, and have therefore been under the Necessity of calling on the Zemindars of Sircar Sarun for their Assistance on this Occasion, and some of the principal Men amongst them are gone with their Dependants to Housseypore; but I confess I have no great Confidence in them. Several of them are intimately connected with Cheyt Sing; there are also some allied by Marriage to Durbeey Sing and Oossoan Sing: The Names of Gopaal; these last are Gopaal Narain, Serib Narain, Govind Narain, Hir Govinsaw, Bonna-Ser-Saw, and Ragonaut Saw. Letters to them from Dirbejeey Sing and Oossoan Sing would be of infinite Service, and might, in some Degree, counteract the infamous Attempts of Cheyt Sing. One Letter of his (and I have Reason to believe there are many in Circulation) addressed to Dirjoo Sing, a Zemindar of this District, at present employed in Housseypore, was by him carried to the Aumil of that Place, who immediately sent it to me. It is signed by Cheyt Sing's own Hand, and has the large Seal of his Government affixed to it. He therein desires Dingo Sing to kill every European and Sepoy he can, and join him with all his People.

In my Letter of the 25th ultimo I acquainted you with the Application I had made to Colonel Ahmuty, for a Battalion of Sepoys, and of his Refusal. He wrote me, that the whole Force at Dynapore was Nine Companies, that they were lately incorporated, and the Arms they had unserviceable.

To Colonel Muir.

Chunar, 10th September 1781.

Sir,

I have lately sent you Dispatches in Duplicate, containing Instructions and full Powers for negotiating and concluding a Treaty of Peace with Madajee Scindia, either for himself separately, or with a Reservation in Favour of the Peshwa, in case it should be agreed to include him as a Party in the Treaty. I have since received Intelligence, that one of my Dispatches has been intercepted, and it is not unlikely that the other may meet with the same Fate. I have also sent a second Letter of the same Substance with the first, but without Credentials. As the present Opportunity promises a more safe Conveyance, I now send you a Duplicate of my last Letter of Instructions, together with a more full and regular Commission than it was before in my Power to forward to you.

I had Yesterday the Pleasure to receive your Letter of the 17th ultimo. The one which you mention to have written on the 13th, has not reached me: I imagine it has fallen into the Hands of Cheyt Sing's People. It is with great Satisfaction I observe, from the Deputation of Chinnagee Row, that Madajee Scindia has in some Degree anticipated the Overtures of this Government, and that the general Expressions of a Desire of Peace, used at his first Interview with Mr. Ford, indicate a Disposition so consonant with our own.

If Scindia should urge the Return of your Detachment beyond the Boundaries of his Dominions, I see no Objection to this Condition being granted; on the contrary, I desire it. There can be no Use for the Continuance of the Detachment after Peace is concluded, nor will there be any Thing in the smallest Degree dishonourable in agreeing to its Return.

The Objects of its Equipment were, to divert Madajee Scindia from the Operations on the Malabar Side of India, or to withdraw him from the Alliance of the Ministers of the Peshwa; and these Objects having been effected, its Return becomes a natural Consequence.

We are under no Engagements to protect the present Dominions of the King, or those of Nudgiff Cawn, and the Rajah of Joynagur; and if Peace is settled with Madajee Scindia, I do not desire that he should be restrained in carrying into Execution any Plans which he may have formed against them; at the same Time I think it necessary to caution you against inserting any Thing in the Treaty which may expressly mark either our Knowledge of his Views or Concurrence in them. It will be sufficient for us, and Scindia ought to be satisfied with the Latitude implied in it, if he is only restricted in the Treaty from making Encroachments on our own Territories, and those of our Allies the Nabob Vizier, the Ranah of Ghode, and Futty Sing Guickwar? For these an express Provision must be made. He must in direct Terms engage, that he will never invade, or in any Respect molest them; as we will in the same Manner stipulate with respect to his Territories. In my Letter of the 29th ultimo, I instructed you to obtain the Restoration of the Chandery Rajah, and to secure the Interests of the Rajah of Naavar, and any other Chief who have been active in our Cause. This Subject I must now leave to your Discretion, as it is not in my Power to send you such explicit Instructions as I could have wished, not having Access at present to your and Colonel Camac's Letters; which point out the Nature and Extent of our Connections with each of these Rajahs, and the Claims which their past Services may have given them to our Protection. In discussing their Interests, we must make a Distinction betwixt actual and implied Engagements. No actual Engagements whatever exist between us and any of the Rajahs: Such of them however as have taken an active Part in our Cause, are entitled to some Degree of Consideration. You who are on the Spot can best judge of their their several Merits, and will attend to them as far as you may be able, without hindering the more important Objects of your Negotiations.

It seems probable that few Difficulties will arise in settling a separate Treaty with Madajee Scindia, and this is the Object I have principally at Heart. Let it not be impeded or retarded by the Obstacles which may occur in adjusting the more complicated Matters remaining in Dispute between us and the Peshwa. A Peace with the one must soon produce a Peace with the other. Let an Opening be left for it in the Treaty with Scindia, on the Terms I have mentioned; and though these Terms comprehend in our Favour every Object which we could desire, yet they are on the Whole so advantageous to the Peshwa, that I think his Ministers will acquiesce in them rather than continue a precarious and expensive War, deprived of the Support and Assistance of Madajee Scindia.

It will be necessary to stipulate, that in case they shall not accede to the proposed Terms of Peace, Madajee Scindia shall not, directly or indirectly, assist them, or suffer any of his Tributaries or Subjects to assist them with Men or Money, or Arms, or any other Means of carrying on the War against us.

This must be either expressly stipulated, or so clearly and strongly implied, that no Doubt shall remain regarding it.

In the Event of a Peace being settled with the Peshwa, it will perhaps be thought proper to recall General Goddard's Detachment; and their best Route lies through Madajee Scindia's Territories. With a View to such an Event, you will stipulate with Madajee Scindia, that he shall allow them a free Passage, and assist them in procuring Provisions, and other Necessaries, on the Road.

I inclose a Letter which I have written to Scindia, informing him of the Powers which I have delegated to you, and desire that you will urge him to an immediate Decision on the Propositions which you have to make to him: That any Delay or Evasion on his Part may preclude an Accommodation for ever; and that by your Answers I shall be regulated in entering into another Plan of Connections, which will not only prove an insuperable Bar to the Views he has at present formed on the Northern Provinces, but draw such a powerful Attack on his own Territories as must infallibly end in his Expulsion and Ruin.

If after the Conclusion and Execution of the separate Treaty with Madajee Scindia, he should desire to promote a Peace between us and the Peshwa, I will appoint a Person with full Powers to negotiate the same through the Channel of his Introduction and Mediation.

I am, &c.

To Edward Wheler, Esquire.

Sir,

N° 83.

I have advised you in Triplicate of the Success gained by Captain Blair on the 3d. It was dear, but decisive. With 550 Men opposed to more than 4,000, he completely routed them, took all their Guns (4), Tumbrils (4), and Ammunition immeasurable. Major Moses Crawford is at Dildanagur, about the Midway between this and Buxar; there he will remain till Major Popham moves. Yesterday Morning Major Crabb with his Detachment, consisting of 100 European Infantry, 30 Artillery with Captain Hill, and Two Regiments of Sepoys, arrived, and these were all transported to this Side before the Evening. Major Roberts with his Regiments, and One Lack of Rupees, has passed Ellahabad, and is hourly expected. The Nabob Vizier, whose Conduct I must in Justice applaud, arrived this Morning at his Camp on the opposite Side of the River. There I met him. He proposes to cross and encamp on this Side with a small Guard. His Army would starve us. I hope that Major Popham will be able to begin his Operations on the 14th at the latest. Doubt not of speedy Success. The Rajah has made repeated Overtures for Peace, less humble in Terms than in the Modes; but I have declined to answer him, or even to temporize: The Example is dangerous, and ought, even with Hazard, to be checked in this first Instance. You will have heard, and you will hear, many false and alarming Reports; for the Enemy invent, and our own Hircarrahs exaggerate. Colonel Morgan has acted with Promptness and Decision, which merit public Thanks; and I with Pleasure learn, that all the Officers of the Detachment shewed an Eagerness equal to his. Colonel Morgan appears to have formed the Resolution on the 29th; the Troops were embarked on the 31st, and they arrived in less than Ten Days from Caunpore. I avail myself of this vacant Space to assure you, that all will terminate happily.

To Major Popham.

Sir,

You will receive into your Charge and Command the following Corps of the Army now assembled at this Place; viz. The Grenadiers and Light Infantry of the 2d Regiment of European Infantry; a Detachment of Artillery from the 2d Brigade; the Foreign Rangers; 1st Battalion of the the 6th Regiment, 19th, 30th, and 35th Regiments of Sepoys, and a Detachment of Sepoys commanded by Lieutenant Polhill, and a Body of Cavalry furnished by the Nabob Vizier.—Major Moses Crawford, commanding the Regiment of Sepoys and a Detachment of Cavalry, and Major James Crawford, commanding the Independent Companies of Sepoys stationed at Chitra, have been directed to put themselves under your Command, and their Corps are to be considered as Part of your Detachment.

These Troops you are to employ, without Loss of Time, in subduing and dispersing the rebellious Forces of Rajah Cheyt Sing, and in reducing the Zemindars of Benares, and its Dependencies, to the Obedience of the Company.

That you may be enabled to carry these Orders into effectual Execution, I hereby give you full and absolute Authority, independent of all other whatsoever, except that of the Governor General and Council, and my own, to prosecute this Service in whatever Manner you shall judge most expedient for bringing it to a speedy and successful Termination.

When the Service will admit of a Reduction in the Strength of your Detachment, you will please to return to me the 30th Regiment of Sepoys; and as soon as a further Reduction can be admitted, the 1st Battalion of the 6th Regiment of Sepoys and Lieutenant Polhill's Corps are to return to this Place.

Sir,

My last was the 11th.—The Forces now assembled are the 6th, 7th, 19th, 30th, and 35th Regiments, Lieutenant Polhill's Battalion of the Body Guard, Two Companies of European Grenadiers and Light Infantry, 30 Artillery Men, and the Rangers, and 600 of the Nabob's Horse.—Major Popham marched on the 16th; one Division to Pateeta, another with Major Crabb to the Back of Lutteespore.—I do not expect any Thing decisive so soon as I wish—there must be Delays, and I feel them sorely; but, I thank God that I am myself a Witness of the Evils, Wants, and Errors of our Service, though I have been nearly the Victim of them, since it has furnished me with the Means, though slow, of correcting them. The Province of Oude has caught the Contagion; but I shall dismiss the Nabob in a few Days, and doubt not but his Troubles will be soon quelled. I give my sole Attention to the present Object, which accomplished, every other will follow. Major Crawford must be near, I expect him hourly—Believe no Report. I have not yet received one Letter from you.

N° 91.

Captain Hogen is ordered to raise immediately a Corps of Native Infantry, to consist of Seven Companies of One hundred Rank and File each, to form a Guard for the Resident at Benares.

Honourable Sir,

I was Yesterday honoured with your Letter of the 8th Instant; and it gave me a sincere Pleasure to learn the Success of our Arms under Captain Blair, and of there being so promising a Prospect of Punishment speedily falling on the Rebel Insurgents. I arrived here, after Five Days March, from Cawnpore: The Troops suffering greatly from the Heat, rendered it necessary to halt a Day here. To-morrow I proceed to Allahabad, where I hope again to have the Pleasure of hearing from you, or of getting such Intelligence as may serve to direct me to take such Measures and make such Movements as may best promote your Design. I have Two Packets for you from Colonel Muir: They being large and of Importance, makes me unwilling to trust them as yet to be conveyed by Hircarrahs.

To Colonel Morgan.

Sir,

I repeat my Thanks for the effectual Aid which you have given me, and the Decision with which you relolved on it. The Detachment arrived the 10th, Major Roberts's Regiment the 13th, and I hourly expect Major Crawford from Dinapore. Major Popham has invested Pateeta, a Fort 6 Miles S. E. of Chunar. We have now a Force equal to every probable Exigency come to Allahabad, and remain there. You need not advance; and I hope in a few Days to be in a State to desire you to return. I had less Cause to guard against the actual Enemy than against the Contagion of Example. The Nabob has acted most honourable. Send immediately to Joosy the Bazar People of the 7th and 19th Regiments, the Camp Equipage, Lascars, &c. of the Europe Artillery and Infantry, with this Detachment, and as much Flour as you can spare for the latter. An Escort from the Nabob will conduct them from Joosy.

Honourable Sir,

It is with the greatest Concern I send you the enclosed for Mr. Middleton, intercepted by the Rajah's People. There is another Letter from Major Hannay, dated Fyzabad, 10th Instant; the Purport of which is nearly the same as that inclosed, to caution you against the secret Designs of the Nabob, and that he (Major Hannay) is much distressed and ill. The Rajah will not suffer me to send the Major's Letter to you, from some capricious Whim: I dare not now ask him; but the Major says nothing more than I tell you. I was obliged, from sad Necessity, to tell the Rajah some Part of the Contents of the enclosed; but I took Care it should be nearly plausible: I omitted such Particulars as he might take the least Advantage of. For Heaven's Sake, Sir, condescend to listen to some Terms of Conciliation, while we can do it without lessening our Dignity. Pardon me the Presumption of advising you. I am, it is true, wanting in Wisdom and the Knowledge of Politics, but I see the Rajah is very (I fear too) formidable. I am greatly distressed at the Contents of the enclosed Letter. Heaven avert this impending Storm, and protect you ever!

Enclosed in the above.

My dear Nat,

In such critical Times as these every Man has a Right to relate what he hears a Friend should and may do; without Impropriety therefore, before Hannay leaves the Neighbourhood of Fyzabad, I write you my News and Opinion, lest hereafter our Communication be cut off. There is certainly Villainy abroad. The Nabob it is said set out well inclined to our Interest; -but since, he and Saadit Ally have come to a proper Understanding: The latter wrote him, He was wrong to give us any Assistance; that such another Opportunity might never offer of shaking off the Yoke; as yet he need only stand neuter himself, and, under Pretence of assembling his Zemindars to attack Cheyt Sing, privately direct them to obstruct the Junction of our Forces by every possible Means. The Begums gave the same Advice, and Promise of Money; this Cheyt Sing has already disbursed to a great Amount. This Plan was the Cause of Gordon's Disaster, being attacked in the Nabob's Country while he thought himself amongst Friends. My Information is from some Zemindars, who I have had it in my Power to be kind to; although it is the public Talk of Fyzabad, where my People are daily insulted. Likewise Zalim, who is with 2,000 Men on the other Side, and means to cross in the Morning, boasts that he will soon do for us, as the Nabob will send Hannay no Assistance; that he is sure of; nor will any of the Collectors pay more Money: We shall therefore shortly have none to pay our Troops with, while they have Plenty. Hannay is now about Two Cofs from Ry Ghaut, on the Owde Side, with only Two Companies, Two Guns, and (I believe) some disaffected Horse. I have written him pressing to cross to this Place; for should Zalim be over before him, I shall be hemmed up in a small Fort with 150 Sepoys, when Zalim will take care Hannay does not get over to relieve me; perhaps, while attempting to pass the Evyra, be attacked by the People of the Begum, with the Zemindars set on by her. In such an Event he could not possibly possibly escape Destruction: My Waffelaut would soon be settled after such an Accident. I am apt to think this Mharatta Treaty is only a Fetch to gain Time until the Rains are over for certain, as their Horse could not act during that Season. Look to yourself, Nat; you may be in Bobby's Power. Mr. Hastings should not leave Chunar until there be Force very sufficient at Hand, both to check his Excellency and do for Cheyt Sing, lest he get into a worse Scrape. A very few Days will determine it one Way or other with regard to us Rulers over these. You may think me humming; but it is more than Odds we never meet again. God prosper you, and pray take Care, &c.

Dear Sir,

The Governor has received your Letter of last Night's Date, and desires me to acquaint you that it gives him great Concern to find you are compelled to be the Instrument of Conveyance of the Rajah's Letters and Messages, which the uniform Treatment they have met with from the Governor must have convinced you are totally useless and unavailing. He wishes therefore you would, once for all, acquaint the Rajah, that it will be to no Manner of Purpose to force this disagreeable Task upon you in future, and that every Application from him hereafter will meet with the same Reception as the past, and be absolutely inadmissible. I sincerely wish you released from your present distressful Situation.

N<sup>o</sup> 97.

I had before heard of your Success, and was pretty well apprized of it from my own Situation at Day-break, and after; but my Satisfaction was checked by my Fears for the Loss which you might have sustained.—Your Note has relieved me; I am happy, and do most heartily congratulate you on the complete Success of this Achievement, which in every Light reflects the highest Honour on your Conduct, and on the Bravery and Steadiness with which it was followed. I am sending an Order to Major Crawford to join you this Evening, and will exchange his Guns for 2 Six Pounders.

You will have perceived from Major Crabb's Letter, that his Instructions with you is no otherwise to be effected but by the Conquest of Lutteespore; for it will ruin his Corps to return by the same Route, and he has no other, except the high Road, which is through Lutteespore and Pateeta. Let me know what you propose doing next. I shall send a Transcript of your Note in quadruplicate to Calcutta; and beg the Favour of you to order Captain Scott, or any other able Hand, to write, to send me the Particulars of this Day's Action, and a Return (which I yet expect to give me some Pain) of your Killed and Wounded. Once more I give you Joy, and add my most hearty Thanks; and I beg that you will present these in the strongest Terms (they cannot exceed my Feelings) to the Officers and Men of your Army.

Sir,

I most heartily congratulate you on the Success of our Arms in the Conquest of Pateeta, for the Particulars of which I refer you to the inclosed Letter from Major Popham. I understand that large Reinforcements, both from Lutteespore and Ramnagur, were opposite him in the Field. It was intended to attack both Pateeta and Lutteespore at the same Time, and the former by an instant Assault. Major Crabb, with a strong Detachment appointed for the latter Service, marched on the Night of the 15th by a large and, as it has since appeared, scarce practicable Circuit, towards a Pass which lies behind, or to the South of Lutteespore. A Letter received this Morning mentions his Arrival on the Plain which adjoins to the Pass, after a March of Three Days, instead of One, as was expected. It is the Road to Bidzygur, and said to be the Repository of all the Rajah's Ammunition. Major Popham marched at Two of the same Night, nor did he reach his Ground with his whole Line till Ten, and then found the Place too strong to attempt it, without a regular Approach and battering Cannon. It fell at Six this Morning. I regard this Victory as a decisive Turn of our public Influence ; but the greatest Proportion of my Joy is derived from the Consideration that it was gained with little Bloodshed, an Advantage which I attributed, as I expected it, to the superior Skill and known Composure, nor less Humanity, of Major Popham. Major Crawford arrived here Yesterday Morning, much harrassed, but without Loss or Impediment on his Way.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General.

Honourable Sir,

As my Answer to your Favour of the 16th, which I did not receive till the 23d, the Day I wrote the Reply ; and also my Answer to Major Palmer's Letter, dated the 17th, which I received the 21st in the Morning, and answered it directly ; are stopped at Buxar with the other Letters, I have engaged Two People, to whom I am to give One thousand Rupees, to deliver this, and bring an Answer from Chunargur ; should they get safe, you may, Sir, intrust them with any Letters, and I will forward them. Major Crawford's 2d Battalion, with the Major, marched from hence the 22d in the Morning. I immediately sent Orders to Captain Maxwell to cross over from Manjee and join Major Crawford at Buxar, which he accomplished. I have acquainted General Stibbert with what I have done, and the Necessity of ordering up immediately another Regiment and Four Six Pounders as soon as possible. I have acquainted him with the melancholy Accounts I have heard of your Situation, losing your Boats, and Major Popham's Regiment being almost destroyed. You may rest assured, Sir, there shall not be any Thing left undone by me for your Service, that I will not do. I have ordered Captain Salt's Troops to march to join Major Crawford as soon as possible : Mrs. Hastings has signified to me that she would send the Fifty Body Guard to join them. I hope you will approve of this, as it cannot be attended with any bad Consequences, whatever good so small a Body of Cavalry can do. I have got out One Six Pounder from the Magazine, the only one serviceable there, and am training up some of the Sepoys to work it, Two from each Company, not having any other People here. Our Arms are very bad, but I am in Hopes the Boats will arrive with new Arms in a few Days. Every Thing at present is quiet in these Parts. Mr. Græme made a Requisition the 24th Instant for a Battalion, but I was obliged to refuse him on Account of this Regiment having unserviceable Arms and Accoutrements, and also as it has been so short a Time incorporated. This I flatter myself you will approve of. Mrs. Hastings is well, and intrusts the accompanying Letter, which I hope you will receive safe.

I have the Honour to remain, &c.

To the Honourable Warren Hastings, &c. &c. &c.

Dear Sir,

I have the Happiness to inform you we are in Possession of Pateeta, and I believe with little Loss. When the Enemy heard our Attack, a large Body posted on the Hills to the Left of our Rear, made for the Camp ; but the European Grenadiers and Light Infantry, whom I kept as a Corps de Reserve, moved towards and totally routed them. Their Cavalry at the same Time made a Motion, with some Infantry, towards the Right of our Camp, on which a Gun was sent through some high Grass to an Out Post, and by firing Two or Three Rounds, obliged them to fly. Could I have afforded a few Sepoys from the Camp, or had the Cavalry done any Thing, Numbers of the Runaways must have been destroyed. I just hear very few of our Sepoys have been killed, and not an Officer hurt. The Enemy has sustained great Loss. Had you not better, Sir, dispatch Major Crawford's Corps to relieve Major Roberts ?

JOURNAL of a March over the Binde Hills, from Chunargur to Lutteeepoor; delivered to the Governor General by Major Crabb, who conducted it. N<sup>o</sup> 101.

The following Extract of Orders, issued by Major Popham, received from the Brigade Major's Office at Half past Five in the Afternoon.

Saturday,
15 September.

“ The 1st Battalion of the 6th Regiment, the 7th Regiment with 4 Guns and 1 Howitzer, Lieutenant Polhill's Corps with his Two Guns, to march this Evening at 7 o'Clock; the Ammunition for the Guns to be carried on Bullocks. This Detachment to be commanded by Major Crabb, who will receive his Orders from Commanding Officer at 6 o'Clock.”

The Ammunition and Stores being ready at Ten, the Detachment marched by the Right, over broken Ground, to the Bank of Mullah; the Water too deep to admit of the Guns crossing without taking off the Limber Boxes, which were carried on the Lascars Heads; these occasioned a Delay of Two Hours.

The Rear Guard being crossed, I moved on, over a Plain, with low Jungle on each Side: Near the Top were Two sharp Turnings, which increased the Difficulty, and added so much to the Delay, that the Sun was rising by the Time the Guns had gained the Top; the Jungle continuing very thick, but low, for near a Corse, which opened an extensive Plain, tolerably well cultivated, and Two inconsiderable Villages in it. About a Corse from the Entrance on this Plain, a very narrow but deep Nullah delayed us Two Hours. About  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a Corse further on, met with another, the Bed and Banks of it exceedingly rocky; upwards of an Hour and Half was employed in crossing it; moved along the Bank under a steep Hill about a Mile, the Road full of Rock and large Stones; re-crossed the River, which was more difficult than before, the Bed of it full of very large Rocks, and the Bank very high, through which it was necessary to cut a Road for the Guns. About 2 o'Clock, every thing being crossed, the Detachment moved forward through a thick Jungle, with broken Ground and Hills on each Side, to the Bed of a small River full of Rocks; on the opposite Side a steep Pass, which with much Labour we got through. The Cattle being much fatigued, the Sepoys were put to drag Ropes, to get on the Guns, which delayed us till near 4 o'Clock. A great Scarcity of Water prevailed; Hircarrahs were sent out in Search, but none was to be found nearer than Three Miles in our Front, where they discovered a Lake; a thick Jungle between Two high Hills all the Way to the Water, where it became more open. The Cattle being so much spent with getting up the Hills, it was Sun-set before we got near enough the Lake to halt, which I did, with it on my Left, and a very high Hill on my right Flank, having been upwards of 20 Hours on the March; and the Distance from Chunar I judged to be about Six Cofs.

Sunday 16 September.

The Detachment got under Arms at 4 o'Clock, and marched through a thick Jungle; crossed the Bed of a small River, the Banks somewhat steep, the Road narrow, but tolerably good, to the Foot of a long and steep Pass, with a very deep Gully close on the Right; the Ascent very difficult, from the great Number of large, flat, smooth Stones, where the Cattle could not hold with their Feet. With the Assistance of the Sepoys, about Ten o'Clock we gained the Top, and moved on over a Plain with large Trees, the Ground in many Places rocky, but level. About a Mile from the Top of the Hill came to a River, the Bed of it full of very large Rocks, over which, with much Labour, we got the Guns. At 1 o'Clock moved on over rocky Ground, the Country opening. About One Corse from the River entered an extensive Plain, near the Village of Koradee. Several Villages appeared on the Plain, the Inhabitants whereof fled on our Approach. The Country appeared to be well cultivated; the Road over the Plain led through Rice Fields. At Sun-set encamped. The Distance this Day about Six Cofs.

Monday 17 Sep-

At Three o'Clock put the Detachment in Motion, and marched for the first Part over a Plain full of large deep Holes, which rendered it difficult and dangerous for the Cattle until Day-light, when we entered a thick Jungle, with many deep dry Nullahs, which retarded us very much, being obliged to cut Roads for the Guns, there not appearing the least Trace of a Road. About 2 o'Clock entered a very large Plain, with several small Villages upon it; the Inhabitants fled to the Jungle on our Approach. About 3 o'Clock encamped near a large Lake, and employed the Smiths and Carpenters in repairing the Bullocks Yokes, and the Pintles of Two Guns. This Day's March about Five Cofs.

Got under Arms at 4 o'Clock, and marched over a Plain, the Road leading through Swamps and Rice Fields, with high Banks, which retarded us much. Passed through the Village of Mud-doopore, a large Village, and seemed to have been a Place of some Note, but deserted. Here the Hircarrahs brought Intelligence, that a large Body of the Rajah's Troops were encamped about 3 Cofs in our Front, near the Village of Loorah, with some Guns. The Road between us for a Corse was a thick Jungle, with a large Lake on my right Flank, and a rising Ground and Village on on the Left; from hence I saw the Fortrefs of Bidjigur, which appeared very high, and above 8 Cofs distant. This Day's March about 5 Cofs.

At Day-light the Detachment marched; entered the Jungle, which continued for a Corfe in some Parts very thick, where I expected to be annoyed by the Enemy. At Sun-rile the advance Guard got clear of Jungle, when I discovered the Enemy, about 2,000, drawn up in a good Situation, with their Guns on the Right (immediately opposite the Road out of the Jungle) on a rising Ground, and a small Bank thrown up in their Front; a Tope, and the Village of Loora, on their Left; a deep Morafs in their Front. They began to cannonade on the Approach of the Troops on the Plain, and continued it briskly, until the Whole had cleared the Jungle, and formed the advanced Guard, returning it with one Gun. As soon as the Line was formed, I advanced as briskly as the Ground would admit, firing the Six Pounder, until I had got near enough for the small Arms to do Execution; at the same Time I directed Lieutenant Polhill from the Right, to advance Two Companies, and secure the Guns of the Enemy; but before he could execute the Order, they retreated (leaving their Guns, Ammunition, and about 150 dead, and about 20 wounded) through a Jungle, to Lutteefpore, about Four Cofs. Having no Means of carrying away the Guns and Ammunition, I destroyed it, rendering the Guns usefess, and burying them. The Road to Lutteefpore led through a Jungle, and over a very steep and rugged Hill, where no Water could be got, prevented me from pursuing further than Sacroote, an inconsiderable Village, about a Cofs from Loora, on a small Plain, where I encamped to bury the Dead, and collect the Wounded, amounting to 34, of every Denomination.

This Day's Distance about 2-1 Cofs. At 4 o'Clock the Detachment marched over a good Road, but Jungly for about 2 Cofs, when we got to a dry Nullah, the Descent very rugged, the Ascent still more so; the Road very narrow and winding, and full of very large Stones and Rocks, over which the Guns were lifted; with much Labour and Time we gained the Summit, from whence we saw the Fort, distant about Three Miles. The Side of the Hill leading to the Town was yet worse than what we had passed; the Road from the Foot of the Hill to the Fort was very narrow, with a thick Jungle on each Side, but pretty level. At Noon I entered the Town of Lutteefpore, which had been evacuated while the Troops were getting down the Hill; about 800 of the Rajah's People having been all the preceding Night plundering it. They left behind them Six Pieces of Cannon, and a great Quantity of Ammunition and Stores; Three Pieces of Cannon were found on the Hills, intended to defend the Entrance from Pateeta. The Fort stands in a Bottom, with high steep Hills on Three Sides, with thick Jungle all round close to the Ditch, which is deep on the Pateeta Side, where the Wall is of Stone; the other Sides of the Wall is composed of Part Stone and Part Mud, with Loop Holes. The Guns were mounted on wooden Swivels in the Center of the Bastions. The Citadel has a deep Ditch and a high Stone Wall (with Loop Holes) in many Places much cracked, almost from Top to Bottom, and very wide.

N° 102. To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Honourable Sir,

I should do great Injustice in not acknowledging how much I am indebted to the Officers and Troops of the Detachment, for the Steadiness which they observed in the Action of the 20th, as well as the Readiness they shewed in assilting to surmount the Difficulties on the March.

Lieutenant Fireworker Baillie, of the Artillery, in particular, I beg Leave to recommend to your Notice, for the very great Attention which he shewed in his particular Department.

To Edward Wheler, Esquire.

Sir,

On the 20th Major Crabb defeated and routed a Party of the Enemy on the Plain above the Pass of the Suckrute; their Loss was 150 Men and 3 Guns, with much Ammunition; our's small. The Rajah that Evening fled from Lutteespore; his Men followed his Example; and Yesterday at Noon Major Crabb took Possession, the Place being totally deserted. I was Yesterday in Major Popham's Camp, and visited the Fort of Pateeta and its Intrenchment. They are both contemptible, but in their actual State absolutely impregnable against an Attack, had they made any Resistance. The Fort, though small, is of Stone, with 4 Towers, a parallel Rampart, and Towers, and a Ditch of great Depth surrounding these, and the Town itself guarded by an Intrenchment extending far beyond it; and the Space between, Hills, Rocks, and Jungle almost impenetrable. At One o'Clock we had the Satisfaction to receive, by a regular Salute of 21 Guns, the instant Information of the Possession of Lutteespore by Major Crabb. I have taken upon me to grant a Brevet Commission of Major to Captain Lane, who commanded the Grenadiers of the Army, and performed distinguished Service. I this Instant receive an authentic Confirmation of the above Intelligence from Major Crabb.

Camp at Lutteespore, 21st September 1781, at Night.

N° 105.

From Captain Thomas Blair to Lieutenant Colonel Blair, at Chunar.

My dear Colonel,

It is with much Satisfaction that I now give you an Account of our Arrival at Lutteespore, after a most fatiguing March as ever Troops experienced, over Hills, Rocks, Rivers, and through Jungles. It does much Credit to the Abilities and Knowledge of Bunde Cawn, his being able to conduct us by such a Road without losing our Way. The only Circumstance is, that he has been deceived in the Length of the Coasts, each of which are at least 4 Miles. We Yesterday were opposed at Lora Suckrute by a Body of the Rajah's Troops, something less than 2,000 in Number, and Three Pieces of Ordnance, which we dispersed and took. Their Guns, Tumbrils, and Ammunition, for want of Means to bring with us, was destroyed. One small Gun and Limber we have now with us. The Quantity of Ammunition found in Lutteespore is considerable. The Place, in consequence of our Success Yesterday, was evacuated by the Rajah in the Evening. The People who did not attend him remained only to plunder his House, which they have done, and destroyed what was valuable, and of no Use to them. I do not believe there was one Man in the Fort when Major Crabb marched in. The Intention of our March, in the main Point, has, I hope, answered the Governor's Expectation—the expelling the Rajah from a Place of Strength, and preventing his taking Possession of the Ghauts leading to Bidzigur. Under his present Alarm, it appears to me, that if Measures are speedily taken to invest that Place, little Resistance will be made. I was, during the whole March, under much Concern for the Success of the Expedition, as I considered myself partly answerable for the Consequences, though I had not the Command; and I shall be much pleased to find it has met with the Approbation of the Governor, who, I hope, will do me the Justice to believe I have done all in my Power to forward the Expedition. I have to request you will mention Bunde Cawn to the Governor. I am much fatigued, and have hurt my Foot a good deal by walking, otherwise in perfect Health. I will refer you to Bunde Cawn for the Particulars of our Expedition, till I have the Pleasure of seeing you. I beg my best Respects and best Wishes may be made to Mrs. Blair.

If you have not already detached any Part of your Battalion to Patna, I desire that you will not, but keep your Corps entire, and station it near the Frontier of Bidzigur; obeying such Orders as you shall receive from Major Popham, who will soon be in that Quarter. Sir,

I have received your Three Letters. I have the highest Sense of the Zeal which you have shewn for the Service, in the Orders given for the Reinforcement of Major Crawford's Regiment, and of the Cavalry, and for their speedy Dispatch; and I beg you will accept of my particular and most hearty Thanks for your personal Attention to myself. The Hircarrah to whom you promised a Reward of 1,000 Rupees deserves as many Lashes; he accompanied Major Crawford, and was exactly Three Weeks on the Way. Major Popham took the Field on the 16th. The Forts of Pateeta and Lutteefpore are in our Possession, the Enemy routed, and the Rajah fled Bidzigur. I request that you will instantly reinand the Detachment from Major James Crawford's Battalion, as he will be else in Danger from the Rajah's whole Force assembled in his Neighbourhood, and his Corps united will be essentially necessary for co-operating with Major Popham in the Reduction of Bidzigur.

Captain Thomas Blair to the Governor General.

Sir,

Lutteefpore, 29th September 1781.

The following Troops, Major Crabb's Regiment of Sepoys, Captain Thomas Blair's Battalion, Lieutenant Polhill's Corps, being Part of the Vizier's Body Guard, in all about Seventeen Hundred Sepoys, Six Guns, Two Tumbrils, and One Howitz, being ordered on Detachment under the Command of Major Crabb, to attack the Fort of Lutteefpore from the Hills and Pass to the Eastward of it, we began our March from the Encampment in the Neighbourhood of Chunar about 10 o'Clock in the Evening of the 15th Instant; crossed the Jurgar Nullah, in which there was Three Feet Water; the Banks of that Part steep, which detained the Troops till past Eleven before the Whole crossed. Fromthence the Detachment proceeded to Foulwarrie Gaut, which is over the Hill. The Ascent up the Hill is not very steep, but the large Stones in the Way, and want of a sufficient Number of Bildars, retarded the Guns exceedingly. With the Assistance of the Officers and Sepoys, the Whole of the Ordnance and Tumbrils were got to the Top of the Hill by Day-light. The Descent to the Plain very little; for some Distance the Road level, small Villages at a Distance from each other, the Inhabitants of which fled, on our Approach, to the Hills. Passed the Village of Dowau on our Left, which is about Two Cofs from Chunar; some small Jungles and broken Ground. Proceeded on to Byrah, about One Cofs; it is a small Village, with a little fortified round Brick Tower on the Bank of the Gondowr River, where the Troops should have crossed; but on Examination finding it unfordable at that Part, turned to the Left through a Tope, and marched to Putper Ghaut, the Road Part of the Way very bad; the Passage might be defended by a few Men against the whole Detachment. The Guns were obliged to be unlimbered, and the Tumbrils unloaded, to bring them over the River; the Rocks at the Bottom of it very large; from the East Side of it, thick Jungle for Two Miles. When the Troops came opposite to Byrad Village, the Distance round to cros at Putpur Ghaut about 2 Cofs out of the direct Road. Encamped about Five o'Clock in the Afternoon at Bulluah Ghaut, below Sultusgur Hills, on a Spot pretty clear of Jungle, Distance from Chunar about Fourteen Miles.

17th. At Day-light marched by the Right; tolerable Road; a small Nullah now and then; no Villages to be seen for Two Cofs—Ponfilla Ghaut; the Hill neither high, nor difficult to ascend; a small Village to the Right, named Nicarcaw; all the Way Jungle, not very thick; Distance Three Cofs: Came upon the Plains, passed Koradie, which is Two Cofs; marched to Cursee Village, which is about Two Cofs, and encamped at 6 o'Clock in the Evening. Left Simraw, a large Village, on the Right; the Country flat and well cultivated. From Bulluah Ghaut to Cerrie is about Eight Cofs.

18th September. At Day-light crossed the Field, and entered the Borriah Jungle; several Nullahs and broken Ground; some small Villages; the Road bad till out of the Jungles; near to Borria, where the Country is open and cultivated: At the Edge of the Jungle surprised Sobau Sing, a Relation to Cheyt Sing; encamped for the Day: Distance Carried Two Cofs.

19th September. Marched at Day-light; to avoid some Water and bad Ground, went out of the direct Road Two Cofs; encamped in the Afternoon in a clear Spot of Ground, at a small Village named Butt, Distance in a direct Road from Borriah about Three Cofs. The Troops marched about Six Cofs this Day. In the Evening saw several of the Enemy's Horsemen mounted as our Troopers; from my Hircarrahs received Intelligence of the Enemy being at Loora, with Three Guns and about 2,000 Men.

20th September. Marched by the Right; 2 Guns in Front of the Body Guard, One in Front of the 7th Regiment, One Gun and One Howitz in the Center, One Gun in the Rear of it, One Gun in the Rear of the 1st Battalion 6th Regiment. The Enemy were drawn up on a Piece of Ground free from Jungle, but divided by some Ditches; the Cannonade commenced on their Side; the Detachment formed in their Front in the same Order as they marched; the Guns, as they came up, returned the Fire. Soon after the Whole was formed, we advanced on the Enemy, who fired smartly from their Guns and small Arms, till the Line was within Twenty or Thirty Paces of their Guns, when they ran away; their Guns were immediately taken; Three Companies of the Rajah's Sepoys, and some Matchlock Men, retreated behind a Tank opposite the Center of Captain Blair's Battalion, who opened and marched round two Sides of it, and gave their Fire, which did great Execution, and totally dispersed the Enemy, who no longer made any Stand, but run as fast as possible: The Troops pursued the Enemy some Way: Halted to collect the Dead and Wounded; the latter were provided with Palankeens, Dooleys, &c. when we marched on to Suckroot, about One and Half Miles from the Field of Battle, and encamped for the Day. The Rajah's Troops were commanded by Myar, the Commandant of his Sepoys, and Surpurrunt Sing: The former rode to Lutteespore in great Haste, threw himself at his Master's Feet, and entreated him to make his Escape immediately; that a very large Force, with Artillery, was close in his Rear, and would inevitably take him alive. He at the same Time accused the Rajah of having deceived him, or being so himself, respecting the English Force which he went against. It appears the Rajah's People had no certain Information of the Destination of the Detachment prior to its Arrival at Honaddie, or of its Strength till the Engagement commenced. Their Hircarrahs seeing the advanced Guard followed by Two Guns, concluded it was the whole Force, and the Followers of the Camp were taken for some of Cossau Sing's People, whose Head the Rajah had ordered to be brought to him, and the others to be killed and left, as if of no Consequence. The Rajah received the melancholy Account of the Defeat of his Troops before Noon, and evacuated the Fort before Three. He was followed by Numbers; some continued all Night to plunder, and left the Place the next Morning.

21 September. Major Crabb marched with his Regiment, 3 Guns, and the Howitz, at 4 o'Clock; at 6 o'Clock Captain Blair's Battalion, Lieutenant Polhill's Corps, with the remaining Guns, Tumbrils, &c. followed; the Road good till we came to Tarrepatell, where there are large Stones and broken Ground, from thence the Road very good through Trees, till we came to Supdur Ghaut, which, from the Slope and large Stones, is exceedingly difficult for Guns to pass; came to a small Village of about 10 Huts; crossed the Gurriah Nudda; no Water in it; the Road to the Fort through Bamboos and other thick Jungles; arrived at Lutteespore, the Gate being open and the Place evacuated; Major Crabb took Possession of it about 10 o'Clock, the Remainder of the Detachment arrived soon after; when Two of our Guns were brought into the Fort, and light Cartridges taken out of the Rajah's Magazine, a royal Salute was fired, and the Union Flag hoisted on the highest Part of the Works. Three Guns were found on the Hill which overlooks the Fort, and had been placed there to prevent an Enemy from possessing themselves of a Spot which gives them every Advantage over the Fort, which is commanded from it. Several Pieces of Ordnance, and a very considerable Quantity of Powder and Ammunition ready made up, were found in the Place.

I shall be glad if the foregoing Account of our March is sufficiently correct to convey a general Idea of the Roads, Rivers and Passes. The Distances are right, so far as I am able to judge without having measured them. Troops marching by this Route without Guns would find the Distance probably less than I have made them, as we were frequently obliged to leave the direct Road to avoid Stones, broken Ground, and other Impediments to Artillery.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

Thomas Blair.

Abilities of Major Popham, in planning so difficult an Attack; and of the great good Conduct of Majors Roberts and Gardener, and of the Officers of the Detachment, for their Assistance in the Execution of it. The Governor General expresses his particular Satisfaction at the firm and intrepid Behaviour of the Grenadiers under the Command of Captain Lane; to whose gallant Example, followed and supported by the steady Courage and Discipline of the rest of the Troops, it may be principally attributed that a Place of such great Strength has been reduced, and almost without Loss.

The Governor General, in Testimony of the Merit and Conduct of Captain Lane, promotes him to the Rank of Major by Brevet.

Major Popham to the Governor General.

Sir,

Camp at Pateeta, 22d September 1781.

It is with reflective Satisfaction I acquaint you that our Endeavours to reduce this Place, and disperse the Army of the Rajah Cheyt Sing, have been attended with complete Success.

My Intention was to have assaulted the Town, on my Arrival before it the 16th Instant; but I had certain Intelligence that a considerable Body of the Enemy, with some Cannon, were within the Place, strongly intrenched. I judged it proper to encamp till I could gain proper Information of the Strength of the Works, more especially as great Part of the Artillery and One Regiment were far in the Rear, and not likely to reach me till late in the Day. About Two Hours after the Camp was pitched, the Enemy began a Cannonade from the Town, which obliged us to file off to the Left, out of the Range of their Shot: This done, we received no further Molestation during the Day. In the Course of the Night I meditated an Attack with the whole Line on their Works; but my Hircarrachs brought Accounts that the Town was defended by a deep Trench and high Parapet, flanked with Towers, on which there were Guns mounted, and the Jungle behind very thick, with a Number of Troops; which obliged me to lay aside hazarding such an Undertaking till better acquainted with the Place. I now gave Orders for a Battery, and Major Gardiner fixed on a Spot about a Thousand Yards off the Works, but soon after, on a nearer Observation, he judged it proper to take Possession of a Tank, the Banks of which would prove an excellent Shelter for the Troops, and effectually commanded the S. E. Face of the Town, distant between Eight and Nine hundred Yards. This Post being gained with little Opposition, a Battery was formed, and the 18 Pounders carried down. On the 19th a smart Cannonade was begun, which continued at Intervals during the Day; some Shells were also thrown; however, it was impossible we could know what Execution was done, as the Thickness of the Jungles obstructed the View; yet it being observed that our Fire obliged the Enemy for the most Part to quit their Intrenchments and retire further into the Woods, it was judged by Major Gardiner and myself, that an early Assault next Morning, just before the Dawn of Day, might be attended with immediate Success, and though not complete, would gain us a Lodgement within the Works, from whence the Fort might with Ease be battered.

This being determined, and Captain Lane's Corps of Grenadiers already at the Battery, at 10 o'Clock at Night the following Orders were issued.

“ The native Grenadiers of the Line, with the 1st Battalion of the 19th, 2d Battalion of the 30th and 35th Regiments, to assemble at the Southermost Battery at 12 o'Clock To-night: Major Roberts to command this Detachment, and regulate it as he shall judge necessary for the Attack of the Town a little before Break of Day To-morrow Morning: The remaining Corps of the Line to close the Center (leaving their Quarter and Rear Guards standing) as soon as the above Detachment marches off, and there lay on their Arms. The Piquets of the Battalion ordered for the Attack, to be relieved immediately by the remaining Battalion. Major Balfour to relieve. —Major Roberts to wait on the Commanding Officer for his further Instructions.”

Major Roberts, agreeable to Orders, began the Attack just before the first Dawn; at the same Time a heavy Fire was kept up by Captain Hill, from Major Gardiner's Southermost Battery, which secured the Jungles to the Left of the Attack, and added to that Panic which seized the Enemy immediately on the Entrance of the Grenadiers, who, with the rest of the Troops, rushed on, and soon made the Victory complete.

While those successful Approaches were making on the Town, a Party of the Enemy sallied from behind the Hill in the Rear of the Battery with Two small Guns, in Hopes that by employing our Attention that Way, the Assault on the Town would be disturbed; but they were soon routed by the cool Intrepidity of a Serjeant and One Company of Sepoys. Foiled here, they moved round the Hills till they came round the Left of our Encampment; where they seemed to meditate an Attack. On their Motions being observed, the European Grenadiers and Light Infantry were ordered if possible to throw themselves in the Rear and cut them off. This Measure was too soon noticed by the Enemy, who immediately run away in great Confusion.

By this Time Major Roberts had driven the Enemy from the Town and every Part, so that they had now nothing left but to move with their Baggage and Cannon without the Place towards Ramnagar; which they effected as to the first Object; but the only Piece of Ordnance they had saved from the Town, was taken by Lieutenant Hamikon, who had Advice and was long in pursuit of it; for they they had the Folly to fire it from a Distance at the Line, as they were gaining the Ramnagur Road, which led Lieutenant Hamilton to do it.

Had Allanals's Cavalry obeyed Orders, the Enemy's Baggage must have also been taken; but not a Man of them would move 500 Yards from the Camp.

The Returns of the Killed and Wounded on our Side, with those of the Cannon, &c. taken, will shew how fortunate we were on this Service; during which, the Behaviour of both Officers and Men was such as merits the most sincere Acknowledgements.

Majors Roberts and Gardiner, Captains Lane and Hill, were particularly active, and I feel a real Pleasure in doing them the Justice to recommend them to your particular Attention.

(Signed) W<sup>m</sup> Popham, Major.

Honourable Sir,

Enclosed I have the Pleasure to transmit a Copy of a Letter I have received from Captain Maxwell, commanding the Battalion at Burragong, with which he has sent me Copies of the Letters written by Raan Sing Roy and Shew Pershaud Roy, to Futtu Saw. These contain ample Proofs of their Guilt; one of them is a direct Information to him of the March of the Troops from Burragong, and an Invitation to avail himself of the defenceless State of Housseypore, by coming into that District. N<sup>o</sup> III.

I have, in Consequence of these undoubted Testimonies, written to Captain Maxwell to seize the Persons of Baan Sing Roy and Shew Pershaud Roy, and keep them in close Confinement.

I have not complied with Captain Maxwell's Proposal for disarming the Country People, as such a Measure could not be put in Execution without causing a general Alarm throughout the District, and greatly obstructing the Cultivation; besides which, as no Crime is alledged against any Person, I conceive there is no Necessity for acting with so much Rigour, which would involve the Innocent with the Guilty, and still leave it doubtful on whom Punishment ought to be inflicted. Though I have deemed it improper to authorize Captain Maxwell to disarm the People, in which I hope for your Approval: I have recommended to him to use every Endeavour to discover if any other Persons, and who, were concerned with Raan Sing Roy and Shew Pershaud Roy in their villainous Attempts.

The Punishment of Futtu Saw's Abettors within the District of Housseypore will doubtless be productive of good Consequences, by awing those who are secretly attached to him; but it is in vain to expect his Apprehension, whilst he receives Protection in a neighbouring Country. I am well informed, that he is now in the Dominions of Rajah Cheyt Sing, and that he has been there ever since he was driven out of Housseypore by Lieutenant Hutcheson, in the Month of February last.

To Charles Græme.

Sir,

In consequence of your polite Attention to my Representation respecting the Treachery and traitorous Correspondence of Bon Sing Roy and Sheo Pershaud with our declared Enemy Rajah Futtu Saw; of their having given him the most perfect Intelligence of every Movement or Step taken to entrap him from this Station; of their having supplied him with Money, and your turning them out of every Employment; I was further induced to attempt the obtaining the clearest Proof of their Guilt, as I could not deem the Punishment already inflicted on them (although the most in your Power) by any Means adequate to their Crimes.

Some Time ago, when I had the Honour of mentioning this Subject, and acquainting you with the Hopes I had of obtaining the original Letters from these Men to the Rajah Futtu Saw, you was pleased to express your Satisfaction thereat, and offered your Assistance, if this could be effected, of laying the Whole before the Honourable the Governor General and Council for their Decision. I have now the Pleasure to acquaint you, that the enclosed are exact Copies of the original Letters, attested upon Oath, at this Time in my Possession. Should further Proof of their Guilt be deemed necessary, I can take upon me to promise, that the Man employed in carrying Money from Bow Sing Roy to Rajah Futtu Saw shall be produced.

I must further beg Leave to lay before you, that while the Country People, so entirely attached to the Interests of Rajah Futtu Saw, are permitted to keep Possession of Quantities of Arms, which I have the most certain Information is the Case, that he can never be at any Loss for an armed Force to enter and plunder the Country with. For this Reason, I would humbly propose my being authorized to disarm every Man in the Country, as the only Destruction to his Hopes, and Means of fulfilling the Intentions of the Honourable Board, in his present Situation, protected and countenanced as he is by Rajah Cheyt Sing in his Country, where he now watches for the first favourable Opportunity of returning to his old Practices.

Honourable Sir, Lutteefpoor, 21st September 1781.
I had the Honour to address you Yesterday from Lora; and I now advise you of my having this Morning taken Possession of the Fort of Lutteefpoor; the Rajah having evacuated it Yesterday Afternoon, and pushes across the Hills to Bidzigur with most of his Followers: Those remaining, amounting to about Seven or Eight hundred, followed his Example. At my Approach I found one of the French Soldiers, who informs me, the rest were inhumanly massacred about the 4th Instant; that he received a Wound, and pretended to be dead, until the barbarous Rascals had quitted the Place, and then he crawled out to the Hills, where he lay concealed for several Days. It was unfortunate for me the Rajah escaped; but the many Difficulties I had to encounter, rendered it impossible to reach this earlier. The Roads, from their Badness, have shaken all my Gun Carriages so much, that it is necessary for them to be taken to Pieces, and have a thorough Repair, before they can leave this. I have given the necessary Orders respecting it. I found here Four Guns of different Calibres. There appear to be a good many Stores; Particulars of them shall be taken, and forwarded with all Expedition. I have also found a Cohorn here, which was I believe taken from Mirzapoor; it seems in good Order. Your Letter of the 17th is just arrived, brought by the Bearer. Bundoo Cawn has behaved much to my Satisfaction in conducting the Detachment. He was mistaken respecting the Distance, as also the Situation of this Place from the Pals mentioned; but I beg Leave to recommend him to your Notice. I hope the Roads will be opened between this and Chunagur.

Honourable Sir, Lutteefpoor, 23d September 1781.
I had the Honour to inform you of the Evacuation of this Place, and my taking Possession the Morning of the 21st. At that Time I could only find Four Guns, but since have discovered Five more, together with a large Quantity of Stores and Ammunition; every House almost produces Stores or Materials for making them. I have the Honour to present you enclosed, a Return of the Killed and Wounded of my Detachment, in the Morning of the 20th, near Lora, in an Action with a Party of the Rajah's Troops, to the Number of about 2,000 of all Sorts, with their Guns. Their Loss amounted in Killed and Wounded to near 200. The Guns fell into my Hands, together with the Stores attached to them, which, for want of Carriages, I was necessitated to destroy, having rendered useless and buried them.

Yesterday Morning I received Orders from Major Popham to send the 1st Battalion of the 6th Regiment, and the Vizier's Body Guard, to join him at Pateeta, and remain here with my Regiment, the Four Guns, and Howitzer, till further Orders.

I have great Satisfaction in informing you, that Half an Hour ago, Kuntoo Baboo and Mr. Barnet applied, and received Admission into the Fort, having Yesterday Morning been dismissed from Bidzigur by the Rajah. These Two Gentlemen are, from Fatigue of Travelling, and Joy at their Escape, incapable incapable of proceeding further before To-morrow, when I shall give them all the Assistance in my Power towards forwarding them to Chunar.

The accompanying Letters were found in an old House Yesterday.

The Difficulties the Detachment has experienced on the March from Chunar to this Place, were such as induced me to form a Narrative, which I shall beg Leave to offer for your Perusal in Two or Three Days Time: I have, &c.

Major Balfour to the Governor General.

Ramnagur 23d September 1781.

Honourable Sir,

At the Desire of the Rance, who represented Cheyt Sing's People having entirely deserted Benares, and which was confirmed by my own Intelligence, I have sent an Officer with a Company of Sepoys, along with some People of hers, to proclaim the Restoration of her Authority, and give Confidence to those who are well inclined to our Government; as also to take Charge of the Gentlemen's Effects, greatest Part of which I understand to be still there. The Officer is also particularly instructed to assist the Rance's People in apprehending the Aumeen Dyaram, who it is said is still lurking in the Town. Though this Step exceeds my Orders, I flatter myself it will meet with your Approbation, as the delaying it till I could receive your Orders might have proved fatal to the Tranquillity of the Town, which seemed to require the immediate Appearance of some Person on the Part of Government. The Inhabitants of this Place are returning fast, and the Rance acquaints me, that the People whose Names I trouble you with in the enclosed List, have all sent Offers to her of coming in immediately, and she requests me to beg you will be pleased to let her know whom you would chuse her to receive, as she will not venture to give any of them Assurances of her Protection without your previous Approbation. I request to be favoured with your Commands on this Head, and will now only take the Liberty of adding, that I think the People in general seem to be sensible of their Error, and that the Tranquillity of the Country may soon be restored.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

P. S. There are many Things found here which I suppose belong to the Gentlemen with you, but I cannot ascertain exactly to whom; I shall collect them all in the Fort, and take Care of them till they can be claimed.

Be it known to the Zemindars, Aumils, Ryots, and all the Inhabitants of the Zemindarry of Benares, &c. Sir,

I duly received your Letter, informing me of the Success of your Expedition; and return you my warmest Thanks for the Spirit and Judgment which you exerted in the Conduct of it.

Captain Blair and Bundoo Cawn have given me a minute Detail of the Difficulties and Fatigues which you encountered in your March; and I am truly sensible of the Zeal and Perseverance which you have shewn in surmounting them.

The Defeat of the Rajah's Troops at Lora, besides the immediate Consequence of the Evacuation of Lutteefgur, is likely to be productive of the good Effect of speedily terminating the Disturbances occasioned by the Defection of the Raja Cheyt Sing.

Be assured that I shall always retain a proper Sense of, and desire to acknowledge, the Service you have performed.

Sir,

In my Letter to you, dated the 24th Instant, I acquainted you, that as the Nabob expected his Return to the Capital would put a Stop to the Disturbances which have lately arisen in his Country, it was unnecessary for you to proceed to Lucknow with your Brigade, as I at first directed. From a subsequent Conversation with the Minister, I find that there is a Probability that the Nabob may be deceived in his Expectations, and still require your Assistance; I have therefore directed Mr. Middleton, on the Nabob's Application to him in Writing for that Purpose, to apply to you for the Aid of such a Force as the Nabob may require; which I request you will furnish on Mr. Middleton's Requisition.

Sir,

I was honoured last Night with your Letters of the 24th Instant; and beg Leave to assure you, it is the Summit of my Ambition to meet with your Approbation of my Conduct; and the Compliments you paid the Troops which I sent you, heightened my Satisfaction with additional Pleasure. In consequence of your Letter of the 19th, desiring me to halt at this Place, I immediately ordered that Part of my Brigade which had crossed over to Joosy, to recross; but in order to lose no Time, I shall directly march towards Lucknow, and, agreeable to your Directions, shall direct Colonel Sir John Cumming to cross immediately at Cawnpoor, and proceed to Lucknow with Two Regiments and Four Guns, and to comply with such Requisitions as the Nabob or the Resident make to him for Assistance to establish Tranquillity in his Excellency's Dominions. But I have the Pleasure to inform you, that I learn, both by Letters written by Gentlemen at Lucknow, and by my Intelligence Writer there, that the Commotions have subsided, and that they entertained no Alarm but from the Situation of Chunar; and I am ready to conclude, that the Brigade's halting here operated in some Measure to produce that good Effect; and I am now concerned I sent to you that Extract from Mr. Blane's Letter, as I apprehend it was written without a right Consideration of Circumstances, and caused you some unnecessary Alarm. write to Mr. Middleton to let me know if the Assistance of my Troops be wanted, and shall be prepared to afford him any Aid, either with my whole Force or any Part of it, should the Detachment with Colonel Sir John Cumming not prove sufficient for quelling any Disturbance in the Nabob's Country ; but in the present State of the Country I make no Doubt of Colonel Cumming's being enough. As the Exigency of Affairs does not seem now to be pressing, I have left it to Colonel Cumming's Option, either to proceed with the Detachment, or to go and command at the Station of Futtah Ghur with the Two Regiments he has left there, till further Orders from me.

Mr. Græme to the Governor General.

Chuprah, 21st October 1781.

Honourable Sir,

I have the Honour to enclose a Copy of a Second Letter received from Major Lucas, since the Action of the 17th with Futtu Saw ; by which you will see that he narrowly escaped being taken Prisoner. Wishing to reduce as soon as possible the increased Expence attending the keeping in Pay the Body of Burgundosses raised for the Defence of these Districts, I had written to Govindram Misser to send them in here to receive their Arrears that were due to them ; but previous to the Receipt of my Letter, a Plan for attacking Futtu Saw's Intrenchments had been formed : They accompanied the Battalion, and did not disappoint the general Expectation of their being serviceable on the Occasion, for they distinguished themselves greatly. I received this Morning another Letter from Major Lucas, in which he says, " Don't determine any Thing about the Peons till you hear from me again ; " there is something in Agitation that may require their further Services." In consequence of this I have resolved not to recall them immediately, and hope you will approve of it.

I have the Honour to be yours, &c.

C. Græme.

From Major Lucas to Mr. Græme.

Camp Huseypoor, 18th October 1781.

Dear Sir,

I have been favoured with your's of the 16th. By this, Chupra must be relieved from their Fears of Futtu Saw, who I now find has got a most compleat Drubbing, and had a very narrow Escape himself ; for, contrary to Custom, he was in his Trenches, but walked off on seeing us advance so firmly. When he arrived on the Banks of the Jerry, he mounted a favourite Horse, which was alarmed at the Fire, and had nearly thrown his Master into the River, who was obliged to dismount, and get upon an Elephant, and had just got clear, with about Twenty or Thirty Favourites, when my Grenadiers and some of Dergoo Sing's People arrived at the River, whose Depth or Rapidity did not prevent their following immediately ; and had they known the short Distance the Raja had got in proper Time, 'tis more than probable he would have fallen into our Hands. His Loss in killed and wounded, from every Account, seems to be nearly 300. Most of his principal Men fell in the Trenches ; Sittabarie, and a Commandant formerly in the Nedjeeb Battalion, said to be sent here by Cheit Sing, and his Colours taken, besides several others whose Names I do not recollect. From the Numbers of Matchlocks, Tulwars, &c. &c. picked up by our Followers in the Jungles in and about the River (which is confirmed by some Faquers who stood on the Banks) many of them must have perished therein, as it was barely fordable in a particular Spot, and very rapid. It is supposed he had 3,000 Men in the Trenches, and that he has not been able yet to collect 300 ; so that his Overthrow must, I hope, now be compleated. The Lines we attacked must not be deemed common temporary Intrenchments ; the Rampart at the Bastion was about 14 Feet high on the Outside ; and 'tis very evident the Whole was intended as a Fort, which in a little Time would have proved very troublesome. His Headmen often urged a Night Attack, which we expected for some Time, and have not been able to strip since we left Sewan ; so that it became absolutely necessary to disturb this troublesome Neighbour, which I had determined should take place on the Arrival of the Gun. Enclosed is a small Sketch ; I had proceeded with my Battalion to d. d. where we received a severe Fire, which neither the Gun nor Platoons could slacken. Here I was joined by the Amil, who pointed out the Ford. I formed the Plan of attacking the Bastion with the Gun and Dergoo Sing, while Captain Bruce advanced with his Battalion through the Jungle ; so that the Trenches were stormed at each End with equal Success, and at the same Instant. Poverty seemed to reign amongst them. I saw nothing but a few temporary Huts ; and nothing worth mentioning has been picked up.

To-morrow I march about 5 Cofs, N. E. to a suspected Place, and hope to be enabled to return to Barragong in a few Days. The Aumil has behaved very well on every Occasion.

I hope you are truly sensible of the essential Service performed by the Burgundosses, who have suffered exceedingly, and hope they may receive some Mark of Favour.

Hircarrahs are sent to all Quarters; no Intelligence of the Enemy as yet, nor do I suppose they will be easily found.

I find our Sepoys have not suffered as much as I expected; only Twenty wounded, One since dead, and Two or Three in Danger.

Your's, &c.

Translation of a Letter found in Lutteespoor, 6th October, and forwarded to the Governor N<sup>o</sup> 124.
General by Captain Thomas Blair.

On the Tuesday after my Arrival at Benares from Buxar, I went to Sewala Gaut, with a View of representing to you several Circumstances, which I had learned concerning the opposite Party; but as they had got in before me, I was deprived of an Opportunity of seeing you. I was present at the Place where your Friends and People were sitting, and where they assembled together; and when you went with the Boat, notwithstanding it was my earnest Desire to have accompanied you, yet I had no Opportunity of doing it. The ensuing Day, the Passage of Boats to and fro was entirely obstructed, and I was afraid to send you Intelligence from this Place, lest the Letter should have fallen into the Hands of the Enemy. They remained afterwards Four Days at this Place with a few Men, and if you had then attempted to retaliate on them, you would certainly have taken Two Pigeons in One Trap; but as all your Actions are accompanied with good Fortune, there is no Doubt but the Enemy will soon be overcome. For Two Days the Hircarrahs of the opposite Party came to my House to make Enquiries; but, by the Blessing of God, no ill Consequence ensued. Now that you have taken this heavy Burthen upon yourself, you must trust entirely upon God, and shew, on all Occasions, the utmost Fortitude. The Alliance of several Chiefs, at a Time like this, is very necessary, and may be easily accomplished; yet you must avoid forming any Connection with a Chief of such a Consequence, as may afterwards himself attempt an Interference in your Affairs. Whatever Orders you give, must proceed from your own Deliberation. I am at present perfectly idle here, and am very solicitous of an Interview with you, that I may in Person communicate to you my Opinion on several Points which have occurred to me. By a Letter from Bulwunt Row, I understand that you wish me to inform myself concerning the Arrival of Hyder Beg, and to write you on the Subject.

I will assuredly make every necessary Enquiry, both about Hyder Beg and the Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah, and communicate to you the Result. I have already sent confidential Persons to both, and whatever I may in Consequence learn, shall be communicated to you hereafter. Meanwhile, the Matter is briefly this: You must never entertain Hopes of the Attachment of Hyder Beg; his whole Strength and Power depend upon the opposite Party; yet it is proper that you should attempt to conciliate the Favour of the Vizier, by telling him, that you are desirous of representing several Circumstances to him; that you wish to persuade him to detach himself from the opposite Party, and to resume his former Authority over you. Without knowing your Sentiments on this Subject, it is not in my Power to act so of myself.

It is however at all Events adviseable, that if the Vizier should entirely embrace the other Party, you should nevertheless wait upon him personally, and represent to him whatever you may deem advisable. I beg you will believe me to be in every Respect firmly attached to you. Major Hannay with One Battalion has left Goorackpoor, and Letters have been sent to Cawnpoor for Troops from thence; you should therefore retaliate on them as soon as possible. If Hyder Beg, without your Consent, should attempt to join the opposite Party, it is proper you should station a suitable Force on this Side of the Fort of Chunar, to prevent his crossing the River. Yesterday Rajah Gobind Rani and Laula went and had an Interview with Hyder Beg. What more shall I say? The Object of Hyder Beg is certainly to manifest his Attachment to the opposite Party.

Edward Wheler, Esquire, &c. &c. &c. Fort William.

Sir,

My Continuance in this Quarter, and the Events which have happened, have given me an Opportunity of becoming acquainted with the Situation of the Troops beyond the Provinces; and I am concerned to say, that in their Equipment they are extremely defective, particularly in small Arms and Accoutrements; the last Supplies sent from Fort William to Chunar are entirely expended; the Indents from the Board upon the Magazines there have exceeded the whole Quantity originally supplied. Major Popham's Detachment is indeed amply supplied; but those under Colonels Cumming and Muir are very deficient. I have not been informed of the Condition of Colonel Morgan's Brigade, but I am afraid it is not much superior to that of the others.

I cannot ascertain the precise Quantity of Arms and Artillery which may be required, nor is it material; but the Necessity of having in Store at Chunar such a Supply as may be equal to the Demands of any probable Service on this Side of the Caramnassa, is evident, and the immediate Want of them is pressing: I therefore earnestly intreat your immediate Orders for transporting such a Proportion of small Arms and Accoutrements, and of Field Artillery, 12 and 6Pounders, as may be adapted to this Service, and can be spared from Fort William and the Provinces, by Water, before the Swelling of the River subsides.

The Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire.

Sir,

I was only Yesterday favoured by the Receipt of your Letter of the 3d Instant. I have for some Days past been collecting the Papers which have been thrown out in the Streets and Houses of this Place.

I have the Pleasure to assure you, that the Trouble which I have taken to collect the Ryots of the Pergunnahs of Lutteefpor and Pateeta has been attended with Success. In most of the Villages I have distributed small Flags, given them Beetle and Starkarah, and to some a Sepoy to protect and encourage them. The Ryots are again employed in their Fields; few or none of the Zemindars or Aumils have yet come in. I expect the late Rain which we had, will, with the favourable Reports of the Ryots, induce them to return to their former Habitations. You may be assured, that nothing shall be wanting on my Part to protect and encourage them. The Aumils of Lutteefpoor and Pateeta shall have every Assistance from me which I can possibly give them.—In the Jungles a little Distance from this, I have discovered a small fortified Place, in which, it appears to me, the Europeans were put to Death: Some of their Hats, Shoe-Brushes, and Pieces of their Coats, were found in it. I have not been able to discover any Remains of their Bodies.

I send you Soujah ul Dowlah's Agreement with the Rajah, which was found Yesterday. I am collecting all the Papers into One Room. Two Moonshes, who take Baboo Offan Sing's Name, came to take all the Papers with them. As they had no Letters with them, I desired they would get a proper Authority for taking Possession of them, before I would deliver them: I shall be glad to be favoured with your Directions respecting them.

N° 127.

Sir,

I beg Leave to introduce, through you, an Instance of Zeal and Attachment to our Government, which, from the peculiar Circumstances under which it was exhibited, merits both a Place in our Records, and a public and warm Acknowledgment.

It will be remembered, that a principal Object of my Journey to these Provinces was to obtain and facilitate an Interview at Benares with Dewagur Pundit, the Minister of Raja Moodajee Boosla, for the Purpose of effecting a final Adjustment of the political Concerns of our Government, and that of Berar. The Death of Dewagur Pundit, the News of which reached me Two Days before my Arrival at Benares, and which I regret with the most sensible Concern, disappointed all the Hopes which I had conceived of forming by his Means a solid and lasting Alliance with the Court of Berar.

I was attended in my Journey from Calcutta by Beneram Pundit, the Vakeel of Moodajee Boosla, with his Brother Beesumber Pundit. The Vakeel, during his long Residence with me in that Capacity, had given me constant Proofs of a sincere Disposition to promote the Interests of our Government, whilst he exerted himself to advance those of his Master.

When I retreated from Benares, Pundit and his Brother, on the first Intelligence of my Departure, followed, and, unattended by a single Servant, joined me in the March, resisting all my Intreaties, and even Injunctions, to return to Benares, where their whole Family resided, and where they might have remained in perfect Ease and Security.

On my Arrival at Chunar I found myself in great and immediate Distress for want of Money. The Troops were some Four, and others Five Months in Arrears, and as Cheyt Sing had the Country on all Sides at his Devotion, had not the smallest Prospect of obtaining Supplies, until the Motion of our Troops from different Quarters should open a Communication. It was with Difficulty I found Means to raise so small a Sum as 2,500 Rupees, to distribute among the Sepoys for their pressing Necessities. I must add, though foreign to my immediate Subject, that the Sepoys bore their Distresses without expressing the least Impatience under them.

Being accustomed, from my Experience of the Interest which Beneram Pundit had always taken in the Success of our Affairs, and as a Kind of Acknowledgment of it, to treat him with a greater Freedom of Communication than other Persons in his Situation, I occasionally mentioned to him, without any Expectation or Thought of obtaining any Relief from him, the Difficulties under which I laboured for the Want of present Subsistence. He instantly, and with some Eagerness, replied, That his Family at Benares were in Possession of a Lack of Rupees, collected in Specie, of which he made me an instant Offer, proposing that a Battalion of Sepoys should be sent to bring it away; his Brother at the same Time offering to accompany the Escort, and to deliver the Money. I thankfully accepted the Offer, and should have adopted the Mode they recommended for bringing away the Money, had I not been fearful of exposing their Family to the Vengeance of Cheyt Sing; and as my Dewan had been left at Benares, I hoped by his Means to procure the Treasure to be transported to Chunar, and received their Orders for the Delivery of it to him. But in this Expedient I was disappointed, for the Dewan was so concealed, that my Letter could not reach him, and Gopaul Dols, the Banker, through whose Agency the intended Plan was to be effected, was about the same Time apprehended and carried a Prisoner to Lutteeepoor, where the Rajah resided; neither could I at that Time devise any other Contrivance to avail myself of the Assistance which had been thus generously pressed upon me. When I returned to Benares, Beneram Pundit renewed the same Tender; and although my Distress for Money was not then equal in any Degree to that which had before prompted him to make it, I agreed to accept it, willing to furnish an incontrovertible Proof of his Sincerity in the first Offer, and strengthen the Testimony I have therein given of his steady Attachment to our Government. The whole Sum, amounting to One Lack of Benares Sicca Rupees, was received between the 30th September and 1st October: I have granted to Beneram Pundit a Bond for the same, at the usual Rate of Interest, and the usual Form, except that it has only my Signature to it. I hope and request that the Board will be pleased to confirm it.

I have the Honour to be, &c. &c. &c.

N<sup>o</sup> 128,

The Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire.

Honourable Sir,

I do myself the Pleasure to acquaint you with my Progress since I left Cawnpore.

You no doubt heard of my sudden March from thence for the Safety of Lucknow, and a few Days afterwards of my hasty unexpected March for the Relief of Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, whose Situation, from his Letter to me and Mr. Middleton, were beyond Description, and which authorized the March immediately necessary. He was stationed at Sakrooa, about 30 Cos from Lucknow; and to get to him I had Four unfordable Rivers or Nullas to cross, and all the Country almost between the Gumpty and Gogra had mostly revolted, and were assembled in a very considerable Body, headed by many of the disaffected Rajahs, which I had to remove before I could possibly attempt to cross the Gogra; in all of which I was successful, and relieved Lieutenant Colonel Hannay the 6th in the Morning. The Rebels who had occasioned such Commotions in that Country, and had occasioned him calling for Assistance, were then assembled at Bopaul Gaur, on the Banks of the Seera Nulla, which I was informed was fordable; and that they were determined to maintain their Ground. I halted a Day, and got an Addition of Two 6 Pounders and Two hundred of the disaffected Horse. I marched, and found them posted as described, across the Nulla, with Two Guns well stationed for their Defence, which they had taken somewhere or other. In this Situation, I advanced the Grenadier Companies with Four Guns immediately to the Banks of the Nulla, with an Intention to have ordered the Grenadiers and Two Guns over; but I found the Intelligence which I had received, of its being fordable, premature, and it might have been attended with that Consequence that I might have suffered exceedingly. This was an Accident which I could not foresee, and which took me near Half an Hour to rectify, in finding out a Place where there was the least Probability of fording, and at this Place the tallest Men could only get through; I then ordered the Grenadiers and Two Guns down to the Ford, having previously provided long and thick Ropes to enable me to drag the Guns through any Nullah where I might not meet with Boats, while the other Two Guns covered their Crossing. This obliged the Whole to give way, leaving their Guns and Two Tumbrils, and near 100 shotted Cartridges, &c. &c.; from the first of my Arrival at the Gaur, until they gave way, was near an Hour. I had only Two Men killed and Four wounded; of the Enemy, I found on the Spot between 60 and 70 killed, and many more lay scattered about at a Distance, which they had endeavoured to carry off; the greater Part of their Wounded were likewise moved away, owing to the Difficulty and Delay I met with in crossing the Nulla. They are a Set of the most obstinate People I ever met with; for such of the Wounded as were not taken away, refused Assistance, which I offered them. Could I have possibly got across sooner, and the Horsemen had recovered from their Panic, there must have been very great Carnage.

It is impossible to ascertain their Numbers; it was supposed they consisted of Ten thousand, or upwards, Horse and Foot; but the irregular Manner in which they were drawn up, prevents my forming any Judgment.

This Circumstance of the Intelligence respecting the Ford was unfortunate; However, I have taken Care in providing such People as will inevitably prevent the like happening again. They were Natives of this Country; and I am almost certain it was done on Purpose, for the Hircarrah that carried me to the Gaur I have not seen since.

To describe to you the Situation of Colonel Hannay's own Sepoys, and which called me to their Relief and Assistance, I suppose you will be acquainted with, either by himself, or from Mr. Middleton; and as I have entered upon the restoring of this Country, and a Regiment will be necessary, I beg the Favour I may not be relieved,

I have the Honour to be, &c.

GENERAL ORDERS issued by the Governor General at Benares, the 19th October 1781. N<sup>o</sup> 129.

The Governor General having received a minute Detail from Major Crabb, of the March and Occurrences of the Detachment lately under his Command; in an Enterprize against Lutteeepore, (which Detail has been hitherto delayed by the Indisposition of Major Crabb) repeats, in a particular Manner, the general Thanks which he gave to the Detachment on the first imperfect Account of their Success.

It is with extreme Satisfaction that the Governor General observes the Spirit and Perseverance with which the Troops surmounted the many and great Objects which opposed their March through the Mountains, and the Gallantry with which they attacked and defeated a strong Detachment of the Enemy, after a most fatiguing March.

The Governor General entertains the highest Sense of the Zeal and Abilities with which Major Crabb has conducted an Expedition, attended with uncommon Difficulties, from Nullahs, Jungles, and other Impediments.

The greatest Commendations are also due to the Officers of the Detachment, for their able and active Assistance in this arduous Expedition.

The strong Recommendations which Major Crabb has given of Lieutenant Fireworker Baillie, for his distinguished Attention and Activity in the Management of the Artillery under his Charge, affords the Governor General the Pleasure of a Second Occasion of acknowledging the Services of that Officer in the same Campaign, and publishing his Thanks for them.

All Recruiting for the Corps beyond the Provinces, to be immediately suspended.

To Thomas Graham, Esq; Company's Resident at Benares.

Sir,

From the many contemptuous and disrespectful Letters and Messages received in answer to the different Applications made by me to the Phousdars, Aumils, Zemindars, &c. of Cheit Sing's Country, on various Subjects, I find myself obliged to address you in this public Manner, in Hopes of a Redress from your Representation to the Rajah; and in order to shew you their Disinclination to assist the Company, or oblige me, I shall here mention the Heads of two or three Circumstances as I have had Occasion to write to them upon. About Sixteen or Eighteen Months ago, a Boat with Two Twenty-four Pounders, belonging to the Honourable Company, going to Chunar, was sunk a little above Beerpoor, on the Ground belonging to the Village of Seerpoor: In consequence, I applied to the Zemindar of Beerpoor to assist me in endeavouring to weigh the Boat, at the same Time promising a Reward to such People as he could let me have. Instead of complying with my Request, he returned me an insolent Answer, saying, He had seen many Fringies; who was he? meaning me; that he was Rajah Behadres's Servant, not mine, and would therefore give me no Assistance without his Orders.

I then wrote to the Phousdar of Imaumabad; who made a Shew of Assistance, by sending Thirty or Forty Men. As they could be of little or no Use, I collected together, from Buxar and Budgepoor, as many as I possibly could, with whom I went and examined the Spot, and found it impracticable, from the Rapidity of the River, at that Time to weigh the Guns, had I been supplied with the Number of People required. On my making known to the Board the Impossibility of their being got at, I was ordered to fix a Buoy to the Boat, and post a Guard on the Banks nearest to the Place, in order to prevent its being cut away, in hopes the Course of the River might alter sufficiently this Season to admit of their being taken up. I gave the Com-

N<sup>o</sup> 1. mand of the Guard to a Naick, who formerly resided at the Village of Seerpoor, as I thought him the likeliest Person to get the Assistance of the Country People, when I might want them. The Naick came to me about a Month or Six Weeks ago, and informed me the Buoy and Mast were cut away in the Night, by some of the Muttaks either of Seerpoor, Beerpoor, or Barrow; that if I would permit him to go and reside amongst those People for a Week or Fortnight, he would find out who cut it away, as he had Reason to suspect the Zemindars, having previously heard that such a Thing was in Agitation. I permitted him to go; and in Ten Days he returned, and informed me, Two Muttaks belonging to one of the Villages told him, they knew the People, but it was as much as their own and their Families Lives were worth to divulge it, as the Zemindars had threatened the Life of any Person who should inform the Fringhies, adding, "the Guns would be useful to themselves, as the English would not possess the Country long." I wrote to the Phoufdars Butch Sing Tauckaury and Meer Aussen of Imaundabad Pergunnah, of Scringy Pergunnah, to deliver up the Mhuttaks of the different Villages, at least those who had cut away the Buoy. In consequence I obtained an Order on the Zemindars and Cutwalls for their being delivered up; but the Cutwall of Imaumadabad refused, saying, He did not know me; that if I wanted them, or any Thing else, I should fight him for it before I should have it; at the same time collecting a Mob, he drew his Sword, and made a Cut at one of my People, which he defended with his Firelock, or would most probably been killed. Upon this being reported to me, I sent a Party of Sepoys, with Orders not to make any Disturbance, but if any Resistance was made, to bring the Cutwall a Prisoner to me. Before the Sepoys could get there, the Mhuttaks were sent, but those which gave the Information to the Naick, and which were the People I wanted, were not among the Number; upon my enquiring where they were, I was told that one was dead, and the other gone to Calcutta.

The Practice of drawing their Swords upon my People is very frequent. Whenever I have Occasion to send them into the Country, either for Provisions or Bamboos, Straw, or any other Article I may want for my Garrison or the Troops under my Command, although I write to them in the most polite and civil Manner for the smallest Article, and never suffer any Person under me to take the Value of a Straw without paying for it; notwithstanding which, they will not supply me with any thing by Consent, but, on the contrary, abuse my People in the most gross Manner; and frequently, when the Gentlemen belonging to this Station have sent their Servants to purchase Things, they have been beat in the most cruel Manner.

The Zemindars of Nardimpore, Beerpore, and Choufah, make a common Practice of stopping Boats, although they have regular Rowannahs and Passports from Government. On my sending to know the Reasons for their detaining them, they make use of the most disrespectful Invectives against the Company and me; particularly the Zemindar of Narrainpoor, who not long ago confined one of the Chowdries of Buxar Bazars for Nineteen Days in Irons; and made him pay for another Man Fifty-three Rupees. Upon my writing him on the Subject, to know why he confined him? he drew his Sword on the Sepoy I sent, and returned by him a verbal Answer, that if the Chowdry came on his Side the River, he would cut his Nose and Ears off, and make him pay as much more.

Indeed, from the many Instances I have experienced of the Insolence of the several Zemindars, and the many Complaints I have made to their different Phoufdars of them, I have every Reason to believe they are encouraged by them. I shall therefore consider myself obliged by your procuring for me from the Rajah, an Order for such Articles as I may have Occasion for, on my paying the customary Price, as by that Means it will prevent any further Trouble.

I have the Honour to be,

Sir,

Your very obedient humble Servant,

mine; but it not being taken Notice of by you, I should suppose it had not come to Hand, and N<sup>o</sup> 1. therefore I enclose a Copy, and beg you will on Receipt hereof interest yourself with the Rajah, to give me ample Satisfaction for such Behaviour, otherwise, in Support of my own Consequence, I shall be obliged to apply to the Board for Redress, or for Leave to do myself Justice; for at present the Inhabitants of this Country are in such a rebellious State, that within a Mile of me they refuse to sell the smallest Article wanting either for myself or for the Troops under my Command, notwithstanding I address them in the most polite Manner, by Letter, for the most trifling Thing. It's but Yesterday the Jemauldar of Narrainpoor treated me with the greatest Contempt, by throwing a Letter I sent him on the Ground, and treading on it. The Contents were to request he would send Two or Three Dukaundars with Grain, &c. &c. for the Use of Captain Crawford's Detachment. The Jemauldar at the same Time made use of the grossest Abuse against me and the People I sent, telling them "he could raise Four hundred Men; that if the Fringies wanted any thing, they should fight for it." This Kind of Conduct, if not soon put an End to, will be productive of Bloodshed; for it is impossible in my Situation, let what will be the Consequence, to suffer it, or the People under my Command will be spit at as they pass through the Country, and myself insulted at my Fort Gates. To Captain J. Eaton, commanding the Fort at Buxar.

Sir,

I have but this Moment received your Favour of the 3d. I am ashamed to say, that the Original of the Copy which you inclosed, came to Hand in due Time. All I can say in Excuse for my Inattention, is a bilious Fever, from which I am now only recovering, and which, during its Continuance, totally incapacitated me for any Kind of Business.

I will immediately apply to the Rajah, in the Manner you desire, and represent to him the Propriety of punishing and repressing the Insolence of his Servants, and the Necessity of their assisting the Commander in obtaining Supplies for his Garrison: However, I think I can venture to predict, that a Recrimination is all the Redress I shall be able to procure; and I am convinced that the Interference of the Supreme Council is become absolutely necessary to put a Stop to these Enormities. The Moment I receive the Rajah's Answer, I will give you the Substance of it.

The inclosed will inform you of what has already passed on this Subject.

As I have heard nothing from the Board upon this Subject, I conclude that my Letter has been passed over, amidst the Multiplicity of Business in which the General must have found himself involved, on his Arrival at the Presidency. I remain,

The other Two Gentlemen, after this shocking Accident, returned here, and propose remaining with me till they hear of Mr. Basset (the Gentleman wounded) whether he recovers.

Both the Gentlemen say, the Stroke was made by the Jemauldar himself; upon which I immediately dispatched a Serjeant and Thirty Sepoys, who are just now returned, having brought along with them a Parcel of Black Fellows from Beerpoor; but as I have not as yet had Time to enquire into the Particulars, I am uncertain whether the Scrutiny will be attended with the desired Success: I am however resolved to keep the People I already have in Confinement, Prisoners, until I am able to get to the Bottom of this infamous Affair. I request you will inform the Rajah of my Resolution, that he may take the proper Steps to have it cleared up; as this is not the only Instance of the daring and rebellious Spirit of the Natives in Cheyt Sing's Districts. The inclosed will shew you a new Species of Fraud and Extortion, committed by Myup Sing, the Paraporah Jemauldar, who takes upon himself the Collection of Duties on Boats passing his Station. To the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General, &c. &c.

Gentlemen,

As I have ever considered it as an essential Duty incumbent on me, as commanding at this Station, to give every Information in my Power, respecting the proper and regular Manner of distributing Justice, and preventing oppressive Acts and Irregularities, to the Honourable Board; I have embraced this Opportunity of communicating a Piece of Intelligence, which, from the flagrant Circumstances and daring Spirit of the Natives in this Part of the World, requires the most serious Attention of the Honourable Board.

So very lately as the 14th of the current Month, Three Gentlemen, viz. Ensigns Irvine Horne, and Basset, being on their Way to join the Army, were stopped by these Freebooters at Beerpoor, a Village distant from Buxar only Three Cofs. The Jemautdaur, at the Head of a numerous Gang, endeavoured, and was very assiduous in picking a Quarrel with the Gentlemen's Servants, Two or Three of whom they cut down with Tulwars, and afterwards robbed a Baggage Boat. Not yet satisfied with such cruel and barbarous Treatment, the Jemautdar (as Two of the Gentlemen inform me) made a Stroke at Mr. Basset with a Tulwar, and cut him so desperately across the Forehead and other Parts of the Body, that he was brought back to Buxar, and immediately sent away to Patna to have the Assistance of the Medical Gentlemen at that Station, though with very little Hopes of Recovery. The other Gentlemen are at present with me waiting the Issue. Immediately on receiving the above shocking Account, I dispatched a Serjeant and Thirty Sepoys in Quest of the Offenders; and Yesterday the Detachment returned, and brought a Number of People Prisoners along with them, which I will lose no Time in examining, and taking every other Step necessary to get to the Bottom of so daring an Insult. So soon as I am able to investigate the Matter thoroughly, I will take the earliest Opportunity of addressing the Honourable Board with the Result of my Enquiry.

As this is not the only Instance of the daring and insolent, I may almost say, rebellious Spirit of the Natives in almost every District of Cheyt Sing's Country, I have officially made repeated Applications to Mr. Fowke, the Resident at Benares, to represent these Grievances to the Rajah, but hitherto without Effect.

General Coote likewise addressed Mr. Fowke, in consequence of my Complaint, a Copy N<sup>o</sup> 1. of which I send inclosed; also Mr. Fowke's Answer to the General. Some short Time afterwards, I had a Second Insult; a Copy of which I likewise inclose you, with his Reply.

Since writing the above, I have just had a Third Complaint preferred to me against these People, by a Serang that was stopped by Mynso Sing, the Paranpara Jemauldar, who threatened to murder him, if he did not immediately pay 100 Rupees Duty on a Boat belonging to Major Duff, which he at that Time had Charge of, and was conducting to the Presidency. The Account, as wrote by the Serang himself, and delivered by him to me, I have inclosed for your Perusal.

All these Circumstances, properly considered, will evidently shew the great Necessity there is of speedily falling upon some Means to put a Stop to such outrageous Conduct, as at present there is no Safety for the Traveller, either by Land or Water.

I have the Honour to remain, &c.

William Palmer, Major in the Service of the Honourable East India Company in Bengal, maketh Oath, and faith, That about the End of the Month of June last, the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esquire, Governor General of Bengal, discoursing with this Deponent on the Subject of his intended Journey to Benares and Lucknow, declared one of the principal Objects of it to be to exact from Rajah Cheit Sing a Fine or Contribution of Fifty Lacks of Rupees, as a Punishment for Breach of Engagements with the Government of Bengal, and for Acts of Misconduct in his Zemindary. The Governor General further declared to this Deponent, That he knew the Ability of the Rajah to contribute such a Sum to the Exigencies of Government, and that the Governor General was determined to convert the Faults committed by the Rajah into a public Benefit. The Governor General further declared to this Deponent, in the same Conversation, That an Offer from the Rajah, but not directly, had been made to him of Twenty Lacks of Rupees for the public Service, as a Retribution for his Failure of Engagements; but that he the Governor General was resolved to insist upon the first-mentioned Sum of Fifty Lacks of Rupees; and if the Rajah should absolutely refuse the Demand, that he the Governor General would deprive him of his Zemindary, or transfer the Sovereignty thereof to the Nabob Vizier.

Honourable Sir,

In Obedience to your Commands, conveyed to me through Major Palmer, I shall endeavour to repeat, as well as I can remember, the Purport of what you were pleased to inform me before your Departure from Calcutta, of your Intentions regarding Cheit Sing; but as so long an Interval has since elapsed, my Recollection, which has never been strengthened by a Communication, must necessarily be somewhat imperfect.

N° 2. After enumerating some of the Resources, which you expected to find up the Country for the Relief of the Company's Exigencies, you mentioned to me the Conduct of Cheit Sing. You observed, that he owed his Elevation to the Company; that he was allowed to enjoy a very considerable Income, the Revenue exacted from him being much inferior to the Produce of his District; and that his Territories were maintained and defended by the English Army: That on these Considerations, it had been equitable that he should contribute on an Emergency to the Support of Wars carried on by that Government under which he held his Zemindary, and to which he was indebted for its Protection. Accordingly you mentioned, that a Sum had been demanded from him; that, after some Difficulties, he had agreed to pay it at a certain Period; that, trusting to his Promise, you had made an Assignment on him for the Use of Colonel Camac's Detachment; and that Colonel Camac, relying on his Punctuality, had returned a Bill for a less Sum, which had been sent to him by Mr. Middleton; but that the Confidence had nearly proved fatal to the Detachment, and actually did prove the Cause of retarding the Expedition: That Cheit Sing, in spite of all the Representations which were made to him, delayed so long the promised Payment, that the Officers of the Detachment were reduced to the Necessity of selling their Plate: That you were therefore determined to call him to an Account, and oblige him to make an Atonement for his Conduct in this Instance, and the Want of Attachment he had in general shewn to our Government, by paying a considerable Sum of Money to the Relief of the Company's Exigencies; that if he consented, you were desirous of establishing his Possession on the most permanent and eligible Footing; but if he refused, you had it in your Power to raise a large Sum for the Company, by accepting of an Offer which had been made for his District by the Vizier. You minuted the Particulars of Cheit Sing's Conduct in an Account which you drew up in Calcutta, of the State of the different Powers of Hindostan; though I do not believe that in that Paper you expressed the Intentions you had formed; and I remember you told me, that you had communicated to Mr. Wheeler your Intentions regarding Cheit Sing; and I believe, though I cannot positively recollect, you said he had concurred in them.

TRANSLATION of the Declaration of Hyder Beg Khaun, attested before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

When I arrived at the Surrai of Seaumi, the Governor General, Mr. Hastings, was in the Fort of Chunar. I was detained at the Surrai by the Swelling of the River Burnau.

The Vakeel of the Raja Cheit Sing came to me, and delivered thus the Message of the said Rajah.—“ I [Cheit Sing] have not been in any Manner deficient in my Obedience to the Gentlemen of high Rank [the English]—The Governor General arrived at Benares.—At the Instigation of Onsaun Sing, Mr. Markham brought two Companies, and put me in Arrest.

About Twelve o'Clock my People, stretching forth their Hands, brought me out from thence—For the Safety of my Life I came to Raumnuggur, and from thence to Lutteeypour.—After that, a Force came from Chunarghur to Raumnuggur.—Onsaun Sing wanted to seize upon Raumnuggur: My People stood upon their Defence; an Engagement followed, and the Troops of the Governor General were cut off. I am now determined not to pass by aught which may be in my Power to execute. Do you (i. e. this Deponent) write thus to the Vizier of the Empire, “ That if Support is given to me, I will collect together an Hundred thousand Men, I will go even to Calcutta, and I will totally annihilate the English Government.” I replied to the Vakeel, that this Conduct, and these Declarations, would be productive of Evil to the Rajah.—When the Companies came to confine the Raja, he should have went that Moment to the Governor General.—People say that he hesitated whether he should, or not, attend the Governor. If the Governor General had any ill Intentions toward him, he would have called the Company's Forces, who were stationed in different Parts—To what Purpose was it to come alone to Benares? Or he would have seized him upon the Road. Such Intentions on the Part of the Governor, from this Retrospection, are not to be conceived. If a Master and a Ruler exerts his Authority, still there is no Cause for Fear and Apprehension. On these Subjects, with which you are unacquainted, I will communicate Circumstances as they are. His Highness is, in his Life and in his Fortune, joined and united with the Company, and the English Gentlemen. The Whole of his Dominions is from them (or is theirs) nor does he wish that there should be any Distinction between his and theirs. Such Regard more especially does he pay to the firm and perfect Friendship which always subsisted between the Governor General and his Highness, the late Nurvaub, that he never will be led to deviate, even the Point of a Hair, from the Sentiments and Wishes of the Governor. As soon as his Highness hears these Things, he will march immediately with his Forces to meet Mr. Hastings. Notwithstanding the Governor General has repeatedly wrote to the Vizier to forbid him, yet his Highness will now come on his own Determination. The English Forces too are near at Hand, they will speedily arrive, and the Punishment will be severe. It is not well for the Raja; he will be torn up by the very Roots.

To threaten also that which is out of his Power to execute, is improper, the Rank of the Raja is nothing more than that of a Zemindar; no one will pay Regard to Attempts, and a small Force will be sufficient to chastise him. Far better will it be for him to lay aside such Thoughts as these, to implore Pardon of the Governor General, to give up his Forts, and to send back to him the Boats and the Whole of the Baggage; or rather, it would be better that he himself should go alone, and with his Hands bound, into the Presence of the Governor. Again he brought this Message from the Raja: “ I can no longer rely with Safety on the English. If you say thus, do you interpose, obtain Pardon for my Faults, and take upon yourself to settle the Subsidy.” I said in Reply, “ Your Crimes have been too great; you have attacked the Troops of the Company. I cannot presume to take upon myself to settle your Affairs, and to obtain Pardon for your Crimes. If you have actually resolved on a Change of Conduct, return the Boats and the Baggage, give up Raumnuggur, Lutteefghur and Patetah. Supported by such Proofs, I will once endeavour to obtain a Pardon for you; to grant or to refuse will rest with the Governor General.” The Person who brought the Message said in Answer, “ The Intentions of the Rajah are to seize upon the Fort Chunar, and to extend his Government as far as Calcutta, and you tell him to deliver up Raumnuggur, Lutteefghur and Patetah.” I said, “ Then the Raja, it appears, aspires to the Empire, yet his Rank is only that of a Zemindar: these Attempts will draw down Destruction upon him; he will be extirpated in a Moment.” After this Conversation, he promised to return the Boats, but he never performed his Promise. An Animosity to all the English, plainly and evidently appeared from the Language of the Raja's Vakeel; he repeatedly said, that he would go even to Calcutta, and that he would expel the English, nor would he be deficient in aught which he had the Power to execute. When he found that he had nothing to hope from my Interposition, he began to act hostilely towards me also. He denied me Boats to cross the Burnau, and he directed the Tribe of Gurkbunsi to attack me in the Night. During the few Days that I continued there, we were obliged to keep ourselves ready for Action, and be upon our guard Day and Night. In the Neighbourhood of Joanpore, the People of the Raja wounded several of the Stragglers belonging to the Cavalry in his Highness's Service, who were coming to join me, and carried off some Horses. And the People stationed at Azum Ghur, who came in to me, set forth, That Hadir Shaah, the Son of Azum Shaah, Zemindar of Azum Ghur, which was formerly under the Government of Cheit Sing, had, by Directions from the Raja, gone to Azum Ghur and raised Disturbances. And the Vakeel of Cheit Sing, in the Course of his Conversation, said, that the Raja had sent Forces towards the Currumnaussa, and even to the Walls of Patna; and that Letters were gone to the King, to Nyjuf Khaun, and to Sindeah. Zaulim Sing, formerly expelled from Amordah, was at Buddlopour in the Government of Cheit Sing: He also went to Amoodah, in the Territories of the Nurvaub, and raised Disturbances. It appears that the People of Buddlapour accompanied Zaulim Sing. Such were the Reports communicated to me by the People of that Place. Finding it impracticable to cross the Burnau, where I was, without Boats, I marched from thence, and crossing higher up, where the River was fordable, I proceeded to join the Governor General. This Account of what I heard, and of what I saw, I have truly and faithfully related.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of the Moonshée Gore Pershaud.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, December 2d 1781.

Without the Means of Escape, I was obliged to put on the Habit of a Fakeer, and with my Brother take Shelter in the Hindoo Temple Arnpoornaw, where I continued undiscovered for Eight Days. At length a Fakeer, for the Sake of the Reward, went to Girdhauri Laul, the Brother of Diaraum, Ameen of Benares, and said, that for a Recompence he would seize and deliver me up. The said Girdhauri Laul gave Five Rupees to the Fakeer, and sent Five-and-twenty Peadahs along with him, who took me from the Temple, and confined me for Twenty-two Days in the Ameen's Kutcharee. My Pen is unable to describe the Ignominy, and the Severities which they inflicted upon me. After that, I was confined for Four Days at Ramnagur, and at length, on the 27th of Rammuzau, in the Twenty-third Year of the Reign, I was tied Hand and Foot and thrown upon a Dooli, and sent away from Ramnagur to Lutteespour. On the Road, near to the House of the Chowdri Sewan, I saw a Number of Ladders made of Wood and Bamboo (about Forty or Fifty) lying on the Ground. I enquired of the Peadahs who guarded me, what those Ladders were intended for? they replied, That they had been intended for the Garden of Mhadoodaus, but it was ordained, that the English Gentlemen should live: They made their Escape, otherwise Bauboo Sogaun Sing would not have left one of them alive. Having heard this Reply, I remained silent.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Hurry Raun Pundit.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, December 2d 1781.

The Rajah Cheit Sing, having reflected on his Conduct, determined with his confidential People, that it was necessary he himself should go to meet Mr. Hastings, but that he should go from the Place where he was, with such a Force, and with such Preparations, as would enable him to act both by Land and by Water, and impress the abovementioned Gentleman with an Idea of his superior Strength; for that Mr. Hastings had with him a small Number of Troops, and if he should have entertained any ill Intentions towards him, on observing the Number and Force of his Followers, he would be led to reflect, that nothing could be effected, and consequently be deterred from making the Attempt; therefore he gave Information and particular Directions to all his Soldiers and Attendants, that he was going to meet Mr. Hastings, and that they should hold themselves in Readiness to proceed: That he should go by Water, for which Purpose, a Fleet of Boats was prepared; for the before-mentioned Gentleman (the Governor General) would come by Water, and consequently his Fleet of Boats would come with him; therefore it was necessary, that he (the Raja) should have a Fleet of Boats also, that his People might always be near at Hand: That a Body of Cavalry moreover should proceed by Land, and Tents be pitched at Two Places between Raumnagur and Buxar, for at all Events he must meet the Governor General. Accordingly, on the 16th of Shaabaun, the Raja set out from Raumnagur, by Water, to meet Mr. Hastings. And by Water, the Raja was attended by a Fleet of Boats, in Number about a hundred and Forty, in which were embarked Suddau Nund, Bukshi, Golaum Hossain Taie, Mirza Fize, Ullah Beg Bauboo, Dirjbeji Sing, Moneaur Sing, Purtaub Sing, Daond Bahadur Sing, Ahlaud Midfur, Meer Hussun Alli, &c. Shick Mahummud Ameen, Commandant of the Sepoy Battalions, Dahec Sing, Mahummud Moraud, Dhun Sing, and Hukkoomut Sing, Subadars, with Two Companies of Sepoys, Huzzoori Peadahs, and Matchlocks, in all about 2,000 Men. Godur Mull and Bullum Daus, who were stationed at Gauzipour, joined by Orders from the Raja, who afterwards arrived at Buxar, and had an Interview with Mr. Hastings.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Jeween Raum, Monshee in the Service of the late Lieutenant Stalker.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, December 2d 1781.

After the Arrival of Mr. Markham at Sewalli, I went in and paid my Respects to my Master, who asked me, if I knew whether Mr. Markham would come there or not? I replied, It was reported so, but that it depended on his Inclinations. Mr. Stalker then told me, I might go, but afterwards ordered me to stay. I continued there, and saw Bauboo Dirjbeja Sing sitting with the Rajah in the center Apartment, and Suddaunund Bukhshee and others whispering to the Raja. Shortly after, News was brought to the Three Gentlemen sitting in the adjoining Room, that there were Disputes without. Mr. Stalker went without the Jauli (or First Wall) and asked the Subadar, Bishun Sing, why he had ordered the Bayonets to be fixed? The Subadar replied, That Numbers of the Rajah's armed Servants had come in, and that they paid no Regard to the Company's Orders. After which, Mr. Stalker advanced further out, and asked of the younger Mouluvvi and me, who amongst those People was the Chief? I answered Bauboo Munear Sing. Mr. Stalker sent for Munneair Sing, and strongly enjoined him to appease his People, and enquire, why they attempted to dispute and fight with his Sepoys. Munneair Sing replied, What Power have they, that any one of them should presume to fight? We Two, Father and Son, are desirous to go to the Rajah. Mr. Stalker answered, Very well, but you must stay here between your People and mine, that they may not come to Blows. After that, a Letter arrived from the Governor to the Rajah, which, Mr. Stalker, having quieted and soothed the People, presented to him: The Rajah then got up, and went out of the Barradurri to the adjacent Bastion, to perform his Devotions.

At this Time Information was brought to Mr. Stalker, that the Rajah's People opposed and refused Admittance to another Company of Sepoys who had brought Provisions, a Table, &c. for the Gentlemen. Mr. Stalker again went out, and calling to Suddaunund Bukhshee, asked the Cause of this Opposition; and told him to send Directions (to the Rajah's People.) Suddaunund said, He would go himself. Mr. Stalker replied, "No, send One of your Servants." While the Man was going out to silence the People, Mr. Stalker returned within the Jauli, Dirjbeja Sing was gone from thence no one knew whither. Chate Raum, Mr. Markham's Chobdar, informed Mr. Stalker, that he had a Message to deliver to the Rajah from the Governor General. Mr. Stalker said, "Deliver it." He, the Chobedar, said, "At the Place where the Rajah was at his Devotions, the Governor says your People want to quarrel and fight; it will be better if you forbid them, for every Sepoy is as an European, and every European is as a (or the) Company; if a Drop of their Blood is shed, you shall be plundered and destroyed." At this Period, there was a Report of Guns at the Gate of Sewauli; the Action was commenced. At this Time, Mr. Stalker and Chate Raum went toward the Rajah. Moneaur Sing and others cut down Chate Raum, pulled Mr. Stalker back, and pushing him on one Side, began the Slaughter. The Rajah escaped through a Window by a Rope made of Turbans, got into a Boat, and went off; his People, by the same Means, drew up Swords and Shields as a Bucket is drawn up from a Well, and began to engage. I stood near the Jauli behind my Master; when my Master was killed, I fled toward the Place where the Rajah's Victuals was dressed. I continued there a short Time, and saw the Rajah's People jump from the Walls and the Trees with their Shields and Swords, and advance. After this, I assumed the Character of one of Cheit Sing's Servants, fled with his People, and came to the Presence. The Gentlemen after this went to Chunar, and I should have arrived the next Day, but I was plundered on the Road and confined; Diaram took away from my House Two Taghun Horses, and placed his Seal and a Guard upon the Door. After the Flight of the Rajah, the Zemindar of the before-mentioned set me at Liberty. With-

I had Two Locks of Muskets fixed on my Ears. Bauboo Soujaun Sing sent for me by Raum Kishun Hircarrah to come into his Presence. — He said, “ Deliver up the Trunks of Gold Mohurs which the Governor delivered over to your Care when he went to Chunar.” I set forth, That I did not know any thing about such Trunks. He then gave Orders to the Sepoys to press the Locks hard [saying] that without Severity I would not be prevailed upon to give them up; and then the Blood ran from both my Ears.

The Deposition of Putnimul Moonshee. On the last Day of the Month of Rammuzzaun, in the Year of the Reign Twenty-three, the Gentlemen went to Chunar. I was unable to accompany them for want of a Conveyance; without Remedy, I remained undiscovered in the House of one of the Inhabitants for Eight Days. The Ameen Diaram daily caused a Proclamation, to this Purport, to be made through the City; “ In the House of whomsoever a Person belonging to the English Gentlemen may be secreted, let the Owner bring him to the Ameen's Kutcharri and deliver him up; otherwise, [upon Proof] in the House of whomsoever a Person belonging to the English shall be found, the Owner thereof shall be [considered] as a Criminal to the Government of the Raja, his House and Property shall be destroyed, and his Belly shall be ript open.”

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of the Moonshee Gore Pershaud. — The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, 2d December 1781.

When the Gentlemen marched for Chunar I was not informed of it. I knew it about Four Ghurries after. In Terror for my Life, I secreted myself in the House of Bauboo Duffau Raum; I continued undiscovered for One Day; the next Day the said Bauboo Duffau Raum said to me, “ To-day there has been a Proclamation through the City to this Purport, ‘ Whoever has secreted a Follower of the English in his House, let him produce and deliver him up, otherwise, on Discovery, his House shall be seized, and he himself shall be severely punished. I cannot keep you in my House, go from my House to some other Place.’” Without Remedy, I put on the Habit of a Fakcer, and took Shelter in the Temple of Ampourna.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Doond Sing, Commandant.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

In the Month Phagun a Jummadar and a Harraldar in the Service of Soojaun Sing, the Brother of Raja Cheit Sing, came to me, and said, "Sojaun Sing has sent for you." I asked, "On what Account has he sent for me?"—they replied, "We do not know."—I said, "I am a Servant to the English, I will not go to him." They [then] said, "He has sent for you, to take you into his Service."—I answered, "From my Youth to this Day I have been the Servant of the English; I have never went to any Rajas or Bauboos, nor will I go to them." When those People returned to Soojaun Sing, they said, "Doond Sing, the Commandant, (i. e. this Deponent) refuses to come." The Rajah Futtch Shaahi also wrote to the Raja Cheit Sing, to place a Guard over my House at Benares, in which Case I should [be obliged to] join him with my Sepoys and Guns. This Information was given to me by the Jummadar Chaint Sing. I said, "My House, and my Wife, and my Children, may be destroyed.—Still I am the Servant of the English, and I am faithful and loyal. By the Blessing of God, in a short Time we also shall go to Benares and plunder that Raja, and we will spoil the Rajah Futtch Shaahi also." At Sukroreh I was informed that a Guard was placed at my House.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of the Moonshce Mahummud Moraud.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

On the 19th of Rammuzau the Captain issued Orders to all the Subadars for marching towards Benares, and directed them to get in Readiness. The next Day we marched to Burra Gong; the Captain had mounted his Horse to proceed, and I was in the Rear in Search of a Conveyance for my Baggage, when Five or Six Sepoy Grenadiers and others came and surrounded me, and demanded their Pay: In consequence of which a great many more of the Sepoys came and clamoured for their Pay, and ill used me; and they brought me down from the Bungala, and beat me severely with the Butt-ends of their Pieces, and charged Bayonets even to my Breast, so that my Life was in Danger. A Hurkara carried Information of this Affair to the Captain, who, on receiving it, turned back and arrived immediately. All the Sepoys then turned clamorous against the Captain, using insulting Language; and they surrounded him, and said, that unless they received their Pay they would not set him at Liberty — that if I would pay them, well; if not, they would carry me to Bunsi, which is near Kunkooa; and that, when they should receive the Whole of their Pay from me, they would set me free.—They moreover placed a Guard with fixed Bayonets over the Captain, and pointed Bayonets to his Breast to stab him; and they rushed upon us several Times, so that we gave up ourselves for lost. In this Situation the Captain ordered them back, and gave them Three Months Pay; and then proposed to them to march with him to Benares. The Sepoys answered insolently, that they would not on any Account go to Benares. Without Remedy, the Captain marched from thence with the Battalion, and arrived at Goruckpour. He halted there a few Days, purchased Grain for the Sepoys, and marched from thence by the Way of Baunsi. We halted Six Days at Baunsi on account of the heavy Rains; we afterwards marched from thence, and after encountering a thousand Distresses arrived at Buskrora. The past Events, which are known to every one, I have thus related.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Doond Sing, Commandant.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

It appears from the Letter of Raum Sing Jemmadaur, stationed at Mutcholi, that the Rajah Achate Mull, the Rajah Futteh Shahi, and Kihnon Raie, had engaged themselves to each other by Oath, to cross the Rivers Ghogra and Surjoo, for as much as they had received a Letter from the Rajah Cheit Sing, and the Sum of Fifteen thousand Rupees, to cut off the English in the District of Surwar, and drive them out; and Letters have arrived from Futteh Shaahi, to all the Zemindars, great and small, to withhold the Collections, and not to pay a single Daum to the English; and the said Futteh Shaahi sent near Two hundred Men, with Matchlocks, into the Jungul of Burragong, and near to Kunkooa. After Three Days, the Three Rajahs crossed the River, and encamped in the Jungul; and it was reported from all Quarters, that the Zemindars had shut up all the Ghauts on the Rivers, and sunk all the Boats; and I wrote an Account of these Things to Major Macdonald and Captain Williams, and told them that there were great Disturbances in the Country, and that there were Reports also that the Rajahs would cross the River; and I wrote these Things to Major Macdonald, that he might inform the Colonel that the Road to Benares was shut up, for fear the Captain should march from that Quarter towards Benares; it was also reported among the People, that Three Gentlemen had been killed at Benares. After some Days the Captain arrived at Kunkooa, and after a Halt of Three Days, gave Orders for marching, and directed all the Sepoys to get ready, and about Nine o'Clock in the Morning on the Sixth of September, he marched, and came to the Bank of the River Khaukhi; it then rained excessively. When we arrived at the Khaukhi, the Captain ordered the Troops to be crossed over the River; agreeably to Orders, I crossed them over. When, after a Thousand Distresses, we had crossed the River, the Captain said that there were many Rivers in the Road, and no Boats on any of them; that the Ghauts were shut up, and no Grain to be procured on the March for the People; how then would it be possible to pass the Guns and Troops through such a Country? It would be better, he said, to go to Benares by the Way of Buxar; therefore we again crossed the River Khaukhi, and encamped after marching Half a Cross from it. He (then) gave Orders for marching towards Khunkooa. Moving from the Khauki the Captain with the Troops arrived at Khunkooa; he then told all the Subadars and Jummadars, that the Raja Futteh Shahi, with his Force, was posted on the Road, and that it was necessary to attack and drive him from thence; that he would halt a few Days at Nuddi Kaunoon, and then march towards Benares. It was known that the Sepoys of the Battalion had said, "Let them give us our Pay, and wherever they go, we will go with them;" to which the Subadars replied, "they might take it wherever they found it." The said Subadars neither confined those Sepoys, nor informed me of the Circumstance. I received the Information from Cheint Sing Jummadar. The Subadar of Grenadiers stationed a Sepoy behind his Hakerie, and told him, he might either protect and convey it to his (the Subadar's) House, or he might leave it to be plundered by the Country People. The Sepoy told him to set his Mind at rest, for that he would convey it safe to his Dwelling. At Night, after Twelve o'Clock, I made my Report to the Captain, who ordered me to go with Buckhtawur Sing, Subadar to the Sepoys, to satisfy and explain to them, that he would give them their Pay when they arrived at Burragong. In the Morning we marched a small Distance towards Burragong first; a Sepoy pulled off his Coat, and drew his Bayonet on the Captain; the Subadars and Jummadars did not interpose or check him; the Captain said, "I will pay this Sepoy and dismiss him—do you march on." I obeyed his Orders, and marched; but the Sepoys quitted their Colours and their Guns, and assembled at Kunkooa. The Subadars and Jummadars said nothing (to prevent them.) Seeing the Situation of Things, I directed the Jummadar Richaul Sing to take with him Twelve Sepoys, and go to the Captain, that he might know how Things were. After which, Orders from the Captain came, to return back and join him; I went back, and saw that the Sepoys had mutinied violently; that they had drawn their Bayonets, and were threatening the Captain; moreover, Three of the Sepoys loaded their Pieces to fire at him, and they demanded Four Months Pay; and most of the Sepoys said, "Let him pay us all our Arrears, and he may go where he pleases;" when the Sepoys had received their Pay, they said, one and all, "We will not go to Burragong—We will go to the Begum's at Fizeabad; if she will retain us, we will stay; if not, we will carry the Gun (or Guns) to the Rajah Cheit Sing, and Saadut Ally Khawn." The Sepoys, after this, directed the Subadars to tell the Captain to march; the Captain replied, That the Two Companies and the Gun stationed at Richhole, were coming; he would march as soon as they had joined; the Sepoys said, "Let the Captain march, we shall meet the Companies on the Road;" however, the Captain halted till the Two Companies arrived; he then sent Hurdeaul Sing, Commandant, to the Sepoys, to tell them that the People (i. e. the Two Companies) were fatigued; that they should halt one Day, that those People might receive their Pay also; and then he would march. The Sepoys refused to listen to Hurdeaul Sing. The Captain then sent for the Two Subadars, and told them to go and persuade the Sepoys to make one Halt, that he might give the Two Companies their Pay. The Sepoys were prevailed upon to halt by the Subadars, and the Captain paid the People.

The next Morning the Captain sent a Man to the Chucklahdar, and directed him to march also. He sent Word, that he was collecting Cattle for the Baggage, and that he would march as soon as he had got them; it was afterwards heard, that the Chucklahdar had given Twelve thousand Rupees to Futteh Shaahi—the said Raja demanded Twenty thousand from the Chucklahdar, promising to protect him—And it was currently reported through the Country, that Saadut Ally Khawn was the Nawaub, and that the English Government was overthrown. After this we marched from Kunkooa; the Captain purchased Grain for the Sepoys; the Waters were out from the heavy Rain; and whoever loitered behind was plundered by the Villagers. When we arrived at Baunsi, we were obliged to halt Six Days on account of the Rains; after that we marched and arrived at Bushroreh, but there were many Rivers and Nullahs in the Road.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Ahlaud Sing, Subadar, stationed in the Fort of Goruckpour.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th, 1781.

I had confined under my Guard in the Fort of Goruckpour, One hundred and Fifteen Burgomauls, Inhabitants of Surwaur. On the 15th of Ruminuzaun, the Rajah of Goruckpore, the Zemindars of Ouloolah, Beehouli, &c. &c. great and small, likewise all the Inhabitants of Goruckpour, with Six thousand Matchlocks, and great Numbers of Country People, armed with Clubs, at Four Ghurries of the Night surrounded the Fort, and made an Attack by Surprise; but the Sepoys on Guard at the Bastions were awake; they began to fire, and an Action immediately followed. Seeing that the Country People were in great Numbers, I went to each of the Bastions, and encouraged the Sepoys, and called them to me into the Body of the Place, and formed them together. I left a Havuldar and Ten Sepoys at the Rung Mahul, to protect the Baggage; but it was Night Time; the Country People made an Assault with Ladders, and entered the Fort, and both Parties fought resolutely. At this Time they placed Ladders against the Inner Fort, towards the South, and entered upon the Bastion: I seized an advantageous Opportunity (attacked) and killed Seventeen of the Enemy on the Bastion, and wounded several others. About Half after Ten at Night they made an Attack on the Western Bastion: As there was a Straw Chupper on that Bastion, I took Shelter under it, and threw down, with all my Force, a Part of the Brick Battlement on the Enemy, by which Four of them were killed; One other fell by a Musquet Ball; and they retreated. A Third Time, about Three o'Clock in the Morning, the Country People raised a great Shout, and attacked us again: I was then engaged on the Inner Fort Bastion: Seubunse Havuldar was posted, with Twelve Sepoys, to guard the Burgomauls; they rushed upon him in a Body, and Seubunse called out to me, with a loud Voice, that the Burgomauls had attacked him: I gave him Orders to put them all to the Sword; he instantly struck off the Heads of Eighteen Burgomauls, and threw them out, and he wounded several others. The Morning now broke, and I entertained a Hope that the Enemy would fly, and that the People of the Town would certainly join me; but the Country People, the Foujdar, &c. were all united with the Rajah; they lifted up their Arms, and said, The . . . . . of the Nabob Sandur Alli Khaun, and the Begum, have spread through the whole Country; for the Rajah Cheit Sing has destroyed all the English, and Letters have come to the Rajahs to put the Dependants of the English to the Sword, wherever they may be found; and he said, Where will they go? the Country is mine; I am a Bhonear Rajah, how long will they (be able to) oppose me? In such Discourse Two Ghurries of the Morning had passed away. From the Eastern to the Western Gate, within the Mahul, they surrounded the Fort on all Sides, and the Action was renewed. We continued engaged for Five Pahr (Fifteen Hours) with the Enemy, without tasting either Food or Water. At this Time Furhaud Beg came from the Rajah Bhonear to make Proposals, of which he informed me by One of my People: The Havuldar Seubunse said, "Perhaps the Rajah has sent him to support us; no Matter, let him be called;" so I sent for him, and he came up to the Gate of the Inner Fort, and when he saw me, he said to me, "You have no Masters; the English are all killed, and the Colonel and Mr. Gordon are confined by the Begum." I gave him insulting Language in Reply to this, and told him to tell this Story to the Sepoys who were with me; and he did repeat it, with a loud Voice, to the Sepoys; and said to them, "You have no Masters; give up the Burgomauls, that they may enter into the Rajah's Service, or go where they think proper." In Reply we said, "The good Fortune of our Masters is on our Side, and while we have Life we will fight; and we will not give up the Burgomauls." At this Juncture Sullawmut Khaun, Jummadar of Grenadiers, with Nine Sepoys, unexpectedly arrived in the Town from Buownah: My People from the Inner Fort saw

N° 3. that a Company had arrived near to the Cutwalls Chobootre; they gave a great Shout, and said, "A Company of Grenadiers is arrived from Kunkora;" and their Spirits were raised; and we opened the Gate of the Fort, and Sullamut Khan joined us. The Bravery and Resolution of Sullamut Khan are not to be described. When the Enemy beheld the Arrival of Sullamut Khaun Jummadar, they turned their Faces to Flight: I pursued them with my People through the Western Gate, and many of the Enemy were killed and wounded, and Numbers were drowned in the River; and, by the Blessing of God, we obtained the Victory. I returned into the Fort, and immediately secured Furhaud Beg and Fizeulla Beg, who had come to make Proposals about the Burgomauls; and I wrote an Account of the Whole of this Affair to the Colonel, and to the Captain. After a few Days, an Order came from the Colonel to Munnuvevar Khan, directing, that if the Rajah Mustapha Khan had been put to Death, well; if not, to strike off his Head. Munnuvevar Khan shewed me the Order. I said, The Order is not written to me—I will write to the Colonel on the Subject; and it was understood from the Country People, that the Captain was marching towards Benares, (but) that the Grenadier Sepoys had mutinied, and demanded their Pay; that the Captain gave them Three Months Pay, and proposed to them to march with him to Benares; the Sepoys all answered, that they would go to Bungulleh, and deliver up their Arms at the Gate of the Begum; in consequence of which, the Captain was obliged to give up his Intentions of going to Benares, and return to Goruckpore; and he gave Orders that the Head of Mustapha Khan should be struck off; and he was beheaded accordingly; and a Proclamation was made through the Town, that those who were guilty of such Crimes, would meet with the same Punishment. The Captain halted for some Days, and bought up Grain for the Sepoys. At this Time the Brother of Saobaun Sing, Pilusoan Sing, with a Thousand Matchlocks, and others, Country People, was at Goruckpore; and they raised an Outcry, and said that the English should not remain in the Town, and they prepared for Action; so the Captain crossed the Raubti: A Bullock Man belonging to the Artillery, who returned into the Town to buy Fodder, they put to Death. Marching from thence, in Four Days the Captain arrived at Baunsi. The Rani of Baunsi came to see him, but her Son prepared for Hostilities; he said, "They have struck off the Head of our Rajah at Goruckpore, and I will be revenged." We marched from thence; and the Rajah of Bulraum, with his People, had thrown up an Intrenchment across the Road; and he said, "It is the Begum's Orders, that you shall not march by this Road." With the greatest Hazard and Caution we marched from thence, and arrived at Khoondeh, and the Country People retired into their Fort. This is a true Account which I have set forth.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Denoo Sing, Subadar.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

On the 16th of Rammuzan an Order came to me from the Commander of the Battalion, that a Jummadar and Sepoys belonging to the Company of Deet Sing were coming to me; that I should deliver over to him the Fort and the Gun, and the Burgomauls, and that I myself should march and join Mr. Gordon at Taundeh. On the 13th the said Jummadar and Sepoys joined me at Dummureah Gunje; and, being relieved on the same Day, on the 14th of the said Month I marched toward Taundeh. The Zemindars and Villagers surrounded us all the Way from Dummureah Gunje to Ruddouli, and they said, "the Government of the Colonel is at an End;" but they had not the Resolution to attack us. They also said, "The Rajah Cheit Sing has cut off the English Forces at Benares; deliver up your Baggage, it is the Order of the Begum." In this Situation I replied, "The Baggage belongs to us, and we have Ammunition to defend it, if any one chooses to attack it, let him come." We lay the whole Night on our Arms at Ruddouli. We marched the next Morning, and arrived at Busti; but got no Intelligence of Mr. Gordon to enable us to join him. Ghussloor Beg, Subadar of the Nabob's Artillery, told me that Bauboo Dhun Sing, with a Thousand Matchlocks, had taken Post in the Jungul of Busti, and that he had moreover sunk all the Boats in the River. I halted Six Hours at Busti, searching after Boats; at last I procured a very small one, and when I was about to cross, the Subadar Bejysing arrived, after a March of Twenty Coss, in which March a Sepoy and Three Horses were killed, and Four Sepoys wounded. Bejysing desired I would stop for Two or Three Ghurri till his People had ate their Victuals, for they had marched Twenty Coss. At the Time that Bejy Sing's Sepoys had untied their Cummurbunds, [laid aside their Arms] the Country People, with Bauboo Dhun Sing, came and surrounded us in the Village of Busti, in consequence of which, I resolved to seize upon the Fort of Busti, and take Post there. The Subadar of the Artillery before mentioned, and others of the People, said, "Accounts have arrived from the Bagum that all the English are cut off;"

off: Why will you seize upon the Fort and take Possession of it?"—I desired the said Subadar to join and support me—he replied, "Whoever is appointed Aumil of the Purgunnah I will join him—I will not go with you." At this Time a Man arrived, and brought News, that Mr. Gordon was at Sunjur Ghaut, in the Purgunnah of Ruddowli; so I marched to Mur Gunge, intending to go from thence to the said Ghaut, and I sent a Sepoy, naked, to obtain Intelligence of Mr. Gordon. The said Sepoy returned, and brought Word that Mr. Gordon and the Subadars and Jummadars were imprisoned at Tundah by Orders from the Begum; that many of the Sepoys had deserted, and several had been killed: When I heard this News, and that the Ghauts on the River were shut, and that the Rajahs, with Six thousand Matchlocks, had surrounded Ahlaud Sing in the Fort of Goruckpour, with an Intention to set the Burgomauls at Liberty; I determined to march to Goruckpour: On the Road, News arrived that through the good Fortune of our Masters, all the Country People had been put to Flight, and that Ahlaud Sing had obtained the Victory; in consequence of which I went to Muckhur, and there I saw that all the Purgunnah Aumils of that Country had taken Shelter in the Monument of Kubbardaus; from them I learned, that it was the Bagum's Orders to cut those who were connected with the English, in such places wherever they might be found: I also heard that the Rajah Cheit Sing had destroyed all the English Troops, and that Three of the English had been killed; it was also reported, that the Authority of the Nabib Saadul Alli Khaun and the Bagum was established throughout all the Country. I marched from Muckhur, and arrived at the Fort of Goruckpour. After this a Letter came from Baboo Achate Sing to Ahlaud Sing, to this Purport, "Deliver over the Burgomauls to me, and I will cause you to be conducted wherever you think proper to go; or (if you think proper) enter into my Service, for you have no Master; why will you give yourselves up to Destruction?" We and Ahlaud Sing sent a verbal Answer, "That the Fortune of our Masters was on our Side; if he thought proper he might come; that while we had Life we would not give up the Burgomauls, but that we would put them all to the Sword." We wrote an Account of those Things to the Colonel, and received the following Answer, that we should maintain our Post in Fort, and that we should march toward him with the Captain (when he arrived.) It was now known that the Captain intended to march to Benares by the Road of Nuddi Kaunaon; but that the Grenadiers had mutinied, and obliged him to return: It was also heard that Futtek Shahi, and Khenoo Raie, and Rajah Achate Mull, &c. had resolved to attack the Captain, because Letters had come from the Rajah Cheit Sing to all the Zemindars, to this Purport, "Wherever there are Dependents of the English, kill and drive them out." It was moreover reported, that when the Captain marched to Kunkooa, on his Way to Benares, the Grenadiers made a Disturbance, and demanded their Pay: That he gave Three Months Pay to the Sepoys, to prevail upon them to march with him to Benares, but that those Cowards would not consent; they said, We will not go to Benares: We are the Servants of the Bagum and Saadut Alli Khaun; we will deliver up our Guns and our Arms at the Gate of the Bagum.—Without Remedy, the Captain was obliged, by the Disobedience of his Troops, to march to Goruckpour, where we joined him; moreover Philusvaun Sing, the Brother of the Rajah Suebaun Sing, came with a Thousand Matchlocks, and he and the Inhabitants of Goruckpour raised a Clamour, demanding that the Captain should march from thence, and they killed the Brother of the Chowdrie of the Bullock Men, who went into the Town to buy Fodder. At this Time Half the Troops had crossed the Raubti, when the foregoing Accident happened; the Captain marched by the Way of Baunsi. After our Arrival at Baunsi, it rained Six Days without Intermission. The Ranni of Baunsi came to see the Captain, but her Son stood prepared for Hostilities. After Six Days, we marched from thence to Rurtaul Bukhura, from thence to Dummurea Gunje; marching from thence, we halted at Chundurdiap for Two Days; when we marched from thence the Captain went on in Front, Kurdeaul, Commandant, was in the Rear; a Skirmish ensued between him and the Country People, Two of them were taken Prisoners, and One was killed by a Musket Shot. We marched from thence to the Nallah of Attrouleh, Three Cos to the Westward; we marched from Attrouleh, and were opposed, near Bulrampore, by about Two thousand Country People; but when the Battalion and Gun were drawn up fronting them, they gave way and fled; the Road cleared, we marched, and encamped at the Nudde Kewabeh; we continued there one Night, and marched to Conedeh. When we arrived at Garedeh, the Country People quitted our Rear. This is a true Account which is written.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Raum Sing, Jammadar.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey; November 26th 1781.

The Rajah Futtah Shaui, and Khenas Raie, and Achate Mull, united themselves all Three together, and bound themselves by Oath; and these were the improper Resolutions which they had agreed to; that they would cross the River Ghagga, and establish their own Authority there, for Letters had arrived from the Rajah Cheit Sing at Benares, in which he said, "all the English are cut off; the Government of the English is overturned; I have taken Possession of the Country; do you, the Zemindars, establish your Authority also in those Districts!"—It was likewise publicly reported, that the Rajah Cheit Sing had sent Fifteen thousand Rupees in Specie to the said Zemindars, to raise Men, and kill and drive out the Dependants of the English wherever they might be. It was reported that Colonel Hannay and Captain Williams were in Confinement; the Rajah Fetteh Shaui came to inform himself of this; but not obtaining any certain Intelligence, returned, and determined to go to Kunkooa, to cut off the People and plunder the Place. At this Time the Captain returned from Lucknow, and arrived at Kunkooa. I also arrived at Kunkooa agreeably to Orders. In the Evening he informed all the Subadars and Jummadars and Sepoys, that they were to march towards Benares the next Day. In consequence of which the Sepoys went to the Subadars and said, that they had no Money. The Subadars replied, their Pay was in Sarcers, if they could get it they might take it. Early the next Morning we marched, the Companies faced to the Right. Four or Five of the foremost Grenadiers stepped out, surrounded the Captain, and said, "Give us our Pay and we will go with you;" the Captain replied, "You are only Four or Five Men, take (your Pay) and I will pay the Battalion when we arrive at Burrageongee," which is only Eight Cofs from Kunkooa. The Battalion had gone on about a Cofs. On hearing the above, a Number of Sepoys returned, and loaded their Pieces, and fixed their Bayonets, and pointed them at the Captain; in consequence of which, he recalled the whole Battalion, and told them to take their Pay and march with him to Benares; to which they all agreed; but when the Captain had given them Three Months Pay, the Men who were the Mutineers raised a Clamour (and said) "we will take our Arms and the Gun to the Chuklehdar, and receive our Pay from him, for the Chuklehdar is a Servant of the Bagum's, and we also are the Bagum's Servants;" and Saadut Allis the Captain said to the Commandant and the Subadars, "I have paid them all, what then is the Cause of this improper Behaviour?"—but what he said had no Effect upon them; however much he urged them to march to Benares, they still refused, and only said, "that they would go to Bungelah, and attend the Bagum and Saadut Alli Khaun; and that if the Captain attempted to escape, they would put a Guard over him, and deliver him up there." Without Remedy, the Captain marched this Way. That which was true has been written.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Hurdeaul Sing, Commandant.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

The Servant Herdeaul Sing, Commandant of Major Macdonald's Battalion, gives the following Account. I was stationed in the Pergunnah of . . . . . in the District of Nurrain Battaol, with two Companies of Sepoys of Captain Williams's Battalion, Three hundred and Fifty Najub and Schbundi Men, and One Gun, and acted in the Business of the Surcar agreeably to my Orders. From the 15th of Rummuzau I received several Letters from Mahummud Shiffee Khaun, the Chuklehdar, and from the Captain, who were then at Kunkooa, to march speedily with my Force and join them, for that the Power of the turbulent Country People and Rajas was become excessive. At this Time I collected together the People who were stationed at different Places; and on the 19th of the said Month, notwithstanding the Waters were very much out in the Road, I marched toward Kunkooa. When I arrived at Raum Kolah, which is about Fifteen Cofs from my Station, I heard, from the general Reports of the People, that the Rajas Achate Mull, and Futteh Shaahi, and Khenao Raie, who had been expelled from their Zemindaries, and resided with the Raja Cheit Sing in the Country of Benares, had all Three, by Orders from Saadut Alli Khaun and Raja Cheit Sing, marched from thence, and crossed the Ghagra, and taken Possession of their Lands; and that the Raja Cheit Sing had assisted the said Rajas with Five- and twenty thousand Rupees to drive out the English, [directing] that they should drive them and all their Dependants out of their Districts. When I came to the next Stage, I heard that the Grenadiers, who were with Captain Williams at Kunkooa, had mutinied, and confined the Captain, and cruelly beat his Moonshce; that they had got their Pay, and intended to go off to the Vizier's, Vizier's, and that no one attended to the Orders of the Captain. As the Companies with me had been informed of these Circumstances, I soothed and persuaded them not to think of acting in such a Manner; that Pay was never withheld or lost in the English Service; that they would receive every Daum of that which was due to them; but that it would be improper for them, at that Time, to act as others had done. The Sepoys assented to what I had said, and, notwithstanding the Opposition of the Country People on the Road, we arrived in Safety, and with the greatest Expedition, at Kunkooa, and attended the Captain and the Chuklahdar, and I then saw with my own Eyes what I had before heard on the Road. The Captain said, when I went to him, "You have without Doubt heard how Things are here; what are the Intentions of the People with you?" I said in Reply, "that the People along with me, both the Sepoys, the Nujjub, and the Schbundi Men, had no other Intentions but those of obeying his Orders; and that he might, at all Events, make himself easy as to those Men." The Captain then said, "It was my Intention to have taken the Grenadier Companies and the Two Guns, and to have marched to Benares, and joined the Governor, by the Way of the Nuddi Kaunaon; and to have chastised the Three Rajas, with whom we should have fallen in on the Road, but the Grenadiers would not consent to this; do you inquire of them, what their Intentions are." Agreeably to the Orders of the Captain, I went at Night to the Line to the Subadars and Jummadars and Sepoy Grenadiers, and asked what they wished for and intended. The Sepoys all replied, "If the Captain resolves to march to the Eastward, not one of us will go with him; moreover, we will march early To-morrow Morning to the Westward, to the Vizier, whoever chuses to go that Way may accompany us." The Two Grenadier Subadars then told me to go to my Tent, for that these Matters the two Companies had already talked upon with the Captain. I again endeavoured to prevail upon the Sepoys and Subadars, and told them to continue, and set their Minds at rest; that I would go and speak to the Captain; that, if he approved of it, he would take them with him, and march to the Westward; that at all Events it would be better to obey him. At last I soothed and appeased them, and went to the Captain, and told him what had passed. After this, the Captain ordered me to go to Mahumud Shuffie Khaun the Chucklehdar, and tell him to prepare to march. I went to the Chucklehdar, and delivered the Message; in answer, the Chucklehdar, who had sent a Person named Munshan Raum, on his Part, to the Rajahs Achate Mull, Futteh Shaai, and Khenso Raie, beforementioned, on a private Business, made the Want of Cattle for his Baggage an Excuse; and desired that we would halt Two or Three Days longer, and that he would then collect Beasts of Burden, and march. The said Chucklehdar told me the next Day, and told the Captain also, that a Man of his was returned, and had brought Information, that Four Companies of Sepoys and Four Guns were come from the Rajah Cheit Sing, to the Assistance of the Rajas Achate Mull, Futteh Shaai, and Khenoo Rai; and moreover, that they would cross the Ghograh and join them that Day. At length, Two Days after my Arrival, our whole Force marched towards Goruckpour; and, notwithstanding the Rajas and the Country People molested us on all Sides on the March, and the Waters and Nullas were out, yet in Six Days we arrived in Safety at Goruckpour.—There I heard from the People, that Orders from the Begum had arrived to all the Rajas of Purgunnahs, not to permit any English Gentlemen, or any of their Dependants, to pass in Safety through their separate Districts; and that they had surrounded Ahlaud Sing, Subadar, who was stationed with a few Sepoys in the Fort of Goruckpour; but that, through the good Fortune of our Masters, the Enemy was repulsed and obliged to retire; that no English Letters, or others, or Hurcarrahs, were permitted to pass; and that, if the Country People discovered any English Letters or others in the Hands of Hurcarrahs, they scourged them with the greatest Severity. In consequence of these (Accounts) the Captain sent for me, and said, "The People have raised great Disturbances in the Country beyond this; no Grain will arrive, therefore we must buy Grain here, and carry it with us." In the Space of Eight Days Grain was procured for the March, and Bullocks got together, and in Four Days, notwithstanding the heavy Rains, we crossed the Raubti, and marched towards Sukrorah: From the Day that we arrived at Baunsi, for Six Days, such heavy Rains fell, both Day and Night, that no one had the Power to stir from his Place. Without Remedy, we halted during that Time, and on the first Day that the Rain subsided we marched, and in Two Days arrived at Dummurea Gunge. At that Place there was a Nulla in the Road, which was overflowed by the Rains and stopt our Progress; and we were at last obliged to halt there One Day to make a Bridge, over which the Troops were passed. While we were crossing, the Country People showed themselves, but were repulsed and obliged to retreat.

We proceeded from thence the next Day, and March after March to Bulraumpore. As the River Kuwannah crossed our Way at that Place, we were obliged to halt there for One Day; at last we passed that River in Safety, and by repeated Marches arrived at Sukrorah. This Account knowing it proper, is written according to the Truth.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Berjesing, Subadar.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th 1781.

On the 13th of Rummuzau I received Orders from Mr. ——— to join Mr. Gordon at Taundeh, and to deliver over the Gun and the Burgomauls to Kaumdaur Beg. Agreeably to Orders, I delivered over the Gun and the Burgomauls to Kaumdar Beg, and set out. When I arrived at Nauraad the Hooli Rejoicings had commenced; and the Country People gathered together on all Sides, and surrounded me. Making an Effort, I pushed on from thence about a Cofs; but the Enemy were now increased to a prodigious Number. Till Nine o'Clock at Night they continued to insult us; and when the Moon got up, they began to fire with Matchlocks; and they said, "You have struck off the Head of the Raja Jigut Sing; where will you go?— we will strike off your Heads in Return. It is the Orders of the Bagum, that whoever strikes off and brings in the Head of an Englishman, shall receive a Reward of a Thousand Rupees; and for the Head of a Subadar or Jummadar a Hundred Rupees; and for every Sepoy's Head struck off and brought, that a Reward of One Rupee shall be given."—The Attack continued through the Night; One Sepoy was killed, and Seven Men and Three Horses wounded, of my Party. The Country People said, "Give up your Baggage, and your Arms, and Coats, and go naked where you please:" But I stood firm, and we fought with them, and marched on, Night by Night, to Baunsi, where we were quitted by the Enemy. Having joined Dhoon Sing, Subadar, at Baunsi, we marched from thence with him. This which is related is true.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Merun, Moonshee to Mr. Gordon.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 16th 1781.

I Merun, &c. considering God and the Prophet of God as present, do swear upon the sacred Koraun to the following Facts which I give in Writing:—That on the 7th of the Month of September, Mr. Gordon, with Four Companies of Sepoys, and a Hundred Horse of the Ruffauleh of Ruzza Beg Khaun, did march from the Ghaut Jechaora for Taundeh; and at that Time, from our setting out till our Arrival at Taundeh, Thousands of Country People assembled together, and attempted to cut off the Troops and the Baggage; so that there was a continued Action, both with Swords and Musketry, all the Way.—As the Order of March was well regulated, and the Sepoys were not deficient in Firmness and Resolution, many of the Enemy were killed; and on this Side, not a single Article of the Property of any one was plundered; Mr. Gordon conducting them all, together with the Whole of the Baggage, in perfect Safety to the Nulla of Teerah, which runs beneath Taundeh. On our Arrival there he intended to cross the Nulla, and encamp at Taundeh; and he gave Directions for the Troops to pass over. When they were about to cross (it appeared that) all the Boats were on the opposite Side of the Nullah; and the People of the Taundeh Foujdar, whose Name is Shum Share Khaun, stood Guard over the Boats, and said, "It is the Orders of the Foujdar, that the Boats shall not pass over to that Side."—When Mr. Gordon heard of this, he wrote a Letter to the Foujdar, and sent it by a Hurcarrah. The Contents of the Letter were: "I am a Servant of the Noovaub, and am going to join the Army by his Orders; where is the Propriety of shutting up the Ghaut, and refusing to permit People to pass?"—The said Hurcarrah took the Letter, and went to the Ghaut, and endeavoured to get over, but the Foujdar's People would not allow him to cross.—When I saw that they would not permit the Hurcarrah to pass over, I gave Mr. Gordon's Letter to a Servant of the Foujdar's, who had swam over to our Side of the Nullah to see one of his Friends; and I told him to convey it, by some Means or other, to the Foujdar. He put the Letter in his Turban, and swam back across the Nullah, and delivered it to the Foujdar, who read the Contents, but returned no Sort of Answer. At the Time when the Letter arrived, Mirza Ruzza Bey Khaun, Ruffaulehdar, who by Chance had arrived alone on some Business, and had crossed over before this Affair, was sitting by Shumshare Khaun, and is an Evidence that the Letter arrived. The said Mirza declared to me, and confirmed it by Oaths, that the Letter came to the Foujdar when he was present; and that, although he endeavoured to persuade him, it was to no Purpose. At last he sent for Three Guns, and some Tomeens of Matchlock Men, who were stationed at Taundeh; and and he pointed the Guns across the Nullah at the Troops, and stationed the Men at the Ghaut, and ordered them not to permit a single Person to cross. In consequence thereof the Foudjar's People stood at the Ghaut, and used insulting Language; and said, that if any one attempted to cross the River, they would fire upon him. When Mr. Gordon saw this, that no Answer to his Letter had come from the Foudjar, and that his People were inclined to Hostilities, he directed me to go and explain Things to Shumshare Khaun, and persuade him to desist from such improper Conduct. According to the Orders I had received, I went to the Ghaut, and demanded a Boat, and said that I was sent by Mr. Gordon to the Foudjar on Business, and desired that they would allow me to cross over alone; but they would not listen to me, or send a Boat to carry me over. Without Remedy, I returned to Mr. Gordon, and informed him of the Behaviour of the People at the Ghaut. He said, "If they will not give you a Boat, it is no Matter; mount an Elephant, and swim him over."—I obeyed, and mounted an Elephant, and went and endeavoured to push the Elephant into the Nulla. The Foudjar's People at once levelled their Pieces at me, and said, "Beware—if you drive the Elephant into the Nulla, we will fire upon you, and kill you per Force."—I returned to Mr. Gordon: It was now almost Sunset. When the Country People saw this Affair, that the Foudjar of Taundeh was our Enemy also; that he had shut up the Ghaut, and would not permit us to pass, they charged us on all Sides. Our Sepoys seeing Thousands of the Country People assembled on one Side, the Ghaut shut up, and Shumshare Kaun disposed to Hostilities on the other; and being also much exhausted by the Skirmishing and Labour on the March, gave up their Resolution and Firmness at once; and throwing aside their Arms and their Coats, disposed themselves to Flight; and notwithstanding Mr. Gordon used every Means of Persuasion, both to the Sepoys and their Officers, no one either heard or obeyed him, until Mr. Gordon was left with only Ten Men and the Baggage; all the rest were fled. At this Time Kaubi Pershaud, a Bengali of Mr. Scott's, who was stationed at the Kotie, by a Thousand Intreaties and Supplications, obtained an Order to send One Boat from the Foudjar, and sent it over. Mr. Gordon then saw that none of his People had remained with him; that continuing there alone was to no Purpose, and therefore was obliged to cross over. All his Baggage, and the Baggage of his Servants and Followers, was plundered; that which they carried over with them when they crossed, and delivered into the Hands of the Foudjar's People, who promised to protect it, was afterwards taken by them, and never returned. Some Days after, some Firelocks were produced from the House of the Foudjar; and many of the People's Effects were seen there; but the Foudjar's Men did not deliver them up. In short, this is the Substance of the Affair which happened at Taundeh; and I have wrote this Account upon Oath, that whoever reads it may know it to be true. Written with my own Hand.

TRANSLATION of the Depositions of Meer Ahmud Ally, Subadar in the Battalion of Captain Williams, and Doond Sing, Subadar.—The Deponents sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 26th, 1781.

We, Meer Ahmud Ally, Subadar in the Battalion of Captain Williams, and Doond Sing, Subadar of Grenadiers in the Battalion of Major Macdonald, do swear (one) upon the sacred Koraun, and (the other) by the Ganges, &c. to the (Truth of the) following Deposition, which we give in Writing, That on the 7th of the Month September, Mr. Gordon, with Four Companies of Sepoys, and a Hundred Horse of the Ruffauleh of Ruzza Beg Khaun, did march from the Ghaut of Ichoorau toward Taundeh, and we (the Deponents) were along with him. From our setting out, till our Arrival at Taundeh, Thousands of Country People surrounded us on every Side, with Intention to cut off the Troops and the Baggage; so that we were continually engaged both with Swords and Small Arms the whole Way; but as the Order of March was well regulated, the Enemy could not succeed in their Attempts upon the Army. After skirmishing throughout the whole March, by which several of the Enemy were killed, we arrived in Safety, about Two o'Clock in the Afternoon, on the Bank of the Nulla of Turah, which runs beneath Taundeh; after our Arrival there, Mr. Gordon wanted to cross the Nulla, and halt in Taundeh, and he gave us Orders to cross the Nulla. We attempted to pass over, but the Phouzdard of Taundeh, by Name Shumshare Khawn, hearing that Mr. Gordon was about to cross the Nulla, prepared Three Guns, and Three or Four Tomuns of Matchlock Men, who were stationed with him, and posted them at the Ghaut, and they pointed the Guns toward the Troops of Mr. Gordon; and the Foudjar gave Orders not to permit a single Man belonging to that Gentleman to cross. Although Mr. Gordon wrote a Letter to the said Foudjar, it made no Sort of Impression upon him; at last the Evening came. It happened that Ruzza Beg Khawn had arrived

The Cavalry belonging to the said Ruffaulehdar, before any one else, swam their Horses across the River, and fled. The Sepoys seeing Thousands of Country People advancing, on one Side; the Ghaut shut up by the Foujdar Shumshare Khaun, who would allow no one to pass, on the other; and that the Cavalry who accompanied them were dispersed and gone; gave up at once their Steadiness and Resolution, and taking off their Coats, and throwing down their Arms, turned themselves to Flight, until Mr. Gordon was left with only Ten or Eleven Men, for all the rest had fled. At this Time Khauli Purshaud, Mr. Scott's Bengali, who resided at the Cotty in Taundeh, by a Thousand Supplications and Entreaties, obtained an Order from the Foujdar for one Boat, which he sent over. Mr. Gordon was then alone on the Bank; he was forced to cross; and all the Baggage belonging to him and Followers was plundered.

TRANSLATION of the solemn Declaration of the Ranni Goolaub Koour, made on the 12th Day of November 1781, before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey.

On the 27th of Shaabun, Sunday, the Chiefs who came to Raumnuggur from Lutteef Ghur, appointed by Raja Cheit Sing, were Muchundi and Rhaum Buhoh, and Blumun Sing, and Culliaun Sing, and Baut Kishun Huzzari, and Suddar Sing, a Follower of Raum Jeawein, and Raum Shewuh, a Follower of Ycaub Sing, and Dildar Hoofein Khaun, and Nuzzar Ahhruff, with their own Parties.

On the next Morning, which was Monday the 28th of Shaabaun, the above-named Chiefs had an Engagement at Raumnaggur, with the Companies which came from the Fort of Chunar; at Two Phers and a Half of the Day, (12 P. M.) those Companies were defeated, and the Intelligence was immediately sent to Lutteef Ghur; and at one Phur of the Night, (Nine o'Clock) Bauboo Soojaun Sing having left Lutteef Ghur, with Gholaum Hoorein Kaun, and Tyze Ulla Khaun, arrived that same Night at Raumnaggur, when two Gurries of it remained.

Tuesday the whole Day he was employed in Preparations, and in stationing the above-mentioned Chiefs, and in loading Bamboo Ladders on the Boats, and Guns upon the Pinnacle. And he gave Orders to the Chiefs and the Troops, that at Twelve at Night, on Wednesday, they should cross and attack the Governor General, and the other English Gentlemen who resided in Mhadoodans's Garden. All the Inhabitants of Raumnaggur, as well as me, saw and heard these Particulars.

The Ranni's Signature.

With respect to Cheit Sing's having, from of old, an improper Correspondence with the Begums at Lucknow, and the Rajah of Bhiraiche, and Goruchpour, the Declaration of the above Ranni is as follows: Since Two Years, on account of the Enmity of Cheit Sing to me, I had left Raumnaggur, and resided in another Dwelling; and Cheit Sing had always acted towards me with such Enmity and Opposition as cannot be described; how, therefore, should he have acquainted me with his Correspondences?—but I have heard from Report, that he had in many Places improper Correspondences. However, it is very plain that he had an Enmity towards the Governor General; because, whenever he learned any thing to the Prejudice of the Governor, from the Letter of his Vakeels, or the Reports of ill-designing Persons, he used to rejoice:—this is known by all the Inhabitants of Raumnaggur. Accordingly, when the Governor General was lately coming from Calcutta towards this Quarter, the Raja and his Companions used to say, “the Governor has been displaced, and is making his Escape to “ Hindostan.” Besides, from the Raja's going to Buxar to meet him, with the greatest Preparations, his Intention plainly appears.

TRANSLATION of the Deposition of Gudjrauje Sing.—The Deponent sworn before Chief Justice Sir Elijah Impey, November 12th 1781.

I Gudjrauje Sing, the ancient Kellaadar of Raumnuggur from the Time of the deceased Rajah Bulwund Sing, do declare and give in Writing without Reserve, (considering God to be present and a Witness) all that I have done, seen, or heard, to the following Effect :

On the Day that the Engagement happened between the Forces which came from Chunar and the Troops of Rajah Cheit Sing, I was in Readiness in the Fort of Raumnuggur, with the Burkundauzes with their Matches lighted. When the Chunar Army had been defeated, a Budgerow from the Westward came near the Gaut of Bukshi Suddanund. Having observed it from the Fort, I went out by the Wicket Gate, which is to the Southward, with Seven or Eight Burkundauzes; the Powers, and other People belonging to the Budgerow, on seeing this, leaped into the Water, and the Gentleman was killed by the Stroke of a Sword from the Men who accompanied me. About this Time I received Intelligence that the Rajah's Cavalry, who opposed the Chunar Army, had fled; upon this I was greatly confused, and was desirous of carrying the Budgerow under the Fort, but the People of Bukshi Suddanund took Possession of the Budgerow, and declared that they would keep it, as it had come to their Ghaut. Two Burkundauzes brought from the Budgerow Two Muskets and some Cloths, and of my People took One Musket, whilst the Burkundauzes took more Cloth and Arms. From thence I went to my Charge in the Fort.

My further Deposition is as follows:—On the Night of the same Day that the Army from Chunar was defeated, about Two Ghurries of the Night remaining, Bauboo Soojaun Sing arrived from Lutteefghur, at Raumnuggur. I heard from several Persons, that the said Bauboo had given Orders to his Troops and Chiefs, to make a Night Attack on the Governor General, and the other Gentlemen who were in Mhadoodaus's Garden. Accordingly, he employed his Troops in bringing Bamboo Ladders, and loading them on Boats, and every one was preparing for the Attack.

I swear, that whatever is written in this Paper is true.

The Deposition of Hindoo Sing, Adjutant at Buxar, says, That the People under the Government of Cheit Sing gave many Proofs of their Disaffection to the English—That about Two Months before the Arrival of the Governor General at Buxar, Two Sepoys belonging to the Fort of Buxar obtained Leave of Absence, and did not return—That Soojaun Sing, the Brother of the Rajah Cheit Sing, took them into his Service, and made one of them a Havaladar, and the other a Naig—That he received undoubted Information, which was afterwards confirmed by Desertions from the Garrison, that Soojaun Sing tutored the Two Deserters to entice away the English

N<sup>o</sup> 4. Sepoys from Buxar, promising to make them Havalgars and Officers if they would enter into his Service; in consequence of which, Seven Sepoys deserted, and entered into the Service of the said Soujan Sing; and that many more would have followed, but that proper Measures were taken to prevent them. The Deponent also says, That long before this, when Sir Eyre-Coote was on his Way to Lucknow, Three Sepoys were sent to purchase Grain at Balleah, in the Country of the Rajah; that they applied to the Foujdar of the Place for his Assistance in purchasing the said Grain; which he not only refused, but caused them to be beaten almost to Death; that their Turbans and Bayonets were taken away; and that no Satisfaction could ever be obtained for this Injustice and Insult to the English Government, nor was the Foujdar called to Account for his Conduct. The Deponent further says, That when the Rajah came to Buxar to meet the Governor General, he had with him a Fleet of Boats, in Number of Eighty or Eighty-five, on board which were embarked, according to the Information which he obtained, Two thousand or Two thousand Five hundred Men, Sepoys and Matchlocks, with Four Guns; that he came to, and encamped on, the Northern Side of the River, opposite to Buxar; and that he had several Bodies of Cavalry on the Road, on the same Side of the River—Says, that the Rajah came to Buxar to see the Governor General; that he brought with him only Fifty or Sixty People, but that they were all his Relations and particular Friends, on whom he depended; and that they were all armed. The Deponent further says, That when Hostilities commenced between the Rajah and the English, the Sepoys and others who happened to be in the Rajah's Country, were all driven out, and the Road on both Sides the River so completely shut up, that no Individual could pass—That Four or Five thousand Matchlock Men were to be collected by Two Brothers, Deir Sing and Beir Sing, at Seringa, agreeably to Orders from the Rajah; and that the said Rajah wrote Directions to the said Deir Sing and Beir Sing, and to the Kellaakdar of Seringa, to reduce the Fort of Buxar, and to establish his Government in that Country.

The Deponent further says, That about Twelve Months ago Three European Gentlemen were attacked at Beerpoor, in the Country of the Rajah, about Five Cos from Buxar; that One of the Gentlemen was desperately wounded; that a Serjeant, a Jummadar, and Fifty Sepoys, were sent from Buxar to seize the Zemindar, but without Effect—That Complaints were made to the Rajah, but no Redress could ever be obtained.

DEPOSITION of Sheik Mahmud Amein Mhieer, late a Commandant in the Service of Cheyt Sing.

Upon his Oath says, He was the Servant of Cheyt Sing; that he commanded a Battalion of Eleven hundred and Fifty Sepoys in his Service; that he accompanied Cheyt Sing when he went to Buxar to meet the Governor General; that there was with Cheyt Sing at that Time; the following armed Force, Two hundred and Twenty-eight Sepoys under the immediate Command of this Deponent, Six hundred Matchlock Men under the Command of Supusun Sing, and Three hundred Peadahs, or Sword Men, called Huzzooei or Guards; that the abovementioned Troops accompanied the Rajah in Boats; and that the said Rajah Cheyt Sing was also attended by a Body of Six hundred Cavalry, under different Leaders; that the Cavalry marched down on the Southern Bank of the Ganges, and directed their Movements by the Motion of the Fleet of Boats in which the Rajah and his Infantry were embarked: That when the Rajah Cheyt Sing arrived at Gauzeepoor, he was joined by Ballumdaus the Aumil, and the Dewan Ruggoobur Dial; and that when he proceeded on from there, a Detachment of Cavalry and Matchlock Men (stationary Troops at Gouzeepoor) in Number about Five hundred, accompanied the Rajah, marching along the Northern Bank of the River in the same Manner as the Troops on the opposite Side, moving when the Fleet moved, and halting when they halted; that the Rajah arrived, and encamped on the Northern Side of the Ganges, opposite the Fort of Buxar; that the Governor General arrived at Buxar the next Day; that the Rajah crossed the River, and waited upon him; that he returned to his Camp, and about Three o'Clock in the Afternoon put his People and Fleet in Motion, returning as he had went, and the Troops on the Banks of the River accompanying the Boats; that the Governor General proceeded the next Morning, and came up with the Rajah at Zamunneah, about Twenty Coss from Buxar; that the Rajah again waited on the Governor General on board his Boat, and that the Governor General then proceeded on before the Rajah, the Rajah following at the Distance of Four or Five Coss, until they reached Benares; that the Governor General went to the Garden of Mahadoodaus, and the Rajah to Sewale Ghaut, his armed People taking their Station on the Neighbourhood; that his (the Deponent's) People did not arrive with the Rajah, but that he joined him with Fifty Sepoys, and took his Station near to Sewaule; that Two Companies of Sepoys also joined the Rajah from Ramnagur.—The Deponent further says, That on the Day that the Three Gentlemen and the Two Companies of English Sepoys came to the Rajah, and the Circumstance of his Arrest was known, the Rajah's People (who were then stationed round Sewaule) to the Number of about Four thousand, armed and prepared for Action; that at this Time Munear Sing, Sewamur Sing, and Runkoo Sing, went to the Rajah: That the Disturbance and Dispute at the Gate ran high, and increased every Moment: That the Huzzoorus, Peadahs, and others, with their Arms, got upon the Chuppers which were erected against the Wall on the Outside; that the Matchlock Men fired upon a Company who were without Sewaule; that the Deponent counted Seven Matchlocks which were fired, and saw a Sepoy fall by the First Shot; that the Moment the Firing was heard, the Rajah's People forced their Way Sword in Hand into the Sewaule, and cut the Gentlemen and Sepoys to Pieces; that the Rajah Cheyt Sing escaped during the Conflict to Ramnagur, and from thence to Lutteespoor.

The Deponent further says, That after the Detachment from Chunar were repulsed near Ramnagur and obliged to retreat, that Soujan Sing and the Bukhshee Suddaunund arrived with Troops at that Place, and that by Orders from the Rajah they prepared Scaling Ladders, &c. in order to make a Night Assault on the Garden of Mhadoodaus; that Boats were prepared, and Guns and Troops marched down to the Ghaut of Aul Sungum; that the Sepoys belonging to the Deponent refused to cross the River until they had obtained some Refreshment, having been without Food for Two Days; that the Night passed away without any thing being done, and that the Governor General on that Night quitted Benares, and arrived at Chunar; that Soujan Sing and Suddaunund Bukhshee wrote a Complaint to Cheyt Sing against the Troops under the Command of the Deponent the next Morning; and that Soujaun Sing sent a Company of his own Sepoys to take Possession of the Garden of Mhadoodaus; that they plundered the Property of the Gentlemen at that Place, and returned to Ramnagur.

The Deponent further says, That the following is, to the best of his Memory, a true List of the Forces with Rajah Cheyt Sing; those on the regular Establishment, those newly entertained; and those who came in to his Assistance.

DEPOSITION of Sheik Hussun Ullah, Jemmadar, relative to the Action at Sewaule Gaut, at which Period he was Havildar and Orderly with Lieutenant Stalker.

The Deponent upon his Oath says, He was one of those who attended Mr. Markham and Lieutenant Stalker when they went to the Raja Cheyt Sing at Sewaule Gaut, with about Fifty orderly Sepoys, armed with Swords only; that a short Time afterwards Two Companies of Sepoys arrived under the Command of Lieutenants Scott and Symes; that Mr. Markham returned from the Raja's with about Thirty of the Orderlies; that he, the Deponent, continued during the Whole of the succeeding Transaction near to Lieutenant Stalker; that he saw Lieutenants Scott and Symes enter Sewaule with their Swords drawn, and shortly after observed Guards posted in different Places, from which he discovered for the first Time that the Raja was in Arrest; that after the Departure of Mr. Markham there were present Messrs. Stalker, Scott, and Symes, with Seven or Eight Sepoys (Orderlies) attending just without the Apartment, where they were seated with the Raja; that several of the Raja's People, and all armed, to the Number of Forty, were seated without the Purdahs; that Centries were posted round the Building; and that the Two Companies remained without the Inner Gate; that many of the Raja's Peons, to the Amount of about about Three hundred, were assembled in the same Place; that several Notes were sent off by Lieutenant Stalker, and One not received by him; that about Twelve o'Clock at Noon the Raja desired Permission to perform his Ablutions, which was refused, unless he would send for Water and perform them on the Spot, which he did accordingly; that before this Period, the Raja's People between the Outer Gate and that which led immediately to the Building, made Two different Attempts to force the Way through the Inner Gate, but were kept back by the Two Companies who were posted there; that Lieutenant Stalker once went himself to the Gate, and struck one of the Raja's People, who was endeavouring to force his Way in; that the Raja's People appeared to be highly irritated, and that the Subadars of the Companies found it necessary to fix Bayonets—Says, that Messrs. Scott and Symes accompanied Lieutenant Stalker on this Occasion, but that he, the Deponent, continued near the Raja with Three or Four Sepoys, by Orders of Lieutenant Stalker; that he nevertheless saw what passed through the Stone Lattice, which surrounded the Building; that at this Period the Raja sent his Buckshee to forbid his People from making any Disturbance, and the Affair subsided; that the Gentlemen returned to the Raja. This Deponent further says, That after the Raja had finished his Ablutions, he retired to a Stone Pavilion, or Sort of Bastion, to perform his Devotions; that Three or Four orderly Sepoys were directed to attend him at a small Distance, to observe his Motions (the Officers continuing in their Places); that at this Period a Chobdar (named Cheyt-Raum) came from Mr. Markham, and delivered a Message to Mr. Stalker; and that the said Chubdar afterwards went to the Raja Cheyt Sing, who was still at Devotions; that he appeared, by his Manner and the Loudness of his Voice, to be speaking insultingly and passionately to the Raja; that at this Period a Report of Matchlocks was heard, and One of the Subadars, Bishun Sing, called out to the Officers, that they were fired upon by the Raja's People from the Wall; that the Gentlemen started from their Seats and drew their Swords; that Lieutenant Stalker rushed forward towards the Gate, and that Lieutenants Scott and Symes attempted to follow him; that the Moment the Firing commenced from the Outer Wall, the Two Companies were attacked by the Three hundred Peons in the Space between the Two Walls with them; at the same Instant the Officers and their Orderlies were attacked by the Forty of the Rajah's People (said to be within the Building at the Beginning of this Deposition) that the beforementioned Subadar Bishun Sing forced his Way through the Inner Gate, with about Twenty Sepoys, to the Assistance of the Officers; that the Passage was soon stopped up by the Number of Dead and Wounded in the Gateway; that after the Communication was cut off, the Action was still continued both within and without; the Two Companies still fired upon from the Outer Wall; that the Deponent saw Lieutenant Stalker defend himself with great Resolution with a Sword, which he had taken from one of his Sepoys; that the Deponent himself in a short Time received several Wounds, and fell; that he fainted, and therefore has no further Knowledge of what passed during the Remainder of the Action, or how the Rajah made his Escape; that when he recovered his Senses he saw Lieutenant Stalker lying dead near him, with many of the Sepoys; that he heard a Firing, which one of the Wounded told him proceeded from a Company of Sepoys, who were driving off the Rajah's Matchlockmen; that he, the Deponent, continued on the Ground the whole Night, but was removed the next Morning to the Garden of Mahdoodas.

That Nunkoo Sing afterwards made a Stroke at Lieutenant Stalker ; that the Rajah's People, who were now assembled in great Numbers both within and without, charged the English Sepoys Sword in Hand, and continued the Attack till Lieutenants Stalker and Scott with all the Sepoys were cut down ; that the Deponent's Arm was struck off by the Blow of a Scymetar ; that he received several other Wounds, and at last fell, and that he continued there among the Dead and Wounded, until a Company of Sepoys came and carried off those who remained alive.

THE AFFIDAVIT of Lieutenant Colonel William Blair, taken before Sir Elijah Impey, Knight, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Judicature, at Fort William in Bengal.

This Deponent, on his Oath, saith, That on the 21st of August 1781, to the best of his Recollection, about 8 o'Clock in the Morning, and something near an Hour after he had issued Orders for the 2d Battalion of the 6th Regiment to cross the River, and march with all possible Expedition to Benares, a Man was brought to him, who said he had some particular Intelligence to deliver; that upon hearing what he had to say, he acquainted the Deponent that he had left Raumnagur in the Night, and it was there determined to attack the Fort of Chunar Ghur the following Night; he mentioned several of the Leaders Names, whom the Deponent does not remember,

The Deponent further saith, That at the Time this Fellow gave him the above Information, he was going to the Beach to see the Battalion paraded, and to expedite the Boats; and that he saw the same Man upon the Road as he was returning from the River Side. Lieutenant Colonel Blair further saith, That a short Time before Dinner, on the same Day, a Man was brought to him with Intelligence, who was dressed like a Fakcer; he seemed a middle-aged Man, and appeared very solicitous for the Safety of the English: His Information corresponded with the former, as to the Time that the Fort was to be attacked; the Forces he said could not in all consist of less than between Twenty and Thirty thousand Men, with Artillery; that they were to be led on by the Rajah in Person, and were to come from Lettefpore, Ramnagur, and Pateeta. The Deponent remarks, that this Man spoke so much more than merely answering Questions that were put to him, that this, joined to his seeming Anxiety for the Safety of the English, created in the Deponent's Mind great Doubts of his Veracity, though he did not totally reject his Information. The Deponent here observes, that this Man, and also the Man that delivered the first Intelligence, were perfect Strangers to the Deponent, and every Person about him; and that, among other Questions, he asked him what was his Inducement to come to him with such particular Information? to which he answered, That he was a poor Man and expected a Reward. The Deponent then told him, that if he called upon him next Day, he would most undoubtedly reward him accordingly. The Deponent further saith, That as far as he recollects, between Three and Four o'Clock the same Afternoon, as he was observing the last of the before-mentioned Battalion crossing the River, his Jemmadar Hircarrah came to him, and told him that it was the general Belief every where, that a large Army was upon the March, and was supposed would reach Chunar that Night, and that vast Numbers of the Inhabitants were flying the Town; that he the Deponent warned the said Jemmadar Hircarrah to beware of bringing or spreading false Intelligence, as he should answer for it with his Life; his Answer was, that he spoke nothing of himself. The Deponent, after having seen all the Battalion across the River, and begun their March, ordered the Jemmadar Hircarrah to attend him to Camp. That as the Deponent was upon the Road, he met a young Man seemingly much out of Breath, but could not understand what he had to say, till he reached the Camp, when he called Captain Blair to interpret for him. The Information this Man gave was, that he was an Inhabitant of Pateeta and used frequently to come to Chunar upon his own Business; that the Deponent's Jemmadar Hircarrah knew him, which was acknowledged by the Jemmadar himself. He said, that when he left Pateeta, there was about Six thousand Men getting ready to march towards Chunar, and that he understood that a very large Body was to follow from Lettefpore. The Deponent further saith, That, upon reflecting upon the various Intelligence he had received through the Day, he thought it necessary to acquaint Captain Sparks and Captain Blair of his Apprehensions of an Attack being made that Night; that he the Deponent saw Out-posts placed, and gave every necessary Instruction to prevent a Surprise, and to oppose the Enemy with Vigour, as he was conscious that every Thing depended upon keeping the Field. The Deponent after this, when the Troops were turned out at Roll-calling, directed Captains Blair and Sparks to thank their Men in the Name of the Governor General for their late gallant Behaviour at Ramnagur, lamenting at the same Time the great Loss that they had sustained by being imprudently led into a Place where they could not act, but that he the Deponent was confident they could in the fair Field beat any Force that the Rajah could bring against them; that the Men expressed a perfect Confidence and Readiness to oppose the Enemy if attacked, and the Chasseurs expressed the greatest Eagerness to embrace the first Opportunity of revenging the Death of their Companions and Commandant; and they remained upon their Arms all Night with the utmost Cheerfulness. The Deponent further saith, That when the Governor General arrived at Chunar Ghur next Morning, and that he was told the Danger that threatened him and all the other Gentlemen at Benares, which he was perfectly ignorant of before, it then crowded upon his Mind, as no Enemy had made the least Attempt either upon the Camp or upon the Fort, that all these Pieces of Intelligence, which had been brought in the Day before, were entirely calculated for the Purpose of detaining the Troops from being sent to Benares, and thereby favouring their Design of attacking the Governor and Gentlemen there; and the Deponent says, that he is the more induced to this Belief, as he was not able next Day, or at any Time since, to find the People that brought the Deponent this Intelligence, though every Endeavour was made to discover them.

This Deponent, on his Oath, saith, That on the Evening of the 21st August 1781, after having crossed the River with his Battalion, in order to march to Benares, agreeable to Colonel Blair's Orders, several People came and acquainted him, that there were Two thousand armed Men posted in the Neighbourhood of Betty Bur, to oppose his marching to Benares; and not doubting this Intelligence to be well founded, and Night approaching, took every Precaution to guard against a Surprise, and oppose the Enemy; but meeting with no Opposition on his March there, or returning to Chunar Ghur, therefore concluded the Information to have been groundless.

NATHANIEL MIDDLETON, Esquire, on his Oath, saith; That he left Lucknow on the 19th August 1781, and joining the Nabob Vizier at about Ten Cos distant, proceeded with him to Benares, with an Intention to meet the Governor General, who was expected shortly at Lucknow: That about Three or Four Days after his Departure, he heard of the Disturbance at Benares, and of the Massacre of Three European Officers, with a Number of Sepoys; at the Instigation of Rajah Cheyt Sing, which prevented the Governor General's setting out for Lucknow, as he had intended; and on his Arrival at Doudnagur, on the 24th of the same Month, we received imperfect Accounts, through the Channel of the Vizier's public Intelligence, of the Retreat of the Governor General and his Party to Chunar Ghur; and the same Accounts, as well as many others, set forth, that the Rajah Cheyt Sing had issued his most positive Orders to all the Zemindars and Officers of his Government, to put every European to Death that they could lay hold of; to seize and severely punish any Natives who should be found in the Service of or connected with the English; and in general, to use every Means in their Power to promote an Insurrection throughout the Country; for which they should be liberally rewarded: That he had also written Purwannahs, or Letters, to many of the Zemindars of the Vizier's Country, encouraging them to raise Disturbances in their respective Districts, and to assist him with Troops; for which he promised them large Sums of Money: That this Report was made to him repeatedly, through various Channels, and implicitly credited not only by himself, but he firmly believes by the Vizier and every Man in his Retinue: That in consequence of these Occurrences, the Vizier, who had left Lucknow with a very small Force, determined to wait for Reinforcements before he proceeded; and accordingly, summoning his Troops from all Quarters, halted at Hussanpore until they joined him: That on the 31st of said Month he, this Deponent, in Company with the Vizier, left Hussanpore, and proceeded towards Chunar Ghur: That on his Arrival at or near the Village of Goffee Gunge, he heard from several different Persons, whose Names he does not at present recollect, that a Number of dead Bodies were seen, some in a Well situated near the Road Side, and others lying on the open Plain, partly covered with loose Earth, or Sand, that had been thrown over them: That these Bodies were supposed and generally believed to be the Bodies of Dauk Hircarrahs, and other Travellers dependant on the English, who had been seized and murdered in consequence of the aforesaid Orders of Rajah Cheyt Sing: That this Deponent did not see the Bodies, but had not a Doubt of the Truth of the Story, as it was mentioned by several Persons at the Time they were passing the Place, and afterwards by others who stopped to see them: That in a small Mud Fort and Village near the Place where the Bodies were discovered, he, this Deponent, heard from Almas Alléy Cawn, a principal Farmer of the Nabob Vizier's Revenue, that there were several hundred armed Men assembled in the Service of Rajah Cheyt Sing; but for what particular Purpose he did not learn: That some Days after his (this Deponent's) Arrival at Chunar, he was informed by Two Hircarrahs, who brought him an Express from the Aumil of Allahabad, that in passing, through Goffee Gunge they had seen the dead Bodies of Two Europeans, who they supposed had been murdered by the Inhabitants of that Place: That he heard at the Time, and believed, and does still believe, that much Encouragement, and some actual Aid in the raising Troops, was given Rajah Cheyt Sing by Bahr Ally Cawn and Jewar Ally Cawn, the Two principal Eunuchs and Counsellors of the Vizier's Mother at Fayzabad; and that their Conduct, as well as that of their Dependants, during the Continuance of the Disturbances at Benares, manifested a strong Disaffection

N<sup>o</sup> 9. to the English: That he further heard from his own News-writer stationed at Fayzabad, that a Vakeel, or Agent, from Rajah Cheyt Sing had been received at that Place, and allowed to remain under the Protection of the said Eunuchs; but for what particular Purpose, or what was the Nature of his Commission or Negotiation, this Deponent has not been able to discover.

ALEXANDER HANNAY, Esquire, Lieutenant Colonel, commanding a Corps of his Excellency the Vizier Asop ul Dowlah's Sepoys, on his Oath, declares, to the best of his Remembrance and Belief, the following Circumstances respecting the State of the Country he was stationed in, and the Reports that prevailed there during the Months of September and October 1781:—That, in Obedience to Orders he received from his Excellency the Nabob Vizier for that Purpose, on the 28th of August 1781, he issued Orders for forming a Detachment, consisting of One thousand Sepoys, Four Guns, and Five thousand Horse, from the Troops under his Command, to assemble at Akbarpore, on the Road leading to Juanpore: That Eight Companies of Sepoys, Two Guns, and about One hundred Horse of the said Detachment, were ordered to cross the Gogra at the Chawra Gaut, and proceed to Akbarpore: That Two Companies of Sepoys, Two Guns, and the Remainder of the Horse, were ordered to cross at Fayzabad, and encamp on the Rumna until the Arrival of the Deponent, who was from thence to march them to Akbarpore, the appointed Rendezvous of the Detachment: That the Deponent arrived at Fayzabad on the Evening of the 7th of September, with the Intention of pursuing his March to Akbarpore the next Morning; but was detained, from the Horsemen having been seduced into the Town, where they were tampered with by the Servants and Agents of the Begums to decline proceeding further with him: That the Subedars of the Two Companies of Sepoys represented to him, that Guards were placed, said by the Authority of the Begums, to prevent the Sepoys, or any one connected with the English, from entering the Town; and upon Enquiry, it appeared that such Representation was true: That the Deponent learnt from various, and what he deemed Information to be depended on, that the Agents of Rajah Cheyt Sing were publicly suffered to raise Troops in Fayzabad; and that the Eunuchs of both Begums encouraged the People to enter into his Service, particularly Jewar Ally Cawn, who was represented to have gone into the Chouk for this Purpose: That the Deponent was credibly informed, that Two or Three Days before his Arrival at Fayzabad, a Man, named Shake Char, had marched from thence, in order to join Rajah Cheyt Sing, with about a Thousand Horse and Foot; and that several other Detachments had before proceeded from thence with the same Design. These Transactions were of so public Notoriety, and so generally believed, that the Deponent deemed it his Duty to represent this Impropriety to the Begum, but could obtain no Answer. On the Evening of the 8th of September, the Deponent received a Letter from Lieutenant Gordon, who was on his March to join him at Akbarpore, informing him that he had been attacked on his March from Chowra Gaut by great Bodies of Men, assembled to oppose him; and that on his Arrival at Tanda, the Conduct of Shumshiac Chan, the Begum's Aumil of that Place, had effected the Loss of his Detachment, as appears from the following Copy of his Letter to the Deponent, relating the Circumstances of that unhappy Disaster;

C O P Y of a Letter from Lieutenant John Gordon to Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, dated at Tanda, the 10th of September 1781.

I had the Honour to write you on the 8th Instant, acquainting you with the Disaster which happened to my Detachment; and I now beg Leave to lay before you the Particulars of that unfortunate Affair.

When I crossed the Gogra, on the 6th, at Chowra, with the Four Companies of Sepoys, and about Eighty Horse, (in all near 400) I saw the Country was disaffected: My Force, however, I judged to be quite sufficient to join you at Akbarpore; indeed, I did not conceive that his Excellency's Troops, marching to join him by his Order, could meet with any Interruption.

On the 7th, at Day-break, I marched; and about Half a Mile from Chowra, where crossing a Nullah, where I had sent Boats Overnight, I observed great Bodies of Men assembled to oppose my March: I immediately made what I judged to be the best Disposition of my small Corps; and the Behaviour of the Men did them great Credit; for though during the Whole of the March of Eight Co's, we were attacked, and often surrounded, by incredible Numbers of People, yet we constantly beat them off, killing and wounding many of them; and arrived, with very little Loss, about One o'Clock in the Afternoon, at the Teria Nullah, which runs by Tanda, bringing the Whole of our Bazar and Baggage in the most complete Safety. I now imagined myself in a Friend's Country, and intended crossing the Nullah, that my People might halt for the Day, and refresh after their fatiguing March: For this Purpose I ordered my Bazar and Baggage to be sent over, and Part of the Sepoys to stand to their Arms: A great Number of our Enemies were still in Sight; but judge of my Surprise, when I was informed that the Boats were all on the other Side of the Nullah, and that none of them were permitted to cross. I immediately wrote to the Begum's Aumil, Shumshire Chan, acquainting him, that I was marching with the Vizier's Troops, by his Orders, to join him; that I was astonished at his stopping the Gaut, and desired that he would send Boats for the Transport of my Detachment. To this no Answer was made; but immediately Three Guns were brought near the Gaut, and pointed to us; and a Number of Najubs were posted on the Banks of the Nullah, who threatened to fire if any Body passed. It is proper to remark here, that near the Gaut there were a great many large Boats belonging to Mr. Scott, whose Gomastah, notwithstanding his most earnest Entreaties, was prevented from sending them by Shumshire Chan; and even the Plunder of his Factory and his Life were threatened, if he attempted it. When I found this to be the Case, I took Possession of a very strong Ground, surrounded on Three Sides by the River and Nullah; on the Fourth Side, where only I could be attacked by the Country People, I ordered the Sepoys to make a Breast-Work, by piling up Planks, of which there were a great Number; and as I had Ammunition and Provisions, I intended to wait there until I could procure Boats, or discover a Ford. I was thus employed. I found that Mahomed Reza Beg, the Jemedar of Horfe, had swam across the Nullah, and procured Permission for his People to follow him, which they immediately did. No Answer coming from the Fogedar, I desired my Munche to go to him, and explain the Matter; he accordingly went to the Gaut, and demanding a Passage, he was refused, and insulted in Terms the most opprobrious to the English. He returned; and telling me this, I ordered him to take an Elephant, and swim over; but when he attempted to enter the Nullah with the Animal, the Nujubs pointed their Matchlocks at him, and obliged him to desist: The Sepoys seeing this, and that the Horsemen were permitted to swim across, naturally imagined that the Objection was to the English only, and their Adherents; they thought it safest to abandon me, whom they must have concluded to be devoted, and, throwing down their Coats and Arms, they followed the Example of the Horsemen in swimming across the Nullah, making a Merit with Shumshire Chan of giving me up to my Fate. One of the Subadars represented to the others the Folly of their suffering for One Person; and proposed to them to deliver me up to Shumshire Chan, or to the Country People; but this Proposal they rejected with Scorn: The Desertion however was almost complete; for in a little Time, of the Four Companies, not Twenty Men remained, including Officers. It was now almost Evening, when Mr. Scott's Gomastah, with great Difficulty, at last obtained Permission from the Fogedar to send One Boat; but it came too late to render any effectual Service; for with the few Sepoys who remained, Command was at an End; and, as most of my Servants had gone off, my Baggage was left a Prey to the Banditti, who soon carried off and destroyed it. Some Things, which a few of my Servants brought with them, they gave in Charge of the Fogedar's People, to take Care of them; but they reserved them for themselves, or rather for the Fogedar; and though many of my Things were seen in his House, I never could recover a single Article. I am still in Mr. Scott's Factory, which there is every Reason to think will be attacked, as Numbers of People are assembled in the Neighbourhood for that Purpose; and as the Fogedar positively refuses to grant the least Assistance, God knows what may be the Consequence: However, as it is evident that Shumshire Chan was the sole Cause of this Disaster, I hope that exemplary Punishment will be inflicted on him, and if I survive I doubt not but I shall be reimbursed for what I lost by his Villainy.

I have the Honour to be your most obedient Servant,

(Signed) J. Gordon.

The Deponent further saith, That from Observation and Information, he doth believe that a general and universal Insurrection took place, before the 15th of September, in all the Country to the Eastward of the Gogra, from Mangee to Bahraitch, and on its Western Banks from the Borders of the Benares Districts to the Extremity of Kyrabad; that it was created and fomented by the Agents of Rajah Cheyt Sing's disaffected People at Fayzabad, and about the Vizier's Court; and that the Expulsion of the English was its Object. In the Districts of Goruckpore, and indeed in all the Purgunnahs below Fayzabad, it was generally asserted, and the Deponent never heard the Assertion contradicted, that the Rajah Cheyt Sing furnished the principal Zemindars, particularly the Rajahs Futty Saw, Ghennoo Roy Adjut Miell, Zalim Sing, and partly Poll Sing, with considerable Sums of Money, in order to subsist the Force they collected on the Occasion; and that he granted them ostensible Certificates under his Seal, engaging to discharge whatever Expence they might incur in the Service of the Insurrection. These Certificates and Perwannahs they received, or pretended to have received, under the Seal of the Vizier, confirming them in their hereditary Zemindaries; and appointing them Aumils on the Part of the N<sup>o</sup> 9. Circar in their respective Pergunnahs, gained them an unbounded Influence over the Inhabitants. The Aumils of the Country in general were obliged to fly from their Stations; the Najubs and Subundy joined the Insurgents, or dispersed; all Ferry-boats were sunk or destroyed; many of the Dauk Hircarrahs were slain, and the rest obliged to fly, which effectually cut off all Correspondence, as well as Communication, and the Country remained in a State of Distraction which cannot well be described, until the Beginning of October; when the News of our Success at Benares, and the Nabob's Return to Lucknow, calmed the Tumult.

John M'Donald, Esq; Major commanding the Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah's Third Battalion of Sepoys, on Oath saith, That he the Deponent was stationed at Amora, to assist the Aumil in collecting the Company's Tunkas, also to protect the Subjects of his Excellency the Vizier from the Depredations of Zalim Sing, the Rebel Rajah of the aforementioned Place Amora, also the Attacks of others his Adherents: That the said Deponent had been detached by Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, some Time in February 1780, with a Body of Horse and Foot, in Pursuit of the above-mentioned Rajah Zalim Sing, who, besides sequestering the Rents of the Pergunnah, had compelled the Inhabitants to quit the District; and further, wantonly, and without Excuse, murdered Two of the principal Cannongoes of the Pergunnah aforesaid. The Deponent could not come up with the flying Rajah, but followed him until he took to a large Jungle, that bounded the Country of the Vizier to the Eastward, and is the Westernmost Limits of the Zemindary of Cheit Sing, Rajah of Benares. Zalim Sing was there received in the most friendly Manner, and Protection promised him. On this the Deponent sent proper Spies to watch the Motions of the Rajah Zalim Sing, and returned himself with the Troops to his Station at Amora: That the Deponent learned by the Spies left about Zalim Sing, that he was allowed to reside openly under the Protection of Cheit Sing, and had Villages, also Lands, assigned for the Maintenance of himself and Followers.

About the Twentieth of August last, the Deponent was informed, that Cheit Sing had, after putting to Death Three English Officers and Two Hundred and Fifty Sepoys, fled from Benares, and openly set up the Standard of Rebellion, inviting all Persons, who could procure Arms, to repair to him, and by fighting under his Banner, extirpate the Fringes. The Road by which the Post usually travelled from Benares, became impassable from the numerous Parties it was said Cheit Sing had sent out to cut off all Communication between the Honourable Governor General and the different Stations of the Army. As the Deponent could not obtain any authentic Account of the State of Affairs, he thought it best to send out Persons to all Parts for Information, that he might judge from the State of the Country how Matters stood at the Place of the greatest Moment. The Country of the daring Rebel Cheit Sing, and the City of Fayzabad, seemed to the Deponent the most likely Places to furnish the wished-for Intelligence. In the latter Place it was reported, First, that the Honourable Warren Hastings, Esq; had been massacred at Benares; then, that he had been cut off in his Way to Chunar; at last it was said the Honourable Governor General was in Chunar Ghur, but must soon fall into the Hands of the Benares Rebel, as no Relief could possibly reach the Place in Time to save it; and that shortly the Destruction of every Englishman in these Parts would be effected. From the Benares District the Deponent learnt, Cheyt Sing had summoned the Zemindars of his Rajah to join him with all the Troops they could raise, promising present Pay to those bearing Arms, and a Remission of a Year's Rent to all who repaired to his Standard. Many Rebels who had fled the Company's and Nabob's Territories, and taken Refuge in his Zemindary, were furnished with Money, and joined by such Zemindars, belonging to the aforesaid Benares Rebel, as lay too far distant from the principal Scene of Action, to make a Diversion both towards the Company's Lands and those Parts of his Excellency's Dominions under the Charge of English Officers, and endeavour to cut them all off, and thereby prevent any Assistance being sent from either Goruckpore or Bahraish. His Excellency the Vizier repaired to Suttanpore about this Time, which prevented the Rebel Zalim Sing, also Pertee Paal Sing, the Rebel of Bustee, from quitting the Jungle; but they were busy in making the necessary Preparations, by raising of Men, with the Money said to be sent them by Cheit Sing in Fayzabad: The Cojahs of the Vizier's Grandmother, as well as those of the Bowe Begum, were raising Men under various Pretences, and making every Preparation that might be necessary either for offensive or defensive War. During the Time the Nabob lay encamped at Suttanpore, the Deponent's People were insulted and ill used in Fayzabad, by the Peons, Sepoys, and other Servants of Juar Alli Khan and the Begums, as were all who made use of the English Name, or were supposed to have any Connection of the Kind; but on its being known there that his Excellency had moved towards Chunar, no one who was a Servant of the English could get Admittance into the City but by Stealth, or in Disguise; when the Dawk from Lucknow was not allowed to pass through as formerly, but obliged to make a large Circuit, and the Hircarraha put on different Appearances to pass unnoticed to Amora. After the Departure of the Nabob from Suttanpore, as before mentioned, the Rebels, who had been driven from the Province of Gorookpore, began moving towards the Gogra. The Zemindars of Amora, where the Deponent then resided, also those of the adjacent Pergunnahs, held frequent Meetings, and seemed big with some great Plan. On or about the 29th of August the Deponent received a Letter from Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, informing him, that his Excellency the Nabob had written to him (Colonel Hannay) to join him immediately with a Thousand Sepoys, Four Guns, and Five hundred Horse. Four hundred Sepoys of the Deponent's Battalion was ordered for this Service; also his Battalion Guns, and a Hundred Horse that belonged to the Amora Station, were withdrawn to make up the Number required by his Excellency. No sooner was this made public, than the Zemindars absented themselves; and the Deponent learnt from all Parts of the Country, that every Man was getting ready his Arms, and that Cheyt Sing's Name was in every Body's Mouth; that every Rajah in the Country had declared for him. That the Deponent endeavoured to get some Najeeds to supply the Place of the Troops called away; but all in vain; every Attempt was rendered abortive by the Machinations of the Cojahs belonging to the Two Begums at Fayzabad; and every Soul in that City seemed, from their Conduct and Conversation, to look upon the English as on the very Eve of Extinction, forbidding any one to serve the Fringes, but to repair to Cheyt Sing and Sydu Ally—Nay, every Method and Way was tried to seduce the Sepoys from the Deponent's Battalion, which, however, did not succeed while remaining under his Eye, but had the desired Effect upon the Nadjub and Subundy.

After the Sepoys, Guns, and Horse had crossed the Gogra, there was an End to all Government in that Part of the Country where the Deponent resided. Not an Article of any Kind was to be had; and, but for the Deponent's having foreseen the Situation he should be in, and provided accordingly, he would have been under the Necessity of leaving his Station for the Want of Provisions. Thus surrounded on all Sides by lurking Enemies (for there was no knowing who to treat otherwise) the Deponent knew not when or from what Quarter the Blow was to be struck; but on the 8th of September it broke out in all Parts. All Out Posts were driven into Camp; the Roads in an Instant secured by armed Parties; Hircarrahs murdered, Sepoys attacked, and the intended Destruction of every English Man openly declared, not only throughout the Pergunnah, Towns, and Villages, but even in the City of Fayzabad. To such Lengths was it carried by the People of Juare Alli Khan, and other Cojahs belonging to the Begums, that the Women of the Deponent's Camp, that were sent across the Gogra to be out of the Way of Danger, being obnoxious from the Connection, were refused that Protection which the Sex in every Country meets with, but particularly in Hindostan claims as a Right. From the above Date the Deponent was confined to the Limits of his Camp, nor had he any Road open but that to Rye Gaut opposite Owde, at which Place Lieutenant Colonel Hannay then lay with a very small Force; while the Country around him, also the City of Fayzabad, seemed ready to commence Hostilities. On the 10th of September Rajah Zelim Sing, accompanied by other rebellious Rajahs, appeared with a numerous Force on the Banks of the Gogra opposite to Amora. The Deponent's Spies brought him Intelligence from the Rebel Camp, that his, the Deponent's Property, likewise that of all his Camp, was already divided; that the Deponent's Horses, Camels, and Things worth Notice, the Rajah Zelim Sing reserved to himself; the rest was to be given up to those who could get it. Moreover the Deponent saith, his People informed him that Rajah Zelim Sing had produced a Paper, which he, the Rajah, said, was a Sunnud from the Nabob, restoring him to this Zemindary, appointing him Collector of the adjacent Pergunnahs, Bustie and Nagger, also that he had the Nabob's Directions to drive the Fringes out of his District; that he only waited for the light Boats, being already provided, from Fayzabad (which the Deponent knew absolutely to be the Case) to cross the Gogra, and carry the Nabob's Orders into Execution. Further, that his Excellency had altered his Sentiments regarding the Part he was to take in the present Contest: That his Excellency set out with the Intent of adhering to his Treaty with the Company, but that Mirza Saadut Ally wrote him he was to blame if he gave any Assistance; that now was the Time to shake off the English Yoke; that it might not be prudent to declare himself at once; that he had only to stand neuter, and, under Pretence of defending themselves, direct his Subjects to take Arms, and endeavour to prevent the Junction of the English Forces, when the Matter would work of itself. Further, to direct the Aumils to send no more Supplies of Money, which would cause the Sepoys to leave the English Service for want of Pay, while themselves would have Plenty of Money. In the City of Fayzabad the same Language prevailed as to the Money Part, and Stoppage of the Tunkas, until the Nabob Sadis Ally Khan thought proper to issue the Grants. During the Night of the 10th of September Rajah Zelim Sing crossed the Gogra, and advanced within Four Cos of the Deponent's Camp: On the Evening of the 11th the aforesaid Rajah pushed Three Post to within a Mile of the Deponent's Lines, and was to have moved from his Camp with his main Body when the Moon rose. Thus situated, it was thought expedient, for the Safety of both Parties, that the Deponent should join Lieutenant Colonel Hannay while yet a Passage was open; accordingly, about Two in the Morning of the 12th September, the Deponent quitted his Camp at Amora, and marched to Rye Gaut. The Deponent was scarcely out of his

Camp,

- N<sup>o</sup> 9. Camp, when the Rajah's People rushed into it, seizing all they could find, and murdered some unhappy Persons who had neglected to move in Front of the Deponent's Party. The Deponent reached Rye Gaut at Sunrise of the 12th. As soon as it was known at Fayzabad, that Salim Sing was in Possession of Amora, the whole City was in an Uproar from Joy; and the Deponent heard the Report and saw the Smoke of Guns that were discharged at Fayzabad, he believes, on the Occasion. The Deponent saith, He believed the Reports as before related at that Time, and was still of Opinion the Threats therein contained were intended to be carried into Execution had the League been successful; nor did the Deponent then (or even to this Moment) doubt but what the Begums at Fayzabad and their Cojahs were in a League with Cheit Sing the Benares Rebel; and the Deponent is of Opinion that the Whole of the Disturbances that happened in the Parts where he resided, took its Rise from the Rebellion of Rajah Cheit Sing; and the Deponent is further of Opinion, that it would not have extended itself so wide in the short Time it really did, had it not been a Matter pre-concerted, and brought to Light by mere Chance, ere properly ripe for Execution: And the Deponent further saith, That he is of Opinion, from the many Conversations he the Deponent has held with several Persons, Inhabitants of the Rebel Cheit Sing's Country, that the Rebellion has been meditating even some Years; that the Deponent was informed the Matter was absolutely debated in the Year 1779, and prevented only by the Voice of a Person about the Rajah, to whose Judgment much Deference was paid by the Rajah Bulwan Sing, Father to the Rebel.

David Williams, Esquire, Captain of the First Battalion of his Excellency the Vizier Asoph ul Dowlah's Sepoys, on his Oath declares, to the best of his Remembrance and Belief, the following Circumstances respecting the State of the Country he was stationed in, the Reports that prevailed there, and his own Situation in it, during the Months of September and October One thousand Seven hundred and Eighty-one. Upon hearing that the Rebellion of Rajah Cheit Sing at Benares, had become of a very serious Nature, he deemed it requisite to repair immediately to his Station at Gungowah, in the District of Goorookpore; accordingly he left Lucknow, by Dawk, on the First of September, and reached Sakrora the same Evening; on the Second, he arrived at Amora, and on the Third at Goorookpore. Upon the Road between Bustee and Meerungunge, a Sepoy belonging to Major McDonald's Battalion overtook him, and gave him Information that the Rebels had attacked a Post in the Jungle, which they had carried. On his Arrival at Goorookpore, the Jemedar who commanded in the Fort acquainted him, that the Rajahs Futty Saw, Ghenewroy, and Adjetmull, had received a very considerable Sum of Money from Rajah Cheyt Sing, to enable them to commence Hostilities in Goorookpore, and in the Company's Districts, and that they had crossed the Gogra, and also, that they had Promises of considerable Sums of Money and Supplies of Men upon commencing their Operations. The Fourth, in the Evening, he arrived at Gungowah, and had the same Reports confirmed to him by his Commandant, and most of the People of that Place. On the Fifth and Sixth, he got all Things in Readiness to proceed, agreeable to the following Order from Colonel Hannay, to Ackberpore.

To Captain Williams, commanding in Gorookpore.

Sir,

Having received the Vizier's Orders to join him without Delay with the greatest Part of the Forces acting immediately under my Authority, I have to desire, that immediately on the Receipt of this Letter, or as soon after as possible, you do march with the Two Grenadier Companies of your Battalion complete, and your Battalion Guns, and proceed with all possible Expedition to Ackberpore, on the Road from Fayzabad to Settanpore, where you will receive further Orders. You will march by the Route of Gorookpore, and cross the Gogra at Taundah, where you will find Three large Pattalies ready for your Passage. The Four Companies of your Battalion stationed at Bustee, Dooreaparah, Dumreagemge, and Bancey, have also received Orders to march; but as the utmost Expedition is required, they will proceed immediately under the Command of Lieutenant Gordon, and not wait your Arrival. The Four Companies of your Battalion in Gorookpore, and with Hurdeal Sing, will remain under the Authority of Mahomed Sheffy Khan; and I have to desire you will particularly instruct the Subedars, commanding them to pay the strictest Attention to such Orders as they may receive from Mahomed Sheffy Khan, during your Absence. I know not what Quantity of Ammunition the the Four Companies at Rustic, &c. have with them; but it will be necessary, if possible, N<sup>o</sup> 9. to bring a Quantity with you sufficient to supply the whole Six Companies of your Battalion under Orders of March, with a Complement of Two hundred Rounds a Man; and enclosed you will receive a Letter from Mahomed Sheffy Khan, desiring him to yield you every Assistance in his Power, in order to procure Carriage for to transport it. What else may be wanted to expedite your March, your own Prudence and Zeal will suggest, and I have only to repeat it is necessary you should make all possible Dispatch.

(Signed) Alexander Hannay.

On the Seventh he marched with Two Companies and Two Guns, having previously sent Orders to the scattered Detachments to repair to Gungowah, there to remain under the Directions of the Aumil, agreeable to Colonel Hannay's Orders. On the Eighth continued his March; on the Evening of the same Day certain Accounts were brought him, that the Boats on the Rivers and Nullahs were destroyed, and the whole Country to the Gograh up in Arms; and having also received Intelligence that Fatty Saw Ghenawroy and Adjilmal, with their Banditti, were encamped on the Road to Burragong, it determined him to return immediately to Gungowah, and proceed by the Way of Burragong and Chuprah to Buxar, to join Major Crawford's Regiment with the Two Companies and Two Guns; by taking which Route, he would have had an Opportunity of driving off that Party, which would have freed the Country from the principal Rebel. On the Ninth he returned to Gungowah; and, as the Commotions in the Country seemed evidently to increase, since the detached Parties who were directed to repair to Gungowah had been severally attacked on their Way, as they came in, he sent Orders to Hurdial Sing, Commandant stationed at Itchmul, to repair with all Expedition to Gungowah with the Two Companies and Gun belonging to the Fouzdary of that Place, and in the Evening informed the Aumil Mahomed Suffee Khan of his Intentions of proceeding by Chupra to Benares, and gave him Advice respecting the Defence of the Country during his Absence. The Detachment was ordered to march on the Tenth. About One o'Clock in the Morning the Jemedar attached to the Guns came and informed him that the Companies had mutinied, and would not march without having their Arrears paid them. In the Morning he went to the Parade, and ordered the Men to fall in; they paraded with Reluctance and Difficulty, particularly the Left Hand Company, commanded by Khan Mahomed Subedar. When they were got under Arms, he acquainted them that he was concerned they were not paid so regularly as he could have wished, but if there were any of them that were distressed for Subsistence, he would advance them as much of his own Money as they required, as soon as they came to their Ground that Day; but that it was indispensably necessary that they should march with all Expedition to attack a Party of Fattysoy, &c.'s Troops, which had taken Possession in the Gaut in the Jerry Jungle, before they should have Time to fortify themselves. They were silent; he directed them to march off. When they had gone about One hundred Yards from the Parade, one of the Men stepped out of his File, and demanded all the Arrears due to him; he immediately seized the Bayonet of the Mutineer, with an Intention of putting him to Death; when Six or Seven more turned out, fixed their Bayonets, and made the same Demand; the Black Officers remained silent and inactive; he ordered his Commandant to march on, and ordered the Mutineers to take off their Coats, as they were not worthy of being Soldiers, and that his Munshee would pay them their Arrears that Instant; many more joined them in a few Minutes, loaded their Pieces, laid hold of the Mounshee, and were going to put him to Death. When he found that to be the Case, and that almost the whole Two Companies were engaged in the Mutiny, he ordered the Party to return, as it was in vain to proceed. A short Time after the whole Party surrounded him, some with loaded Arms and fixed Bayonets, having also loaded the Guns with Grape, and with one Voice demanded their Arrears might be paid off. He remonstrated, that it was impossible for him to comply with their Demands, but that all the Money he had, or could get, should be distributed amongst them, if they would obey his Orders. For about Three Hours they behaved in the most licentious Manner, and were proceeding to break open the Treasure Chest; at last, however, he prevailed upon them to receive Three Months Pay. Upon this being given them they returned to their Lines, but kept Centries at the Bungalow. After this he sent for the Two Subedars, and desired them to sound the Men, and try if they could induce them, upon Promise of Forgiveness for what they had done, to return to their Duty. They came back, and reported, that they would consent to obey upon those Conditions. He went to the Parade in the Evening, and promised them Forgiveness; upon which they took an Oath to obey his Orders, upon Conditions that they were not to march to Benares; so that it became impracticable to prosecute the Intentions he had formed. However, in a few Hours more they again mutinied; and, to the best of his Recollection, they proposed to march to Benares and join Cheyt Sing and Sydet Alley, who, as they said, would pay them their Arrears, and make them great Men; adding, that all the Europeans were cut off, and that he (meaning the Deponent) was the only Person left in the Country. In the Evening the Two Subedars, Khan Mahomed and Butour Sing, came to him, and proposed to carry him Prisoner to Benares. On the Twelfth he represented to them, that if they did not immediately march to attack Fatty Saw, &c. who had already posted Detachments within Sight of the Cantonments, and, he was informed, was lying near Huffinapore with near Seven thousand Men, they would be distressed for Provision, since the whole Country was in Arms. He sent for all the Black Officers, and begged and intreated them to use their N<sup>o</sup> 9. Influence over the Men upon this Occasion ; but they were deaf to all he could say. Had they complied, he was confident of Success against the Rebels, as Dudjou Sing and Goving Ram Misser had engaged to make a Diversion in his Favour upon their Rear, whilst he attacked them in Front. In the Evening they came to a Determination to march to Fayzabad to the Begum ; who they also declared would pay them their Arrears, and take them into her Service ; but on the Thirteenth, before they had carried these Intentions into Execution, he was joined by Hurdial Sing, with Two weak sickly Companies ; and having borrowed Money sufficient to pay them the Three Months Pay which the others had received, and thereby render them upon an Equality, they remained staunch, though every possible Means had been taken by the Mutineers to corrupt them. Shortly after this he received Information, that the Fort of Gorookpore had been attacked by near Six thousand Rebels. There was a Jemadar and about Fifty Men in the Fort, who behaved most gallantly. The Attack commenced near Nine o'Clock in the Evening. They carried the outward Work, which was too extensive ; and the Party were obliged to retire to the Citadel, where there were upwards of Two hundred Prisoners confined. They endeavoured to seize the Sepoys ; in which Attempt Nineteen of them were put to Death, and many wounded. The Attack continued till near Four o'Clock in the Afternoon ; when Shawmut Khan, a Jemadar, and Nine Men, who had been ordered to march there from Puroonah, at the Beginning of the Disturbances in the Country, arrived in the Town ; the People told them to throw down their Arms, and run off to the Jungles to save their Lives ; for it was impossible for them to get into the Fort, as it was surrounded by Six thousand Rebels, who must carry it in a few Minutes. The Jemadar, with admirable Presence of Mind, replied, That he was only the advanced Party, and that the Captain and the Guns were close after them ; and called out to a Man to run and bring them up, that the Whole of the Rebels might be destroyed ; and immediately fired upon the Rabble. The Report instantly spread ; a Panick seized the Whole, and they ran off in the utmost Confusion. He joined the Jemadar in the Fort with his Nine Men : They sallied out after the Rebels, and cut off about Two hundred of them. During the Attack, the Rebels frequently called out to the Jemadar to deliver up the Place to them, as they had Perwannahs from the Begum, Chyte Sing, and Sydet Ally, for what they did.

Having received Orders from Lieutenant Colonel Hannay to proceed towards him, and also a Letter from Lieutenant Gordon, acquainting him that it was Colonel Hannay's Wish he should join him at Amorah, informing him of the Loss of Two Companies of his Battalions which were with Lieutenant Gordon ; on the Fifteenth he marched from Gungowath with the Aumil and Fouzdars of the Country, and all the Stores of his Battalion. The March proved exceedingly fatiguing, on account of the Country's being under Water, and most of the Nullas unfordable, and no proper Boats upon them for crossing over. On the Twentieth arrived at Gorookpore, where he found Two Companies belonging to his Battalion, which were directed to join Lieutenant Gordon, but not being able to effect it, they had been under the Necessity of retiring to Gorookpore, also a Company of Major M'Donald's Battalion, which had been obliged to retire from Bustic. On the Nineteenth received a Letter from Lieutenant Colonel Hannay which determined him to remain at Gorookpore till he received further Orders, and wrote a Letter in Answer, proposing to march by the Route of Mugger and Baste, to chastise Zalim Sing at Amora, and Lieutenant Colonel Hannay should advance by the Route of Maheadeah to Ameroh, which he thought would be the most practicable Means of quieting the Rebellion in the Country. He was under a Necessity of borrowing Money to pay his Companies at Gorookpore, and also Major M'Donald's Company, and to make up the Ammunition that was damaged by the Weather, and repair the Tumbrils : His Battalion being ill furnished with Arms and Ammunition, and the Draft Cattle very bad, which retarded him much during his March to Gorookpore. The Thirtieth received a Letter from Lieutenant Colonel Hannay, and wrote, for Answer, that he would march for certain on the Second of October ; but the Difficulties he found in procuring a sufficient Quantity of Provision and Carriage for it, as the whole Country was hostile, and Bodies of armed Men, to the Amount of several Thousands were actually in the Town ; added to the heavy Rain which fell on the Fourth and Fifth, rendered it impracticable for him to march till the Sixth. During the Time he remained at Gorookpore, it was currently reported and given out by the rebellious Rajahs, that they acted in conformity to the Orders they had received from Cheyt Sing, Sydut Ally, and the Begums, to raise an Insurrection in the Country, and to destroy the English wherever they found them. Many Letters were intercepted, but the necessary Care was not taken of them, and they were either destroyed or lost. Having the Rappy and several Nullahs to cross, he did not reach Bancy till the Ninth, which Distance about Two-and-twenty computed Coss. On the Ninth in the Evening a violent Storm of Rain began, which lasted to the Sixteenth, with scarcely an Hour's Intermission, which rendered it totally impracticable to march during that Time, as the whole Country was overflowed, and the Rivers quite full. The March from Sakrora was extremely tedious and difficult, great Delays being occasioned by the Necessity he was under of making Bridges, added to the Interruption he suffered from the frequent Skirmishes he had with the People of the different Districts he passed through. On the 23d he arrived at Goondah, and on the Day following joined Colonel Hannay at Sakfira, with Eight Companies of his own Battalion, and a Company of Major Macdonald's Battalion. The Aumils and Fouzdars of Gorookpore came under his Protection, and a Number of People in Office in the Collections ; the Guir belonging belonging to the Fouzdary he brought with him, being the only one in the District he commanded. During his March from Gorookpore to Sackrora, the Rebels who harrassed gave out, that every Measure they took was in compliance with the Directions they received from the Begum, Sydut Ally, and Cheyt Sing. Since the Time of his being appointed to the Command of the Battalion, in January One thousand Seven hundred and Eighty-one; he has only received Two Months Pay, on its Account, from his Excellency the Vizier, to the present Time; November the Twenty-seventh: His Battalion was dispersed in such a Manner, and at so great a Distance, that he had hardly ever had above two Companies with him, till they joined him by Degrees. During the Rebellion, he continually advised Colonel Hannay of his Situation, but it appears few of his Letters reached him, as the Communication was shut up. N<sup>o</sup> 9:

John Gordon, Esquire, Captain in the Corps of Sepoys of his Excellency Asoph ul Dowlah Nabob Vizier, on his Oath saith, That he crossed the Gograh on the 6th of September at Chowrah, with Four Companies of Sepoys, and about Eighty Horse, (in all, near 400) under his Command; that he saw the Country was disaffected, but judged his Force sufficient to join Colonel Hannay at Akberpore; indeed the Deponent did not conceive that his Excellency's Troops, marching to join him by his Command, could meet with any Interruption. On the 7th, at Day-break, the Deponent marched, and about Half a Mile from Chororah, when crossing a Nullah, he observed great Bodies of Men assembled to oppose his March; he immediately made what he judged to be the best Disposition of his small Corps, and the Behaviour of the Men did them great Credit, for though, during the Whole of the March of Eight Cos, they were attacked and often surrounded by incredible Numbers of People, yet they constantly beat them off, killing and wounding many of them; and arrived, with very little Loss, about One o'Clock in the Afternoon, at the Tereera Nulla, which runs by Tawnda, bringing the Whole of the Bazar and Baggage in the most perfect Safety; the Deponent then imagined himself in a Friend's Country, and intended crossing the Nullah, that his People might halt for the Day and refresh after their very fatiguing March; for this Purpose he ordered the Bazar and Baggage to be sent over, and Part of the Sepoys to stand to their Arms, as great Numbers of their Enemies were still in Sight; but his Surprise was extreme when he was informed, that the Boats were all on the other Side of the Nullah, and that none of them were permitted to cross. The Deponent immediately wrote a Letter to the Begum's Aumil, Shumshire Chan, acquainting him that he was marching with the Vizier's Troops, by his Order, to join him; that he, the Deponent, was astonished at his stopping the Gaut; and desiring Boats might be sent for the transport of the Detachment. To this no Answer was made, but immediately Three Guns were brought near the Gaut, and pointed to the Detachment, and a Number of Matchlock Men were posted on the Bank of the Nullah, who threatened to fire if any Body passed. There were then near the Gaut a great many large Boats belonging to Mr. Scott, whose Gomastah, notwithstanding his utmost Intreaties, was prevented from sending them by Shumshire Chan; who threatened the Plunder of his Factory, and even his Life, if he attempted it. This was told the Deponent by the said Gomastah repeatedly, and the Deponent believes it to be true, as it corresponds entirely with every other Part of Shumshire Chan's Conduct. The Deponent, upon being refused a Passage, took Possession of a very strong Ground, surrounded on Three Sides by the Gograh, and the Nulla on the Fourth Side, whence only he could be attacked by the Country People; he ordered the Sepoys to make a Breast Work, by piling up of Planks, of which there were a great Number; and as he had Ammunition and Provisions, he intended to wait there until he could procure Boats, or discover a Ford. While the Deponent was thus employed, Mahomed Raza Beg, the Jemedar of Horse, had swam across the Nullah, and procured Permission for his People to follow him, which they immediately did. No Answer coming from the Fogedar, the Deponent desired his Munchie to go to him, and explain the Matter; he accordingly went to the Gaut, and demanding a Passage, he was refused, and insulted in Terms the most abusive to the English. He returned, and telling this, the Deponent ordered him to take an Elephant and swim over; but when he attempted to enter the Nullah with the Animal, the Nijubs pointed their Matchlocks at him, and obliged him to desist: The Sepoys seeing this, and that the Horsemen were permitted to swim across, naturally imagined that the Objection was to the English only, and their Adherents; they thought it safest to abandon the Deponent, whom they must have concluded to be devoted, and throwing down their Coats and Arms, they followed the N° 9. the Example of the Horsemen, in swimming across the Nullah, making a Merit with Shumshire Chan of giving the Deponent up to his Fate. One of the Subedars represented to Two others, the Folly of suffering for One Person; and proposed to them to deliver up the Deponent to Shumshire Chan or to the Country People; but the Proposal was rejected with Scorn, and One of the Subedars reported the Behaviour of the other immediately to the Deponent: The Desertion, however, was almost complete, for in a little Time, of the Four Companies, not Twenty remained, including Officers. It was almost Evening when Mr. Scott's Gomastah, with great Difficulty, at last obtained Permission from Shumshire Chan to send One Boat, but it came too late to render any effectual Assistance, for with the few Sepoys who remained, Command was at an End; and as most of the Deponent's Servants had gone off, his Baggage was left a Prey to the Banditti, who soon carried off and destroyed it. Some Things which a few of his Servants brought with them, they gave in Charge to the Fogedar's People, who promised to take Care of them, but they reserved them for themselves, or rather for the Fogedar; and though many of the Deponent's Things were seen in his House, he could never recover a single Article. For many Days during the Stay of the Deponent in Mr. Scott's Factory it was threatened to be attacked; and Shumshire Chan, though often applied to by Mr. Scott's Gomastah, constantly refused to grant the least Assistance: Notwithstanding this, Shumshire Chan was, and the Deponent believes is still, continued in Office; and while the Deponent was at Fayzabad, Shumshire Chan came there, and was well received by the Begum and her Ministers: From all which Circumstances the Deponent is convinced, that Shumshire Chan could not have dared to act as he did, had he not been authorized by the Begum and her Ministers, or at least had he not known that such Conduct would be agreeable to them.

Jean Houvre Mordelait, Natif de Corbell, Province de l'Isle de France, fait Serment, et dit, Qu'étant malade à Mirzapore il fut laissé en arriere avec Quatorze de ses Camarades, lui inclus, tous servant dans la Compagnie de Chasseurs, commandée par le Capitaine Doxat; lorsque le dit Capitaine marcha avec les Troupes qui composoient le Detachment commandé par le Capitaine Meyaffre. Que lors du Depart du dit Capitaine le Raja de l'Endroit les fit entrer en son Entourage, pour plus de Sureté contre les Voleurs qui l'environnoient. Que sur leurs Representations qu'ils n'avoient pas d'Argent pour se fournir des Vivres, il leur fit donner à manger chaque Jour par un Banian. Qu'il les consola et les assura qu'allant voir ce qui se passoit à l'Entour de son Sirrail, il cherchoit après un Moyen de les faire passer à Chandernagore. Que des lors il ne revint point. Que le Commandement étant alors devolû au Second, il les fit appeller le Trentieme, et leur donna deux Roupies à chacun, pour servir à une Route qu'ils devoient faire de Deux Jours de Chemin. Qu'il l'en fit sçavoir que c'étoit ses Ordres de les renvoyer delà; et qu'il avoit aussi reçu Ordre de couler tous les Batteaux passant par Mirzapore. Que pendant ce Temps Cinquante de ses Gens furent envoyés pour s'emparer de leurs Armes; et que ces Gens prirent un Inventaire de ce que appartenoit à la Compagnie. Que le Lendemain ils furent contraints de se mettre en Route, leur Sacs placés sur des Chameaux, sur lesquelles ils furent obligés de monter à grands Coups de Fouet pour ceux qui refusoient. Que durant leur Route ils eurent toutes Sortes d'Indignités; qu'on leur crachoit au Visage, qu'on les battoit; que la seconde Journée un des ses Camarades fût assez heureux de mourir—que le Chemin qu'ils faisoient étoit parmi des Gorges de Montagnes, et qu'avec les Detours qu'ils firent il croit que le Trajet jusqu'à Laitiffghur, où ils arriverent le Deuxieme de Septembre, étoit plus de 40 Cofs. Qu'à la fin de la premiere Journée ils s'arrêtèrent à un petit Fort dans les Gorges, où leur mauvais Traitement fût redoublé. Qu'arrivé à Laitiffghur ceux qui vinrent avec eux se disperferent. Qu'ils furent entourés deux Heures qu'ils y resterent parmi environ deux ou trois mille Gens, qui les insultèrent grossierement, et particulièrement les accusa d'avoir assassiné le Raja de Guallier.—Qu'un de leurs Camarades, nommé François, fût mené auprès du Raja, lequel à son Retour leur declara que le Raja l'avoit assuré qu'en cas qu'il lui amena Compagnie François, qu'il auroit son Pain. Qu'après ils furent conduit hors de Laitiffghur de la même Maniere qu'auparavant, sous la Garde de quelques Sepoys, et autres Gens armés, à une petite Maison, fortifiée au delà de Laitiffghur, une Cofs sur le Chemin de Beyahghur. Que ces Gens y resterent pour les garder; qu'on ne leur donna ni à manger ni à boire. Que le Lendemain, étant le troisieme, un Chef de Laitiffghur avec dix Sepoys et environ 40 Hommes armés, les fit sortir à une Portée de Fusil de la Maison; qu'ils lierent leurs

Mains derriere leurs Dos ; et qu'en cette Position ils leur crierent de Manger, leur montrant des Vivres à quelque Distance dans des Corbeilles. Qu'après s'être amusé pendant une Heure ou deux de leur Misères, ces Barbares tirèrent leurs Sabres, et commencerent le Massacre. Que le susdit eut une Bayonette passée du travers du Corps et un grand Coup de pied sur les Reins, pour le faire resfortir. Qu'en cet Etat il feignit la Mort, et deux de ses Camarades tombant sur lui cachèrent sa Feinte. Que les Meurtriers se retirant après ce Carnage, il eut assés de Force pour se retirer dans les Junglis à vingt Pas de là. Qu'à la Discretion des Tigres il passa toute la Nuit. Qu' accablé de Soif, le Lendemain il descendit à un Ruisseau pour boire de l'Eau ; qu'il fut vû par des Campagnards, et amené à l'Endroit d'ou il étoit sorti le Jour avant. Que les Habitants le rassurèrent contre toute Crainte de sa Vie. Que leur Chef lui donna, pour lui et sa Femme, huit Pices par Jour ; laquelle Subsistance lui fut continué par Envoyen d'une Garde qui montoit, et étoit relevé chaque Jour de Laitiffghur. Que parmi les Gens qui étoient là, il ne reconnût aucun de ceux qui les tuaient. Que le 20<sup>e</sup>, le Jour le Raja s'enfuit de Laitiffghur, apres que lui et ses Troupes eurent passés, auprès de l'Endroit ou le susdit étoit, il se rendit à Laitiffghur sans Empechement, et même fut mis au large par les Habitans. Que la Nuit du 20<sup>me</sup> ou 21<sup>me</sup> il fut obligé de se cacher, pour se mettre à l'abri des Gens qui pilloient de tous Cotés. Que le Lendemain Matin à l'Entrée du Major Crabb, il fut decouvert, et heureusement mis en Sureté de toute autre Pour suite. Le susdit fait Serment, et dit de plus qu'il croit, que le Massacre provenit d'une Aste deliberée, et que ce ne pouvoit être le Resultat d'aucune Cause, comme ses Camarades et lui étoient trop tristes pour démontrer aucune Signe de Joie, s'abandonnant à la Mort d'après la mauvaise Traitement qu'ils avoient subits. Qu'au contraire, quand ils entendoient le Matin du Jour du Massacre, le Bruit des Canons et des Fusils, ils s'entre disoient tout doucement que leur Destruction seroit la Consequence infaillible, en cas que les Troupes du Major perdroyent la Bataille ; que même, lors de cette Communication d'Idées, ils n'y avoient aucuns de leur Gardes, ou autres Gens, pour les ecouter. Que leurs Expressions à ce Sujet se passerent lors du Bruit des Canons et des Fusils, lequel étoit de grand Matin : Que leurs Meurtriers n'arriverent de Laitiffghur qu' environ les Onze Heures ; que deux Heures se passerent à leur contraindre de tirer Habits, Chapeaux, &c. Qu'au lieu de Meurtre ils furent conduits en Chemise, et qu'il étoit environ une Heure après Midi, quand cette Aste de Barbarité fut commise.

Alexander Hannay, Esq; Lieutenant Colonel in the Service of the Honourable United East India Company, maketh Oath, and saith, That in the Month of September last (1781) he commanded a Body of Troops, Horse and Foot, in the Service of the Nabob Vizier : That on the 10th of that Month, being encamped at Rygunge, near Fayzabad, employed in transporting the said Troops across the River Gogra, in order to act against the Insurgents to the Northward of that River, in the Evening he received Intimation from a Person living in the Zennana, that the Nabob Begum, Grandmother to the Nabob Vizier Asoph ul Dowla, had, through her Agents, prevailed upon the principal Jemmidar of Horse, to engage to detach himself from the said Deponent, and to abandon him ; and further warning the said Deponent to attend to his own personal Safety, as there was an Intention of detaining him at Fayzabad : That this Intimation was given to the Deponent in the Presence of Lieutenant Charles Middleton, to whom the Deponent did communicate it ; and that, during the whole Course of that Day (the 10th of September) he (the Deponent) had not been able to prevail on any of the Horsemen to cross the River—a Matter which he could not till then account for, but which served to impress him so strongly with a Belief of the Truth of the Information he had received, that he sent for the principal Jemmidar of Horse, circumstantially communicated the said Information to him, and, as forcibly as he was able, stated to him the Treachery, Disgrace, and Infamy, inseparable from so unmanly a Behaviour : That the said Jemmidar of Horse appeared much affected at the Conversation, and acknowledged that the Information was true in every Circumstance, except that of his having acceded to the Proposals that were made to him, which he declared he had rejected ; but said, they had also been made to the other Jemmidars of Horse by the Agents of both the Begums (the Nabob Vizier's Mother and Grandmother) ; and the Truth of this Assertion was afterwards affirmed to the said Deponent by Two of the said Jemmidars, and several of the inferior Officers and private Horsemen. The Deponent further declareth,

That the above-recited Conversation passed in his the Deponent's Tent, to the best of his Recollection and Memory, on the Night of the 10th of September, in the Presence of Lieutenant Charles Middleton; and that, as the said Lieutenant Charles Middleton, did not perfectly understand the Moorish Language, in which the Conversation was held, he the Deponent explained the Nature and Subject of it to him as soon as the Jemmidar left the Tent. The Deponent further declareth, That he is restrained from mentioning the Names of the Jemmidars alluded to, from an Apprehension that their Names becoming public, might operate to their Prejudice, if not Ruin; but that the Facts which he hath deposed are Truth.

EXTRACTS of Correspondence betwixt the Government of Calcutta and Captain Harper, on the Subject of Cheyt Sing's Succession to the Zemindary of Benares.

Extract of a Letter to the Select Committee of Fort William; dated Fayzabad, the 25th August 1770.

I AM this Moment come from the Vizier, who sent for me to acquaint me of the Death of Bulwand Sing, which happened the Night before last. His Excellency desires me to inform you, that he shall set out for Benares in a few Days, to take Measures for his own Advantage; but that he shall be happy to act in such a Manner as will prove most agreeable to you, and that he hopes you will write him instantly on the Subject. This, however, the Vizier seems determined on, not to allow Bulwand Sing's Son to hold the same Authority as his Father did, either in Country or Forces.

The Nabob has desired that the 19th Battalion may march with him, which shall accordingly be done; and I hope by being with him, to prevent any extraordinary Measures until your Orders shall arrive.

Extract of a Letter to the Select Committee; dated Fayzabad, the 27th August 1770.

Yesterday Allage Cawn set out for Benares, with about 800 Cavalry; the Vizier has sent him thither, to assure the Inhabitants that they need be under no Apprehensions in consequence of the Rajah's Death, and also to prevent the Family of Bulwand Sing from desponding too much. I have just received Advices that they are all gone to Lateefgur. The Nabob will not, I believe, leave this Place until he hears from Allage Cawn the Situation of Affairs in the City and at Lateefgur.

(Signed) Gabriel Harper.

Extract of a Letter to the Select Committee; dated Fayzabad, the 4th September 1770.

The Vizier Yesterday informed me, that he had received a Letter from Allage Cawn; who acquainted him that Bulwand Sing's Son had promised to present the Nabob with Ten Lacks of Rupees, if he would grant him the Sunnuds his Father held. His Excellency has promised to do it, provided he pays him double that Sum as a Naziranah, and encreases the Revenue Five Lacks per Annum.

" I have just received your Letter, enclosing one from the Vizier, and accompanied by your's to " the Committee, on the Subject of Bulwand Sing's Death: You will find I had before wrote his Ex" cellency how agreeable it would be to the English Sirdars, were he to allow the Succession to fall on " his Son. It is a Circumstance of the utmost political Import to the Company's Affairs, and I need " not urge your taking every Opportunity of recommending it to his Excellency, and win him over " to the Measure, if possible. No Price can be too great; and I think the young Man ought to use “ every Means of soothing his Jealousy and Avarice, without regard to Money. I now enclose a Letter to the Vizier, more earnest than the last, which you will second with all that can be urged on the Subject, but improper to be introduced in a Letter to him; and above all, endeavour to moderate any Measures he may possibly take, either disgraceful to the Rajah’s Son, or injurious to the Inhabitants of Benares.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Gabriel Harper to the Governor, dated Fayzabad, the 27th September 1770.

“ I have the Honour of your Letter of the 8th Instant, with the Letter to the Vizier, who, I have the Pleasure to acquaint you, is very well inclined to the young Rajah; and as it is agreeable to the English Sirdars to have him succeed his Father, his Excellency has desired me to march to Benares with the 19th Battalion of Sepoys, to be present at the Agreement betwixt his Agents and Cheyt Sing, and to prevent any Disturbances, as he cannot go thither himself, being confined by a Hurt on his Leg, which it will be necessary for him to be very careful of; he purposes meeting the General at Benares, but will go thither with a few People. His Demands on the Rajah’s Son are exorbitant; but as you advise that this young Man should not consider what Money he gives to secure the Succession, I shall enforce your Sentiments to him, and doubt not but this Business will be happily concluded.”

Extract of a Letter from the Select Committee, dated Fort William, the 25th September 1770, to Capt<sup>n</sup> Gabriel Harper.

“ The President has already communicated our Sentiments to the Vizier, in favour of Bulwand Sing’s Son. It has afforded us great Satisfaction to learn, that he will attend to our Recommendation to the Nomination of a Successor to the Zemindary of Benares, and we shall not fail to urge this Matter strongly to him. To this End we desire you will exert your utmost Endeavours, to prevail on the Vizier to confirm the Sunnuds to the Son of Bulwand Sing. The strong and inviolable Attachment which subsisted betwixt the Company and the Father, makes us most readily interpose our good Offices for the Son.”

Extract of a Letter to the Select Committee of Fort William; dated Camp at Benares, the 4th October 1770.

“ I had the Honour to address you from Fayzabad on the 22d September. I then acquainted you, that his Excellency had fixed his Departure for this Place the 1st Instant; but on his receiving the President’s Letter, advising him to grant the Succession of the Countries held by Bulwand Sing to his Son, being confined by a violent Hurt on his Leg, and judging that his Presence at Benares, and March through the Country, might be prejudicial to the Grain at this Time, he desired me to proceed with the 19th Battalion, and to be present at the Conferences betwixt his Agent and Cheyt Sing, relative to the Nezarana and Increase of Revenue. I immediately complied; and was fully convinced of the Propriety of my being present at the settling of the Succession, by the President’s Letter to me, which directed me to take every Opportunity of recommending the Measure to his Excellency, as it was of the utmost political Import to the Company’s Affairs, and that he thought the young Man ought not to consider the Price he paid to satisfy the Vizier’s Jealousy and Avarice. I was also convinced that an Agreement made betwixt Allage Cawn on the Nabob’s Part, and the Rajah’s Son, would be liable to Alterations, and might be revoked at Pleasure by the Vizier. This cannot now be the Case, as he will firmly abide by the Treaty of which I am to be a Witness. Cheyt Sing was so fully convinced of this, that he would not have settled the Terms at any Rate with Allage Cawn. He entered indeed into Negotiations with him, to preserve Appearances, and had once mentioned 10 Lacks as a Nizar, and an Increase of the Revenue 1 Lack per Annum. The Nabob demands 20 Lacks for the former, and an Increase of the Revenue 5 Lacks per Annum. A Medium will doubtless be determined on; and as it appears that no Delay ought to be admitted in this Affair, as the neighbouring Provinces are in such Commotion, I shall urge to the young Man the President’s Advice, and hope that the Agreement within Three or Four Days will be finally and happily concluded.

G. Harper.”

“ I had the Honour to address you on the 4th Instant, since which I have had Two Meetings with Cheyt Sing, and have strenuously advised him, according to the President’s Sentiments in his Letter to me, to secure to himself the Succession of his Father’s Country.

“ There has not been much bickering about the Terms, as I have endeavoured to prevent any harsh Lieutenant Colonel Harper's Evidence, on the Investiture, &c. of Cheyt Sing.

Lieutenant Colonel Gabriel Harper attending, was called in, and asked, Whether he was stationed at the Court of the Vizier Sujah Dowlah? he said, He was, with the Command of a Battalion of Sepoys.—Being asked, How long? he said, Near Six Years, from 1767 to 1774.—Being asked, Whether the Death of Bulwant Sing, the Rajah of Benares, happened during that Period? he said, It happened in August 1770.—Being asked, Whether he had any Instructions from the Council of Calcutta, relative to the Apointment of a Successor? he said, the Government of Calcutta, in their Letters to him, directed, that he should recommend to Sujah Dowlah to appoint Cheyt Sing, the declared Successor of his Father Bulwant Sing, to succeed to his Zemindary.—Being asked, Whether he was employed by the Vizier Sujah Dowlah, in settling the Terms of the Succession of Cheyt Sing to the Rajahship of Benares? he said, He was; and for that Purpose marched the 19th Battalion of Sepoys, which he commanded.—Being asked, Whether any Minister of the Vizier acted in Conjunction with him? he said, There was a Person on the Part of the Vizier, Elijah Khan, who at that Time engaged his Confidence.—Being asked, Whether Rajah Cheyt Sing accepted of the Sunnuds, and the Terms proposed by the Vizier, through him and his Minister? he said, There were several Conferences, but he finally accepted the Terms agreed to by us on the Part of the Vizier.—Being asked, Who performed the Ceremony of investing Cheyt Sing with the Grant of the Zemindary? he said, The Ceremony of putting on the Khelaut, or honorary Drefs, was performed by the Nabob's Officers, whose Duty it was; but the Sunnud was presented to him by him (the Witness).—Being asked, in what Manner, he said, The Ceremony was public; and the 19th Battalion of Sepoys, the Troops of the Vizier, who were with his Minister, and the Troops of Cheyt Sing, were all drawn up; and after the Ceremony of the Investiture was performed, he (the Witness) directed a Salute to be fired by the Arrillery of the 19th Battalion, on the Occasion.—Being asked, Whether the Sunnuds or Grants were the same as that by which Bulwant Sing enjoyed his Zemindary? he said, They were not the same; the Sunnud that Bulwant Sing held did not, he believes, extend beyond his own Life; that to Cheyt Sing was granted to him and his Heirs; there was an Encrease of Revenue to be paid by Cheyt Sing to the Vizier, he believes of Two Lacks and an Half of Rupees per Annum.—Being asked, When Cheyt Sing was invested with the Authority of the Zemindary, how this Appointment was received by the Inhabitants of Benares, and its dependant Provinces? he said, It was received by People in general with very great Satisfaction, particularly by those who were attached to the Family of Bulwant Sing, under whose Government they had lived in great Peace and Tranquillity.—Being asked, Whether Bulwant Sing was supposed to have left great Treasures behind him? he said, From the flourishing State of the Country under his Government, and Bulwant Sing being a Man of a parsimonious Disposition, it was supposed that his Treasury at his Death was very rich.—Being asked, Who succeeded to his Treasury? he said, Cheyt Sing.—Being asked, In what State of Cultivation the Province of Benares and its Dependencies continued under the Government of Cheyt Sing? he said, They continued to be in a very flourishing State, such as they were in the Life-time of his Father; for Cheyt Sing continued in Office most of those Men who had been in the Confidence of his Father, and had been employed by him.—Being asked, Whether Cheyt Sing was a Man of an expensive Disposition? he said, At the Time of his succeeding to the Government, he was a very young Man, and more fond of Shew and Expence than his Father.—Being asked, What Opinion Cheyt Sing entertained of the Solicitation of the Council of Calcutta in his Behalf? he said, He always spoke to him of it with the greatest Gratitude, and esteemed himself as principally indebted to the Interposition of the English Government, for so readily succeeding to the Possessions of his Father.—Being asked, at what Period the Grant of the Sunnud to Cheyt Sing was? he said, The Ceremony of Investiture was on the 8th of October 1770.—Being asked, If he knew, or ever heard, that a Sunnud with more ample Powers than that of 1770, was obtained for Cheyt Sing in 1773, he said, He never did hear of any; but as a full Answer to this Question, he begged Leave to refer to the Sunnud, which was executed in his Presence, with the Sunnud that was granted in 1773.—Being asked, Whether he knows the City of Benares? he said, Yes.—Being asked, Whether it is very large and populous? he said, It is very large and populous.—Being asked, Whether it was a Place of great Resort? he said, It was.—Being asked, Whether it was held sacred in the Hindoo Religion? he said, It was held very sacred.—Being asked, Whether it was a Place of great Disorder, Confusion, and Irregularity, beyond other great Towns in India? he said, As little as in any Place in India; but in the neighbouring Countries, particularly in the District of Budgapore, there were many People whose constant Livelihood was by Theft.—Being asked, Whether there was no Magistrate or Officer to superintend the Police of the City of Benares? he said, He believes the Police of that Place was better regulated than almost any other City in Sujah Dowlah's Country.—Being asked, Whether Property was held to be as secure in that Town as in any other Part of India? he said, He believes more so.—Being asked, Whether many Mussulmen did reside in that Town? he said, The Mahommedans bore a very small Proportion to the Hindoos.—Being asked, Whether the

Vizier did ever attempt to give them a Mahommedan Magistrate? he said, He believes not; he does not recollect any such Thing.—Being asked, If he thinks that a Mahommedan Magistrate would be pleasing to the Inhabitants? he said, Surely not.—Being asked, In what Light Sujah Dowlah considered the Solicitation of the Governor and Council of Calcutta, to confer on Cheyt Sing the Sunnuds for the Zemindary of Benares? he said, Knowing the Connection and Friendship that subsisted between Bulwant Sing and the English Government, he concluded it was extended to the Son; and wishing to live on Terms of Friendship and Amity, he granted the Sunnuds to Cheyt Sing with a very good Grace.—Being asked, Whether he complained of it as an Infringement upon his Rights, or a Degradation of his Authority? he said, He certainly did not, or he never would have requested him (the Witness) to take a Part in the Negotiation with Cheyt Sing, for his Succession to the Zemindary.—Being asked, Whether it was understood by the Tenor of the Treaty in 1770, that Rajah Cheyt Sing was liable to be removed from his Zemindary at the Pleasure of the English Government at Calcutta? he said, No, certainly not; he was Zemindar under the Government of Sujah Dowlah, and amenable to him only.—Being asked, Whether he was removable at the Vizier's Pleasure? he said, He conceives not, unless he had entered into Practices inimical to the Nabob's Government, and then he would be treated as any Government would treat a Delinquent.—Being asked, Whether he paid his Revenues punctually to the Vizier? he said, He has always understood, that it was a certain Resource to the Vizier, and that his stated Payments were never held back a single Day.—Being asked, Whether that Punctuality was usual in Payments from the Zemindars? he said, Not very usual.—Being asked, In what Light the Rajah of Benares was considered at the Court of the Nabob of Oude? he said, The Rajah of Benares was considered as a Person of great Respect and Consequence, and as a Person the most considerable of all his Dependants.—Being asked, Whether it was usual for him to make any extraordinary Demands, beyond the Rent, upon the Rajah of Benares? he said, During the Time he was in that Country, he never knew an Instance of it.—Being asked, If the Rajah of Benares had made any Remonstrances to him upon Grievances, real or supposed, whether it was not probable that he would never have received any Answer? he said, There certainly would have been an Answer given; for there was a Vackeel from the Rajah of Benares constantly resident about the Person of the Vizier, and through him all Letters and Business was transacted, and all Answers sent; and at the Time that he resided with the Vizier, there was a great Dispatch of all public Business.

And being asked, Whether he has ever had an Opportunity of knowing the late Vizier Sujah Dowlah's Opinion of the Constitution of the Council General of Calcutta? he said, Yes, he has frequently conversed with him upon that Subject.—Being asked, Whether he did understand the Nature of that Constitution, and their Dependence upon the Orders of the Company, and the Mode of Succession, in case of a Vacancy, to the Government? he said, From the Explanations he has given him, and from other Enquiries, he perfectly understood it; he admired very much the Institution of the Government which had the Management of so extensive a Country, and that was not subject to any Revolutions by the Death or Removal of any of its Members; Events that generally produced such extraordinary Consequences amongst the Princes of India, and even Persons of high Authority.—Being asked, Whether, from the Time that he delivered the Sunnuds of Zemindary to Bulwant Sing in 1770, to the Year 1773, when he quitted his Station with the Vizier, he remembers Cheyt Sing ever to have paid his Respects in Person to the Vizier? he said, He never did, nor ever could be prevailed on to do it.—Being asked, Why he was so averse to visiting his Superior? he said, His Father Bulwant Sing, fearful of Treachery, or of being compelled to act contrary to his Opinion, had never ventured his Person in the Presence of Sujah Dowlah, except in the Company of Lord Clive, and other English Chiefs; and his Son, keeping in his Confidence the same Ministers who had much Influence with his Father, kept alive the same Prejudices and Fears; and he conceives this to be the Reason why he never would attend at the Court of Sujah Dowlah.—Being asked, Whether Bulwant Sing or Cheyt Sing did make any Scruple of visiting the Governor of Calcutta or the Commander in Chief, whenever they came to Benares? he said, They were always ready to pay their respectful Attendance on them, and without any other than the usual Guards which constantly waited on them.—Being asked, Whether he was ever employed on public Business with the Rohilla Chiefs? he said, He was.—Being asked, Whether they ever came into the Presence of Sujah Dowlah? he said, They did.—Being asked, Whether there was any Guarantee of the English given on that Occasion? he said, There was by Sir Robert Barker, the General and Commander in Chief of the Army; and he attended them from their own to the British Camp. The Conferences with Sujah Dowlah and the Rohilla Chiefs were held at the Head Quarters of the British General.—Being asked, Whether those Chiefs would have ventured to meet Sujah Dowlah without such a Guarantee? he said, He is certain they would not: They had no Confidence in him; and declared to him (the Witness) that without the Guarantee of the British Government they would not trust themselves in his Power.

Being asked, When the Inferior lays his Turband in the Lap of a Superior, what is understood to be denoted by that Action? he said, It is an Act of great Humiliation, and implies a Reliance on the Protection of the Person, for his Person, Honour, and Fortune.

Being asked, Whether Bulwant Sing presided over the Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction of his Provinces? he said, He certainly did: He had the Power of Life and Death throughout his whole Dominions.

Being

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup> 4, 5.

Being asked, Whether the Forts of Bidjegur and Luttfispore existed in Bulwant Sing's Government? he said, Yes, and long before his Government: Upon any Alarm or Apprehension of Danger, the Rajah constantly sent his Treasure and valuable Effects to those Fortresses, as Places of Security.

Being asked, Whether Benares is a wealthy City? he said, Yes, it is very rich, from the Residence of many capital Merchants and monied Men, whose Dealings, he believes, extend to every Part of India.

Being asked, If a Governor General and a Deputation of the Council General, being at Benares, should forbid the Rajah from visiting him or them, what Effect does he conceive would such an Order have on the Minds of the Inhabitants of that City? he said, Such a Prohibition would be considered as an avowed Mark of Displeasure and of Indignity to the Rajah; and if this continued for any Time, they would conceive a Revolution of the Government was intended.—Being asked, What he conceives would be the Opinion of the Inhabitants when they saw the Rajah put under an Arrest, and a Guard placed over him? he said, From their Attachment to his Person and Government, he conceives that the unfortunate Consequences which immediately followed his Arrest might have been expected from such Treatment.

EXTRACT of Bengal Secret Consultations, 20th July 1780.

To Major Jacob Camac.

Sir,
HAVING appointed you to the Command of a Detachment ordered to be formed of Four Battalions of Sepoys, Three of which are to be furnished from the Army stationed at Cawnpore, and the Fourth the Battalion of Light Infantry commanded by Captain James Browne, we direct you to proceed to Cawnpore, or to the Station of that Detachment, wherever it may be, and to conduct it without Loss of Time into the Dominions of the Rana of Gohed, there to relieve the Corps now under the Command of Captain Popham in that Quarter.

The Ranna of Gohed having in virtue of a Treaty lately concluded between him and this Government, required the Aid of a Military Force on the Part of this Government, for the Defence of his Country against the Marattas who had invaded it, Captain Popham was appointed to this Service, and to this you now succeed: We therefore direct that you comply with such Requisitions as shall be made to you by the Ranna for this, and for such other Conditions as he is entitled to demand by the Treaty, and shall be practicable with the Force under your Command.

Whenever the Ranna shall have no further Service for the Detachment, and shall dismiss it in the Manner prescribed by the Treaty, and no Occasion shall present itself for the Employment of the Detachment in promoting the general Success of the War in which we are engaged with the Maratta State, you are forthwith to return with it into the Dominions of the Nabob of Oude, and there wait for further Orders. And if, before your March into Gohed, you shall receive an Intimation from him in Writing, that he shall not require the Assistance of your Detachment, you will in like Manner suspend your March, and wait for further Orders.

But as the First Design of this Government, in the Alliance lately formed with the Ranna of Gohed, was to distress the Maratta State by a Diminution of their Power, Revenue, and Influence; and, by uniting with other Powers in Enmity with them, to divert and weaken their Operations; and as the Maratta Dominions, which lie contiguous to Gohed, appertain to Mahdajee Scindia and Tuccoojee Holcar, the Two principal Rulers of that State, and the Leaders of the Army employed to oppose General Goddard, we authorize and instruct you, in case you shall judge it practicable and expedient, to carry the War immediately into that Quarter, requiring from the Ranna the Proportion of Cavalry stipulated by the Treaty to be furnished by him for such a Service; or, in case of his Inability, whether from the Season of the Year, or from whatever other Cause, to fulfil this Condition in its complete Extent, to require and accept from him such other Aid, in furnishing Provisions, and in forming Magazines of Grain, and other Means of Subsistence and Communication, as you shall judge equivalent to it.

For your Guidance in maintaining the Relation of your Command to the Ranna of Gohed, we herewith deliver you a Copy of the Treaty executed with him, and we require and enjoin you to conform to it with the most scrupulous and literal Exactness.

If any Case shall occur for which we have not provided by these Instructions, and which shall not be contrary to them, we empower you to act therein according to your own Judgment; in all others, these Instructions are positive, and must be implicitly obeyed.

The

The Commissary General having drawn out an Establishment for your Detachment, which meets with our Approbation, we transmit it to you; desiring at the same Time, that you do not, on any Account, suffer the smallest Alteration or Deviation to be made in it.

EXTRACT of Bengal Secret Consultations, the 3d October 1780.

THE Commander in Chief delivers in the following Minute:

Sir Eyre Coote—The great Loss of Troops upon the Coast, of which we have daily Confirmation, and the dispirited Situation to which those remaining are reduced, will render the small Number now going by Sea very inadequate to the Service expected, unless supported by a Detachment of Sepoys to march by Land into the Circars, the Defence of which must now be extremely weakened by the Necessity there must have been of drawing the Troops stationed for their Defence towards the Presidency; I therefore propose that Six or Eight Battalions of Sepoys, with their Guns, and One Company of Artillery, be ordered to be in Readiness to march through the Cuttack Road towards Madras, and the Order for their March to depend upon the Hopes we have given us that the Maratta Army, now lying there, will either join us, or return; as without this, or a Peace concluded with the Marattas, I never can advise any Detachment of Troops marching from hence to the Coast.

(Signed) Eyre Coote.

Agreed to the Proposition made by the Commander in Chief.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, the 26th October 1780.

The Governor General—In Consultation the 3d October last, it was recommended by the Commander in Chief, and resolved, That 6 or 8 Battalions of Sepoys, with their Guns, and One Company of Artillery, be ordered to be in Readiness to March through the Cuttack Road towards Madras; the Order for their March being to depend on the Hopes given us, that the Maratta Army, now lying there, will either join us or return. To form a Detachment of this Strength will require many preparatory Arrangements, which can hardly be completed in less Time than a Month, or perhaps Six Weeks, from its first Formation. The fair Season is now begun, and the Answers from the Government of Berar to our late Dispatches, must be expected much within the Course of the ensuing Month; if these are favourable, the Detachment ought not to lose an Instant after their Arrival, in commencing its March. I myself have every Reason to believe that their Answer will be as favourable as we can wish. These Reasons I shall now communicate to the Board; in the mean Time I move, that Orders be immediately issued for forming the Detachment, and that it do consist of One Company of Artillery, and Six Battalions of Sepoys with their Guns. I take the Liberty to recommend, that Lieut. Colonel Pearse be appointed to the Command of this Detachment, and Major Edmonstone to be the Second in Command. The first of these Recommendations I can venture to assure the Board will be agreeable to the Commander in Chief, and that it was his Intention to have offered it himself. The second proceeds solely from my Opinion of the Qualifications of Major Edmonstone, whom I know only as an Officer, neither is he acquainted with my present Wishes upon this Subject.

If the Board shall approve of those Propositions, I further beg Leave to suggest the Expediency of replacing the Number which will be thus taken from our Native Infantry, by such Means as shall be judged the most effectual and least burthensome in their Expence; that which has occurred to me, and which I submit to the Consideration of the Board, is, to augment all the Battalions which remain, by an equal Number of Rank and File distributed amongst them, to be hereafter drafted, and formed into regular Battalions of the established Strength, when they shall be required for actual Service. This Expedient, if the Board approves it, may be referred to the Provincial Commander in Chief, and his Opinion upon it desired, or in place of it, any other which he may judge more suitable to the End proposed.

The Governor General lays before the Board, for their Perusal, a Translation of a Letter from Maha Raja Moodajee Boosla, received on the 20th Instant, and of a Letter from Dewangur Pundit, the Maha Raja's Dewan, to Beneram Pundit, referred to in it.

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup> 6, 7.

Mr. Wheler—I agree to the forming of the Detachment now proposed by the Governor General, in consequence of the Resolution of the 3d Instant, in order that it may be in Readiness to act as we may judge proper, after receiving the Advices that are expected from the Government of Berar. I accede to the Wishes of the Commander in Chief in the Appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Pearse to the Command of this Detachment, and to the Governor General's Recommendation of Major Edmonstone to the Second in Command; I also agree to refer to the Provincial Commander in Chief, the Expedient proposed by the Governor General, respecting the Number of Sepoys which will be taken from the present Strength of our Military Establishment by this Measure.

Mr. Francis—Mr. Wheler has so exactly expressed what I meant to say, that I shall content myself with subscribing to the same Answer to the Governor General's Motion.

Agreed, That Orders be immediately issued for forming a Detachment to proceed over Land towards Madras; that the same do consist of One Company of Artillery, and Six Battalions of Sepoys with their Guns; and that Brigadier General Stibbert be directed to carry this Resolution into Execution.

Agreed, That Lieutenant Colonel Pearse be appointed to the Command of the Detachment, and Major Edmonstone to be Second in Command of it.

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup> 7.

EXTRACT of Bengal Secret Consultations, 12th June 1775.

THE Governor General lays before the Board the following Minute and Observations for their Consideration.

The Sovereignty of the Zemindary of Benares and its Dependencies having been ceded in Perpetuity to the Honourable Company, by the Fifth Article of the Treaty lately formed with the Nabob Assof ô Dowla; it becomes immediately necessary to determine, in what Manner this Right shall be exercised, and the regular Payment of the Revenue due from the Rajah secured.

The Governor General moves, That this Subject be taken into the Consideration of the Board; and submits to their Correction and Approval, the following Plan of Settlement with Rajah Cheyt Sing, to be observed until the Pleasure of the Company respecting it shall be known; declaring his Readiness to acquiesce in any other which may be proposed, on Terms by which more effectual Provision may be made for the Interest of the Company, without an Encroachment on the just Rights of the Rajah, or the Engagements actually subsisting with him.

1. That Rajah Cheyt Sing shall pay into the Treasury of the Honourable Company at Patna, in equal Monthly Payments, the Yearly Revenue of 22,48,449 Senewaut R<sup>s</sup>; being the Sum settled with the late Nabob Shuja Dowla, and confirmed by an Agreement executed by the said Nabob, in Presence of the President of the late Council of Fort William, at Benares, under Date the 6th of September 1773.

2. That the Rajah shall be empowered to exercise a complete and uncontrolled Authority over his Zemindary, under the acknowledged Sovereignty of the Honourable Company, in the Government of the Country dependant on him, in the Collection of the Revenues, and in the Administration of Justice.

3. That Sunnuds be granted to the Rajah, specially conferring upon him the Power of appointing Officers to the Charge of the Cutwally, and the Mint of Benares; the latter to be subject to such Orders and Regulations as the Governor General and Council shall at any Time think it proper to Decree.

4. That in return for these Concessions, and for the Performance of his Duty as a Vassal to the Company, the Rajah shall engage to maintain in constant Pay, and ready at all Times for immediate Service, a Body of Two thousand Horse, on such a fixed Establishment as shall be prescribed by the Governor General and Council; and that whenever the Service of this Corps shall be required by the Governor General and Council, it shall be consigned to the Command of such Officer or Officers as they shall appoint, and be allowed from the Company an additional Pay or Gratuity of Fifteen Rupees per Month for each Private Man, and in Proportion for the Officers of the said Corps, during the Time of such Service.

5. That while the Rajah shall continue faithful to these Engagements, and punctual in his Payments, and shall pay due Obedience to the Authority of this Government, no more Demands shall be made upon him by the Honourable Company, of any Kind; or on any Pretence whatsoever shall any Person be allowed to interfere with his Authority, or to disturb the Peace of his Country.

1. There

1. There is no Question that the Rajah can well afford to pay this Proportion of the Rents of his Zemindary, which consists of as rich and well-cultivated a Territory, as any District perhaps of the same Extent in India. The Company have a clear and indisputable Right to this Sum; nor is it likely that he will either contest it, or desire any Remission of it; besides, the other Conditions proposed in this Plan will virtually prove both an Augmentation of his Means, and a Diminution of his real Payments to Government, as will be shewn in the Remarks on the last Article.

It is proposed to receive the Payment of his Rents at Patna, because that is the nearest Provincial Station, and because it would not frustrate the Intention of rendering the Rajah independent; if a Resident was appointed to receive the Money, as it became due, at Benares, such a Resident would unavoidably acquire an Influence over the Rajah and over his Country, which would in Effect render him the Master of both. This Consequence might not perhaps be brought completely to pass without a Struggle, and many Appeals to the Council, which, in a Government constituted like this, cannot fail to terminate against the Rajah, and, by the Construction to which his Opposition to the Agent would be liable, might eventually draw on him severe Restrictions, and end in reducing him to the mean and deprived State of a mere Zemindar.

2. The Advantages which the Rajah will receive from these Concessions, exclusive of the Gratifications which his Pride would obtain from the Possession of a State of Power and Dignity unknown to any of his Ancestors, and the Security of his Person and Possessions from the Company's Protection, may be rated equal to many Lacks of Rupees, which though saved to him, are no Loss to the Government on which he depends; being all Articles of invisible Expence in Fees to the Ministers and Officers of the Nabob, in the Charges of a double Establishment of Vackeels to both Governments, in Presents and Charges of Accommodation to the Nabob during his Residence at any Place within the Boundaries of his Zemindary, in the Frauds, Embezzlements, and Oppressions exercised in the Mint and Cutwally; besides the allowed Profits of those Officers, and the Advantages which every Man in occasional Power, or in the Credit of it, might make of the Rajah's known Weakness, and the Dread he stood in, both of the Displeasure of the Nabob, and the Ill-will of Individuals among the English, who were all considered, either in their present Stations or Connections, or the Right of Succession, as Members of the State of Bengal. It would be scarce possible to enumerate all the Inconveniencies to which the Rajah was liable in his former Situation, or to estimate the precise Effect which they produced on his Revenue, and on the gross Amount of his Expences; but it may be easily conceived that both were enormous, and of a Nature the most likely to lessen the Profits of Government, instead of adding to them.

3. These Offices have been considered as Marks of Sovereignty, at least this has served for the Pretext to withhold them from the Possession of the Rajah, to whom they have been a heavy Grievance; the Cutwally especially, which being held in Farm, and exercised under the Authority of a Prince who had no Interest in the Welfare or Ease of the People, has always been represented, as in its obvious Tendency it could scarce fail to prove, a Source of the worst Corruption and Oppression, from which there was no Appeal. If there be any Weight in the Plea for referring these Prerogations to the Company, the Grant of them to the Rajah himself by special Sunnuds, will be a sufficient Expression of their Sovereignty, although the solemn Renunciation of it already made by the Nabob of Oude, is the best and most valid Charter under which it can be claimed, and while they have Three Brigades and a full Treasury to assist it, there is no Fear that their Right to it will be opposed by Reasonings drawn from implied Symbols of Dominion.

Some Regulations will be immediately necessary for the Mint, and others may occasionally become so. No Alterations should be made in the Weight or Alloy of the Coin to be debased, and the Rajah himself hold his Right to the Mint, on Condition of his faithful Observance of these Rules.

By the Custom of Benares, all Rupees struck in the Mint are called Siccas, and pass as the current Coin of the Country for One Year, after which they are charged with a Batta, varying from 2 to 3½ per Cent. according to their Dates, and pass under the Denomination of Lunwauts or Gowher Shakees. It is in these Species that the Rents are payable to Government, and while they continue of equal and proper Qualities, they may be introduced into Circulation in the Province of Bahar, without Loss to the Company, and with an Advantage to the Collections. But the greatest Care ought therefore to be taken that the Rupees be not debased; for if they are, they will occasion a double Loss on the Company, by the immediate Discount on them in the Treasury, and by a false Currency introduced into the Revenue.

4. I rather propose this for Consideration than recommend it. Such a Body of well-disciplined and well-appointed Cavalry will give Credit to the Rajah, and may prove serviceable to this Government, though the Occasions will rarely happen in which we shall want it. The additional Pay will make them our own when we do want them, and will be no great Expence.

5. The voluntary Restraint laid by the Government on its own Actions, will afford the Rajah the greatest Confidence, and naturally inspire him with Sentiments of Fidelity and Attachment, both from the Principles of Gratitude and Self-Interest. Without some such Appearance, he will expect from every Change of Government, additional Demands to be made upon him, and will of course descend to all the Arts of Intrigue and Concealment practised by other dependant Rajahs, which will keep him indigent and weak, and eventually prove hurtful to the Company. By proper Encouragement and Protection he may prove a profitable Dependant, an useful Barrier, and even a powerful Ally to the Company; but he will be neither, if the Conditions of his Connection with the Company are left open to future Variations.

Ordered, That these Minutes be circulated to the Members of the Board, for their more attentive Perusal and Deliberation.

Extract Bengal Secret Consultations, 5th July 1775.

Re-considered the Governor General's Minute and Plan, proposed for a Settlement with Rajah Cheyt Sing, for the Countries lately ceded by the Nabob; which Minute, &c. are recorded in Consultation, the 12th of June.

Read the first Article of the proposed Plan.

The Governor General.—When I proposed the Sum of 22,48,449 Rupees, as the Sum to be fixed for the Rajah's Annual Payments, I meant the Sum which the Rajah actually paid to the late Vizier, being the Amount of the Agreement made with the Vizier, on the Accession of this Rajah to the Zemindary of Benares, and confirmed by the Vizier in my Presence; but I have since received from the Vackeel sundry Accounts, by which it appears, that the Sum annually paid, was 23,72,656. 12.

Ordered, That the Accounts be entered after the Consultation.

The Vackeel of Rajah Cheyt Sing attending the Board, in consequence of the Desire of the Governor General to him, he is called in, and the following Questions put to him:

Question. In what Manner were the Payments of the Revenue made to the late Nabob, and how was the Money remitted to him?

Answer. A Kistbundee was formed at the Commencement of every Year, for the Payment of the Revenue, by monthly Kists or Instalments, into the Houses of Cushman Mull and Lalla Bucharaje, two principal Shroffs at Benares, who were appointed the Nabob's Receivers; they paid this Money to the Nabob, partly by Tuncaws or Assignments, and partly by Remittances in Specie, through the Nabob's Agents, who were deputed to Benares for that Purpose.

Question. Whose was the Expence of the Shroffage, and the Charges of the Receivers?

Answer. The Nabob's.

Question. Do you know whether it would be agreeable to the Rajah, or will you undertake, on his Behalf, to answer for his Consent, to pay into the Company's Treasury at Calcutta, without Deduction, and punctually, in equal monthly Payments, the same annual Sum which has been hitherto paid to the late Nabob Vizier, and to the present Nabob Asoph ul Dowlah?

Answer. No; the Rajah could not agree to it; the Risk, the Expence, and the Length of the Way, are insuperable Obstacles.

Question. Do you know if the Rajah would consent to pay his Rent at Patna?

Answer. There are two Objections; the Length of the Way, which would occasion a great Expence; and the Risk.

Question. What Authority do you hold from the Rajah, and under what Commission do you act?

Answer. I have no other Authority than the Letter which I have delivered to you from my Master.

The Vackeel now takes his Leave, and withdraws.

Read again the First Article of the Governor General's Plan, and his Observations on it.

Mr. Francis—I agree to the Sum, upon the Supposition that it is equal to the Whole of what was paid by the Rajah to the late Nabob; but I think it ought to be paid into the Company's Treasury at Calcutta, at the Rajah's Risk and Expence.

Mr. Barwell—I agree to the Question; but prefer Calcutta, and, if the Rajah cannot be persuaded to make the Payments there, the Company might subscribe to the Difference of Exchange and Remittance.

Colonel Monson—I agree to the Question; but think the Rajah should be asked to make his Payment at Calcutta.

General Clavering is of the same Opinion.

The Governor General—I agree with the Board, that it would be more expedient; but as it will be attended with great Expence, the Rajah will no Doubt require an Allowance for the Difference. It may be proposed to him.

Agreed to the first Article of the Plan; but that it be proposed to the Rajah, to pay his Tribute at Calcutta, instead of Patna.

Read the Second Article of the Plan.

Mr. Francis approves of this Article, reserving only our Claim to a reasonable Compensation for the Surrender of the Cutwally and Management of the Mint to him; if the latter should be left entirely to him.

Mr. Barwell is of Mr. Francis's Opinion.

A P P E N D I X, N<sup>o</sup> 7.

Colonel Monson—No Concession should be made to the Rajah; he should remain exactly in the same State of Dependence and Subordination to the Company, as he was in to the Nabob.

General Clavering—I am of Opinion, that the Rajah should hold his Zemindary of the Company on the same Footing precisely that he held it of the late Nabob; and that if the Administration of Justice be given to him, a suitable Equivalent may be obtained, equal to the Advantages that accrue to him from it.

The Governor General observes, that his Opinion is included in the Question.

Agreed to the Second Article of the Plan; but that a Compensation be demanded of the Rajah for the Cutwally.

Read the Third Article of the Plan.

Mr. Francis—The Grant of Sunnuds for the Cutwally should be in consequence of a pecuniary Compensation to be agreed upon between us and the Rajah. If it be thought fit to leave him in Possession of the Mint, it may be necessary that the Company should appoint a Mint Master, to take Care that the Standard of the Rupees to be coined there shall not be altered, or that some other sufficient Precaution be taken for that Purpose: He should also, I think, pay some Compensation for so great a Privilege as that of a Mint.

Mr. Barwell—I think the Rajah should be made the Officer of this Government, to exercise the Sovereignty in the Two Instances noticed in this Article, in Preference to any other Person; he should pay to the Government the Sum at which the Cutwally and Mint were leased for this last Year, or upon a Medium for these Three last Years, by the Nabob Vizier. It should be particularly specified in the Article for the Mint, the Standard at which the Coin is to be kept up; and that in consequence of any Abuse proved upon the Officers intrusted with the Management, it shall be deemed a Breach of this Article, and render it void.

Colonel Monson—Sunnuds may be granted to the Rajah, for appointing Officers to the Cutwally and Mint, on his paying an annual Compensation for them. The Rajah to be responsible that the Coin be not debased; if it should, his Right to the Zemindary to be forfeited, and to be disposed of as the Company shall think proper.

General Clavering—I have no Objection to giving the Cutwally both of Benares and Juanpore to the Rajah, upon his making a just Compensation for all the Advantages which he will receive from it; and I am of the same Opinion with regard to the Mint, provided it should be thought proper to establish it at Benares; but in that Case there should be either an Officer from this Government to superintend it, or the Rajah should be subject to a very severe Penalty, if the Superintendancy of it is left with him, and that he should debase the Coin; but I think it is impossible to determine these Points till we know the Rajah's Sentiments upon them.

The Governor General's Opinion is comprehended in the Question.

Agreed to the Terms of the Third Article, on the Rajah's paying an annual Compensation to the Company for the Cutwally and the Mint, and obliging himself to coin Money of the precise Standard only, which shall be fixed by the Board:

Read the Fourth Article.

Mr. Francis—I object to our compelling the Rajah to keep up an extraordinary Force for our Service, considering it in Effect as an Encrease of the Tribute, which is contrary to the Principles which have guided my Judgment from the First Onset of this Negotiation; I have no Objection however to its being made an Article of Agreement with him, that he shall either put the Troops which he now keeps upon a better Footing in point of Discipline, or disband them, and raise an equal Number in their Stead. What will be the best Method of making such Troops useful, or whether Cavalry should be preferred to Infantry, are military Points, of which I do not pretend to judge. I understand that there are local Objections to the Utility of Cavalry in the Rajah's Country.

Mr. Barwell—I am of Opinion that the Rajah should keep up such a Body of Forces; but entertain the same Sentiments with Mr. Francis respecting its being an Enhancement of his Tribute, and of any Degree of Compulsion to induce him to it.

Colonel Monson—I am of Opinion the Company should receive the Rajah's Assistance on the same Terms he gave it to the Vizier or the present Nabob. Cavalry, I understand, is an improper Force for this Country; which is bounded on the North by the Gogra; on the South by the Mountains; on the West by Asoph ul Dowla's Territories; and on the East by Bahar. The Extent Westward, from North to South, is not above Fifty or Sixty Cofs, which is watered by Four Rivers; the Gogra; the Gumpy; the Saye; and the Ganges, intersected by many very considerable Nullas, and otherwise strengthened by Woods, Inclosures, and Villages. That Part to the West of the Frontier, from the Gumpy to the Ganges, is almost an entire Jungle inhabited by Robbers. There is no Ground in the Country, or its Environs, North, West, and South, for some Distance, free from Mountains, Nullas, Topes, Brushwood or Jungle, Inclosures, and Villages; I therefore think Infantry a more proper Force for this Country; but if the Rajah should be required to keep Cavalry more for the Defence of these Provinces than his own, they should be officered and disciplined in the European Manner.

General Clavering—I understand that the Rajah does keep up a large Body of Cavalry; and that Five hundred of these, which assisted, under the Command of the Captain of the Governor's Guards, in the Conquest of the Rohilla Country, were absolutely useless by their total Want of Discipline when

He said, The Reason assigned was, that he was not actually present at the Surrender of the Town.—Being asked, Whether he does not understand, that a Committee of Officers, of their own Authority, made a Division of the Spoil ? he said, That a Division was made, is certain ; but whether of their own Authority, thority, or by the Directions of Major Popham, their Commanding Officer, he cannot say.—Being asked, Whether it was the Sense of the Officers upon that Service, that the Governor General had given them any Assurances, that they should divide whatever was taken? he said, He never consulted any of them on the Subject, his Time with them was so short before he marched against Luttispore; and after rejoining the Detachment, his Health obliged him to quit it immediately.

Being asked, If Rajah Cheyt Sing had been really disposed to rebel against the British Government, whether he does not think one Brigade of the British Army would have been fully adequate for his Reduction? he said, He thinks it was.—Being asked, Who were the Powers with which the Report said the Confederacy with Cheyt Sing was formed? he said, The Marattas.—Being asked, Whether there were any Circumstances in the Company's Situation at that Time to consider those Reports probable? he said, Not that he knew of; Reports were circulated one Half Hour, and contradicted the next; and no one can trace the Origin.—Being asked, Whether the Company was at War with the Marattas, or any Part of their State, at that Time? he said, They were.—Being asked, Whether our Military Affairs at that Time were in a very flourishing State on the Coast of Coromandel? he said, He thinks not.—Being asked, If the Marattas had been able to persuade Cheyt Sing to enter into a Confederacy, whether it would have favoured any Irruption they might have intended into the Provinces of Bengal? he said, He thinks it would.—Being asked, Whether he found the Minds of the principal native Inhabitants, in those Parts where he resided, favourably disposed towards the British Influence in India? he said, Yes.—Being asked, Whether he did, before or about the Time alluded to in the former Part of his Evidence, hear of any Reports of a general Confederacy among the principal Powers in Hindostan, for the Purpose of expelling the British from that Empire? he said, He did not.—Being asked, Whether, after the Troubles were quieted in Benares, the Inhabitants were pleased with the Change of Government? he said, His Time was so short, and his Health was so bad, that he had no Conversation with the People of the Country, sufficient to enable him to form any Opinion on the Subject:

MINUTE of the Board, entered in the Consultations of 14 January 1782.

Extract Secret
Consultations,
24th Jan. 1782.

THE Board having already passed their Opinion, in Terms of the fullest Approbation, upon the Governor General's Conduct and Management in the Suppression of the Rebellion of Cheit Sing, and the Regulation of the Province and City of Benares; they think it unnecessary to repeat their Opinion of those Measures.

They cannot at the same Time but remark, that the Explanations which the Governor General has given in some Parts of his Proceedings, during his first Discussions with Cheit Sing, and subsequent to the Convulsion, are rather an open Avowal of the Motives that actuated his Mind, than the guarded Representations of a public Officer, stating to his Employers the Measures which an extraordinary Situation influenced, dictated, and justified.

To a liberal and candid Tribunal, such was the natural, and certainly the wisest Appeal. The Generosity and Justice of a British Tribunal looks more to the real Motives and Zeal of their Agent, than to the preconcerted Artifice of his Conduct, or the legal Discriminations of his Defence. Even where a public Measure is unsuccessful, the Responsibility required by the Agent, (if risked upon public Principles) is frequently his Justification, and in many Cases entitles him to Applause.

In these distant Dominions the ruling Servants of the State attend more to those Rules and Forms which protect from Responsibility, than to an ardent Pursuit of the public Interest; under every private Risk, the Hands of Administration may secure themselves against Condemnation, even though the Country should be lost through their Mismanagement.

It was not by avoiding personal Responsibility that the Servants of the Public established the British Influence in Asia; nor is it by such cold Precautions that our Power is to be maintained, especially at an Hour of general Hostility against us. The Board are led into these Observations, from an ingenuous Consideration of the Difficulties in which the Governor General found himself involved at Benares, and a Conviction of the Motives under which he acted. The first were surmounted with Ability and Fortitude: The latter they most sincerely believe do him real Honour.

Easy would be the Task to approve the Suppression of the Rebellion, and to stand disconnected with any Responsibility, by justifying those Acts which certainly precipitated the Storm from the Cloud in which he had gathered; Acts which Judges at a Distance, Judges unoppressed with the actual Embarrassments of this Government, may, with great Speciousness of Argument, condemn. But the Board wish not, they cannot permit themselves to proceed so disingenuously, or guardedly. They are at the same Time aware, that in a rigid Investigation of the Whole of this Business, the following Questions will be asked.

- 1st. Where were the Governor General's particular Instructions for such extraordinary Demands upon Cheit Sing?
- 2dly. Why was that Chief put in Arrest, when he offered to make every Concession?
- 3dly. Whether there was not a Compact between him and the Company, which specified, That he was only to pay them a certain annual Tribute?

Subsequent to the Massacre of our Troops, and the Events that followed, no Questions will be asked.

In answer to the first Question, the Board think the Governor General was fully authorized by the general Tenor of his Instructions. The Governor General having a deciding Vote, could have written out and approved more particular Instructions. There was a Delicacy in the Mode he preferred; and it imposed a greater Responsibility.

In regard to the Second Question; it is evident from Cheit Sing's Answers and Preparations, and the whole Tenor of his Conduct, before and at the Time, that nothing but Arrest could have convinced him of the Governor General's Determination.

That the Arrest was not intended to proceed farther than the Payment of a proper Fine to the Company, who stood in the Place of his Sovereign and Benefactors, is evinced by the Governor General's Answer to Cheit Sing, after his Confinement.

Had a total Revolution in the Administration of the Zemindarry been intended, the Arrest must have been effected with more Force, and greater Marks of Severity.

That the Officers who went to execute this Service, were convinced that no Measure of determined Severity was intended against Cheit Sing, appears from that unfortunate Want of Precaution, which cost them and their Followers their Lives.

The Third Question involves much Argument, yet is fully answered by that Part of the Governor General's Narrative, which discusses the Sunnud under which Cheit Sing ruled the Provinces, and which was so liberally granted by the Company.

The Correspondence with the India States, shews clearly their Ideas of the Rights of Zemindars and Rajahs protected in their Zemindaries by a superior Power. Had Cheit Sing been an Ally Sovereign Prince, who payed only a fixed Subsidy, his Military Preparations, and his insidious Conduct, Conduct, under Pretences of Poverty, in disappointing the Expectations of the Government from the Army under Major Camac, justified, together with his Correspondence with our Enemies, the severest Exertion of Aid to assist the Company in their Distresses, and atone for his Ingratitude and Treachery to a Power who protected him, and to whom he owed his Situation.

On the Subject of the Treaty concluded on the 18th of September last, between the Governor General and the Nabob Vizier, and which the Difficulties of the Communication prevented the Governor General from explaining so fully before; the Board have to observe, that the Treaty is evidently a political Expedient, which forfeits no Advantage, which promises the Acquisition of many, and which, properly managed by this Government (as Events favourable, or even unfavourable, arise) may lead to the final and complete Arrangement of an Alliance with the Vizier. Such an Alliance, being less oppressive to him, may be more advantageous and honourable to the Company, and may remove that too general but dangerous Impression, which the different States of this Country have received from the double Character in which we have hitherto appeared in India—that of Allies and Conquerors.

If the Nabob Vizier should not be able, under the Support of the Troops of this Government stationed at Cawnpore, to maintain the Tranquillity of his Dominions, and collect those Resources which are necessary to defray even his reduced Expences, and discharge his heavy Debt to the Company, a new Arrangement must follow; and that Arrangement necessarily, at the express Request of the Vizier, will secure every Advantage that can be wished or expected from his Provinces by this Government.

The Reduction of that heavy Burthen of Expence, which was at once oppressive to the Vizier, and of no Return to the Company (though a Source of Patronage to this Administration) the Board approve of most heartily; and, with a full Sense of the Credit which a Measure of such Difficulty and Unpleasantness reflects upon the Governor General, they take this Occasion of pledging to him and to their Employers their utmost Support, not only in this, but in every other Branch of public economical Reformation, which he may propose.

Upon the Return of the Governor General, the Board resolve to discuss with him those Parts of the Treaty, which carry the Appearance of a hasty Agreement. The Disaffection of many of the Vizier's principal Jagheerdars; and the Steps which, from the Representations of Colonel Hannay and other Officers, appear to have been rapidly taken by the Begums, to support the Rebellion of Cheit Sing; were probably very early known to the Governor General, and through the Medium of all the Suspicions that his Situation, at the Time he met the Vizier, had naturally created.

At such a Moment, and under such Suspicions, and even while the Issue of the Contest of Cheit Sing was depending, it is not surprizing that some Parts of the Agreement between the Governor General and the Vizier were speedily adjusted, and, as the Governor acknowledges, in Conversation at their first Interview.

A short Time will satisfy the Board, whether the Vizier is willing or able to fulfil his Part of the Treaty: If he is that, and the Company can recover their Debt from him in the present Emergency and Distress of their Affairs, the Board cannot then but agree, that the Governor General has acted in the Arrangement not only with Zeal, and the best public Intentions, but with a masterly Decision, that must entitle him to the grateful and complete Approbation of his Employers.

It remains with the Board to concert with the Governor General, upon his Return, those Measures that may secure this Government from any future Inconveniencies or Distress, that can be supposed connected with the Confidence reposed in the Vizier, for the Administration of the Affairs of his Revenue and Military Establishments.

The Governor General delivers in the following Minute, in consequence of that of the Board, entered on the Proceedings of the 14th ultimo.

The Governor General acknowledges his Obligations to the Board, for this repeated Instance of the liberal Manner in which they have been pleased to record their Judgment on his Conduct. Had it been expressed in the simple Terms of official Approbation, he should have been pleased, and satisfied that it had received so respectable a Sanction; but by tracing the Sources of it, in the Motives which he has avowed; by their Examination of those Motives, with their relative Facts and Circumstances; and by the Doubts which they have anticipated and solved, on the Propriety of such Parts of his Conduct as might most obviously suggest them; they have justified their own Approval, and entitled him to expect the same favourable Sentiments in their common Superiors.

Nor is he less pleased with the Reserve with which the Board have declared their Satisfaction in the Arrangement concluded by him with the Nabob Vizier; because he thinks it will be received as an Evidence of the Deliberation and Sincerity of their former Approval. He is willing to submit the Propriety of the Measure to the Test of its Success. The Resident has already informed the Board, that he had received of the Treasures of the late Vizier, left in the Charge of his Widow, and lately reclaimed by his Son, the Amount of the Bond granted by the latter for the Balance of the Year 1178, which ends in September 1780 of our Æra; and was in the actual Receipt of as much as would discharge the Balance of the last Year, that is, of the Year 1179. The first of these Balances is 32,68,613. 11, the last 12,09,876. 9. 8. The Sum of both is, R<sup>44,78,490. 4. 8.</sup> Owd Siccas. The Resident seems to have understood this to be the Whole of the the Nabob's Debt. There is a further Balance of 26 Lacks, which appears to have been by some Means overlooked, or withheld from Mr. Middleton on the Transfer of his Office from Mr. Purling. A rectified Account, drawn to the latest Period, has been transmitted to Mr. Middleton by the Accountant General, which it is hoped will arrive in Time to prevent his stopping at the Receipt of the supposed Balance; and at all Events, the Profits of the resumed Jagheers ought to yield a Fund, more than sufficient both for the complete Liquidation of what may remain of the Nabob's present Debt, and to make up the Deficiency of the Assignments granted on his Revenue for the current Year, within the Course of it.

The Governor General expects this Service from the Resident, and relies upon his Fidelity for the Performance of it. But in the Supposition of the Possibility of a Disappointment, he again offers his personal Services to proceed to Lucknow, on the first Symptom of such a Failure; and, with the Confidence which he feels in his own Influence, aided by the powerful Support of the Board, he will venture to promise, that he will not return with their Object unaccomplished.

He hopes, and believes, that there will be no Necessity for this Extremity, but adds it as a Ground for the Assurance which he ventures to propose; and wishes the Board to give to the Honourable Court of Directors, in the Advices to them now under Dispatch, that there is the fairest Prospect, amounting as near to a Certainty as can be affirmed of an Event yet in Expectation, that the Debt due from the Nabob Vizier to the Company, and even that of the Rohilla Donation, will be compleatly paid off in the Course of the present Year, and a Supply added to our ordinary Resources, which will fully answer all our own Wants for that Period, and enable us to contribute still further, and we hope effectual Aids to those of the Carnatic.

The Governor General forbears to include the Presidency of Bombay in this Provision. Its Expences have already contributed more even than those of the Carnatic, to exhaust these Provinces of the Currency; nor will it be possible for them to support any longer so pernicious a Drain. At a certain Point it must have a Close. For this Distress we must seek a Remedy in a different Expedient, in the Conclusion of the War with the Maratta State, and the consequent and most necessary Reduction of the Armies now employed on that Service. In the mean Time, he trusts that they are not so devoid of Resources in themselves, as to make them totally dependant for the Subsistence on this Government, since they have a large and rich Territory, acquired by their late Conquests in Guzerat, in the Dependence of Surat, and, as we learn only from an allusive Passage in General Goddard's last Letters, even in Concan, of which we were not before apprised. These Districts, we are assured by the same Authority, were in a State of perfect Tranquillity, and undisturbed Collection of their Revenues; and in the same State they are likely to remain, since in the Prospect of a Peace, the Maratta Government will naturally look to the Restitution of their former Possessions, and would eventually be at least equal Sufferers with us, by any Devastations committed in them.

Such are the Expectations which the Governor General wishes to have presented to the Court of Directors, of the Course and Issue of the Resources of this Government for the present Year. He hopes that Credit will be given to them to that Degree, beyond which it would be presumptuous on any Grounds to hazard the Promise of contingent Events; that if those which he has predicted shall not come to pass, the Causes of their Failure shall be such as shall account for it, and acquit him of the Reproach of it.

Of the Consequences, as they may affect him personally, he is become indifferent; expecting the forced Censures of his avowed Enemies, and assured of the Applause of his Superiors, from the internal Conviction of his own Mind, that he has laboured to the utmost of his Ability to merit it.

(Signed) Warren Hastings.

EXTRACT of the Secret Letter from Bengal, dated 16 May 1775.

WE must not omit to mention, that the Nabob some Time ago paid in to Colonel Gailliez, a Second Tunka on Rajah Cheyt Sing, for Six Lacks of Rupees, on the Company's Account; against which the Rajah did not fail to remonstrate in the strongest Terms; alledging, that he had made great Advances already in the Payment of his Tribute; that if the Nabob continued to draw on him in this Manner, it would bring him under the greatest present Distress, and establish a Precedent a Precedent that would be injurious to him in future; and therefore, praying that we would not accept the Tunka, but return it to the Nabob.

As we saw the Force of these Objections on the Part of the Rajah, and considered him as under the particular Protection of the Company, we thought fit to order the Tunka to be returned; and consequently directed Mr. Bristow to remonstrate to the Nabob against such Proceedings. The Nabob at first received his Remonstrance with Warmth, and alledged, that the Rajah was his Zemindar, and that he had a Right to draw his Revenue from him as he pleased; but at last seemed to acquiesce in the Justice of Mr. Bristow's Representation, and said he would avoid giving any Uneasiness on that Account to the Rajah in future.

he said, It was not settled when he left India.—Being asked, Whether he heard that Mr. Hastings had Success in getting that Money for the Company? he said, He did not.—Being asked, Whether it was thought that he would? he said, He does not know particularly the Terms.—Being asked, What Garrison was in the Place? he said, About Five or Six hundred Men, he does not exactly know the Number.—Being asked, Where Mr. Hastings was at that Time? he said, At Chunar Ghur, about Forty or Fifty Miles Distance.—Being asked, Whether there was any Person in the Camp authorized on the Part of the Government to claim this Treasure for the Company? he said, Not supposing there was any Treasure, he believes there was not any Person on the Behalf of the Company; it had been reported the Rajah had carried off the Treasure with him.—Being asked, What Measures did he hear that the Commanding Officer there took, to prevent this Division of the Treasure? he said, He did not hear of any.—Being asked, If he knows whether the Commanding Officer of the Detachment had any Share of this Treasure? he said, He does not know; but he has heard that he had.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings remonstrated against this Proceeding? he said, Yes, he did.—Being asked, Whether he heard, how he, Mr. Hastings, came not to have Authority enough over the Troops, to oblige them to forego this Treasure, which he claimed on the Part of the Company? he said, He never heard his Authority doubted; but perhaps he did not think it political to use coercive Measures, at that Time, to make them refund it.—Being asked, Whether the Officers assigned any Reason for refusing to obey his Requisition? he said, He heard it was because the Rohilla Prize-Money had never been paid; and which they thought themselves intitled to.—Being asked, Whether this was the sole Reason? he said, it was.—Being asked, Whether he did not hear it alledged, that a Promise was claimed by the Officers from Mr. Hastings, that the Prize-Money in the Rohilla War, when taken, should be the Property of the Captors? he said, He never heard of a Promise previous to the Capture; but he has heard that Mr. Hastings, after the Prize Money was divided, promised that if they would deliver it up, Government would distribute it in the Manner they should think most proper.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings informed him, before he left that Country, why he did not send to the Court of Directors any Account whatsoever of this important Transaction? he said, No.—Being asked, If he knows whether there was any Ravages or Wastes committed in the Province of Benares, during the Suppression of that Rebellion? he said, There was a small Village, inhabited by a Nest of People near Illahabad, who had committed several Murders and Robberies, which was burnt, but the People had all deserted it.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings believed that the Rajah of Benares intended Hostilities before he left Calcutta? he said, He believed that the Rajah of Benares wanted a favourable Opportunity to throw off his Dependence on the Company.—Being asked, What Proofs he had for this Belief? he said, The Number of Forces that the Rajah entertained.—Being asked, What was the Rajah's ordinary Establishment? he said, About 5,000 Horse, and about as many or Half as many Foot?—Being asked, When he made the Augmentation to his Army? he said, At different Times.—Being asked, Whether it was long previous to Mr. Hastings's going there, or not? he said, About Two or Three Years, or perhaps more.—Being asked, Whether the Augmentation was of Horse or Foot, or both? he said, Of both; these Augmentations he kept concealed in private Parts of his District, remote from our Settlements; and some were disciplined in the European Manner.—Being asked, By whom they were so disciplined? he said, by Sepoys of ours, who had been dismissed or had deserted the Service.—Being asked, Whether any of those were taken and punished for it? he said, They could not be taken.—Being asked, Whether there were not Prisoners taken in this War? he said, If they were, they were let go to their respective Farms; he begs Leave to observe, they fought well, like Men disciplined.—Being asked, What Force Mr. Hastings brought with him to the City of Benares? he said, Nothing but a common Guard.—Being asked, What Reason did Mr. Hastings assign for coming into Benares, and seizing the Person of the Rajah with so small a Force, when he suspected him of such ill Designs, and that he had a strong disciplined Force to assist him in those Designs? he said, The Governor General had frequent Conferences with the Rajah before he put him under Arrest, and his Answers were evasive to the Purpose of his Destination, which was to make him contribute to the Expences of the State.—Being asked, Whether an English Resident did not always reside at Benares? he said, Yes, ever since the Transfer of the Sovereignty of that Country to us.—Being asked, Whether the Resident communicated to Mr. Hastings these Designs of the Rajah, and the Preparations he was making for War? he said, Yes.—Being asked, Whether those Letters were ever laid before the Board? he said, That he is not acquainted with.—Being asked, Where those Letters are, by which that Matter was communicated to Mr. Hastings? he said, He is uncertain whether they were private Letters to Mr. Hastings, or public to the Board.—Being asked, If he knows whether the Original, or any Copies of those Letters, were sent by him to the Court of Directors? he said, No.—Being asked, Of what Size the City of Benares is? he said, a very large City, about Three Miles along the Banks of the River.—Being asked, Whether it is a Place of reputed Sanctity in that Country? he said, Yes; and in all the Wars the Place has never been rifled or despoiled: It is chiefly inhabited by Hindoos.—Being asked, Whether that City has ever been under the Government of a Mahomedan Magistrate? he said, Not that he knows of.—Being asked, Whether the Inhabitants are not remarkably attached to their Customs and Laws? he said, Yes, which Mr. Hastings has been rigidly attentive to, during the Whole of his Administration.—Being asked, If he knows a Person called Ali Ibrahim Khan? he said, He does not know him.—And being asked, Whether he did not hear that he was appointed Daroga, or Chief Magistrate of criminal Causes, in the City of Benares? he said, No.

FROM THE
SELECT COMMITTEE, &c.

The Select Committee appointed to take into Consideration the State of the Administration of Justice in the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, and to report the same, as it shall appear to them, to the House, with their Observations thereupon; and who were instructed to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be held and governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the Native Inhabitants may be best promoted;

IN their further Inquiry concerning the Matters given them in Charge by the House, have considered the Disobedience of the Servants of the East India Company to the Orders of the Court of Directors, as a principal Object.

In order to discover the Cause of a Disobedience which threatens immediate Ruin to the Authority and Interests of this Kingdom in India, they thought it their Duty to examine into the Principles and Policy (if any regular Principle or Plan of Policy should appear) upon which the Court of Directors has conducted itself in the Government of those Servants.

Your Committee were particularly attentive to the Manner in which they promote Persons, in the Line of their Service from lower to higher, or to the highest Situation: Because their Proceeding in that Respect not only operates for Good or Evil in the particular Instance, but must, by the Example, materially influence the Behaviour of all those who act under the Directors, through all the Gradations of Office, and all the Successions to Rank and Power.

Your Committee was so forcibly struck with the late Nomination of Mr. John Macpherson to the Supreme Council of Bengal, and with the Consequences which might attend the Appointment to so important a Trust at this Time, of a Person, who appears on the Records of the Company to be concerned in very unjustifiable Negotiations, that they have thought it absolutely necessary to make a separate Report on that Case before the sailing of the Ships to India; they therefore directed the East India Company to lay before them the Proceedings of the Council of Fort St. George, of the 22d and 23d of January 1776 (Appendix, N° 1.); and also an Extract of Fort St. George Military Consultations, of the 5th of February 1776 (Appendix, N° 2.); together with a Case and Opinion of Mr. Charles Sayer, Counsel to the East India Company, dated the 11th of February 1777 (Appendix, N° 3.); and also a Paper, purporting to be the Copy of an Opinion of Alexander Wedderburne, Esquire, upon the same Subject, dated the 7th of March 1777 (Appendix, N° 4.)

Your Committee, on perusing the Consultations at Madras, of the 22d and 23d of January 1776, find, that Lord Pigot, the then President, acquainted the Board, that a Paper, unthought for and unsolicited, had been put into his Hands: That no Signature was affixed to it; but that it contained Matter of so dangerous a Tendency to the Interests of the Company, that he thought it expedient to be laid before them.

This Paper purported to be a Memorial to the Nabob of Arcot, recapitulating various Services rendered to him in London. It appeared without any Signature; but was imputed to Mr. Macpherson. The Proceedings at large had upon that Subject, together with the Memorial, are annexed. Mr. Macpherson was called upon by the Board, and asked, Whether he was the Author of the Memorial then read to him? he said, "He could not give a precise Answer; that it was not written in his Hand, nor signed by him; and that it referred to Transactions before he was in the Company's Service."

This Answer was considered by Lord Pigot, not only as evasive and unsatisfactory, but as amounting to a clear Proof that Mr. Macpherson was the Author of the Paper. He was of Opinion that Mr. Macpherson's Plea, of his not being in the Service at the Time of the Transactions alluded to, was an Aggravation instead of an Extenuation of his Offence, "since he presumed to apply to be appointed into the Service of that Community which he was endeavouring to destroy;" and that the presenting the Memorial at that Time proved, that "he still held Principles unfaithful to the Company, and ruinous to its Interests." The President therefore moved, that he should be dismissed the Service.

The Resolution so moved was carried in the Affirmative by a Majority of Nine to Two only, who dissented. Four of the Council, in Addition to the Reasons assigned by the President, gave in a Minute, in which they assert that Mr. Macpherson was a Man "of such an intriguing Disposition as to render him unfit to be employed as a Servant of the Company;" that "they believe Mr. Macpherson to have been concerned in the Intrigues which the greater Part of the Board must be sensible had lately been carried on at the Nabob's Durbar, to the Detriment of the Company's Service, and which may have impeded the Execution of their late Orders."

The Dissent to this Resolution, on the Ground of its not being conformable to the Company's Instructions, which in Case of Removals required a regular written Charge and Hearing, together with the Reasons given by those who concurred in the Dismissal, either for not thinking the Order strictly applicable to that Case (if in that Case applicable) that it ought to be dispensed with, appear in the Proceedings annexed to this Report.

Your Committee observe, that Mr. Macpherson, when questioned at Madras for the Memorial, though he denied it to be written in his Hand, did not deny it to contain his own Account of his own Transactions, presented to his Principal the Nabob of Arcot, as a Plea of Merit and Title to Reward. Neither in his subsequent Letter to the President and Council, nor in any of his Applications to the Court of Directors, does he make the least Complaint that an Injury had been done to his Character, by imputing to him a Paper which he had not written. He neither denies that Paper, nor the Facts related in the Paper; nor enters into any Explanation whatsoever on the Subject, either of the one or the other.

The Court of Directors, on their Part, seemed much less solicitous about the Effect which the Example of restoring Mr. Macpherson must have on the Discipline of their Service, than about the Means of getting clear of the Law made expressly to enforce that Discipline. They laid the Case, with the Documents, before their Standing Counsel, the late Mr. Sayer; and the Point (the only Point) on which they require his Opinion, is, whether "if they should see proper to restore Mr. Macpherson, it could be done without the Consent of Three-fourths of the Directors and Three-fourths of the Proprietors, in the Mode prescribed by the Act of Parliament."

Mr. Sayer, in his Opinion delivered on the 1st of March 1777, although he appears to consider the Dismissal as informal, is clearly satisfied that Mr. Macpherson cannot be restored under the Act but on the Conditions therein prescribed, namely, the Votes of Three-fourths of the Directors and Three-fourths of the Proprietors; and further submits to the Consideration of the Court of Directors, whether he [Macpherson] was a proper Person to be continued in the Company's Service; "that, in his Opinion, he had too much Connection with the Nabob of Arcot; and when the Company's Interest and the Nabob's were at Variance, as they would often happen, they will greatly disturb a Man of Honour and Integrity."

This Opinion of their own Standing Counsel seems to have been by no Means satisfactory to those in the Direction, who wished to evade the Rule laid down in the Act of Parliament. They appear so solicitous by all Means to keep clear of that kind of Decision, that they exerted themselves to find out other Authorities to set up against their ordinary Advisers in Matters of Law; for which Purpose, the then Chairman produced to the Court of Directors, on the 2d of the July following, a Paper, purporting to be the Copy of an Opinion of Mr. Wedderburne, then Solicitor General; in which he declares Mr. Macpherson still in the Company's Service, looking upon the Dismissal as null and void; "that the Governor and Council of Madras have exceeded their Authority in proceeding against Mr. Macpherson without a Charge in Writing delivered to him, and Time given to make his Defence to it; and that Mr. Macpherson's Case only requires a Signification of the Displeasure of the Directors at so plain a Breach of the Company's Orders and Directions, to restore to him the Emoluments of his Station, of which he may have been deprived by the irregular Attempt to dismiss him."

It is remarkable, that this Opinion of Mr. Wedderburne was not given upon any Reference made by Order of the Court of Directors; nor was it expressed by the Chairman, Sir George Wombwell; who delivered it, at whose Request it was taken; nor was it so much as accompanied with the Case on which it was given. In those Circumstances it ought to have passed (whatever might have been the Authority of the learned Person in whose Name it appeared) as no regular Opinion at all.

The Directors who managed this Business, paying no Attention to the Opinion which had been regularly obtained (though they had called it in to direct their Judgment) thought proper upon the same Day on which the Paper signed by Mr. Wedderburne was produced, to order Mr. Macpherson to be restored to his Rank and Station in the Service, without recurring to the Votes of Three-fourths of the Directors and Three-fourths of the Proprietors, and indeed without giving any Notice at all to the Proprietors; who having, in Cases of Dismissal, a Right reserved to them by the Act of Parliament, ought to have had an Opportunity of asserting that Right; and of bringing it to Trial, if in their Judgment the Case should come within the Statute.

In consequence of the above Resolution, Two Days after, that is, on the 4th of July, they wrote to the Presidency of Madras as follows; "That having taken the Opinions of Counsel upon the Dismissal of Mr. J. Macpherson (a Factor upon the Establishment) and they agreeing that the same was done informally, and of course is void, we direct that he remains in the Company's Service, with his proper Standing; but as his Behaviour was disrespectful to your Board, and in other Particulars very reprehensible, we direct that you give him a severe Reprimand, and acquaint him that a like Conduct will meet with a severer Punishment."

The Fallacy of this Statement of the Opinions of Counsel, made in this Letter, could not escape the Notice and Reprehension of Your Committee. The Directors have stated that "the Counsel had agreed the Dismissal was informal, and of course is void."

The Writers of this Letter have thought fit wholly to misrepresent the Case; the Agreement of Counsel having extended solely to the Informality of the Dismissal; and not at all to the Idea of its being of course void. On this Point their Opinions were so far from being agreed, that they were totally the Reverse of each other; one indeed considering the Dismissal as null; but the other held, that though informal it was yet valid, and so far of Effect as; to require for Mr. Macpherson's Restoration, that very Course which the Directors were so solicitous, by taking a new Opinion, to avoid.

Of the Charge itself, for which this Dismissal (formal or informal) was inflicted as a Punishment; the Directors find Mr. Macpherson guilty; for, besides the disrespectful Behaviour to his Superiors, with which they load him, they declare his Conduct "very reprehensible in other Particulars." But as nothing else was charged upon him in that Transaction; except those Particulars for which he was dismissed, those Particulars, with the aggravating Epithet of very, they find reprehensible; and they order him a severe Reprimand, with a Menace of a still severer Punishment in case those reprehensible Practices should be renewed.

But least Mr. Macpherson should be crushed by the Severity of this Reprimand, or too much alarmed with the Harshness of it, or might be in Danger of incurring their future Resentment, and the severer Punishment threatened, they permit him to remain in England without once calling upon him to perform the Duties of the Station to which they were so very anxious to restore him, and without giving a Colour to his future Advancement; by affording him any Means of effacing the Demerit of his past Conduct by better Behaviour. He therefore continued in England until the Month of January 1781, when they thought proper all at once to raise him from the low Station in the Company's Service which he held with so little Attention to its Duties, and with such acknowledged Circumstances of Misconduct, to the high Office of Counsellor in the Council General of Bengal.

His Conduct on this Occasion came a Third Time before the Court of Directors. His Memorial to the Nabob of Arcot was again considered; and notwithstanding the Dissent of some of the Directors, and the Protest of One of them (on the Ground of the absolute Illegality of his Restoration to the Service) Mr. Macpherson's Appointment, without any new Reference on the Matter of Law to Mr. Rous, the Company's then Counsel, was presented to His Majesty's Ministers, who obtained the Royal Approbation to that extraordinary Measure.

Your Committee must here remark, that the Court of Directors on the 28th of November 1780, came to the Resolution of inquiring into the Conduct of the Company's Servants in Bengal, previous to the 14th of December next, the Day fixed for the Appointment of a Member of the Supreme Council at that Presidency, and which Resolution was confirmed by a subsequent Court of the 15th of December following; on that Day it was also resolved to proceed to appoint a Member of the Council General of Bengal, on the 3d of January ensuing. On which Day a Motion was made to postpone the Consideration of the Appointment of a Member of the Council General in Bengal; until the Conduct of the Servants in that Presidency had been fully investigated; which passed in the Negative: Mr. George Vanfittart and Mr. Philip Milner Dacres, who were Candidates for the Vacancy of a Counsellor in the Supreme Council, were then proposed, and rejected, and Mr. John Macpherson was nominated to that Office.

Your Committee having made such frequent Reference to the Practices described in Mr. Macpherson's Memorial, thought it proper to examine into the Conduct described in it, which, if it did not recommend, at least was not supposed to disqualify him for an Employment of the greatest Trust in the Affairs of the East India Company, in order to discover what the true Nature and Tendency of that Conduct was.

It appears that Mr. Macpherson went to Madras in the Year 1766, Purser of an India Ship, commanded by Captain Macleod; and having found Means of Introduction to the Nabob of Arcot, he so far ingratiated himself with that Prince, as to be sent "on a secret Commission to His Majesty's First Minister of State, in the Year 1767, in order to free him from various Oppressions under which he was labouring." He arrived (to use his own Expression) "at the Court of Britain," towards the End of 1768. There he employed himself for a considerable Time in a Multitude of dark and mysterious Intrigues; the Spirit of which appears sufficiently in his Memorial, though all the Particulars cannot be specified, as he frequently refers to other Memorials, and to other Papers of various Sorts, which have not hitherto been brought to light.

It is however manifest, that the whole Tenor of his Negotiations were adverse and hostile to the Company; and in many Respects highly dangerous and disgraceful to the Government of this Kingdom. It appears from his Paper, that he took Advantage of the Disputes between the Company and Government, to promote the Interest of his Employer; and that the Tendency of his Writings was to shew, that the Support of him (the Nabob of Arcot) by the Crown, in the Rights of his Guaranteement, was the best Restraint upon the Usurpations of the Servants of a certain Company; and in his general Style of Complaint of the Situation of the Princes in India, he states it to arise from the usurped Authority of the commercial Subjects of the State.

It is not easy to comprehend the Nature of that usurped Authority by British Subjects on the Rights of the Crown, which could make the Support of the Rights of a Foreign Power the best or any proper Restraint on those Subjects. The Disputes between Government and the East India Company at that Time, turned on the Territorial Acquisitions of the latter in India; and Foreign Interposition in such a Dispute, was neither necessary nor proper to the full Assertion of any Rights in the Crown, which has abundant Means of its own to restrain the usurped Authority (if such should be found to exist) of British Subjects of all Descriptions. But your Committee are of Opinion, that an Attempt on the Part of a British Subject to intrude the Claims of a Foreign Power, in Aid of any Authority within this Kingdom, or to make such a Power a Party in domestic Disputes, was a Measure full of Rashness and Presumption. Mr. Devaynes and Mr. Sullivan, the Chairman and Deputy Chairman, who must have seen the East India Company treated in such a Manner, and distinguished by such Epithets by Mr. Macpherson, were bound to make strict Enquiry into his Practices against an Authority which they at least ought to respect, and as far as it was legal, to assert and enforce. He had referred for the full Explanation of those Practices to a certain Memorial N<sup>o</sup> 2. which they might have called on him to produce. But it does not appear that they made that or any other Enquiry into the Grounds of Fitness for Trust, for which they informed your Committee they thought him the fittest Person.

If the Nabob of Arcot had been in any Particular injured or oppressed, it would have become his Agent, with Decency and Candour to lay the Matter of Grievance, distinctly and specifically stated, before the Court of Directors, and with the same Simplicity and Openness to have proceeded with His Majesty's Ministers. But it does not appear that at that Period of Time any particular Grievances were at all laid before the Company; and in his Applications to the Ministers, he continually talks of Secrecy, Reserve, and Caution. His Commission was wholly concealed from several Persons with whom he treated, and it only came out Piece-meal and by Degrees to the Principal. The whole of the Subject Matter of his Negotiations is couched in Terms so ambiguous and obscure, that little can be discovered concerning the Nature of those Grievances, of which he pretends to have sought Redress.

Your Committee, who are of Opinion that the Grievances of the Native Powers and People in India are a principal Object of Parliament in the Enquiry committed to them, have endeavoured to find out the Nature of those Grievances, real or pretended.

The only Grievance which appears in any Thing like a specific Form, is the Enforcement of the Debt due to the Company. On examining into this Debt, they find it to be for Expences incurred by the Company in Support of his Employer, and for his Establishment in the Place he holds in the Government of the Carnatic, the Justice of which he had, by the strongest Expressions, frequently and fully acknowledged.

It is true, that Mr. Macpherson appears in general Terms to have complained to the Minister, "that the Nabob had been treated by the Company's Servants with Indignity and even with Tyranny." This Matter however he never appears in any Sort to have explained, though it was highly necessary to be as explicit as possible on the Subject, if the Grievance had been real. General Complaints are little attended to; because Sufferings as they are strongly felt are easily particularized, and Guilt can only be proved, or Redress obtained, on special Matter. It was the more necessary to be clear on that Subject, as the Nabob had very recently given a direct contrary Information to the Court of Directors (on their having expressed some Suspicion of the Misconduct of their Servants towards him.) In a Letter without Date, but received in London in November 1766, he says "that his Government was firmly settled under their (the Company's) Favour and Protection, and that he was free from all Manner of Apprehensions. On the 12th of December 1766, to Governor Palk, he goes much further, "that he is so far from having any Cause of Complaint against the Company's Servants, or Officers, that he has always found them ready to sacrifice even their Lives for his Service, and that he must, in Justice to the Characters of both Company's Servants and Officers, entirely clear them, or any of them, from ever having extorted Money from him, either by exorbitant Interest or otherwise:"—"They have (says he) on the contrary,

"trary, learnt to esteem the Company's Affairs and mine as one and the same; they have never offered me any Oppression of any Kind."—On the 14th of July 1767, he writes, "That he had resided at Madras for a Twelvemonth past with the greatest Pleasure and Satisfaction; that it would be the highest Ingratitude in him not to mention how kind and favourable their Governor and Council had been to him, in putting their (the Company's) Order into Execution."

The whole Letter is full of Acknowledgments of the substantial Favours he had received from the Company and their Servants, and declaratory of the highest Confidence in both. So late as the Month of November 1767 (the very Year when Mr. Macpherson represents himself as appointed to the secret Commission on which he made his Complaint) so far from complaining of that "In-dignity and even Tyranny," which Mr. Macpherson represents him as suffering from the Company's Servants, he informs the Directors, "that the Governor and Council are ever contriving Means of honouring him in the Eyes of his People." In other Parts of the same Letter, he states strongly his Obligations to the Company and their Government, for many Favours done to him and his Family.

No Complaints of the Kind appeared before the Court of Directors until about Two Years after Mr. Macpherson's first secret Commission, which he states to have been in 1767, though he did not arrive in London till 1768. Those Complaints were even then loose and general, and the apparent Consequences of the Failure of some of his ambitious Projects; the Blame of which Failure the Nabob and the Company's Servants mutually threw upon each other, and for the engaging in which, the Company has justly censured both: The Objects therefore of Mr. Macpherson's Mission, must have been of another Nature, being prior to this Quarrel. If any subsequent Matter of Complaint had come to his Knowledge, the Time and Occasion ought to have been stated when this Change in the Behaviour of the Company's Servants had happened, in what Instances it had happened, and who were the Persons in fault, in order that the Company and the King's Ministers might be able to form a clear Judgment on the Merits of the Case; for nothing could be more irregular and blameable on the Part of the Nabob, than to see the Company's Records full of his Commendations of their Servants, and Acknowledgments of the Justice of his Debt to them, both under his own Signature, whilst he maintained an Agent here, complaining to His Majesty's Ministers of the Tyranny of those Servants, as well as of the Injustice of the Company's own Demand.

The Memorial itself, amidst all its studied Reserves and mysterious Hints, when compared with the Company's Records, affords some Insight into the Nature of Mr. Macpherson's Embassy, and into the Nature of the pretended Suffering. The Superiority of this Nation, and his Dependence on it, was become a Grievance to the Nabob of Arcot. So early as his settling the Terms of Peace with Monsieur Law, he appears to have acted with a View to this Independency. In his Letter to the Court of Directors, the 4th of November 1767, he informs them, that he had proposed (to Monsieur Law) "in case of a new War breaking out between the French and English, it must not be brought into this Country; to which he (Monsieur Law) assented." So far as the Nabob and the French were concerned, according to his Account, the Matter appears to have been concluded. The Nabob afterwards attempted to draw the British Government into an Agreement for this Neutrality. He applied to Governor Palk, who very properly declared he had no Power to agree to it, without Orders from Europe. The Nabob, on this Refusal, very warmly pressed the Object which he had previously proposed and settled with Monsieur Law to the Court of Directors, on Pretence of preserving the Peace of that Country, which he and his English Advisers had before and afterwards so wantonly exposed to War and Devastation, for Purposes in which this Nation had no Concern. Had he succeeded in establishing this Plan of Neutrality, the Power of France would at this Day have been truly formidable in India, if not absolutely superior, as Pondicherry must have remained in perfect Security as a Place of Arms in the Center of the Carnatic, from whence Force might have been detached to every other Part of India.

To strengthen this dangerous Pretence to Independency (upon the Supposition of which the Nabob of Arcot, without any previous Consultation with the Presidency, undertook to negotiate a Neutrality with France) various Contrivances appear to have been set on foot.

Mr. Macpherson represents himself as the first Inventor, or at least the first public Propagator, of a Construction of an Article of the Treaty of Paris, in Favour of the Nabob of Arcot. By that Construction (which, about the Time alluded to by Mr. Macpherson, appeared in various Publications) the Nabob would be rendered wholly independent of this Nation; and France would obtain a Title to interfere in all Transactions between him and the East India Company, as a Guarantee of that Independence. It was therefore highly reprehensible in Mr. Macpherson, and perfectly contrary to his Duty as a British Subject, to invent and propagate in Europe, and instill into the Mind of his Employer in India, a mischievous and groundless Fiction, by which an Officer of the Mogul, wholly upheld in his Authority by the Strength of this Nation, operating through the Company, was to be raised to a Rank equal with the Sovereign Powers in Europe, and to be considered as a Member of their general System.

By Means of such flattering Delusions, the Ambition of the Nabob Mahomed Ali had been, before this Invention as well as ever since, stimulated to desperate Designs and Enterprizes, which have disturbed the Peace of India, shaken the lawful Government of the Company at Madras, wasted his own Revenues, and at length brought the Power of Great Britain in that Part of the World to the Verge of Ruin.

Among the principal of these Enterprizes is to be reckoned the Attempt of the Nabob to usurp the Seat of his original Superior, the Soubah of the Decan. Mr. Macpherson, in his Memorial, claims the Merit of putting into the Hands of Persons of Distinction in England, Publications made for the Purpose of countenancing a Project wholly derogatory to the Honour and good Faith of the British Nation, and the direct Tendency of which was to plunge all India into Blood and Confusion.

By the Fourth Paragraph of the Memorial, some Light is thrown upon the Part Mr. Macpherson acted in another Design of the Nabob; which, as well as the former, had been discountenanced by the Court of Directors, and was in its Tendency equally dishonourable, and nearly as dangerous. It is the unnatural Design, which appears to Your Committee to have been formed by the Nabob, to disinherit his eldest Son, a Person of a gentle and humane Temper, of undoubted Attachment to the Interest of Great Britain, and of Abilities to do Credit to the Situation to which he is entitled. This Design was formed in direct Violation of the Grant (real or pretended) by which the Nabob is at all entitled to any Succession in his Family, and in which the Succession is specifically settled upon his eldest Son, as will appear by the Firmaund in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 5.

The Court of Directors have been since then apprized of the Scheme, by the Presidency of Madras, who attended their Information with judicious and apposite Reflections upon a Matter of so arduous and alarming a Nature.

Mr. Macpherson, in order to prevent the Company from acting as their Honour and Interest demanded on this Occasion, attempted to make even Parliament itself an Instrument in this shameful Proceeding, by proposing to Persons in Office, "to bring about an Act of Parliament, limiting the Power of the Company's Servants, and making it a Crime in them against the State, to interfere with the Government and Succession of the Indian Princes in Treaty with the Company; and that he endeavoured to make this Act particularly relative to the Nabob and his Posterity;" that is, Mr. Macpherson proposed to prevent the Interference in the Nabob's Succession, of those very Persons by whose Credit and Power the Grant to that Succession had been attained.

The same Memorial acquaints the Nabob, that the then Secretary to the Treasury had accepted a Proposal for that Purpose, to be laid before Lord North and Mr. Dyson; a Copy of which Proposal, he says, is in the Hands of the Nabob, "by which the Nabob will see, that I (meaning he, Macpherson) stipulated to be at the Expence of the Act, et cetera, out of my own Pocket."

Your Committee observe, that Mr. Macpherson has taken Advantage of the Ignorance of his Employer in Parliamentary Proceedings, to state himself as offering to be at the Expence of an Act of Parliament, when in Reality no justifiable Expence can be incurred for a Public Act, such as that which he proposed must have been, if it had been at all. But the stipulating to be at the Expence of this Act, with the significant et ceteras, out of his own Pocket, which in England would be ill calculated to deceive, was perfectly consonant to the Ideas generally entertained in India, and which have not been thoroughly effaced by a Communication with Europeans, of what is called Durbar Charges, which signifies Presents ordinarily made, in order to obtain Objects solicited from Persons in Power and Authority.

That the Nabob had probably seen nothing in his Intercourse with Europeans which might convince him that Mr. Macpherson could never have in Reality stipulated to be at such Expence, et cetera, out of his own Pocket, appears by a very remarkable Incident in these Negotiations, to which your Committee with particularly to call the Attention of the House.

At the First Interview of this Minister of the Nabob with one of His Majesty's Ministers (the Duke of Grafton) he offered to bestow on him certain Presents (which he calls Credential Presents) on the Part of the Nabob. These Presents the Duke of Grafton refused to receive. On his Refusal, Mr. Macpherson conceived, that though they might not suit the Minister, they might with Propriety, and possibly with some Effect, be received by a Subordinate in Office: Seeing therefore the Presents he rejected, he "took them up, and offered them, in the Name of the Nabob, to his Grace's Secretary, Mr. Bradshaw." Mr. Bradshaw is represented as making a short Speech, which ended on his Part by declaring, that Mr. Macpherson "would forfeit his Esteem if he insisted on his disgracing the Example of the Duke of Grafton."

Mr. Macpherson states himself as thrown into the greatest Perplexity and Distress by this Refusal of the First Commissioner of the Treasury and his Secretary to receive his Presents. His Reasons are remarkable, as they indicate the Notions his Employer, the Nabob, entertained concerning the Principles and Motives upon which this Business was transacted in England. Mr. Macpherson's own Words are most perfectly expressive of his Sentiments and Feelings in an Emergency so critical to all his Reputation for Address and Dexterity: "I cannot describe what I felt on this Occasion. Upon reflecting, I thought it would be difficult to persuade my Employer that Men, who would not receive his Presents, had any serious Intentions to serve him. I likewise apprehended, that being without any Proof of having insisted upon their being received, my Want of Persuasion would be found Fault with."

The Presents which Mr. Macpherson was directed to offer to one of His Majesty's Ministers, were only preliminary to further Offers of a far more extensive Nature, which Your Committee find it necessary to state to the House, to demonstrate the unexampled Boldness, Vastness, and Extravagance of the corrupt Projects formed by the Advisers and Instruments of the Nabob of Arcot, in order to render all Branches of the Government of this Kingdom dependent on them, and subservient to their Views.

As soon as Mr. Macpherson had prepared his Ground at the Treasury, he thought it proper to open what he calls "his first and grand Injunction:" This consisted in an Alternative of Two Offers, the First of which was a Proposal of lending to the Public a Sum of 70 Lacks of Rupees, or about 700,000 Pounds Sterling, at so low an Interest as Two per Cent.

This Proposal was covered with a Pretext of providing a sure and settled Maintenance for the Nabob's youngest Children. There seems to be no Reason for preventing the Nabob from openly purchasing and securing to that, or to any Amount, at the current Price, and with the common Advantage (which was then much more than Two per Cent.) in any of the British Funds, nor any Occasion for Secrecy in the Transaction, if no other Design was entertained than that which was expressed.

But there was, indeed, abundant Reason for making his other Part of the Alternative, which Mr. Macpherson calls "his confidential Proposal," a very profound Secret; for the Tenor of this Offer was, that in case the foregoing Proposal "should not be agreeable, the Nabob would lend the same, or "a greater Capital to the Treasury, as a Pledge of his Fidelity towards, and Trust in the British State."

In what Manner this Loan to the Treasury was to be made; how it was to be secured, and above all, what Objects it was to be applied to, and what Purposes it was intended to answer, these Matters are not at all explained in the Memorial; like many other Parts of the Transaction, they are wrapped up in an obscure and alarming Mystery.—A Loan of that astonishing Magnitude to the Treasury of Great Britain, by a Foreign Potentate, is a Matter of very serious Consideration.

The Court of Directors, when a Memorial of this extraordinary Nature came no less than Three Times before them, could not avoid observing, that the Nabob of Arcot, at the Time of his offering such a large Loan as £. 700,000 to the Public, and even a larger confidentially to the Treasury, was making every Kind of Delay and Difficulty in the Payment of what he owed to the Company; that he constantly represented himself as overwhelmed with Debt to Individuals, and that these Debts had been contracted at so high a Rate as Twenty, Twenty-four, and even Thirty-six per Cent. Interest, and that he still continued to borrow at exorbitant Usury. He asserted, that he had offered even an Hundred and Twenty per Cent. to obtain Money, in order to make some of his Payments, without being able to procure it—That when the Company had ordered his Debts to be reduced to Ten per Cent. he represented it as likely to prove ruinous to his Credit; and on that Ground prayed a Respite of the Execution of the Order—yet by his secret Instructions to his Agent, he considers himself at the very Time as having so much the Command of ready Money, that he offers at Three Payments to advance so vast a Sum as £. 700,000 at so low an Interest as Two per Cent. to the British Public, or even a greater, without any apparent Stipulation of Interest at all, confidentially to the Treasury.

Mr. Macpherson declares himself incapable of expressing "the noble and respectable Idea which "this confidential Proposal of the Nabob gave to the Minister." But it ought to have suggested Ideas of another Kind to the Court of Directors, who must have perfectly known that his Delays of Payment, both then and ever since, as well to his public as to his private Creditors, must have been a gross Fraud, if he were really Master of so much Treasure: If he were not, then the Offer itself must be a Fraud of another Sort, by which he hoped to engage the Ministry to enter into his Views, by holding out to them an Offer of Advantages which he was not able to realize. It is probable the Ministry, notwithstanding Mr. Macpherson's Representation to his Employer, must have treated the Offer in a different Manner from that which he describes. The Court of Directors, however, after that Representation, ought never to have taken into their Employment, a Person known to them to be concerned in such extraordinary Transactions. They could not peruse the Memorial before them, without being struck with the Multitude of Practices of this Agent, most, if not all of them, of the same pernicious Tendency towards the Honour and Interest of the Company.—His dating his Publications in the News-papers from Arlington Street, the Place of Residence of the then First Commissioner of the Treasury, with a Design of producing an Opinion that they were authorized by His Majesty's Ministers; his Use, for the same Purpose, of an authoritative Style to the Supervisors appointed by the Company; his Manner (which he says he cannot describe) of coming at the Instructions of the Supervisors; all these, with others of the same Nature (fully set forth in the Memorial aforesaid) must have convinced the Directors, that they could not have chosen a more unfit Person into whose Hands to commit the most important Affairs of their Constituents. In this Appointment therefore, Your Committee are of Opinion, That the Directors who voted for the said Mr. Macpherson, have been guilty of a flagrant Breach of their Trust.

When originally this Matter of Offence came before them, they ought not to have enquired only into the Formality of Mr. Macpherson's Dismissal; they ought to have enquired into the substantial Nature of the Charge for which he was dismissed; and if Mr. Macpherson had not cleared himself in a satisfactory Manner from that Charge, they, who had the Power, with the fullest Authority, and in perfect Form to Dismissal, were obliged by their Duty to put him out of the Company's Service, and not to take Advantage of Informality in Process to secure Indemnity for Crimes. If they had done their Duty in that Manner, the Act of Parliament would have had its natural Operation: But in this, and in many other Instances, it appears to Your Committee, that some Persons in the Direction have countenanced an Evasion of the very Acts of Parliament formed for the Support of their own Authority.

The Directors undoubtedly are not obliged to follow the Line of Gradation; nor are they bound indispensably to attend to the Time of Service. They may, on good Reason, appoint absolute Strangers to any of their Offices. But when the Question is among Servants, and when those of high Rank and long and unexceptionable Service are passed over, and a Person neither long nor diligent in their Service, of low Rank in it, turned out from that low Rank for Misbehaviour, and restored to it with Censure and Reprimand; in such Competition among the Servants, to prefer the latter to all the rest, is to hold out a Lesson of the most pernicious Kind to those who act under them, a Lesson which tends wholly to reverse the Use of Rewards and Punishments. When it is considered that Mr. Macpherson appeared to the Court of Directors in no other Respect a Man of either Talents or Industry, but by his Exertions to their Prejudice, the Offence of Mr. Devaynes and Mr. Sullivan, who proposed and supported him, Your Committee conceive will appear much more heinous to this House.

When Persons entrusted with the Care and Conservation of any public Establishment, promote its known Enemies to the immediate Superintendence of its most essential Interests, a just Presumption arises, that they have intentionally betrayed their Trust: When Enemies so promoted are known to them to be concerned in an Attempt to carry on their hostile Designs by corrupt Practices, a Presumption arises, that the Trust is thus betrayed from unworthy Motives.

Mr. Devaynes on his Examination seemed to be ignorant of, or to have forgot most of the material Circumstances of the Transaction; and in general declined giving Information to Your Committee concerning the Grounds and Reasons of this Appointment, lest he should thereby accuse himself.

Mr. Sullivan declined answering several Questions apparently for the same Reasons.

Their Examination, which is annexed, will sufficiently indicate to the House the true Spirit of their Conduct.

Your Committee observe, That every Step hitherto taken in their Enquiry, convinces them more and more, that the Disobedience and Corruption of the Servants abroad (wherever such Disobedience and Corruption exist) may in great Measure be imputed to Intrigue, Cabal, and Management in Great Britain; to which heavy, inveterate, and growing Evil, no apt Remedy can be applied, but the constant Inspection of the House; with the Certainty that all these secret Intrigues shall in a reasonable Time undergo a public and parliamentary Scrutiny; and that no Servant of the Company can be safe in any new Office, whilst his Behaviour in the Offices which he formerly held, on such Scrutiny remains without a satisfactory Explanation; and that the Directors shall be as responsible for the Promotions they make of Persons justly obnoxious, as the obnoxious Persons whom they promote are for their own Conduct.

Your Committee finding these Papers to contain Matter of a very extraordinary Nature, and important for the Information of the House, have thought it necessary to enter them at large in the Appendix to this Report; and also to examine William Devaynes, Esquire, and Lawrence Sullivan, Esquire, at that Time Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the East India Company, concerning Mr. Macpherson's Appointment to the Office of Counsellor in the Supreme Council of India.—The Examinations of these Gentlemen are hereafter set forth; and the several Proceedings of the Court of Directors of the 24th and 28th of November, and 15th of December 1780, of the 4th, 5th, and 10th of January 1781, and the Dissent of John Manship, Esquire (one of the Directors) of the same Date, are also annexed in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6. To these Materials Your Committee particularly request the Attention of the House, as they will afford the Grounds upon which Your Committee have formed the Opinions and Observations which they now lay before the House.

Your Committee are of Opinion, That the greatest Care and Circumspection is absolutely necessary to be observed in the Choice of Persons proper to fill the highest Stations in India; and they are confirmed and strengthened in this Opinion by a Letter from the Right Honourable Lord Stormont (then one of His Majesty's Secretaries of State) dated the 31st August 1781, to the Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the East India Company, where, in answer to a Memorial from the Court of Directors to His Majesty, praying that he would be pleased to confirm the Appointment of John Stables, Esquire, his Lordship gives it as the Opinion of His Majesty's confidential Servants, "That the Appointment to such an Office in the present critical Conjuncture, must be considered as a Matter of great National Concern; that the Situation of India required that the Supreme Council of Bengal should be filled by Men fit to govern a great Empire in War and Peace; but that the Company having unanimously chosen Mr. Stables, whose private Character had been represented to His Majesty in the fairest Light, and no other Competitor having appeared more worthy of their Choice, that therefore the King had been graciously pleased to approve the Appointment they had made, in full Confidence that Mr. Stables would discharge the Duty of this high and important Office in a Manner becoming the Character which His Majesty thought he deserved."

William Devaynes, Esquire, being asked, Whether he was in the Direction when Mr. John Macpherson was appointed a Member of the Supreme Council of Bengal? he said, He was.—Being asked, Who was then Chairman of the East India Company? he said, He was.—Being asked, Who proposed posed Mr. Macpherson in the Court of Directors for that Appointment? he said, He does not recollect—Being asked, Whether he approved his Appointment? he said, He was appointed by the Court—Being asked, Whether he approved of his Appointment? he said, It was approved of by the Court—Being asked, Whether it met his personal Approbation? he said, He begged Leave not to answer that Question—Being asked, Whether there was not a Motion made, and repeated, to enquire into the Conduct of the Company's Servants in Bengal, as a necessary Preliminary to any Appointment for filling the Vacancy occasioned by the Resignation of Mr. Barwell? he said, His Memory is not very accurate; all the Proceedings relative to that Business stand upon the Records of the Company—Being asked, Whether any Inquiry was made agreeable to a Resolution of the Court of Directors of the 15th of December 1780? he said, That Matter is upon Record also—It being then represented to Mr. Devaynes, That as the Committee do not find that Matter upon Record, they desired him to inform them, Whether he recollects if any Inquiry was made agreeable to the above Resolution? to which he said, He does not recollect that there was any—Being asked, Whether he recollects after the Resolution of the Court of Directors was taken to enter into an Inquiry, why such Inquiry was not carried on? he said, He does not know—Being asked, How soon after that Resolution for an Inquiry was Mr. Macpherson proposed? he said, About Twenty Days—Being asked, How soon after that Resolution did they agree to fill up the Vacancy? he said, It appears by the Records on the same Day—Being asked, Whether it is not the usual Mode of transacting Business in the Court of Directors, for all Propositions to be brought forward either by the Chairman or the Deputy? he said, No—Being asked, What is the usual Mode? he said, Any Member proposes any Question he pleases—Being asked, If he recollects whether he himself proposed Mr. Macpherson? he said, Every Question is proposed by the Chairman, the same as it is by the Speaker in the House of Commons, on a Motion made by any Director—Being asked, Whether the Committee is to understand, that he proposed Mr. Macpherson officially as Chairman of the Court of Directors? he said, He believes he proposed Mr. George Vanlittart, Mr. Dacres, and then Mr. Macpherson, all officially, he thinks, in the Order he has named them—Being asked, When he proposed Mr. Macpherson to be of the Council General (an Employment of the highest Trust and Power in the Company's Service) what Merits of Mr. Macpherson towards the Company did he state as a Reason for proposing him to the Court of Directors? he said, He did not state, nor did he propose—Being asked, What Station Mr. Macpherson had held in the Company's Service? he said, He does not recollect, but it will appear upon the Records—Being asked, Whether he had ever been in Office in Bengal? he said, He does not know—Being asked, If he knows whether he had ever been dismissed from the Company's Service? he said, No, he does not—Being asked, Whether he has never seen the Proceedings of the Governor and Council of Fort Saint George, of the 22d and 23d January 1776? he said, He does not know that he ever read or saw that Proceeding till within this Week—Being asked, Whether the Court of Directors was unanimous in Mr. Macpherson's Appointment? he said, He believes not—Being asked, Whether there was any Dissent to the Appointment? he said, He believes one from Mr. Manship—Being asked, Whether he recollects the Opinion of the Company's Counsel, Mr. Sayer, being read before the Court upon this Appointment? he said, He does not recollect it—Being asked, Whether he recollects the Opinion of Mr. Sayer being taken upon this Appointment? he said, No, he does not—Being asked, If he recollects whether Mr. Macpherson had ever been in any higher Rank than Factor in the Company's Service? he said, He does not rightly recollect what Rank he held—Being asked, Whether he did not, before he officially proposed him to succeed to so high an Employment, enquire into the Rank he had held in the Service, the Length of Time he had served, and his Diligence and Fidelity in Service? he said, His Character, as well as the rest of the Candidates, was talked over in the Appointment—Being asked, Whether there was any particular Testimony of any remarkable Service done by Mr. Macpherson for the Company, to entitle him to such an Appointment? he said, He does not recollect there were any in behalf of any of the Candidates—Being asked, What turned the Scale in Mr. Macpherson's Favour? he said, It appeared to be the Voice of the Court.

Being asked, Whether he thinks it is for the Company's Interest for the Court of Directors to promote an Officer, low in Station, short in Service, without any special Merit in that Service either appearing on the Company's Records or alledged by himself, above all the old Servants of the Company, who filled Stations superior to him, and for many Years? he said, It is most for the Interest of the Company to promote those Servants who are best able to do their Duty—Being asked, What Proof Mr. Macpherson had given, during his Services to the Company, of his being best able to serve them? he said, It appears that the Court of Directors were satisfied with his Pretensions—Being asked, When a Selection is made out of the Company's Servants, whether Length of Service, and Merit in that Service, ought not to be considered? he said, Certainly—Being asked, Whether any Thing was alledged or appeared concerning the Length of Time or Merits of the other Candidates in the Service? he said, It was conversed upon—Being asked, Whether that Plea, in Favour of the other Candidates, was disproved? he said, It was not attempted, that he recollects—Being asked, Whether any Thing of the Kind was alledged in Favour of Mr. Macpherson? he said, He does not recollect what passed upon that Occasion—Being asked, Whether he knows Mr. Macpherson personally? he said, He knows Mr. Macpherson, and both the other Candidates, personally—Being asked, How long he has known Mr. Macpherson? he said, He has known his Person about Three Years—Being asked, Whether he knows or has heard any Thing of his Occupation or Employment in England? he said, No, he does not—Being asked, Whether Mr. Macpherson was not recommended to him by any Person in the Service or Employment of Government? he said, Not that he recollects—Being asked, How he could know that

Mr.

Mr. Macpherson had been in the Service of the Company, without knowing that he had been removed from it? he said, He could not give any other Answer than that every Body knew it—Being asked, Whether, upon Mr. Macpherson's Appointment, the Court of Directors did examine into the Merits of his Dismissal from the Service by the Council of Fort Saint George? he said, He cannot charge his Memory with it.

Lawrence Sullivan, Esquire, being asked, Whether he was in the Direction when Mr. John Macpherson was appointed a Member of the Supreme Council of Bengal? he said, He was Deputy Chairman—Being asked, Who proposed him for that Appointment? he said, He believes the Chairman—Being asked, Whether he opposed it? he said No—Being asked, Whether there was not a Motion made, and repeated, to enquire into the Conduct of the Company's Servants in Bengal, as a necessary Preliminary to any Appointment for filling a Vacancy occasioned by the Resignation of Mr. Barwell? he said, There was a Motion made and carried for an Enquiry into the Conduct of the Company's Servants in Bengal—Being asked, Whether he voted for that Enquiry, or not? he said, He was one of those who agreed to that Motion—Being asked, Whether the Enquiry was made agreeable to the Resolution of the Court of Directors of the 15th of December 1780? he said, He does not at present recollect the Directors going into such Enquiry—Being asked, Whether he recollects, after the Resolution of the Court being taken to enter into an Enquiry, why such Enquiry was not carried on? he said, He really does not know—Being asked, Whether he recollects how soon after that Resolution passed, Mr. Macpherson was proposed? he said, It appears by the Minutes of the Court of Directors, that Mr. Macpherson was proposed the same Day—Being asked, When the Chairman proposed Mr. Macpherson to be appointed of the Council General (an Employment of the highest Trust in the Company's Service) what Merits of Mr. Macpherson towards the Company did he state as a Reason for recommending him to that Station? he said, He cannot recollect what he stated; but he believes he proposed him as the fittest Person for that Station—Being asked, Whether he thought him the fittest Person for that Station? he said, Taking into Consideration his Abilities and his Knowledge, he did consider him as a fit Person for that Station—Being asked, What Station he had held in the Company's Service? he said, He had been a Writer; and he believes, when he was dismissed, was a Factor at Fort St. George—Being asked, Whether he had ever been in Office in Bengal? he said, He believes not—Being asked, Whether he had been in any other Capacity in the Company's Service except those of Writer and Factor? he said, He believes not; though he has heard in an indistinct Way, that he went abroad as a Purser, or in some other Situation, under Captain Macleod—Being asked, How long Mr. Macpherson attended his Duty in the Capacity of a Writer and Factor resident in India? he said, As he was not a Director when he was appointed or when he was dismissed, he cannot answer that Question—Being asked, Whether, before he had formed his Judgment that he was a fit Person for so high an Employment, he enquired into his Rank, the Length of Time, and his Diligence in Service? he said, He certainly knew his Rank; and upon the Enquiries he made, he did not find any Complaints against him for Want of Diligence; and he must know his Length of Service was but short—Being asked, Whether there was any particular Testimony of any remarkable Service done to the Company by Mr. Macpherson, to compensate for the Lowness of his Rank, and the short Time of Service in that Rank? he said, He took up his Idea upon the general Opinion he entertained of his Knowledge and Abilities—Being asked, Whether he is personally acquainted with Mr. Macpherson? He said, Certainly; from his last Return from India in 1777—Being asked, Whether Mr. Macpherson stated to him any particular or special Service he had done to the Company, whilst he was in their Employ in India? he said, Not that he remembers—Being asked, Whether he thinks it is for the Company's Interest to promote an Officer, low in Station, short in Service, and without any special Merit in that Service, either appearing on the Company's Records, or alledged by himself, above all the old Servants of the Company, who filled Stations superior to him, and for many Years? he said, When the Supreme Council was first appointed, the Legislature and the Company did not seem to have in Contemplation either their Service or the Length of their Services; and for that particular Situation, he does think that Persons the fittest to fill that Station should be selected from Persons whether in or out of the Company's Service, where they should be found most fitting—Being asked, Whether, when the Selection is made out of the Company's Servants, their Length of Service, and Merit in Service, ought not to be among the Rules for estimating their Fitness for that Office? he said, Yes, provided they have Knowledge and Abilities equal or superior to others—Being asked, Whether amongst the Servants of the Company who were higher in Rank and longer in Service, no Person, equal to Mr. Macpherson in Knowledge and Abilities, was to be found? he said, He gave Mr. Macpherson his Vote because he thought him the fittest Person—Then the Question being repeated, and the Oath directed to be taken by the Directors of the East India Company before they act, being read, he said, He thought there were Persons equal in Knowledge of the Officers of the Company, but not in Abilities—Being asked, Whether he thought that Mr. Macpherson can be equal in practical Knowledge in the Company's Affairs, particularly in the Bengal Department, to those Servants of long Standing and high Rank in that Presidency? he said, He might not have equal Knowledge respecting the Bengal Department only, but he conceives that he had a very extensive Knowledge of the Affairs of the Company in general, in India—Being asked, By what Means he acquired it? he said, He cannot pretend to give an Answer to that Question—Being asked, Whether any of the Company's Servants, higher in Rank and longer in Service, have not had positive Merits with the Company?

Company? he said, He does not recollect—Being asked, How far did Mr. Macpherson employ his Abilities in the Service of the Company? he said, He does not know of any particular Instances—Being asked, Whether he heard of any Books or Publications of Mr. Macpherson's in England, relative to the Company? he said, He does not recollect that he has—Being asked, If he knows whether Mr. Macpherson was not dismissed from the Company's Service? he said, He does know that he was dismissed—Being asked, For what Offence he was dismissed? he said, He was not in the Direction at the Time, but he has heard that it related to some Transactions of Mr. Macpherson in England, for which he was questioned at Madras by the late Lord Pigot, and which ended in his Dismissal—Being asked, Whether upon his Appointment to the Supreme Council, the Court of Directors did examine into the Merits of those Transactions? he said, He thinks they did, and he does remember that the Directors took into Consideration his Dismissal, and there was read the Opinion of Mr. Sayer, the Company's Counsel, who gave his Opinion, that the Dismissal was legal and proper, but the Opinion of Mr. Wedderburne (the present Lord Loughborough) was clear, that the Dismissal was informal, and that Mr. Macpherson ought to be considered as still in the Service—Being asked, Whether the Directors inquired into the Merits of the Transaction itself, and not into the Legality or Illegality of the Dismissal only? he said, The Directors, he believes, heard all the Papers read in Court relative to the Transaction.

Being asked, Whether he has ever read the Consultations of the President and Council of Fort Saint George, of the 22d and 23d January 1776? he said, He believes he has read them—Being asked, Whether at the Time the Appointment of Mr. Macpherson was made, he did not know that he had been dismissed from the Company's Service by the President and Council of Fort Saint George, for holding Principles, and being concerned in Transactions, represented by that Council highly prejudicial to the Interest of the Company? he said, He certainly did know that such a Transaction had passed when he was not in the Direction; and as he found him restored to the Company's Service when he was in the Direction, he concluded that all those Matters had been passed over—Being asked, Whether there was any other Person who offered his Services to the Court of Directors, to succeed to the Vacancy of Mr. Barwell in the Supreme Council of Bengal? he said, He thinks Mr. George Vansittart did—Being asked, What Station had Mr. George Vansittart held in the Company's Service? he said, He thinks he had been a Member of the Council of Bengal—Being asked, Whether he recollects the Length of Mr. George Vansittart's Services? he said, He does not recollect; but as he went out a Writer, and rose gradually to the Rank of a Counsellor, he must have been there a considerable Number of Years—Being asked, In what Light the Character of Mr. George Vansittart, as a Company's Servant, was considered by the Directors? he said, It was not called in question—Being asked, Whether the Court of Directors had any Objection, or any Grounds of Objection, to make to the Conduct of Mr. George Vansittart whilst he was employed in their Service in Bengal? he said, He can only say there was none brought forward at that Time, nor did he hear that any was intended—Being asked, Whether any Ground of Objection did to his Knowledge exist? he said, He cannot say there were any—Being asked, Whether he did suppose that the Appointment of Mr. Macpherson to be a Member of the Supreme Council of Bengal, one who had never risen to a higher Rank than that of a Factor in the Service, and was dismissed from that Office by the Governor and Council of Fort Saint George, would be an Appointment acceptable to the Servants of the Company in India, his Seniors in Rank and Length of Service? he said, As he found when he returned to the Direction, Mr. Macpherson was restored to the Company's Service, he considered that all those Objections against him had been removed, and he had his Vote because he thought him the fittest Person: Mr. Sullivan further added, That he could not possibly answer to what the Servants of the Company might think upon the Subject—Being asked, Whether it was not a Principle long since established with the Company, that Length of Services and upright and faithful Conduct should be promoted and rewarded, as an Excitement to the Company's Servants in general zealously to discharge their Duty to the Company in their respective Stations? he said, It has been generally the Principle which has governed the Company in their Appointments Abroad—Being asked the Time when Mr. Macpherson was restored to the Company's Service? he said, He was not in the Direction when he was restored; but the Letter from the Court of Directors to the Governor and Council of Fort Saint George, of the 4th of July 1777, informs the Council of his Restoration—Being asked, Whether Mr. Macpherson was in the Service of the Company from the Time of his Restoration to the Time of his Appointment to the Supreme Council in India? he said, He believes he was; but did not return to India until he was appointed to the Supreme Council—Being asked, Whether Mr. Macpherson was in the Pay of the Company from the Time of his Restoration to the Time of his Appointment to the Supreme Council? he said, He believes he was not—Being asked, Whether there were any particular Reasons why Mr. Macpherson, being a Servant of the Company, should be permitted to remain in England between Three and Four Years after his Restoration? he said, He does not recollect the Reasons that he understands he assigned in the Letters he annually wrote to the Court of Directors, for Permission to remain in England.

Mr. Sullivan afterwards begged Leave to observe to the Committee, that, upon further Examination at the India House, he does not find that any Letters had been wrote by Mr. Macpherson to the Court of Directors, and that he does not recollect that any particular Reasons were assigned for their Permission for him to remain in England.

Being asked, Whether he has seen the Paper on account of which Mr. Macpherson was discharged from the Company's Service? he said, He thinks he has—Being asked, Whether he considers the Principles laid down, and the Conduct related in that Paper, to be such as to entitle a Servant of the Company to be promoted to the Supreme Council of India? he said, As Mr. Macpherson was restored to the Service before he came into the Direction, that Paper could make no Part of his Consideration, as he then stood acquitted of all those Charges by his Restoration—Being asked, Whether he knows that he ever was acquitted of the Charge of writing that Paper? he said, He never heard that he was particularly acquitted of that, but he understood, he was generally acquitted—Being asked, Whether he looked into the Company's Records, to examine of what Nature and upon what Grounds that general Acquittal was made? he said, He does not remember that he did; he found him restored, and did not consider at the Time that there was any Necessity to enter on his past Conduct—Being asked, Whether when a Servant of the Company is about to be put into a Situation of the highest Trust, from an inferior and subordinate Station, he thinks it enough to find him restored to that subordinate Station by former Directors, without any apparent Examination of the Charge against him, which appears upon the Company's Records uncontradicted and unexplained? he said, When he gave his Vote for the Appointment of Mr. Macpherson, he took into Consideration all Circumstances at the Time, and considered him as the fittest Person for that Appointment—And being asked, Whether he approves of the Object of his Commission from the Nabob of Arcot in the Year 1767, and of his Proceedings in consequence of that Commission? Mr. Sullivan repeated his Answer to the foregoing Question.

Mr. Sullivan being then asked, Whether he took into Consideration the Circumstances of the Paper produced in Consultation at Madras the 22d January 1776, and which was printed and circulated in London, and was then actually under the Consideration of the Court of Directors, and had been submitted to the Opinion of their Counsel, who gave an Opinion against the Legality of the Restoration to the Service? he said, That Paper was certainly before them at the Time, as well as an Opinion of Mr. Wedderburne, who had stated, that Mr. Macpherson's Dismissal was not legal—Being asked, Who delivered to the Court of Directors that Opinion of Mr. Wedderburne? he said, He does not know; it was in the Court on his Return to the Direction—Being asked, Whether he saw the Case on which that Opinion was given? he said, He does not recollect that he did—Being asked, Whether he does not know, that the Opinion when delivered in was not annexed to a Case? he said, He only knows that upon his coming into the Direction, an Inquiry was made, and no Case could be found, as well as he recollects—Being asked, Whether that Opinion of Mr. Wedderburne was taken by Order of the Court of Directors? he said, He has heard that it was not—Being asked, Whether Mr. Sayer's Opinion was taken by Order of the Court of Directors? he said, He believes it was—Being asked, Whether it was an Opinion upon a Case stated? he said, He believes it was—Being then asked, Why then did he prefer an Opinion given without a Case upon no Reference from the Court of Directors, and which came he knew not how under their Consideration, to an Opinion delivered upon solemn Reference to the Company's own Standing Counsel, by a regular Order of the Court of Directors, and with a Case stated agreeable to that Order? he said, He conceives that Mr. Wedderburne, when he gave that Opinion, had sufficient Information before him; and he considered Mr. Wedderburne's Opinions to be greatly superior to those of Mr. Sayer—Being asked, Whether he took any Measures to ascertain whether he had a proper Case before him? he said, No; he only judged from the Papers before the Court—Being asked, Whether he considered Mr. Sayer to be a Man of Ability and Knowledge in his Profession? he said, He recommended Mr. Sayer to the Company as a Man of Abilities in his Profession, but those Abilities were greatly impaired in the latter Part of his Life—Being asked, Of what Age Mr. Sayer was at that Time? he said, He should suppose near Seventy—Being asked, Whether he thought that a Person who considered it as difficult to persuade the Nabob of Arcot, his Employer, "That Men who would not receive his (the Nabob's) Presents, had any serious Intention to serve him," was a fit Person to be employed by the Company, in a Situation in which all Dealing in Presents was forbid by Law? he said, He begged Leave to decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether a Person "who availed himself of the Disputes which subsisted, or were commencing, between the First Lord of the Treasury and the India Directors, to enforce the Propriety of supporting the Nabob," was a fit Person to be confidentially employed in the highest Station of the Company's Service? he said, He begged Leave to decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether Mr. Macpherson's Assertions, "that he was the First Person in England to make any public Mention of the Guarantee of the Nabob of Arcot by the Treaty of Paris," rendered him a fit Person to be employed in the Company's Service? he said, He declined giving any Answer to that Question—Being asked, Whether he had read the 4th Article of Mr. Macpherson's Memorial to the Nabob of Arcot? he said, He does not recollect—Being asked, Whether he does not know that the Succession to the Nabobship of Arcot, and its Dependencies, was confirmed to the eldest Son of the Nabob Mahomed Ali, by one of the Instruments by which he held his own Government, and that this Treaty was negotiated by Lord Clive? he said, He thinks he does remember it—Being asked, Whether he does not think that the Company, and the Company's Servants, had a Right to interfere, in order to secure that Succession according to the Tenor of the Treaty? he said, Yes, surely—Being asked, Whether or not any Person proposing, and stipulating at his own Expence, to bring about an Act of Parliament, to make it a Crime in the Company's Servants against the State, to interfere with the Government and Succession of Indian Princes in Treaty with the Company, was a fit Person to be appointed of the Supreme Council of India? he said, He must decline to answer that Question Question—Being asked, Whether he called upon Mr. Macpherson for a Copy of a Proposal for the Purpose abovementioned, which in his Memorial he states to have been accepted by the Secretary, in order to be laid before Lord North and Mr. Dyson? he said, He begged Leave to decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether about the Time of Mr. Macpherson's Negotiation in England the Nabob of Arcot did not appear upon the Company's Records to be in Arrear in his Payments to the Company; that he was greatly in Debt to Individuals, as well English as Natives; and that he was borrowing (as he asserted) Money upon an exorbitant Usury, in order to pay those English their Debts? he said, He could not from his Memory speak to those Points as to Dates, but he believes the Facts as mentioned in the Question—Being asked, Whether any Agent of the Nabob of Arcot, offering to lend to the Public a Sum of £. 700,000 and upwards, at £. 2 per Cent. whilst he was in Debt to the Company, and borrowing Money at £. 20 per Cent. and upwards, and in a Place where the Company could not borrow Money at less than £. 8 per Cent. was not guilty of an Injury to the Company, and of an Attempt to deceive His Majesty's Ministers, to whom he offered this Sum of Money at that low Interest? he said, He begged Leave to decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether such Agent making an Alternative, in case the Proposal to the Public should not be accepted, of lending the same, or a greater Capital, to the Treasury, as a pretended Pledge of his Fidelity and Trust in the British State, was not, in his Opinion, a dangerous Attempt on the Constitution of this Kingdom, and a Matter highly prejudicial to the Interest of the East India Company? He declined answering that Question.

It being represented to Mr. Sullivan, that as Mr. Macpherson in his Memorial had declared that he had put Pamphlets into the Hands of His Majesty's Ministers, in which it was proposed to raise the Nabob to the Musnud of the Decan; he was asked, Whether it was not an Attempt to lead His Majesty's Ministers into a Violation of the public Faith of this Kingdom; and whether it had not a Tendency to spread Blood and Devastation through a great Part of India? he said, He must decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether he has not heard, or read upon the Records of the Company, that the Transaction in India for the Purpose of usurping the Musnud of the Decan, has not been censured by the Court of Directors in the strongest Terms as a dangerous and corrupt Transaction? he said, He must decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether he knows of any unjust Debts claimed by the Company from the Nabob of Arcot for the Expence of the late War? he said, He cannot say he does—Being asked, Whether he thinks that Mr. Macpherson pretending to proclaim in certain Publications, Royal and Ministerial Determination of supporting the Nabob, especially against any unjust Debts that might be brought against him for the Expences of the late War, rendered him a fit Person to be employed in the Supreme Government of the Company's Affairs? he said, He must decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether a Person who publishes certain pretended authoritative Letters to the Supervisors sent out for the Reformation of the Company's Affairs, in Support of the Nabob, was a fit Person to be appointed in the highest Post of Superintendency in India? he said, He begged Leave to decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether a Person whose Services are by himself stated to be of that Nature, that he could only explain in Conversations with the Nabob, was a fit Person to be employed in the highest Trust in the Company's Service? he said, He begged Leave to decline answering that Question—Being asked, Whether he does not know that in consequence of those Negotiations there did not arise the most violent Dissensions and Disputes between the Ministers sent out by the Crown to India and the Servants of the Company resident there? he said, He could not give an Answer to that Question—Being asked, Whether he has ever heard from the Chairman of the Company, that Mr. Macpherson was recommended to an Appointment in the Supreme Council by any of His Majesty's then Ministers, or those acting under them? he said, No—Being asked, On whose Recommendation he was appointed? he said, By no particular Recommendation; he applied to the Directors individually.

Extract of Fort Saint George Military Consultations, 22d January 1776.

THE Right Honourable the President acquaints the Board, that a Paper, unsought for and unsolicited, had been put into his Hand; that there was no Signature affixed to it, but that it contained Matter of so dangerous a Tendency to the Interests of the Company, that he has thought it expedient to lay it before them:

Whereupon the Paper, as delivered in by the President, is read as followeth:

A short Memorial of Services rendered to his Highness the Nabob of the Carnatic, Waulaujau, &c. &c. whom he sent upon a secret Commission to His Majesty's First Minister of State, 1767.

The Object of this Commission was to procure Relief from the Oppressions under which the Nabob was labouring, though in Alliance with Great Britain. It was necessary the Commission should be secret, as well as the Powers to execute it confined, for several Reasons.

To procure this wished-for Relief, the Means to be employed were, if possible, to raise in the Breast of the Prime Minister a favourable Respect for the Nabob; then to lay before him, not in the Mode of direct Complaint, of which he might avail himself against the Company; the Distress of the Prince; likewise to shew the Advantage which would arise to the State, from granting him the proper Protection, and supporting him in the Rights of his Alliance.

1st. Upon my Arrival at the Court of Britain, towards the End of the Year 1768, I found Two important Changes had happened in Administration: The Earl of Chatham had retired in such a Manner from Power, as convinced the most intelligent upon those Subjects, that there was little Prospect of his ever again possessing a Lead in Administration; the Earl of Shelburne had been dismissed, at the Instigation of the Duke of Grafton, from the Office of Secretary of State.

These Changes, however unexpected, did not discourage my Resolution of supporting the Cause of the Nabob; whoever had the Favour of the Sovereign, it was my Business to interest him in the Support of my Employer.—But, fortunately, the Favourite and Minister was a Personage of the first Distinction, of the noblest and most steady Principles; every Consideration pointed out his Grace as the Member of the British Empire whose Friendship and Support, next to those of the Sovereign, were the most desirable to the Cause of the Nabob; but above all, the Consideration of his being at the Head of Affairs, rendered it necessary to apply to the Duke of Grafton.

I accordingly obtained from my Patron and Friend, the Earl of Warwick, a Letter of Introduction to his Grace. With this Letter, which declared, from his Lordship's intimate Knowledge of me, me, that a perfect Dependance might be made upon my Honour and Judgment, I waited upon his Grace, and first presented him with a general State of India, and a Plan by which the Concerns of that Country might be turned to the Public Advantage; and which has since been partly adopted.

* This Plan I drew out and presented, with a View of discovering his Grace's Sentiments before I was explicit; the Consequence was favourable. I signified in some Degree my Commission; and on the 8th of December I received a Letter from his Grace to wait on him.

It was unnecessary to act with further Reserve, his Grace spoke so feelingly of the Oppression under which the Princes of India laboured from the usurped Authority of the Commercial Subjects of the State.

I then expatiated upon the superior Merits of the Nabob; shewed that he was the Person to whom Britain owed the Rise of her Power in India, that his Attachment and unsullied Honour to the English were unparalleled. I then dwelt upon the personal Merits as a Statesman and Gentleman; and shewed, that though he had Assurances of Protection under the Sovereign Hand, he was treated with Indignity, and even Tyranny.

The Letters and Credential Presents were then presented; the Answer of the Duke of Grafton did Honour to the Minister of the best of Kings and the first of Nations.

“ Sir,

“ It is my sincere Disposition that the Nabob should have every Support that is consistent with “ the Power and Interests of the Crown to give; I will gladly receive from you every Proposal upon “ that Subject, and warmly represent them to my Sovereign; and I desire you to believe, that the “ Nabob's Interest runs no Risk from my Want of Caution. If you write him, inform him of “ my Wishes for his Prosperity, and explain to him that I will not accept his Presents, however “ great my Respect for him is; I will have no Return for the just Regard I owe him as a Man,
 “ but my own Sensibility. It is from my Fidelity to my Master and Duty to my Country, that I “ will only serve him as a Minister.”

Overwhelmed with the Nobleness of this Answer, I took up the Presents, and offered them, in the Name of the Nabob, to his Grace's Secretary, Mr. Bradshaw: Upon which Mr. Bradshaw said,

“ Sir,

“ Were it in my Power to shew my Respect for the Prince you serve with such affectionate Zeal,
 “ he should have every Proof of it. You seem to merit my Regard, but you'll forfeit it if you “ insist upon my disgracing the Example of the Duke of Grafton.”

I cannot describe what I felt upon this Occasion; upon reflecting, I thought it would be difficult to persuade my Employer, that Men, who would not receive his Presents, had any serious Intentions to serve him; I likewise apprehended, that being without any Proof of having insisted upon their being received, my Want of Persuasion would be found fault with. Upon my making these Objections, the Secretary said:

“ From the Confidence the Nabob has placed in you, any Representation you are pleased to “ make him, will convince him; but we do not wish him to judge of Things from their Representa“ tion, but from their Event. If he will find his Cause espoused here, and the consequent Effects
 “ in his Situation, you will have less Difficulty in persuading him that the Minister can be his “ Friend without receiving his Presents.” This passed at a subsequent Interview, to which I was appointed, by a Letter from his Grace, on the 20th January 1769.

2d. Having represented the Nabob's Distress, and the Oppressions under which he laboured, in the most cautious Manner to his Grace, I availed myself of the Disputes which subsisted, or were rather commencing, between his Grace, as First Lord of the Treasury, and the India Directors, to enforce the Propriety of supporting the Nabob. This Dispute was about the Territorial Acquisitions of the Company. His Grace was going to refer the Decision of this Question to Parliament. I seized the Opportunity; but it is now unnecessary to be explicit upon this Subject. The Nabob may inform himself of my Arguments, by looking to the Memorial, N° 2. now in his Possession. I can only upon this Head refer to the Alteration of the Minister, and Spirit of my Writings, which had always this useful Tendency to the Nabob's Interest, they shewed that the firm Support of his Highness in the Rights of his Guarantee by the Crown, was the best Restraint which Government had upon the Usurpations of the Servants of a certain Company.

The Nabob will likewise be pleased to inform himself, whether there was ever any public Mention made of his Guarantee, by Article 11th of the Treaty of Paris, prior to my Applications for him in England—I remember none.

3d. The cautious Manner in which I presented the Nabob's Applications to the Duke of Grafton, in his Ministerial Character. My prefatory Address to those Applications was in these Words:

“ To his Grace, and &c. &c. &c.

“ It is not solely in your Character of First Minister of the British Empire, that your Grace is “ expected

“ expected to receive these Applications in Favour of the Nabob ; they are likewise addressed to your Grace as the Personage whose Rank, Greatness, and Liberality of Mind, render you the most worthy of receiving the Address of Princes who are allied to your Nation ; as your Zeal and Influence in the Service of your Country, and Sensibility of the Rights of Mankind, render your Grace the most capable of preserving those Alliances, to the mutual Advantage of the State and the Princes on whom they are bestowed.”

From the Tenor of my Applications and Representations of the Nabob's Merits, I will venture to say that I have obtained him the Friendship and Esteem of his Grace ; of this the Nabob I hope is not insensible.

4th. The Steps I took, at my own proposed Expence, to bring about an Act of Parliament, limiting the Power of the Company's Servants, and making it a Crime in them against the State, to interfere with the Government and Succession of the India Princes in Treaty with the Company, and my Endeavour to make this Act particularly relative to the Nabob and his Posterity.

A Copy of my Proposal to this Purpose, accepted by the Secretary, of my Correction, that he might afterwards lay it before Lord North and Mr. Dyson, is now in the Hands of the Nabob here : His Highness will see that I stipulated to be at the Expences of the Act, &c. out of my Pocket ; the Utility of it he will I hope be sensible of.

5th. The Manner in which I executed the Nabob's first and grand Injunction to me, his Desire of sending a Capital of Seventy Lacks of Rupees to the Public, at the low Interest of Two per Cent. The Words of my Proposal upon this Subject to his Grace, as First Lord of His Majesty's Treasury, as follows :

“ The Nabob, from his Knowledge of Security of the British Funds, the precarious Tenure of pecuniary Property in India, and his Desire of providing for his youngest Children, proposes to invest a Capital of 70 Lacks of Rupees, in any of the National Stocks of Britain, as the Minister would direct him ; the Money would be remitted to Europe in Three Annual Payments. On Receipt of these Sums, Obligations drawn up, so that the Nabob might be secure his Property should be remitted to him.”

“ If the foregoing Proposal should not be agreeable, the Nabob would lend the same or a greater Capital to the Treasury, as a Pledge of his Fidelity towards and Trust in the British State.”

It is impossible for me to express the noble and respectable Idea which this confidential Proposal gave of the Nabob to the Minister.

My subsequent and frequent Interviews with the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Bradshaw, as appears by his Letters, which are in the Order of their Dates in 1769, May 16th, 17th 30th, June 17th, July 7th, September 27th, 17th 30th, October 19th, November ;—in 1770, January 13th, February 9th, &c. &c. &c. These Interviews were all to advance the Nabob's Interest : I cannot recapitulate the interesting Subjects of them here ; they might afford Subject for a Volume ; they are not now so material, since the Object sought in Confidence is obtained, His Majesty has been pleased to grant the Support.

6th. My going to Sir John Lindsay at his House in Bentinck-street, at the Time he was getting his Secret Commission, and my recommending to him then, and there after by a Letter, in a warm Manner, to support the Nabob ; my urging him to wait on the Duke of Grafton, to get a more enlarged Commission. Sir John Lindsay's Answer to me upon this Occasion was much in the Style of a Gentleman and Minister ; he said, “ He would disinterestedly support the Nabob according to his Powers from his Master ; that his Commission came immediately through Lord Weymouth the Secretary of State, and that he would wait on the Duke of Grafton out of Compliment due to the Minister.”

This might be one Cause why the Duke said only to him, when he did wait, “ Take Care the Servants of the Company do not make War to the Prejudice of the State and its Allies, for their own Emolument.”—Sir John will, I hope, attest for me here, how I wanted him to be present at the Account I gave the Nabob of the Discharge of my Commission ; his Reasons were ministerial for not being present.

To this I will add the Steps I took in London to procure the Nabob a Security against the Supervisors, by endeavouring to find out Mr. Vanstuart's Intention under his own Hand ; this I did in a Manner I cannot publicly explain ; Mr. Vanstuart's Letter will shew this, and the Use to which I turned it for the Nabob.

7th. The Friends I interested in the Nabob's Prosperity (besides those of the Ministry I addressed) and that without discovering to them my Commission.—Those Friends I interested for the Nabob, for fear of a Change in Administration ; the Chief of them is the Earl of Shelburne, whom I found very inquisitive in his Conversation about the Affairs of the Carnatic, as may appear by a Letter with which I was honoured by his Lordship ; I wrote his Lordship over Land from the Malabar Coast, after Receipts of my Charge from the Nabob ; but he was out of Ministry upon my Arrival in England, and violently in Opposition. I never asked whether he received my Letter, though I believe believe he did, for he judged me to be in the Nabob's Interest. I could not explain any Thing to his Lordship, but at his Request sent him the Pamphlets about the Nabob's Affairs, especially that where it was proposed to raise the Nabob to the Musnud of the Decan: "You see, (said his Lordship,) how attentive I am to these Subjects." "I request your Lordship to continue so," was my Answer. This passed when I took Leave. He spoke well of the Nabob, and told me he had presented the fine Diamond Ring by Mr. Palk to His Majesty.

The Earl of Warwick, Lord Grenville, &c.—the Friendship of the Earl of Warwick is so disinterested, that he forbids any Return of Presents to them: I might add many other respectable Names, but Circumstances forbid.

8th. My Publications for a Year and a Half in Favour of the Nabob.—The Aim of these Publications was to interest not Ministers and Directors alone in his Favour, but the whole British Nation. See the Letters in the Public Advertiser, signed and the Letters dated from Arlington Street, where the Minister lived.

In these Publications I proclaimed the Royal and Ministerial Determination of supporting the Nabob; especially against any unjust Debts that might be brought against him for the Expences of the last War. Let those Essays speak for themselves; but I will venture to assert, that relative to the Expence of the War, I have rendered a signal Service to the Nabob.

But from all my Publications in Favour of the Nabob, I must distinguish the Character and Print of him, which I published in Major Dowe's History, Second Edition; and the Article I got inserted in the same History, vindicating the Nabob's Father, Anveruldeen Cawn, from a Charge the Historian had fixed upon him, that of murdering his Predecessor Abdalla.

Copies of his History so printed at a great Expence, were put in the Hands of the Ministry, with what related to the Nabob in red Characters.

The Cause of this Publication in Support of the Nabob's Honour, was a Suspicion that his Enemies were whispering against his Fidelity to the English, upon the Arrival of the Dutton (1769) Indiaman, from India in December; which Event detained me Half a Year longer at the Court of London. It was upon this Occasion I addressed the authoritative Letter in Support of the Nabob to the Supervisors in the Public Advertiser.

A very effectual, though more general Service, that those Publications rendered, was, first to the Nabob—The Restraint they occasioned at the India House, and the Lights they gave, the able, attentive Secretary, Mr. Wood, a Person of his Honour, will admit.

9th. That I returned to India, endured a most perilous Voyage, to render my Negotiation effectual to the Nabob's Interest, not to solicit Rewards and Expences, which I might have had better perhaps remitted to me in England.

But above all, that I have spent the greater Part of my Fortune, and Four Years of the most interesting Period of my Life, in rendering these Services, and others, which I can only explain in Conversations to the Nabob.

In Answer to this Memorial, those who attend solely to the Nabob's immediate Convenience, will ask, what Proofs have you brought of those Services?

This is a Question which the Nabob himself will be cautious of putting; but the Answer would cause no Embarrassment.

The Event of the Negotiation, my Honour unforfeited, and in which the Trust and Confidence were put, in the Time of the Nabob's Distress; the Letters under the Hands and Seals of the Duke of Grafton and the Secretary of the Treasury, attesting to that Honour; other Letters from the Nabob's Friends; my Publications; the Particulars of this Memorial; my Request at my Arrival here, that His Majesty's Minister should be present at the Account I gave of my Negotiation; my ready and earnest Desire to give the Nabob, under my Hand and Seal, this Memorial of a secret Negotiation, without receiving the Expences I incurred, and the Rewards promised for effecting the Business I undertook.

What other Proofs are wanted? If there are any more wanted, they must be obtained by Command of His Majesty to His Ministry: The Negotiation becomes then a Public one. I have in that Event the Happiness to feel that I have done my Duty as a Man of Honour and Fidelity to the Trust reposed in me by the Nabob, as a faithful Subject to His Majesty.

The only Bonds I had for the Expences that I was to incur, and my proposed Services, were the Honour and Gratitude of the Nabob, which will never be forfeited to his most faithful Servant.

At the Desire of the President, Mr. Macpherson is then called before the Board; and upon being asked, Whether or not he is the Author of it? the same being first read to him, he replies, "That it is impossible for him to give a precise Answer to that Question, the Paper being neither wrote in his Hand, nor signed by him; nor does the President inform him that he has received it from any Authority;—it is a Paper of considerable Length, and refers to Transactions previous to his being in the Company's Service."

Mr. Macpherson is then ordered to withdraw.

Copy of Fort Saint George Military Consultation, the 23d January 1776.

P R E S E N T,

The Right honourable Lord Pigot, Governor, President,
George Stratton;	Sir Robert Fletcher;
George Dawson,	Henry Brooke,
Claud Ruffell,	Alex <sup>r</sup> Dalrymple;
Francis Jourdan;	George Mackay.

The Minutes of last Consultation read.

The Right honourable the President having given Time to consider the Subject of what passed in Yesterday's Consultation, at which Mr. Macpherson, when sent for before the Board, and asked, "If he was the Author of the Memorial then read to him," in an evasive Manner replied, that "He could not give a precise Answer; that it was not written in his Hand, nor signed by him; and "that it referred to Transactions before he was in the Company's Service," the President observes to the Board, that a Person holding such Principles; and being concerned in such Transactions, who at the same Time should apply to be appointed into the Service of that Community whom he was endeavouring to destroy, was, instead of an Extenuation, the highest Aggravation; and that Mr. Macpherson's Reply is a clear Proof, not only that he is the Author, but he still holds the same Principles, unfaithful to the Company, and ruinous to their Interest, and is therefore a very improper Person to remain in their Service: On which Account he strongly recommends to the Board, "that John Macpherson be dismissed from the Company's Service;" which Instance of condign Punishment, he has great Reason to think, will tend very much to bring the Affairs of the Company to Order.

Carried in the Affirmative by a Majority of the Board, Nine to Two.

Messrs. Stratton, Brooke, Jourdan, and Mackay, deliver in the following Minutes.

We assent to the Motion of the Right honourable President. We own we are satisfied that Mr. Macpherson is the Author of the Paper which was delivered at the Board by the President, and read to Mr. Macpherson. Because we think a Man of the intriguing Disposition which that Paper shews Mr. Macpherson to be, is very unfit to be employed as a Servant of the Company; but more especially, because we believe Mr. Macpherson has been concerned in the Intrigues, which the greater Part of the Board must be sensible have lately been carried on at the Nabob's Durbar, to the Detriment of the Company's Service, and which may have impeded the Execution of their late Orders.

We think, that the peculiar Circumstances of the Case, and the present critical Situation of Affairs, not only render such an Example necessary, but justify the Manner of doing it. Nevertheless, we are fully and clearly of Opinion, that in general, when a Charge may be made against any Servant of the Company, the Mode prescribed in the 20th Article of their printed Regulations to Bengal, bearing Date ought to be strictly adhered to; nor ever deviated from, but when some particular Emergency may require an immediate Example.

Geo. Stratton,
Henry Brooke,
Francis Jourdan,
Geo. Mackay.

Mr. Stratton subscribes to every Part of the foregoing Minute, except referring to the 20th Paragraph of the printed Instructions; for he does not look on them as any ways binding in us; notwithstanding which, he is of Opinion that in Cases where a Charge is wanted to be proved, a sufficient Time should be given to the Party to make his Defence—In the Case of Mr. Macpherson this does not appear to Mr. Stratton any ways necessary; for had not Mr. Macpherson been the Author of the Paper, he was at full Liberty to say so when called upon; but as his Answer implies that he was the Author, Mr. Stratton therefore gave his Assent to the Resolution taken by the Majority of the Board.

Geo. Stratton.

General Sir Robert Fletcher desires that his Opinion may be entered as followeth:

Sir Robert Fletcher cannot consent to the Dismissal of Mr. Macpherson; because he thinks the Case of Mr. Macpherson comes within the 20th Article of the Company's Instructions; a Mode of Proceeding which the Board has not observed.

A P P E N D I X, N° 1, 2.

Mr. Palmer dissents from the Resolution of the Majority.

Although Mr. Palmer thinks Mr. Macpherson's Conduct deserving of Censure, yet he cannot but dissent from the Opinion of the Board in dismissing him the Service; as so great a Space of Time has elapsed since the Time of the Transactions of Complaint against him; and that at the Time the Circumstance did happen, Mr. Macpherson was not a Servant of the Company.

Archdale Palmer.

The following Letter being wrote and approved, the Secretary is ordered to send it to Mr. Macpherson.

To Mr. John Macpherson.

Sir,

I am commanded by the Right Honourable the President and Council to acquaint you, that they have thought proper to dismiss you from the Service of the East India Company; and you are hereby dismissed accordingly.

Dated in Fort Saint George, the 23d January 1776.

Secretary.

Extract of Fort Saint George Military Consultations, 5th February 1776.

P R E S E N T, as before

R E A D the following Letter from Mr. Macpherson:

My Lord, and Gentlemen,

Choultry Plain, 1st February 1776.

I have received a Letter from Mr. Secretary Sullivan, dated the 23d of January, in which he informs me that you have been pleased to dismiss me from the Service of the Honourable Company.

That a Punishment the severest you could inflict, and so deeply injurious to my Honour and Interest, should precede any Advertisement given me of a Delinquency, cannot but affect me with Astonishment and Concern.

From the Commencement of my Service to the Company, this Government has, till now, distinguished me with Favour, and was often pleased to honour me with Marks of the greatest Confidence. I had every Reason to expect a Continuance of the same Favour under the Administration of the noble Person now at the Head of the Government, whose Character I had long respected and admired.

Considerations of Gratitude and Obedience, founded upon these Circumstances, have induced me for some Days to submit silently to my Dismissal. I thought the Board, if even disregarding of my Situation, would, in Justice to themselves and their Superiors, have ordered me a Copy of their Proceedings against me. I now find that any longer Silence may be prejudicial to me. I consider that my Defence, which, in Justice and Propriety, ought to accompany the Account of my Dismissal, may be frustrated for the present, by the speedy Departure of the Ship now under Dispatch for Europe.

It cannot surely be displeasing to the Honourable Board that I should claim the Privilege of a Defence, though in that Defence must be involved a Complaint of my having been dismissed without a Hearing.

Every Englishman, I hope, believes that a Liberty of Defence and Justification to the Accused, is an established Right under every regular Government, and entirely consonant to the Principles of natural Justice and the common Law of England. The Company, far from precluding their Servants from this Right, have lately and expressly established it to them upon the firmest Basis, in their printed Instructions founded upon an Act of Parliament.

Though you have thought proper to cut me off from every Privilege belonging to a Company's Servant, by the Act which you have been pleased to enforce against me, I have still the Happiness to believe, that you have no Intention to deprive me of future Redress. Conscious of Integrity and Fidelity in all my Actions, either as a Subject to His Majesty or a Servant of the Company. I place your Resolution of Dismission entirely to the Account of Misrepresentation or Misunderstanding. It is therefore my most ardent Wish to pursue a Line of Vindication worthy of the Character I profess; open, candid, and liberal. I am not destitute of Personal Friends in England: I might even claim the Honour of ranking among them Names of Weight in the Company and Lustre in the State. It is, at the same Time, my Intention not to drop in private Representation a single Suggestion which I would not wish recorded upon your Consultations. I desire to owe nothing to Favour, but to stand acquitted or condemned upon the Grounds of the Proceedings against me.

In order therefore that I may openly avail myself of the Course of Justice to the Tribunal of the Honourable the Court of Directors, I take the Liberty to request that the Board would inform me by Letter, whether any Accusation has been preferred against me? and if so, what the Nature of that Accusation is, and who is my Accuser?—If informed in the Manner I request upon these Subjects, and upon being furnished with a Copy of the Proceedings against me, I will do myself the Pleasure of transmitting, through the Board, my Vindication and Defence for their Remarks, and for the Judgment of the Honourable Company.

I have the Honour to be,
My Lord, and Gentlemen,

with very great Respect,

Your most obedient,

and most humble Servant,

John Macpherson.

Ordered, That Mr. Macpherson be furnished with a Copy of the Proceedings against him.

Case respecting Mr. Macpherson's Dismission, and Mr. Sayer's Opinion thereupon.

PLEASE to see the Paper herewith, intituled, "Extracts of Minutes of Consultation, relative to the Dismission of Mr. John Macpherson."

Also his Letter to the Court of Directors.

Also see the Act of Parliament of 13th Geo. III. Cap. 64. respecting the Mode of restoring Servants of the Company who are dismissed for Misbehaviour.

It appears that Mr. Macpherson was not taken into the Company's Service till 9th October 1769; when he was appointed a Writer; and on the 30th of that Month he entered into the usual Covenants with the Company, engaging to serve them for Five Years from the Time of his Arrival at Fort Saint George.

Your Opinion is desired, Whether, if the Company shall see it proper to restore Mr. Macpherson to the Company's Service, it may be done by the Majority of the Court of Directors, or whether it will require a Vote of Three-fourths of the Directors and Three-fourths of the Proprietors, in the Mode prescribed by the Act of Parliament?

I have read Extracts of Minutes of Consultations, relative to the Dismission of Mr. John Macpherson; also his Letter to the Court of Directors.

I think Mr. Macpherson was informally dismissed the Company's Service, and I do not think he can be restored without the Votes of Three-fourths of the Directors and Three-fourths of the Proprietors, under the Act of the 13th of George the Third: And it is worth while considering, if Mr. Macpherson should be restored, whether he is a proper Person to be continued in the Company's Service. He has in my Opinion, too much Connection with the Nabob of Arcot; and when the Company's Interest and Nabob's are opposite, as they will often happen, they will greatly disturb a Man of Honour and Integrity.

C. Sayer.

Mr. Wedderburne's Opinion on Mr. Macpherson's Dismission.

MR. Macpherson is still in the Company's Service: The Act of the Governor and Council, on the 23d of January 1776, ought to be of no Effect, for they have exceeded their Authority, in proceeding against Mr. Macpherson without a Charge in Writing delivered to him, and Time given to make his Defence to it. The Instructions of the Company, in this Respect, require no more than Reason and Justice demand in all Cases of Censure; it is singular, and but for this Instance, one should have thought it unnecessary to establish so obvious a Principle, as a Matter of positive Regulation; but fortunately the Regulation exists in this Case, and it renders the Act of the Governor and Council not only reverfible, because of the Injustice committed, but void for want of Authority. The Power to difmifs, in the Manner they have done, is not committed to them; and Mr. Macpherson's Cafe requires only a Signification of the Difpleasure of the Directors at fo plain a Breach of the Company's Orders, and Direction to restore to him the Emoluments of his Station, of which he may have been deprived by the irregular Attempt to difmifs him.

Extract of Bengal Public Consultations, the 7th July 1781.

The Honourable Warren Hastings, Governor General, President,
and

Edward Wheler, Esquire.

Lieut. General Sir Eyre Coote absent on Service at Fort St. George.

The Governor General delivers in the following Minute:

Governor General.

Our Seizure of the Dutch Settlement at Chinsura has brought under the Power of this Government a great Body of People, who are at present not amenable to any Civil Tribunal, the Authority of their former Magistrates having been annihilated by the Conquest; and among these is a very considerable Number of European Foreigners, of different Nations, who do not fall within the Description of Persons subject to the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Judicature, and who cannot, cannot, without manifest Inconvenience, be rendered amenable to the ordinary Courts of Dewanny Adaulut, or to the Foujedarry Courts.

Natural Justice, and the Honour of the English Nation, always remarkable for the Mildness of its Conquests, and the Equity of its Government, seem to require, that for the Ease and Security of these People, and particularly of the Europeans, a Judge be appointed to distribute Justice at Chinsura, with as little Deviation from those Modes to which the Inhabitants have been accustomed, as their present Circumstances and the Public Welfare will permit.

The Dignity, and perhaps the Safety of Government, demand that he be not one of the People newly subdued, but a British Subject; and for the Ease and Satisfaction of the Suitors in his Court, it is necessary that he have more Knowledge of Jurisprudence, both English and Foreign, than any Gentleman who is not by Profession a Lawyer can be expected to possess.

The Want of such a judicial Magistrate at the French Settlement of Chandernagore, hath not been so much felt as it would be in the more populous and thriving Town of Chinsura: The same Inconvenience however subsists, though fewer Persons are affected by it; and as the French and Dutch Districts are adjacent to each other, it seems to be expedient that they should be united in their Subjection to such a Judicature when it shall be constituted.

It is therefore proposed, That a Court of Civil and Criminal Justice be established at Chinsura, which shall be called "The Court of Justice at Chinsura," and shall have Jurisdiction over that Town and Settlement, and the whole District or Territory thereunto belonging, and also over the Town, Settlement, and District of Chandernagore: That the Criminal Jurisdiction thereof within the District of Chinsura, do extend to such Crimes there committed, and such only as heretofore fell under the Cognizance of the Director, or of the Fiscal, or of some other Dutch Magistrate of that Place: That the Civil Jurisdiction within the same District, do extend to all Causes over which any Court heretofore held by the Dutch Director and Council, or by any one of them, or by any other Magistrate there, had Power to decide: And that in like Manner the Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction, to be exercised by the said Court over Offences committed within the District of Chandernagore, or over Persons living in the said District, or otherwise amenable as belonging thereto, shall be limited by the Civil and Criminal Powers heretofore exercised by the respective Civil and Criminal Magistrates under the French Government.

It is further proposed, That in this Court a single Judge shall preside and distribute Justice, who shall be styled "President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura."

It might not be proper to declare, that Persons holding Offices under the Company, in Chinsura or Chandernagore, shall be liable to be sued in the Court of Justice at Chinsura, because their proper Tribunal is the Supreme Court of Judicature at Calcutta; but it is conceived to be for the Good of the Inhabitants, and it is therefore proposed, That if Complaint be made, by any Person whatsoever, to the President of the said Court of Justice at Chinsura, against any of the Commissaries appointed by this Board, or against any other Civil Officer acting under this Government, in the District of Chinsura or in that of Chandernagore, for any Misbehaviour in the Exercise of his Office, or for any Cause whatsoever arising within either of the said Districts, the said President may, if he shall think fit, receive and hear the said Complaint, and also the Evidence offered in Support thereof, and may, in his Discretion, either dismiss the same or make a Report thereon to this Board; provided always, that he shall make no such Report without first summoning the Party complained against to answer to the Charge, and giving him such an Opportunity to defend himself, if he chooses to make any Defence, as Justice shall require.

Lastly, It is proposed that Sir Robert Chambers be desired to accept the said Office of President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura; and that, on his Acceptance, he be immediately appointed thereto. I am aware that further Regulations will be necessary concerning the Constitution of this Court, and the Mode of Proceeding; but in the framing of these the Board will probably desire the Opinion and Assistance of the Judge after his Appointment.

Agreed, That the foregoing be considered as Resolutions of the Board, and transmitted to the Commissaries for their Information and Guidance; and that a Salary of 3,000 Sicca Rupees per Month be annexed to the Office of President of the Court of Judicature at Chinsura, to be paid by the Commissaries.

Extract of Bengal Public Consultations, the 20th July 1781.

Edward Wheler, Esquire.

The Honourable the Governor General absent on a Visit to the Northern Provinces, Lieutenant General Sir Eyre Coote absent on Service at Fort Saint George.

Read the following Letter from Sir Robert Chambers:

Honourable Sir, and Sirs,

I think myself very highly honoured by your obliging Offer, communicated to me by your Secretary,

Secretary, of the Office of President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura; an Office which, as it is now constituted by the Resolution of your Honourable Board, requires not only a Knowledge of English Jurisprudence, and of the Manners and Customs of the Natives of Bengal, but also some Acquaintance with the Civil Law, as received by the Dutch and French, and with the municipal Laws of those Nations.

It would ill become me to decline an Employment of Importance to the Public, for which you have been pleased to deem me qualified, and which is properly connected with my Profession: I therefore accept, with Thanks, the Office of President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura, with the Powers annexed to it by your Resolution of the 7th Instant, and subject to such Alterations as you may hereafter think fit to make therein. Whatever may be my own Defects, or the Difficulties of my Station, I shall endeavour to supply those Defects, and surmount those Difficulties, by Diligence, Attention, and Fidelity; not doubting that I shall thereby give Satisfaction to those among whom I am to distribute Justice, and be honoured with your Approbation.

I shall take Care so to adjust the Forms of Proceeding in the Court which I am to hold, and the Times of holding it, that the Purposes of the Establishment may be fully answered, without any Encroachment on the Terms, or other Seasons of Business, in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William.

Fort William,
9th July 1781.

I have the Honour, &c.
(Signed) Robert Chambers.

Mr. Wheler delivers in the following Minute:

Sir Robert Chambers having agreed to accept the Office of President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura, as constituted by the Board on the 7th Instant, he is appointed to and confirmed in the said Office; and it is hereby declared, that his Appointment shall be considered as having taken place from that Date.

To prevent any Doubt that might arise concerning the Powers conferred on the said President by the Resolution of this Board on the 7th Instant, it is hereby declared and resolved, That beside the Authority and superintending Power over the Civil Officers of this Government in the Districts of Chinsura and Chandernagore, given to the said President by the said Resolution, he shall and may exercise over the Town, Settlement, and District of Chinsura, and all the Inhabitants thereof, all such Powers and Authorities respecting the Administration of Justice, or the Police and good Order of the said Settlement, as were heretofore enjoyed or exercised by the Director and Council, or any of them, or by the Fiscal, or any other Magistrate under the Dutch Government; that he shall and may exercise over the Town, Settlement, and District of Chandernagore, and the Inhabitants thereof, all such Powers and Authorities respecting the Administration of Justice, or the Police and good Order of the said Settlement, as were heretofore exercised or enjoyed by the French Commandant or Governor, or any other Magistrate appointed by or under the French Government; and that every European and reputed European, not being a British Subject, or otherwise subjected to the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, who shall be resident at any Place within these Provinces, other than in Calcutta, or in some of the Factories subordinate thereto, and who would, if the said Settlements of Chinsura and Chandernagore had not been taken by the Arms of Great Britain, have been amenable to any Court of Justice or Magistrate in either of the said Settlements (whether on account of native Allegiance, or for any other Reason) shall be amenable to the Court of Justice at Chinsura, in like Manner as he would have been to such Court or Magistrate, to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever.

Whereas the Town of Baranagur, lately belonging to the Dutch, has been usually by them considered as subordinate to Chinsura, has been in fact subject to the Jurisdiction and Power of the Director, and of the Fiscal, or of some other Magistrate of Chinsura, and may, on account of its Vicinity, conveniently be made amenable to the same Judicature and Authority with that Place; it is therefore Resolved, That the said Town of Baranagur, with the District thereunto belonging, shall be subject to the Jurisdiction of the Court of Justice at Chinsura, newly established; and that the President of the said Court may and shall have and exercise over the said Town and District, and the Inhabitants thereof, the same Jurisdiction, and the same Powers and Authorities, of whatsoever Kind, which he hath and may exercise in the Town, Settlement, and District of Chinsura.

Whereas several of the Judicial Powers now conferred by this Board on the President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura, have for some Time past been exercised within the Town and District of Chandernagore, by an Officer (usually called the Zemindar Jemadar) appointed by this Government since the Capture of that Settlement from the French; which Office is now enjoyed by Mr. Henry Richardson: And whereas it is the Intention of this Board, that the said Officer shall for the future act only as an Assistant to the President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura, in the Preservation of the Peace and good Order of the Town and District of Chandernagore, under the Direction and Controul of the said President: And whereas Mr. George Richard Foley hath lately been appointed Jemadar of Chinsura, for the Purpose of being in like Manner assistant to the said President in the Preservation of the Peace and good Order of the Town and District of Chin-

Chinsura, under the Direction and Controul of the said President: Now it is hereby Resolved and Declared, That the said Two Officers are, and both they and their respective Superiors shall henceforth be, Ministerial Peace Officers; who shall and are hereby required to act under the Orders of the said President, in the Preservation of the Peace and good Order of their respective Districts; that they shall in all Things obey the Directions and Commands of the said President, whether verbal or in Writing, concerning the Performance of the Duties of their respective Offices, or any Matter therewith connected; and that neither of them shall have or exercise any Power or Authority but such as shall be delegated or expressly allowed to them, or either of them, in their respective Districts, by the said President: Provided, That if either of them the said Jemmadars or Peace Officers shall wilfully disobey or neglect to perform any such Command or Direction of the said President as aforesaid, or shall be guilty of any Neglect or Misbehaviour in the Exercise of his Office, he shall be liable to be suspended from his said Office by Order of the said President or the Court of Justice at Chinsura, until the Governor General and Council shall, upon Report to be made to them by the said President, have examined into and determined upon the Matter reported to them.

Resolved, That Mr. Foley, and Mr. Richardson, the Commissaries at Chinsura, Mr. Patterson, the Commissary at Baranagur, and Mr. Malony, Commissary at Chandernagore, be acquainted with the Jurisdiction, Powers, and Authorities conferred on the President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura, by the several Resolutions of this Board, made on the 7th Instant, and on this Day, and with the Appointment of Sir Robert Chambers to the said Office: And that Mr. Foley and Mr. Richardson be directed to wait on Sir Robert Chambers for their Instructions as soon as he shall arrive at Chinsura.

Resolved, That Orders be sent to the Military Officer commanding in Chinsura and Chandernagore, that if the President of the Court of Justice at Chinsura shall at any Time require from him the Assistance of Sepoys for the Preservation of the Peace, or for any other Purpose respecting the Exercise of the said President's Office, he do immediately afford such Assistance, without waiting for any special Order: And also that he do, at all Times when the said President shall be resident in Chinsura or in Chandernagore, supply him with Sentinels, and pay him, as Occasion shall require, such Military Honours as are due to his Rank, and may serve to make him known to the Native Inhabitants as the Chief Magistrate of Chinsura and Chandernagore.

Resolved, That the Commissaries at Chinsura be furnished with a Copy of the above Resolutions, that they be required to deliver forthwith to Sir Robert Chambers, all such Records and Papers as shall have come to their Hands respecting the Office of Fiscal, the Judicial Authority of the late Director and Council, or any other Dutch Magistrate, or respecting in any Manner the Administration of Justice, or of the Police of the Town and District of Chinsura.

Agreed to and Resolved, That the above be considered as Resolutions of the Board.

An Establishment of Officers for European Business at Chinsura, proposed by Sir Robert Chambers.

SELECT COMMITTEE, &c.

The Select Committee, appointed to take into Consideration the State of the Administration of Justice in the Provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, and to report the same as it shall appear to them to the House, with their Observations thereupon; and who were instructed to consider how the British Possessions in the East Indies may be held and governed with the greatest Security and Advantage to this Country, and by what Means the Happiness of the Native Inhabitants may be best promoted;

HAVING observed in their former Report that Mr. Francis had, in a Letter to the Court of Directors, which they inserted in the Appendix to that Report, charged that Court, in distinct and unqualified Terms, with little less than an entire Neglect of their Duty in many of its most essential Parts, and in particular with the constant Support of certain of their Servants in an open Disobedience of their Orders, have thought proper to examine Mr. Francis on that Letter, who, attending according to Order, was asked,

Whether his Letter, dated the 12th October, 1780 (see First Report, Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 8.) was a Letter wrote in the Moment of Resentment, or whether it is a Letter the Result of Reflection, and if he is ready to prove the Charges contained therein? he said, It was written with Deliberation; he did expect that at some Period or other he should be called upon to make good the Contents of it; and that he had already informed the Committee, that he believed he should be able to do so.—The Witness being then desired to explain to the Committee wherein he thought the Court of Directors had suffered their fundamental Principles of Policy to be overset, and their Instructions and Orders to be disobeyed with Impunity? he said, The Principles of Policy which were stated to him at the Time of his Appointment as the fundamental Principles of the Company, and which he found prescribed and established by their General Instructions to the Governor General and Council, and by various other Letters from the Court of Directors to their Presidencies Abroad, all of which were of equal Authority to the Governor General and Council with their Instructions, appear to him to be the following:

The Court of Directors censured and condemned the whole Transaction of the Rohilla War in the strongest Terms; but they never to his Knowledge proceeded to any Punishment or Penalty against those Members of their Government whose Acts they had so condemned.

Nothing can be more particularly expressed than their Declarations and consequent Injunctions to their Servants, not to extend their Territorial Acquisitions, more especially on the Malabar Coast, where they they say, " That it is their Resolution never to look beyond the Possession of Salset and Bassin, " supposing that could be obtained by Treaty ;" and he begs Leave to refer the Committee to the Letters of the Court of Directors to Bombay, of the 31st of March 1769, and the 12th of April 1775, on the Subject. (Vide Appendix, N° 1, and 2.)

The Committee will find, that the Engagement of the Presidency of Bombay with Ragobah are totally incompatible with these Principles ; but that they have nevertheless received Encouragement from the Court of Directors.

The various Expeditions which have taken Place within these few Years, under Colonel Leslie, Colonel Goddard, Major Popham, and Major Carnac, from Bengal, and under Colonel Egerton on the Malabar Coast, appear to him incompatible with the Company's Orders " never to employ their " Troops in distant Expeditions, or otherwise than in the Defence of their Possessions, or those of " their Allies."

The Negotiation carried on, and Treaties made with the Rana of Gohude, with Moodajee Boosla, the Rajah of Berar, and with Ragobah, are not to be reconciled with the Company's Orders, which are, " To take Care that in all Treaties with the Country Powers, they be so framed as to be neither im- " mediately nor eventually possible to engage the Company in any Disputes with those Powers."

Finally, The Company's declared Resolution " to adhere and keep inviolable the Faith of " Treaties," appears to the Witness to have been disregarded and violated by those Acts of the Go- vernment of Bengal, by which the Provinces of Korah and Allahabad were sold to the late Vizier Sujah Dowla, and the Tribute which the Company had agreed to pay to the King Shah Allum was stopped, because his Right, as well to the Provinces as to the Tribute, was formed on a specific Treaty ; and also by those Acts of the Presidency of Bombay, which produced a Rupture between them and the Maratta Government at Poona, " First in December 1774, when they took Possession " of Salset by Surprize, and again in November 1778, when they marched an Army towards " Poona, for the avowed Purpose of overthrowing a Government from which they never pretended to " have received an Injury of any Kind."

With respect to the Company's Instructions and Orders being disobeyed with Impunity, Mr. Francis stated to the Committee, that Mr. Bristow was dismissed from his Office of Resident with the Nabob of Oude in December 1776 (Vide Appendix, N° 3 (E) ; Mr. Francis Fowke was dismissed at the same Time from the Office of Resident at Benares (Vide Appendix, N° 4 (C) ; and both of them without a Charge or Imputation of any Kind, contrary to the 20th Article of the Company's General Instructions to the Governor General and Council. (Vide Appendix, N° 5.)

Mahomed Reza Cawn was dismissed from his Office of Naib Subah in February 1778 (Vide Ap- pendix, N° 6 (L, M, and N) in which he had been confirmed by the express and particular Orders of the Court of Directors (Vide Appendix, N° 6 (A.) The Committee will find, that those several Acts have been strongly disapproved of and condemned by the Court of Directors ; and that the Persons dismissed have been ordered to be re-instated (Vide Appendix, N° 3 (G), N° 4 (H), and N° 6 (Aa) ; but that those Orders have not been duly carried into Execution. In the extraordinary Case of Mr. Francis Fowke, the Committee will find that Motions in Council were repeatedly made for his Re-instatement, in Obedience to the Company's Orders, first on the 20th of July 1778, and again on the 1st and 5th of April 1779 (Vide Appendix, N° 4 (I, O, and P.) ; and that on both those Occa- sions, Resolutions were taken by the Majority of the Board against those Motions.

The Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of the 31st of August, 9th September, and 2d October 1779, will shew that the Company's Instructions, prescribing Rules concerning military and other Contracts have been disobeyed and set aside in some Instances of very great Importance ; particularly the Contracts for victualling the Army and Fort William, and for sup- plying the Army with Draft and Carriage Bullocks.

The Resolutions of the Governor General and Council of the 12th of April 1779 (Vide Appendix N° 8) granted Allowances to the Commander in Chief, amounting to more than Double what was fixed for him by Act of Parliament as Member of the Council, and by the Court of Directors as Commander in Chief. Appendix N° 9.

Mr. Francis then added, That he had stated the principal Instances of Disobedience of Orders, as have occurred to him, but he does not doubt, that in looking over the Records many others would appear.

The Court of Directors have censured or disapproved of every one of these Acts ; but it is not known to him (the Witness) that the Persons guilty of them have ever suffered any other Penalty beyond that Censure. The Letters from the Court of Directors, which were received during the Time of his Residence in Bengal, are filled with the strongest and most pointed Condemnation of almost every Act of the Governor General and Mr. Barwell, and he begs Leave to quote One Passage out of many, as it shews, in a more particular Manner, the Estimation in which the Court of Direc- tors held those Gentlemen.

In the 53d Paragraph of the Letter from the Court of Directors to the Governor General and Council, of the 28th November 1777, it is said,

" When we consider this Profusion of Expence, we cannot but express our Concern that the Power " of granting away our Property in Perpetuity, should have devolved upon Persons whose Com- " plaisance to the Court (of Judicature) has in our Opinion greatly exceeded their Attention to the " Interests of the Company." Vide Appendix N° 10.

To this Mr. Francis begged Leave to add, that the Court of Directors, in their Letter of the 4th of March 1778 (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 10) ordered a Suit to be instituted in the Supreme Court of Judicature against Mr. Barwell; which Order was not carried into Execution, and has not, to his Knowledge, been enforced or taken any further Notice of by the Court of Directors.

Your Committee thinking it necessary to examine Mr. Francis upon the Matters contained in the foregoing Relation, he was asked, What particular Reason did Mr. Hastings assign for acting contrary to the Standing Instructions of the Company, when he engaged in the Maratta War? he said, Mr. Hastings's Reasons in Support of his Measures are stated at large in his Minutes recorded in the Bengal Consultations from January 1778 inclusive. The Witnesses said, That in the Course of their Debates he often urged that these Measures stood in direct Opposition to the Company's fundamental Principles and Instructions, but he does not recollect that any Attention was ever given, or Answer made to that Objection.—And being asked, What Reasons did Mr. Hastings assign for Disobedience of the Company's Orders respecting Mahomed Reza Cawn and Mr. Francis Fowke? he said, The Majority of the Board, then consisting of Mr. Hastings and Mr. Barwell, paid no Attention, as far as he can recollect, to the Company's Orders on these Points; but Mr. Francis begged Leave to refer to the Consultations, of which he pointed out the Dates (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 3, 4, and 6): The Declaration made by Two Members of the Council upon an Order for re-instating Mr. Fowke in his Office, which appears in the Consultations of the 20th July 1778 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4, 1) will shew to the Committee better than he can, on what Principles the Majority then proceeded.

And being further asked, Whether there was any other Proceedings in Council upon this Subject? he said, On the 1st and 5th of April 1779 (which was soon after the Arrival of Sir Eyre Coote) he moved in Council, That the Company's Orders respecting Mr. Fowke should be carried into Execution; a Reference to the Consultation of those Days will shew what was the Event of that Motion (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4 (O and P).—Being asked, What was the Proceeding of the Court of Directors when this Disobedience of their Orders came before them? he said, All that he can recollect is, that they expressed great Surprise, and repeated the Order (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4 (S).—Being asked, At what Interval of Time did that Repetition of the Order arrive in Bengal? he said, Their Orders on the Council General's Proceedings he thinks arrived about the latter End of 1779, but he does not know that the Court of Directors have ever taken Notice of the Council General's subsequent Proceedings of the 1st and 5th of April 1779; that no Orders on these Proceedings had arrived when he left Bengal.—Being asked, What was the Result of the last Orders of the Company? he said, They were not carried into Execution till Three Months after they were received, and when it was done it was not in fact in Obedience to the Company's Orders, but in consequence of his personal Interposition with the Governor General in February or March 1780; and since his (the Witness's) Departure, Mr. Fowke has again been dismissed from the same Office without any Charge or Imputation whatsoever against his Conduct (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4 (U).—And Mr. Francis being asked, What is the Committee to understand by his personal Interposition? he said, On this Point he begs Leave to refer the Committee to the Papers transmitted to the Court of Directors with his Letter of the 12th of October 1780 (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 11) and more particularly to his Minute recorded on the 11th September 1780 (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 11 (P).—Being asked, Whether the Company repeated their Orders relative to Mahomed Reza Cawn? he said, As soon as they heard of his Dismissal they ordered him to be re-instated, with strong Censure of Mr. Hastings and Mr. Barwell (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6 (A a.) Soon after those Orders were received, in November 1779, he moved for their being carried into Execution; Mr. Barwell having retired from the Board, the Question was carried in the Affirmative; but the next Day the Governor General moved, in the Presence of Mr. Barwell, that those Proceedings should be reconsidered; in consequence of which the First Resolution for obeying the Company's Orders was reversed (Vide Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6 (C a D a.) In February 1780 Mahomed Reza Cawn was nevertheless appointed to the Office of Naib Subah (See Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6 (I a.)—Being asked, What Reason did the Majority of the Council assign for a Change of their Opinion in the Re-appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn, which did not exist when they disobeyed the Orders of the Company for his Re-instatement? he said, He thinks it stands as an Act or Resolution of the Board, without any Debate, or Reasons assigned.—And being asked, Whether he could assign any Reasons? he said, He attributed it to the same personal Interposition of his with the Governor General, which he has already alluded to in the Case of Mr. Fowke.—And being again desired to explain to the Committee what he meant by "personal Interposition?" he said, The Papers annexed to his Letter to the Court of Directors, of the 12th of October 1780, (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 11.) contains a full Account of the Transactions between Mr. Hastings and him, which began with an Accommodation between Mr. Hastings and him, and ended in personal Difference, of which the Court of Directors have been informed; he therefore begs that the Committee will rather refer to those Papers than to his personal Evidence upon this Question.—And being asked, Whether it was a Part of a private Agreement between him and Mr. Hastings, that Mahomed Reza Cawn, Mr. Fowke, and Mr. Briffow should be re-instated in their former Employments? he said, It was that Mahomed Reza Cawn, and Mr. Fowke should be re-instated; Mr. Briffow was afterwards re-instated in the Office of Resident at Oude, but not exactly in that in which he was before.—And being asked, Whether the Restoration of Mahomed Reza Cawn and Mr. Fowke by that Agreement, was what he meant by "personal Interposition?" he said, It is.—Being asked, What Reasons did the Majority of the Council assign for not obeying the Company's Orders relative to the Contracts mentioned by him? he said, He does not recollect that they assigned any, except that in general the Nature of the Services required Contracts for a longer longer Duration than One Year. The Arguments used by Mr. Wheler and himself in August and September 1779, against the Contracts then given away by the Board without public Advertisment, were never answered or taken Notice of. In these Arguments Mr. Wheler and he particularly appealed to, and insisted on, the express Orders and Instructions of the Court of Directors in relation to Contracts, and which, as they thought, were entirely disregarded and overset by the Board. —Mr. Francis then being asked, Whether the Court of Directors did approve the Reasons given for Disobedience of their Orders, and reject the Reasons assigned by him and Mr. Wheler, tending to prove that no Inconvenience would arise from Obedience of those Orders? he said, In the Letter of the 23d of December 1778, they entered particularly into the Subject of certain Contracts which had been entered into the Year before by the Majority then existing, and they condemn every Part of the Proceedings of that Majority in those Instances. The new Contracts entered into in 1779, were formed upon the same Principles, but were of much greater Consequence with respect to their Duration and Amount, and were in other Respects of a much more questionable Nature than those which the Court of Directors had already condemned; that when he left Bengal, there had not been Time for the Receipt of any Orders from the Company on the Subject of the latter Contracts— And being asked, Whether the First Contracts were rescinded in consequence of the Disapprobation of the Court of Directors? He said, No.

The Committee then represented to Mr. Francis, that he had in his Letter reproached the Court of Directors with Breach of Promise: He was asked, In what does it consist? to which he said, Principally in not giving to General Clavering, Colonel Monson, and himself, that Support which they encouraged them to expect, and from the constant Approbation of the Court of Directors of their Conduct, and constant Disapprobation of the Conduct of Mr. Hastings and Mr. Barwell, they had Reason to expect from them. In several Instances, some of them of great Moment, they promised them Orders and Regulations by a future Conveyance, which to his Knowledge were never sent. The Witnesses said he should mention Two Instances from Memory.

In their General Letter of December 1778 they appear to have taken into their Consideration, the whole Transaction of Mr. Hastings's Resignation of the Government, and they conclude with saying, "That the Measures which it might be necessary for them to take in consequence thereof, in order to retrieve the Honour of the Company, and to prevent the like Abuse from being practised in future, shall have their earliest and most serious Consideration." Mr. Francis added, That he had never heard of their having at any Time resumed the Subject.

The next Instance Mr. Francis stated, was, That in their Letter of the 18th May 1779, writing of the proposed Alliance with Moodajee Boosla, they say, "As the Subject is important, it shall have an early and impartial Consideration, and our further Sentiments and Orders thereon shall be communicated to you by the Ships which remain to be dispatched." And Mr. Francis said, That when he left Bengal on the 15th December 1780, the Council General had never heard any Thing from the Court of Directors on the Subject.

Mr. Francis being then asked, Whether he knew of any other Instances where the Court of Directors have condemned the Governor General and another Member of the Council, in the Terms described in his Letter, the strongest that ever applied to Men possessing so high a Trust and Station, and who were not instantly divested of both? he said, Yes, many; he cannot refer to them from Memory, but begs Leave to have Time to consult the General Letters.

Mr. Francis being asked, What is the Appointment given to the Governor General and the other Members of the Council, to which he has alluded in his Letter? he said, The Term of five Years, fixed by the Act of Parliament for the Continuance of the Governor General and Council therein named, expired on the 19th October 1779; from that Day to the 13th of November the Council General had no Advice whatever of any new Commission, but they agreed to hold on for the Sake of the Public Service. On the 13th of November the Company's Letters dated in December 1780, were received; One of them enclosed a new Appointment, or Act of Confirmation, by the Authority of the Court of Directors, to the same Persons who then held the Government: And the Witness added, that it is to be remarked, that the Letters of that Date were the most severe against Mr. Hastings and Mr. Barwell, who at the same Instant were continued in the Administration of their Affairs.

Mr. Francis was then asked, At what Period did Sir John Clavering's and his Efforts cease to have Weight enough to preserve the Peace of India, as stated in his Letter? to which he said, By the Death of Colonel Monson in December 1776, the Power of the Government devolved upon the Governor General and Mr. Barwell; however, as long as Sir John Clavering lived, no Innovation was attempted with respect to Measures that might affect the Peace of India; he died about the End of August 1777; in December following, the Presidency of Bombay entered into new Engagements for the Re-instatement of Ragobah at Poona, and in the Beginning of February 1778, the Governor General and Council resolve to send an Army across the Jumma, to traverse India, under the Command of the late Colonel Leslie.

Your Committee not having in this Part of their Inquiry any further Questions to put to Mr. Francis, thought proper to examine Major Scott (Mr. Hastings's Agent) to the same Points; who being asked, Whether Mahomed Reza Cawn was restored to the Office of Naib Subah? he said, He was, he believes, to the Office, as described by the Court of Directors. The Committee then represented to Major Scott, that as Mr. Hastings refused to restore him to that Office by the Orders of the Court

Court of Directors, and asked him, what were Mr. Hastings's Reasons for restoring him to that Office afterwards? to which he said, When Mr. Hastings refused to carry the Orders of the Court of Directors into Execution, no Agreement had been entered into between him and Mr. Francis, Mr. Hastings reasonably supposed, that if Mahomed Reza Cawn had been restored previous to the Agreement, it would have been looked upon as preparatory to Mr. Hastings's Dismission; and he does positively pronounce it would have had that Effect upon the Opinion of the Natives; after the Period that Mr. Hastings refused to execute the Company's Orders, an Agreement was entered into between Mr. Francis and Mr. Hastings; this Agreement, though not the exact Terms of it, was universally known: The first Idea of such an Agreement originated from a Conversation on Public Affairs, which Mr. Ducarell, a Gentleman now in Calcutta, held with him on the Evening of the 25th of December 1779; he communicated that Conversation to Mr. Hastings, who authorized him to tell Mr. Ducarell, for the Information of Mr. Francis, that Mr. Hastings was heartily tired of Controversy, and wished heartily to unite with Mr. Francis, but that there were certain Points which he could not give up; he never could consent to Mr. Bristow's Return to Oude, because it would destroy that Influence which was necessary to conduct the Business of Government; that he had not the smallest personal Objection to Mr. Bristow, and would willingly provide for him in any other Line; that he insisted upon having the Conduct of the Maratta War, because Mr. Francis and Mr. Wheeler had thrown the whole Responsibility upon him, observing, at the same Time, that he earnestly wished to conclude a Peace with the Marattas; he thinks Mr. Hastings then mentioned to him, that the same Reasons which applied to Mr. Bristow, were equally applicable to Mahomed Reza Cawn and Mr. Fowke. He communicated this to Mr. Ducarell. Mr. Hastings and Mr. Francis had several private Conferences together; and Mr. Hastings from Time to Time told him. It was at last agreed, as he understood from Mr. Hastings, that Mr. Bristow was not to go to Oude before the Month of October 1780, it being concluded that by that Period some Orders decisive would arrive from England. He did understand that Mr. Hastings was to have the Conduct of the Maratta War, and that Mr. Fowke and Mahomed Reza Cawn were to be put in Possession of the Places assigned them by the Court of Directors—Being asked, What Tendency the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn, upon an Agreement with Mr. Francis, when the same Thing had been refused to the Orders of the Company, had to contradict an Opinion, that it would have been looked upon as preparatory to Mr. Hastings's Dismission and Mr. Francis's Succession? he said, The Agreement which Mr. Francis entered into with Mr. Hastings was looked upon, and with great Reason, as tantamount to a positive Declaration from Mr. Francis, that he had no immediate Expectation of succeeding to the Government; that he does not know whether Mahomed Reza Cawn is at this Time in Possession of the Office of Naib Subah—And being asked, What was the Reason for restoring Mr. Francis Fowke? he said, It was Part of the Agreement—Being asked, Whether Mr. Fowke is now in Possession of the Office to which he was re-instated? he said, No, he is not; he was removed on the 14th of January 1780—Being asked, For what Offence he was removed? he said, For no Offence, but for the Reasons assigned in Mr. Hastings's Minute, which he has laid before the Committee (Appendix N<sup>o</sup> 4. U)—And being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings does abide by those Reasons? he said, He certainly does—He was then asked, Whether Mr. Fowke was removed by his own Consent, or at his own Desire? he said, No, it was not of his own Desire; but Mr. Hastings did not wish to injure Mr. Fowke, though he thought it necessary for the Public Service to remove him from Benares; the Governor General promised him a Compensation; but he has Reason to believe that Mr. Fowke does not look upon his present Appointment as a Compensation—Being asked, Whether he knows of an Order of the Court of Directors against arbitrary Removal of Servants from their Offices? (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 5) he said, He does, there is such an Order; and he is sure no Man living would be less inclined to deviate from that Order than Mr. Hastings, but that there are certain Cases in which it may be necessary; and he added, that he solemnly believed this might be one of them—Being asked, What was the Compensation given to Mr. Fowke? he said, No other but the Provision of Boats, by Agency, from September 1780, and a Salary of a Thousand Rupees a Month from the Day of his Removal until Three Months after that Period—Being asked, If that Salary is annexed to any Office? he said, Not that he knows of—Being asked, Whether the Company's Treasury was in a flourishing State when the Compensations were given for Offices from which Persons were removed without Crime or Incapacity alleged, or otherwise? he said, To the First Part he answers, it was not in a flourishing State, it was in Distress; and to the Second, the Removal of Mr. Fowke without Crime or Incapacity alleged, he begs Leave to say, that Mr. Fowke, as Resident at Benares, appear to him, and certainly, is as an Ambassador at a foreign, though dependent, Court; from that Rajah the Company receive £. 300,000 Sterling a Year; Benares is the Seat of Politics; Vackeels, or Ambassadors, from every Power in India reside constantly there; and whilst Mr. Hastings is charged with the Interests of this Empire in India, it would, in his Opinion, be just as absurd to deprive him of the Power of Nomination of his Ambassador at Benares, as it would be to force on the Ministry in this Country an Ambassador from the Opposition—Major Scott being then asked, To whom are these Vackeels and Ambassadors sent who reside at Benares? he said, They may have occasionally Audiences of the Rajah, but they reside there for the Purpose of giving Intelligence—Being asked, Whether the Ambassadors there have plenipotentiary Powers? he said, He should have said Vackeels, and not Ambassadors; he has not a Doubt, but that there is a Vackeel from Hyder Ally Cawn there, though not publicly known.

Your Committee then asked Major Scott, Whether the Rajah has the Power of making Peace and and War independent of the Company? he said, No, he has not.—Being asked, If the Resident there has the Receipt of the Tribute? he said, Yes; and transmits it Monthly, in Cash or Bills, to Calcutta.—Being asked, What has the Resident to negotiate at the Court of the Rajah as Ambassador? he said, There may be many Points; he will mention one, which happened a few Years ago: When we received Intelligence of the War with France, Mr. Hastings thought it necessary that the Rajah should contribute to the Expence of the Battalions which were raised on that Account; he paid it for One Year; and it was understood by the Rajah, that Mr. Francis disapproved of this Demand in future; the Rajah positively refused to pay this increased Demand for the next Year, on a Supposition, as it was generally thought, that Mr. Francis was upon the Point of succeeding to the Government; Sir Eyre Coote joined with Mr. Hastings to enforce this Demand, and Two Battalions of Sepoys were marched towards Benares to enforce this Demand, and the Rajah then paid the Money.—Being asked, When this happened? he said, In the Month of July 1779.—Being asked, Whether at the Time of the Removal of Mr. Fowke, the Rajah had refused to pay this extra Demand? he said, He had about a Month before, but it was paid before Mr. Fowke's Removal.—Major Scott was then asked, If it was so improper to nominate Mr. Fowke to an Office of the Nature of an Embassy to a Foreign Court, how came he so to nominate him? he said, It was an Article in the Agreement between him and Mr. Francis.—Being then asked, Does Mr. Hastings consider this Appointment as a Private Agency or as a Public Office held under the Government? he said, A Public, undoubtedly.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings has considered the Resident at Oude in the same Light? he said, Certainly; when Mr. Hastings makes use of the Words "Private Agent," he does not mean that he has any positive Business to transact either at Oude or Benares.—Being then asked, Why he then calls him his Private Agent? he said, Because, as he conceives, all political Correspondence goes through the Channel of the Governor General, and he may make certain Communications through an Agent, which he has called a Private Agent.—Being asked, Whether the Governor General has not, under Colour of that supposed private Agency, refused to submit the Correspondence of that Agency to the Board? he said, He did, because he conceived the Demand of that Correspondence as a personal Insult to himself.—Being asked, Whether this Distinction between Public and Private Agency has not been reprobated by the Court of Directors in the Case of Mr. Middleton? he said, Yes, he believes it has.—And being asked, What particular Reasons existed for the Removal of Mr. Fowke, which did not exist at the Time of his Appointment under the Agreement with Mr. Francis? he said, None that he knew of; but Mr. Hastings was willing to sacrifice much to procure Unanimity at the Council Board.—Being asked, What Nature is the Agency for Boats? he said, Mr. Fowke, as he understands, is to have the Provision for all Boats that may be wanted for the Service of the Army, and he is to draw Fifteen per Cent. he believes, upon his Disbursements.—Being asked, Who advances the Money? he said, The Company.—Being asked, Whether it is considered in Bengal, that a Commissariat for the Supply of the Army is a proper Equivalent for an Office which was in the Nature of an Embassy to a Foreign Court? he said, No, he thinks not.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Fowke was particularly bred to any Business respecting Boats, that made him a proper Person to execute that Branch of the Commissariat, rather than his Office of Resident at Benares? he said, Not that he knows of.—He was then asked, What Reason Mr. Hastings had for altering the Mode of Contract which he had adopted in the Case of Colonel Morgan, to that of Agency, which he had adopted in the Case of Mr. Fowke? he said, He knows of none, but what is mentioned in his Minute; he must undoubtedly have been a better Judge of that Matter than any other Person, from his being the first executive Officer of that Government.—Being asked, How came he then to take the Method of Contract with Colonel Morgan? he said, He believes it was recommended by Sir John Clavering, but he might have had Occasion to alter it himself.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings did at the same Time alter all the other Contracts, and turn them into Agencies as fast as they expired? he said, He really does not know.—Being asked, What Reasons are given for Disobedience of the Company's Orders in the Case of Mr. Bristow? he said, None, but the Reasons contained in Mr. Hastings's Minute when that Subject was under Consideration.—Being asked, How Mr. Hastings came to appoint Mr. Bristow to the Residency of Oude after he had refused to give him that Appointment in Obedience to the Orders of the Company? he said, He never did; he opposed it to the utmost of his Power, assigning his Reasons; but that it was carried against him by the Majority in Council.—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings did not remove Mr. Bristow afterwards? he said, No, he did not; but he has received a private Letter from Mr. Hastings, in which he tells him, that he will remove him, and that Mr. Wheeler concurs in the Propriety of it.—Being asked, What Misdemeanor or Delinquency did Mr. Hastings assign for his intended Removal of Mr. Bristow from the Execution of his public Duty? he said, None.—Major Scott was then desired to inform the Committee, What Particulars, in Mr. Bristow's Letter to the Board (Appendix, N° 3. I.) appeared to deserve the Epithets given in Mr. Hastings's Minute, concerning the Capacity and Behaviour of Mr. Bristow? he said, Mr. Bristow's whole Letter is very ill written in point of Language and Argument; this was the general Opinion of every Person who saw it in Calcutta. The Words "Claims grounded upon the "highest Authorities," and, "our Honourable Superiors," are insolent Expressions, when writing to the Supreme Council of India; "accusing the Board of treating him with Neglect," is another; "in order to discharge my Duty to your Honourable Superiors," is another. This is not a Style in which the Supreme Council, or the Members of the former Administration, were addressed, to his Knowledge. Lord Clive, in his Government, would have sent Mr. Bristow a Prisoner to Europe, in his Opinion, if he had written such a Letter to him. All Mr. Bristow's Friends, and Mr. Wheler in particular, advised him not to give the Letter in to the Board.—Being then asked, In what Manner does Mr. Fowke, as Resident at Benares (his public Conduct being approved of by the Governor General) stand as a Screen between the Rajah and the Government at Calcutta, instead of an Instrument of Controul, as mentioned by the Governor General in his Minute of the 14th of January 1781? (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4. (U.) he said, He has the Pleasure to be intimately acquainted with Mr. Fowke; and knows him to be a very honourable and sensible Man, but he does not believe it would have been possible to have convinced the Rajah that Mr. Fowke was the Man of the Governor's Choice; and therefore he stood as a Screen between the Rajah and the Government, instead of an Instrument of Controul.—Being asked, Why should the Rajah of Benares, and every Chief in Indostan who has Connection with the English Government, consider Mr. Fowke, being the English Resident at Benares, as the Pledge and Foundation of their own Independence? he said, He certainly does not know.—Major Scott was then asked, Whose Representative would the Rajah have supposed Mr. Fowke to be? he said, Mr. Fowke was sent up originally against the Governor General's Inclination; and he thinks the Rajah would have supposed him to have been the Representative of the Party in Council in Opposition to Mr. Hastings.—Being asked, If it was not known throughout the Country, that he was Resident for the British Government? he said, The Rajah and Natives do not think any Thing about the British Government, but they suppose that all Authority is lodged in the Majority of the Council.—Being asked, If the Natives then suffer any Grievance from any Part of the British Government, would they be inclined to look to Great Britain for Redress, or to the Power in Council who might chuse the Resident at Benares? he said, To the Power in Council, he thinks; Three Armenians, as he understood, did come to England to solicit Redress for illegal Imprisonment, and other Hardships they complained of, and he believes they did not obtain Redress equivalent to their Loss of Time and Expences.—Being asked, If it has not been held a prudent Principle of Policy, to strengthen their Attachment to, and Dependence upon the Authority of Great Britain? he said, Yes, he thinks it has been held, and is a prudent Policy.—Major Scott was then asked, If a Person appointed from Great Britain a Representative of the British Nation at any Court in India, is not suffered to hold that Station, does it not necessarily tend to lessen that Dependence? he said, No, not in the least, in his Opinion.—Being asked, What Authority does it then principally teach them to respect? he said, The Authority of the Governor General and Council, or a Majority of them, which they will always respect, and no other.—Being asked, Suppose the same Principles were to prevail amongst the Natives resident in the more immediate Possessions of the Company, would it not tend to alienate their Minds from Great Britain, and fix their Dependence upon those Persons only in the Government in Bengal, who casually possess the Power? he said, Their Dependence in his Opinion can only be placed upon those Persons in Bengal, who casually possess the Power.—Being asked, Upon that Principle, would not the Natives in general be discouraged from all Representation to Great Britain? he said, Yes, certainly; he means the great Body of the People.—Being asked, Whether the personal Approbation of the Governor General gives greater Weight to an Act of Government in India, than a Resolution of a Majority in Council, when in Compliance with Orders from the Court of Directors? he said, He thinks the Court of Directors Orders are not, and ought not to be explained to the Natives; and that the Approbation of the Governor General does give a greater Weight, but it is not necessary by the present Constitution of the Company.—Being asked, Whether the Governor General is not obliged to sign the Orders of the Majority, though he himself should be in the Minority? he said, Yes, he thinks the Governor General is, as he says in his Minute, but he pleads the Precedent of Sir John Clavering not signing some particular Letter, for refusing to sign one himself.—Being asked, If the Rajah of Benares faithfully pays the Tribute according to the Treaty between him and the British Government, what is meant by the Resident being an Instrument of Controul? he said, He does not know.

Your Committee further asked Major Scott, Whether he does not know, that to remove the Servants of the Company from their Stations without Charge or Hearing, is contrary to the Company's Orders? he said, He believes it is.—Being asked, Whether he could assign the Reason why Mr. Hastings did not obey the Orders of the Company for re-instating Mahomed Reza Cawn in his Office of Naib Subah? he said, He could not speak positively; but the Re-instatement of Mahomed Reza Cawn was, he believes, universally in Bengal looked upon as an entire Matter of Party: And the Witness said, he declared, that from Delhi, and from every Part of Indostan dependent upon or connected with Bengal, Reports were industriously circulated, and continually inserted in the Country News papers, that Mr. Hastings was upon the Point of being dismissed from the Government of Bengal, to which Mr. Francis was to succeed: That the Paragraphs in the Company's General Letters were as industriously circulated, which contained Reflections upon the Conduct of Mr. Hastings: That Mr. Hastings, in order to preserve that Portion of Authority which was necessary to conduct the Business of Government, was obliged to adopt Measures which were by no Means agreeable to him. It is upon Record that Mr. Hastings paid a pointed Attention to the Orders of the Court of Directors in the first Three Years of his Government; he had no private Resentment against Mahomed Reza Cawn; and Mahomed Reza Cawn himself has repeatedly declared, that he owed his Life to the Impartiality and the Justice of Mr. Hastings, when Nundcomar accused him of Crimes which, if they had been proved, would have deserved Death.—Being asked, What he means by a Measure of Party? he said, Mahomed Reza Cawn's Re-instatement would have been considered in India as preparatory to Mr. Hastings's Dismissal from the Service Service—Being asked, Whether those Two Things were connected in the News-papers to which he alluded? he said, He does not immediately recollect that; but he connected them together, and he believes every Body else did—Being asked, Whether it is understood in India that the Governor General is under the Orders of the Court of Directors or not? he said, It is so understood; but they in India suppose the Governor General and Council may dispense with the Orders of the Court of Directors, and they are bound to obey the Governor General and Council only—Being then asked, Why in India it is thought that the Governor General's Obedience to the Orders of the East India Company is connected with or tantamount to a Dismissal from their Service? he said, He does not say so now; but he speaks of a particular Period, and then it would have been thought so—Being asked, Whether at the Time of receiving that Order from the Company, there was any Intimation of their Intentions of removing him from their Service? he said, Not in the General Letter; but he speaks positively, that Copies of Letters, or what was said to be Extracts of Letters from Persons of Power in England, were industriously circulated all over India, saying, that Mr. Hastings would by the next Dispatches be dismissed from the Government, and Mr. Francis appointed Governor General—Mr. Scott was then asked, Whether Mr. Hastings did not, about that Period of Time, actually receive from the Court of Directors a Confirmation of his Authority? he said, He believes he did in the very same Letter which mentioned Mahomed Reza Cawn; and Mr. Hastings, as he well recollects, ordered the Troops at Fort William under Arms, and a Salute to be fired in consequence of this Re-appointment; but he also recollects perfectly well, that this Mark of Honour to Mr. Hastings was opposed by Mr. Francis, and the Re-appointment treated as a mere temporary Measure till the Government could be fixed. The Witness also begged Leave to observe, that near Six Months before the Arrival of this Letter, an Officer (Captain Markwood) arrived in Calcutta over Land from London. He left London on the 27th of March 1779, and brought no Account whatever of Mr. Hastings's Re-appointment to the Government; but the Day after his Arrival, it was said that he had brought a Letter to Mr. Francis from one of the Directors, in which it was positively said he was to be Governor General, and Mr. Hastings dismissed—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings's Disobedience of the Orders of the Company had a Tendency to discredit that Report, and to prove to the Company's Servants and to the Natives, that he was to be continued in his Authority by the Court of Directors? he said, To the Natives undoubtedly throughout India, no Man who then served in India but must know it—Being asked, Whether it was usual, upon any Report of a Governor General's Removal, to disobey the positive Orders of the Court of Directors? he said, No; and he will venture to say, that no Governor in India was ever situated as Mr. Hastings was at that Time in Bengal—Being then asked, Whether the Act of Parliament gives any Power to the Governor General and Council of disobeying or suspending the Execution of the Company's Orders, in any Case whatsoever? he said, He does not know; but without such a Power being occasionally exercised, if necessary, he does not see how a distant Country can be governed—Mr. Scott was then asked, Whether the Want of such Power has been stated to the Court of Directors, or to any other Power in England? he said, Not that he knows of.

Being then asked, Whether he means that such a dispensing Power must be exercised upon unforeseen Exigencies of the Government, or upon the Governor's own Opinion of what may affect his Authority in the Minds of others? he said, The Governor's Personal Authority, if he has a Majority of the Council in his Favour, must be preserved in the utmost Extent, in the Opinion of the Natives, or 5000 Men, in his Opinion, could never govern Fifteen Millions—Being then asked, Whether he meant a self-derived or a subordinate Authority? he said, The Governor's Authority is undoubtedly subordinate to the Court of Directors. Mr. Hastings, whenever he has disobeyed the Company's Orders, has stated his Reasons for so doing; if they were not valid, he undoubtedly expected to be dismissed the Service for Disobedience of Orders—Being asked, Why he thinks, whenever there is a Minority in Council who differ in Opinion with the Governor General and a Majority, it becomes a Reason for the Governor General and Majority to disobey the Orders of the Court of Directors? he said, It does not become a Reason in common Cases; but if the Restoration of Mahomed Reza Cawn, the Re-appointment of Mr. Bristow to Oude, and Mr. Fowke to Benares, by the Court of Directors, had been carried into Effect in Bengal, the Natives from Calcutta to Delhi would have deemed those Appointments as preparatory to Mr. Hastings's Dismissal, and Mr. Francis's Promotion to the Office of Governor General of Bengal.

Being asked, Whether by People in Power in India it is thought a sufficient Reason to disobey the Orders of the Company whenever it shall appear to them to be a Step preparatory to their Dismissal? he said, He cannot tell what were the Opinions of Men in Power in general in India; but in these Instances it certainly was Mr. Hastings's—Being asked, Upon what Grounds is it that the Disobedience of the Company's Orders in India is thought to be a Proof that the Governor is to be continued in his Office? he said, The Natives, who only judge from Appearances, suppose he would not have gone to such Lengths, without being sure of Support from Home.

Mr. Scott was then asked, What Inconveniencies would have arisen to the State, from an Opinion of the Natives, that Mr. Hastings was to be dismissed, and Mr. Francis appointed Governor General? he said, A very great one undoubtedly; he has already said, that Five Thousand Europeans can never govern Fifteen Millions of Natives, and the Hands of Government should undoubtedly be strengthened by every possible Means—Being asked, What Distinction he makes between Mr. Hastings being the Governor General and Mr. Francis succeeding to that Office? he said, None at all when Mr. Francis had succeeded to the Government.

Being asked, Whether it is considered as any Diminution of the Authority of the Governor General and Council in India; that the Orders they issue are the Result of the Instructions from the Court of Directors? he said, No, certainly not, in common Cases; but in the Cases alluded to, the Orders of the Court of Directors were industriously circulated amongst the Natives to impress them with an Idea of the Instability of Mr. Hastings's Power, and that they might expect a speedy Removal.

Being asked, What were Mr. Hastings's Reasons for disobeying the Company's Orders for the Restoration of Mr. Francis Fowke? he said, They were contained in Mr. Hastings's Minute, to which he begs Leave to refer (Appendix, N° 4, U)—The Committee then represented to Major Scott, that Mr. Fowke having been a Second Time sent to Benares, and asked him, Whether he can acquaint the Committee, why he was removed from a Station to which he was appointed by the Court of Directors? he said, He begs Leave to lay the Minutes in the Consultations of 14th January 1781, upon that Subject, before the Committee (Vide Appendix, N° 4.)

Your Committee then asked Major Scott, Whether he had any other Justification to offer to them, for the Disobedience of the Orders of the Company in the several Cases of the Contracts, and of Mahomed Reza Cawn, Mr. Bristow, and Mr. Fowke? to which he answered, No.

Your Committee then thought proper to call before them William Devaynes, Esquire, who has passed through the Offices of Chairman and Deputy Chairman of the East India Company, and to examine him upon the Subject of Disobedience of Orders; and

The General Letters from the Court of Directors, of the 14th May 1779, and of the 27th May 1779, respecting the Re-instatement of Mr. Fowke (Appendix, N° 4. R and S) being read to him, he was then asked, What Measures did the Court of Directors take in consequence of their Resolutions contained in the Paragraphs of the above Letters? he said, He does not recollect that they took any Steps whatsoever, taking it for granted that the Orders would be immediately complied with—Being asked, Whether the Court of Directors did not promise and engage to the Council General of Bengal, to take some Measures in consequence of that Disobedience? he said, They did—Being asked, Whether it was from any Experience of the habitual Obedience of the Company's Servants in Bengal, that he took it for granted that the Order would be immediately complied with? he said, No; but from the positive Manner in which it was directed—Being asked, Whether he has not Reason to know that other Orders of the Company, equally positive, had been disobeyed? he said, He thinks several Orders of the Company had been disobeyed, but he does not recollect that any were so positively directed as the Order respecting Mr. Francis Fowke—Being asked, Whether it was finally obeyed? he said, He does not recollect—Being asked, Whether the Minutes of the Consultations of the Governor General and Council are transmitted to the Court of Directors, and read? he said, They are transmitted, and read short—Being asked, Whether when the Matter of those Consultations is important, and concerns the Obedience to their own Orders, it is not the Duty of the Chairman and Deputy to read those Consultations at length? he said, when any Matter of Moment, on which the Court of Directors are to decide, is to be brought forward, the Chairman and Deputy generally have Extracts made of the Business that is to come before them—Being asked, Whether such Extracts were made in this Case? he said, He does not recollect—Being asked, Whether in reading these Consultations he has not seen the Principle of Disobedience avowed and justified? he said, He thinks he has.

Then the Minute of Mr. Barwell, in the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council in their Public Department, of the 1st of April 1779, respecting Mr. Fowke (Appendix, N° 4. O) being read to Mr. Devaynes, he was asked, Whether that Minute, avowing a Principle of Disobedience to the Orders of the Company by the Members of the Council, whenever they thought the Dignity of the Governor General affected by those Orders, did not call for some Proceeding on the Subject by the Directors to vindicate their own Authority? he said, He thinks it did—Being then asked, Whether any such Proceedings were had? he said, He does not know that any Resolution was come to by the Court of Directors in consequence of the Disobedience of Orders, and Avowal of the Principle, though some desultory Conversation did pass upon the Subject—Being asked, Whether there have not been other Acts of Disobedience in Bengal, justified upon a similar Principle? he said, He believes there were other Acts of Disobedience, but he does not know whether they were justified upon a similar Principle—Being asked, Whether he did not understand, that by the Regulating Act of 1773, the Governor General and Council were directed to obey the Orders they were to receive from the Court of Directors? he said, He understands they are—Being asked, Whether it has been usual before that Act passed, for the Company's Servants openly to avow a Principle of Disobedience to the Company's Orders, and to record it on their Consultations? he said, He does not recollect any such Instances—Being asked, Whether after the Court of Directors had expressed their Resentment in very strong Terms against the Disobedience of their Orders in the Case of Mr. Fowke, he did, as Deputy Chairman of that Company, think that the mere Obedience to a repeated Order from the Company, ought to have exempted those who had disobeyed it, from such Reprehension as is due to Disobedience? he said, He thinks the Paragraph of the Letter of the 27th of May 1779, is a Reprehension, and promises something more—Being asked, Whether he can assign any other Reason why the Court of Directors did not proceed according to their Letter of the 27th of May, except what he has expressed in his former Answer? he said, No, he cannot—Being asked, Whether there has not, Year after Year, repeated Censures been sent out by the Court of Directors against certain Acts of the Bengal Government? he said, He believes many—Being asked, Whether the Court of Directors found that these Censures tended to lessen the Principle and Practice of Disobedience in their Servants?

Servants? he said, He does not think it did—Being then asked, Whether he does not think that the Authority and Controul of the Court of Directors is rendered nugatory by such Disobedience? he said, He thinks it is lessened. And being asked, If the British Subjects and Natives in Bengal find that the Orders of the Court of Directors are repeatedly disobeyed, to what Power or Authority does he imagine they will look up? he said, Certainly to the Government there.

Mr. Francis having, in his Evidence before your Committee, stated, That the Company's Instructions and Orders had been disobeyed by the Governor General and Council with Impunity, and in Confirmation of his Evidence, mentioned the Dismission of Mr. Bristow from the Office of Resident with the Nabob of Oude, in December 1776; and that Mr. Francis Fowke was dismissed at the same Time from the Office of Resident at Benares, and both of them without any Charge or Imputation of any Kind, contrary to the Twentieth Article of the Company's General Instructions to the Governor General and Council; Your Committee proceeded to examine into the Conduct of the Governor General and Council, relative to this Disobedience; and they now report to the House the Matter as it appears on the Company's Records.

Your Committee find, in the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Secret Department, of the 15th of December 1774, (Appendix N° 3. A.) that the Governor General made the following Proposition.

“ As the Commission originally granted to Colonel Galliez was only for a temporary Purpose, and as the Board have already agreed to appoint a Civil Servant of the Company as Resident at the Vizier's Court, the Governor General proposes to the Board, That they should now make this Appointment; as it is evident, that were the Person who may be so appointed to proceed immediately, in case the Vizier complies with Colonel Galliez's Demands, the Colonel's Commission must be expired before the new Resident could arrive there.” Upon which it was agreed,

“ That the Governor General's Proposal be deferred for Consideration until Monday.”

On the 21st of December 1774, (Appendix, N° 3. B.) it was agreed by a Majority of the Board, “ That Mr. Bristow be appointed Resident at the Court of Sujah Dowla.”

In consequence of which, the Governor General and Council, in their Secret Letter to the Court of Directors, of the 4th January 1775, (Appendix, N° 3. D.) Par. 5. say,

“ It having been resolved, that a fixed Resident at the Court of the Vizier should be appointed from the Company's Civil Servants, the Governor General lately thought fit to propose the Honourable Frederick Stuart for that Trust; but the Governor General's Proposition was not agreed to. Mr. Bristow being afterwards proposed by the General, and this Proposal obtaining the Concurrence of the Board, he was appointed accordingly, with a Salary and Allowances similar to what Mr. Middleton enjoyed in the Employment which he held at that Court.”

And your Committee further find, in the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Secret Department, of the 2d of December 1776, (Appendix N° 3. E.) That the Governor General moved, “ That Mr. John Bristow be recalled from the Court of the Nabob of Oude, and that Mr. Nathaniel Middleton be restored to the Appointment of Resident at that Court.”

General Clavering, in his Minute entered on the Proceedings of that Day, says, “ If the Governor General will think proper to defer his Motion till after the Arrival of the Eagle Packet, which may be now hourly expected, it is more than probable that we shall have further Lights than have been hitherto given to us, of the Sentiments of the Court of Directors, both on Mr. Middleton's Recall, and on Mr. Bristow's Appointment to the Vizier's Court; I would therefore, with the Governor General's Consent, beg Leave to propose, that this Motion be deferred till after the Arrival of that Ship.”

To which the Governor General replies, “ I think it a Duty incumbent on me to adhere to my Motion. I will not take up the Time of the Board by answering the Objections which have been made to it at this Time, having other Questions which I wish to propose immediately, for their Determination.”

After further Arguments it was resolved, “ That the Board do not agree to General Clavering's Proposition, for deferring the Consideration of the Governor General's Motion until the Arrival of the Eagle Packet.”

General Clavering afterwards moves, “ That before the Consent of this Board be obtained for the Appointment of Mr. Nathaniel Middleton to the Vizier's Court, that the Orders, or at least the plain and direct Intentions of the Court of Directors, be complied with.”

Which was resolved in the Negative.

It was then resolved, “ That Mr. John Bristow be recalled to the Presidency from the Court of the Nabob of Oude, and that Mr. Nathaniel Middleton be restored to the Appointment of Resident at that Court, subject to the Orders and Authority of the Governor General and Council, conformably to the Motion of the Governor General.”

In consequence of which, the Governor General and Council transmit to Mr. Bristow the following Letter:

“ Having thought proper to recall you to the Presidency, and to restore Mr. Nathaniel Middleton to the Station of Resident at the Vizier's Court, we direct, that on his Arrival at the said Court, you immediately deliver up to him the Charge of that Appointment, and repair to Calcutta.”

In consequence of the above Proceedings, the Governor General and Council, in their Secret Letter to the Court of Directors, of the 19th of December 1776 (Appendix, N° 3. F.) Par. 5. say, say, " We beg Leave to refer you to the Consultation of the 2d Instant, for our Proceedings upon a Motion, proposing the Recall of Mr. Bristow from the Vizier's Court, and the Restoration of Mr. Nathaniel Middleton to the Post of Resident at that Court, under the Orders and Authority of the Governor General and Council. The Motion, after some Debate, was carried in the Affirmative, and Mr. Middleton has accordingly been restored to that Appointment."

The Directors of the East India Company, in their General Letter to Bengal, of the 4th of July 1777, (Appendix, N° 3. G.) Par<sup>s</sup>. 11, 12, and 13, say :

Par. 11. " Upon the most careful Perusal of your Proceedings of the 2d of December 1776, relative to the Recall of Mr. Bristow from the Court of the Nabob of Oude, and the Appointment of Mr. Nathaniel Middleton to that Station, we must declare our strongest Disapprobation of the Whole of that Transaction."

Par. 12. " We observe, that the Governor General's Motion for the Recall of Mr. Bristow, includes that for the Restoration of Mr. Nathaniel Middleton ; but as neither of those Measures appear to us necessary, or even justifiable, they cannot receive our Approbation."

Par. 13. " With respect to Mr. Bristow, we find no Shadow of Charge against him ; it appears that he has executed the Orders of the Board to the entire Satisfaction even of those Members of Council who did not concur in his Appointment. You have unanimously recommended him to our Notice ; Attention to your Recommendation has induced us to afford him Marks of our Favour, and to re-annex the Emoluments affixed by you to his Appointment, which had been discontinued by our Order ; and as we must be of Opinion, that a Person of acknowledged Abilities, whose Conduct has thus gained him the Esteem of his Superiors, ought not to be degraded without just Cause ; we do not hesitate to interpose in his Behalf, and therefore direct, That Mr. Bristow do forthwith return to his Station of Resident at Oude, from which he has been so improperly removed."

The Directors also, in their General Letter to Bengal, of the 23d of December 1778 (Appendix, N° 3. H.) Par. 149. say, " We have likewise permitted Mr. John Bristow to return to his Rank in the Service, and to the Station which he held at the Vizier's Court, and to which he was restored by our Order of the 4th of July 1777."

And your Committee find recorded on the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council, in their Public Department, of the 22d of May 1780, the following Letter from Mr. Bristow to the Governor General and Council, of the 1st of May 1780 (Appendix, N° 3. I.)

" Honourable Sir, and Gentlemen,

" I beg Leave to represent to your Honourable Board, that I arrived at the Presidency on the 16th February last. Not having yet been put in Possession of the Office of Resident at the Vizier's Court, in which I had the Honour of being re-instated, agreeable to the Orders of the Court of Directors, dated the 4th of July 1777, and the 23d December 1778, I think it my Duty to address your Honourable Board, with an humble Request to carry the abovesaid Orders into Execution. I make this Application, in consequence of my Solicitations to the different Members of the Board, to move for my Re-instatement, having been repeatedly refused by every Member individually, and it being now incumbent on me to make a public Claim of my Right.

" In Justification of my Conduct, in not having immediately on my Arrival requested to be forthwith put in Possession, I humbly represent that I understood my Re-instatement ought to have been moved by a Member of the Board ; under other Circumstances my Conduct might be deemed premature ; but situated as I am, after Three Months Solicitation in vain, I hope our Honourable Superiors will do me the Justice to consider the Delay in my Application, a Point of Delicacy to your Honourable Board, and no Want of Attachment to them or Zeal for their Service. I have never given my Consent to being held out of my Office, and I mean by this Address to efface any bad Impressions that might be entertained of me, in thus long suspending a Claim grounded upon the highest Authorities.

" I also beg Leave to represent I was removed from my Office the Second of December 1776, after having for Two Years successively received the unanimous Approbation of your Honourable Board. Our Honourable Superiors have since likewise been pleased to favour me with Marks of their Approbation. Notwithstanding which I am treated with Neglect by your Honourable Board, and the Members individually have positively refused to do me the Justice I have every Right to claim. In order to discharge my Duty to our Honourable Superiors, I humbly solicit that it may be recorded upon your Proceedings, I have neither directly nor indirectly consented to my Right having been thus long withheld from me.

" In Justice to Sir Eyre Coote, I take the Liberty of mentioning, that I have the Honour of a Letter from him, under Date the 3d of last Month, in which he declares his Determination of supporting the Orders of the Court of Directors in my Favour.

Fort William,
1st May, 1780.

I have the Honour, &c.
(Signed) John Bristow.

In the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in their Public Department, the 2d of October 1780 (Appendix, N° 3. K) it is recorded as follows :

“ Mr. Francis moves, That the 11th, 12th, and 13th Paragraphs of the Company's General Letter of the 18th July 1777, and the 149th Paragraph of the General Letter of the 23d December 1778, be now read.

“ Read the abovementioned Paragraphs of the Company's General Letters of the 18th July 1777, and 23d December 1778.

“ Mr. Francis moves, That in Obedience to the Company's Orders, Mr. Bristow be forthwith appointed, and directed to return, to his Station of Resident at Oude ; and that Mr. Purling be ordered to deliver over Charge of the Office to Mr. Bristow immediately on his Arrival, and return himself forthwith to the Presidency.

“ Also, that the Governor General be requested to furnish Mr. Bristow with the usual Letter of Credence to the Nabob Vizier.”

And after Debate, the Council deferred the further Consideration of Mr. Francis's Motion until To-morrow Morning.

Accordingly the Governor General and Council, in their Public Department, on the 3d October 1780, (Appendix, N° 3. L) renew the Consideration of Mr. Francis's Minute recorded on Yesterday's Proceedings, and a Minute delivered in by Sir Eyre Coote is as follows :

“ After having created the Board the Trouble of a Second Meeting on the Question which formed the Subject of Yesterday's Debate, and for which I trust its Importance, my own Situation at this Juncture, and my being without any previous Knowledge until I arrived in Town in the Morning, that such a Business was likely to come before us, will plead Excuse ; it is not my Intention to encroach further on their Time by tedious Argument or Discussion.

“ Whilst I am bound in Honour by my Opinion, recorded on the Proceedings of this Board on a former Occasion, to support all Orders received from the Court of Directors subsequent to my Arrival in this Country ; I nevertheless hold it a Duty equally incumbent upon me as a Member of this Administration, appointed under the Authority of an Act of Parliament, and to which Tribunal of the British Constitution we are ultimately responsible for the due Execution of the important Trust committed to our Charge, the Care of the Interests of the English Nation in India, to judge how far in following such Orders I am likely to injure that first Object of our Attention.”

Upon which Mr. Francis's Motion was carried in the Affirmative.

Afterwards the Governor General delivered in the following Minute :

“ I cannot, consistently with what I consider due to the Dignity and Authority of my Public Station, and to my own Character and Feelings as a Man, consent to affix my Signature to the Letters of Credence or Instructions of Mr. Bristow as Resident at the Court of Oude. The Court of Directors, after having, in their first Instructions to this Government, expressly enjoined every Member of the Board, not only to be guided by the Voice of the Majority, but also to subscribe to all Letters, Orders, Acts, and Measures, resulting from the Decisions of such Majority, have since thought proper to compliment General Clavering and Mr. Francis upon their Departure from this Rule in Instances where their Sentiments have not accorded with those of the other Members of the Board. This will be a Justification to me in the Resolution I have taken ; for whatever Law is binding on One Member of the Administration, must certainly be so to the Whole ; and although it is a Latitude I neither approve, or should in general wish to avail myself of, yet in this very particular Instance I trust I shall stand acquitted not only to my Employers, but to the whole World : I must therefore desire that the Board will devise some other Means of notifying Mr. Bristow's Appointment to the Vizier. And as they have thought it incumbent on them, as a Point of official Duty, to receive and put in force an antiquated Order of the Court of Directors in Favour of Mr. Bristow, which, for the Reasons assigned in my Minute of Yesterday, will necessarily be considered by all the Country Powers as a Supercession of my Authority, I am yet willing to hope that the Board will not only listen to, but afford me their Support in a Motion which I shall beg Leave to make, with a View to repair the Injury which I conceive my Public Station has sustained, and avert in some Degree the prejudicial Effects which this Measure cannot fail to produce in our Affairs.

“ I propose that Mr. Bristow's Appointment be limited solely to the Conduct of such Political Negotiations, Correspondence, and Transactions, as this Government may now, or at any future Period, be engaged in with the Vizier, and in no Shape whatever to interfere in any Matters respecting our pecuniary Engagements with his Excellency ; that a separate Agent be appointed by us to that Trust, whose Duty it shall be to receive, collect, and manage the Tunkahs or Assignments which have been, or may hereafter be granted by the Nabob for the Liquidation of the Claims of this Government upon him ; that he be entrusted with the Adjustment of all Accounts relative to these Claims with the Nabob and his Ministers, with all Disbursements to the Paymasters of the Company's Troops stationed in the Dominions of the Vizier, as also to his Excellency's own Military Establishment under British Officers, &c. remitting the Residue of his Collections immediately to us ; and that he be directly amenable to our Authority and Orders, and in no Respect whatever dependent on or connected with the Office of the Resident : And as Mr. Purling cannot continue with a diminished Commission, and as it now becomes more than ever necessary that I should have a Person in Station in those Provinces not only in whom I can confide, but who is publicly known to be attached to me, I propose Mr. Middleton for the above Office ; hoping to meet with the Concurrence and Support of the Board.”

Which Proposition producing a Debate, Sir Eyre Coote said, " I agree to the Governor General's Proposal of the Appointment of Mr. Middleton to the Office mentioned ; not because Mr. Purling may not continue at Lucknow with a diminished Commission, but because Mr. Nathaniel Middleton is a Person publicly known to be attached to the Governor General ; the Necessity of the Times requires an Appearance of that Kind."

Mr. Wheler objected to the Question ; and

Mr. Francis said, " The Office described in the Motion is the same which Mr. Bristow held before, and which has been held since by Mr. Middleton and Mr. Purling. I know no Reason why it should be diminished, and so materially altered when it is given to Mr. Bristow ; I therefore cannot consent to the Proposition ; at the same Time it is a Matter of Indifference to me by whom the Duties proposed to be vested in Mr. Middleton are exercised."

Whereupon the Governor General's Motion was carried in the Affirmative by his Casting Voice ; and

It was Resolved accordingly, " That Mr. Bristow's Appointment be limited solely to the Conduct of such Political Negotiations, Correspondence, and Transactions, as this Government may now, or at any other Period be engaged in with the Vizier ; and that he in no Shape whatever interfere in any Matters respecting our pecuniary Engagements with his Excellency."

It was also Resolved, " That Mr. Nathaniel Middleton be appointed Agent on the Part of this Government for receiving, collecting, and managing the Tunkahs or Assignments which have been, or may hereafter be, granted by the Nabob for the Liquidation of the Claims of this Government upon him ; that he be entrusted with the Adjustment of all Accounts relative to these Claims with the Nabob and his Ministers, with all Disbursements to the Paymasters of the Company's Troops stationed in the Dominions of the Vizier, as also to His Excellency's own Military Establishments under British Officers, &c. remitting the Residue of the Collections immediately to us ; and that he be directly answerable to our Authority and Orders, and in no Respect whatever dependent on or connected with the Office of Resident."

Mr. Francis moves, " That as the Governor General declines signing the Letter of Credence for Mr. Bristow, Mr. Bristow's Appointment may be communicated to Mr. Purling by the Board, with Directions to make it known to the Vizier ;" which was agreed to, and it was ordered, " That Mr. Charles Purling be directed to deliver over Charge of all the Papers of the Office hitherto held by him, which have a Relation to the Office to which Mr. Bristow has been appointed, to Mr. Bristow ; and that he be directed to deliver over Charge to Mr. Nathaniel Middleton of all the Papers and Accounts of the Office hitherto held by him, which have Relation to the Office to which Mr. Middleton is appointed, together with the Balance of Cash in his Hands."

The Governor General and Council, in their Secret Letter from Bengal to the Court of Directors, of the 13th of October 1780 (Appendix N° 3. (P) say, " That a Motion having been made at one of our late Meetings for the Re-appointment of Mr. Bristow to the Office of Resident at the Vizier's Court, agreeable to your Orders of the 4th July 1777, and 23d December 1778 ; and this Question having occasioned some Debate, we beg Leave to refer you to the Proceedings noted in the Margin for every Information we can give you on the Subject of it : Mr. Bristow is appointed Resident at His Excellency's Court for the Purpose of managing and conducting such Political Negotiations, Correspondence, and Transactions, as this Government may now or at any future Period be engaged in with the Vizier ; and Mr. Nathaniel Middleton is appointed to be Agent on the Part of this Government for receiving, collecting, and managing the Tunkahs or Assignments which have been, or may hereafter be granted by the Nabob of Oude for the Liquidation of our Claims upon him ; he is entrusted also with the Adjustment of all Accounts relative to these Claims with the Nabob and his Ministers, with all Disbursements to the Paymasters of the Company's Troops stationed in the Dominions of the Vizier, as also to His Excellency's own Military Establishment under British Officers, and directly amenable to our Authority and Orders."

Conf. 2d
3d Octobe

And in their General Letter of the 29th of November 1780 (Appendix N° 3. (Q) Par. 48, they say, " The Advices transmitted to you by the Trial Packet will have informed you of a Motion made on the 2d October by Mr. Francis, That Mr. John Bristow be appointed and directed to return to his Station of Resident at Oude ; of the Debates which followed the Motion ; of the Appointment of Mr. Bristow accordingly ; and of the Nomination of Mr. Nathaniel Middleton to be Collector of the Nabob Vizier's Assignments to the Honourable Company : We will not here repeat the Subject, but refer you for a further Explanation of it to our Letter by the Trial abovementioned, and to our Proceedings of the 2d and 3d ultimo."

The Court of Directors, in their General Letter to the Governor General and Council of Bengal, of the 11th of April 1781 (Appendix N° 3. (Q) Par. 15, say, " We trust Mr. Bristow, who concluded the Treaty with Aluf ul Dowlah in June 1775, would arrive in Bengal soon after the Date of your last Consultations ; and as in consequence of our Orders he would also proceed immediately to the Vizier's Court, we entertain the most favourable Expectations of his being able to conciliate the Mind of the Vizier, and to assist him effectually in arranging and restoring his Finances to a more flourishing Condition."

And in order to give the House the fullest Information possible, Your Committee have thought it necessary to subjoin a compleat Copy of the Proceedings respecting Mr. Bristow, in the Appendix, N° 3.

Your

Your Committee then proceeded to examine into the Disobedience of Orders by the Governor General and Council, in the Case of Mr. Francis Fowke; and Your Committee find,

That on the 16th August 1775 (Appendix N° 4. (A) Mr. Francis Fowke was appointed by the Council General to proceed to Benares for the Purposes already resolved on; and it was ordered, That Instructions be prepared for him accordingly, with a Letter of Credence to Rajah Cheyt Sing.

Your Committee find, That on the 2d December 1776 (Appendix, N° 4. (C) the Governor General moved, That Mr. Francis Fowke be recalled from Benares, and his Commission annulled, the express Purposes thereof having been accomplished.

Resolved, That the Motion proposed by the Governor General be carried in the Affirmative.

Your Committee find, That General Clavering, in an Extract of a Letter to the Court of Directors, of the 5th December 1776 (Appendix N° 4. (D) thought it necessary to give an Explanation of his Conduct concerning his Opinion of the Removal of Mr. Bristow from the Post of Resident with the Vizier, and the Recall of Mr. Francis Fowke from Benares.

Your Committee find the following Extract of the Secret Letter from Bengal, 22d December 1776 (Appendix N° 4. (E)

" Par. 6. The Purposes for which Mr. Francis Fowke was appointed to proceed to Rajah Cheyt Sing at Benares, being now fully accomplished, we have annulled his Commission, and ordered him to return to the Presidency."

And your Committee observe, That on the Day after the Date of this Dispatch to the Court of Directors, the Council General, on a Motion made by the Governor General (Appendix N° 4. (F)

" Resolved, That a Civil Servant of the Company be appointed to reside at Benares on the Part of this Government, for the Purpose of transacting any occasional Business which may arise between this Government and the Rajah of Benares."

" Agreed, That Mr. Thomas Graham be nominated to this Office, and that Mr. Daniel Barwell be appointed his Assistant."

And this Resolution was communicated in a Letter to the Court of Directors, dated the 6th January 1777 (Appendix N° 4. (G.)

" Par. 11. We have thought it proper to appoint a Company's Servant to reside at Benares, for the Purpose of transacting any occasional Business that may arise between this Government and Rajah Cheyt Sing. This Appointment has been given to Mr. Thomas Graham; and Mr. D. O. Barwell has been nominated his Assistant."

Your Committee find, That on the 30th January 1778, the Court of Directors thus expressed their Sentiments and Orders to the Council General, concerning the Recall of Mr. Fowke (Appendix N° 4. (H.)

" Par. 65. In your Secret Letter of the 19th of December 1776, you inform us, that the Purposes for which Mr. Francis Fowke was appointed to proceed to Benares being fully accomplished, you had annulled his Commission, and ordered him to the Presidency; but it appears, by your Letter of the 6th January 1777, that in less than Twenty Days you thought proper to appoint Mr. Thomas Graham to reside at Benares, and Mr. Daniel Octavius Barwell to be his Assistant."

" Par. 66. If it were possible to suppose that a Saving to the Company had been your Motive for annulling Mr. Fowke's Commission, we should have approved your Proceedings; but when we find Two Persons appointed immediately afterwards, with Two Salaries, to execute an Office which had been filled with Reputation by Mr. Fowke alone, and that Mr. Graham enjoys all the Emoluments annexed to the Office of Mr. Fowke, we must be of Opinion that Mr. Fowke was removed without just Cause, to make room for Mr. Graham; and that the Addition of Mr. Barwell's Salary is a clear Loss of Three hundred Rupees per Month to the Company."

" Par. 67. As it was not pretended that Mr. Fowke's Conduct had been exceptionable; as he had executed, with the greatest Punctuality and Exactness, the like Office to which you have now appointed Mr. Graham; and as the Dissent of Mr. Francis and the Protest of General Clavering on the Occasion had no Effect, we think it proper to interfere; and therefore direct that Mr. Francis Fowke be immediately re-instated in his Office of Resident and Post-master at Benares. We, however, think proper to declare, That though we mean by this Order to do an Act of public Justice, we by no Means intend it as a Mark of Disapprobation of the Conduct of Mr. Graham, whom we believe to be a very deserving Servant of the Company."

Your Committee find, That on the 20th July, the Sentiments and Orders of the Court of Directors were taken into Consideration by the Council General (Appendix N° 4. (I) And that the House may be enabled to form a Judgment of the Sentiments of the several Members concerning the Obedience due to the Orders of the Court of Directors, Your Committee have entered at large the several Opinions of the Members of the Council General upon this Subject.

" Governor General—I must request that the Board will suspend the Execution of this Order—The Spirit and Intention of it is evident, and publicly known both in England and here. With these Considerations in View, my Consent to the Recall of Mr. Graham would be adequate to my own Resignation of the Service, because it would inflict such a Wound in my Authority and " Influence,

" Influence, that I could not maintain it. In the Course of a few Days we may expect to hear of the Resolutions which have been taken by our Superiors, and of the Appointments which have been made to fill the Vacancy occasioned in this Government by the Death of the late Sir John Clavering: These will be likewise decisive of my own Situation in the Service. I need not say more to urge the Propriety of suspending the Execution of this Order of the Court of Directors. Mr. Thompson, in his Letter from Marseilles, dated the 18th of April, mentions that a Packet, containing the News of the General's Death, had been dispatched to London from that Port, from His Majesty's Agent there, Seven Days before, and it is probable that the Swallow carried this Intelligence earlier; we may therefore expect that the Caranja, which was to depart from Suez immediately on Receipt of the Confirmation of the War, will bring us those decisive Orders which I look for; and these may arrive To-morrow, or in the Course of a very few Days."

" Mr. Francis—The Court of Directors order Mr. Francis Fowke to be immediately re-instated in his Office.

" To suspend the Execution of such an Order, is to disobey it. In another Part of the same Letter (Par. 41) they say, " We can on no Account permit our Orders to be disobeyed, and our Authority disregarded." When the Company's Orders to me are clear and positive, I do not deem myself at Liberty to withhold my Obedience to them on any Consideration whatever; unless a new Situation of Affairs, unknown to and unforeseen by the Court of Directors, should make it impracticable or dangerous to carry them into Execution: I am therefore against the Motion."

" Mr. Wheler—I am of Opinion that the Order should be immediately carried into Execution."

" Mr. Barwell—While Mr. Hastings is in the Government, the Respect and Dignity of his Station should be supported; in these Sentiments I must decline an Acquiescence in any Order which has a Tendency to bring the Government into Disrepute. As the Company have the Means and the Power of forming their own Administration in India, they may at their Pleasure place whom they please at the Head; but, in my Opinion, they are not authorized to treat a Person in that Post with Indignity."

" Resolved, That the Execution of this Order be suspended."

" Mr. Francis—I beg Leave to enter my Dissent to this Resolution."

Your Committee find, The following Application from Mr. Francis Fowke to the Secretary of the Council, (Appendix, N° 4 J) and his Reply to that Application, (Appendix, N° 4. (K.)

" Sir,

" Calcutta 21st July 1778.

" My Friends in England having transmitted to me a Notification in Form, which they have received, importing, that an Order of the Honourable the Court of Directors, for my instant Re-appointment to the Post of Resident at Benares, was transmitted by the Governor; and a considerable Time being now elapsed since the Receipt of the Packet; I humbly request of the Honourable Board, that I may be informed of any Resolutions which may have passed in consequence of the above Order, and that I may be furnished with a Copy of their Proceedings upon the Subject."

" To Mr. Francis Fowke:

" Sir,

" In consequence of your Address to the Honourable the Governor General and Council, requesting to be informed of any Resolutions which may have passed on the Orders of the Court of Directors respecting you, and to be furnished with a Copy of the Proceedings upon the Subject, I am directed to transmit you the inclosed Extract of the Consultation 20th Instant.

" Council Chamber,

" the 29th July 1778."

And Your Committee find the following Proceedings in the Consultation of 20th July 1778.

" Read the General Letter, dated the 30th January last, received from the Honourable the Court of Directors by the Governor and Ostlerly.

" Par. 64, 65, 66, and 67. Resolved, That the Execution of this Order be suspended."

Your Committee also find a Letter to the Governor General and Council from Mr. Francis Fowke, humbly setting forth to them, the Injury he suffers by their Non-execution of the Company's Orders; and which Letter is inserted in the Appendix (N° 4. (L.)

Your Committee also find the Governor General and Council state the Suspension of their Orders in the following Extract of their Letter of the 17th August 1778, to the Court of Directors (Appendix, N° 4. (M.)

" Par. 25. We have resolved to suspend the Execution of that Part of your Commands, dated 30th January last, which relate to Mr. Francis Fowke; and must beg Leave to refer you to our Records for the Motives which swayed with us in this Instance."

Your Committee find, That on the 1st April 1779, (Appendix, N° 4. (O) Mr. Francis moved, That the 65th, 66th, and 67th Par. of the Company's General Letter of the 30th January 1778, and the Proceedings of the Board of the 20th July 1778, be then read.

SEL. COM. REP. V.

E

After

After various Opinions given by the several Members, Your Committee find, that the Board “ Resolved, That the Decision of the Question proposed by Mr. Francis, be suspended until the “ next Meeting of the Board in this Department.”

Your Committee also find, That on the 5th April 1779, the Board resumed the Consideration of Mr. Francis’s Motion. The several Opinions of the Members will be found in the Appendix, N° 4. (P.) A Negative was put on Mr. Francis’s Motion; and on the 22d of April, the Governor
 General and Council thus write to the Court of Directors, (Appendix, N° 4. (Q))

“ Par. 12. A Motion was made at one of our Meetings, That the Orders contained in the “ 65th, 66th, and 67th Paragraphs of your General Letter of the 30th January 1778, should be “ carried into Execution: The Question was resolved in the Negative; and we beg Leave to “ refer you to our Proceedings on this Subject for your more particular Information.”

Your Committee find, That on the 27th May 1779, the Court of Directors write to the Governor General and Council, (Appendix, N° 4. (R))

“ Par. 4. In Answer to the 25th Paragraph of your Letter of the 17th August last, respecting “ the Appointment we assigned to Mr. Francis Fowke, we only remark, that as the Consultations “ are not yet before us, we must defer our Decision on the Subject, and hope the Reasons which “ swayed you so far as to induce you to suspend the Execution of a positive and peremptory Or“ der of the Court of Directors, will be found sufficient to justify your Conduct on that extraor“ dinary Occasion.”

And Your Committee observe, That on the 27th May 1779, the Court of Directors thus express their Sentiments and Orders, (Appendix, N° 4. S).

“ Par. 40. We have read with Astonishment your formal Resolution to suspend the Execution “ of our Orders relative to Mr. Francis Fowke; your Proceedings at large are now before us.
 “ We shall take such Measures as appear necessary for preserving the Authority of the Court of “ Directors, and for preventing such Instances of direct and wilful Disobedience in our Servants
 “ in Time to come. At present we repeat the Commands contained in the 67th Paragraph of “ our Letter of the 30th January 1778, and direct, that they be carried into immediate Exe“ cution.”

Your Committee find, That on the 27th February 1780, (Appendix, N° 4. (T)) the Governor
 General and Council, having perused the Company’s Orders of the 27th May 1779, “ Agreed, That Mr. Francis Fowke be appointed Resident at Benares, in Conformity to the “ Intention of the Court of Directors; and that Mr. Thomas Graham be directed to deliver over

 “ the Charge of that Office to him on his Arrival there.”

And on the 3d March 1780, Your Committee find the following Paragraph from the Council
 General to the Court of Directors, (Appendix, N° 4. (U)).

“ Par. 46. We have the Honour to acquaint you, That in Conformity to your last Commands “ of the 27th May 1779, Mr. Francis Fowke has been appointed Resident at Benares, and Mr.
 “ Thomas Graham recalled from the Station.”

Your Committee also find, That on the 14th January 1781, the following Minute is entered on Consultation by the Governor General, (Appendix, N° 4. (V)).

“ Governor General—While this Government is charged with such extensive Concerns, and “ hath to contend with Difficulties equal perhaps with those in which even the Supreme Admini“ stration of the British Empire is at this Moment involved, it may at least claim as a Right,
 “ which, under any other System of Government that hath ever yet existed, would be conferred
 “ on it as an indispensible Obligation, to employ and exercise the Powers which are inherent in its “ Constitution, and which are immediately necessary to the Support, and eventually to the Ex“ istence, of those essential Interests which it holds in Charge. On this Principle, I claim the “ Right of nominating the Agent of my own Choice to the Residency of Benares. It is a re“ presentative Station, and cannot, without a Contradiction, be the Charge of a Man not pre“ ferably chosen to it by the Members of the actual Government, and holding it by an Authority “ independent of theirs. Speaking for myself alone, it may be sufficient to affirm that Mr.
 “ Francis Fowke is not my Agent; that I cannot give him my Confidence; that while he con“ tinues at Benares, he stands as a Screen between the Rajah and this Government, instead of an “ Instrument of Controul; and that the Rajah himself, and every Chief in Indostan, will regard it “ as the Pledge and Foundation of his Independence.

“ To Mr. Fowke himself I have no personal Objection; I approve his Conduct, and esteem his “ Character; and I believe I might depend upon his exact and literal Obedience and Fidelity in the “ Execution of the Functions annexed to it. My Objection is stated above, and it is insuperable.

“ The Person whom I have chosen to succeed him, I consider as standing in the same Degree of “ Confidence and Estimation with Mr. Wheler as myself. I adopted him (if I may so express my“ self) from his Family and Patronage, and assigned him an Office of the highest Trust near my “ own Person, with Mr. Wheler’s Approbation; and from a Foresight of the Event which has since “ made us the Copartners of this Government, and which suggested to me the Propriety of employing “ such Agents as would be agreeable to him, while they possessed the other Requisites for my own “ Confidence.

“ I therefore think him, on every Consideration, the fittest to fill the Office in question. I there“ fore move, that Mr. Francis Fowke be immediately removed from the Residency of Benares; and “ that Mr. Markham may be appointed to it in his stead.

“ While

“ While I thus acquit myself of what I conceive to be a Public Duty, it is my Desire at the same Time to indemnify Mr. Fowke from the Consequences personally attending it towards him. I therefore move, That he be at the same Time invested with the Appointment of Agent for all Boats to be employed for the Military Service of this Establishment, with an Allowance of a Commission of 15 per Cent. upon all his Disbursements in this Office; that the executive Charge thereof take Place from the Period of the Expiration of Colonel Morgan’s present Contract; and that till that Time, and for Three Months following it, he be allowed to draw his present Allowance of 1000 Rupees per Month.

“ I propose this Method in Preference to a Contract, because I am convinced from Experience that the Service will be better performed by this Alteration, although it is liable to One material Objection in its natural Influence in his Expences. This is a Defect which can only be corrected by the Probity of the Person who is intrusted with so important a Charge; and I am willing to have it understood as a Proof of the Confidence which I repose in Mr. Fowke, that I have proposed his Appointment, in Opposition to a general Principle, to a Trust so constituted.”

And Your Committee find the following Extract of a Letter from the Council General to the Court of Directors, dated 3d February 1781, (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4 (W.)

“ Mr. Francis Fowke recalled from Benares, and appointed Agent for the Provision of Boats to the Army, after the Expiration of the present Contract. Mr. Markham appointed Resident at Benares.”

Your Committee then examined Sir William James, Bart. a Member of Your Committee, who was Chairman of the East India Company in the Year 1779, upon the same Subject; who being asked, Whether he was Chairman of the East India Company from April 1779 to April 1780? he said, He was—And being asked, Whether he concurred in a Letter to the Governor General and Council of Bengal, of the 14th of May 1779, in which is contained the following Paragraph: “ N<sup>o</sup> 4. In Answer to the 25th Paragraph of your Letter of the 17th of August last, respecting the Appointment we assigned to Mr. Francis Fowke, we only remark, that as the Consultations are not yet before us, we must defer our Decision on the Subject, and hope the Reasons which swayed you, so far as to induce you to suspend the Execution of a positive and peremptory Order of the Court of Directors, will be found sufficient to justify your Conduct on that extraordinary Occasion?” he said, Yes—And being also asked, Whether he did likewise concur in a Letter to the Governor General and Council of Bengal, of the 27th of May 1779, in which is contained the following Paragraph, “ N<sup>o</sup> 40. We have read with Astonishment your formal Resolution to suspend the Execution of our Orders relative to Mr. Francis Fowke; your Proceedings at large are now before us; we shall take such Measures as appear necessary for preserving the Authority of the Court of Directors, and for preventing such Instances of direct and wilful Disobedience in our Servants in Time to come; at present we repeat the Commands contained in the 67th Paragraph of our Letter of the 30th of January 1778, and direct that they be carried into immediate Execution?” he said, On account of a very ill State of Health he was not present at the Writing of that Letter—Being asked, Whether he did not conceive that the Court of Directors at that Period entertained Sentiments of very high Displeasure against the Members of their Council General alluded to in the above Paragraphs? he said, Yes, he conceives they did, on account of Disobedience of Orders—Being asked, Whether it did not appear that such repeated Acts of Disobedience rendered nugatory the Authority of the Court of Directors? he said, No, he certainly did not think so; because, from a Repetition of the Orders, he had no Doubt but they would have conformed and acted in Obedience to them—Being asked, Whether he concurred in the Sentiments which he mentioned to have prevailed in the Court of Directors, on the Subject of Disobedience to their Orders? he said, He did, and felt very great Displeasure himself at their not being complied with, respecting Mr. Fowke—Being asked, Whether the Repetition of Orders has answered his Hopes and Expectations? he said, In Consequence of a Repetition of Orders, he understands Mr. Fowke was appointed to the Office directed by the Court of Directors—Being asked, Whether it appears by the latest Advices from India, that Mr. Fowke is still in that Office? he said, No, he is not—He was then asked, Whether Mr. Fowke has been removed by his own Consent, or promoted to a higher Employment? he said, Not as he knows of—Being asked, Whether Mr. Hastings has informed the Court of Directors, or any of them, that Mr. Fowke is removed from the Office to which they had appointed him? he said, He thinks he has; at least he is certain that it is come to their Knowledge that he is removed—Being asked, Whether that Removal is not a new Act of Disobedience to the Orders of the Directors? he said, Undoubtedly it is departing from their Orders—Being asked, What Measures the Court of Directors have taken since May 1779, to preserve their Authority, and to prevent such Instances of direct and wilful Disobedience in their Servants for the Time to come? he said, He has observed before, that he had no Doubt but from a Repetition of their Orders, that their Servants would act in Obedience to them: The Court of Directors have since written in strong and positive Terms upon many Points, to enforce Obedience to their Orders—Being asked, Whether it was from any Experience of the habitual Obedience of the Company’s Servants in Bengal, that he took it for granted that a Repetition of the Orders would be fully complied with? he said, He cannot say it was; but he had no Idea that Men could continue to persevere in Disobedience of Orders when they had been so severely reprehended for it—Being asked, Whether he had not Reason to know, that other Orders of the Company, equally positive, had been disobeyed? he said, No, he thinks in none so strong as in the Instance of Mr. Fowke—Being asked, Whether he has, in any of the Minutes of Consultation of the Governor General and and Council, observed, that the Principle of Disobedience has been avowed and justified? he said, So far as suspending the carrying into immediate Execution the Orders of the Company, he has.

Then the Minute of Mr. Barwell recorded in Consultation of the 1st of April 1779 was read; and Sir William James was then asked, Whether that Minute, avowing a Principle of Disobedience to the Orders of the Company by the Members of the Council whenever they thought the Dignity of the Governor General affected by those Proceedings, did not call for some Proceedings upon the Subject by the Directors, to vindicate their own Authority? he said, He thinks it was a Measure highly to be disapproved of—Being asked, Whether any Proceedings were had upon that Subject by the Court of Directors? he said, He does not precisely recollect what was done particularly upon that Subject, but will refer to the Letters that were written in consequence—Being asked, Whether there were not other Acts of Disobedience in Bengal justified upon a similar Principle? he said, He believes there were—Being asked, Whether he does not understand, that by the Regulating Act of 1773, the Governor General and Council of Bengal are directed to obey the Orders which they were to receive from the Court of Directors? he said, Certainly—Being asked, Whether it has not been usual before that Act passed, for the Company's Servants openly to avow a Principle of Disobedience to the Company's Orders, and to record it on their Consultations? he said, He believes not—Being asked, Whether he can assign any other Reason why the Court of Directors did not proceed according to their Letter of the 27th of May, except what he has expressed in his former Answer? he said, He cannot—Being asked, Whether Year after Year repeated Censures have not been sent out by the Court of Directors against certain Acts of the Bengal Government? he said, He believes many—Being asked, Whether the Court of Directors did not find that those Censures tended to lessen the Principle and Practice of Disobedience in their Servants? he said, He does not think that they did—Being asked, If the British Subjects and Natives of Bengal find the Orders of the Court of Directors disobeyed, to what Authority does he think they would look up? he said, He cannot answer that Question, because he cannot conceive that they would consider the Orders of the Court of Directors of no Effect—Being asked, Whether the 40th Paragraph of the General Letter to Bengal of the 27th of May 1779, before set forth, was written without his Knowledge and Approbation? he said, He was so ill at that Time, that he could not attend the India House; nor is he certain whether that Letter was brought to him for Approbation; if it had, he certainly should have concurred.

And that the House may be better enabled to form a Judgment upon this Matter, Your Committee have thought it necessary to subjoin a compleat Copy of the Proceedings respecting Mr. Fowke in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 4.

The Minute of Mr. Barwell of 20th July 1778, respecting the Re-instatement of Mr. Fowke, contained Sentiments so repugnant to the Obedience due to that Power which by Law he was bound to obey, that Your Committee cannot avoid pointing it out to the Attention of the House, more particularly as in the Course of their Investigation they have found Opinions recorded by Mr. Barwell of a very opposite Nature, and which they now also submit to the House.

It appears by the Consultations of the 27th June 1770, that upon some Difference in Opinion betwixt the President and Members of the Select Committee and of the Council of Bengal, which of those Boards was authorized to carry certain Instructions of the Court of Directors into Execution, that Mr. Barwell, then a Member of the Council of Fort William, proposed the following Question:

How far is every Member of the Board responsible for Orders transmitted by the Court of Directors to the Governor and Council? or, in what Degree reprehensible for acquiescing in an Authority assumed by the Select Committee to debate upon the Propriety of enforcing, or not enforcing, the said Orders?

Mr. Barwell's Opinion is, that Orders from Masters to Servants, imply an Expectation of Obedience. That Servants will be deemed blameworthy, should Complaisance to Fellow-Servants induce them to refer the Execution of the Company's Orders to Persons not intrusted therewith by the Company.

Mr. Barwell's Minute of the 20th July 1778, upon the Governor General's Motion to suspend the Orders of the Court of Directors relative to Mr. Fowkes's Appointment to Benares.

While Mr. Hastings is in the Government, the Respect and Dignity of his Station should be supported; in these Sentiments I must decline an Acquiescence in any Order which has a Tendency to bring the Government into Disrepute. As the Company have the Means and the Power of forming their own Administration in India, they may at their Pleasure place whom they please at the Head; but, in my Opinion, they are not authorized to treat a Person in that Post with Indignity.

In the same Consultation, Mr. Barwell proposed a Third Question, Whether the Board ought to act conformably to what appears to be the Intention of the Company, which Intention, he observes, is too strongly pointed out for the Board to mistake it?

Mr.

Mr. Barwell is of Opinion, that it is the Duty of the Board to fulfil the Company's Expectations, and not to object against the Mode by which they are expressed.

Your Committee find, That the Court of Directors thought the Reasoning of Mr. Barwell, in the Year 1770, upon the Subject of the Obedience due to their Orders, to be so just, that they manifested the severest Marks of their Resentment against their President of Fort William, John Cartier, Esquire, by removing him from his Government, because he had suspended the Execution of their Orders until the Arrival of expected Advices from England; they also dismissed Richard Becher, Esquire, one of the Members of their Select Committee; and degraded Claud Russell, and Charles Floyer, Esquires, Two other Members of the said Committee, for the same Offence, by sending them to Fort Saint George.

Your Committee then examined Sir William James, Baronet, a Member of Your Committee, concerning the Dismission of Servants of the Company for Disobedience of Orders, previous to the Regulating Act of 1773; who being asked, Whether he was in the Direction before the Regulating Act of 1773? said, He was—And being asked, Whether at that Time Acts of Disobedience to the Orders of the Court of Directors were followed by any Marks of their Resentment? he said, He believes the Directors conducted themselves in such a Manner, as to prove their Authority in the good Government of their Servants Abroad—Being asked, Whether Mr. Cartier, the Predecessor of Mr. Hastings in the Government of Bengal, was not dismissed from his Station for retarding the Execution of the Company's Orders? he said, Yes—Being asked, Whether Mr. Becher, one of the Members of the Council, was not dismissed at the same Time, and for the same Cause? he said, He thinks he was—Being asked, Whether Messrs. Russell and Floyer were not removed from their Seats, as Counsellors at Fort William and Members of the Select Committee there, and ordered to a subordinate Rank on the Madras Establishment, for the same Offence? he said, He cannot say positively as to their Rank, but they were ordered from Bengal to Fort Saint George—Being asked, Whether he recollects what were the Orders, the Execution of which were retarded by the above-mentioned Gentlemen? he said, He cannot exactly recollect them—Being asked, Whether Commissioners, appointed by the Company, with extensive Powers, were not at that Time on their Passage to India? he said, They were—Being asked, Whether he conceives that any very material Prejudice would have arisen to the State, by retarding the Execution of those Orders until the Arrival of the expected Commissioners, or until the Orders of the Company should arrive, as they were expected in the Course of Three Months? he said, He believes it was so considered by the Court of Directors—Being asked, Whether there was not then a Dispute between the Select Committee at Bengal and the Council at large, concerning the Powers of the Committee? he said, Yes—Being asked, Whether it was not a Contention between them, by whose Authority the Orders of the Company should be carried into Execution? he said, He believes it was—Being asked, Whether the Court of Directors did consider the Delay in the Execution of their Orders, as a wilful and intentional Disobedience, or how otherwise? he said, They considered it as a Disobedience—Being asked, In what Light did the Court of Directors consider the general Character and Conduct of their Governor, Mr. Cartier? he said, His Opinion of him is contained in a Letter dated the 5th of April 1771 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 12)—Being asked, Whether that single Act of Disobedience was not the Cause assigned for his Removal, notwithstanding the general Goodness of his Character, and Length of Services? he said, He believes it so appears by the Letter alluded to.

And in order to shew the House that Mr. Cartier was a Servant in high Estimation with the Directors, and that he was dismissed for this single Act of Disobedience, the Committee have inserted the following Orders of the Court of Directors, dated the 25th April 1771, to the President and Council of Fort William:

"We are truly sorry, after having entertained the highest Opinion of the Abilities and good Conduct of our President, Mr. Cartier, that he should in any Shape incur our Displeasure; but we cannot pass over his late Conduct, in joining in a Resolution to retard the Execution of our Orders, which if they had been vigorously enforced would, we cannot doubt, have tended much to the public Welfare, and reflected Honour on every Individual who might have had the Execution of them. We therefore direct that Mr. Cartier do continue in the Government of our Presidency of Fort William till the Departure of the last Ship of the Season for Europe after the Arrival of Mr. Hastings in Bengal, on or before which Time it is our Pleasure that Mr. Cartier do resign that Government to Mr. Hastings."

And that the House may be enabled to form a complete Judgment of the Sentiments of the Directors of the East India Company, upon this Point, Your Committee refer them to the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 12.

Mr. Francis, in his Evidence, having stated to the Committee that Mahomed Reza Cawn was dismissed by the Governor General and Council from his Office of Naib Soubah in February 1778, in which he had been confirmed by the express and particular Orders of the Court of Directors; and that this Act had been strongly disapproved of and condemned by the Court of Directors, who had ordered him to be re-instated in his Office; Your Committee thought it their Duty to examine into the whole Proceedings on this Subject.

They find, that in the 46th Paragraph of the General Letter to Bengal of the 3d March 1775 (Appendix, N° 6. (A)) the Court of Directors give the following Orders:

“ The Conduct of Nundcomar, in the Part he has taken against Mahomed Reza Cawn, appears to us so very inconsistent and unworthy, that we feel a Repugnance to the Continuance of his Son in the high Office of Roy Royan of the Province. And as the Acquittal of Mahomed Reza Cawn warrants us again to employ him, we direct that, if he can with Propriety accept of that Office under the Regulations and Restrictions established by our President and Council, and with the salary granted to Rajah Gourda's for executing the same, he be forthwith appointed thereto, and receive a proper Khelaut, and such other Marks of Distinction as are usually conferred on Natives on like Occasions. We mean not by this Appointment to restore Mahomed Reza Cawn to any improper Degree of Power, but merely to testify our Satisfaction on finding his former Conduct has been so much better than we expected.”

When these Orders arrived in India, there was a Difference of Opinion among the Council General, in what Point of View they should be considered; and the following is extracted from a Minute signed by Messrs. Clavering, Monson, and Francis, and entered on Consultation of the 18th October 1775 (Appendix, N° 6. (C)).

“ It is now the clear unquestionable Determination of the Court of Directors to support an sensible and active Power in the Country Government. The Nabob himself, from Youth, Inexperience, and the total Neglect of his Education, is incapable of exercising this Power. The executive Authority of the Nazim must be delegated to a Minister; who, acting in his Master's Name, may nevertheless be sensible that he owes his Appointment solely to our Recommendation, and that his Continuance in Office depends upon his Attachment and Gratitude to the Company.

“ We are convinced there is no Man in the Provinces in every Respect so well qualified for this important Post, as Mahomed Reza Cawn; and we think the Declarations now made in his Favour by the Court of Directors entitle us to replace him in it.

“ We offer it therefore as our Opinion, that the Board should recommend him to the Nabob to be Minister of the Government and Guardian of his Highness's Minority, with Authority to transact the political Affairs of the Sircar. He should be intrusted to superintend the Nabob's Education, to chuse proper Servants and Companions for him, and to endeavour to recover him from the dishonourable State of Ignorance and Dissipation in which we fear he is still immersed. He should be particularly impowered and directed to reduce and regulate the Expences of the Nabob's Household in such a Manner as to enable him to extricate his Highness from his Debts and Incumbrances, without calling upon the Company for an Increase of his present Income.”

And on the same Day the Governor General delivered in a Minute as follows:

“ I dissent from every Resolution of the Majority, as contradictory to the Orders of the Company, and inconsistent even from those which they are possessed to carry into Execution; and I hereby enter my Protest against them, and all the Consequences which may ensue from them. I have too much to say upon the Subject to be dictated in a verbal Minute at this Board; I will deliver in my Reasons in Writing at another Time. I meant to have contented myself with this short Dissent to the Resolutions already formed, conceiving my Opinion to be unnecessary, and precluded from any possible Effect by those Resolutions; understanding, of course, the Recommendations of the Majority delivered in so formal and decided a Manner as the Resolutions of the Board: But as I perceive that it is expected of me to give an Opinion in the Terms of my own Question, I will comply with the Form required of me in a few Words. It is my Opinion, then, that the Company's Orders require that Rajah Gourda's should be removed from the Appointment which was granted to him under the Sanction of the last Administration, and, a fortiori, from every Addition since made to it; and that Mahomed Reza Cawn be appointed Dewan to the Nabob's Household in his Stead.”

And Your Committee find the Council General then came to the following Resolution:

“ Resolved, That the Board recommend Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Nabob, to be Minister of the Government and Guardian of his Minority, with the Powers and Authorities as described in the Minute delivered in by General Clavering, Colonel Monson, and Mr. Francis.”

And it was Ordered, “ That the Secretary acquaint Mahomed Reza Cawn, that the Honourable the Court of Directors have been pleased to approve of the Proceedings of the late Board, on the Investigation of his Conduct, by which he was acquitted of the Accusations laid to his Charge, excepting the Amount due to the Company on Account of the Dacca Revenues, which Sum, however, they have suspended their Claim to, in Consideration of the Inconveniencies which he may have suffered during the Time of his Examination; and wishing that he should remain under no Obligation to them than that of Gratitude, they consent to his total Enlargement: And that he be further acquainted, that the honourable the Governor General and Council have therefore been pleased to recommend him to the Nabob Mobarek O' Dowla, to be Naib Soubah, or Minister, of the Sircar, and Guardian of his Minority, with Authority to transact the Political Affairs of the Sircar, to superintend the Fouzdarry Courts, and the Administration of Criminal Justice throughout the Country, and to enforce the Operation of the same on the present Establishment, or to new model and correct it: And as the Board wish that he shall have full Controul of the Officers of the Criminal Courts in the Character of Naib Soubah, they propose to remove the Nizamut Adawlut, now at Calcutta, to be held in future at Moorshedabad.”

Your Committee find on the Secret Consultations of the 30th October 1775 (Appendix, N° 6. (D)) a Copy of a Letter from Mahomed Reza Cawn as follows :

“ On the 23d Shabana (19th October) I received a Letter from Mr. Auriol, the Secretary to the Council, to the following Purport (here he quotes the Secretary's Letter, agreeable to the Board's Resolution of the 18th Instant.)

“ I beg Leave to represent to you, Gentlemen, that from the Time when I was first honoured with an Employment in the Company's Affairs, I never took any Step but for the Interest of the Company; to promote which I exerted myself with so much Assiduity, in Conjunction with the Company's Administration, that in various Instances I gained great Applause. It therefore afforded me the highest Pleasure to hear that the Company approved of the Decree declaring my Innocence, and that they were satisfied of the Injustice of the Accusations falsely laid to my Charge. And as my being again received into Employment will make known the Approbation, and will tend to raise my Character and Reputation, I shall therefore accept, with the greatest Pleasure, an Appointment, which the Governor General and Council having been so kind as to fix on for me, have recommended to the Nabob, Mobareck ul Dowla, to bestow on me: By the Blessing of God, when it is approved, I shall exert my utmost Abilities in the same Manner as I have ever done in the Execution of the Trust. But I beg of you, Gentlemen, to reflect, that considering of my former Salary, Station, and the important Office to be now entrusted to me, the Salary of 2,40,000 Rupees, which you fixed on, is not sufficient to defray the Expences which by the Usage of the Country I must be at. I had also flattered myself, after the extreme Disgrace which I, a faithful Adherent of the Company, had suffered from the false Accusations brought against me, that when the Company were informed of my Innocence and good Character, they would have given me greater Marks of their Favour than they had even formerly done. As you, Gentlemen, have shewn me so much Regard, and engaged so heartily in my Favour, whatever therefore you determine, considering it as for my Interest and Advantage, I shall agree thereto; but I am hopeful, that when you are thoroughly acquainted with the Distresses I have suffered, you will honour me with the same Powers in the Administration of the Affairs of the Sircar as I formerly enjoyed; and thereby enable me to manifest my Fidelity and Attachment to the Company.”

And Your Committee find the following Proceedings recorded in the Consultation of the same Day :

“ Read a Letter from the Nabob Mobarek ul Dowla, approving of the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn, recorded in the Persian Correspondence, and received the 29th Instant.
“ Agreed that the following Letter be written to Mr. Martin, Resident at the Durbar :

“ Sir,
“ The Nabob Mobarek ul Dowla having in a Letter to the Governor General signified his Approbation of the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn to be Naib Soubah, which we had recommended to him, we desire that you will obtain from the Nabob a proper Sunnud for the Investiture of his Office, and transmit it to us, that it may be duly presented to him.
“ We are, &c. &c.

“ Fort William,
“ 30th October 1775.

“ J. Clavering,

And Your Committee further find the following Proceedings recorded in the Secret Consultations of the 9th Day of November 1775, (Appendix, N° 6, (F.))

“ The following Letter from the Resident at the Durbar, with its Contents is now communicated to Mahomed Reza Cawn :

“ Gentlemen,
“ I am favoured with your Letter of the 30th ultimo, and have now the Pleasure of transmitting you the Nabob's Sunnud, confirming the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Superintendancy of the Fougedarry Court of Adawlut. He has however declined giving his Sunnud for the Office of Naib Soubah, as a Thing not customary, and which he informs me was never done by any of his Predecessors; he is nevertheless perfectly satisfied with the Appointment; and if it should be your Pleasure to require such a Grant from him as materially necessary for the Investiture of that Office, I make no Doubt of his ready Compliance.

“ I am, with the greatest Respect, &c.

“ Resident.”

And also the following Proceedings in the Secret Consultations of the 6th of December 1775, (Appendix, N° 6, (G.))

“ Received

" Received the following Letter from the Resident at the Durbar :

" Gentlemen,

" I have now the Pleasure to acquaint you that Mahomed Reza Cawn, agreeable to his Appointment, has this Day taken Charge of the Nabob's Household, and the Management of his Affairs.

" I remain, &c.

" Moorshedabad,
" 2d December 1775.

" W. B. Martin,

" Resident."

Your Committee find on the Secret Consultations of the 7th December 1775, (Appendix, N° 6, (H.)) the Governor General entered a very long Dissent against the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn in Reply to the Minute of Messrs. Clavering, Monson, and Francis, of the 18th October preceding; but there is One Part of this Minute which your Committee recommend most particularly to the Consideration of the House. The Governor General states, that "all the Acts of Policy cannot conceal the Power by which these Provinces are ruled, nor can all the Arts of Sophistry avail to transfer the Responsibility of them to the Nabob, when it is as visible as the Light of the Sun, that they originate from our own Government; that the Nabob is a mere Pageant, without the Shadow of Authority, and even his most consequential Agents receive their Appointment from the Recommendation of the Company, and the express Nomination of their Servants. Even the Orders of the Court of Directors, of the 28th August 1771, which direct the Appointment of an ostensible Minister to the Nabob, and under which the late Arrangements are professedly formed, appear in the printed Proceedings of the House of Commons, and are open to the View of every Nation in Europe."

Your Committee find the following Extract of a Minute of Messrs. Clavering, Monson, and Francis, dated the 21st November 1775, and recorded in the Secret Consultations of the 7th of December 1775, (Appendix, N° 6, (I.))

" The Motives on which we have restored Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Office of Naib Soubah, have been clearly explained. To recover the Country Government from the State of Feebleness and Insignificance to which it was Mr. Hastings's avowed Policy to reduce it, was no easy Task. According to the Governor General's Plan, we should have confined the only Man perhaps of real Abilities and extensive Knowledge in the Country, to the unimportant Office of Steward of the Nabob's Household, at a Time when a Minister of the Government was wanted, and when the Administration of Criminal Justice through the Country was at a Stand. The Measure seems to us indispensably necessary, and promises Success. In recommending Mahomed Reza Cawn to his present Post, we presume to think we have rendered an essential Service to the Company."

And they find in the Thirty-fifth Paragraph of the General Letter of the 24th of December 1776, (Appendix, N° 6. (K)) from the Directors to Bengal, a Confirmation of Mahomed Reza Cawn's Appointment as follows :

" The easy Prey which the Nabob has been made to his menial Servants, and their utter Want of Ability, Integrity, and Attention, to render him in any Degree respectable, even in the Eyes of the Natives, are Circumstances that had led us to reconsider our Instructions to our late President and Council respecting Mahomed Reza Cawn. We were always of Opinion, that an able ostensible Minister, during the Minority of the Nabob, would be necessary, and late Events have but too strongly confirmed us in such Opinion : And as the Abilities of Mahomed Reza Cawn have been sufficiently manifested, as official Experience qualifies him for so high a Station in a more eminent Degree than any other Native with whom the Company has been connected ; and as no Proofs of Mal-administration have been established against him, either during the strict Investigation of his Conduct, or since his Retirement ; we cannot, under all Circumstances, but approve your Recommendation of him to the Nabob, to constitute him his Naib : We are well pleased that he has received that Appointment, and authorize you to assure him of our Favour, so long as a firm Attachment to the Interest of the Company, and a proper Discharge of the Duties of his Station, shall render him worthy of our Protection."

In the Bengal Secret Consultations of the 23d July 1778, (Appendix, N° 6. (L.)) Your Committee find, that the Governor General desires that the following Letter from the Nabob Mobarek ul Dowla may be read.

" I have already addressed repeated Letters to your Excellency, stating very fully the Trouble and Uneasiness I suffer from the Nabob Mahomed Reza Cawn's being invested with the Office of the Naibship of the Nizamut, with the Management of the Affairs of the Country, and of the several Offices of my Household, the Administration of the Business of the Adawlut and Phoufdarry within the Soubahs, and of all the Affairs of the Nizamut, as well as of my domestic Concerns, and the Superintendence of myself and Family ; because the said Nabob, regarding only his own Benefit, and the Increase of his Greatness in future, pays no Regard or Attention to my Interest or Advantage.

" The Nabob Mahomed Reza Cawn is neither connected with me by the Ties of near Relationship, nor of sincere Attachment ; that he should be invested with such a Degree of Power, is highly oppressive and dishonourable to my Family. I am now, by the Favour of God, come to Years of Maturity, and to that Age when, by the Precept of our holy Law, and the Usage of " Maho-

" Mahomedanism, I ought to take Charge and Management of my own Affairs; and by the Blessing of the Almighty, I am not so devoid of Understanding as to be incapable of conducting them. I am therefore hopeful, from your Favour and Regard to Justice, that you will deliver me from the Authority of the aforesaid Nabob, and give your Permission that I take on myself the Management of the Adawlut and Phoudarry of the Soubahs, as well as of my own Household, and of the Business of the Nizamut, which is my Right.

" The Company who have acquired so great Authority in this County, and raised themselves to their present Degree of Greatness and Dominion, are indebted to the Advantages solely to the warm Support of my Ancestors; and you know what Degree of Authority I am at present possessed of. I therefore ask nothing more than my Right; and should the Company, disregarding the Situation and Rights of this Family, refuse their Approbation to my Request, which is perfectly just and right, it will be highly inequitable.

" I am hopeful that, maturely weighing this Matter, your Excellency will give me the Management of the Affairs of the Nizamut, of my own Household, and the Offices attached thereto, together with the Administration of the Adawlut and Phoudarry within the Soubahs, which are my Right. This will be an Act of the highest Justice in the Gentlemen, and will engage my Gratitude, and that of all the helpless Dependents of this Family."

And your Committee find, that upon this Letter being read, the Governor General, notwithstanding the Appointment had received the Sanction of the Court of Directors, entered the following Minute:

" I move that the Opinions of the Members of the Board may be taken, Whether the Requisitions contained in the above Letter shall be complied with, or denied? It is late, nor would it shew the Board to form any decided Resolution upon a Subject of this Nature, without the fullest Deliberation; I desire, therefore, that the Secretary may send the Letter and Question round to the different Members of the Board, that their Opinions may be taken at the next Meeting of Council."

And it was ordered, " That the Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla be accordingly circulated with the above Question to the Members of the Board, for their Opinions thereon."

Your Committee find, That in the Secret Bengal Consultations, of 2d March 1778 (Appendix N<sup>o</sup> 6. (M.) the Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, recorded the 23d ultimo, was reconsidered; and that the several Members of the Council then present (Messrs. Wheler, Francis, and the Governor General) delivered Minutes to the Council; which Proceedings Your Committee have thought proper to enter into the Report, as the several Minutes will throw much Light on the Subject.

" Extract of Fort William Secret Consultations, 2d March 1778.

" Reconsidered the Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, received the 12th, and recorded the 23d ultimo.

" Mr. Wheler delivers in the following Minute:

" Mr. Wheler—After having very maturely considered the 40th Paragraph of the General Letter from this Presidency to the Court of Directors, dated the 20th November 1775, particularly that Part of it which mentions the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Naibship of the Nizamut, for the Support of that ostensible and active Power in the Nizamut which the Nabob, from Youth and Neglect of Education, was judged incapable to exercise; and having likewise perused the 35th Paragraph of the General Letter from the Court of Directors, dated 24th December 1776, wherein they highly approve, for the Reasons above quoted, of the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn; I am of Opinion, that the Request now presented to this Board by his Highness, consistently with those Orders, cannot be complied with here; but that it will be proper to submit the same to the Determination of the Court of Directors, together with such Remarks as may serve to apprize them of the Consequence, whether beneficial or otherwise, that may probably result from complying with his Highness's Request. And I am further inclined to this Mode, from a Belief that, although his Highness was under Age when placed under the Guardianship of Mahomed Reza Cawn, it was well known to the Court of Directors that, previous to the Date of their Letter approving Mahomed Reza Cawn's Appointment, or to its Arrival in India, his Highness either had or would shortly attain the Years of Maturity.

" Fort William,

(Signed)

" 28th February 1778."

" Mr. Francis delivers in a Minute containing his Opinion, as follows:

" Mr. Francis—I could have wished that, before I had been called upon to deliver my Opinion on the present Question, the Merits of it had been stated to us by the Governor General, and regularly debated at the Board. The Institution of a Council supposes a reciprocal Communication of Opinions, and that no Resolutions shall be formed without a previous Debate. Reserving, therefore, to myself the Right of altering or qualifying the Answer I now deliver in, according to the Lights and Information I may receive from the other Members of the Board, I must declare, that I think we have but one Course to pursue.

" The Letter received from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla should be referred to the Court of Directors. I do not myself see any one Motive that should press this Government to take upon themselves the hazardous Resolution of complying with the Requisitions contained in it; especially at a Time when Measures of the greatest Importance to the Welfare of India already divide our Councils, and ought to engross our Attention. The Subject is delicate in its Nature, and I wish to speak of it with Caution and Reserve. The Board will consider ~~surely~~ what Consequences the Compliance required of us may lead to; with what Demands upon the Company it may be followed; in what Manner it may affect the internal Government of these Provinces, and how far it may coincide with or embarrass Arrangements at this Moment probably under the Consideration of the Legislature for the permanent Settlement of Bengal.

" With respect to the Removal of Mahomed Reza Cawn, I shall only observe at present, that the Court of Directors have approved of our Recommendation of him to the Nabob, to constitute him his Naib; that they are well-pleased that he has received that Appointment, and that they have authorized us to assure him of their Favour. I trust that no Member of this Board would recommend or approve of the Dismissal of a Man whom the Court of Directors themselves consider as qualified for the high Station he holds, in a more eminent Degree than any other Native with whom the Company has been connected, without their express Authority, or unless some Crime had been proved against him.

" Mr. Wheler and I having delivered our Opinions on the Question brought before the Board by the Governor General, I must request that the Governor will be pleased to favour the Board with his Opinion upon it."

" Governor General—I did not expect that my Opinion would be required until those of the other Members had been regularly taken in Succession; nor was this Day appointed for collecting the Opinions upon the Subject. Mr. Barwell's has not been received; he is absent; I shall therefore decline to give my Opinion at this Day's Consultation, unless the Majority of the Board now assembled shall require it."

" Mr. Francis—On this Day Sevensnight, the Governor General moved, that the Opinions of the Members of the Board might be taken on the Subject of the Nabob's Letter. The Motion states, that their Opinions may be taken at the next Meeting of the Council; and the Question was brought forward again this Day, I presume, with the Governor's Approbation, at least, it was not called for by any other Member of the Board; I believe therefore I am perfectly regular in Point of Form, in requesting his Opinion may follow those of the Members present: I therefore beg Leave to repeat my Request in the Form of a Motion; but am ready if the Governor General approves of it, to put off the Consideration of this Question until this Day Fortnight."

" The Governor General—I desire the Secretary to declare whether he had any Directions from me to bring this Matter before the Board?—This is properly the Consultation following that in which the Question was first brought before the Board; as the Meetings on Thursdays, though held in this Chamber, belong only to the Department of Inspection, and are held by a Summons issued by the Secretary to that Department. It was probably my Intention to have brought on the Question for Decision this Morning, but I apprehend it cannot be done with Regularity, as one of the Members of the Board, whose Opinion, I presume, will be essentially necessary, is at this Time absent. It will rest with the Majority of the Board assembled, to let the Question take its due Course, or to force it to an immediate Decision, subject to a regular Confirmation or Repeal at the next Meeting. I cannot consent to the Compromise proposed by Mr. Francis; it is inconsistent with the Demand for an instant Decision."

" The Secretary begs Leave to acquaint the Board, that he did not receive any Orders whatsoever for bringing on the Consideration of the Nabob's Letter this Morning, but that he introduced it as a Subject depending before the Board in the regular Course of Business."

" Mr. Francis—In proposing to defer the Question to this Day Fortnight, I have explained myself to mean, that we should wait for the Receipt of the Company's Letter now on board one of the Ships at Madras, and which we may probably receive in that Time; since that is not approved by the Governor General, I adhere to my First Motion, being perfectly sure that I proceed not only with the strictest Observance of the Forms of the Board, but with the utmost Candor and Consideration."

" The Governor General—From the Whole which has passed in this Debate, which hitherto has been confined to Mr. Francis and myself, it is very evident that Mr. Francis persists in his Motion on the Presumption of a superior Influence, occasionally over-ruling me at this Day's Meeting, otherwise it is impossible to conceive any Reason why he should insist on an instant Decision of the general Question proposed by me on last Monday, when he at the same Time prefers the Suspension of it for a Fortnight, and the Time in which I would propose to suspend it will necessarily form a Part of that Interval, and of Course come nearer to his own Proposition than an immediate Determination. I forbear to say more upon the Subject; It will rest with Mr. Wheler, to determine whether the original Question shall be determined immediately, or wait until the Assembly of the Board is complete."

" Mr. Francis—If the Board will not unanimously agree to wait for the Receipt of the Company's Instructions, now upon their Way probably to this Place, it is not in my Power to assign a Reason why the Board should not decide the Question now. The Motive imputed to me for " urging

" urging such Decision at present, though in fact I have not done so, will, I believe, in the Mind of every impartial Judge, be full as applicable to the Desire intimated by the Governor, that Mr. Barwell's Presence should be waited for. Considerations of that Kind are irregular, and, as I think, not fit to be insisted on of either Side. I beg the Question may be put."

" The Governor General — I believe I know Mr. Barwell's Sentiments upon the general Question as I know Mr. Wheler's; but the Question now before the Board is of a different Nature, and is most undoubtedly an Advantage taken of the present Composition of the Board; it may, however, prove an instructive Experiment, and I shall not be very sorry that it is made. If Mr. Francis knows that the Company's Instructions, which he says are probably now on their Way to this Place, relate to the general Subject now under Consideration, I will readily agree to postpone it; but if he has no such Knowledge, and there is the strongest Reason to believe that they contain nothing which bears the most distant Allusion to it, I know not why I should be required to support the Credit of such a Suggestion."

" Mr. Francis — I am not acquainted with the Contents of the Company's expected Letter; but I do believe, on the Authority of the Court of Directors themselves, expressed in their Letter to the late Sir John Clavering, that it contains some general Arrangements concerning the Affairs of this Country and the Government. They positively promised him to send out such Instructions by their next Dispatches."

" The Governor General — I believe the Court of Directors will regret their ever having given such a Promise, when they know that it has been circulated to every Part of the Provinces, and even beyond the Dominions of our Ally the Nabob of Oude, for the Purpose of weakening the Influence of the present Administration and defeating its Measures: It therefore becomes me, whilst I hold the Place I possess in this Government, to use every Means that may be requisite for obviating the Effects of so dangerous a Policy. This alone would be a sufficient Reason for me to refuse to protract the present or any other Question, until the Arrival of the Company's Orders, on the Supposition that they will contain the Confirmation of a Belief so industriously propagated."

" The Question proposed by Mr. Francis being put,

" Mr. Wheler — Of the Two Propositions made by Mr. Francis, I prefer the postponing the further Consideration of this Question for Fourteen Days; but as that is disapproved by the Governor General, I think it highly necessary that we should come to an immediate Decision, and I only regret that that Decision will probably not be final."

" Governor General — I submit, and shall deliver my Opinion as nearly as I can in the Terms of the Question. It is my Opinion, that the Requisitions contained in the Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, entered in the Consultations of last Monday, be complied with."

" Mr. Francis — I move, that it be resolved, in Conformity to the Opinions of a Majority of the Board, that the Nabob's Letter be referred to the Decision of the Honourable the Court of Directors; and that no Resolution be taken here upon the Subject of the Requisitions contained therein, without their special Orders and Instructions."

" Mr. Wheler agrees.

" Mr. Francis agrees.

" Governor General — I object and protest both against this and the preceding Resolution."

The Board then came to the following Resolution:

" That the Nabob's Letter, recorded the 23d ultimo, should be referred to the Decision of the Court of Directors; and that no Resolution be taken here upon the Subject of the Requisitions contained therein, without their special Orders and Instructions."

Your Committee find that Three Days after this Transaction had passed the Council, that is on the 5th March 1778, the following Proceedings are recorded in the Secret Consultations (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6. (N.))

" Governor General — I move that the Resolution passed in the last Consultation, to wit, That the Nabob's Letter be referred to the Decision of the Honourable the Court of Directors, and that no Resolution be taken here on the Subject of the Requisitions contained therein, without their special Orders and Instructions, be repealed; and that the Question proposed by me in Consultation the 23d ultimo, namely, That the Opinions of the Members of the Board may be taken, whether the Requisitions contained in the Nabob's Letter, recorded in that Day's Proceedings, shall be complied with or denied, may be reconsidered."

" I must here observe, that the preceding Question was in a special Manner referred to the Consideration of every Member of the Board, and that Mr. Barwell's Opinion upon it had not been received at the last Consultation, in which the preceding Resolution was passed. I desire my Minute in which the original Question was proposed, may be entered in this Place."

" Governor General — I move that the Opinions of the Members of the Board may be taken, whether the Requisitions contained in the above Letter shall be complied with or denied? It is late, nor would I wish the Board to form any decided Resolution upon a Subject of this Nature without the fullest Deliberation; I desire therefore that the Secretary may send the Letter and Question round to the different Members of the Board, that their Opinions may be taken at the next Meeting of the Council."

" Mr. Wheler — As the Governor General has assigned no other Reason for bringing this Question again before the Board, except the Absence of one of the Members, which might have been urged

" urged and accepted as a Motive for deferring the Question to the Time proposed by Mr. Francis;
 " I am against rescinding the former Resolution, and reconsidering the Question now.

" Mr. Francis—It is not affirmed or suggested that the Resolution taken at the last Consultation
 " was not regular in Point of Form, or valid in Point of Law; neither has it been affirmed that " sufficient Time was not given to the Members of the Board, to form their Opinions upon the origi" nal Question, or that the Consideration of it was brought forward by either of those Gentlemen
 " whose Votes constituted the Resolution. We had a Week to consider it. The Day was fixed by " the Governor's own Motion, and the Debate was introduced by the Secretary's reading the Nabob's
 " Letter with the Governor's Consent and Approbation, and without any Motion from Mr. Wheeler
 " or me. After Mr. Wheeler's Opinion and mine were read, we proceeded to other Business, and " waited above Two Hours in Expectation of Mr. Barwell's Arrival. From these Facts I presume
 " it follows that the Objection now made to the Resolution on the Score of Mr. Barwell's Absence, is " not in any Sense valid; and the Governor General suggests no other for repealing that Resolution:
 " I am left therefore without any Arguments proposed to counterbalance those on which my Opinion
 " was founded. But if Arguments are even now offered against the Propriety of the Resolution
 " itself, I shall be ready to enter into the Consideration of them. When no Arguments whatsoever
 " are offered to justify the rescinding of a solemn Act of Government, I should think myself not " only highly criminal, but, as a Man acting blindly and without Reason, if I consented to " repeal it."

" Mr. Barwell—Could I regard the Resolution of the 2d Instant as a solemn regular Act of " Government, I should decline including my Opinion at this late Period; but when a Question has " been proposed to be decided upon, the Sentiments that may be delivered by every Member of " the Council, and the Right of every Member to deliver his Opinion, is not only acknowledged by
 " the unanimous Admission of the Mode in which the Question was proposed, but by such Admi-
 " sion each Member is bound to deliver his Opinion, and each to allow the Weight carried by a " Majority of such Opinions. I have no Option, nor can I submit to be excluded from a Right
 " which the unanimous Reception of the Question in the Form it appears the 23d February, gives " me. No subsequent Resolution could deprive me of the Privilege of a Vote on the present Sub" ject, nor no Resolution independent of that Vote, I apprehend, can be an Act of Government,
 " while Two Members only, without the Concurrence of one or both of the other Members, under " such Circumstances, are pleased to call their Votes an Act of Government. The Manner in which " the Question was proposed, and left for Decision, I must again observe in this Place, precluded a " Decision, if any Difference of Opinion prevailed among the other Members, without mine being " also delivered. For these Reasons I approve the Governor General's present Motion as regular " and proper to restore to me those Rights on the present Subject which were given me on the first " Admission of the Question by the Board, and cancelled by the Resolution of the 2d Instant."

" Mr. Francis—I beg Leave to call upon Mr. Barwell for an Explanation of those Words in which,
 " as I understand, he affirms or intimates, that a Resolution taken by the major Part of the Mem" bers present in Council on Monday last, is not an Act of Government. The Meeting of that Day
 " was summoned by the Governor General; and the Law declares, " That in all Cases whatso-
 " ever, the Governor General and Council shall be bound and concluded by the Opinion and Decision
 " of the major Part of those present."

" Mr. Barwell—I am really at a Loss to express my Meaning in Terms clearer than those in " which it already appears. I pretend not to deny that a Majority of the Council General consti" tutes an Act of Government: I simply point out that the Admission of a Question for my Opini" on allows not the Council an Option to cancel the Privilege such Admission conferred, nor " leaves it in my Power to decline a Vote on the present Subject. If any further Explanation is " necessary, I must refer to the Company what I have already said; and flatter myself they will " judge it both clear and explicit."

" Mr. Francis—I submit it to the Judgment of our Superiors, whether the Words used by Mr.
 " Barwell do or do not amount to a Denial of the Legality of the Resolution passed last Monday, " from the Principles on which he now votes for repealing it? I apprehend it would follow, that " any Member of this Board might, by absenting himself from Council in parallel Circumstances,
 " prevent the Decision of any Question whatsoever."

" Mr. Barwell—I apprehend Mr. Francis is wrong in construing my Denial of any Vote preclud-
 " ing my Opinion, under Circumstances such as I have already described, to amount to an Affirma-
 " tion that the Votes of a Majority do not constitute an Act of Government: So far from it, that " if it affirms any Thing, it is the contrary, that a Minority of any Question may not assume the Ap" pearance of a Majority."

" Resolved, That the Resolution, passed in the last Council, viz. " That the Nabob's Letter, re" corded 23d ultimo, be referred to the Decision of the Honourable the Court of Directors; and " that no Resolution be taken here on the Subject of the Requisitions contained therein, without " their special Orders and Instructions," be repealed.

" Mr. Francis—I beg Leave in this Place to enter my Dissent and Protest against this Resolution,
 " for the following Reasons:

" 1st. Because it reverses a regular and formal Resolution of a former Board, without any one " Argument being urged against the Propriety of that Resolution.

" 2d. Because it deprives the Court of Directors of their Jurisdiction over a Question of the ut" most

" most Importance to their Affairs, and to the good Order of this Government, without any one Reason why the Decision of that Question should be pressed at this Time, and not referred to their Judgment."

" Mr. Wheler—I likewise beg Leave to enter my Dissent, for the Reasons already assigned by Mr. Francis."

" The Second Motion contained in the Governor General's Motion, being put,

" Agreed, That the Question proposed by the Governor General, 23d ultimo, viz. That the Opinions of the Members of the Board may be taken, Whether the Requisitions contained in the Nabob's Letter recorded on that Day, shall be complied with or denied? may be reconsidered."

" Mr. Wheler and Mr. Francis having given their Opinions on the original Question in the last Consultation,

" Mr. Barwell proceeds to deliver his Sentiments as follow :

" Mr. Barwell—I am of Opinion, that, as the Nabob is pleased to demand and assert the positive Rights of his Office as Nizam of the Provinces, and as he has been invariably acknowledged such by the Company and this Government, I do not see upon what Ground we can deny his Request. A Reference at this Time for the Orders of the Company, would be an Evasion reflecting on their Honour, and unbecoming the Justice of the Government."

" Governor General—The Nabob's Demands are grounded on positive Rights, which will not admit of a Discussion.

" He has an incontestable Right to the Management of his own Household.

" He has an incontestable Right to the Nizamut ; it is his by Inheritance ; the Dependants of the Nizamut Adawlut, and of the Fouldarry, have been repeatedly declared by the Company, and by this Government, to appertain to the Nizamut.

" For these Reasons I am of Opinion, that the Requisitions contained in the Nabob's Letter, entered on Consultation 23d ultimo, ought to be complied with."

" Mr. Francis—Since it has been resolved that the Consideration of the original Question should be resumed, I desire that the Secretary will read to the Board the repeated Letters already addressed to the Governor General by the Nabob on this Subject, previous to the last, as they will probably throw Lights upon it, which are not before us at present."

" Governor General—I must beg Mr. Francis's Pardon for objecting to the present Motion, as it does not arise out of any new Matter produced at this Meeting ; and as these Letters, if they are supposed to contain any additional Lights, ought to have been considered by him before he gave his Opinion. I have no Objection to their being produced ; the Letter Book containing the Persian Correspondence ought always to be before the Board, and this is the only Day in which I recollect that they were not lying upon the Table ; my Objection goes only to the Loss of Time which will be consumed in tracing the Nabob's Letters, which may have been written on the Subject, and in reading them to the Board. The Letter Books are now produced ; I desire that the Assistant Secretary will examine them, and shew Mr. Francis such Letters as he finds contained in them from the Nabob. This I apprehend will answer all the Purposes for which he can require them, and the Time of the Board will be spared."

" Mr. Francis—I understood the original Question was resumed de novo. In delivering my former Opinion, I reserved to myself a Right to alter it according to the Arguments which might be stated in the Course of the Debate. The Letters in question, if they are entered on the Persian Correspondence, might have been read while we have been talking upon the Subject. I generally have examined the Persian Correspondence, but do not recollect to have seen any Letter from the Nabob, stating, as he says, very fully the Trouble and Uneasiness he suffers from the Nabob Mahomed Reza Cawn's being invested with the Offices he now holds. From what I have heard of his Conduct, and of those Persons who are most in his Confidence, and have the greatest Influence with him, I can easily believe that Mahomed Reza Cawn's Authority is a Restraint over him ; when that Restraint is removed, I do not doubt that he will immediately become what he was before, an easy Prey to his menial Servants, whose utter want of Ability, Integrity, and Attention to render him in any Degree respectable even in the Eyes of the Natives, are well known to the Court of Directors. When the Rights of the Nabob to the Management of his Household, and to the Exercise of the great Offices dependant on the Nizamut, are so peremptorily declared, I should have conceived that his Ability to judge and act for himself and his Capacity to execute Offices of such essential Importance to the Welfare of the Country, would also have been considered by a prudent Government. I know with Certainty that he is in his own Person utterly incapable of executing any of these Offices ; nor does it follow from any Acknowledgment of his Rights, that it should not be the Duty of this Government to recommend to him wise and able Men, and such as the Company themselves are known to confide in, to support and carry on that Part of the Public Business, which is still left, or supposed to be left, with the Nizam. The Company will judge of the real Motives and Object of the Requisitions brought before us in his Name, and how far such an Address from him will justify the Removal of a Minister, whose Appointment has been expressly, and in the highest Terms, approved by him on the 24th December 1776. The Secretary has yet pointed out to me but One Letter from the Nabob, which appears to have been received on the 17th November. In that Letter he says, " I am hopeful you will not keep me

" longer in this painful Suspense, but will be kindly pleased to write immediately to the Munny Begum, that she take on herself the Administration of the Affairs of the Nizamut, which is in fact her own Family, without the Interference of any other Person whatsoever; by this you will give me complete Satisfaction." The Way then to give this young Prince complete Satisfaction, if we can suppose such Letters are really dictated by him, is to restore Munny Begum to the Administration of the Affairs of the Nizamut, without the Interference of any other Person whatsoever. By this Request it appears how little he thought himself qualified Three Months ago to take upon himself the Offices which he now desires to be invested with. I do not doubt that the Object of the present Measure is to restore Munny Begum in Fact, if not in Form, to the Power, of which she was divested by a former Act of this Government. The Merits of this Lady are well known to the Company. But it may be proper to repeat in this Place what the Court of Directors have with great Reason thought fit to say of her: " Notwithstanding such vast Sums have been carried to the Nabob's Account, over and above his Stipend, in so short a Space of Time, we observe, that in May 1775, there was not a Rupee in his Treasury, though there were Demands upon him to a large Amount. This Circumstance alone, were there no other Improprieties in the Conduct of Munny Begum, would justify her Removal from the Office of Guardian to the Nabob, because it is evident, that under her immediate Superintendence, great Part of his Allowance must have been embezzled, or very grossly misapplied."

" Resolved, That the Requisitions contained in the Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, entered in Consultation 23d February, be complied with.

" Mr. Francis—I dissent from and protest against this Resolution; because, in Addition to all the other Reasons expressed by me, it is a direct and positive Disobedience of the Orders of the Court of Directors, expressed in their high Approbation of the Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn to his present Employment; and because this important Resolution is taken without any one Reason being assigned in Support of the Necessity or Expediency of it."

" Mr. Wheeler—I accede to every Objection pointed out by Mr. Francis, and likewise join with him in his Dissent and Protest. Further, as the Nabob has thought proper at this Period to demand his positive Rights, and as those Rights may probably prove much more extensive than appears from the Question now before the Board; I am confirmed in my former Opinion, that his Highness's Request ought to be referred to the deliberate Decision of the Court of Directors, and not at present receive the Sanction and hasty Determination of this Board."

" Governor General—I now move, that a Letter be addressed to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, informing him, that the Board have agreed to comply with the Requisitions contained in his Letter; but that he be requested to permit the present Judges and Officers of the Nizamut Adawlut, and of the Fousdarry, to continue in Office until he shall have formed a new Arrangement of those Officers, and shall have advised the Board of the same through the regular Channel of the Governor General. I move also, that the Substance of the preceding Resolution be communicated to Mahomed Reza Cawn."

" Mr. Wheeler—I object to the Letter for the same Reasons that I have objected to the general Question.

" Mr. Francis—I agree with Mr. Wheeler.

" Mr. Barwell—I agree to both the above Motions.

" Resolved, That a Letter be addressed to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, informing him, that the Board have complied with the Requisitions contained in his Letter; and that he be requested to permit the present Judges and Officers of the Nizamut Adawlut, and of the Phousdarry, to continue in their present Appointments until he shall have formed a new Arrangement of those Officers, and shall have advised the Board of the same through the regular Channel of the Governor General.

" Resolved also, That the Substance of the preceding Resolution be communicated to Mahomed Reza Cawn.

" Warren Hastings.

" P. Francis,

Your Committee have entered at large the several Minutes of each Member of the Council, that the House may clearly perceive their different Reasonings upon a Question of so much Importance, as that of removing the several Officers of the State, whose Nomination had received the Approbation of the Court of Directors, against whose Conduct in Office no well-founded Charge had been made; and the only Reason assigned for his Removal, was the Nabob's Letter.

This Motion, to rescind the Resolution of the 2d March, was carried by the Casting-voice of the Governor General; Mr. Barwell, who was not at the former Consultation, being now present, and concurring with the Governor General. The several Letters from the Nabob, recommending his Mother, the Munny Begum, to the Administration of Public Affairs, are inserted in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6. (S) (T) (V) (U.)

Your Committee find, that the Council General, in their Letter to the Court of Directors of the 20th March 1778 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6. (O) thus write:

" Par. 15. On the Receipt of a Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, addressed to the Governor General, in which he remonstrates against the sole Management and Administration of the Affairs of the Nizamut, the Fousdarry, and the domestic Concerns of his own Household; being continued in the Person of Mahomed Reza Cawn, as Naib Soubah, after he was of Age to conduct them himself; asserting also his Right to execute these Branches of his own Authority, since he had attained the Age of Maturity both by the Mahomedan and Christian Laws; and desiring that Mahomed Reza Cawn might be removed from the Trust with which he was invested; a Proposition was made for the Consideration of the Board, and delivered to each of the Members, signifying that their separate Opinions might be delivered on the next Council Day.

" When we assembled again, the Letter from the Nabob was read, with the Proposition upon it; and it was determined by a Resolution of a Majority of the Members then present, to refer the Application to your Decision. 2d March.

" At the next Meeting of the Board a Motion was made for reconsidering the Subject of our former Debates, as one of the Members to whom the Proposition had been delivered, was absent from the preceding Council, and had not given his Sentiments upon it. 5th March.

" In consequence of his Opinion the Resolution of the Day before was rescinded; and as we regarded the Nabob's Claim in the Light of a positive and incontestable Right, which we could not in Justice deny him the Enjoyment of, we resolved to comply with his Demand."

Your Committee find that the Court of Directors, in their Letter of the 4th February 1779 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6. (A a) seem to have well considered the Subject. They expressed their Sentiments in very strong and pointed Terms against the Majority of the Board; and your Committee have thought it necessary to insert in this Place the several Paragraphs of their Letter, which concludes with their Orders, that Mahomed Reza Cawn shall be immediately restored to the Office of Naib Soubahdar.

" Par. 8. We by no Means approve your late Proceedings on the Application of the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, for the Removal of the Naib Soubahdar. The Requisition of Mobareck ul Dowla was improper and unfriendly, because he must have known that the late Appointment of Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Office of Naib Soubahdar, had been marked with the Company's special Approbation; and that the Court of Directors had assured him of their Favour as long as a firm Attachment to the Company's Interests, and a proper Discharge of the Duties of his Station, should render him worthy of their Protection. We therefore repeat our Declaration, that to require the Dismission of a Prime Minister thus circumstanced, without producing the smallest Proof of his Infidelity to the Company, or venturing to charge him with one Instance of Mal-administration in the Discharge of his Public Duty, was improper and inconsistent with the Friendship subsisting between the Nabob of Bengal and the Company.

" 9. Admitting the Nabob's Complaint, that Mahomed Reza Cawn is not connected with him by relative Ties, to be well-founded, it by no Means follows that he has been deficient in Duty or sincere Attachment to him, or that his Power is oppressive and dishonourable to the Nabob and his Family; nor can Assertions of this Nature, unattended by Proof, have any Weight with us.

" Par. 10. In regard to the Nabob's Claim to take Charge of his own Affairs, merely because he is of Age, and thinks himself capable of conducting them, we find it declared by one of your Members, and not contradicted, that he knew with Certainty that the Nabob is, in his own Person, utterly incapable of executing any of those Offices which were deemed of essential Importance to the Welfare of the Country; and we are sorry to find, that neither this Declaration, nor the Protests of Two Members of the Council, seem to have been thought worthy of an Answer, or even of Consideration, by the Majority of the Board.

" 11. The Nabob hopes, from your Favour and Regard to Justice, to be delivered from the Authority of Mahomed Reza Cawn. He ventures to declare the Company solely indebted to the warm Support of his Ancestors for their present Greatness and Advantages. He claims the Management and Administration of the Soubahdary as his Right; and says, it will be highly inequitable in the Company to refuse their Approbation to his Request.

" Par. 12. We pass over these extraordinary Suggestions of the Nabob without Reply; only observing, that in Justice to him and ourselves, we must take the best Care in our Power of the Peace and internal good Government of the Country; and we are not disposed to hazard the Effects which might be occasioned by committing the entire Management thereof to his Inexperience, without enjoining him to accept such Assistance, and to employ such Ministers about his Person, as may be deemed necessary on the Part of the East India Company.

" 13. The 23d of February we find the Nabob's Letter, and a Question thereon, were circulated to the different Members of the Board, for their Opinions to be taken at the next Meeting of Council, which Meeting happened on the 2d of March; but one of the Members being indisposed, did not attend at that Board.

" 14. We have carefully noticed your Debates on the Subject. The Resolution of Council of that Day, that the Nabob's Letter should be referred to the Decision of the Court of Directors, and that no Resolution should be taken in Bengal on his Requisitions, without our special Orders and Instructions, appears to us very proper; we must therefore express our Disapprobation, on finding the said Resolution rescinded, on the frivolous Pleas urged by the Majority of the Board, Three Days afterwards.

" Par. 15. If the Absence of a Member of Council were sufficient to preclude the Discussion
" of

“ of any Subject which might have been referred for Consideration by a former Board, or to invalidate Resolutions taken during such Absence, it would be in the Power of any Member effectually to defeat the Ends proposed by the Institution of a Council, and to put a total Stop to Public Business whenever he thinks proper. We shall not waste Time in refuting Claims of Privilege advanced on this Occasion, because they appear to us unworthy of Consideration, and beneath all Argument.

“ 16. The Nabob having intimated that he had repeatedly stated the Trouble and Uneasiness which he had suffered from the Naibship of the Nizamut being vested in Mahomed Reza Cawn, we observe one of the Members of your Board desired the Nabob's repeated Letters on the Subject might be read; but this reasonable Request was over-ruled, on a Plea of saving the Board's Time; which we can by no Means admit as a sufficient Objection.

“ Par. 17. The Nabob's Letters of the 25th and 30th of August, of the 3d of September, and 17th of November, leave us no Doubt of the true Design of this extraordinary Business being to bring forward Munny Begum, and again to invest her with improper Power and Influence, notwithstanding our former Declaration, that so great a Part of the Nabob's Allowance had been embezzled or misapplied under her Superintendence.

“ 18. Instead of your declaring that the Nabob's Demands were grounded on positive Rights, which shall not admit of Discussion; that the Nizamut is his Inheritance; that the Dependants of the Nizamut Adawlut and Foujedarry appertain to that Inheritance; that as he is pleased to demand and assert the positive Rights of his Office, as Nazim of the Provinces, there is no Ground for denying his Request; and that a Reference to the Company would be an Evasion unbecoming the Honour of Government;—the Nabob might have been reminded, that a Naib Soubadar was appointed, and that Office continued without Interruption or Objection, during the Government of his Ancestors; who must have been supposed more capable of governing the Provinces than a Youth of 10 Years of Age.

“ 19. You have requested this inexperienced young Man to permit all the present Judges and Officers of the Nizamut and Foujedarry Adawluts, or Courts of Criminal Justice, and also all the Foujedars or Officers appointed to guard the Peace of the Country, to continue in Office until he the Nabob shall have formed a Plan for a new Arrangement of those Officers; and it is with equal Surprise and Concern that we observe this Request introduced, and the Nabob's ostensible Rights, so solemnly at this Period by our Governor General; because on a late Occasion, to serve a very different Purpose, he has not scrupled to declare it as visible as the Light of the Sun, that the Nabob is a mere Pageant, and without even the Shadow of Authority. No Circumstance has happened since that Declaration was made, to render the Nabob more independant, nor to give him any additional Degree of Power or Consequence; you must therefore have been well apprized that your late Concessions to Mobareck ul Dowla, were unnecessary, and as such unwarrantable.

“ Par. 20. As we deem it for the Welfare of the Country, that the Office of Naib Soubadar be for the present continued, and that this high Office should be filled by a Person of Wisdom, Experience, and of approved Fidelity to the Company; and as we have no Reason to alter the Opinion given of Mahomed Reza Cawn in our Letter of the 24th of December 1776, we positively direct that you forthwith signify to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla our Pleasure, that Mahomed Reza Cawn be immediately restored to the Office of Naib Soubadar. And we further direct, that Mahomed Reza Cawn be again assured of the Continuance of our Favour, so long as a firm Attachment to the Interest of the Company, and a proper Discharge of the Duties of his Station, shall render him worthy of our Protection.”

Your Committee find that the Governor General and Council, on the 22d November 1779 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 6. (C a) in their Public Department, took into Consideration the Letter from the Court of Directors, relative to Mobareck ul Dowla and Mahomed Reza Cawn; and the Board came to the following Resolution:

“ Resolved, That the Company's Orders for the immediate Re-instatement of Mahomed Reza Cawn in the Offices he held in January 1778, be carried into Execution; and that a Copy of the last Paragraph of the Company's Letter of the 4th February 1779, together with an exact Persian Translation thereof, be transmitted to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla and to Mahomed Reza Cawn, with a Requisition on the Part of the Governor General and Council to the Nabob, to conform to the Injunctions of the Court of Directors, expressed in that Paragraph.”

Your Committee find, that the next Day, the 23d November (Appendix N<sup>o</sup> 6. (D a) the Governor General moves, That the 8th to the 20th Paragraphs of the General Letter, dated 4th February 1779, with Mr. Francis's Motion and Resolution thereon, be again read: Which being read,

The Governor General moved, “ That the Opinions of the Members of the Board be taken, Whether the above Resolution shall be approved?” Your Committee particularly recommend to the Attention of the House the whole Proceedings of this Consultation, which are entered in the Appendix; but they cannot avoid extracting Part of Mr. Barwell's Minute of that Day; viz.

“ I therefore vote for rescinding the Resolution of the last Council, so far as regards the Mode of executing the Orders of the Company, but no farther. I agree to the Motion, that the Order be executed; but am for leaving the Manner of doing it to the Discretion of the Governor General. From nothing that the Governor General has urged in the Course of the Debate of Yesterday

" do I perceive the least Disposition in him to decline the Instructions which the Company have been pleased to give relative to the Naib Soubah."

The Governor General, in his Minute, thus expresses himself: " With all the Respect and Submission which I owe and feel for the Authority of the Court of Directors, I must declare that I shall not yield even to that Authority, in any Instance in which it shall require my Concession of the Rights which I hold under an Act of Parliament."

After much Debate, Your Committee find the Council came to the following Resolution :

" Resolved, That the Resolution of Yesterday, viz. That the Company's Orders for the immediate Re-instatement of Mahomed Reza Cawn in the Offices he held in January 1778, be carried into Execution, and that a Copy of the last Paragraph of the Company's Letter of the 4th February 1779, together with an exact Persian Translation thereof, be transmitted to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla and to Mahomed Reza Cawn, with a Requisition on the Part of the Governor General and Council to the Nabob, to conform to the Injunctions of the Court of Directors, expressed in that Paragraph, be reversed."

And Your Committee find, That the Council General, on the same Day, resolved,

" That the Pleasure of the Court of Directors, signified in the 20th Paragraph of their General Letter, dated the 4th February last, and the Assurance therein directed to be given to Mahomed Reza Cawn, be communicated to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla and to Mahomed Reza Cawn, in the Words of the General Letter."

Your Committee also find, That on the Consultations of the 15th December 1779, which are entered in the Appendix N° 6. (E a) Mr. Francis, in a Minute of some Length, but well deserving the Consideration of the House, moved, " That it may be resolved, That the preceding Letter from the Nabob is highly dissatisfactory to the Board; and that the Governor General be requested to signify the same to him, and to demand, in our Name, his immediate Compliance with the Orders of the Company."

To which Mr. Wheler agreed.

Your Committee think it proper to insert the Minutes of Mr. Barwell and the Governor General upon that Motion; which are as follow :

" Mr. Barwell—If any Advantage was stated to derive to the Company by controlling the Will of the Nabob, it might be a Question with me, how far the Occasion would vindicate the Compulsion proposed? but when no National Benefit can accrue, nor is stated, I cannot give my Assent to a very exceptionable Measure."

" Governor General—I shall take another Occasion to deliver my Sentiments at large on the Subject of this Motion: For the present I shall content myself with declaring, that I have gone to the utmost Lengths prescribed to me by the Company's Orders, and by my Sense of my Duty, and that I will not go beyond them."

Mr. Francis's Motion was negatived by the Casting-voice of the Governor.

Your Committee find the following Paragraph of the Letter from the Governor General and Council to the Court of Directors, of the 14th January 1780 :

" Par. 54. On Receipt of your Orders of the 4th February last, for the Restoration of Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Office of Naib Souba, we caused an Extract from them to be transmitted into the Persian Language, and transmitted through the usual Channel to the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla. By his Answer you will observe that he has not thought proper to comply with your Requisition. For the Reasons on which he has grounded his Refusal, and our Debates and Proceedings in Consequence, we beg Leave to refer to our Consultations, and to request your attentive Perusal of them."

29th November.

15th December.

Your Committee also find the following Proceedings of the Governor General, and Council, of the 24th February 1780 (Appendix, N° 6, (G a.)

" The Governor General lays before the Board a Letter from the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, containing his Assent to the most essential Parts of the Company's Orders, for the Restoration of Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Office of Naib Souba. The Governor General informs the Board, that he has urged to him the Necessity of a full Compliance, and that he considers this as already effected; he therefore proposes, that the Resident at the Durbar be authorized to inform Mahomed Reza Cawn, that he is re-instated in all and every Part of the Authority vested in him by the Resolution of the Board of the 18th of October 1775, and to receive the Salary of 5 Rupees 2,40,000 per Annum, annexed to his Office by the above Resolution, from the 13th November 1779; from which Day the several Salaries and Allowances granted to Munny Begum, Babboo Begum, Rajah Goordas, and the late Sudder ul Hoc Cawn, by the Resolution of the Board of the 11th May 1780, are to cease and determine: That he be authorized to prepare Kelauts, and invest Mahomed Reza Cawn with the same in the Name of this Government; and that the Nabob be requested to bestow on him the same Marks of his Favour."

" From the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla, received 22d February 1780.

" Your gracious Letter, informing me that you had received repeated and positive Orders from the Company about the Restoration of the Nabob Mahomed Reza Cawn Behadre Mozuffer Jung to the Office of Naib Souba, and also respecting the withdrawing the Pensions of the Two
SEL. COM. REP. V. 1 Begums,

“ Begums, which had been assigned to them in the Month of January 1778, and containing your “ Advice on this Subject, is arrived, and I am acquainted with all the Particulars of it.
 “ Sir ! what Uneasiness and Sorrow I felt on learning the Contents of your Letter, are foreign to “ my present Letter. Before this I have made you acquainted with all my Wishes on the Subject of “ the said Nabob’s Restoration, and I have not yet altered my Desire on this Head ; but as the “ Company’s Orders are so positive, and since you, whom I have always considered, and still confi“ der, as the Support of myself and my Family, advise me to comply with them, I am left without “ Remedy. As I have at all Times conducted my Affairs agreeable to your Advice, although it “ should not coincide with my Wishes, I have accordingly determined to obey the Orders of the “ Company respecting the Restoration of the Nabob Mahomed Reza Cawn to the Office of Naib “ Soubah, and to re-instate him accordingly in all the Rights of that Office ; but will not suffer him to “ have any Authority in my Household Matters, which depend solely on myself ; and besides, I hope
 “ from your Friendship, that positive Directions may be given to him at the Time of his Appoint“ ment, that he act in all Matters by my Advice, and that my Signature be put to all Papers. Al“ though I, from the Necessity of the Times, and in Compliance with your Advice, have Regard to “ a Thing which is full of Detriment to my Rights and those of my Family, and contrary to the “ Expectations which I had from the Company and the English Nation ; yet, reflecting on the Justice
 “ and Equity of the English Gentlemen, I am confident that whenever the Company shall send out “ Orders by which my Rights can be impaired, and should direct me to be put under the Au“ thority of a Person who has no Right in the least to it ; you will, upon receiving full Informa“ tion of it, do me Justice and restore me to my Rights, that no Disgrace and Dishonour may “ come upon me. In short, I trust all my Concerns to your Friendship, and hope that you will ex“ plain them in such a Manner to the Company, that Justice may be done to me. Further Particu“ lars will be made known to you by the Letter of Sir John D’Oyley, who is my true Friend, and
 “ in whom I put entire Confidence ; whatever he shall write, consider as coming directly from me.”

Which Proposition of the Governor General’s was agreed to.

And Your Committee also find on the 3d of March 1780, (Appendix N° 6. (H a) the following Letter from the Governor General and Council, to the Court of Directors :

“ Par. 12. We have the Pleasure to inform you, That the Nabob Mobareck ul Dowla having “ signified his Assent to the Execution of your Orders in favour of Mahomed Reza Cawn, by a “ Letter to the Governor General, we accordingly re-instated him in all and every Part of the Au“ thority vested in him by the Resolution of the Board, of the 18th October 1775, with the Salary
 “ of Sicca Rupees 2,40,000, annexed to the Office by that Resolution, from the 13th November
 “ 1779 ; from which Day the several Salaries and Allowances granted to Munny Begum, Babboo
 “ Begum, Rajah Gourdals, and the late Sudder ul Hoc Cawn, are to cease and determine.”

And in order to give the House the fullest Information possible, Your Committee have thought it necessary to insert in the Appendix N° 6, a compleat Copy of the Proceedings respecting Mahomed Reza Cawn.

The Advices which the Court of Directors have lately received from Bengal, of a most extra-ordinary Promotion of Field Officers on that Establishment, induced Your Committee to examine the Orders of the Court of Directors on this Subject so far back as the Year 1770 : And Your Committee find, that the Court of Directors, in their General Letter to the President and Council at Fort William in Bengal, of the 23d of March 1770 (Appendix N° 13. (C) after reprobating the Conduct of their Council at Bengal, for the Promotion of Two Lieutenant Colonels, direct, “ That
 “ on any future Vacancies they are not to be filled up, our Intention being that you should revert
 “ to the former Establishment of One Major to each Brigade ; and we hereby declare, that if you “ shall hereafter presume to alter the Military Establishment laid down from the Court of Di“ rectors, by the Appointment of any additional and extraordinary Officers to such Establishments, “ as has been done in this Instance ; it is our fixed Resolution to dismiss those Persons from our “ Service, be they whom they may, who shall take upon themselves to concur in such notorious “ Disobedience of our Orders.”

And Your Committee also find, That the Court of Directors, in their General Letter to the President and Council at Fort William in Bengal, of the 10th of April 1771 (Appendix N° 13. (D) say, “ To free ourselves in future from the irksome Necessity of annulling any Appointment of “ Field Officers which shall not have been made with our Permission, we positively direct, that you “ do not at any Time take upon yourselves to advance any Commander in Chief to the Rank of “ Brigadier General, or appoint any Colonel to be Commander in Chief, but the Colonel succeed“ ing to such Command is to act as provisional Commander in Chief, until you shall be informed “ of our Pleasure in this Respect ; and we further order, that the like Rule be observed in regard “ to all other Field Officers, who in Case of Succession by any Vacancy must be appointed pro-
 “ visionally to the next superior Rank, until the same shall be confirmed by us.”

In the same Letter the Court of Directors express their Dissatisfaction at the Promotion of Cap- tain Du Glos to the Rank of Major, as follows :

“ Par. 97. On observing your Appointment of Captain Du Glos to be a Major upon Brevet,
 “ we cannot but be dissatisfied at your assuming a Power to bestow such Favours or Distinctions as “ Decency

“ Decency required you to submit to our Determination; however, the long and faithful Services of Captain Du Glos, and his approved Merit, have induced us to continue to him the Rank he has received from your Appointment; but as we shall not admit of your exceeding our Establishment of Engineers, Captain Du Glos must remain a Brevet Major until he shall succeed to the Rank of full Major, on a Vacancy of such Rank in the Corps of Engineers.”

And your Committee find, That the Court of Directors complain of the Number of Field Officers on the Bengal Establishment, that they limit the Number on the Establishment: and in the 100, 101, 104, and 109 Paragraphs of the same Letter, they give the following Instructions, “ Par. 100. Upon examining into the State of your Military Officers, we find the Number of Field Officers greatly exceeds your Establishment; we therefore direct, that all above Three Colonels of Infantry (including the Commander in Chief) Six Lieutenant Colonels of Infantry, One of Artillery, and the Lieutenant Colonel of Engineers, Six Majors of Infantry, Three of Sepoys, One of Artillery, and One of Engineers, are to be looked upon as Supernumeraries, and no Promotions must be made till they are provided for, as we are determined that the above Establishment shall not be exceeded on any Pretence whatsoever.

“ Par. 101. As it frequently happens that you permit Field and other Officers to come to England for the Recovery of their Health, and upon their leaving India have filled up their Commissions, whereby our Military Establishment, upon the Return of those Officers, has been exceeded, and the Company's Expence thereby greatly increased; in order to avoid this Evil, we direct that you do not fill any vacant Commissions which shall happen by Field or other Officers coming to Europe for their Health, or otherwise with your Permission, but that the Officers next below them do perform their Duty until their Return, or your receiving our Orders to the contrary.

“ Par. 104. Upon considering the Case of Captains Benjamin Wilding and George Boulton Eyres, we have thought proper to restore them to their original Ranks on your Military Establishments, the former as Lieutenant Colonel next below Lieutenant Colonel Winwood, and the latter as Major next under Major Frederick Thomas Smith; but they are to be paid the usual Pay of Captains only, until the Field Officers serving under the Presidency shall be reduced to the Number mentioned in the 100th Paragraph; and when they shall enjoy those Ranks by such Reduction, they are to have the full Pay and Emoluments, the former as Lieutenant Colonel, and the latter as Major.

“ 109. We have very maturely considered your Proceedings upon the Restoration of Captains Goddard and Ahmuty, to the Ranks they held before the Association of the Officers in 1766; and it appears to us not only an improper Measure, but very injurious to those Officers who had a just Sense of their Duty, and did not join in the Association, and also to those who were sent from Fort Saint George and Bombay to your Assistance at that critical Time, under the Assurance that they should not be superseded; but as it appears contrary to all Military Orders, that an Officer once raised to a superior should serve in an inferior Rank, without a Breach of Honour, and having a favourable Opinion of the Merits of Captains Goddard and Ahmuty, we do agree to their continuing in the Ranks you placed them on the 16th December 1769; but we direct that they receive the Pay and Allowances of Captains only, until the Field Officers serving under your Presidency shall be reduced to the Establishment of Six Lieutenant Colonels and Nine Majors of Infantry and Sepoys, when they are to enjoy full Pay and Emoluments, the former as Lieutenant Colonel, and the latter as Major; yet we are greatly displeased at the Liberty you took in promoting those Gentlemen, when your Military Establishment was complete, from whence the Company has been put to great Expence.”

And Your Committee further find, that the Court of Directors continued to adhere to their former Resolution of not encreasing their Establishment of Field Officers in Bengal, as appears by the 49th Paragraph of their Letter to the President and Council of Bengal, of the 7th of April 1773, which is as followeth, (Appendix, N° 13. (F.)

“ We have permitted Major John White to return to our Military Service at your Presidency, and to take his Rank next under that Officer who shall be younger Major on his Arrival there; but with this express Condition, that he receive only the Pay and Emoluments of Captain until the Field Officers are reduced to the Establishment, when he is to be entitled to the Pay and Emoluments of Major.”

And Your Committee further find, that the Court of Directors found it necessary to take from the President and Council the Power of granting Commissions to any Field Officers whatsoever, as will appear by the following Orders in the General Instructions to the Governor General and Council of Bengal, dated the 29th of March 1774, Par. 48. (Appendix, N° 13. (G.)

“ It is our express Order, that no Commission to any Field Officers be granted by you; but in case of Vacancy, the Officer next in Rank shall supply the same provisionally until our Pleasure be known. And we direct, that all Commissions below the Rank of Field Officers, be filled up and henceforth signed by the Governor General and Council in Bengal, and by our President and Council at every other Settlement.”

And Your Committee find, that the Court of Directors complain, that notwithstanding all their Orders, they had not been able to prevent an undue Application of the Commission granted upon the Revenues, by their President and Council of Bengal; they therefore, in their General Letter to Bengal, of the 30th of March 1774, (Appendix, N° 13. (H) give the following Instructions:

“ Par. 68. When we restored, or acquiesced in the Restoration of sundry Officers who had been “ concerned

“ concerned in the Mutiny of 1766, it was under the express Limitation of their being confined to Captains Pay and Emoluments, until the Number of Field Officers should be reduced to the fixed Establishment; which was, Three Colonels of Infantry, including the Commander in Chief, Eight Lieutenant Colonels, and Eleven Majors; how then our President and Council could permit those Officers who were Supernumerary to share in the Commission upon the Revenues, before they succeeded to the Pay annexed to their Station, we are at a Loss to conceive.

“ 69. It is however our express Direction, that the Commission upon the Revenues, ordered to be paid to Field Officers, be in future confined to the above Establishment (viz.) to Three Colonels, Eight Lieutenant Colonels, and Eleven Majors, beginning with the eldest Colonel, Lieutenant and Major.”

And Your Committee further find, that the Court of Directors, in their Letter to Bengal, of the 3<sup>d</sup> of March 1775 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 13. (L.) confirm their former Instructions as follows :

“ Par. 91. In our Letter to you, dated 30th March 1774. Par. 69, we fixed the Number of Field Officers who were to be allowed Shares of the Commission upon the Revenues of Bengal, to Three Colonels, Eight Lieutenant Colonels, and Eleven Majors: We hereby confirm the said Regulations, and direct, that no Supernumerary Lieutenant Colonel receive a larger Share of Commission than he would be entitled to as Major; and also that the youngest Majors be wholly excluded, till the Field Officers shall be reduced to the Number fixed by our Establishment.”

Your Committee find, in a Letter from Brigadier General Stibbert to the Governor General and Council, dated the 31st October 1780 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 13. (L.) a Plan for not only augmenting the Sepoys Corps in the Bengal Army, but for making very essential Changes in the Constitution of the Army itself. He proposes to reduce the Strength of each Battalion of Sepoys to 500 Rank and File, and then to form the whole Corps of Sepoys into Regiments, consisting of Two Battalions each; and after stating what he thinks will be the principal Advantages resulting from this Measure, he concludes as follows: “ After all, I must acknowledge that this Plan is still improveable, and would be much more complete, were a Regiment to be commanded by a Major, and each Battalion by a Captain; but as this would create an extra Expence to the Company, which might be considered too heavy, I have been deterred from proposing it.”

Your Committee also find a Letter from Brigadier General Stibbert to the Governor General and Council, dated at Calcutta, the 24th of December 1780 (Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 13. (M) and said to be written in consequence of their Commands to him by Letter of the 14th of the same Month, but which Letter your Committee have not been able to obtain from the East India House. The Whole of General Stibbert's Letter, together with the other Papers and Proceedings relative to that Business, will be found in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 12.

Notwithstanding which Your Committee have judged it necessary to bring forward to the immediate View of the House, the State of the Army in Bengal, as described by the Provincial Commander in Chief.

Brigadier General Stibbert, in the before-mentioned Letter, says, “ I come now to speak of the advanced Rank and Allowances which I have proposed to be granted to the Officers commanding Regiments, which, however great an Innovation it may be, I hope I shall be able to make appear to be both proper and unavoidable.

“ At the same Time that, in order to the rooting out the Abuses which had from a long Course of Practice insinuated themselves throughout the Army, and which are of a Nature tending immediately to the Ruin of the Corps composing our native Infantry, and consequently to the endangering the British Interests in this Country, it is become indispensably necessary to fix such Checks, and to establish such severe Rules with respect to the mustering and paying of the Sepoys, as shall put it entirely out of the Power of their Commanding Officers to derive any Emolument from Deficiencies in their Corps, or from any other improper Sources, and hereby engage their Attention wholly to the disciplining of them; it is likewise requisite (to this beneficial and desirable End) to annex such Rank and Allowances to the Command of these Officers as suits its Importance, and the Length of their Services; for totally to debar them from all Perquisites and Emoluments whatsoever, without advancing their Rank and Salary, would (supposing it possible to introduce such a Regulation into our Army) produce no other Consequence than that of rendering them to a Man disaffected to our Service. I need not add, that this is a Disposition which certainly gives Birth to an universal Relaxation of Discipline; an Evil to which, under such Circumstances, no Remedy, however violent, could be effectually applied. This Danger however will be avoided by granting the superior Officers the advanced Rank and Allowances proposed by me, which no Doubt will ere long reconcile them to the Reform; which, by disengaging them from the Pursuit of other Objects, will lead them to exert themselves more than ever in training and disciplining the Corps committed to their Charge.

“ There remains, Gentlemen, little more for me to say. Those Parts of the annexed Regulations on which I have not remarked, will, I trust, speak for themselves; but I am particularly hopeful that the Forms I have prescribed for mustering and paying the native Troops, will evince that my principal View in these Arrangements has been to strike at the Root of every Abuse that has hitherto operated, either to the Prejudice of good Order and Discipline or the Rights of the native Soldiery, on whose hearty Attachment to the Service so much depends.

“ I am aware, that exclusive of Pay, Batta, and Allowances, there may be some other additional Expences incurred by the Arrangements I have the Honour to lay before you, of which I have not taken Notice in my Statements. It is not my Intention to rest their Propriety or Utility on
“ the

“ the Proof of their yielding the Saving exhibited in the annexed Memorandum. I shall be satisfied
 “ if they do not increase the Disbursements on the Army Account; and though, contrary to Appear“ ances as well as to my Hope, they should add in a small Degree to the Military Burthen, yet I “ am confident that the beneficial Consequences which will in due Time result from them, will be “ considerably more than equivalent to the extraordinary Expence that may be incurred by “ them.”

Your Committee find the following Propositions, amongst many others (all of which are inserted in the Appendix, N<sup>o</sup> 13, (M) submitted to the Council General by Brigadier General Stibbert:

“ That the Sepoy Corps of this Establishment be new-modelled in the Manner following; (viz.)

“ That the several Battalions of Sepoys now attached to Brigades, be augmented by new Levies
 “ to 1,000 Men Rank and File; that they shall be denominated Regiments; and that these Regi“ ments be formed into Two Battalions of equal Strength, consisting each of Five Companies, “ viz. One Grenadier and Four Battalion Companies.

“ That this Regiment be commanded by a Major, to be styled Major Commandant; and each “ Battalion of it by a Captain.

“ That a Gratuity of 600 Rupees a Month be given to each Major Commandant, in Considera“ tion of his Length of Service, and in lieu of all Perquisites and Emoluments whatsoever, from “ which they shall be totally excluded.

“ That an Allowance of 120 Rupees per Month be given to each Captain commanding a Batta“ lion of a Regiment, as a Compensation for the extraordinary Duty annexed to this Station.

“ That Two Lieutenant Colonels be attached to the Sepoy Corps of each Brigade.”

And Your Committee find, that the Governor General and Council of Bengal, notwithstanding they were restrained by the most positive Commands of the Court of Directors, not to grant a Commission to any Field Officer, but that in case of Vacancy the Officer next in Rank should supply the same provisionally, until the Pleasure of the Court of Directors was known, did pass the Whole of Brigadier General Stibbert's Propositions into Resolutions of Council, and in consequence promoted 36 Captains to be Majors upon that Establishment.

And that the House may be competent to judge upon this Fact, Your Committee subjoin in this Place, the several Paragraphs of the Secret Letter from the Governor General and Council at Bengal, dated the 7th of January 1781, which contain the Reasons of the Council General for their Conduct.

“ Par. 15. The Provincial Commander in Chief, in the Persuasion that to derive from the na“ tive Infantry of our Establishment those capital Advantages which can only result from exact “ Discipline, tempered with a strict Administration of the Rights of the Soldiery, it was positively “ necessary thoroughly to reform and new-model the Corps composing this Part of our Military “ Force, presented to us on the 26th ultimo a Series of Propositions, best calculated, according to “ his Judgment, for compassing so important and useful an End. These Propositions were accom“ panied with figured Statements, exhibiting, as nearly as might be, the extraordinary Expence “ which would be incurred by the new Sepoy Establishments, and the Annual Saving which “ would accrue from the general Arrangements.

“ 16. The Letters which we have received from Brigadier General Stibbert on this Subject, “ and Copies of the Statements and Propositions accompanying them, are sent to you Numbers in “ this Dispatch. After maturely considering the Principles on which the Plan submitted to us was “ obviously founded; after measuring the Extent of the Advantages it promised to produce, and “ after satisfying ourselves that it united Economy and Utility, we delayed not, in the Conviction “ that the late Military Constitution of our native Infantry was pregnant with Defects which, unless “ timely corrected, threatened the most serious and alarming Consequences, to pass the Whole of “ General Stibbert's Propositions into Resolutions of our Council.

“ 17. We will here delineate, as far as may be necessary, the general Ground-work of this new “ Superstructure, marking the less obvious Motives of particular Regulations, and distinguishing, in “ a concise Manner, the Advantages they possess over former Institutions and Arrangements.

“ 18. The apparent Strength of the Battalions of the European Regiments being at all Times very “ inconsiderable (rarely exceeding 300 Rank and File) and their positive or effective Strength being “ frequently below 200 Men, the large Establishment of Officers annexed to these Corps appeared “ to be productive of an utterly irrequisite Expence, without yielding a single Advantage in a Mili“ tary Point of View: Influenced by these Reflections, we made it our Request to General Stib-“ bert, to examine the Expediency of doubling up the Battalions of the Regiments: And accord“ ingly we have had the Satisfaction of receiving his Concurrence in a Measure that, while it oc“ casions in our Monthly Expences a Retrenchment of 37,186 Sonaut Rupees, furnishes us with a “ considerable Number of Officers towards completing our native Infantry on the new Establish“ ment.

“ 19. Although the Commander in Chief has in the annexed Propositions inserted a Clause, ex“ pressing, that when the Strength of the European Regiments shall exceed 762 Rank and File,
 “ they shall revert to their former Constitution (because in that Case the Corps would be too un“ wieldy for the Purpose of manœuvring with Celerity and Exactness) yet we must remark, that “ it is by no Means probable that we shall be reduced, during the Continuance of the War in “ Europe, to the Necessity of re-adopting this burthenome System on the Military Principle sug“ gested;

“gested; and that the Period at which alone such a Necessity is likely to occur, will be the best suited to its favourable and easy Operation.

“20. Having resolved, in consequence of the approaching Departure of a Division of our Army towards Madras, to augment our Military Force, we issued Orders for the raising of 6 new Battalions; but the Commander in Chief having suggested to us the Expediency of new-modelling the native Infantry, and of applying an immediate and effectual Remedy to the Abuses which had crept into the Corps composing this Part of the Army, to the great Detriment of the Service, we thought proper to recall those Orders, and to signify to him that we were prepared to receive his Sentiments at large upon this important and interesting Subject; when he accordingly presented to us the annexed Propositions, explaining them, as far as was requisite, in our Consultation of the 26th ultimo, at which he was present.

“21. As the Advantages of the new Sepoy Arrangements, as far as relates to the Purposes of manœuvring and disciplining the Corps, as well as to the Effects which may be produced on the Minds of the Country Powers by such an apparent Increase of the Number of Battalions on our Establishment, are fully set forth in General Stibbert's Letter to us of the 31st of October, we beg Leave to refer you to the same for his Arguments on these Heads; which, we are to observe, had their due Weight with us. We must also request of you, to seek in the same Letter the Reasons adduced by him for abolishing the Office of native Commandant to the Sepoy Regiments; in the Propriety of which we entirely acquiesced, as well as in the Expediency of the Regulation directing the native Adjutants to be made from Jamautdars (instead of Soubadars) with a View of preventing these Officers from succeeding to the dangerous Influence and Authority of the Commandants.

“22. At the same Time that, in order to the correcting of the Abuses which had crept into the Army, and which were of a Nature tending directly to the Destruction of the Corps composing it, it was become necessary to fix such Checks, and to establish such rigid Rules, with regard to mustering and paying the Sepoys, as should put it totally out of the Power of the Commanding Officers of Regiments to desire any Emoluments from their Corps, and thereby engage their Attention wholly to the disciplining of them; it also became requisite to annex such Rank and Allowances to the Command of these Officers, as suited its Importance and the Length of their Services: For to have entirely excluded them from all Perquisites and Emoluments whatsoever, without advancing their Rank and Salary, would, supposing it possible to have established such a Regulation, have produced no other Consequence than that of rendering them to a Man disaffected to the Service;—an Evil that must have necessarily been followed by an universal Relaxation of Discipline, for which the most violent Remedy would, under such Circumstances, be ineffectual.

“23. This Danger however is avoided, by granting, as we have done, advanced Rank and Allowances to the Officers commanding Regiments of Sepoys, who, no Doubt, will ere long be reconciled to the Reform, and, being disengaged from the Pursuit of other Objects, exert themselves more than ever in training and disciplining the Corps committed to their Charge.

“24. You will be satisfied, on examining the annexed Papers, that notwithstanding the great Increase of Field Officers and Captains consequent of the new Arrangements, there will still be an Annual Saving on the Whole, of near Three Lacks and a Half of Sonaut Rupees, after allowing for the actual Increase of Force gained to the Establishment. But as the Commander in Chief is aware that, exclusive of Pay and Batta, there may be some other Expences incurred by his Regulations, of which he has not taken any Notice, he does not rest their Propriety or Utility on the Head of Saving. He will be satisfied if they should not increase the Disbursements on the Army Account; and though contrary to Appearances as well as to his Hope, they should add in a small Measure to the Military Burthen, he asserts himself confident that the beneficial Consequences which will in due Time result from them, will be abundantly more than adequate to the extraordinary Expenditure they may occasion.

“25. It is unnecessary for us to offer any Remarks on the other Parts of the annexed Regulations. We conceive that they will speak for themselves; and we are particularly hopeful that the prescribed Forms for mustering and paying the native Troops, will convince you that it was our Design (in these Arrangements) to strike at the Root of every Abuse that could possibly affect either the good Order and Discipline of your Forces, or the Rights of the native Soldiery.”

And Your Committee find, that the Governor General and Council, in their Public Letter to the Court of Directors of the 30th of April 1781, Paragraph 49, say, “Our Letter to your Honourable Court of 7th January, now sent to you in Duplicate, made known to you the several Resolutions which we had thought proper to pass for reforming and new-modelling the Corps of native Infantry on this Establishment, and the other Military Regulations established at the same Time. We beg Leave to refer you to that Letter for the several Reasons and Arguments which hath induced us to adopt them; and have only to acquaint you further upon this Subject, that the Promotions and Appointments consequent to the new Regulations, were passed on the First of January, and appear on our Proceedings of that Date.”

Your Committee here remark, that having ordered the above Proceedings of the First of January, 1781 to be laid before them, they find that those Proceedings have not yet been received at the India House, but they annex a List of the Field Officers of the Infantry and Cavalry.

Your Committee request the Attention of the House to the Orders of the Court of Directors on this Subject, already recited, which limit the Number of Lieutenant Colonels of Infantry to Six, and Majors of Infantry to Nine, and positively forbid the Promotion of any Field Officer by the Governor General and Council. The House will perceive the Establishment now consists of 12 Lieutenant Colonels of Infantry, and 48 Majors; 36 of the latter were made by the Promotion of January 1781.

Before Your Committee concluded their Report on the Subject of Disobedience of the Company's Orders in the Promotion of Officers to superior Rank, they thought proper to insert the following Papers, which they just received.

Extract of Proceedings of the Board in the General, Revenue, and Inspection Departments, respecting Military Matters, from 1st November 1780 to 1st April 1781.

Resolved, That Major Christian Knudson and Jacob Camac be promoted to the Rank of Lieutenant Colonels, to rank as such in the Army from this Day, and in the Infantry from the following Date:

LIST of Captains senior to Captain John Scott, received per Swallow, 10th June 1782

By this List, the House will perceive that the Governor and Council of Bengal, on the 30th December 1781, promoted Captain John Scott, Aid de Camp to the Governor General, to the Rank of Major, in direct Disobedience to the positive Orders of the Court of Directors, and thereby superseded Forty-six Captains who were his Seniors at the Time that Promotion took place; and as no Reason is assigned for this extraordinary Promotion, to the Prejudice of so many of his Senior Officers, but on the contrary, it is declared in Major Scott's Commission, that when any Officers who were his Seniors shall attain the Rank of Major, they shall again resume their Precedence over him; and as Major Scott quitted India very soon after his Promotion, Your Committee are at a Loss to account for the Motive of the Governor General and Council's Disobedience of the Orders of the Directors, unless it was to give the Rank of Major to the Person whom the Governor General determined to send to England in the Character of his Agent.

Your Committee were on the Point of closing their Report upon the Subject of Disobedience of the Orders of the Court of Directors by the Governor General and Council, when they received the following Papers from the East India House.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, the 27th April 1781.

Extract of a Letter from Sir Eyre Coote to the Governor General and Council, dated 1st March 1781.

The News-papers are replete with Promotions and new Arrangements in the Military on the Bengal Establishment, of which I am by Appointment the immediate Commander in Chief. I need not define how far my Powers rendered a Reference for my Approbation, if not my express Sanction, necessary to such Innovations; nevertheless, they have been framed, approved, and executed without being thus qualified, are now in Force without the least public Report having been made me of them. I protest against the Whole as irregular, unmilitary, and burthening the Honourable Company with an enormous additional Expence, which I am clearly satisfied there was no Necessity for incurring, and much less at a Time when the Company's Funds can so ill afford it.

There is yet one more Circumstance which appears to have attended these late military Innovations, and which, of all others, is the most immediately deserving of public Notice. By the List of Promotions, as inserted in the News-papers, many of the Officers who accompanied me from Bengal on the present Service, have not only been passed over in the common Rotation of Promotions, but have all, excepting one, been excluded in the Distribution of Commands, to which their Seniority gave them an undoubted Right. I shall not, after what I have already said of the Indignities offered in other Respects to my Authority, enlarge upon the Addition furnished by the above Instance, although it is of all the most pointed against myself, and an Injury of that Complexion to the Officers who suffer by it, for which no Excuse can be alleged, unless it may be said, that by being in a most dangerous and difficult War, the Chance of returning to enjoy their Right is against them. In short, Gentlemen, I see so little Credit to be derived from acting in my Capacity of Commander in Chief in India, whilst its Powers and Privileges are liable to be wantonly arrogated by others, that I declare nothing but my Attachment for the Welfare of my Nation, and the very critical Situation of the English Interests in India, would delay a Moment in exonerating myself from a Charge so irksome and unthankful. Nor will I deny myself the Satisfaction of committing in this Place to record, that I ascribe the Whole of these late Encroachments upon the Rights of my Station to the Governor General, as he now unites in his own Person the whole Powers of Government, and who in his Public Character I had a Right to have expected far different Treatment from.

Ordered, That the above Letter lie for Consideration.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, the 21st May 1781:

Read a Letter from Lieutenant General Sir Eyre Coote, recorded on the Proceedings, of the 27th ultimo.

The Governor General acquaints the Board, That he has been informed by Brigadier General Stibbert, that Copies were regularly transmitted by him to Sir Eyre Coote, of the Military Arrangements passed on the 26th December; at all Events, whether this had or had not been the Case, such Communication was not due to the Commander in Chief from the Board. Reports and Returns are always made by the inferior to the superior Authority, not by the superior to the inferior; but upon Sir Eyre Coote's Principles, that Rule is entirely reversed.

Agreed, That the following Letter be written to Lieutenant General Sir Eyre Coote.

(Extract.)

Sir,

In a Letter which we lately wrote to you, we acknowledged our Receipt of yours of the 1st of March, which reached us on the 21st ultimo, and promised to reply to it as soon as the Ships under sailing Orders should be dispatched. As it did not contain any Matter requiring an immediate Reply for the Public Service, and could not but be unpleasing whenever received, we were not very solicitous to answer to it in the midst of more pressing Occupations, and now do it more in Compliance with official Rule than Inclination.

We are persuaded, upon a temperate Review of your Letter, you will not entirely approve the Spirit in which it has been written, or deem it incumbent upon us to conform in our Reply to the same Terms of Expression which you have been pleased to make use of to this Government.

Severe Animadversions upon Measures in which you have not a Concern, and for which you are not in the least responsible, and much more, such as had your express Participation, are as useless as the Impression which you seem to have received of an intended Injury done by us to your Character and Authority is mistaken and ill-founded; neither the Instructions given to Colonel Pearse, nor any other Acts of this Government, of which you think proper to complain, have been intended to invade your Character or Rights, nor can we understand by what Construction you have so understood them. On the contrary, the most conspicuous Instances have been afforded by us of our Desire to raise and advance both, by the great Efforts which we have made to enable you to follow your public Duties with Vigour and Success, and by making these the common and primary Object of almost the whole Business of our Administration.

Occupied as you have been in close Attention to an important Trust, which could not but employ all your Time and Care, we thought it would have been as incompatible with your Situation as with the Urgency of the Cases themselves, in every material Instance to have consulted you upon every military Arrangement, and especially such as were rendered immediately necessary to supply the Deficiencies occasioned by our extraordinary Exertions for the Support of the Campaign; and it would have been as derogatory from the Authority which we possess, to have made Reports of them to you; this was the Province of the actual Commander in Chief of the Forces on this Establishment; and from him we understand that he took an early Occasion to transmit Copy of those of the 26th December, to which we suppose your Letter alludes.

Your Protest against Orders and Arrangements which have passed under your Authority, in which you had no Concern, nor could be allowed an effective Voice, and which you profess not to have seen, is in its Nature invalid; yet we are sorry to see it recorded on our Proceedings, and much more so to see it coloured with such Marks of personal Displeasure, because we wish, on all Occasions, not only to yield you our most cordial Support and Confidence, but that you may be impressed with a true Sense of it, and equally with that Confidence in our Disposition towards you, which is necessary to our mutual and effectual Co-operation.

We have made our Answer to your Letter as short as possible; we hope that there will be no further Occasion for a Correspondence of this Nature, assuring you on our Part we will afford no Cause for it, and are determined to have very little Share in it.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, the 7th September 1781.

Extract of a Letter from Sir Eyre Coote to the Governor General and Council; dated Choultry Plain, 30th July 1781.

Although an Attention to the Dispatch of the Ships under sailing Orders induced you to postpone the Answer you have since been pleased to favour me with in reply to my Letter of the 11th March, I trust that you did not on that Account also deny it the then Opportunity of appearing before our Superiors, even with all its Faults; as, however much I may have mistaken my Province, in expostulating at this Distance on Acts of that Government whereof I am myself a Member, possessing a separate Trust, which they tend to affect, I am convinced I have not, by so doing, failed in my Duty to my Honourable Employers, or in a proper Sense of Regard to their real Interests in the Department which they have done me the Honour to commit to my express Superintendence. What other possible End could the Honourable Company propose to themselves, in the Appointment of a Commander in Chief of all the Forces in India, unless to manage and regulate their Military Department? That such must have been their View in particular, is, I apprehend, strikingly evinced by the Provision they have made for his having a Voice in the Select Committee at each of their Presidencies.

With the Approach of Colonel Pearce's Detachment, the Evils which were so obvious from the late extraordinary Promotion in the Military Establishment at your Presidency, also begin to approach. Remonstrances, replete with Representations of Hardships and Grievances to be suffered by Supercession in Command on the Junction of the Bengal Detachment, are sent me daily by the Officers belonging to this Establishment. They rest their Pretensions to Redress upon their great Length of Services, even as far as Seven Years more than many by whom they will now be commanded; and upon that equitable Rule of Seniority, whereby the Advancement of Rank has hitherto been determined. Sensible that they have experienced an Injury, as what has happened to their irreparable Prejudice has not been the Consequence of the common Casualties of Service, but the Result of a Measure unusual, unmilitary, and unconstitutional, I cannot but feel for their Situation; which I the more lament, conscious that it ought to have fallen to my Lot to have obviated, what my every Desire now to remedy cannot retrieve, unless I were to countenance a similar Measure in this Government, which in Justice to myself, to the Station I fill, and to my Employers, has obliged me to express my Disapprobation of in yours.

I beg to be understood, that in whatever Sentiments I may communicate to your Government, on Subjects entirely Military, I mean not at this Distance to contend any Points which you may have thought proper to decide upon in that Line; at the same Time, I should hold myself highly culpable in the Eyes of my King and Country, if, by passing over them in Silence, I gave room for the Conclusion, that they had been determined with my Approbation.

Ordered that the above Letter lie for Consideration.

Extract of Bengal Secret Consultations, the 5th November 1781.

Extract of a Letter from the Governor General to the Board; dated Benares, the 22d October 1781.

I have read with Satisfaction Sir Eyre Coote's Letter to the Board of the 30th of July. Even those Parts of it which contain an implied Censure on our Measures, the Language of it differs widely from the Terms of that, which we had so much Reason to complain of, in his Letter of the 11th of March: It is liberal, and such as becomes a Man of Character and Station. I am now fixed in an Opinion, which I before entertained, if not expressed to the Board, that the Ground of his unpleasant Differences with us, as apparent in the Course of his Correspondence from the Time of his Arrival on the Coast, is the Formation of the Military Regulations which we passed in the Beginning of this Year, and which he seems to think were framed from Motives of personal Hostility to him, and, without sufficient Reason, purposely to overset those we had passed at his Recommendation in August 1779. Although I cannot suppose such an Idea to exist with the Honourable Court of Directors, or that they can attribute such Motives to our Actions, since it does not appear in what Way they can either affect his Reputation or Interest, if regarded in a vindictive Light, and are too interesting to our own Credit in the Consequences, to have been undertaken without a strong Conviction of their Necessity; yet, as the Reasons for the Measure may not have been completely before them, or may be lightly remembered when these Strictures upon them are read, I must beg the Board's Permission to repeat in this Place, what I have before declared on our Records, and what is sufficiently apparent to any one who will give an impartial Consideration to the Subject, that these Regulations were framed to answer an immediate Exigency of the Public Service, and were resolved on in a State of Affairs very different from that which existed when I gave my Consent to passing those recommended in 1779 by Sir Eyre Coote. The Board will recollect, that when we resolved to detach the Forces under Colonel Pearce to the Coast of Coromandel, the Measure was founded on a particular Request made to us by the General himself, before he took his Departure from Bengal; and that at the same Time we knew how serviceable such a Reinforcement would be to his Operations on the Coast, the Dangers with which our own Provinces were then threatened by the Neighbourhood of the Berar Army to their Borders, the Effects which a Fear of Invasion might naturally be supposed to have upon the Minds of the timid People of Bengal, and above all, the Consequences that might be expected to arise from the Intrigues of Hyder's Agents with the Country Powers, considerably assisted by his great Success in the Carnatic; so large a Force could ill be spared from the Company's Possessions in this Part of India. It was at the same Time, I believe, within the private Knowledge of the Members of the Board, that even our reduced Force was not actually such as it appeared on the Returns: I mean to say, that had we required instant Service for the Numbers which stood on the Returns, we should have been greatly disappointed. Such was the Practice of the Service, founded upon a very reproachful Custom; and all our Efforts, in the Trial of various and repeated Expedients, to suppress it, had hitherto proved ineffectual. In such a Situation, it became not only absolutely necessary that new Levies should be raised to supply the Loss which we should suffer from the March of Colonel Pearse's Detachment to the Coast, but that the nominal Strength of our Forces should also be its real one. Regulations were accordingly proposed by Brigadier General Stibbert, and resolved on by us, to effect so desirable an End. An Increase of Numbers, adequate to the Loss of Colonel Pearse's Detachment, was to take place, and the Subaltern Officers of the several Companies of the Battalions were separately entrusted with the Pay and Muster of their Corps; and, by the Duties prescribed to them, were made, as far as the Good of the Service would allow, and without intruding on the Authority necessarily vested in their Commanding Officers, a Check upon their Captains. More was yet thought politic and expedient: At the same Time that we resolved upon Measures for maintaining a large Force fit for Duty whenever called on, and on which we might always depend, we determined to increase the Number of our Battalions to a Thousand Men. This Body was called a Regiment, and the Regiment divided into Battalions of 500 Men each. This Diminution of Strength in each Battalion, as it stood on the former Establishment, if known, would appear of little Moment in the Eyes of the Country Powers; and an Augmentation of the Number of our Battalions would impress them with the Awe of an increased Army. Having admitted no private Advantages whatever, and something more than the common Pay of the Rank of Captain being thought due to the Officers commanding so large a Corps as a Regiment of One thousand Men, we resolved on a general Promotion, giving the Commands of the Regiments to Majors, and, by affording them the Pay of that Rank and some other Advantages, placing them above the Necessity or Desire of taking Profits, which we wished to annul. I will add for myself, that I was influenced in giving my Concurrence in the Measure (and I believe that Mr. Wheler was so likewise) by a Desire of shewing some Distinction to a Number of deserving Men, whose Exertions for the Public Service might soon become peculiarly necessary, and who would naturally feel a greater Zeal to do Credit to their Profession when they found themselves placed in higher and more responsible Stations, than if they continued undistinguished in lower ones. This Alteration in our Establishment, separately considered, would of course be attended with some Increase of Charge; but it makes a Part only of a general Regulation, which provides a large Augmentation of Force, yet makes the Expence of the whole Army less than it was upon its former Footing. In asserting this, I am warranted by the Estimates delivered in to us by General Stibbert on the 26th December last, when the new Regulations were under Consideration. The new Regulations being in Force before Colonel Pearse's Detachment went away, it, with the rest of our Army, was modelled by them: It partook with it of the same general Benefit as to nominal Strength, and indeed received some Increase of its former Numbers; for, to make the Arrangement good, we added some Companies, and sent to the General's Assistance a Detachment of Five Regiments of 1,000 Men, instead of Six Battalions of 800. If the Officers on the Madras Establishment have been Sufferers by an Arrangement which the Public Service in this Country has made necessary, I will not censure them for complaining; but I must attribute the Cause to the Measure of breaking our Detachment, and dividing it among the Sepoy Corps of the Madras Establishment; which, however necessary in the Judgment of the Commander in Chief, I recollect to be contrary to the Instructions of this Government, communicated to him when the Detachment moved from our Provinces.

I observe, That Sir Eyre Coote remarks on the Staff allowed to a Major of Colonel Pearse's Detachment, and thenceforth thinks it fit to reflect on the unnecessary Expence which we have permitted to be incurred in the Charges of that Corps. The only Major of Colonel Pearse's Detachment who had a Staff, was Major Edmonson, expressly appointed Second in Command of it. It has been always usual, I believe, for the Second in Command of so large a Force, to have the Staff which was allowed to Major Edmonson; but it was not intended, nor was it necessary, that it should be continued to him longer than he held that Station, and therefore, when he no more was Second in Command, as would be the Case when a Junction was effected between the Detachment and the main Army, he of course would lose the Rights and Properties of the Office.

Your Committee cannot in this Place avoid recommending, in a particular Manner, to the Attention of this House, the Protest of Sir Eyre Coote, Commander in Chief of the Forces in India, against those Military Arrangements which have in Part been the Subject of this Report; and they must also observe to the House, that although this Protest was dated Madras, 1st March 1781, and and appears on the Bengal Consultations of 17th February 1781, yet it does not appear that it was transmitted to the Court of Directors until the latter End of December 1781.

Mr. Francis, having stated to Your Committee, That the Company's Orders relative to the Re-instatement of Mr. Fowke and the Restoration of Mahomed Reza Cawn, were at length carried into Execution by his personal Interposition with the Governor General; he was repeatedly desired by Your Committee to explain to them what he meant by his personal Interposition? He referred Your Committee to sundry Papers annexed to his Letter of the 12th October 1780, to the Court of Directors, as containing a full Account of the Transactions betwixt him and Mr. Hastings, which began with an Accommodation and terminated in a personal Difference, of which the Court of Directors had been informed; and he therefore requested that the Committee would rather refer to those Papers than to his Personal Evidence on this Question.

Your Committee then examined the Papers referred to by Mr. Francis, and find, that in a Minute he delivered in Council, dated 11th September 1780, he calls upon the Governor General in the following Words: "If in the Accommodation which took place, any Thing was done or proposed by me for my Advantage, directly or indirectly, or if any Thing was done or proposed for the Advantage of any other Person whatsoever, beyond what was publicly known and avowed (I mean the Re-instatement of Mahomed Reza Cawn, Mr. Fowke, and Mr. Bristow, in Conformity to the Company's Orders) I call upon him to declare it. That of Mr. Bristow's was the only Point of the Three which I yielded to suspend until the Month of October, or until the first Advices of the Season from the Court of Directors."

Your Committee cannot pass over without Observation, a Matter which materially affects not only the Independence of the Individual Members of the Council General, the Decorum and Dignity which ought to be scrupulously preserved by those who are in such Stations, but endangers the very Existence of the established Government of India, when the first executive Officers of Government, unmindful of their great Public Trust, so far forget the Duties of their Stations as to decide by Arms their Political Differences of Opinion on Matters of State. Your Committee think it their Duty to call, in the most particular Manner, for the Attention of the House to those Papers which explain the Rise and Progress of this extraordinary Event, and which are inserted in the Appendix N° 11.

Your Committee will close this Report with earnestly recommending to the serious Attention of the House, the following Extract of a Letter from Sir Eyre Coote to the Court of Directors, dated at Fort Saint George, the 29th January 1782.

"Since my Departure from Bengal, the Military Arrangements of that Establishment, and which I had formed with so much Labour and Attention to the Company's Interests, and what appeared to me best calculated to promote good Order and Discipline, and to ensure to them the Utility of that important Department of their Service, have, under the Wisdom and Authority of the Governor General, undergone a total Change, and upon such a Plan as has nor can answer no one good Purpose; unless having entailed upon the Company's already much-exhausted Finances, a heavy and burthensome additional Expence, can be considered as such. Subversive as they have been of all Military Order, and destructive of every Idea of real Service, it is impossible for me to charge myself with that Share of Responsibility which is inseparable from the Station I fill of Commander in Chief in India. The swelling of the Bengal Military List with the Creation of such a Number of Field Officers, and the Advancement of the inferior Rank in Proportion, has been productive of a Grievance severely felt by the Company's old and experienced Officers on this as well as on the Bombay Establishment, as acting as they are upon the same Services, it has been attended with all the Hardships incident to Supercession. The Officers also in His Majesty's Service, whilst acting in this Country, suffer from this new Arrangement: The Sentiments I delivered to the Governor General and Council on that Subject are contained in my Letter to them of the 1st March.

"I cannot however bring this Epistle to a Conclusion without remarking on the late extraordinary Excursion of the Governor General to the Upper Provinces of Bengal; and on the still more extraordinary and unaccountable Measure of appointing himself Commander in Chief of the Army: How he has conducted himself in that Capacity, will become known to you by the Accounts from the Bengal Government. When I first heard of the Rebellion at Benares, I felt the most sensible Anxiety, seeing it as I did, big with Consequences which would unavoidably have struck at the very Root of our Existence in Bengal, and thereby have destroyed the only remaining Pillar to the British Interests in India: Had the Contagion extended itself to our more interior Possessions, I fear, that in the then Disposition of the Bengal Army, it would have become formidable to a Degree far beyond our Ability to suppress. I consider it then in a Light of the greatest good Fortune that the Evil received so early a Check, and rejoice most sincerely that it was brought to so favourable a Crisis. I cannot, however, banish from my Recollection the unhappy Omission of not furnishing the Guard that arrested the Rajah with Ammunition; and to which I believe may in a great Measure “ Measure be ascribed all the subsequent Misfortunes which ensued. It is an Occurrence the more to “ be wondered at, possessing, as Mr. Hastings, and I suppose every other Person there, did, a previous “ Knowledge of the Rajah's contumelious Temper, and having, as appears from what has been “ since declared, a confirmed Suspicion of his Attachment to the English Government ; if any Thing “ could awaken Minds to Caution, surely Symptoms so strikingly alarming as these ought to have “ had the Effect.”

Par. 41. THE opening a Negotiation with the Marattas, was a very proper Measure; and Mr. Mostyn acquitted himself therein highly to our Satisfaction.

42. The Demands made on them in Return for the Advantages they were to expect from our Successes against Hyder Ally, were also very proper; Salsette and Bassein, with their Dependencies, and the Marattas Proportion of the Surat Revenues, were all that we seek for on that Side of India.

43. These are the Objects you are to have in View in all your Treaties, Negotiations, and Military Operations, and that you must be ever watchful to obtain, always attentive to convince the Country Powers, these are and ever will be the utmost Limits of our Views on the Western Side of India.

PROCEEDINGS RESPECTING MR. JOHN BRISTOW.

( A )

Extract of Secret Consultations, Fort William, 15th December 1774.

AS the Commission originally granted to Colonel Galliez was only for a temporary Purpose, and as the Board have already agreed to appoint a Civil Servant of the Company as Resident at the Vizier's Court, the Governor General proposes to the Board, that they should now make this Appointment; as it is evident, that were the Person who may be so appointed to proceed immediately, in case the Vizier complies with Colonel Galliez's Demands, the Colonel's Commission must be expired before the new Resident could arrive there.

Agreed, That the Governor General's Proposal be deferred for Consideration until Monday next.

( B )

Extract of Secret Consultations, Fort William, 21st December 1774.

Refused the Consideration of the Governor General's Proposal, deferred for Consideration from the 15th Instant.

The Governor General gives in the following Minute:

The Governor General, conceiving that the Reasons assigned for Mr. Middleton's Recall from his Station of Resident at the Court of the Vizier, will of course operate to preclude him from the Nomination now before the Board, moves, That the Honourable Mr. Frederick Stuart be nominated to the Office of Resident at the Court of the Vizier, and Agent on the Part of this Government.

In making this Proposition, the Governor is in Part influenced by One Consideration, which at any other Time, or on any other Occasion, would have had little Share in directing his Judgment. His Estimation of Mr. Stuart's Abilities and Judgment is very high; but he considers that at this particular Time the Connections of Mr. Stuart, and the Opinions commonly entertained of the Dignity and Credit of his Family, will have greater Weight on the Mind of the Vizier, (whose Pride and Ambition are his predominant Qualities, and whose Fears may be alarmed by the late Measures of this Government, which, for want of a due Knowledge of the Motives that produce them, he may conceive to proceed from a Disposition in this Administration adverse to him and to the Engagements subsisting between him and the Company) than any other Qualifications which might fall to that of the Person who might be entrusted with the Charge of the Negotiations between him and this Government, and thereby keep him steady in his Attachment to the Company, and punctual to his pecuniary Engagements, which at this Time are the chief Objects of our Concerns with him.

For Mr. Stuart's Assistance in the Discharge of this Trust, which, from the Variety of Accounts now depending with the Vizier, and from the Probability of other incidental Affairs, which may occupy his Attention, is likely to be a laborious one, the Governor General proposes, that Sir John D'Oyly be appointed to accompany him in the Quality of his Assistant; for which Office he is peculiarly qualified by an ample Acquaintance with the Persian Language, having, since the Absence of Mr. Redfearn, the Persian Translator, whose Assistant he now is, transacted all the Business of that Office with much Ability and Assiduity.

(Signed) W. H.

Mr. Francis delivers in the following Minute on the Governor's Question:

Before I give my Answer to the Governor General's Proposition, I beg Leave to observe upon the Minute with which it is introduced, that when I gave my Voice for the Recall of Mr. Middleton, it was not upon the Idea of any Offence or Demerit in him; I had no Reason to think personally ill of him at that Time; I have Reason to think personally well of him at present; my Ground was public; I understood that he was the Public Resident of the Company at the Vizier's Court; I asked

A P P E N D I X, N° 3. (B)

asked to see the Whole of his Correspondence with this Government ; I was then told that he was the private Agent of the Governor, who refused to communicate the Whole of his Correspondence to the Board. I thought that an Office of that Nature should not be continued, and that the Person who held it ought to be recalled to the Settlement, in order that the Board might obtain from him those Explanations which were refused by the Governor. If his Conduct in this Respect should prove satisfactory to the Board, I should think him a very proper Person, from all that I have heard of his private Character and tenor of his Proceedings, to come under the favourable Consideration of the Board for the Office of Public Resident. As the Governor General however has proposed that the Appointment should be immediately made, and as the Necessity of the immediate Appointment has been repeatedly urged to the Board, I yield to the Governor's Proposal to have it determined this Day. I mean not to agree to the Nomination of a Resident proposed by the Governor General, for affirmative Reasons, which I think ought to influence my Judgment in this important Choice. My Respect for Mr. F. Stuart however, and for those high Connections which he has in England, oblige me to say, that if I do not accede to the present Nomination, it is not owing to any personal Disrespect to him, or Inattention to them ; on the contrary, I should think myself happy in having an Opportunity, where the Public Service did not in my Judgment require from me more than barely having an Objection, to shew him the real Respect I feel for his Person and high Family. This Voice of course includes a Negative to the Nomination of Sir John D'Oyly, whose Assistance otherwise I do not doubt would have been indispensably necessary to Mr. Stuart, in the Knowledge and Use of the Persian Language.

(Signed) P. Francis.

Mr. Barwell declares his Sentiments as follows :

I am for the Nomination of Mr. Stuart. Independent of those Particulars which have Weight with the Governor General, from a long Residence in the Country, I have had Opportunities of becoming acquainted with all the Servants of the Company ; and from my Knowledge of the Service, I can venture to affirm there is not a single Character in it that can boast superior natural Talents to Mr. Stuart : And if the Consideration alone, of understanding the Persian Language, is to sway in Appointments of Importance, and where it is more absolutely requisite than in a subordinate Sphere, it is an Objection against the first Characters of the Settlement, and incapacitates them from all political Intercourses. For these Reasons, I do sincerely and heartily wish, for the Promotion of the Public Service, that Mr. Stuart should be appointed Resident at the Vizier's Court, and Sir John D'Oyly his Assistant.

Colonel Monson's Opinion ; viz.

My Motives for giving my Opinion for the Recall of Mr. Middleton from the Vizier's Court, did not arise from any Disrespect to him ; but, considering him as a Person in a Public Character, I thought his Correspondence necessary for the Inspection of this Board ; and as that was denied, I judged proper to give my Opinion for his Recall. With regard to Mr. Stuart, the Gentleman now proposed to be his Successor, I respect him as a Man of distinguished Rank ; his Abilities I honour, as they are represented by the Governor General and Mr. Barwell to be of an extraordinary Extent ; these Considerations have their due Consequence with me : But when I reflect that Mr. Stuart has not as yet appeared in any Public Character, I must consider him at present as a Person improper for this weighty Charge, which has for its Object the cementing of the Friendship between the Company and the Vizier, and the obtaining large Sums of Money said to be due from him ; and therefore I must refuse my Assent to the Governor's Proposal.

General Clavering delivers his Opinion in the following Words :

It having been determined by the Board to recall Mr. Middleton, for Reasons that have been so properly assigned both by Colonel Monson and Mr. Francis, it now only rests with us to consider the Propriety of the Governor General's Recommendation of the Honourable Mr. Frederick Stuart for this Appointment : In which Nomination, however desirous I am of shewing my personal Regard for this Gentleman, and my Respect for his Family, I think it my Duty only to consider the Fitness of the Person to take Charge of so great a Trust as will be reposed in him ; and as I have another Person in my Eye, whom I imagine the Board will deem fitter for such an Employment, from his general Knowledge of Business, and his particular Acquaintance with the Persian Language, I am under the Necessity of giving my Negative to the Governor General's Proposition.

Resolved by the Majority of the Board, that the Governor General's Proposition be not agreed to.

General Clavering now proposes, that Mr. John Bristow be appointed Resident at the Vizier's Court, as qualified for it from his general Knowledge of Business, and his particular Acquaintance with the Persian Language.

The Governor General objects to this Proposition, because, in his Judgment, Mr. Bristow is not qualified for the Office neither by his Knowledge of the Persian Language, nor by any distinguished Abilities.

Agreed, that the Question above proposed by General Clavering be put.

Mr. Francis delivers the following Reply :

I am happy in hearing a Gentleman named for this high Office, to whose Appointment I can safely give a positive Approbation. I know him to be a Man of Sense, Industry, and Judgment; I have positive Reasons to think that he understands the Persian Language, as well from the Assistance he has favoured me with in the Letters I have received and answered, as from his public Office of Translator to the Khalsa; this Office implies Knowledge of Business, Knowledge of Accounts, and Knowledge of Language. I do not insist upon his English Connections, though in this Respect few Gentlemen are better connected than Mr. Bristow.

I agree to the Proposition.

(Signed) P. Francis.

I beg Leave to explain to the Board, that by the Word positive, used in this Minute, I mean no more than a Contradistinction to negative, which I had used in my former Minute.

(Signed) P. Francis.

Mr. Barwell—I cannot assent to the Nomination of Mr. Bristow, for the following Reasons :

Because I think when a Proposition from the Chair is over-ruled, there ought to be very good Grounds for such a Measure; the Preference given to the General's Nomination undoubtedly speaks Inattention to the Governor; besides, in this Particular I think the Governor should have been considered, as he is, the Channel of Public Correspondence, and should be supported at the Head of this Government in the Eyes of the Princes of India. This Character he will scarcely maintain, if a Gentleman in Opposition to his Sentiments goes the Public Agent to the Court of the Vizier.

(Signed) R. B.

Colonel Monson—I assent to the General's Nomination, as I suppose Mr. Bristow to be a Person qualified for the Trust from the Station which he now fills.

The Governor General dissents from the Proposition.

Agreed, by a Majority of the Board, that Mr. Bristow be appointed Resident at the Court of Sujah Dowla.

Mr. Francis moves, that the Resident at the Vizier's Court be allowed an Assistant out of the Company's covenanted Servants.

Agreed, That an Assistant be allowed him accordingly.

( C )

Extract of Secret Consultations, Fort William, 28th December 1774.

Mr. Francis moves, That suitable Appointments be settled for the Support of the Company's Resident at the Court of the Vizier, and a Salary for his Assistant.—The Board will undoubtedly take into their Consideration the Rank and Importance of the Office, and the extraordinary Expence which must necessarily attend its being supported with Credit and Propriety. Mr. Francis begs Leave to observe further, that as this is an Appointment of a Public Minister on the Part of the Company to the Vizier, it will be highly expedient that his Rank and Character should be supported with Dignity, as well for the Honour of the East India Company, as to give Weight and ensure Success to his Negotiations. Mr. Francis further moves, That a Draught of Instructions to Mr. Bristow be forthwith prepared by the Secretary, and submitted to the Board; and that Mr. Bristow may have Access to such of the Papers and Records in the Secretary's Office, as have Relation to the Affairs of the Company in their Political Connection with the Vizier, or which may otherwise be necessary for Mr. Bristow's Information.

Agreed, That Mr. Bristow have the same Appointments and Allowances, as Resident at the Vizier's Court, which were granted to Mr. Middleton in that Station, viz. One thousand Sicca Rupees per Month, and Captain's Double Batta in lieu of travelling Charges.

Agreed, That for the Present, the Appointment of an Assistant to Mr. Bristow be deferred; but that in the mean Time he be allowed Two hundred Rupees per Month for a Secretary, with Captain's Double Batta for his travelling Charges.

Extract of Letter from the Governor General and Council of Fort William, in their Secret Department; dated 4th January 1775; received in London 18th July 1775.

Par. 5. It having been resolved that a fixed Resident at the Court of the Vizier should be appointed from the Company's Civil Servants, the Governor General lately thought fit to propose the Honourable able Frederick Stuart for that Trust; but the Governor General's Proposition was not agreed to. Mr. Bristow being afterwards proposed by the General; and this Proposal obtaining the Concurrence of the Board, he was appointed accordingly, with a Salary and Allowances similar to what Mr. Middleton enjoyed in the Employment which he held at that Court.

( E )

Extract of the Proceedings of the Governor General and Council of Bengal, in the Secret Department, the 2d December 1776.

The Governor General moves, That Mr. John Bristow be recalled from the Court of the Nabob of Oude, and that Mr. Nathaniel Middleton be restored to the Appointment of Resident at that Court.

Mr. Francis—I beg Leave to ask the Governor General, Whether he means the same Office which Mr. Middleton before held at that Court, which I think the Word “restore,” seems to imply?

Governor General—I do not, in the Sense in which Mr. Francis seems to understand it; the Court of Directors having expressed their Disapprobation of the Channel through which he was to receive his Instructions, that is no Part of my present Proposal; but that I may not be misunderstood, I beg leave to correct my Motion, and to propose, which is in Effect only what I meant by the preceding, That Mr. Bristow be recalled from the Court of the Nabob of Oude, and that Mr. Nathaniel Middleton be restored to the Appointment of Resident at that Court, subject to the Orders and Authority of the Governor General and Council.

Mr. Francis—My Determination to withdraw myself from an unavailing Contest with the present Majority of the Board, does not depend on any Act of theirs; Motives of personal Interest or Animosity did not dictate to me the Line which I have hitherto followed in Public Affairs, nor shall they have any Influence over my future Conduct.

Without affecting to conceal my own immediate Sense of the Injustice done to Mr. Bristow, I need look no where but to the Measure itself for Arguments to oppose it; a Proposition to remove him from a Situation he has filled with distinguished Credit to himself and Advantage to the Company, and for no other avowed Reason, but to give his Place to another, is open to Objections too serious and important in a public View, to be mixed with any Consideration of the personal Concern which I may receive from it. Having already mentioned them at the Board, I shall content myself with giving a Negative to the Question, reserving a more formal Declaration of my Opinion on the whole Subject, for a Dissent to the Resolution, which I take for granted will follow the Motion.

(Signed)

Philip Francis.

Mr. Barwell—I assent to the Motion, because I think it a Justice due to Mr. Middleton, and what the Governor General could not avoid taking the first Opportunity of effecting. I have not the least personal Objection to Mr. Bristow; so very far from it, that did I not conceive it would be prolonging the Injury already done to Mr. Middleton, to keep that Gentleman in the Station to which he was advanced on the Removal of Mr. Middleton, I should have been glad to have had him still employed; but I cannot indulge the Wish I have to serve Mr. Bristow, at the Expence of what I conceive the Rights of another.

General Clavering—The Motion before the Board comprehends Two Questions, the Removal of Mr. Bristow, and the restoring Mr. Middleton to the Office of Resident at the Vizier's Court. To enable me to give my Opinion on the First, I must beg the Favour of the Governor General to inform the Board of his Charge against Mr. Bristow, and the Faults which he has committed, that have induced him to make the present Motion for Mr. Bristow's Recall.

Governor General—I bring no Charge against Mr. Bristow, I do not accuse him of any Faults; I know of no Charge that was produced against Mr. Middleton, when he was removed. The Majority of the Board thought it proper at that Time to remove the Public Minister at the Court of the Nabob of Oude, who had received his Nomination from me, and to appoint another in his stead, in whom they had a Confidence. Highly as I esteem the Merits of Mr. Middleton, I will not bring them into an invidious Comparison with those of Mr. Bristow, whom, though totally unknown to me but by his Public Character, I esteem. I have a greater Confidence in Mr. Middleton; and as the Responsibility of all Public Measures, that has been pointedly thrown upon myself and Mr. Barwell, in the numerous Dissents and Protests which have been recorded during the Course of the Two last Months, I claim the Right belonging to that Responsibility, and, constitutionally to the Office which I fill, as the Head and executive Member of this Government, to chuse the Means and Instruments by which it may be exercised, and in the most effectual Manner, for the Good of the Service and the Credit of those who are invested with the Charge of it.

General Clavering—I am satisfied with the Answer that the Governor General has given, that he brings no Charge against Mr. Bristow, nor does he accuse him of any Fault. This Declaration will be at least some Consolation to Mr. Bristow and his Friends, and will shew the Court of Directors, that he has not exercised the Trust which has been reposed in him, even in the Governor General's Opinion, unworthily. The Governor General is pleased to say, that he knew of no Charge that was produced against Mr. Middleton when he was recalled; but it is impossible that he can have forgot the Reasons that were assigned for it. It appears in the Consultation 26th October 1774, that the Governor General, having refused to deliver up the Whole of his Correspondence with Mr. Middleton, the Question was proposed and put, That that Gentleman should not be continued at the Nabob's Court any longer; and he was accordingly ordered to withdraw from that Court, and to bring the Whole of his Correspondence with him. The Court of Directors have had this Subject very fully before them; and in their Letter 15th December 1775, they were pleased to disapprove of the independant and separate Authority which had been delegated to the Governor General, and afterwards to express their Disapprobation that any Part of Mr. Middleton's Correspondence had been withheld from the Perusal of the Supreme Council. The Board did not consider Mr. Middleton as a Public Minister, the Term which the Governor General now gives to him, but his own Agent, as he avowedly was acknowledged, both by the Governor General himself, and by Mr. Middleton on his Return to the Presidency; who, in his Letter, recorded the 6th February 1775, declares, That he conceives himself not to be authorized to make any Communication of his Correspondence with the late President, without his express Commands. Such were the Reasons which the late Majority of the Board assigned for the Recall of Mr. Middleton. As no Fault, nor Imputation of Fault or Neglect, is alleged for the proposed Recall of Mr. Bristow, I cannot but object to it as a most unjust and unwarrantable Proceeding. If the Governor General will think proper to defer his Motion till after the Arrival of the Eagle Packet, which may be now hourly expected, it is more than probable that we shall have further Lights than have been hitherto given to us, of the Sentiments of the Court of Directors, both on Mr. Middleton's Recall and on Mr. Bristow's Appointment to the Vizier's Court; I would therefore, with the Governor General's Consent, beg Leave to propose, that this Motion be deferred till after the Arrival of that Ship.

Governor General—I think it a Duty incumbent on me to adhere to my Motion. I will not take up the Time of the Board by answering the Objections which have been made to it at this Time, having other Questions which I wish to propose immediately for their Determination.
